Alpha Sigma Delta fraternity discloses that the following new members will receive their pins and be formally initiated at a banquet to be held on Sunday, December 4: Frank Meym, Dick MacFarland, Tom Campanella, Dick Cordellis, Al Sebanc, Jack Oakes, Milt Castner, Lloyd Baumann, Ed Soule, Jerry Brunette, Bruce Sloane, Dave Irvine and Al Kane.

Hillel Foundation will present a dance this coming Friday evening, November 18, at the home of one of the members. The fling will be unique in that it is to be thrown in conjunction with the Hillel Society of San Francisco State College. Admission is restricted to members only because of the location of the dance.

Tau Chi Sigma fraternity has turned social and announces the formation of an Arthur Murray dancing class under its auspices, Joe Gentile, club treasurer, disclosed recently. All interested in participating in the inexpensive lessons should telephone Maurice Power, Tau Chi advisor, at SEabright 1-0875.

Forum Club officers are president, Irving Totter; secretary, Henry S. Louie; and CAB representative, Margaret Blount. The next discussion, "Was the Dismissal of Admiral Denfield Justified?" will take place Tuesday, December 5 at 157 Kensington Way.

Omicron Phi Pi, honorary economics society, elected the following officers for the current semester: president, Kenneth Parker; vice-president, Robert Burns; secretary, Fred Mowry; and treasurer, Wallace Levin.

May this serve to warn and inform: Inter-Fraternity Council men on campus are not realizing a shortage of razor blades, but the fuzzy chins of these individuals are preparations for the coming Sadie Hawkins dance they will present soon. Details on the sensation later. Dig out your track shoes, men!

TYPEWRITERS RENTED
GArfield 1-6633
3 MONTHS $7.50
Free Ribbon, Carbon Paper
Free Delivery
Tibbs Typewriter Co.
821 Market St., San Francisco

MELODY FOUNTAIN & RESTAURANT
BREAKFAST - LUNCHES - DINNERS
1641 Ocean Ave. JUniper 7-9802
Sandwiches and Ice Cream to Take Out

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP
CUSTOM MADE HAIR CUTS
2 blocks from campus
1334 Ocean Avenue

We Air Express
We Deliver We Telegraph
Chain of Flowers
Florists
CORSAGES—FLORAL DESIGNS
WEDDINGS
JUniper 4-9038 1805 Ocean Avenue
San Francisco 12

ROBIN HOOD'S
Ocean Avenue is
Noted for its class,
So here's the place
To bring that lass.
Featuring
Shakes
Sundaes
Sodas
Sandwiches
Next Door to the
El Rey Theatre
Free Parking at Rear
1962 Ocean Ave.

JOHN HASKETT STUDIO
Artists — Photographers
FOR FINE CHRISTMAS PHOTOGRAPHY
1903 Ocean Avenue
JU 7-3639

Coeds!
Make Your Own Clothes!
Study Dressmaking & Tailoring
For that New Look
We Specialize in Buttonholes & Alterations
A Representative of Westinghouse Dressmaking School
ELEANOR'S SEWING CENTER
1418 Ocean Avenue Phone DElaware 3-9204

For Neatest Lines... ARROW DART or DALE

Both Arrow's Dart and Dale give you that neat nan-wilt collar that needs no starch and stays fresh all day.
Both are Sanforized (shrinkage less than 1%). Both have buttons that are anchored on to stay!
Both should be seen—drop in today!
ARROW DART—long wearing broadcloth $3.65.
ARROW DALE—extra-quality broadcloth $4.50.
(Regular or French Cuffs)
Roos Bros
ARROW UNIVERSITY STYLES

Soph King-Queen Contestants Must Meet Final Photo Deadline; Studio Open Until 5 P. M. Tonight

Applicants wishing to enter the Sophomore King and Queen contest must have pictures taken before today's deadline, Bob Ryan, president of the sophomore class, said yesterday.

The McMurray Portrait Studio, located at 1461 Van Ness Avenue, is handling the photographic work free of charge. McMurray's will remain open until 5 o'clock tonight to accommodate sophomores planning to enter the contest who have not had their photos taken, Ryan added.

Any member of the Associated Students who have completed 24 units of work is eligible to compete in the contest. No other qualifications are needed.

Men and women may enter the race singly, though many fraternities and sororities will couple candidates, Ryan said.

Election dates have been set for Wednesday and Thursday, January 4 and 5, in the student lounge, and all Associated Students can cast ballots. A complete list of candidates will be announced soon.

Winners of the contest will reign over the semi-annual Sophomore Formal to be held January 28.

Initial plans for the contest have been handled by Ryan. However, all future arrangements will be managed by Bud Armstrong, vice-president of the sophomore class.

The Sophomore Formal is the concluding social activity of the semester.

Aileen Fealy Gives Piano Recital In Campus Auditorium At Noon Today

AILEEN FEALY, pianist, above, presents noon recital today.

By Bob Kays

Aileen Fealy, already established as an outstanding contemporary pianist, will give a recital today in the west campus auditorium in the noon hour.

Miss Fealy, who began playing the piano at the age of 5, gave her first performance in the St. Francis Ballroom when she was 13.

She later won the Young Artist's Contest, sponsored by the Federated Music Clubs of America, and studied for a year with the Italian concert pianist Maria Carreras in New York.

A duo piano team formed by Miss Fealy and Phyllida Ashley appeared on the concert stage and radio for a period of ten years.

No admission will be charged, and all students and faculty members are invited to attend. The recital which is the second musical program of the current semester, is jointly sponsored by the music department, the newly organized Music Guild, and the Symphony Forum.

The forum is a student committee which college orchestra director Meyer Cahn describes as, "having the function of bringing good music to the college, and the college to good music."

The program will include Beethoven's Sonata Opus 27, No. 1, Partita in C Minor by Bach, and a Debussey group including Fireworks, Pagodas, Night in Granada, and Gardens in the Rain.

Miss Fealy will appear in a downtown concert early in January.

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

VOLUME XXIX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1949 NUMBER 14

Males Run As IFC Prepares For Sadie Hawkins Day Dance

With Al Capp's famed character Sadie Hawkins as its theme, the Inter-Fraternity Council presents their fall dance tomorrow night, in the auditorium, George de Urioste, IFC president, revealed recently.

Music will be supplied by the Rhythm Masters who will play between the hours of 9 and 12 p. m. Several novelty stunts synonymous with the theme have been planned for the intermission, de Urioste said. Door prizes also will be awarded.

The dance will be a costume affair with women wearing peasant blouses, cotton dresses, or flour sacks (bleached). Men are requested to wear levis and plaid shirts.

Admission has been sat at $1.25 per couple, and tickets can be bought from fraternity members on the campus. Refreshment, mainly cokes and orange soda, will be served.

Today at 12 noon the members of Alpha Lambda Chi, Phi Beta Rho, and Theta Tau sororities will participate in the traditional "Sadie Hawkins Day Race," which starts at Phelan Avenue.

"The gals have a slight edge on the guys even though our campus 'Lil Abners' will be given a head start in the race," de Urioste stated. "This is because the males being pursued will have their shoe laces tied together."

Gobblers, Hens Lose; It's Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving Holidays this year are Thursday and Friday, November 24 and 25, respectively.

The result of an extensive survey of turkey prices in San Francisco by a staff member of The Guardsman, shows a general decrease in the price of gobblers and hens.

This is the last issue of The Guardsman until Friday, December 2, when the staff of The Guardsman will make a supreme effort to get the paper out after a gluttonous Thanksgiving Holiday.

Annual Christmas Concert Here To Feature College Vocalists

The array of brilliant vocalists currently enrolled in the opera workshop promises to make an outstanding event of this year's Christmas Concert which is set for Thursday evening, December 8, at 8:30 in the west campus auditorium.

George Saunders, one of the featured soloists, is a professional staff artist with the National Broadcasting Company in addition to being prominent in church and concert work.

Irene Boullet, soprano, who was a winner on Buddha's Amateur Hour last summer, and Eileen Scott, soprano, are also soloists.

The A Cappella Choir, directed by Flossita Badger, which will open the program, initiated the traditional concert 15 years ago as the college's first production. This semester 115 students were auditioned for the choir, from which only 70 were accepted.

The other two choral groups, Men's Glee under Harold Cunningham, and the Treble Cleff Society, under Gertrude Norgard, were returned to an active status two years ago and take a prominent part in the concert.

The tableaux of Christmas scenes will be staged this year in the modern, stylized method, placing the emphasis on lighting for effect.

Robert Morton of the music department and William Eckert of the art department are arranging the three tableaux which will be Virgin Mary and the Christ Child, Shepherds and the Star of Bethlehem, and a group of English Carolcers.

The newly formed Music Guild composed of representatives of the ten music organizations on the campus, is working with the music department in sponsoring the concert.

Women Students Play Host To High School Seniors At December 1 Tea

High school women seniors will be entertained at a tea in the student lounge Thursday, December 1, from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m., Associated Women Student President Sandy MacKay announced yesterday.

Senior students of all San Francisco public and private high schools are invited to attend the traditional AWS affair.

AWS officers, Beverly Jank, Frances Loo, Joan Tweedt, Michi Soda, and Miss MacKay, under the guidance of Margaret Dougherty, dean of women, will serve as hostesses.

Seniors from Washington, Lowell, Lincoln, Commerce, Polytechnic, Mission, Galileo, Balboa and Girl's High Schools have been invited as well as from St. Peter's, St. Paul's, St. John, Star of the Sea, St. Rose, St. Brigid, St. Vincent, Notre Dame, Presentation, Notre Dame Des Victoires, and Immaculate Conception Academy.

Women students who wish to help serve the coffee, tea, and cake to the guests or would like to conduct tours of the campus should inform Dean Dougherty, Building 2, or any of the AWS officers, Miss MacKay said.

Denman Scholarship Winners Announced

Selected as the winners of the two $125 James Denman Scholarships were Josephine Paraventi, Galileo graduate, and Ruth Erickson, graduate of Commerce. Dean of Women Margaret Dougherty, announced yesterday.

The two women were awarded the scholarships on a basis of leadership and academic standing while attending high school.

Members of the selection committee were Miss Dougherty, chairman; Dr. A. J. Cloud, former City College president, and Dr. Marcus Skarstedt, coordinator of curriculum.

Sororities Present Fashion Show Tonight

The Student Lounge is the scene of an Inter-Sorority Fashion Show tonight at 8 o'clock, when college sorority members will model gowns from Ilene Carrol's, an Ocean Avenue apparel shop, and Livingston's, downtown San Francisco store.

The show is for members of sororities only, according to Norma Moebes, president of the Inter-Sorority Committee, and coffee, cake and extra entertainment will be offered those who attend.

"The affair should provide an ideal time for sorority members to meet each other, and in addition to view some of the latest styles," Miss Moebes said.

Sports Editor Picks Winners, Gains Share In $500 Examiner Football Poll

By Gene Van Dyke

Bob Quinlan, Guardsman Sports Editor, taking advantage of three major upsets, made a perfect score of 20 correct picks in the SF Examiner's Weekly Football Poll of November 12 to carry off a share in a cash prize of $500.

Quinlan, pictured at right mapping strategy with a slide rule, attained this feat with the aid of three upsets he was critical enough to sense were coming. The upsets were Tulsa over USF, Dartmouth over Cornell, and Nebraska over Iowa State.

He had a close winner in Maryland, a team that eked past Boston University in the closing minutes 14-13.

"I was pretty sure I had a winner all along," stated Quinlan. "With what remains of my winnings I will attend the Rose Bowl and watch California in action," he added with an optimistic smile streaking across his face.

In between touting football games Quinlan travels with the college eleven, where he covers the Rams exclusively for The Guardsman.

His amazing attributes at prognosticating are not a flash in the pan but have been formed over a span of experienced years behind the sports desk.

While attending Abraham Lincoln High School, Quinlan was sports editor of the Log, school publication.

He graduates from the college this semester and plans to attend San Jose State College, where he will carry on his work in Journalism.

Benefit Rally And Dance Proceeds Successfully Aid Salvation Army

The benefit Rally Dance which was presented last Wednesday night in the west campus auditorium, proved a success beyond all expectations, Urb Cummins, rally commissioner, announced yesterday.

Proceeds from the dance included 42 dollars in cash, a large amount of canned food, and a turkey from Alpha Delta and Tri Epsilon. From the money and food collected, the Salvation Army will be able to furnish an additional 165 people with Thanksgiving dinners, Cummins said.

The entertainment, which was under the direction of Bill Rosala, consisted of a singer from San Francisco State College, an unusual tumbling act by the college trampoline team, and various other features.

A quartet of former Rams, now University of San Francisco football players, Ollie Matson, Burl Toler, Roy Georgi, and Kenny White, were interviewed by Dean Louis Batmale at the rally. Captain Don Morettini, of the Ram football squad, was also present.

"I want to congratulate Mario Suraci and his college dance band on their splendid playing. I also want to thank John Drury, Robert Patterson, and Norman Yates of the campus police force, who gave up attendance at a Police Convention in order to help us out last night," Cummins said.

Jane Howarth Wins Acclaim In Much Ado

By Dick Brennan, Editor

Featuring a sparkling performance by Jane Howarth as the witty and sharp tongued Beatrice, the City College Players' production of Shakespeare's humorous comedy, Much Ado About Nothing, opened last Thursday before an enthusiastic and amused first night audience.

Under the direction of Paul Ellison, the student cast gave what we thought was a fine performance of this hilarious situation comedy.

Outstanding in the first night cast were Bill Hansen as the pompous, comical Dogberry, Donald Stevens as the jumpy little Verges, and George Jackson as the evil villain, Don John.

Highlighting the farce plot is the fast and witty dialogue between Beatrice and Benedick, two characters modern enough for Noel Coward. After a nervous start which caused him to read his lines a little too fast, James Carlson settled down in the second act to give a convincing performance as the elusive bachelor, Benedick.

Shakespeare's plot and counterplot provide many comical situations which give the play its fast pace. This, with the many amusing and witty lines, makes Much Ado About Nothing the funny play it is.

We thought William Matheson over acted a bit as the naive Count Claudio, but he improved as the play went on and his overall performance was capable.

Edward Mulvihill did a good job with the part of Don Pedro, originator of the practical joke which causes Beatrice and Benedick to fall in love with one another. Although the two enjoy each other's company, they are too independent and proud to speak of their love.

Leonato, well played by Eugene Carlson, is also involved in this plot to trap Beatrice and Benedick in marriage, and it is in his home in Messina that the action of the play takes place. Mary Cooke, as Leonato's daughter, Hero, gives a believable portrayal as the innocent victim of the villainous Don John's plan to ruin her marriage with Count Claudio.

Others in the capable first night cast where Mervyn Murphy who does well with the small part of Antonio, brother to Leonato, Leonard Wolf, as an aid to the villain, and Barbara Andress as Margaret. Tonight and tomorrow night mark the last two performances.

"WHAT HO, how now ho!" (whatever that means) calls Shakespearian actor William Hansen (left) to Don Stevens who both make ready for performances of "Much Ado About Nothing."

Hansen and Stevens are willing to prove that the Elizabethan English were acquainted with "corn" even before the American Indian.

Theatre goers who like their comedy well seasoned should be content to watch comics Hansen (Dogberry) and Stevens (Verges) mimic the Elizabethan flavor of comedy in the current Shakespearian production.
—Photo by Steinheimer

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

1949 Member Associated Collegiate Press 1950

Represented for National Advertising by NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC. 681 Market Street, San Francisco — 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Volume XXIX, No. 14 — TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1949 — Page 2

Perpetual Trophy Suggested For Scribe, Orator Games

AS may be noted elsewhere in this issue, The Guardsman Scribes knocked over the Council Orators in the big Budget Bowl touch-football classic held last Wednesday. With the idea in mind to make this a traditional event, Associated Student President Harry Williams has suggested to the council that they set up a perpetual trophy for this game.

We think an old gold spitoon would make a fine trophy for this event. Considering the athletic abilities of both teams, this would make an appropriate item. We can just see it now. The fame of the Stanford Axe would pale besides the old gold spitoon.

Other contests could be arranged such as basketball, ping-pong, tiddly-winks, and sewing (we are sure Williams could win this one hands down or even hands up). This might keep the council so busy they would not have a chance to investigate anybody.

ITEM number two for today concerns the hard-working City College band. This always active group deserves a pat on the back for the fine job they have been doing at the college football games where they have doubled as band and rooting section.

Led by band manager, Herb Neumiester, this group leads the college for active participation in student activities. We are sure every member of the Associated Students appreciates the job the band has done at all the rallies. For a good job well done, our thanks to you, the members of the City College band.

ITEM number three for the day concerns the City College Players' production of Much Ado About Nothing now holding forth in the little theatre. We have not seen the play yet at this writing, but we do know that Mr. Ellison's student actors have a funny play to work with. Not being a cultural vulture ourselves, and with little knowledge of Shakespeare, we still enjoyed reading this farce comedy. (We bought a pocket book edition with the idea it was a mystery story and we were agreeably surprised when it turned out to be a very funny story.)

Of course, by the time this is printed there will be only two performances to go. Anybody who wants a good laugh (and who doesn't?) should trot up to the Student Bank or down to The Guardsman office and grab a ticket for this production.

Counterpoint: Inside USA Has Prize Tunes And Bea Lillie

By Walt Heil

SEEING that Paul Ellison's version of the William Shakespeare farce, Much Ado About Nothing, will have completed a successful run here at the college, tomorrow night we would like to point out another theatrical gem coming to San Francisco next Tuesday.

It is Arthur Schwartz' Inside USA with Beatrice Lillie in the starring role.

REVIEWED BEFORE OPENING

This may be the first time in recorded history that a stage offering has been reviewed before the play opened locally, but we were fortunate enough to see and enjoy it in Chicago, where it got a tremendous reception. Less modest colleagues would claim a scoop.

Inside USA is a rich satire on American life throughout the nation and was suggested by John Gunther's penetrating book. Miss Lillie is a superb comedienne and her lampooning of the sovereign state of Massachusetts is something to behold.

LILLIE SCORES

Furthermore, she scores in almost every one of her many and versatile parts. Miss Lillie plays a choral director, mermaid, Parisian lady, frustrated actress, and a country hayseed.

However, Miss Lillie is ably supported by a talented cast, a goodly portion of which have been retained from the original New York and Chicago company, who give the show polish.

Olga Lunick provides the show with a touch of art in her tabloid ballet, Tiger Lily. David Atkinson, Eric Victor, and Aileen Stanley, Jr. round out the list of headliners.

HALEY LEAVES SHOW

The male lead, when we saw the production, was held by Jack Haley; therefore we cannot comment on the performance of Lew Parker, who took Haley's spot. However, we will have to take the ads' word for it that he is good.

The musical is full of popular tunes that were being hummed by everyone a few seasons ago. Such tunes as Rhode Island is Famous For You, First Prize at The Fair, Haunted Heart, which has a San Francisco setting, and My Gal Is Mine Once More, provide good listening.

LOOSELY STRUNG SKITS

However, as any City College playgoer will notice, the show is a series of loosely strung skits without any coherence and following no definite pattern. Perhaps it is the reactionary element in us but we prefer something of a plot, no matter how superficial.

At any rate, Inside USA is a thumping good musical, well produced and mounted and offers an enjoyable evening of theatre. We heartily recommend it to the thoughtful element of local students who enjoy a good laugh as in Much Ado.

Quips About the Campus

By Dayton Lawson

Fashion Note: The ITEM of the week concerns the Patterson twins, Frank and Bill. It seems the pair sacrificed their amateur standing a couple of weeks ago by posing (for money) for a clothing firm which was pushing men's suits at the time. As a wag put it: "Which twin is wearing the Sam Spade job?"

Homecoming Notes: "Man, my old Alma Mammy really came through last Friday. And just to prove it was no fluke, we'll do it again in the playoffs." . . . (Bob Wilson, a Buccaneer partisan at the Poly-Balboa tilt last week) . . .

Open letter to Joseph Henry Jackson: "If a novel has depth, pace, and manages to hold your interest, what's the difference if some critics maintain that it's not ART? . . . And after all, what is ART?" (James T. Farrel) . . .

Post-Deadline Note: "Please return the glasses you guys 'borrowed' during the 'House of Blue Lights' dance. The olives don't look good in the orange phosphate glasses." (House of Nix.)

Campus Two-Party System Nears End As League Fails To Renew Charter

By Bill Thomas

The unique, much praised, two-year era of two party student government at the college appeared to be nearing its end this week with the near collapse of the Student League admitted by party leaders.

The Student League failed recently to obtain renewal if its charter by the Student Council because of its inability to meet all the Club Activities Board requirements, particularly the membership clause.

Leonard Wolf announced that he will succeed Norman Reger as president of the Student League. Reger will resign, as his fraternity (Gamma Phi Ypsilon) is entering the Inter-Fraternity Council.

Meanwhile the President of the Inter-Fraternity Council, George De Urioste, stated that the IFC will, in the event of the failure of the Student League to place candidates on the ballot, nominate two candidates for the presidency.

He also revealed that four fraternities are now preparing to enter the council, thus making all fraternities members of the IFC.

Associated Student President Harry Williams stated that he regretted the decline in party politics. "If party politics stop, the (college) government will be controlled by one faction (Fraternity Party), and although they always do a good job they cannot represent the views of all 5,000 students. If we are to have a healthy student government we must have two parties."

Student League head Wolf urged all students interested in "getting things done" around the campus to contact him. He said he hoped to see the Student League continue and expected to get it into good shape before elections.

"If the Student League is to continue students must show greater interest in the party," he warned. "I urge all those interested in having a true student government with active parties contact me through the Associated Student office (Building 2)."

Both Williams and Wolf attributed the decline in party politics to the lack of interest shown by students.

Wolf said his party collapsed after its defeat in the last elections. Members, he said, appeared unwilling to continue the fight after this setback.

Williams pointed out that independent candidates were notable for their failure to get elected to office.

Williams announced that the Election Commissioner for the forthcoming elections will be a student from the political science department.

The Inter-Fraternity Council is the governing body of the member fraternities in the college. Each Fraternity sends representatives to the council. The council chooses Fraternity Party candidates by a majority vote.

The Student League is an organization open to all students and chooses candidates by a vote of the current membership.

Looking-Up . . . Guardsman Gridders Debunk Council 6-0; Scribes Cry 'Notre Dame Next On List'

By Dick Briggs

WORLD-WIDE sophisticates, thrilled by the phenomenal and almost paradoxical effects of nature, may have seen what to many are the rarer and more unusual spectacles known to man; but after seeing The Guardsman—Council football game, we think we've got them all beat.

In the first "Budget Bowl" game played at the college, a weak and suffering Guardsman team, affected by vicious attacks of writer's cramp, overpowered the heavier and highly favored Council Orators by the titanic runaway score of 6-0.

In victory the Scribes compiled a fantastic high total of 75 yards gained rushing, compared to the ridiculous, piteously low 74 yards gained by the Orators. These observations are definitely not biased.

The Guardsman showed notable superiority in losing 125 yards from scrimmage, compared to the Council's unskilled loss of 50 yards. This indicates the use of astute strategy by the Scribes in advancing brilliantly to the rear.

Assistant Guardsman manager and left end, Editor Brennan expressed special satisfaction in the conquest through a statement made from The Guardsman training quarters at the college fountain.

Brennan smugly stated a rout would have been inevitable had "Star halfback Rose Hardie been eligible for competition."

With accuracy in admirable accord with professional sports writers, predictions of the outcome were not too reliable. Early conceansus of both camps revealed the Council established themselves favorites by 60 points, while a secret Guardsman poll showed the Scribes were confident to win by 100 points.

Dayton "Gentleman" Lawson was carried off the field early in the contest through fatigue from retrieving handkerchiefs dropped by the officials.

Outstanding participant on the field, both teams unanimously agreed, was referee Bob Baumgartner who amassed more yardage inflicting penalties than the combined offensive of both teams.

Confident after their victory over the Council, team Coach Cy Donaldson and Manager Frank Monte are attempting to book breather games with Stanford and California Universities, before they try to schedule a post-season contest with Notre Dame.

Local Fisherman Takes Sudden Swim

By Cy Donaldson

Ocean depths now hold an awesome meaning to student Frank Glynn, who with a companion, was almost drowned when the row boat in which they were fishing capsized unexpectedly off Princeton, California, on Armistice Day.

Both men, caught without warning, were tossed into Neptune's Domain as their boat attained the position of an up-side-down cake. "It happened so suddenly I hardly remember hitting the water," said Glynn.

After many attempts, the two men succeeded in righting their boat only to have it sink six inches below the surface. Noticing that the tide was moving in toward shore, Glynn decided to raise the anchor enabling the craft to drift shoreward.

As soon as the anchor was hoisted, the unexpected happened and once again the small craft turned over. All during this sequence of events an inquisitive seal was dining and surfacing (probably enjoying the predicament of these water-logged strangers.)

Their rescue, by way of a perchance observation through the binoculars of the boat concession owner was nothing short of miraculous.

Within 30 minutes following the accident, the owner had launched his motor boat and rescued the two fishermen.

Spotlight: Thanksgiving Day's Almost Here; Run For Your Lives!

By Keith Gardner

JUST a couple of days from now, if you should happen to drop around the Gardner manse, you will be priviliged to see an incredibly ravenous young man seat himself at the traditional groaning board and call loudly for provender.

And will he get his plate piled high with turkey, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, hot mince pie, and all the other trimmings? You bet your life he will. And what's more, he'll live to regret it.

SURE THINGS

To make a long story longer, the only things one can be sure of in this troubled world are death, taxes, and acute indigestion following Thanksgiving dinner.

But don't let this pessimistic viewpoint drive you to grapejuice and unleavened bread during the festive weekend that's coming. Actually, Thanksgiving isn't bad at all. Why, around our neck of the woods it's the biggest, most, lavish festival of the year, and after it's all over and done with you might just as well drop dead. As a matter of fact, several people have.

Digestive disturbances, however, are just one of the minor Thanksgiving problems. Every year, at the crack of dawn on the last Thursday in November, the gates of penal institutions and booby hatches swing wide to allow hordes of relatives to decend on their innocent kinfolk.

SAMPLE CASE

From that moment on, brother, you're all washed up and you might just as well admit it. Take our own case for instance.

As near as we can remember, the crowd at our house last year was nearly ninety strong, including fifty-three distant relatives (not nearly distant enough), sixteen friends of the family, fourteen enemies of the family, and four college journalists. In short, the scum of the earth.

BANKRUPTCY AHOY!

They spent the majority of their time calling us into bankruptcy, making long-distance telephone calls to friends in Outer Mongolia, and wasting ream after ream of fools-cap trying to forge our signature to a draft on the Embezzler's and Defaulter's National Bank.

And now, just as we've become relatively solvent, Thanksgiving Day has to return again. A pox on you, Pilgrim fathers! Never, never, never again will we engage in such foolhardiness. Well, at least not 'til the day after tomorrow.

Guardsman Staff — Fall, 1949

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... RICHARD BRENNAN
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Richard Briggs
ASST. MANAGING EDITOR ..... Walt Roessing
ASST. MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rose Hardie
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Cyrus Donaldson, Robert Gonsalves, Roberta Jackson, Dayton Lawson, Frank Monte, Terry Ryan, Adolphus Thomas, William Thomas, Gene Van Dyke, Dick Williamson.
NEWS: Robert Thorsen, editor; Nathan Carter, Ben Golen, Jackie Avey, Georgie Watkins, Robert Johnson, Robert Jones, Robert Keys, Raymond Kelly, Richard Larrick, Sandra Marks, Joan Moore, John O'Sullivan, Emma Robins, John Spalding, Naomi Takahashi, Robert Valli, John Vanderbilt, Clarence Whitcomb, Felton While, Ralph Wiesner, Larry Bales
FEATURE: Walt Heil, editor; Keith Gardner, assistant.
SPORTS: Bob Quinlan, editor.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Richard Harrington, Claude Dittmore, Dick Steinheimer.
STAFF ARTIST: Eddie Mitsunaga.
BUSINESS: Barbara Low, manager; Norman Reger, Alicia Diaz.
ADVERTISING: George Kelly, manager; Richard Hart.
CIRCULATION: Jerry Unider, manager.
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

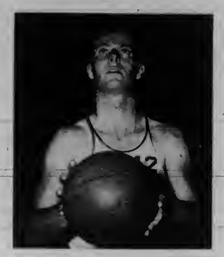
Basketball Team Hosts California Frosh November 30 In Season Opener

By Bob Goncalves

Coach Ralph Hillsman will be faced with many new problems Wednesday, November 30 when his basketball team begins its tedious schedule of more than 20 games, against California Frosh at home.

Main problem at present is the choosing of the players who will represent the college in future games. From the 30 odd men working out daily in his basketball class, Hillsman must pick the select few which he thinks have the ability to continue the fine work done by last year's championship team.

Players given the inside track in the race for team positions are centers Kevin Duggan and Dick Boyle, forwards Al Munn, Jim Green, Roy Carnegie, and Bob Wilson, and guards Marty Schneider, Les Brilliant, Dick Mulready, and George McLaughlin. Others that are still very much in the race are Jack Marcus, Frank Sampson, Al Nicora, and Dick Farley.



Duggan, Schneider, and Brilliant all played on last year's varsity, while Farley and Carnegie were on the junior varsity squad.

Mulready and McLaughlin were high school stars for Lowell and Sacred Heart, respectively, and Boyle played for St. James and the USF Frosh. Marcus and Munn both played for City College in past years, while Green was a standout for the Commerce High School varsity.

Games scheduled for the coming season will include contests with all of the junior colleges in the Southern Division, several Cow Palace preliminary encounters, the Modesto Tournament, tilts with all of the frosh teams of the major colleges in the bay area, and the playoffs at Sacramento, to determine the team to represent Northern California in the National Junior College Finals held in Hutchinson, Kansas, at the end of the season.

The schedule at present consists of 12 home games and eight or possibly more tilts on the road. First road contest will be played against Santa Rosa Junior College at Santa Rosa.

Complete schedule of all games will be printed in the next issue of The Guardsman.

KEV DUGGAN returning all-conference center, will be one of Coach Ralph Hillsman's mainstays in the forthcoming basketball season. Duggan was first string center on last season's championship Ram team, and the former Commerce ace will be back at his position when the team opens its season.

Lambs Drop 49-0 Melee To Santa Rosa Jayvees

Santa Rosa Junior College Ramblers pounded out an easy 49-0 victory over Coach Roy Burkhead's Lambs on the Santa Rosa turf Wednesday night before 800 fans.

Dean Bender, John Bertetta and Murray Jowell all gave nearly 60 minute performances but to no avail as the Ramblers ran rampant, scoring on passes and long runs. The Santa Rosans were unable to make but a single conversion.

The loss leaves the Lambs with a season record of two wins and two defeats and two contests left to play. Friday night the Lambs went against San Francisco State on the Cox Stadium turf in a contest which was too late for publication.

Rams Down Stanford 5-2; Traveling Difficulties Cancel UCLA Contest

With the cancellation of the contest between the college and UCLA soccer teams because of traveling difficulties, Coach Roy Diederichsen's footmen ended their season in a blaze of glory by downing Stanford 5 to 2.

Half time scores saw the Ram contingent trailing 2-0, but not in trouble as they came back strongly, and, led by Jose Rodiquez, scored five goals. Rodiquez tallied three times, and Antonio Reyes and Anturo Godoy each followed with one apiece.

There was no doubt as to the victor even though the locals trailed in the first half. Led by All-American candidate Neal Decker, they served notice that they could boot home points at any time.

The only serious injury of the season was incurred in this final contest when Gaston Gassiot, right half, collided with an Indian and suffered a broken collar bone.

The victory gives Diederichsen's lads a firm hold on third place with the USF Dons ending in first place and California in second.

Coaches and officials will meet Friday, December 2, to pick two men who will represent the conference at an All-American soccer game to be played in St. Louis.

Intra Football In Second Week

Rough and tumble affairs will be prominent as intramural football enters the second round of play this week at Balboa Park, after a slow start.

In the only two games played last week, the Revengers edged out the Burkheads by a 7-0 score, and the Kigmies won a defaulted game over the Ace's Amateurs.

Games to be played today are the contests between the Single Wings and the Balboa Blues, and the Vigilantes against the Doughboys.

According to director Tom Wilson, the first rounds of intramural tennis must be finished by tomorrow or the games will be defaulted. Interest is also lacking in intramural pingpong and badminton, and quite a few contests are still to be played in the first rounds of each sport.

Students who have to play games in the ping pong first round are Bob Horn, William Patterson, Johnny Ito, and Rene Enriquez.

Signups for the coming Intramural Boxing Tournament are still open and will be so until Friday, December 2, Wilson stated.

Badminton Club To Enter Competition

The college badminton club will enter competition with San Mateo Junior College there on Wednesday, December 7, from 7 to 9 p. m. Students interested in this co-educational activity will be welcome to join the group and may receive further information from the sponsor, Gloria Swieegood, women's physical education instructor.

This event will soon be followed by the Women's Athletic Association tennis tournament.

Mills College Offers Modern Dance Demonstration November 30 In Gym

Rated tops in dance technique among colleges around the bay area, the Mills College modern dance group will share its talent with City College students when they present a demonstration in the women's gymnasium here on Wednesday, November 30, Betty Heckman, dance instructor announced yesterday.

All students are invited to attend the performance to be held between 11 a. m. and 12 noon, Mrs. Heckman added.

The hour program presented free of charge will feature varied dance problems.

At the recent Women's Athletic Association meeting, the following were elected to hold office as this semester's leaders; Vice-president, Theresa Cormier; secretary, Naomi Shibata; treasurer, Lois Herting; and Club Activities Board representative, Marilyn Shaves.

After the announcement, a tentative schedule was set up for the coming Play Day with State College, San Mateo Junior College, Marin Junior College and various high schools in the city.

Florence Loo, president of WAA, presided over the meeting.

Keep Alert!
For Health & Recreation
Bowl at
Johnny Swanson's
MISSION BOWL
3140 Mission St.
A. S. Card Rate—25¢ Week Days

Legal Secretaries
Short Intensive Professional Course
Sponsored By Legal Secretaries Association of San Francisco
NEXT CLASS BEGINS MONDAY EVENING, FEB. 1, 1950
Instructor—Arthur F. Edwards, Prominent San Francisco Attorney
For Information or Bulletin, Telephone or Write
GRACE BALL SCHOOL
58 Sutter — EXbrook 2-5232

For The Best In A Meal The Avenue Is Ideal
Avenue Coffee Shop
1612 Ocean Ave.

Presenting "PIXIE"
A Camera So Small You Can Wear It On Your Wrist — Takes Color Or Black And White
Only $4.95
A Synchro-Flash Model With Flashgun—$7.95
CANDID CAMERA SHOP
1933 Ocean — Open Nights — DE 3-3340

Gridders Host Modesto Pirates Friday Night In Season Finale

By Bob Quinlan, Sports Editor

Back to early season form the college eleven will attempt to end its season in a blaze of glory with three straight wins Friday night when it hosts Modesto Junior College a Cox Sadium, kickoff a 8:00 p. m.

Modesto has only one conference win to its credit, that being over Monterey Peninsula College 6-0. The Pirates opened their season with a 7-6 victory over powerful Long Beach City College, but failed to return to that form for the remainder of the season.

A victory over the Pirates combined with a San Mateo win over Menlo would put the locals in second place in the Southern Division's final standings.

The Rams won their second straight last Thursday night in Cox Stadium when they took a free scoring 26-19 contest from the Stockton Mustangs.

Unleashing a three touchdown scoring spree in the first half, the Rams held a comfortable 20-0 lead at intermission. The Mustangs came back fighting in the second half to make the game a thriller, in which the Rams held out by one touchdown.

After receiving the opening kickoff the locals commenced a 68-yard touchdown drive that was climaxed by a 22-yard sprint by Mary Crews. Al Look made the first of two conversions.

San Francisco scored twice in the second period, the first being a Stockton punt blocked by Bill Shipp, Bob Williamson, Bill Coneff with the latter falling on the ball in the end zone. Just before the halftime gun the Rams drove 74 yards to paydirt. Al Nethercutt passed to glue fingered Frank Puckett for 10 yards and a touchdown.

Stockton came back with two quick scores in the third period. A Dewey Guerra punt was blocked with Ed Mendonca falling on the ball in the end zone. Bill Burdue crashed over from two yards out five plays after Mendonca recovered a fumble on the Ram 27. Francis Gun converted.

Taking the following kickoff the locals marched 77 yards for the winning score. Stan Hahn plowed over from eight yards out.

Mustang John Cobb wound up the night's scoring with a 34-yard scoot down the right sideline.

An 83-yard touchdown kickoff return by Hahn was nullified by a clipping penalty.

Block SF Schedules Dance December 2

Featuring the music of Ben Watkins and his Orchestra, the Block SF Society will hold their semi-annual dance Friday evening, December 2, in the west campus auditorium, Neal Decker, organization president, announced recently.

The theme of Holiday Hop has been given to the dance as it falls between the Thanksgiving and Christmas vacation periods.

Decker disclosed that a huge, fully dressed Christmas tree will highlight the decorations. Terry Ryan and Al Nelson of the publicity committee are planning several other features which will be revealed soon, Decker said.

COLE'S
City College Barber Shop
Your Hair is Your Best Asset
Keep It Neat!
Across from West Campus

MELODY FOUNTAIN & RESTAURANT
BREAKFAST - LUNCHES - DINNERS
1641 Ocean Ave. — JUniper 7-9802
Sandwiches and Ice Cream to Take Out

Comfortable Formality!
ARROW DRESS SHIRTS

"Kirk" $6.50
"Nassau"—The new spread collar style $6.50
"Shoreham" $6.50
Whether you're prom chairman, glee club man, or stag at eve, you will be correct and comfortable in Arrow's formal shirts, dress ties and collars.
See your Arrow dealer now for your Christmas and New Year's formal wear needs.
ARROW SHIRTS
TIES • UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

Band Members To Receive Pins For Consistent Performance

Members of the college band will receive award pins this semester for active participation in rallies and consistent performance at football games, Herb Neumeister, band manager, announced recently.

This will be the first time that such pins have been given.

Neumeister pointed out that the band, directed by Mike Cahn, has played at all rallies during the semester, and at all but one of the college's football games. One game was missed, that because of lack of transportation funds, he said.

At the Hartnell-Rams game in Salinas last week the band was almost the whole of the college representation in the stands. Besides the band, only five of the college's more than 5500 students were present. Harry Williams, student president, was one of them, Neumeister said.

The 35-piece band made itself into a rooting section, and gave the yells that spurred the Rams on to dump the Panthers 15-12, he added.

To provide music for college dances the band recently organized within its ranks a dance band led by Vic Bryditski and Mario Suraci.

A MAJORITY OF CITY COLLEGE'S brightly uniformed 35-piece band is pictured above performing during the half-time festivities of the recent Ram-Hartnell football contest, held at Salinas.

Guardsman Fight Tables Council In 6-0 Muddy Budget Bowl Battle

A mighty Guardsman Eight, which piled up a total of two first downs, stopped a stubborn Student Council team 6-0 in the Budget Bowl at Rams Field last Wednesday in a hectic touch football battle witnessed by some 25 spectators, most of them team substitutes.

The powerhouse Scribes scribbled their way to pay dirt late in the third quarter when right scatterback Bob "Sports" Quinlan, bottle-legging around right end, dropped a birdseye shot into the nestlike arms of quarterback Dick "Looking Up" Briggs, who turkey trotted into the end zone. But the try for extra point was smothered by the Orators' big (150 pounds per man) forward wall.

When the final second of the game had collapsed, spectators were certain they had witnessed the worst touch football contest in the history of the game!

Eileen Scott Sings In Carmen At Opera House

Eileen Scott, Opera Workshop student, will sing the role of Micaela in the production of Carmen Tuesday, November 29, and again on Wednesday, December 7, at the War Memorial Opera House.

Miss Scott made her debut here as the Countess, last spring, in the workshop's production of Mozart's The Marriage of Figaro.

Post Office May Need Additional Help If Christmas Rush Increases

Possible increase in Christmas post office clerk allotments may be granted to City College if the post office finds the 30 students selected recently are not sufficient to handle the Christmas rush, Joseph Amori, placement director, announced today.

Over 2,000 students applied for post office work, but cuts in the allotment allowed City College forced the placement office to hold a rally recently to draw 30 names for Christmas placement.

Amori said that the names on file for Christmas employment will be used if the tentative increases are granted the college.

The drastic allotment cut for the college was due to the redistribution of available post office jobs among the schools and colleges in San Francisco, Amori said.

Students unable to work for the post office because of the allotment cut should apply with Amori for Christmas work in other lines of employment.

Nylon Film Shown In Room 406 Next Week

This Is Nylon is the title of a 29-minute Hollywood produced color film to be shown next Tuesday, November 29, at 10 a.m. in Room 406, Virginia Gohn, merchandising instructor, disclosed late yesterday.

This Is Nylon, sponsored by Dupont, highlights a chemist's version in non-technical language of the recent development of nylon, Miss Gohn said.

Williamson

Round 'n About

Pledge Initiations Wind Up Gaily; Clubs Promise Social Flings Soon

NAMES of pledges in campus club circles this week have made the transition to member's names, and the most prominent ones round 'n about the campus are dealt with today.

Gamma Phi Ypsilon fraternity will celebrate this coming holiday week end with informal initiation rites under the leadership of pledgemaster Harold Freedman and deputies Joe Litcofsky, John Wark, and Jerry Tuttleman.

Proteges of the aforementioned will be E. Henry Seifert, Moss G. Fuellenbach, Robert E. Kays, Art G. Yourieff, Stanley A. Bruni, David J. Mayer, Donald G. Ryan, Robert B. Tombaugh, Sam Tehekallan, and Robert I. Goloobfoff. Date for the formal initiation of these men has not yet been disclosed by the fraternity.

Tri-Epsilon fraternity wound up its pledge week with an informal initiation held at the Bernaver estate up the River way with the fellowing pledges passing the test with flying colors: Ronald Vevoda, Boris Alenin, Hank Hoffschneider, Fred Smith, Bob Sorensen, Harold Tueker, James Williams, Jim Scott, Bud Best, and Tom Dietz. Congratulations are in order!

Alpha Sigma Delta fraternity announces great things, past and future, to brighten members' days at the college. Events gone by include a joint affair last Tuesday evening with Alpha Lambda Chi sorority at the "hangout" on Amazon Street.

Subsequent Alpha Sigma Delta events are spotlighted by a banquet on Saturday, December 3, at the Fireside in Marvelous Marin. Besides the numerous parties scheduled, the appearance of a brother on a television program has also excited Alpha Sigma Delta members.

Bill Rosia will soon make a singing appearance on KGO-TV on one of the Friday evening shows for future professional talent. This boy bears watching!

An innovation in the society set is Amateur Radio Organization WGFJL, billed as the fastest growing new organization on campus.

The 30 members of the club boast that it is the only new club to be passed by the CAB; it is affiliated with the Red Cross during national emergencies; it maintains radio contact with all parts of the world; it is a service to the college and the community, and, last, but not least, membership is open to all students interested in amateur radio communication.

Announced rather prematurely by WGFJL is the fact that it will handle free radio message service to all parts of the world at the Mardi-Gras next semester. Now, bear this in mind!

Providing that indigestion from too much holiday turkey doesn't hamper their plans, members of Spur and Saddle, campus horsebaek club, will hold a beaeh horsebaek ride this Friday for all interested students.

Rates for the three-hour ride will be a buek and hour for western or English equipment, and participants are advised by Bob Ott, club president, to meet at Mae's Hitchrack at the end of the N ear line, where a station wagon will be waiting to take them to the stables.

Further information on the "Come to the Stable" affair may be obtained from Ott between 11 and 1 today in Room 183.

Joint meetings with Theta Tau and Kappa Phi sororities have been keeping Beta Phi Beta men busy, along with the formal initiation dinner held last Friday evening at the Kona Club in the east (Oakland, that is). The sensational floor show and Hambone Kelley's added to the success of the evening.

All good things must come to an end, soooo . . .

The average life expectancy of a mouse is from four to six years.

TYPEWRITERS RENTED
GArfield 1-6633
3 MONTHS $7.50
Free Ribbon, Carbon Paper
Free Delivery
Tibbs Typewriter Co.
821 Market St., San Francisco

WESTWOOD PARK FRENCH LAUNDRY
Quality Dry Cleaning Service
We Specialize in SHIRTS!
1031 Ocean Avenue
Opposite West Campus

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP
CUSTOM MADE HAIR CUTS
2 blocks from campus
1334 Ocean Avenue

ROBIN HOOD'S
For an appetite Like Little John
It's Robin Hood's To spur you on.
Featuring
Shakes
Sundaes
Sodas
Sandwiches
Next Door to the El Rey Theatre
Free Parking at Rear
1962 Ocean Ave.

B & L RADIO SERVICE
HOME AND AUTO RADIO SALES AND SERVICE APPLIANCES
1801 Ocean Avenue JUniper 4-3019

Earn a Large Income With a Heald Training
With a Heald Business Training your services will be at top-value from the day you start earning money. You'll not be a drag on the boss, you'll take hold of the job with confidence and go forward. In 86 years of business training more than 250,000 Heald students have helped set the business pace for Western Industry—they continue to reach high goals. Heald Employment Bureau always at your service. Telephone ORdway 3-5500.
"THE TREND IS TOWARDS THE TRAINED"
Select the course of your choice and go forward toward the goal of your ambition.
☐ GENERAL BUSINESS ☐ BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION
☐ PRIVATE SECRETARIAL ☐ MODERN OFFICE MACHINES
☐ HIGHER ACCOUNTANCY ☐ EXECUTIVE SECRETARIAL
☐ STENOGRAPHIC ☐ SPECIAL BRUSHUP
Write or phone ORdway 3-5500 for your Catalog
APPROVED FOR VETERANS
DAY SCHOOL HEALDS NIGHT SCHOOL
BUSINESS COLLEGE
Van Ness at Post St. • Phone ORdway 3-5500 • San Francisco
2090 BROADWAY Phone HIgate 4-0201 Oakland
902 J STREET Phone FIlbert 2-4924 Sacramento
10 NOTRE DAME Phone Columbia 1340 San Jose

NOW IS THE TIME
To Order Your Newly Designed
OFFICIAL CITY COLLEGE RING
At The College Bank
This distinctive Life-Time lasting Ring of college recognition can be ordered in either Men's Massive or Ladies' Miniature sizes
See Special Design and Display Lobby Showcase—Main Bldg.
$5.00 Deposit Required — Balance On Delivery
Van Wormer & Rodrigues Inc.
126 Post Street EXbrook 2-5886

Candle Bearer Injured But Show Must Go On

By Bob Johnson

Proving that he is already a trouper, candle-bearer Ross "Sparky" Sheldon, 5, refuses to let a bad leg burn keep him out of the college's 15th annual Christmas Concert to be presented here Thursday, December 8.

"The show must go on," he said in a grave, high-pitched voice as he limped through rehearsals. He is confident he will be all right by show time.

Sparky is the son of radio instructor Mark Sheldon.

The other candle bearer is four-year-old Johnny French, son of faculty member, John French of the music department.

In the course of conversation, this reporter asked Johnny if he intends going to City College some day. Instead of the expected weak little yes or no answer, Johnny piped out with, "Oh, I'm going to teach here."

"Sparky" is pictured at left "bolstered" by Bob Tyson, Music Guild president, with Johnny at right.

Phelan Avenue Widening Looms; Caution Urged

Electric power wires facing the college will go underground soon after the first of the year in preparation of widening Phelan Avenue city officials told a Guardsman reporter yesterday.

The asphalt surface of Phelan Avenue was marked last week to indicate the gas, water, and sewer mains. Before further steps are taken to widen the street, the telephone poles will be removed.

Thus observers predict that the time is here for putting into action the long awaited widening of the avenue and the elimination of the constant congestion and hazards the narrow street now causes.

In the meantime, President Louis G. Conlan called attention to the basic rules for traffic safety and requested that all students be careful when crossing streets surrounding the college.

"I want every student to realize that crossing these streets can be ing down Phelan and Ocean Ave dangerous," President Conlan said. "There are too many drivers speedunes."

Student police can only be expected to govern the activities of the pedestrians at the intersections, but they have no facilities to chase careless drivers, he pointed out.

The Guardsman
Official Twice Weekly Publication of Associated Students of City College of San Francisco
Volume XXIX San Francisco, California—Friday, December 2, 1949 Number 15

Traditional Christmas Concert Program Given Thursday Night

Completion of all co-sponsorship arrangements for the presentation of the 15th Annual Christmas Concert to be held Thursday, December 8, at 8:30 p. m., in the auditorium, was announced today by Bob Tyson, president of the Music Guild.

Johnny French, 4, and Ross Sheldon, 5, are the two children who are taking the traditional part of the candle bearers. Ross is carrying on in true theatrical tradition even though he is barely able to walk because of a burn on his leg. Both children are sons of faculty members.

The tableaux of Christmas scenes will include Mary Cooke, as the Virgin Mary; Ed Mulvihill, as the shepherd; and George Jackson, Mervin Murphy, Dick Vreeland, as Christmas Caroleers. Robert Morton is directing the tableau staging.

Margaret Dougherty, dean of women, announced that the following Associated Women students will serve as ushers: Evelyn Foletta, Jean Tweedt, Helen Martin, Florence Lee, Helen MacKay, Beverly Jank, Norma Moebes, Ruth Cristante, Jeanne McKnew, Virginia Cutler, Mary Anne Johnston, Jean Myers.

The Music Guild, recently formed to serve the integrated interests of all college music organizations, is handling most of the details of the Christmas Concert production. It is made up of the following members:

Tyson, president of the Lambda Alpha, also president of the Music Guild; Al Hernandez, manager of A Cappella Choir; Jack Oaks, representing A Cappella Choir; Eileen Scott, representing the Treble Cleff Society; Bill McCormick, representing Men's Glee; Herb Neumeister, band representative; Conrad Dorn, orchestra representative; Bob Tefft, representing the Symphony Forum; Pat Fitzgerald, Mu Iota Psi representative; Adele Lee, Opera Workshop representative; Lois Arfsten, Lambda Alpha representative; and Jack Billmire, representing music majors.

As a preview of the Christmas Concert, the A Cappella Choir will sing part of the program at Portal Hurst Women's Club, Tuesday, December 6.

Spring Registration Plans Locate Sign-Up Facilities On West Campus

Plans are underway to centralize the Spring registration facilities on the west campus, F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of Student welfare, announced recently.

The plan provides that all registration facilities be centralized to allow faster and more competent service on registration days, he explained.

Registration in the past has been conducted on both parts of the campus, but under this new plan advisers, counsellors, and the registrar, will be located on the west campus only.

Students who have not made an appointment with their counsellor are urged to do so at once.

Marsh said that interviewing for Spring program signup is going ahead as scheduled.

Students early in arranging programs will register in the first group during the Spring signup.

Marsh stressed the fact that students neglecting to arrange programs will run the risk of "closed" classes when registration gets under way.

All students who have not made arrangements to see their counsellor should report to Building 3 for an appointment, he added.

Blockmen Schedule Sport Dance In Auditorium Tonight

Ushering in the opening of the Ram basketball season, the Block SF Society schedules its semi-annual dance tonight in the campus auditorium, Neal Decker, organization president, announced recently.

With Holiday Hop as its theme, the dance will be highlighted by the music of Ben Watkins and his orchestra. Dancing will be from 9 o'clock until midnight. Request tunes will be played.

Decorations will be in accord with the dance theme, the Christmas holiday spirit, and refreshments will be served during the gala affair, Decker said.

The price of admission is 75 cents for those who come stag. Bids for couples will cost $1.25 and may be purchased from any Block SF man. Sport clothes will be the dress for the evening.

"We will attempt to top all the former Block SF dances," Decker said.

Proceeds from the dance will be set aside for the semi-annual Block SF banquet.

Committee members are Decker, Lou Williams, Dave Ramos, Joe Greggins, Bob Clark, Terry Ryan and Al Nelson.

The theme, Holiday Hop, has been given to the dance since it is held between the Thanksgiving and Christmas vacation periods.

Illegal Car Parkers Risk Traffic Tags

Car owners are becoming careless about parking their cars on campus streets not designated for parking, Edwin C. Browne, dean of men, reported today.

The campus police will tag cars parked in prohibited areas of the campus, Browne said.

New signs to guide motorists are being prepared by the traffic and art departments, Browne announced. These new signs, which will be installed shortly, will replace old signs which have been removed or are in poor condition.

Browne added that student motorists should know the proper parking areas of the campus and cooperate with the traffic department in keeping prohibited parking areas free of traffic.

Movie, Lecture, Regular Club Meetings Feature College Hour Schedule Today

College hour is scheduled today at 10:40 a. m. Louis Batmale, dean of student activities, announced. Clubs will hold meetings in rooms assigned to them earlier in the semester.

Batmale reminded all students of mid-term examinations next week, December 5 to December 9, and suggested they come prepared.

An exchange rally with Marin, originally planned for next Wednesday, has been postponed until sometime in January because of midterms, according to Urb Cummings, Rally Commissioner.

The two main features of today's college hour, open to all students, are a talk by guest speaker Carl Thomas of the Inter-varsity Christian Fellowship International, and a movie, East of Bombay, presented by the audio visual aids department.

Speaking as a guest of the college's Collegiate Christian Fellowship, Thomas' topic, Dead or Alive, should prove to be highly interesting to all students, David Brewer, president of the CCF, said, inviting all students and faculty members to come.

The movie, East of Bombay, will be shown in Room 136 during college hour, and, for the convenience of the students who are unable to attend it at that time, there will be a second presentation during the hour immediately following college hour.

This was announced by Madison Devlin of the audio-visual aids department.

Alpha Ganima Sigma, scholastic honor society, will meet in Room 5K, Don Jensen, advisor, said.

Dean Dougherty Issues Call For Opera Ushers

Ushering passes are now being issued by Margaret Dougherty, dean of women, for the Pacific Opera Company's third season of dollar opera.

Performances scheduled for next week include Faust to be presented Monday evening, Tosca on Tuesday evening, and La Boheme on Friday evening.

Students interested in obtaining passes should see Dean Dougherty in Building 2 as early as possible.

Ushers must be at the War Memorial Opera House by 7 p. m. on the night of the performance.

Foreign Service Recruiting Starts

Former City College student and Guardsman Editor Borrie I. Hyman, now Vice Consul of the United States, is expected here today in conjunction with a State Department Foreign Service recruiting drive.

Hyman, working with two other representatives of the Department of State, will be at the Clift Hotel, rooms 432 and 433, Geary and Taylor Streets, from Monday, December 5 through Thursday, December 15. Applicants for positions in the Foreign Service will be tested and interviewed during this ten-day period.

Applicants must be American citizens of at least five years' standing, high school graduates, unmarried and without dependents.

Specific requirements for stenographers include the ability to take dictation at 100 words per minute and type 50 words per minute. Code clerk applicants should have a typing speed of at least 45 words per minute.

Base salary is $2850 per year in addition to living allowances that vary with the post assignment.

Helene Mayer Leads Winning Fencing Team

By Rose Hardle

Demonstrating the techniques that led her to Olympic fame, instructor Helene Mayer, participated as captain of the winning five women foil team in a bout at the Halberstadt School of Fencing in San Francisco last month, which captured for the fourth consecutive year the trophy of the Amateur Fencer's League.

Noted for her work among fencers in the Bay Area, Miss Mayer will take part in a fencing tournament on Tuesday, December 6, at the University of California, where she will officiate over the selection of the women fencers.

Recognized as one of the leading women fencers of the world, Miss Mayer's skill was apparent at the early age of 13, when she won the German National Title. While still at high school, she won fencing honors at the Olympic Games at Amsterdam in 1928, and was a runner up in the 1936 Olympics in Berlin.

Born in Germany, she came to the United States for the first time in 1932 as an exchange student spending one year at Scripps College in Pomona.

Miss Mayer stayed in this country by choice to become a naturalized citizen in 1941.

Ever since coming here, it has been her aim to promote fencing among interested students. Along with her fencing interests, the talented Miss Mayer, has a deep concern in international relations.

She received her doctor's degree in modern languages and philology at the University of California, and after two years of language instruction here, she is now instructing Political Science 36 classes and supervising fencing.

Fencing class members here are able to share in some of Miss Mayer's abundance of talent which consists of winning about 15 German National Championships and European titles and holding the United States championship nine times. In 1937, she won the last international championship crown at Paris.

"Good spirit prevails in the fencing class," Miss Mayer commented recently. The group of 40 is learning to master the defense and offense techniques of this art and is already having bouts. On rainy days, the students may be seen sewing equipment and attempting to rejuvenate battered masks and targets.

Not to be forgotten, "Good Boy," the cocker spaniel mascot, spurs the aspiring fencers onward with his "wags of disapproval" and his "barks of approval."

The student fencers are already taking interest in all fencing tournaments of the American Fencer's League by visiting as spectators.

CHAMPIONSHIP FENCER, Helene Mayer, has cause to smile when wearing her fencing costume which shows only a few of the international honors she has won. The insignia on her cuff designates her 1937 World's Championship Title. Above it is her membership insignia in the American Fencing Association. After two years of language instruction here, she now teaches Political Science 36 and supervises fencing.

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

1949 Member Associated Collegiate Press 1950

Represented for National Advertising by NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC. 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

681 Merkel Street, San Francisco

Volume XXIX, No. 15 FRIDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1949 Page 2

Every Student A Santa Claus Is Motto For Christmas Drive

IN a letter to Rally Commissioner Urb Cummings, Capt. Francis Shennan, Welfare Director of the Salvation Army, expresses his sincere appreciation for the generous contribution of canned goods and money made by the Associated Students' benefit rally and dance. "Our sharing together of this opportunity has brought pleasure and material benefit to many families in San Francisco at this time. Would you please convey to the members of your student body our many thanks."

'Tis better to giveth than to receiveth, and carrying on with this idea Harry Williams, Associated Student president, has issued a call for Christmas gifts of all kinds. Old toys, clothes, or anything else that can be repaired are needed and will be distributed through the San Francisco Boys' Club to needy families.

Every student a Santa Claus is the motto for this Christmas gift drive, so let's all dig into the back of the clothes closet or the far corner of the basement and see if we can find something that will make Christmas a little better for somebody. Bring all gifts to the office of the Associated Students in Building 2.

ITEM two for today concerns the traffic hazard at the Phelan Avenue crossing. It is estimated that more than 2,000 students cross this street in the ten minutes between classes and, with the volume of auto traffic speeding by, this has constituted a danger to the life and limbs of the poor homo sapiens, genus pedestrian.

It will come as good news, then, that plans are at last under way to widen Phelan Avenue. This may eventually lead to crosswalks and stop signs which should greatly increase the safety factor in going from one campus to the other. It should also lower the insurance rate for City College students which is now higher than Hollywood stunt men.

However, it will be some time before these changes are made and we think it would be wise in the meantime if everybody took heed of President Conlan's warning about observing the basic rules for traffic safety. What with more mid-terms coming up and then (Ugh) term papers, and finally the dreaded ordeal of finals, a student's life is tough enough without dodging the Phelan Avenue hot rods.

Counterpoint: Fried, Boiled Or Scrambled They Cost Too Much

By Walt Heil

THE American housewife, on a Saturday afternoon shopping spree, is quite likely to hesitate before buying a dozen high priced eggs for the family breakfast table nowadays.

It is no small wonder, either. What with the price of eggs hovering around the 80 cent mark and up, the irony of it all is that millions of dollars of eggs are going to waste when they could be put on the market and sold.

PRICE SUPPORT

But, the government has been taking all of the excess eggs off the market in order to keep the prices up and make money for the farmers. Moreover, with the passage of the Farm Parity Bill in Congress, the farmers will stand to benefit even more.

A simple lesson in any City College economics class would reveal the answer, to all this. The government buys the excess eggs from the farmers, stores them, and the urban public pays the bill. Furthermore, the public gets hooked at the market and on March 15, when the income taxes are due.

$100,000,000

The waste cycle gets something like this: Annually the government buys some 100,000,000 dollars worth of excess eggs to keep the prices up. The eggs are then dehydrated and stored in warehouses to await sale.

The market for dehydrated eggs is small. So small in fact, that 59 million pounds of powdered eggs bought and only six million pounds were sold, and those at half price. The warehouses are bulging with eggs that are unsold.

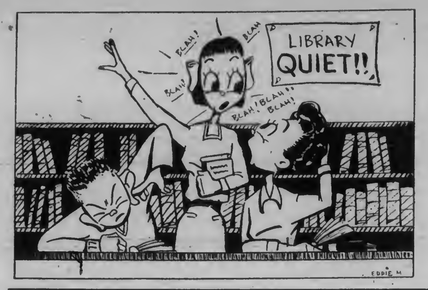
The only one who profits from all this waste is the farmer. In the midwest, feed prices are cheap, it costs little to keep hens, and the government guarantees to take excess eggs off the farmer's hands. The remaining eggs are shipped to market where the prices are high and the farmer takes in a whopping profit. No wonder he's happy.

Just before Congress adjourned last summer, the protests of the housewives brought the situation before the representatives, but the farmer and his hens won out.

GIVE 'EM AWAY

If the dehydrated eggs are going to waste in government caves and warehouses until buyers come along to pick them up at cut rate prices, they may just as well be given away to families who can't afford an 85-cent tops. Furthermore, there are still hungry people in the world who would gladly take them.

The eggs could be sold to foreign nations cheaply enough, provided the tax payers of America do not have to pay the freight. Such a thing would create good feeling toward the US and the eggs would not go to a total waste as they are now.



Quips About the Campus

By Dayton Lawson

Commercial Note: The College Fountain on Ocean Avenue, long a hangout for the boppish element, has changed hands. New owner is Manny Rothman; new title is Manny's Fountain . . . Miss Carrie Rousseau, formerly of the Ram Shack, is now helping Manny dish out the hot fudge sundaes.

Post BIG Game chatter: "O. K., so Stanford lost. But we have the same boys coming back for the next two years, so WATCH OUT!" (Dave O'Conner, Business major, and part-time Indian partisan) . . . And from Walt McCahen, who dabbles in BOTANY as a hobby: "It's not that I mind losing the five-buck bet so much, but a flat tire on the way home from the game cost me twice as much!" . . . And from Joe Ortega: "I shoodn stood in bed!" . . .

Notes between floats: Look-alikes: Claude Silva of the History dept. and Judge Harold Medina, recent mediator in a nationally famous (?) trial . . . And a note to myself: "Now that the Council-Guardsman pigskin dispute is settled, I must return the plasma I borrowed . . .

Looking-Up . . . History Books Show Scoring Touchdowns Not Lost Art; Old Ram Gridders Experts

By Dick Briggs

INFECTED by a devout, irrepressible desire to study, brought on by approaching mid-term week, we earnestly delve into old history books covering our roughest, but favorite subject—football.

Between the leaves of musty record books, besides old moth wings and cob webs, we find a history of City College grid exploits that reveal, to wit:

In 14 seasons the Rams have won two championships, tied for third and won 60 games, lost 46, and tied 6 in scoring 1,271 points against 1,097 for their opponents. This approximates an 11-point average per game for the Rams, compared to a 9-point average for their opponents.

The highest shellacking inflicted by a Ram team was a 48-6 drubbing over East Los Angeles in 1948, who retaliated this season in administering the worst defeat suffered by City College, 53-6.

The lowest score on record reveals a 2-0 defeat from San Francisco State College in 1936. Following a 19-0 setback by the Gators in the ensuing season, the Rams won the next five consecutive encounters against State when the rivalry ended with a 24-0 City College win in 1945. All of which indicates that resumption of a City College-San Francisco State rivalry might be profitable.

With reference to "toes," the college accomplished four one-point victories (three by 7-6 one by 13-12) and lost one (to California Aggies 7-6). The Rams became the first two-year college to defeat the California Frosh in a close 6-0 fray, in 1940.

Two teams in history completed undefeated seasons. The 1946 squad won over seven opponents, the closest was a 13-6 win over Sacramento, and was ranked fifth in the nation among two-year colleges. The team massed 145 points against 38 for their opponents.

The 1948 team finished their season with 12 victories, including a 20-7 win over Chaffey College in the Gold Dust Bowl at Vallejo. Closest games during the season were 13-0 conquests over Los Angeles City College and Marin College. Two players, Ollie Matson and Burl Toler, were named team. An all-time Ram offensive record was set when the 1948 club scored 296 points during the season; an average of 24 points per game.

The best defensive record was made in 1936 when the college held eight opponents to 15 points for a low net average of 1.12 points per game. The 1936 squad finished the season with five victories, and though they held their opponents to two touchdowns, lost two contests and tied a third (defeats: SF State 0-2, San Mateo 0-7; Modesto 6-6, tie.)

Ballet Star Boosts Modern Dance

By Georgia Watkins

Poise, grace, and toes-straight-ahead are the attributes a girl develops in modern dance training.

This is the opinion of Madame Alexandria Danilova, Prima Ballerina of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, who believes that modern dance training in public schools is more beneficial to womanly poise than anything since the Indians stopped influencing the walking style of Americans.

Madame Danilova was in San Francisco last week when the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo made its annual appearance.

The reference to Indians came about during a personal backstage interview with Madame Danilova as she commented, with a hint of amazement in her voice, that she had been told most American women were taught to walk with their toes turned in and that this was called the Indian style of walking!

Madame Danilova added that since the days of having to walk miles to get any place are past, she feels it is a good thing American women are learning to walk in the more graceful way of toes pointed straight ahead.

While still on the subject of modern dance she was asked her opinion of Kathryn Dunham's dancing. Her reply was that they have a very high regard for each other, in fact, she had encouraged Miss Dunham to embark upon the European tour that has since proven so successful.

As an example of some of the points discussed by Madame Danilva was given here last Wednesday when the modern dance class of City College witnessed a demonstration presented by a Mills College dance group.

Guardsman Staff — Fall, 1949

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... Richard Brennan
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Richard Briggs
ASST. MANAGING EDITOR ..... Walt Rossing
ASST. MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rose Hardie
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Cyrus Donaldson, Robert Gonzalves, Roberta Jackson, Dayton Lawson, Frank Monte, Terry Ryan, Adolphus Thomas, William Thomas, Gene Van Dyke, Dick Williamson.
NEWS: Robert Thorsen, editor; Nathan Carre, Ben Gelon, Jackie Avey, Georgia Watkins, Robert Johnson, Robert Jones, Robert Kays, Raymond Kelly, Richard Larrick, Sandra Mavis, Joan Moore, John O'Sullivan, Emma Rabitti, John Swalding, Naomi Takahashi, Robert Valli, John Vanderbilt, Clarence Whitcomb, Felton White, Ralph Wiesner, Larry Bales
FEATURE: Walt Heil, editor; Keith Gardner, assistant.
SPORTS: Bob Quinlan, editor.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Richard Harrington, Claude Dittmore, Dick Steinheimer.
STAFF ARTIST: Eddie Mitsunaga.
BUSINESS: Barbara Low, manager; Norman Reger, Alicia Diaz.
ADVERTISING: George Kelly, manager; Richard Hart.
CIRCULATION: Jerry Unider, manager.
Facility Advisor ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Spotlight: How To Lend Money, Or Poverty In Twelve Easy Lessons

By Keith Gardner

FRANKLY, we've never cared much for Shakespeare, but he was right on the ball when he said, "Neither a borrower nor a lender be."

We're not talking about professionals, mind you. It's the casual, everyday mooch that irritates. As a good example of this, take our own case.

192 DAYS AGO

An old friend of ours borrowed a quarter from us about three months ago (three months, two days, and six hours to be exact.) He borrowed the quarter to buy a pack of cigarettes and a candy bar—that's the excuse he used anyway—and he hasn't returned it yet.

Honestly now, wouldn't you think he'd remember that quarter? It's not as if it were a nickel or a street-car token or something like that. It was a quarter. Made in 1938 at the Denver mint and with a little scratch on one side.

NEVER CATCHES ON

On one or two different occasions we've tried to drop a subtle hint to this friend, but he never seems to catch on. A couple of days ago we were talking to him and he mentioned that he lived just about a quarter of a mile from the beach. He didn't seem in the least ashamed of it. It's become increasingly evident that he's forgotten all about our quarter.

Yesterday morning we made a final try to refresh his memory. While talking to him we said, "If I only had a QUARTER I'd get something to eat." And do you know what he said? He said, "I'm sorry, but I'm almost broke. I can't lend you any right now." Can you imagine that? He owes us money and he's sorry that he can't lend us some. It's disgusting.

WELSHER

But don't get the idea that we hear a grudge against this friend just because he's owed us a quarter for three months, two days, and six hours. We still shoot a game of snooker with him now and then, but lately it seems that he cheats a little, and in all the years we've known him he's never done that before. Just the sort of thing you can expect from a welsher.

Funny thing about this ex-friend of ours though. Everytime we've talked to him lately he's mentioned the words "four-hits" or "half a buck." He must have said those words 50 times in the last month. Heaven only knows what he's driving at. A guy who'd practically steal a quarter from you could be up to almost anything.

Ex-Guardsman Columnist Hits Big Time Via Radish Clippings

Former Guardman news editor, Claire Leeds, now with the San Francisco Examiner, in an interview recently gave full credit to her college clippings for opening the door to her present success.

Recalling memories of her days here she is convinced that her most enduring claim to fame was her column on radishes—growth and development of.

The radish column came into being during the war-time victory garden fever. Some enterprising soul on the paper thought it would be an excellent idea to promote a radish growing contest among the students.

The contest was almost finished before it started, through lack of fertilizer. But once that difficulty was overcome, like Topsy, it just grew until it become so important that it was felt a weekly report should be written about it. And that job was handed to Miss Leeds.

Now writing a weekly column about radishes would tax the ingenuity of anyone, but she decided to accept the challenge. Miss Leeds delved into every source of material available, and as a result can now be rated among the experts when it comes to a knowledge of radishes. She thinks her prize discovery was that the Japanese grow a radish as large as a watermelon.

After attending the college in 1941 and 1942, she enrolled at the University of California, at the same time securing a job as copy girl on the San Francisco Examiner.

Miss Leeds claims that being copy girl accomplished two things—the constant walking from the top to the bottom of the building not only kept her weight down, but also taught her the inside story on how a newspaper works from A to Z and from top to bottom.

Library Work More Than Meets The Eye

Behind the "shssh" of the librarian who attempts to preserve quiet in the library that students can study, is a highly competent force that keeps things running smoothly.

Decisions are made regarding which books should be bought for the good of all students. After they arrive they are unpacked, numbered and then catalaged by Katherine Pedley, library staff member.

They then pass along the assembly line to be lettered on the covers and lacquered. Cards must be filed under the author's name, the title, and the subject or subjects with which the book is concerned.

Gridders Drop Season Finale 18-7 To Finish Third Behind Menlo, San Mateo

By Bob Quinlan, Sports Editor

Winding its season up in a dismal fashion, the college eleven dropped an 18-7 contest to the Modesto Pirates last Friday night in Cox Stadium's Fog Bowl to even up the 1949 campaign with four wins, four defeats, and one tie.

The locals finished third behind Menlo in Southern Division standings.

In the Modesto contest the Rams handed the Pirates the game on a silver platter in the first period with two gift touchdowns. Failing to get anywhere in their first series of downs, the Rams were forced to kick from their own 31. After salvaging a poor center, punter Dewey Guerra was trapped behind the line of scrimmage and forced to throw the ball away, which resulted in a 15-yard penalty and a first down for the Pirates on the San Francisco 16-yard line. Four plays later Herman Hamm scored from the one.

A few minutes later Guerra was again forced to punt, this time from the Ram 38-yard stripe. Dick Cleland had other plans, however, as he blocked the punt, gathered in the loose ball on the 20, and scampered the remaining distance for the second score of the quarter.

The Rams came back into contention in the closing seven seconds of the first half with a ten-yard pass from Al Nethercutt to old reliable Frank Puckett, to climax a 67-yard drive. Al Look converted.

Although they trailed 7-12 at the intermission, the locals gained 240 yards to Modesto's 41. You figure it out.

San Francisco blew two chances for victory when they failed to score after achieving first downs on the Modesto's five, and later ten-yard line.

Wayne Bergman touched off the game with a 34-yard touchdown run.

Points scored during the season are as follows:

	TD	PAT	Total
Frank Puckett	6	0	36
John Brown	4	1	25
Marv Crews	2	0	12
Stan Hahn	2	0	12
Rotea Gilford	1	0	6
Walt Jourdan	1	0	6
Bill Coneff	1	0	6
Al Look	0	4	4
Rod DeChrisofaro	0	2	2

The Rams proved that statistics don't win ball games as the following shows:

	SF	Opp.
Net Yards Gained	2308	1668
Net Yards Gained Rushing	1244	998
Net Yards Gained Passing	964	670
First Downs	101	83

Crews gained the most yardage, while Brown had the highest average.

	TCB	YG	Avg.
Marv Crews	84	291	3.5
John Brown	48	239	5.0
Stan Hahn	56	220	4.0
Rotea Gliford	36	153	4.3
Walt Jourdan	46	136	3.0
Cledus Washington	22	91	4.1
Dewey Guerra	15	79	5.3
Edger West	16	56	3.5
Lou Pisani	4	17	4.3
Bob Bland	10	7	.7
Bob McBride	7	7	1.0
Rod DeChristofaro	1	4	4.0
Bill Marcus	1	3	3.0
Ed Reed	1	2	2.0
Dick Carillo	5	10	2.0
Al Nethercutt	32	35	1.1

Novice Boxing Hopefuls Vie In Semi-Finals Monday In Men's Gym

With championship hopes in their hearts, the remainder of the 55 original boxing entrants will pair off in the second day preliminaries of the Novice Boxing Tournament, Monday, December 8, at 3 o'clock, in preparation for the Tuesday night, December 6, finals.

Fifty-five spirited newcomers stepped into the ring last night against their respective opponents to make their bid for the novice title, which will in turn give them a chance to compete against Roy Diederichsen's varsity in the all-college Boxing Tournament after the first of the year.

From these ranks, Coach Diederichsen will choose his varsity team to represent the college and uphold the second place national honors won last year.

With the largest number of entrants of any novice tourney thus far, the action will center around the 155, 165, 175, and heavyweight classes, where the contestants are many and raring to go.

Len Gage, 130, Bill Revilla, 135, Erick Siefert, 155, Keith Gordon, 165, Don Hughes, 175, and Herb Brown, heavyweight, all looked outstanding in their workouts and should provide their opponents with quite a battle.

Ski School Winds Up Session Next Week

Continuing tonight and following through with clean-up sessions Monday and Wednesday, the San Francisco Examiner's Ski School will feature instruction from representatives of California's newest ski area, Highway 50, at 8 p. m. in the men's gymnasium.

Monday evening's opening class was led by Luggi Foeger, head instructor at Yosemite. A throng of 2,000 enthusiasts came from all sections of California to gain valuable advice from Foeger and also sit in on Yosemite's new color-sound instruction film, Holiday on Skis.

Dodio Post, captain of the United States women's Olympic Games team, headlined last Wednesday's program.

Big Colleges Recognize Jayvee Squad Importance

RAMblings . . .

By Terry Ryan

Soccer—Fast, Rough—Good Entertainment

SELDOM, if at all, does the jayvee squad of any college or university share in the glory of their elder brothers, the varsity. Nevertheless, they are working just as hard and taking a double heating, one from their varsity brothers and the other from teams on their schedule.

During the past few years it has became apparent that to give good prospects experience a place must be provided, i. e. the junior varsity.

At this college, Coach Roy Burkhead heads the outfit, dubbed the Lambs by local scribes. The club has a six-game schedule including the reserve teams of Santa Rosa College, Marin College, San Francisco State and Polytechnic and Commerce High Schools.

Over at the University of California the value of a jayvee club has been proven time and again as the Bears pull unknown players out of the roster to save a game. Many players who never saw varsity action would be completely lost except for the Rambler or Frosh teams. It is these lads who surprise opponent and fan alike when they make the varsity. They have come up the hard way and really put out.

Soccer, a varsity sport at this college, took more of the limelight this season than it has in past years. While the squad could boast of overflowing bleachers and mooning coeds, they could offer anyone who liked a fast, rough, tough game a well spent afternoon at the soccer field.

Under Mentor Roy Diederichsen, the club was a fast, ball-handling group which played a full season against four-year college opponents. California, Stanford, Santa Clara, SF State, and USF, were all on the local schedule.

NOW IS THE TIME

To order your assortment of

Personalized Christmas Cards

New designs by outstanding artists

95c for 25 cards with your name

Courting's . . . 76 West Portal Ave.

Open Tuesday and Thursday Evenings

CHRISTMAS IS COMING!!

Put your Order in NOW for your Official City College Ring

TEN CARAT GOLD
FACETED RUBY (Bezel Set)
LIFE-TIME LASTING QUALITY
BEAUTIFUL AND DISTINCTIVE DESIGN

On Display At The Lobby Showcase—Main Building

$5.00 Deposit Required At The College Bank

Van Wormer & Rodrigues Inc.

126 Post Street EXbrook 2-5886

Guardsman Sports

Volume XXIX, No. 15 FRIDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1949 Page 3

Rams Meet Santa Rosa In Non-League Tilt Tonight

By Bob Goncalves

Entering into the full light of events, now that football season is past, the college basketball team, coached by Ralph Hillsman, will venture to Santa Rosa this evening to meet Santa Rosa College in the Rams' opening game of the season.

Showing promise of being as well rounded a ball club as last year's championship squad, and maybe moreso, the current team has improved rapidly during the past few weeks.

Unlike last year's team, which suffered through a lack of sufficient reserve strength, this season's squad has several almost equally gifted men in each position, which means that they will be able to work better as a team and will not have to rely as much on individual stars, as most teams do.

In the past few weeks Hillsman's squad has had scrimmages with the USF varsity, Stewart Chevrolet, and the St. Mary's varsity, and have proved that they have great potential even against clubs which are considered much better.

Again in these scrimmages, it was shown that the team will not be playing as five individuals, but will work together as a unit, although several of the men, such as Kev Duggan, Pat Boyle, George McLaughlin, Marty Schneider, Les Brilliant, and Frank Samson, stand out in many respects.

Following is the 1949-'50 City College basketball schedule:

Dec. 2—Santa Rosa—There
Dec. 7—Marin—There
Dec. 8—USF Frosh—Kezar
Dec. 16—St. Mary's Frosh—Cow Palace—6 p. m.
Dec. 20—El Camino—Cow Palace—6 p. m.
Dec. 30—UC Blues—Cow Palace—6 p. m.
Jan. 4-7—Modesto Tourney—Modesto
Jan. 13—*Hartnell—Here
Jan. 14—*Monterey—Here
Jan. 18—USF Frosh—Here
Jan. —20—Stanford Braves—Cow Palace
Jan 21—*Menlo—There
Jan 27—*Stockton—There
Jan. 28—*Modesto—There
Feb. 3—*San Mateo—There
Feb. 4—*Menlo—Here
Feb. 10—*Hartnell—There
Feb. 11—*Monterey—There
Feb. 17—*Stockton—Here
Feb. 18—*Modesto—Here
Feb. 24—*San Mateo—Here
Indicates league games.

MOBILGAS STATION

Specializing

Lubrication
Tires
Batteries
Accessories

"We'd Be Proud To Serve You"

Corner San Jose & Ocean Ave.

For a Delicious Dinner That's Economical, too It's The

Avenue Coffee Shop

1612 Ocean

We Air Express
We Deliver We Telegraph

Chain of Flowers

Florists

CORSAGES—FLORAL DESIGNS
WEDDINGS

JUniper 4-9038 1805 Ocean Avenue San Francisco 12

ARROW OXFORDS $3.95

Kindly Notice the Collar!

It's one of Arrow's campus favorites, the wide-spread "Sussex" in fine Gordon Oxford fabric.

Arrow's smartly styled and long wearing Oxfords are also available in button-down and regular collars. White and solid colors. See your Arrow dealer!

ARROW SHIRTS

TIES • UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

King, Queen Candidates Named For Reign At Sophomore Formal

Names of the candidates competing for the title of Sophomore King and Queen and for the honor of reigning over the semi-annual formal were released by Bob Ryan, class president, yesterday.

Men seeking the title of king in the forthcoming elections are Ernest Vlochio, Richard Ganzert, Lloyd Ferguson, and William Rosaia. Women eyeing the queen's throne include Norma Moebes, Dolores Henninger, Feilee Quast, Barbara Goodwin, Jo Anne Knights, Jeanne McKnew.

All candidates for the contest are expected to apply to Ryan this week for complete regulations governing campaigning. Campaigning will begin Tuesday, December 27, he said.

Election dates have been set for Wednesday and Thursday, January 4 and 5, in the student lounge, and all Associated Students can cast ballots.

The Sophomore Formal, to be held Saturday, January 28, is the concluding social activity of the semester.

Spring Pre-Registration Lags Here With Only 1600 Numbered To Date

Pre-registration figures for the Spring semester of 1950, released early this week by A. L. McMillan, counsellor, show that approximately 1600 students have received registration numbers up to today.

This number is slightly less than half of the number of present students expected to return to the college. In addition to the more than 3500 returning students an enrollment of about 1300 to 1400 students from bay area high schools is anticipated, McMillan said.

Several students, according to McMillan, have neglected to keep appointments with their counsellors. He pointed out that because of the counsellors' crowded schedules, failure to keep an appointment necessitates a new appointment on a much later date.

Consequently, many students who fail to keep their appointments will find themselves much farther down in the registration line than they would be had they kept their original appointment, he explained.

Council Appoints Curtis May To Head Next Associated Student Elections

Curtis May was appointed election committee chairman by a unanimous vote of the Student Council, following his introduction to the committee by parliamentarian Armond Magid during last Thursday's council meeting held in Room 6M.

His duties as election chairman consist of supervising the coming election and the entire election committee's activities.

May is a third semester student and is active in the Forum and Graduate Statesmen clubs. His only affiliation in student politics, hitherto, is his past experiences with the Student League two semesters ago.

Other business on the council's agenda was the approval of Delta Sigma Tau, a new sorority on the campus, and a discussion of a proposed benefit drive to be conducted on the campus.

In conjunction with the San Francisco Boys' Club, each organization of City College is expected to launch a drive to help 12 needy families have a really Merry Christmas.

300 Second Semester Speech Communication Students Must Take Exam By Next Week

Final opportunity for 300 second-semester students to take an oral communications examination is Monday, December 5, through Friday, December 9, Anthony Paciotti, English instructor, disclosed late yesterday.

The final schedule is as follows: Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 9 to 11 a. m.; Tuesday and Thursday from 1 to 3 p. m. in Building 19, Room 1.

Students whose speaking performance falls below an acceptable average will be required to enroll in Communications 19-A for the spring semester in order to graduate, Paciotti emphasized.

According to Paciotti only 400 second-semester students out of approximately 700 have taken the oral speech examination during the previous testing period, and only 70 students failed the test, he said.

Borden's
MILK — CREAM — ICE CREAM
1325 Potrero Avenue VAlencia 4-6000

A Heald Training gives you more Security

A Heald Business Training will help retain your present position and advance you to the one ahead. By Training, your services are made more valuable, you are retained, your future is secure. A little extra effort to make the break opens the way. Phone ORdway 3-5500.

"THE TREND IS TOWARDS THE TRAINED"
Select the course of your choice and go forward toward the goal of your ambition.

☐ GENERAL BUSINESS ☐ BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION
☐ PRIVATE SECRETARIAL ☐ MODERN OFFICE MACHINES
☐ HIGHER ACCOUNTANCY ☐ EXECUTIVE SECRETARIAL
☐ STENOGRAPHIC ☐ SPECIAL BRUSHUP

Write or phone ORdway 3-5500 for your Catalog
APPROVED FOR VETERANS

DAY SCHOOL HEALDS NIGHT SCHOOL
BUSINESS COLLEGE
Von Ness at Post St. • Phone ORdway 3-5500 • San Francisco
2090 BROADWAY Phone Hlgate 4-0201 Oakland
902 J STREET Phone Filbert 2-4924 Sacramento
10 NOTRE DAME Phone Columbia 1340 San Jose

Williamson

Round 'n About

Feminine Flowers Suffer Hell Week; Delta Psi Throws Spaghetti Fiesta

MULTI-COLORED headgear on various and sundry females round 'n about the campus this week denote the arrival of the fair sex's version of Hell Week, but all is not fair for the pledges. More on this later, however.

Beta Phi Beta fraternity recently announced a total of 17 members that survived the terrors of initiation.

They are as follows: Bill Conner, Charlie Fanning, Al Gordon, Marvin Sharpe, Ken Bott, Barry Leonard, Jim Pengelly, Dick Jackson, Jim Churchill (of number 10 Downing?), Bud Karby, Pete Larricq, Gil Casarez, Mike Deane, Jack McKissack, Al Lakin, Warren Flourney, and Larry Sutton.

Beta Phis started off their pledges in a big way by conducting a joint meeting with their sister sorority, Phi Beta Rho, last Wednesday. The pledges are reported to show promise!

Delta Psi sorority sisters, wearing bibs as advised in this column, all kept clean at their second affair, a spaghetti dinner, on Monday, November 14. The affair was held at the Fox Hostess Club, and afterward a party in conjunction with Tau Chi Sigma and Phi Beta Delta fraternities was thrown at the home of sister Bobbie Walker. The evening was concluded with a night-cap at Nix.

During a recent college hour the newly formed campus Merchandising Club held its first election, selecting Alvin E. Johnson, president; Joan Hansen, vice-president; and Dona Hardy, secretary-treasurer.

Virginia Gohn, the organization's faculty adviser, discloses a Christmas party is planned for members and their friends at the home of merchandiser Ruth Ann Rosenberg on Saturday night, December 10. Festivities will come to a climax when "old Saint Nick" arrives to hand out gifts.

This semester's officers of the Amateur Radio Club, affectionately known as W6FJL, are the following: President, Grant Markille; vice-president, Vito D'Acquisti; secretary-treasurer, Dick Halleck; and CAB H. M. Meyer, Jr.

Meetings of the radio society are held during Friday college hours in Room 400 and are open to all students interested in amateur radio communications. Operating headquarters of this unique organization are located in the "roof lounge" under the southend radio tower. Just try to find the way to get there!

Newman Club held one of its periodical Communion breakfasts on Sunday, November 20, in the Saint Emydius cafeteria with Dr. Herbert C. Clish, Superintendent of Public Schools, speaking on "Your Personality."

Dr. Clish was introduced by Dean Lloyd Luckmann, and Deans Margaret Dougherty and Louis Batmale were also in attendance. Sue Gorham, vice-president of the club presided over the meeting.

Engineering Society has changed meeting room for college hour today from the usual 100 to 204. All interested engineering students should come, it says here!

Theta Tau sorority has come through with the list of its pledges, who are the following: Marjorie Bergset, Joan Blanchard, Joan Brady, Claire Campbell, Jewel DeFoe, Lynn Donaldson, Mary Lou Graham, Pamela Hall, Roberta Jackson, Marilyn Jacobs, Betty Johnson, Elynore Langridge, Carol Morrisone, Jana Neill, Shirley O'Hara, Maurice Power, and Gail Wendt (Gail Wendt where?).

A joint meeting with their brother fraternity, Beta Tau was held by the Theta Taus last Wednesday to prepare for things to come.

Russel Smith, alias Santa Claus, plus dancing, and the exchange of gifts will highlight the Hotel and Restaurant Society's annual dance to be held in the faculty dining room tonight at 8. However, only hotel and restaurant students can attend the affair.

That's 30 for now!

Placement Office To Open During Vacation

Plans to keep the placement office open during the Christmas vacation to accommodate both employers and students were announced recently by Joseph Amori, placement director.

The placement office will remain open to accommodate student job hunters who have been unable to find suitable employment during the Christmas holidays, he explained.

Students hired by the post office for Christmas work was erroneously listed as 30, the correct figure should have been 300.

Applications For SF State Must Go In Now

City College students planning to attend San Francisco State College during the Spring semester of 1950 are urged by F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, to make immediate application for admission.

Marsh said the present large enrollment and the anticipated number of applicants have made a limit on new students mandatory.

Admission to State College depends on two things: a satisfactory score on the entrance examination, and promptness in filing applications and transcripts with the Admissions Office, Marsh said.

MÄJON CLEANERS
Special One-Day Service
•
We Call and Deliver
•
1892B San Jose Ave. JU 5-0440

10% DISCOUNT
With A. S. Card
For True Values
THE LADIES' SHOP
Everything For
The Miss & Mrs.
1532 Ocean Avenue

Manny's Fountain
Features
Bar-B-Que Beef
Sandwiches
with Sauce Latour
•
Hot Dishes and Sandwiches Served in a Friendly Atmosphere
•
Manny's College Fountain
1039 Ocean Ave.
opposite West Gate

JOHN HASKETT STUDIO
Artists — Photographers
FOR FINE CHRISTMAS PHOTOGRAPHY
1903 Ocean Avenue
JU 7-3639

CHRISTMAS CARDS
Personalized
Gift Suggestion
Time — Life — Fortune Magazines
In The Mailbox Throughout The Year
Christmas Greetings from the gang at the
•
City College Student Store
965 Ocean At Phelan

Exclusive

New Party Makes Bid For A.S Government Posts

Assurance of a one-party contest in the January elections scattered like dust today when an exclusive eleventh-hour report to The Guardsman disclosed birth of a new political group on campus whose program is apparent by its name, the Committee For Better Student Government.

The dramatic late announcement was made by Committee Chairman Cliff Brown, as a surprise move instituted to catch the Inter-Fraternity Council off guard. The IFC, who swept 15 of the 20 positions in the Spring elections, had anticipated a walk-in January victory after death of the Student League ended major opposition for the fraternity group this year.

In the Fall 1948 Student League victory, the leaguers swept into office through an unusually heavy 917 vote, twice the total registered in the last election. Considering the fact that the platform of the 1948 Student League parallels that of the new party, figures indicate a heavy vote would be necessary to assure victory for the Better Government Group.

Key point of the committee, Brown disclosed, was that "candidates for the coming election will be appointed solely for character, ability, and service to the college. Definitely no person will be nominated because of affiliations with any group on campus, but will be selected from the Associated Students at large," he stated.

The Inter-Fraternity Council selects their candidates from members of the campus fraternities and sororities.

As an afterthought, Brown commented that he felt "Members of the new committee present a more accurate section of all students enrolled at City College than the Fraternity group, making better representation of all Associated Students possible. Our policy is to select candidates for character, ability, and service," Brown reiterated, "and therefore any nomination by the IFC who we feel have these qualifications, will be heartily endorsed by our group."

Nominations for Associated Student positions will be made by the committee shortly after Christmas vacation.

The Guardsman
Official Twice Weekly Publication of Associated Students of City College of San Francisco
Volume XXIX San Francisco, California—Tuesday, December 6, 1949 Number 16

Carolers

YULETIDE SPIRIT at City College will be ushered in by featured carolers Jean Banaccorsi (left to right), Eileen Scott, Irene Boullet, and Adele Lee at the 15th annual Christmas Concert, December 8, at 8:30 p. m., in the college auditorium, Ocean and Phelan Avenues. Others having prominent parts in the musical program are George Saunders, Bill Sheefer, and Mario Sureci, violinist.

Santa Returns To College For Third Annual Children's Party

Raised eyebrows and low whispers came from students this week when a direct wire reached campus from the Arctic that Santa Claus would arrive in time for the college's Third Annual Christmas Party—but with an empty toy bag.

Apparently financially embarrassed by Bethlehem's steel hike, and facing difficulty with John L. Lewis' Arctic coal miners—something about 'pensions—Santa is depending on faculty and students for donation of toys and gifts before Thursday, 3 p. m., to help City College make the Hurley village kiddies happier during Christmas.

Santa Claus will visit Hurley Village at 3 o'clock, Friday, and lead the children to the Christmas Party being held in the Faculty dining room.

No College Hour On Schedule For Today

There is no college hour scheduled for Friday because of mid-term examinations, Louis Batmale, dean of student activities announced.

Christmas vacation will begin next Friday, the last day of college for two weeks with classes scheduled to resume on Tuesday, December 27.

Because of the budget cut, The Guardsman will not be published on Friday, December 9; the next issue will be the special Sophomore king-queen election edition, Wednesday, January 4.

Boxes for reception of gifts have been placed in The Guardsman office, Student Lounge, Faculty Dining Room, and Room 121. Presents need not be gift wrapped, and should be for children between the ages of two and twelve.

The Yuletide festival is being sponsored by The Guardsman and the Publicity Committee exclusively for youngsters of veterans living at Hurley Village.

To help Santa solve his dilemma, Ocean Avenue Merchants huddled and agreed to supply candy, ice cream, and nuts, while the Publicity, Committee, and Guardsman Editorial and Business staffs cooperated in arranging the party, and providing transportation for Santa.

Student Heads Set January 10 As Deadline For Candidate Petitions

Political wheels of student government began rolling anew last Tuesday noon, when Associated Student President Harry Williams, in addressing the council, set Tuesday, January 10, as the last day for candidates to file petitions in the forthcoming student election.

Simultaneously announced were tentative dates of the election rally which will be conducted in the auditorium Friday, January 13. Election days are scheduled Tuesday and Wednesday, January 17 and 18, in the student lounge.

To be eligible for candidacy, a student must file an intention to run petition with the election committee.

His petition must be in the committee chairman's office, Building 2, before 3 p. m., Tuesday, January 10. When filing for candidacy a student must have maintained at least a 1.00 grade point average.

He must also have taken a minimum of 12 units by the second mid-term period, the constitution provides.

Failure to meet any of thse requirements will result in disqualification by the election committee.

False Alarm On Campus

Escaping steam due to a defective diaphragm in a steam valve in Building 12 brought fire engines to the west campus Wednesday morning.

The valve was quickly turned off before any damage was done.

Beta Tau Dance Set For Friday Night

Beta Tau fraternity will present its annual dance on Friday, December 9, at the Fairmont Hotel, George de Urioste, Beta Tau president announced recently.

Mistletoe Mingle, which is the theme of this traditional dance, will be held in the Rose Room of the hotel, and will feature the music of Wally Heider's nine-piece orchestra, fraternity members said.

Bids are priced at $1.80 per couple, and may be purchased from any Beta Tau member, or at the dance. Dress for the affair will be semi-formal, de Urioste stated.

Slated as the last dance before the Christmas holiday, the affair should provide fun and entertainment for all who attend, he added.

Last year's Mistletoe Mingle was held in the Colonial Room at the St. Francis Hotel.

80 Eligible For New Parking Spaces

Students other than beginning non-veteran freshmen who have an Associated Student card ending with the number 2, may park in the west campus area, Edwin C. Browne, dean of men, said recently.

About 80 new parking spaces were provided in the west campus by the completion of new parking spaces yesterday. According to Browne, the new area will be utilized by faculty members primarily, with the lucky card holders taking over the available space in the old area.

The lucky number was drawn at the Student Council meeting last Thursday.

Eligible students must see Dean Browne in his office in Building 2 to obtain their parking permits.

Browne also warned students parking cars on or near the west campus to be on the look-out for car strippers.

Several cases of cars being stripped of various accessories within the past few weeks have been reported to the campus police force, Browne continued.

If students should observe any suspicious characters lurking in the parking areas of the campus, they should report the fact to the traffic department or to Dean Browne.

Browne expressed hope that the guilty person or persons will be discovered before any more car stripping cases are reported, and advised students to lock their cars to guard against theft.

As a safety measure, repainting of the lines marking out the parking areas is expected soon.

EVEN WITHOUT white whiskers Dean Edwin Browne looks like Sante Claus to student drivers interested in obtaining campus parking permits. An additional 80 permits will be issued winners of the recent drawing held by Dean Browne.

Combined Music Groups Open Holiday Season With Concert Thursday Night

By Rose Hardie

Seven hundred music students will carry on a tradition as old as the college itself when they open the fifteenth annual Christmas concert Thursday at 8:30 p. m. in the college auditorium.

The group, composed of performing soloists, the A Cappella Choir, Men's Glee Club, Treble Clef Society members and the College Symphony Orchestra, includes as well representatives of the ten college music organizations who are handling business arrangements.

The ever-popular music department is being sponsored by the Faculty Association, Music Guild, and the Associated Students.

General director of the concert is Flossita Badger who presented the first concert with the A Cappella Choir in 1935.

Assisting Miss Badger in the production are Meyer M. Cahn, orchestra director; Gertrude Norgard, Treble Clef; Harold Cunningham, Men's Glee; William Eckert, Advertising Department; Robert Morton and John French.

The program will combine both classical and familiar Christmas music offered by the vocal groups and the college orchestra.

Following the opening choral selections, drama students directed by Morton, will present tableaux with accompanying music by soloist Eileen Scott.

Adding a sentimental touch, candle bearers Johnny French, 4, and Ross Sheldon, 5, will lead the choir processional of Adeste Fideles. Both boys are sons of faculty members.

Featured soloists of the evening are Mrs. Scott, Adele Lee, Gorge Saunders, Jean Bonaccorsi, Irene Boullet, Bill Schaefer, and Mario Suraci.

Charles Dennis, director of music for all San Francisco schools, will act as guest conductor of the combined choruses of 170 students, and Cahn will conduct the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's "Messiah."

Serving as ushers will be eleven Association Students under the direction of Sandy MacKey, president.

The Faculty Association is sponsoring a buffet dinner for faculty members in the student lounge on Thursday evening preceding the concert.

The A Cappella Choir is giving a preview of selections from the program at a meeting of the Portal Hurst Women's club this afternoon.

College Will Hold One Day Drive To Aid Needy Families This Friday

Heralding the traditional period of "good will toward men," the college, in conjunction with the San Francisco Boy's Club, is running a one-day drive to aid needy families this Friday, December 9.

To insure the success of this drive, a fee will be required for entrance to the college parking lot, The fee? Small toys, canned goods, bags of candy, anything that will help in making it a happy Christmas for those in need of help.

There are many agencies in the Community Chest that are equipped to give part of the necessary help, but they cannot be expected to handle it all, Bill Hansen, handling the drive said.

"This is an opportunity for every student and instructor at the college to be a Santa Claus; the need is great, the cost to contributors small," he added.

When Friday rolls around student leaders hope that the students of the college attending class for the last time before Christmas vacation will remember the thousands of others whose happy Christmas depends upon them.

Council Passes Handbook Budget

By resolution, the Student Council last Thursday appropriated $350.00 for the handbook committee to balance the operating budget for printing 5000 copies of a handbook to be distributed to all students next semester.

The total budget is estimated at $950.00. However, most of this sum is expected to come from advertisements in the handbook.

There will be 32 pages in next semester's handbook as compared to the present 28, with four additional pages to be used for advertisements.

Each page 8-4o be divided into 24 block ads at a cost of $120.00 per page.

Prevailing plans are to have a rough finished, colored cover on the book. The committee hopes to have a large advertiser underwrite the cost of the cover in return for using the back cover for advertising.

The $350.00 appropriated to the handbook came from a fund originally designed for a trophy case for the main building. It was decided that the new building plans would take care of this trophy case.

It was decided also that if the advertisement income is below expected, the number of copies and the size of the handbook will be reduced.

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

1949 Member Associated Collegiate Press 1950

Represented for National Advertising by NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.

681 Market Street, San Francisco — 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Volume XXIX, No. 16 — TUESDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1949 — Page 2

To Cheat Or Not To Cheat; Question For All Students

TO cheat or not to cheat; that is the question. To suffer the slings and arrows of low grades, or take up a crib note against a sea of exams? According to an article in the latest issue of Cosmopolitan magazine, the answer to this question for two-thirds of all college students is to cheat.

College cheating, according to this article, has been raised to a fine art, and most students would cheat, if they had the chance. A sample group of 300 students were asked if they cheated, and 203 replied that they would cheat in tests if given any opportunity.

We don't know about other colleges, but we can say that we have never taken an exam at City College, mid-term, final, or any other kind in which at least half the class has not been cheating. Let's be honest about it, cheating is flourishing as it never has before and we are all doing our share. We very much doubt if there is a single student in the five thousand or more at City College who has not cheated in at least one exam.

WHAT is the reason for this total lack of ethical responsibility? What is the cause for this scholastic dishonesty? One cause is, of course, the overcrowding which causes the student to feel that nobody cares anyway.

Another cause is self-defense cheating. When cheating is as widespread as it is at the present, the student feels that he must cheat to protect himself. Over emphasis on grades rather than education is another cause. Part of the responsibility lies with the administration, but in the long run it is we, the students, who are to blame.

WE are, of course, only cheating ourselves out of an education, and we think that most of the students would like to end this idiotic cheating if some method could be found. Some schools are succeeding in licking the cheating situation by means of the honor system. Here the instructor does not have to employ such tactics as nurse-maiding a roomful of supposedly mature people.

The alternative could be to bring the whole thing out into the open and have a prize for the best cheater at the college. We could even have classes such as Cheating 21a and advanced hypocrisy.

Counterpoint: Brick Tossing Key To Columnist's Rapid Success

By Walt Heil

A young man named Robert Ruark, who throws bricks for a living, was in town recently and was subjected to wide ballyhoo by one of the downtown newspapers.

Ruark, whose life story closely resembles an Horatio Alger book, throws his mythical bricks by way of a daily column in the Scripps-Howard sheets.

LUCRATIVE FIELD

Brick-throwing must be a lucrative field, for Ruark will clear close to 80,000 dollars for his work this year. A goodly portion of that sum comes from his employers, while the remaining thousands roll in from such sundry fields as radio, magazine articles, and knocking out rewrites of columns and putting them in book form.

Practically unknown outside of the Atlantic Seaboard region before the war, Ruark's star rose rapidly after the war ended. Having served in the US Navy during the war, Ruark came out determined to hit the big time in a big way.

COLUMN AGAINST WOMENFOLK

With his sarcastic typewriter clearing the way, Ruark threw his first brick, and it landed with a resounding crash. His first column was directed against the human follies of womenfolk.

It was an immediate hit with the men and an insult to the women. Furthermore, it made Ruark into a big time columnist and has become something of a classic in its own right.

Following his first shot, he made further outbursts against Texas, communists, music, South Pacific, strong drink, and varied other topics. At any rate, they vaulted him into the limelight where he basked unblushing and rolled in the money.

COURTHOUSE LEE STORY

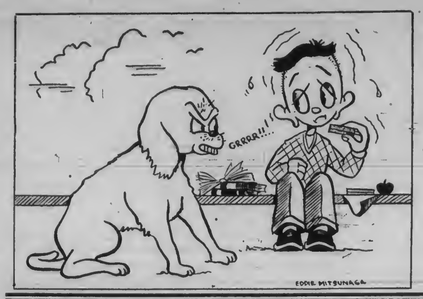
However, it remained for the army to provide him with his biggest scoop and biggest brick. Touring Italy, Ruark blasted the sad state of the enlisted personnel under General Courthouse Lee. The story became a national sensation and caused an army investigating committee to probe into Lee's sector of operations.

Next, he got hoodlum Lucky Luciano thrown out of Cuba in the summer of 1947, when the former New York vice king was attempting to set up a Cuban branch in the dope trade. At the same time Ruark blasted crooner Frank Sinatra, bobby sox idol, for being palsy with Luciano.

Since his latest brick-throwing job, Ruark has not attacked any outstanding notables that warrant national attention. His brisk, lively column is readable as eight million people will attest. He can't please everyone and doesn't try to, nor is he sincere about everything he says, it is reported. At any rate, his stuff makes good reading these cold winter nights.

Quips About the Campus

By Dayton Lawson



Commercial Notes: The Horse Trade of the week can be chalked up to Curly Jacobs, bandleader at the Avalon Ballroom. The maestro peddled his '40 Chevvie to Dick Keller, Business major here at the plant. Keller picks it up from there:

"No complaints about the erate, but I kinda wish he'd of looked a coupla times first before he slipped me the keys to his house instead of the car!" . . . And so it goes.

Old Grad dept. "Sometimes I wish I was back there with Lee and the boys. The only way I could ever keep my weight under two-hundred, was serimmaging out there every day." (Marshall Leong, portly ex-fullback on Lee Elsan's 1946 title-winning squad).

Ocean Ave. Motion: "Come try our Basketburgers sometime. Something new in the hamburger line. Big and tasty." (LaVonia Van Winkle, one of the co-partners down at the El Padre Cafe on Ocean).

And from Dick Medlin, Top Sergeant down at the South Gate: "Just completed a wooden model of Mt. Vernon. Have it on display soon."

Looking-Up . . . Santa No Square, Trades Old Sleigh For New Studebaker, To Arrive Here Friday

By Dick Briggs

VIA special reindeer express, Santa Claus makes a pre-Christmas appearance on campus, Friday, December 9, to distribute buckets of good cheer, ice cream, and gifts to youngsters of Hurley Village at the third annual Children's Christmas Party.

By pre-arrangement Santa will visit the lower Hurley Village apartments at 3 p. m., tour on foot through the quonset hut area, and make a last stop at the bungalows before leading the children to the cafeteria where a Christmas tree, presents, and refreshments will be ready.

At the party Santa will promise to bring the kiddies anything from marbles to bicycles, though earlier he regretfully stated his entire supply of ponies and new Cadillacs has been depleted through pre-season commitments.

EASIER FOR YETS

In carrying out plans for the Children's Yuletide festival, the college makes it possible for married vets living on campus to introduce their youngsters to Santa Claus without making a long trip to downtown department stores.

BLONDE ESCORTS

Not in the tradition of northern transportation, feeble old St. Nick will arrive in a 1949 yellow Studebaker sedan with a two-blonde escort of Mary Lou Cooper and Roberta Jackson, students, who will try to make Santa forget leaving his reindeer in the stables at the North Pole.

Following special interviews with Santa and his helpers, the villagers will leave at approximately 5 p. m. to enable St. Nick's making an early return to the Pole for a rest period before making a world wide tour down chimneys on Christmas eve.

PROBLEMS AT OUTSET

Though the Christmas Party is almost tradition at the college, financial difficulties almost forced postponement of the festival this year, but with contributions of food and gifts from the Ocean Avenue Merchants, and volunteer assistance from the Art and Graphic Art Departments, the Public Relations Committee, the Hotel and Restaurant Division, and The Guardsman Editorial and Business staffs, the small budget was adequate. This generosity proves that Christmas isn't a day, it's a season.

Yuletide spirit shows up anytime around early December when people's hearts gradually open wide and all the good cheer runs out and saturates the world. In fact, even we'd like to open up and take time to wish everybody the Merriest Christmas ever.

Spotlight: Fascinating Field Of Fantasy Rich In Hurkles, Hvovs

By Keith Gardner

YESTERDAY, having exhausted the local supply of detective stories, we turned to the fascinating field of fantasy.

The choice is amazingly wide. One can take his pick of Planet Tales, Fantastic Tales, Weird Tales, and heaven only knows what all.

ROBOTS AND WOMEN

Most of the cover art on these periodicals is really something to see. No matter what the title of the magazine the cover is bound to include at least one metal robot and one young lady. The robots are sometimes rather poorly done, but there's no doubt that the artists have given a great deal of thought to the female form.

But if the outside of these books is eye-catching the story material is doggone near blinding. One particular little gem from a relatively sedate quarterly named Fantasy really stuck in our memory. It's entitled The Hurkle Is A Happy Beast and the author is a Mr. Theodore Sturgeon. Mr. Sturgeon has a nice style. Pity that he doesn't try whodunits.

The hurkle, to get back, is a catlike beast that lives on the planet Lirht, the principle denizens of which are called gwiks. The whole thing starts when a gwik called Hvov (just skip these pronunciations) makes a horrible mistake, and, incidentally, it dawned on us about this time that a young man who just paid 35 cents for a science-fiction magazine had made one too. Science-fiction is just not our dish.

Anyway, Mr. Hvov's mistake was in blowing up a building which made everyone including a scientist run out to see what all the commotion was about which explains why he left his lab door open which accounts for a little, blue hurkle wandering in and getting fouled up in the apparatus and poof! The first thing you know the hurkle is on Earth.

NOT UNUSUAL

The rest of the story isn't quite clear in our memory. There's something about the hurkle making a schoolteacher think he's losing his mind, and you know, it seems to us that there's nothing unusual about that at all.

There was something else that we wanted to mention but it really doesn't make any difference. Meanwhile it's nice and quiet here at the rest home and the doctor says if we go on improving at this rate he'll get a tailor to fix our coatsleeves. They seem to be all tangled up.

Woman British Army Vet Studies Here

One of the very interesting personalities of this college is Carol Verna Malcolm, a former British Women's Army veteran studying here to be a lab technician.

Miss Malcolm was attending school in England when the war broke out, and she joined the Women's Army. After the war she received a medical discharge and returned to the United States.

Her father is a commander in the United States Navy.

Unusual Experiences Related In Hughes' Speech 21a Class

By Adolphus Thomas

You would have thought they were reciting from the world's most prized collection of short stories.

The program had been arranged by James Hughes, instructor of the 8 a.m. Speech 21a class. Each student was to participate by giving a three to five-minute narrative speech based on his own experience. An outline was required as part of the bargain, to insure careful planning.

The following are skeletons of some of the narratives. Imagine what each would be like with all the meat.

1. He never drove as a civilian. So he finally learned to drive in Uncle Sam's Army after having almost killed two superior officers and tearing down half the residential section of a Korean town in an over-sized army truck which he borrowed.

2. Mad soldier battled with a free while his mates were engaging in a famous battle of World War II. He was, of course, trying like the dickens to get untangled all the time.

3. Living on a Texas farm, he was a brutal snake killer. It was almost a hobby with him until he was surprised by moccasins who obviously were seeking to deal him poetic justice. After his narrow escape, he decided that luck is not rubber and it is not to be stretched too far.

4. She went boat riding with grandmother, among others. Wind storm came. Grandmother scared to death. But all reached shore safely. Grandmother happy again. Not for long. For she discovered that thirteen had been in the boat. Oh, brother! How had she ever lived through it!

Instructor Hughes meant business in arranging his little program. But it was fun, too.

Holding World Is Not Work, Says Instructor

Strongman Charles Atlas has been holding the world on his shoulders since time immemorial, but he has not been doing any work, according to Fred Agosti, physics instructor.

Agosti reasons something like this: work is defined as force times distance. And although poor Atlas obviously must be applying lots of force to lift the earth, he has not moved it a single peg.

Guardsman Staff — Fall, 1949

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... RICHARD BRENNAN
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Richard Briggs
ASST. MANAGING EDITOR ..... Walt Roessing
ASST. MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rosa Hardis
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Cyrus Donaldson, Robert Goncalves, Roberta Jackson, Dayton Lawson, Frank Monte, Terry Ryan, Adolphus Thomas, William Thomas, Gene Van Dyke, Dick Williamson.
NEWS: Robert Thorsen, editor; Nathan Carter, Ben Gislon, Jackie Avey, Georgie Watkins, Robert Johnson, Robert Jones, Robert Kaye, Raymond Kelly, Richard Larrick, Sandra Marks, John Moore, John O'Sullivan, Emma Robins, John Spalding, Naomi Takahashi, Robert Valli, John Vanderbilt, Clarance Whitcomb, Felton White, Ralph Wiesner, Larry Bales.
FEATURE: Walt Hall, editor; Keith Gardner, assistant.
SPORTS: Bob Quinlan, editor.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Richard Harrington, Claude Dittmore, Dick Steinheimer.
STAFF ARTIST: Eddie Mitsunaga.
BUSINESS: Barbara Low, manager; Norman Reiner, Alicia Diaz.
ADVERTISING: George Kelly, manager; Richard Hirst.
CIRCULATION: Jerry Unider, manager.
Faculty Advisor ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Novice Boxers Seek College Crown Tonight In Men's Gym

By Frank Monte

Adding a fitting climax to the year's intramural activities, 20 new, but willing boxers will step into the ring tonight at 8 o'clock in the men's gymnasium for a chance at the Intramural Novice Boxing title.

With ten bouts on tap, the night should provide the large expected crowd with entertainment and certainly thrills.

A SHOT AT THE VARSITY

To many, the possibilities of a novice crown means very little, but to tonight's victors it means a place on the College Golden Gloves card which will be held sometime in January against last season's varsity.

Indeed, tonight's title gainers will have to go a long way to oust members of last year's second place national team, but it will provide them with experience and perhaps a victory, next January when they tangle with such men as Jerry Stern, National Two Year College Lightweight champion, and runner-ups Frank Seuega, heavy, Dee Pender, 175, and Len Garcia, 130.

BROWN, JETT MAKE IMPRESSIVE SHOWING

Highlighted by two knockouts and six TKOs, last Thursday's preliminary bouts provided quite a thrill for the audience. The most exciting fight while it lasted saw Sigurd Jett and David Crabtree, 165, battling toe to toe, until Jett unveiled a smashing right that kayoed Crabtree.

Herb Brown took advantage of all of his 220 pounds, rocking game Fred Hoy with rights and lefts until the referee halted the bout in the second round. Brown looms as the logical contestant to grab the heavyweight title, and should he win, a battle between Brown and dynamic fisted Seuega next January, will be something to see.

In other bouts; Telmo Frisco kayoed Bob Billings, 120; Bill Revilla tko Bob Gross; Tom Hahn dec. Bob Washington, 135s; Al Larking dec. Jim Schilmizu 145; Gene Hamilton dec. Dan Carrol, Chas Allum dec. John Oakes, 150s; Richard Landry tko Harry Ruebling, Bob Datwyler dec. Jack Vanderbilt, Dick Fiore dec. Bob Mullikan, 155s; Bob Kaffke dec. Bob Schmidt, 145s; Al Millet dec. Plato Kessler, Ralph Wilson dec. Bill Sterret, Jack McCartney dec. Kieth Gordon, 165s; John Brooks tko Joe Personeni, 175; Jack Basque tko Pete Larrieu, hvy.

TONIGHT'S CONTESTANTS

Because the results of yesterday's semi-finals are too late for publication, only the contestants that qualified for the finals in Thursday's matches are listed: Len Gage vs. Dana Bishop, 130; Hahn vs. Revilla, 135; Kaffke vs. Revere, 145; Hamilton vs. Allum, 150; Brooks vs. Bailey, 175, and Brown vs. Bosque, hvy. Associated Student card holders admitted free.

WAA Posts Sports Schedule In Gym

With sports events and activities in full swing, the following sports schedule was posted up by the Women's Athletic Association Monday, November 28, at the women's gymnasium.

The schedule starts Wednesday, December 7, with badminton at San Mateo; January 4, volleyball with Mission and Commerce High Schools; January 6, archery meet; January 7, Spur & Saddle Horse Show; January 9, softball with Girls High, badminton with Washington High and tennis with Lowell High; January 11, badminton with Marin and San Mateo; January 14, tennis and badminton with San Mateo, Marin and Napa; January 18, volleyball with Galileo and Poly.

All women students interested in participating in any of these sports may sign up at the Women's Gymnasium, Miss Cormier, vice-president of the WAA announced.

Block SF Holds Annual Banquet In Cafeteria

New block SF winners and present members are invited to the Block SF semi-annual banquet, to be held in the college cafeteria, tomorrow at 6 p. m., Neal Decker, Block SF president, announced recently.

President Louis G. Conlan heads guest speakers, which include all coaches of the college. New block winners will meet members of the Block Society and each other.

RAM SHACK
By the Ram
Out The Gate
Across The Tracks
Make It A Date
For
MEL'S SPAGHETTI
1051 Ocean Ave.

Ram Cagers Face Five Games

By Bob Goncalves

The college basketball team, preparing for an exacting schedule of conference games which will begin Friday, January 13, will get all the practice they need when they meet five strong opponents during the Christmas vacation.

Boasting last season wins over every one of the teams they are to meet during this period, the Rams will play Marin Junior College tomorrow at Kentfield, then they will return to the city and play the USF Frosh at Kezar Pavilion Thursday, December 8.

Third game of the Christmas season will be the start of a three-game skate at the Cow Palace, and will be played against the St. Mary's Frosh, Friday, December 16, at 6 p. m.

Fourth and fifth games will be played at the Cow Palace also, at 6 p. m. and will include games against El Camino College on Tuesday, December 20, and the University of California Blues, Friday, December 30.

Last year the Rams beat Marin Junior College in a practice game 54-39, and again in the Northern California playoffs, 73-47. The USF Frosh went down to defeat by a 52-43 score, and El Camino was beaten by a score of 57-37. The California Blues were also beaten, 49-38.

Probable starting lineup for the holiday games will be Kevin Duggan and George McLaughlin at forwards, Pat Boyle at center, and Marty "Pop" Schneider and Al Munn at the guard positions.

Marin Tomorrow, During Holidays

ROBIN HOOD'S
Not From Sherwood Forest
But From Our Grill
It's Friar Tuck Sandwich
To Balance Your Meal
Featuring
Shakes
Sundaes
Sodas
Sandwiches
Next Door to the
El Rey Theatre
Free Parking at Rear
1962 Ocean Ave.

Coeds!
Please your friends
Personalize your Christmas Gifts
By making them at
Eleanor's Sewing Center
Custom-made Belts and Buttons
1418 Ocean Avenue — DElaware 3-9203

Portola, Kigmies, In Finals Today

By virtue of a Portola A. C. win over the Campus Police 10-0, and the Kigmies defeat of the Revengers 6-0, the two remaining teams will complete in intramural football championship today, at 3 o'clock on the football field.

With the consolation contest still in progress, the Single Wings and Burkheads will pair off in a second round engagement for a chance to compete for the third place medal. Winner of the Portola A: C.-Kigmies tilt will receive championship buckles, while the runner-up will receive medals.

Signups for volley ball, the last intramural group sport of the fall semester will continue through Friday. January 6. Teams deciding to enter should sign up as soon as possible. The teams will be composed of six men with two substitutes. The regular medals and buckles will be given to the winner and runner-ups.

NCJC All-Conference Elevens

First Team	Southern Division	Second Team
Frank Puckett—CCSF	END	Wes Mitchell—Modesto
Bill Whited—Hartnell	END	Sam Nicholopolus—San Mateo
Ed Heaston—Modesto	TACKLE	Bob Williamson—CCSF
Jim Sproule—San Mateo	TACKLE	Mel Torrente—Monterey
Dick Cleland—Modesto	GUARD	Al Garnero—Monterey
Don Morettini—CCSF	GUARD	Jack McComb—San Mateo
Dave Shallenberger—Menlo	CENTER	John Burton—Hartnell
Tom McCormick—Menlo	BACK	Al Nethercutt—CCSF
Charles Essegian—Menlo	BACK	Worth Shaw—Modesto
Bill Calhoun—San Mateo	BACK	Mammy Paradero—San Mateo
Al Mathews—Monterey	BACK	John Cobb—Stockton

First Team	Northern Division	Second Team
Gene Wellman—Napa	END	Tony Viara—Sacramento
Dave Devoto—Santa Rosa	END	George Updegraft—Placer
Bill Monlux—Napa	TACKLE	Ed Galloway—Grant Tech
Burt Deleven—Sacramento	TACKLE	Fred Yost—Santa Rosa
Ray Belcher—Vallejo	GUARD	Harry Kuwabara—Sacramento
Bill Butcine—Napa	GUARD	Darrel Cavanaugh—Santa Rosa
Tsar Calfee—Santa Rosa	CENTER	Bill Morris—Sacramento
Tad Dunbar—Santa Rosa	BACK	Dale Fairlee—Sacramento
Bill Charlesworth—Santa Rosa	BACK	Matt Vujevich—Sacramento
Pete Arrigoni—Marin	BACK	Frank McCoy—Grant Tech
Tony Geremia—Sacramento	BACK	Dick Nave—Marin

Puckett, Morettini Represent Rams On All-Conference Team

By Bob Quinlan, Sports Editor

Frank Puckett, pass snaring end, and Don Morettini, hard charging guard, represent the Ram eleven on the Southern Division of the 15th annual All-Northern California Junior College Conference selected by the coaches and college sports editors, and tabulated by The Guardsman sports staff.

Puckett and Menlo halfback Tom McCormick, unanimous selections, are co-captains of the dream team.

Menlo, Southern Division Champions, paced the team with three positions: McCormick, Charles Essegian, back, and Dave Shallenberger, center.

The remainder of the squad consists of Hartnell's Bill Whited, end; Ed Heaston, Modesto, and Jim Sproule, San Mateo, tackle; Modesto's Dick Cleland, guard, and Bill Calhoun, San Mateo, and Al Mathews, Monterey, backs.

Santa Rosa and Napa dominate the Northern Division's mythical team with four and three places, respectively. End Dave Devoto, center Tsar Calfee, and backs Ted Dunbar and Bill Charlesworth represent the Cubs, while tackle Bill Monlux, guard Bill Butcine, and end Gene Wellman are from Napa.

Monlux, who received the most votes, captains the team.

The squad's four remaining members are tackle Burt Delevan, Sacramento, Vallejo's Ray Belehor, guard and backs Pete Arrigoni, Marin, and Tony Geremia, Sacramento.

Other Rams, tackle Bob Williamson and quarterback Al Nethercutt, rated the second team, while Don Sessions, Dick Saccani, Marv Crews, and Jim Fales made honorable mention.

Lambs End Season With Squad Game

Lamb gridders climaxed their season last Tuesday with an intra-squad game which saw Cal Hersey's Reds lambaste Jack Bettencourt's Whites in the last quarter 12 to 0.

The contest climaxed a mediocre season for mentor Roy Burkhead's team and gave them a season record of one win and two losses plus two intersquad contests. The Lambs rolled over Mission High in the opener 13 to 0 but were unable to keep it up as they succumbed to Santa Rosa JC twice, 7 to 0, and 49 to 0.

Despite their season record, the Lambs amassed more yardage than any opponent.

Williamson

Round 'n About

Femmes Pass Hell Week Unscathed; Pledges Adjourn To Gay Clambakes

HELL Week de femme has now passed with a flock of new sorority members making their debut in campus club circles.

Alpha Lambda Chi neophytes for the current semester are as follows: Joan Kruse, Joan Anderson, Gem Vencil, Pat Miller, Chole Sheldon, Bev Moore, Peggy Trowbridge, Nancy McGee, Dolores Courant, and Joan Roberts. Felicitations to all.

The pledges, along with the members, treated to a joint meeting held last Wednesday evening to fete the beginners. The clambake was thrown in conjunction with Alpha Lambda Chi's brother fraternity, Tri Epsilon, at the home of sister Karalee Kimberk.

A spokeswoman for Delta Psi sorority recently announced the society's pledges for this semester as the following: Esther Ossin, Joan Cosgrave, Anne Yearely, LaDay Elledge, Gloria Finocchio, Joanne Lipscomb, Bem McMahan, Shirley Schaumleffel, Shirley Stockton, Irene Schimmel, Phyliss Parker, Vanda Puccinelli, Florence Madegan, Sheila Berke, and Dawn Kidd (comes the dawn, kid!)

Women students numbering 15 are pledged to Zeta Chi sorority this semester. The list of their names includes Jackie Avey, Carmen Clary, Gloria D'Amico, Margaret Earle, Gloria Godair, Charlet Harding, Sharon Hoskins, Vance Killingsworth, Mary Lee, Marie McPartlen, Joyce Nelson, Evelynn Pederson, Katie Ross, Margot Shaw, and Ethel Silverstein. Congratulations are in order!

Vicki George, Annette Hinson, Kathy Gerleer, Jean Thompson, Pat Sperry, Pat Jones, Margaret Barnes, Barbara Huffman, Donna Torre, and Marilyn Marr are soon to be members of Phi Beta Rho sorority after successfully surviving the hell of last week.

Not to be outdone by the ladies of campus organizations, several fraternities recently released the names of their pledges.

Tau Chi Sigmas have taken 20 men into their ranks and they are as follows: Duane Ward, Jerry Slater, Ken Abernethy, Murray Jewell, Lou Festaguzzza, Jack Russell, Glen McFaddin, Stan Hovorka, Rich Piper, Andy Waldron, John Tomac, Bob Frasier, Chuck Taggert, Bill Downs, Len Stinger, Pete Gentile, Jack Creighton, Cesar Vallejos, and Don Cavanaugh.

Tau Chis thoroughly enjoyed the joint meeting held with Zeta Chis on the evening of Wednesday, November 30. Did the ladies have an equally enjoyable time?

Beta Tau fraternity's formal initiation was held Saturday, November 26, at the home of brother George deUrioste, and Phil Brown, Tom Killilea, Lee Janover, Jim Deckert, Ernie McEldery, Stan Seaman, Pete Chevoier, Jack Wilson, Bill Marsico, and Larry Ross are the pledges initiated.

After the initiation rites the new and old members adjourned to the Fairmont to congratulate each other and the bartender.

One evening last week a Russian dinner, including Borsch, Venigred, Perog, and Rum Cake (with a Russian accent) was enjoyed (?) by members of the newly formed campus Russian Language Club.

After Zakucas those in attendance rode en masse to Comrade Russ Greer's domain for an evening of Russian influence and music. Festivities were presided over by Michael Zarchin, faculty sponsor of the organization.

Has the Senate investigating committee heard of this?

Honor Society Lists Eight New Members

Membership in Alpha Gamma Sigma now totals 57, Don Jensen, faculty advisor to the honor society, disclosed recently.

Names of the new members are as follows: second semester, Don H. Johnson, Adolph F. Reyes, John D. Schada; first semester, Charles T. Bergren, Clair DeBacker, Libert G. Myers, Bernard M. Stuchler, and Itsuo Uenaka.

Jensen added that coaches are still needed for the coaching service of the honor society.

Work Experience Program Here Continues

The work experience program, inaugurated by the Business Education department of the college last year, has proved successful and will be continued, Glenn Mercer, chairman of the Business Education department, announced recently.

The program enables students to work at outside businesses and simultaneously receive pay and college credit.

Students may work a minimum of seven or eight hours per week and receive two units, or they can work as much as 16 hours per week, including Saturday, and obtain four units of credit.

The Business Education department is divided into four sections, with a coodinator in charge of each. These coordinators, in connection with the placement bureau, supervise the placing of students in work programs. William C. Marsh is in charge of insurance, Sam Ziegler, small business, Mercer, transportation, and Virginia Gohn, merchandising.

UC Engineering Exam Saturday

Application blanks are available to college students who wish to participate in the University of California's engineering course entrance examinations, William K. Mayo, acting chairman of the department of engineering, said yesterday.

The examinations, to be held Saturday, December 10, will be divided into two catagories, he said, one for freshmen and sophomore students, and the other for juniors and seniors.

Those wishing to take the examination will be required to present a fee of $5.00 on the same day they receive the test. It is important, Mayo added, that veterans understand that they must also pay the $5.00 fee, which will be refunded to them by the Veterans Administration, providing they pass.

The freshman examination, otherwise known as the Freshman Status Engineering Examination, will consist of an apptitudo test. This test is designed to determine the "native ability" of the new student, and will not attempt to measure specific knowledge, he emphasized. All the necessary material required for the examination will be supplied by the examining officials.

Individual examinations, officiated over by some qualified person, can be arranged at a cost of $10.00

Soph King-Queen Contestants Start Campaigns December 27

Campaigning for the forthcoming Sophomore King and Queen elections will begin Tuesday, December 27, Bob Ryan, president of the sophomore class, announced recently.

Each candidate will be allowed five posters, the size of which shall be 22 by 28 inches. All posters are subject to the approval of the Publication Board Chairman. No posters will be permitted in the main building.

All costs for posters will have to be met by the candidates themselves and expenses for campaigning are not to exceed $15. Two photographs of each candidate will be donated by the McMurray Portrait Studio.

The four men in the running for king are: Dick Ganzert, Beta Tau; Ernest Vecchio, Beta Phi Beta; Lloyd Ferguson, Tri E; William Rosaia, Alpha Sigma Delta. In the race for the title of queen are Norma Moebes, Theta Tau; Dolores Henninger, Phi Beta Rho; Felice Quast, Zeta Chi; Barbara Goodwin, Alpha Lambda Chi; Jo Anne Knights, Delta Psi; Jeanne McKnew, Kappa Phi.

Election dates have been set for Wednesday and Thursday, January 4 and 5, in the student lounge. All Associated Students are eligible to vote. Men will cast their vote for queen, and women for king.

Leave Of Absence Deadline Jan. 6

Last day for filing leave of absence petitions is Friday, January 6, 1950, Mary Jane Learnard, registrar, warned yesterday.

Students desiring a leave of absence from the college must obtain a petition form from their counselor, she said.

Students who withdraw without a formal leave of absence do so at the risk of having their registration privileges curtailed or entirely withdrawn and receiving a grade of "F" in all subjects taken that semester.

Mid-term grades will be distributed in class rooms after the Christmas vacation following the same procedure as last semester, Miss Learnard added.

Associated Students Get Ice Hockey Rates

All Associated Student card holders are invited to attend the professional Ice Hockey Games at a special price, George Campbell, general manager of Winterland, announced recently.

Reserved seats, priced at $1.80, are being offered to students at 75c with a student card. The games are played on Wednesday and Saturday nights at Winterland, Post and Steiner Streets, San Francisco. Reservations may be made by calling WAlnut 1-0112.

The following retail merchandising students are working in downtown department stores during the Christmas vacation: Bill Briare, Alvin Johnson, John Luehs, Ann Less, Virginia Griffin, Karalee Kimberk, Janet Morris, Betty Johnson, Constance Parsons, Raymond Hutton, Evelyn Pederson, Patsy Dukich, Joan Hansen, Donald McQuade, Martha Hiribarren, Dolores Henninger, Virginia Cotter, Joan Brennan, Loma Pohlmann, Ruth Rosenberg.

JOHN HASKETT STUDIO
Artists — Photographers
FOR FINE CHRISTMAS PHOTOGRAPHY
1903 Ocean Avenue
JU 7-3639

For Christmas Gifts
That Mirror Your Joys

Cameras From $4.95 up
Brush-A-Photo Kits $1.00
Camera Cigarette Lighter $4.95

CANDID CAMERA SHOP
1933 Ocean Avenue
DE 3-3340 Open Nites Until 9 p.m.

GIVE DAD ARROWS FOR XMAS
(AND YOU'LL BE SURE TO PLEASE HIM!)

Suggestion 1—A box of fine, long wearing Arrow shirts in Dad's favorite collar style. A white, a solid color and a stripe! $3.65 up.

Suggestion 2—Be choosy and pick out a few good looking Arrow ties—a rep stripe, a foulard, a polka dot, and a bold panel. $1 - $3.50.

Suggestion 3—A box of Arrow's mon-sized handkerchiefs, colored borders, whites, or with Dad's initials. 35c up

Suggestion 4—For outdoor Dads, a couple of rugged and handsome Arrow sports shirts will hit the spot. $3.95 - $10.

Before the vacation rush begins, see your Arrow dealer for some grand Christmas gift suggestions for Dad, rich Uncle George, or the kid brother.

You'll be sure to please them with "Arrow" gifts—gifts any mon appreciates.

ARROW SHIRTS
TIES • UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

President Asks Student Aid To Keep Campus Clean

Concern over thoughtless disposal of refuse about the campus was expressed in a statement from President Louis G. Conlan yesterday, in which he appealed to student pride for aid in keeping college property attractive and presentable.

"I am much disturbed by the way students are treating their campus," the statement read. "During the Christmas vacation, workers had completely cleaned the campus grounds from one end to the other.

"On their first day back, students littered the area with waste paper. Even when waste containers were present, they were ignored and refuse thrown on the ground."

During the same day, President Conlan explained, Herbert C. Clish, superintendent of San Francisco's public schools, was conducting some guests about the college, among them a member of the park commission.

The superintendent was definitely embarrassed by the conditions confronting him and his guests, the college's president stated.

Further voicing his concern, President Conlan said, "Besides showing a lack of college and civic pride, the students are breaking the law!"

Conlan And Fischer Officiate Bowl Games

City College President Louis G. Conlan officiated at field judge in the Rose Bowl game between the University of California and Ohio State University at Pasadena Monday.

At the same time, William Fischer, Ram line coach, refereed the Orange Bowl classic at Miami, Florida.

Happy New Year

TEN SOPH KING-QUEEN candidates appear on the ballot for elections here today and tomorrow in the student lounge.

Men will cast votes for queen, and women for king, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on both days.

Top row, left to right, are Barbara Goodwin, Alpha Lambda Chi; Lloyd Ferguson, Tri E; Dolores Henninger, Phi Beta Rho; Dick Ganzert, Beta Tau; and Jeanne McKnew, Kappa Phi. Others, in same order, are Jo Anne Knight, Delta Psi; John Harness, Beta Phi Beta; Norma Moebes, Theta Tau; William Rosaia, Alpha Sigma Delta; and Felice Quast, Zeta Chi.

All Associated Students are eligible to vote.

—Photo by McMurray Studios

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

VOLUME XXIX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 4, 1950 NUMBER 17

Polls Open Today And Tomorrow For King, Queen Voting

Polls open at 10 o'clock this morning in the student lounge for voting for the sophomore king and queen.

Voting will continue throughout today and tomorrow, and polls will be open both days from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., Bob Ryan, class president, said.

All Associated Students are eligible to vote, and men will cast their ballots for queen, and women for king.

A last minute change found Ernest Vecchio withdrawing from the race for king, prior to his enlistment in the Air Force. He was replaced by John Harness, Ryan said.

Men in the race for the kingship are Lloyd Ferguson, Tri E; Dick Ganzert, Beta Tau; John Harness, Beta Phi Beta; William Rosaia, Alpha Sigma Delta. Women contending for the queenship are Barbara Goodwin, Alpha Lambda Chi; Dolores Henninger, Phi Beta Rho; Jeanne McKnew, Kappa Phi; Jo Anne Knights, Delta Psi; Norma Moebes, Theta Tau; and Felice Quast, Zeta Chi.

Members of the committee in charge of the election are Ryan, John Armstrong, and Lois Arfsten. Chairman for Sophomore Week is Don Ayers.

Following tradition, announcement of the winners and their coronation, will take place at the Sophomore Formal. The king will be awarded the Theta Tau perpetual trophy, with the Beta Tau perpetual trophy going to the queen. Each in addition will receive loving cups to keep.

The Sophomore Formal will be held Saturday, January 28, at the Scottish Rite Auditorium in Oakland, Ryan said.

Little Theater Students Prepare Shaw's You Never Can Tell

Announcement of George Bernard Shaw's witty play You Never Can Tell, as the second presentation this semester of the City College Little Theater was made last week by Paul Ellison of the drama department.

The English master's comedy, which revolves primarily around the attempts of Valentine, the "Duelist of Sex," to win over the scientific, practical Gloria in the England of 1897, is replete with hilarious situations and dialogue calculated to leave theater goers in stitches from the opening scene in a dentist's office to the finale at a fancy masquerade ball.

The cast includes several familiar names. Jane Howarth, who portrays Mrs. Clandon, the sophisticated suffragette, is well remembered for her performance in Much Ado About Nothing.

Vivian Breslin, another standout in Much Ado, is cast as her daughter Gloria.

The play will open on Thursday, January 19.

Clubs To Meet During College Hour Friday

College hour is scheduled at 10:10 a.m. this Friday, Louis Batmale, dean of activities, announced yesterday. All college clubs will meet in their regular rooms. This is one of the last club meetings planned for this semester, Batmale added.

The next issue of The Guardsman will be published Tuesday, January 10.

Following is the college hour schedule for Friday:

8 o'clock classes— 8:10 to 8:50
9 o'clock classes— 9:00 to 9:40
10 o'clock classes— 9:50 to 10:30
College Hour—10:40 to 11:20
11 o'clock classes—11:30 to 12:10
12 o'clock classes—12:20 to 1:00

Associated Student Office Seekers' Petitions Due Tuesday

Deadline for candidate petitions in the coming Associated Student election has been set for 12 noon Tuesday, January 10, Curtis May, election committee commissioner, announced last Thursday.

Petitions may be obtained from the Associated Student office, Building 2, west campus or from dean of student activities, Louis Batmale.

The election will be held in the student lounge on Tuesday, January 17, from 8:45 a.m. to 4 p.m., and on Wednesday, January 18, from 8:45 a.m. to 3 p.m.

All candidates must have pictures of themselves in the election committee office on or before 3 p.m. Tuesday, January 10. One three by five glossy photograph must accompany the petitions, May said.

The posters may not exceed the maximum size of 22 by 28 inches. Posters will be approved by the Publications Board Wednesday, January 11, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in The Guardsman office, board chairman Dick Brennan said.

Five major posters will be allowed each candidate on the campus of the college.

No candidate is permitted to display posters in the main building or on the east campus.

Publicity stunts will be allowed in the form of handbills, minor parades, speeches, only with the approval of the dean in charge of student activities.

In the event that a candidate wishes to use printed material, he must obtain the approval of the Publications Board as well.

One poster is allowed in each of the five off-campus stores. Candidates will be held responsible for the posting and removal of said posters, May warned.

Campaign expenditures for the election, either by or for each candidate, cannot exceed the maximum of fifteen (15) dollars. Contestants must adhere to this rule especially, May emphasized.

Each nominee is to submit an itemized list of past, present, and proposed expenditures to the election committee at or before 11 a.m. Monday, January 16.

In the event that candidates pool expenses, the amount contributed by each person is to be noted on the statement. Also the pro-rated amount of each expenditure must be stated clearly.

In either event, a receipted statement of the amount spent must be presented in all cases.

Campaigning of any type in the vicinity of the student lounge during the election is strictly forbidden.

Leave Of Absence Deadline Is Friday

Leave of absence petitions will not be issued after Friday, January 6, Mary Jane Learnard, registrar, announced today.

Students who withdraw without a formal leave of absence do so at the risk of having their registration privileges curtailed or entirely withdrawn and receiving grades of "F", Miss Learnard warned.

Petition forms for students desiring a leave of absence must be obtained from their counsellor, she said.

Photography Department Is Awarded Scholarship; Equipment Store Opens

City College's photography department was recently awarded a new annual scholarship by the Fred Archer School of Photography of Los Angeles, Beverly Pasqualetti, photography director, announced today.

This new scholarship will pay tuition for approximately two years to one photography major selected annually, Pasqualetti said.

To receive the benefits of this award the student must be a photography major who has completed with a satisfactory grade most of the required courses in the photography department, he announced.

Charles Lamp, Emmett Smith, photography instructors, and Pasqualetti will recommend annually to the Fred Archer School the one student they feel is outstanding in the photography field.

Pasqualetti said the scholarship student will be required to furnish his own supplies while attending the Archer School.

Opening of the new photography store room to handle with increased efficiency the needs of the photography department was also announced today by Pasqualetti.

The inadequate store room in Building 9, has been completely remodeled recently for the new issuance system to students, Pasqualetti said.

The new store room, he pointed out, will issue material with increased efficiency and will maintain the inventory more readily.

Parking Space To Close For Painting

At some date in the very near future, not yet determined, the college campus will be closed to all cars, Oscar E. Anderson, coordinator of the division of educational management, announced yesterday.

This move will be taken in order to make it possible for workmen to repaint parking strips in the various parking areas about the campus, Anderson said.

However, if possible, only one area at a time will be blocked off, leaving the other places open for automobiles. This would allow some cars to come on campus during this time instead of completely blocking it off, he added.

The actual date has not yet been determined, pending clearance from the City Hall, Anderson stated, but an announcement will be made as soon as the information has been obtained in order to give car owners ample time to seek other temporary parking spaces.

1950 Arrives In City, Hits Campus

By Rose Hardie

Announcing another New Year, Baby 1950 arrived in San Francisco with the customary whoopin' and hollerin'.

As the Gold Rush spirit fades into the shadows, Centennial celebrations begin to take over the spotlight for Californians.

Off with the old and on with the new is the cry of City College students as well, and resolution-making is the chief campus-pastime.

Variety is the keynote of the assorted hopeful aspirations.

Tops among resolves is the age-old "I'll try to study more" routine.

But, all minds are not focused on educational aims.

Take "Tillie the Tub," for example, who has vowed to abandon richly filled cream puffs from her diet for the year. She may have told herself, but reports are that she neglected communicating with her stomach.

Piggy banks should be well fed hereabouts if student promises to save money are kept.

Meek sons have promised parents that the new year will find them obedient and faithful to home duties.

By weekly observation, the passerby will regard well cut lawns at the beginning of the year and will regard the grass growing higher as the months speed by.

Hopes are great but possibilities slim that the sundry promises currently on the lips of men and women here will materialize.

One might well conclude at the offset of another year, men, like craftsmen, build dream mountains composed of well meant resolutions only to have them tumble down in a short time.

Lambda Alpha And Mu Iota Psi Music Societies Sponsor Dance Friday

Lambda Alpha and Mu Iota Psi music societies will jointly sponsor a dance Friday night from 9 to 12 in the west campus auditorium, Bob Tyson, Lambda Alpha president, said yesterday.

The current "Guess the Mystery Melody" contest is being held in conjunction with the dance and the winner will be named Friday night and presented with a long playing record player.

The mystery melody may be heard over the college public address system between classes every day up to and including Friday. The ballot below is the official contest entry blank and all students are invited to try their hand at guessing the name of the tune.

Tyson stressed the fact that the full title of the tune must be given and the person must be present at the dance to win. He felt that the novel contest will set a pace for future social activities of the music societies.

Music will be supplied by the college dance band, and bids will be $1.25 drag, and $.75 stag.

Mystery Tune Ballot

The name of the mystery melody is: (full title)

.....

.....

Your name:.....

.....

Tear this ballot out and deposit in the box in the auditorium foyer.

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

1949 Member Associated Collegiate Press 1950

Represented for National Advertising by NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.

681 Market Street, San Francisco — 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Volume XXIX, No. 17 — WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 4, 1950 — Page 2

Election Time; Guardsman Neutral During Campaigns

ONE glance at the front page this trip shows that this is election time again. It might be a good idea to get in practice for the coming Associated Student elections by going to the polls today and casting a vote for your favorite King and Queen. Most of today's candidates are prettier than those we will probably get in the general election anyway.

It might be a good idea at this time to clarify the position of The Guardsman in regard to all this political business. Being the only official publication of the Associated Students, we do not take sides or back any one candidate. Fair and square treatment to all, and may the best man win is our motto.

It has happened in the past that an over zealous political group, fired by ambition, distributed propaganda in imitation of the name of The Guardsman. We hope this does not happen again, but if it does be forewarned. Remember that to be forewarned is worth two in the bush and gathers no moss or something like that.

There is nothing like a couple of good New Year resolutions to start the new year so herewith a few suggestions. Resolution number one: We solemnly swear to give up chewing tobacco for the year 1950. Resolution number two: We solemnly swear to give up orange pop for the year 1950. We have made these same two resolutions for the past ten years and by exercise of an iron will have never failed to keep them.

We know someone who has sworn to give up bubble gum and spitballs for the year. We think this strong-willed person is setting a fine example for the rest of us, and we hope that every student on campus is able to follow this lead.

One more item, and we can all go back to our comic books. Last Thursday's Student Council meeting saw a lively discussion about the idea of publishing a student handbook. The final result saw the money voted and Russ Greer was told to go ahead with his plans.

Counterpoint: Highlights Of Year Forty-Nine Pass In Review

By Walt Heil

AMID the usual hoopla and convivial feelings, the year 1949 slunk into limbo last Saturday evening, and the world ushered in 1950 and the second half of the 20th Century.

1949 proved to be an interesting year on the international, national, local, and campus fronts. For some people 1949 was a bleak year, while for others it was the exact opposite.

BLACK YEAR

For the American Communist Party leaders, 1949 was a black year. They were convicted after a long trial.

For the Chinese Nationalist Government, 1949 was a dark year also. The Red Tide of Communism engulfed China in its crimson hue.

The family of tiny Kathy Fiscus suffered a heart-broken year too when they lost their three year old daughter in an abandoned well shaft in Southern California.

MATRIMONY

For Prince Ali Khan and Rita Hayworth the year 1949 was exceedingly joyous, they were married. The same goes for Dick Tracy and Tess Trueheart, Clark Gable and Lady Ashley, and Tyrone Power and Linda Christian.

The promoters, producers, and backers of the show South Pacific were happy counting the receipts brought in by their smash show in 1949.

The 1950 picture for the Conservative Party of Britain looked bright when the people of New Zealand and Australia voted out the Labor Party in 1949. The Churchill party said it indicated a swing away from the welfare state.

WON ELECTION

For Jack Shelley, state A F of L labor boss, 1949 was a bright year. Shelley captured the Fifth District's congressional seat in an off year election.

The merchants of San Francisco had a big selling Christmas season in 1949 and that made them happy.

On the campus front, Ralph Hillsman was happy in 1949. He coached the basketball and golf teams to championships.

Paul Ellison was happy when his production of Twelfth Night was a success.

PRAISE FOR OPERA

Flossita Badger and Lloyd Sisler were pleased when their production of The Marriage of Figaro in April was a smash hit. The production even drew the eminent critic Alfred Frankenstein who praised it.

For the college boxing team, 1949 was a trying year. They racked up many triumphs only to be thwarted in their bid for national honors in the Intercollegiate Meet at Pasadena.

Looking-Up . . . Miracle Making Just Routine Task For Graphic Art Instructors Here

By Dick Briggs

PEEKING in on the Graphic Arts Department is more fascinating than watching magicians pull elephants from top hats. Though to instructors William Eckert, George Mullany, and Robert Meyer, performing miracles aren't sleight of hand illusions, but the real thing made easy after years of practice.

Most laymen suspect the process of printing involves placing type against paper, but the Graphic Arts Department can make a printed impression without making a direct contact with paper and metal forms.

This miracle might even puzzle a Hindu charlatan, but to the master printers it's easier than printing books with paper type—and they do that too, which isn't simple either, without the proper technique.

PRINTING BY OFFSET

"Printing without making contact between paper and the metal form is done," as George Mullany tells it, "by Offset Lithography. The lithograph machine is constructed so that the metal plate makes an impression on a rubber cylinder, which in turn prints on the inserted paper so that at no time during the operation does the stock touch the metal plate."

The use of paper type in Offset Lithography is even more simplified. The paper characters are laid out and pasted on poster board by instructor Eckert's art students, who then take the finished design to the lithography laboratory where a negative is made. From the negative Meyer's litho students photograph the design onto a sensitized metal plate. This plate, when treated with special chemicals, is then ready for placement on the press and the final printing process begins.

RESPONSIBILITY ON ARTIST

Progress in printing is daily placing more responsibility on the artist which indicates that a printer or an artist might be required to have a background in their respective fields in the distant future, Mullany hinted.

Judging from the thousands of involved instruments and chemical solutions, and with only an eye on the present, we would suspect nothing less than a background of four years in Chemistry, Commercial Art, and Ancient Phonetics (to read type upside down) would provide a student with a necessary knowledge.

For anyone with a desire to be amazed the best and most satisfying remedy is to contact Messrs. Eckert, Mullany, and Meyer, who can produce more miracles with a stick of type than a weatherman can conceive alibis for wrong forecasts.

Hope Gives Screen Hope To Big Girls

By Bob Jones

City College coeds who have decided that they must do something about their waist lines, and have proceeded to attempt just that, may be spoiling their chances for a wonderful career!

Hope Emerson is a six-foot-two-inch, 200 pound actress who vows that if it were not for her size she would still be trying to crash the gates of Hollywood.

Miss Emerson states that she was in the process of losing extra poundage, when she heard that the producers of the play Lysistrata were looking for a big woman. Miss Emerson said that they were overjoyed, and just a little surprised to see a woman of her size, and then ". . . they hired me before I could say hello."

Since that time, she has been in constant demand by both Broadway and Hollywood producers. Some nice things come in large packages, so future "big girls" may try to maintain their size instead of losing it.

Spotlight: Normal Life Gives Way To Menace Of Television Shows

By Keith Gardner

IF you're tired of reading, hearing, or perhaps remembering sad tales of sad experiences with television, then move on to something else. This is going to be a real tear-jerker.

So pull up a handkerchief while the village video describes the cause, symptoms, and result of contracting a first class case of telemania.

Right here and now let's make it clear that the malady is difficult to catch. A couple of hours standing outside an appliance store or leaning against the rail in a coffee shop isn't dangerous at all.

SYMPTOMS

It's only after you acquire a set of your own and learn to spend 15 hours a day in front of it that you're in danger. At first the symptoms are scarcely noticeable. Your left leg may drag a little now and then and your corneas may slip out of place, but don't worry. The best is yet to come.

Now let's mention a few of the things that you can expect from your television set itself. The first thing to remember is that most TV programs are designed for small children and sub-normal morons.

If, by any chance, you're not a small child or a moron, don't worry. You just keep looking at that set long enough and pretty soon no one will know the difference.

But don't get the idea that television doesn't have its advantages. Once you get a set of your own you'll never again waste time or money on a movie.

Just imagine how foolish it would be to take in a picture when you can get puppets, fifteen year old movies, twenty year old vaudeville acts, astigmatism, shizophrenia, and heaven only knows what all, right in your own living room.

INVENTOR

In conclusion let us note that a scientific marvel like television is always the forerunner of a host of secondary inventions. Already they have plastic magnifiers and specially designed chairs, but a wonderful new discovery will make its appearance soon.

This is a super-keen axe, designed to shatter a TV set into smithereens with one blow. And the designer of this gadget?

You said it, kid.

Santa, Students Entertain 86 Hurley Village Children

By Cy Donaldson

Candy, cookies, ice cream bars, an abundance of toys, and the efforts of many individuals and concerns combined to make the annual Christmas party for Hurley Village children a complete success.

Announced by pamphlets circulated the day before, Santa Claus appeared in full regalia (minus his sled and reindeer) at the Village promptly at 3 p.m. to welcome all the children to the college cafeteria for the party.

Santa was fortunate to have escaped with his life after the deluge of little tots heeded his cry and dashed outside their homes, some accompanied by their parents and others without.

Children of all ages (86 in all) joined in the procession, led by Santa, which wound around through the Village and eventually ended at the doors of the cafeteria.

Santa's many helpers greeted the enthusiastic youngsters with candy, ice cream, and cookies. Some of the guests were too young to enjoy these gastronomical delights, but there will be many more opportunities in the future.

Both laughter and tears emanated from the group participating in the festivities. Many of the younger set were perplexed and even frightened by this strange figure dressed in red and white with the long white beard.

Other eager children clung to Santa's costume, pleading for dolls, cowboy suits, and even a service station.

"After viewing all those smiling faces and knowing how the children relied on me to fulfill their desires, how could I be other than optimistic about Christmas," remarked Santa.

Finally the toys were distributed and for the second time within two hours Santa was in jeopardy of his life as the kids converged on the gift boxes.

There were more than enough gifts for these present, a fact which the wide-eyed youngsters soon took advantage of. Some children, eager to start a toy store of their own, came back for seconds, thirds, and even fourths.

A bargain sale at Macy's never underwent the aggressive tactics and the shouts which issued from this group of children; one little girl, envious of her playmates' gifts, exchanged at least three different items until she received a toy watch which duplicated one which her girl friend had received.

President Louis G. Conlan attended the party as did a photographer from the Call-Bulletin, who took a number of pictures, one of which was placed on the first page of the following day's paper.

Members of The Guardsman Business and Advertising department—Barbara Low, Alicia Diaz, George Kelly, Richard Hart, James Norman-

(Continued on page 4, column 4)

Quips About the Campus

By Dayton Lawson

Post-Holiday Notes: (Chorus of several male voices rising above the din of last Tuesday's back-to-work conversation); "Two tickets to the Rose Bowl game and two cuts here at home. Man, but what a temptation. It'd almost be worth taking the course over again."

From Boris Orloff comes this emotional observation: "If you think my eyes look bad from over there, you ought to see 'em from in HERE! I just took my first history exam in technicolor this morning. Christmas colors, too."

And from Dave O'Conner, a commuter from Marvelous Marin: My mother-in-law and I kissed and made up for Christmas and New Years, but now we're back to giving each other the silent treatment for the rest of the year."

Nick Balich, prominent Ocean Ave. merchant and current holder of the prep record for the longest run in high school football (103 yds.) spent part of the time corraling everyone who hadn't seen his write-up in Roger Williams column of the News. "No, I'm not thinking of posting it on the wall just yet," observed the modest one. We'll see!

Guardsman Staff — Fall, 1949

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... RICHARD BRENNAN
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Richard Briggs
ASST. MANAGING EDITOR ..... Walt Roessing
ASST. MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rosa Hardie
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Cyrus Donaldson, Robert Goncalvez, Roberta Jackson, Dayton Lawson, Frank Monte, Terry Ryan, Adolphus Thomas, William Thomas, Gene Van Dyke, Dick Williamson.
NEWS: Robert Thorsen, editor; Nathan Carter, Ben Colon, Jackie Avey, Georgie Watkins, Robert Johnson, Robert Jones, Robert Kays, Raymond Kelly, Richard Larrick, Sandra Marks, John Moore, John O'Sullivan, Emma Robins, John Spalding, Naomi Takahashi, Robert Valli, Joseph Vanderbilt, Clarence Whitcomb, Fenton While, Ralph Wiesner, Larry Bales.
FEATURE: Walt Heil, editor; Keith Gardner, assistant.
SPORTS: Bob Quinlan, editor.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Richard Harrington, Claude Dittmore, Dick Steinheimer.
STAFF ARTIST: Eddie Mitsunaga.
BUSINESS: Barbara Low, manager; Norman Reger, Alicia Diaz.
ADVERTISING: George Kelly, manager; Richard Hart.
CIRCULATION: Jerry Unider, manager.
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Final Exams Cloud New Year Gaiety

Although there is a famous quotation to the effect that nothing is certain except death and taxes, there looms in a college student's life one other dreaded certainty—final examinations.

Books that have been gathering dust for the past month must be hauled down from the shelves in an effort to prepare for this event.

Professor Osgood Q. Henpekked, noted scholar, gives the following advice to those who intend to follow the road of knowledge: "Open the books. Read the books. Try to remember what you have read in the books.

"If this simple procedure fails, go outside, dig a deep hole, and jump in it."

Rams Are Favorites At Modesto

Cagers Receive Top Seeding In 12th Annual Tournament

Favorites to do a repeat performance, Ralph Hillsman's classy college cagers journey to Modesto tomorrow to defend their Modesto Invitational Tournament title.

The Rams, followed by Grant Tech and Modesto Colleges, have top seeding in the 12th annual tourney.

Last year's wonder team edged out the home town Pirates 43-41 to win the title.

Hillsman's 1950 edition has the potentialities to continue the winning habit of the 1949 outfit. In five games this season the locals have defeated Santa Rosa 52-45, Marin 60-45, St. Mary's Frosh 56-32, and El Camino 56-33, while dropping a 45-40 contest to the USF Frosh.

During their holiday slate the Rams met and completely outshone a helpless College of Marin quintet, December 7. Deciding the issue in the first quarter, the Hillsmans amassed a 23-1 lead, while the Mariners were held without a field goal until three minutes of the second quarter had elapsed. Dick Mulready paced the winners with 14 points.

Caught unprepared after the easy Marin victory, the Rams were defeated by a strong USF Frosh team the next evening. Although behind at the half 25-22, the Red and White quintet could not keep up the pace and fell far behind until the closing minutes of the game. Mulready was again high scorer for the Rams with ning tallies.

The locals returned to their winning ways December 16, when they subdued the St. Mary's Frosh. Playing as if the Cow Palace was their home court, the Rams, leading 24-13 at intermission, were never threatened during the second half.

Besides playing a great floor game, and inspiring the team with his terrific offensive play, Kev Duggan, Mr. Everywhere, took high point laurels with 20 digits.

With the first string playing only half of the contest, the Rams defeated El Camino College December 20, in the Cow Palace. Keeping the scoring well divided, the Rams built up a 31-16 half-time lead and then the reserves went on to win by 23 points.

Forward George McLaughlin copped scoring honors with 13 points.

Gridmen Receive Block SF Awards

In its first post-Christmas meeting last Tuesday, the Student Council approved unanimously the list of names who are to receive Block SF awards for meritorious showing in football.

The names were submitted to officiating Dean of Student Activities Louis Batmale, by Head Coach Grover Klemmer. They were approved also by Athletic Director Jack Gaddy.

Florence Loo, newly appointed Award Commissioner, moved that the list be approved "en masse." It was seconded by Leonard Wolfe.

There were 27 names on the list. Five of them, however, are not to receive blocks until each has purchased an Associated Student card. With membership the awards will be automatic.

Those to be awarded the block SF immediately are Wallace Barnard, George Boyko, John Brown, Robert A. Clark, William Coneff, Rodney De Cristofaro, Jim Fales, Dewey Guerra, Stanley Haan, George Hart, James McAuley, Daniel J. Montrose, Al Nethercutt, Frank Puckett, Richard Saccani, Billy W. Shipp, Edgar A. West, Robert Williamson, Jack Wollack, Cledus Washington, Walt Jourdin and Rotea Gilford.

Volleyball Signups Conclude Friday, End Intramural Sports For Semester

Signup blanks for intramural volleyball competition will be accepted until Friday, January 6, Director Tom Wilson announced. Volleyball will be the final intra college sport of the semester.

Each team will be allowed six regular players and two substitutes on their roster. Results will be decided on the basis of 21 points per game, and two-out-of-three matches to win a series. Rules will be posted on the bulletin board in the men's gymnasium.

Intramural sports are open to all students, Wilson added. He urged all clubs and organizations that have participated in the past tournaments to again register teams. All new or individual clubs are also welcome to enter squads for the play.

Customary awards will be presented to the winning teams. Namely, a gold belt buckle for each member of the championship club, and a bronze shield for the runner-ups.

Wilson reminded all students who have games remaining to play in ping pong, badminton, or tennis, to apply to him for further scheduling or suffer disqualification. Those who make no effort to contact him will be defaulted out of competition, he warned.

Portola A.C. annexed the intramural football championship by downing the Kigmies, 7-2, December 6. Members of the Portola team will be awarded championship buckles, while the Kigmies will receive second place medals.

Golden Glove Bout Preparations Begin

One knockout and three technical knockouts highlighted the December 6 Novice Tournament. Sigurd Jett, who ko'd his way to the finals, continued his lethal walloping to gain a second round tko over Jack McCartney in the 165 pound class. Len Gage, 130, pulled the surprise of the evening, dropping Dana Bishop for the count with a left in the first round.

In other bouts, Telmo Frisco dec. Harry Dear, 120; Tom Hahn dec. Bill Revilla, 135; Jim Rockwell dec. Al Larkin, 140; Al Revere dec. Bob Kaffke, 145; Gene Hamilton dec. Charles Allum, 150; Dick Fiore dec. Dick Landry, 155; John Brooks tko'd Jeff Bailey, 175; and Herb Brown tko'd Jack Bosque, Hvy.

Bay Area Colleges Compete In Annual Horseshow Friday Night

City College's annual intercollegiate horse show is to be presented this Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the St. Francis Riding Academy ring by the Spur and Saddle Club and the Women's Athletic Association, Bob Ott, club president, said yesterday.

Admission for the show, under preparation for a month by members of Laurine Bergin's riding classes, will be free.

Bay area colleges participating in the eighth event open to beginning, intermediate and advanced riders, are San Mateo Junior College, the University of California, Stanford University and San Francisco State.

Decker Gains All Conference Berth

Neal Decker, three letterman and president of the Block SF, climaxed his college soccer career during the vacation by gaining selection to the first string All-Conference team as right fullback.

Decker sparked the team to three wins and a tie out of six games last season and was a unanimous selection of coaches and officials who met after each game and selected three players as outstanding.

No other player from Coach Roy Diederichsen's 1949 edition received mention.

The All-Conference squad played the champion USF team during the vacation and came out on the lower end of a 4 to 0 drubbing. The contest was decided in the first six minutes as the Dons ran rampart through the All-Star lineup, who were trying a new defense. After the "new" defense was dropped in favor of orthodox play, the contest settled down to a closely fought contest, but the Stars were unable to boot home any points.

Judges for the eight exhibitions of skill are Mrs. George Pope Jr. of San Mateo and Mrs. Anita Court of San Francisco. Mrs. Court is one of 33 members of the American Saddle Bred Association on the Pacific Coast.

Speech department student, Don Parker, will announce the events.

Brigitta Koerting, science instructor at the college, donated her services as ring mistress. Wanda Hodges, City College student, and Nancy Aiken of the academy at 701-7th Avenue, will participate as ring clerk and ring mistress.

Music for the show will be played over the donated WAA sound system.

The fancy dress event will be executed to the tune of "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon." "Mule Train," the tune very popular at the moment, will provide the tempo for the obstacle event for the intermediate and advanced riders.

The Pleasure Class and the Old Clothes Race features will be set to other western tunes, while the other events will be set to marches.

Refreshments to be served to the riders after the show were donated by Borden's Dairy and Langendorf Baking Companies.

RAMblings . . .

By Walt Roessing

New Additions Could Force Tri-Division

Long Distance League Hard On Team Funds

FOR the second time in three years the Northern California Junior College Conference is considering a change in the league's divisional setup.

In Santa Rosa last month at the conference meeting, the officials made a proposal to divide the NCJCC into three divisions, from the present two.

The proposal to divide the loop into North, South, and Metropolitan sections was the main topic discussed at the meeting.

Three years ago the league consisted of an A and B division and then was changed to a North and South with the 15 member colleges separated geographically.

What is the reason now for this drastic change?

The reasons are, as given by the conference officials, to accommodate new members and facilitate game scheduling. Some of the new members were indicated as possibly such valley cities as Fresno, Visalia, and Taft.

If just these three two-year colleges were added, the conference would contain a total membership of 18 teams, which would divide each division into six colleges.

This would prove an advantage to City College. Its teams would not have to travel any great distance for league contests. Such colleges as Marin, San Mateo, Menlo, Vallejo, Stockton, and Monterey, are relatively close or in the immediate Bay area.

With such trips to Modesto, Hartnell, and Sacramento eliminated, the Ram football budget might not have to be cut again.

More players would be able to make the few intersectional trips, instead of just 22, the number that traveled to Los Angeles last season.

The plan, if passed, would require a rewriting of the conference, and the officials expressed agreement that the new alignment should become effective in 1951.

All 15 member colleges were represented at the recent Santa Rosa session with Paul Clymer of College of Marin, who is president of the conference, presiding.

The league officials also discussed, but took no action on, next season's schedules in boxing, baseball, football, track, wrestling, golf and skiing.

Your Hair is Your Best Asset Keep It Neat!
AT
COLE'S Barber Shop
ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

10% DISCOUNT With A. S. Card
For True Values
THE LADIES' SHOP
Everything For The Miss & Mrs.
1532 Ocean Avenue

FAXON GARAGE
OFFICIAL BRAKE TESTING STATION
Brakes Inspected and Adjusted $1.50
GENERAL REPAIRS
545 Faxon Avenue — JU 7-1063

For The Best In A Meal The Avenue Is Ideal
Avenue Coffee Shop
1612 Ocean

JOHN HASKETT STUDIO
Artists — Photographers
For Fine Portrait Photography
1903 Ocean Avenue
JU 7-3639

WESTWOOD PARK FRENCH LAUNDRY
Quality Dry Cleaning Service
We Specialize in SHIRTS!
1031 Ocean Avenue
Opposite West Campus

Ability Wins

The ability to do things . . . to show initiative is a tremendous factor in building your business career. A Heald Training gives you this ability . . . this confidence to take hold and succeed in the work you are trained to do. No other Business College in the West has a record of 86 years of dependability to offer you. More than 250,000 Heald Trained Students hold responsible positions. Think of what this means to you now and your future advancement.

"THE TREND IS TOWARDS THE TRAINED"
Select the course of your choice and go forward toward the goal of your ambition.

☐ GENERAL BUSINESS ☐ BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION
☐ PRIVATE SECRETARIAL ☐ MODERN OFFICE MACHINES
☐ HIGHER ACCOUNTANCY ☐ EXECUTIVE SECRETARIAL
☐ STENOGRAPHIC ☐ SPECIAL BRUSHUP

Write or phone ORdway 3-5500 for your Catalog
APPROVED FOR VETERANS
DAY SCHOOL HEALDS NIGHT SCHOOL
BUSINESS COLLEGE
Van Ness at Post St. • Phone ORdway 3-5500 • San Francisco
2090 BROADWAY Oakland Phone HIgate 4-0201 — 9TH AND J STREETS Phone Gilbert 2-4924 Sacramento — 10 NOTRE DAME Phone Columbia 1340 San Jose

Explosive-Proof Lab Complete For Paint Technology Classes

Construction of a new explosive-proof laboratory was completed last week in the main building and will be ready for use by the Paint Technology Department in the near future, James Downey, instructor in Paint Technology, announced yesterday.

The laboratory differs from conventional workshops in that all the lights, fixtures, and switches are explosion proof, Downey said. There are also ample facilities for the cooking of varnishes and for the grinding and mixing of pigmented products in equipment that is similar in design to that found in the factory, and with scientific apparatus for conducting all necessary tests.

Students were forced by necessity in the past to use a regular chemistry laboratory which was very unsatisfactory for paint technology purposes, Downey added.

The equipment available in this new laboratory is similar to that found in manufacturing plants, and in many cases it is superior.

January 13 Deadline For Veterans To Apply For Transfer Certificates

Veterans attending the college who plan to transfer to other institutions next spring were warned yesterday by F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, to apply for supplemental certificates of eligibility before Friday, January 13.

Marsh also said that veterans planning to change a major field should apply for supplemental certificates, since the applicants must report to the Veterans Administration for tests and counselling before changes will be considered.

He urged prompt attention to these matters since the average time required to process a supplemental certificate is about three weeks.

Veterans who have filed certificates of eligibility but have not yet received their subsistence checks should report immediately to the Veterans Affairs Office in Building 3, Marsh added.

Library Boasts Swiss Book Exhibit

In observance of the 22nd Annual Printing Education Week and Benjamin Franklin's birthday anniversary, the Art Department will display a collection of Swiss books in the library beginning today and lasting through Friday, January 20, librarian Clement Skrabak announced yesterday.

According to Shrabak, the collection was displayed previously at the University of Utah and the University of California at Berkeley.

The display of books is sponsored by Arbeitsgemeinschaft, Pro-Helvetian society for the promotion of Helvetian culture, he said. It will highlight the Swedish version of writing, printing, and binding books, Shrabak said.

The exhibition is free to all interested students, and a similar collection of books will be displayed at other colleges and universities throughout the states, he added.

Simultaneously, Skarbak announced that gifts amounting to 350 magazine issues, 100 law book volumes, and an estimated additional 200 books on various subjects were donated to the college library recently.

Jane Scribner, science instructor, donated 300 of the magazine issues and 100 law volumes to the library. These books, Skrabak said, are invaluable because of their complete coverage of early legal matters in the Western area.

Accident Prevention Talks Planned Here

A series of lectures by Lieutenant Arthur Williams, director of the Accident Prevention Bureau of the San Francisco Police Department, has been scheduled for the next two weeks, Fred Fitzgerald, instructor of the law enforcement division, announced recently.

Lieutenant Williams will speak on traffic accident investigation procedure on January 10, 12, 17, and 19. The lectures, starting at 10 a.m., will be delivered in Room 193, Fitzgerald said.

Local Scribes Lend Talents To Air Waves In Weekly Sports Broadcast

By Keith Gardner

Two members of The Guardsman staff, Assistant Managing Editor Walt Roessing and Feature Editor Walt Heil, have joined the ranks of radio sportcasters.

Their 15-minute program, Sports Spotlight, emanates from station KSFH-FM every Thursday evening at 7:15 o'clock.

The two Walts obtained their weekly 15-minutes by submitting a finished script for approval. The station managers thought the script so good that they wanted the program to start immediately.

This quality is understandable. Both have years of experience in sports writing. Heil attended Mission High where he became editor of the school paper. He currently divides his time between studies here at the college and his job on The Chronicle.

Roessing is an Abraham Lincoln alumnus. He commutes between the college and work on The Call-Bulletin. Both plan on continuing their journalism studies at San Jose State College.

Tomorrow night's broadcast will be the third in what both hope will be a long series. The programs consist of all three types of sports broadcasting: News, commentary, and analysis.

Their first program ran a minute and a half short, but they insist that it will never happen again!

"Bill Stern and Bud Foster," they both agree, "had better look to their laurels."

SPORTCASTERS Walt Heil (open-mouthed) and Walt Roessing run through script for their fifteen minute program, "Sports Spotlight."

Both Guardsmen staff members, the two Walts have gained added experience in the field of sports by working on local dailies.—Photo by Steinheimer.

Heil, Hardie Pilot Spring '50 Guardsman

Walt Heil, Guardsman feature editor, was elected Editor-in-Chief for the Spring semester in a meeting of the editorial staff last week, Dick Brennan, present editor, said yesterday.

Brennan further disclosed that George Kelly, present advertising manager, was named Business Manager for the Spring semester.

The editorial staff also elected Rose Hardie to the Managing Editor's job for the Spring semester.

All other posts on The Guardsman will be filled at a later date, Brennan said.

City College's west campus is approximately 30 acres.

Amori Reveals Job Survey Results

Results of a survey of employment over the Christmas vacation were announced today by Joseph Amori, placement director.

Approximately 2,500 students from this college were employed during the Christmas rush, a ten per cent reduction over the number employed last year, Amori said.

Most of the students earned over $100 during the employment period, he continued.

The survey showed that the sales field was a woman's market this year with the demand for experienced personnel.

Department stores hired only as needed and poor workers were released before Christmas, Amori added.

High school students were not in demand this year, college students more mature workers were asked for by employers, he concluded.

Illustrating-The-Story On Display

A public exhibition of illustration reproduction will be displayed throughout this week in Room 347, William Eckert, commercial art instructor, announced yesterday.

The exhibit displays the reproduction of a story illustration from the written description by the author through the processes of the artist's first rough layouts, drawings, comprehensives, the finished art works, the engraver's plates, color proofs, and the final reproduction as it appeared in the American Weekly magazine of the San Francisco Examiner.

Similar work on a smaller scale is carried out by the art department in conjunction with the typography and lithography classes. Techniques in publishing programs, pamphlets, and booklets by this method are instructed on campus.

Students of art, journalism, and advertising will find the exhibit of special interest, Eckert said.

More About Santa

(Continued from Page 2)

ly, Jerry Unider, and Norman Reger—solicited contributions from local concerns and handled decorations and food service.

Roberta Jackson, Rose Hardie, Walt Heil, Adolphus Thomas, Bill Thomas, and Dick Briggs of The Guardsman Editorial staff, and Mary Lou Cooper, a journalism major, also arranged decorations, toys, and helped serve the children.

The concerns contributing food for the party are as follows: Robin Hoods, Village Pharmacy, Westwood Drugs, Russell Richard's Drugs, Lakeside Drugs, Warrens, Louise Bake Shop, El Rey Cake Shop, Golden State Dairies, and the Golden Nugget Candy Company.

(San Mateo College unknowingly provided Santa with an improvised toy sack when a former San Mateo football banner, which formerly hung in The Guardsman office was, by necessity, used for the party.)

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP
CUSTOM MADE HAIR CUTS
2 blocks from campus
1334 Ocean Avenue

MELODY FOUNTAIN & RESTAURANT
BREAKFAST - LUNCHES - DINNERS
1641 Ocean Ave. JUniper 7-9802
Sandwiches and Ice Cream to Take Out

Prepare Now For Those FINALS
We stock a complete set of College Outline Series
Drop in today and see them at the
C. C. S. F. STUDENT STORE
965 Ocean at Phelan

Williamson

Round 'n About

Club Members Too Stuffed To Dance Alphies Reveal Accepted Pledges

MEMBERS of campus organizations seem to have exuded and consumed an over-abundance of holiday spirits in recent weeks, because social activities round 'n about the college have hit an all-time low.

Ladies of Delta Psi sorority, however, took the season's merriment in stride and plan to hold their formal initiation and pledge dinner on Saturday evening, January 14, in some undisclosed rendezvous.

Past affairs of the society include a joint meeting with Tau Chi Sigma fraternity last Wednesday night and an innovation presented during the Christmas vacation.

The novel event was Delta Psi's first formal Presentation of Pledges, and it is hoped by all members that this will become a tradition of the club.

Le Cercle Francais adherents, local French clubsters, parley-vou'd last night during their regular, periodical meeting held at the home of faculty adviser Doris Hernreid. The atmosphere, as usual, reeked of Montmartre.

Also in international organization circles, Comrade Russ Greer of the Russian Language Society told recently of a meeting of the aspiring Russophiles to be held (secretly, of course) some time this week. Details of the conclave will be disclosed in a subsequent edition.

Following the trend, Omicron Phi Pi, honorary economics society, has gone international, and at the last two meetings, held Wednesday, November 30, and Wednesday, December 7, members discussed monetary affairs in India and Indo China.

David Auyong, grand doge of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, has expressed congratulations to the following men who met their pledge duties and have been added to the roster of the college chapter of the organization: Paul Cooper, Henry Grant, Ronald Lienan, Eric Malmberg, Eugene McEntee, Robert Olsen, Travis Parker, Glenn Roudabush, Gene Soper, and Roger Shutz.

'Tis rumored that the coming jazz affair at the Civic Auditorium next Wednesday night, January 11, is to be a battle of bands. Participants in the musical fisticuffs are Kid Ory's Creoles and Louis Armstrong's All Stars.

Local jazzers are having a jubilee beeause since Christmas, Turk Murphy's Jazz Band has been appearing nightly at the Bush street Hangover Club.

Tentative plans have Ole Satehmo's group scheduled for a two week appearance at the New Orleans Swing Club after the Civic Auditorium bash.

Several lovers of le hot at the college have joined the new Bayside Jazz Society which is sponsored by a couple of bay area disc jockeys and a prominent jazz record shop.

Membership in the Bayside Jazz Society is open to all, and information can be obtained by telephoning OLympic 2-5675. The next meeting of the group will be Sunday, January 15, in Alameda.

We Air Express
We Deliver We Telegraph
Chain of Flowers
Florists
CORSAGES—FLORAL DESIGNS
WEDDINGS
JUniper 4-9038 1805 Ocean Avenue
San Francisco 12

Keep Alert!
For Health & Recreation
Bowl at
Johnny Swanson's
MISSION BOWL
3140 Mission St.
A. S. Card Rate—25¢
Week Days

The Spot To Go For Good Food
Manny's College Fountain
1039 Ocean Ave.
opposite West Gate

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

1948 Member Associated Collegiate Press 1949

VOLUME XXIX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—TUESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1950 NUMBER 18

Untidy Campus Due To Picnic Habit, Authorities Say

By Bob Jones

Near the end of its first decade, City College's campus is looked upon as a horn of plenty by seagulls and large rodents, which are migrating here.

Unlike these feathered and fur-bearing scavengers, the college's janitors find little to be thankful for. The condition of the campus has been the cause of lame backs, tired feet, and extreme frustration.

During recent tours of the campus authorities noted the lunch garbage scattered recklessly about the college, and commented that the area looked more like a picnic ground—an unclean one—than an educational institution for young people.

The observers were quick to note that entire responsibility rested with the negligent attitude of the student in not depositing trash in the many garbage containers located on campus.

Among the students there are two decidedly different viewpoints. There are those who have made the remarkable discovery that the college campus is an excellent place to dump their trash. (There are some who believe that students go out of their way to place waste material on the campus grounds, even if it means bringing it from home before classes.) The other group of students look upon the college as an institution of adult learning.

These conditions have become increasingly worse throughout the semester. Because of students' complete disregard of the basic laws of decency, and their apparent lack of college and civic pride, the campus has begun to resemble a city dump.

President Louis G. Conlan reached the limit of his patience when, after workers had cleaned the campus grounds from one end to the other during the Christmas vacation, students had littered the area with waste paper on their first day back.

There are approximately 1600 cars parked around the college. A number of students have been enjoying the luxury of these vehicle's plush seats while they eat their lunches or candy bars.

IT'S NO ACCIDENT if the campus looked unusually similar to a dump yard during 1949. Scenes like those above were recurrent during this semester, and maintenance man Walter Baker (far right) probably feels that students "acting" like Andrew Young should be enrolled in a special course of Manners and Morals. Scrap paper and garbeage have a place, and believe it or not, that place is in an ash can. —Photos by Steinheimer.

Latin-American Club Plans Dance

The west campus auditorium will be transformed into a section of Latin America this Friday evening, complete with castanets and dancing senoritas.

The occasion is the semi-annual Latin-American Club dance which will feature, from 8 to midnight, the romantic music of south of the border as played by the band of Luis Alonso Polio.

Tickets for the affair are $1.00 and can be purchased from members of the club or its sponsor. Besides dancing, those attending will be treated to special entertainment presented by the members and professional entertainers during intermissions.

A novel presentation of the evening will be the breaking of the Pinata. The Pinata is a large conical figure of paper-mache filled with sweets and toys which is hung from the ceiling.

Officers of the society directing the dance are Oscar Rivas, president; Edwardo Josada, vice-president; and Gloria Bonitz, secretary.

Registration To Start February 8; 3000 Students Complete Program

Registration instructions for returning students planning to attend the college during the Spring semester were issued last week by F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare.

Registration for old students will be conducted on Wednesday, February 8, and Thursday, February 9. It will take place entirely on the west campus. The procedure is unchanged, but the locations of some of the registration centers have been altered.

Students will be admitted to the registration line in building 2 upon presentation of the recommended programs signed by the students' counsellors and stamped with the registration numbers.

Latest pre-registration figures for the Spring semester, as released recently by A. L. McMillan, assistant head counsellor, show that approximately 3000 returning students have received registration numbers as of today.

McMillan said that only 600 counselling appointments are on the books which means that several hundred returning students have neglected this preliminary phase of registration.

Registration dates and numbers are as follows:

Wednesday, February 8

7:45 a.m.—0001 to 0449; 8:45—0450 to 0889; 9:45—0900 to 1299; 10:45 — 1300 to 1699; 12:45 p.m.—1700 to 2099; 1:45—2100 to 2499.

Thursday, February 9

7:45 a.m.—2500 to 2949; 8:45—2950 to 3399; 9:45—3400 to 3799; 10:45—3800 to 4199; 12:45 p.m.—4200 to 4599; 1:45—4600 to 5000.

Pre-Election Fever Sweeps Campus

Petitions Due At Noon With Poster Campaigns Slated To Start Tomorrow

Swinging into action, the coming Associated Student elections grab the local limelight today with noon set as the deadline for candidates to file petitions to run for office.

Curtis May, election committee chairman, has announced that the petitions must be in his office, building 2, or with the dean of student activities, Louis Batmale by the 12 o'clock deadline.

Qualifications for all aspirants to student positions are listed in the Constitution of the Associated Students and can be found in the handbook, May said. One of the major requirements that candidates must meet is the maintaining of a 1.00 grade point average in the second midterm report.

Pictures of the candidates, three by five inches in size, must accompany the petitions, May said.

Campaigns begin tomorrow on approval of the candidate's posters and last until election time, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 17 and 18. Posters will be approved by the Publications Board Chairman, Dick Brennan, tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in The Guardsman office.

Five major posters, not exceeding the maximum size of 22 by 28 inches, will be allowed each candidate on the campus, and one in each of the five off-campus stores. No posters may be displayed in the main building or on the east campus.

May stated that he and his committee expect voting machines to be used in voting to facilitate the handling of the vote tallying and the handling of the large number of students expected to cast votes.

Candidates To Speak At Rally Friday

A pre-election rally will be held Friday, January 13, in the auditorium during college hour, Urb Cummings, rally commissioner, announced yesterday.

A short, 3 to 5 minute, speech will be given by candidates for the offices of president and vice-president, and all aspirants for Associated Student offices will be introduced.

"We can not impress upon you too strongly the importance of attending this rally, which will serve to acquaint you with the candidates for office," Cummings said.

The traditional exchange rally with Marin Junior College will take place tomorrow at the Marin campus auditorium, Cummings added.

A car caravan will leave the campus at 9 o'clock.

Few Votes Cast For Soph King-Queen

Light voting occurred when approximately 200 students cast their ballots in the recent sophomore king-queen contest, Bob Ryan, sophomore president, announced late Thursday.

"Voting" began Wednesday and ended Thursday, January 5, at 3 o'clock sharp," Ryan added.

Results of the contest have been determined but winners will not be announced until the semi-annual Sophomore Formal at the Scottish Rite auditorium in Oakland, Saturday, January 28.

Tickets, which will sell at $2.00 and admit one couple to the formal, will go on sale soon, Ryan said.

Shaw Cast Solves Staging Problems

Rehearsals for You Never Can Tell, January offering of the City College Little Theater, are moving along nicely according to Paul Ellison, director, who has high hopes for the play's success.

The play will open on Thursday, January 19, and run until the following Wednesday, with the exception of Sunday night. Ellison said the admission prices would be announced later.

Ellison said the chief problems being solved now are timing and the limitations of a small stage. George Bernard Shaw's sparkling dialogue moves along at a rapid clip and trouble occasionally occurs with cues and comebacks.

The cast of nine sometimes has trouble apportioning space on the small stage in the Little Theater in Room 28, Ellison said.

The cast includes several veterans from Much Ado About Nothing.

The role of Crampton, the irascible, long-lost father, is presented by Mervyn Murphy, and Valentine, the keen analyst of women, is played by a newcomer to college theatrics, Jerry Pozzi.

Past Band Leader To Direct Concert

Superior praise by Meyer Cahn, college orchestra and band director, of an orchestra troupe to perform here stimulated high campus interest for the third Music Concert planned for college hour, Friday, January 20, in the auditorium. Admission is free.

Conductor of the 25-piece string orchestra will be former City College student Marvin Silverman, now attending University of California in a pre-medical course.

The concert, sponsored by the Symphony Forum, is the third of a series which previously featured violin and piano programs respectively.

Cahn did not sound overly optimistic in stating, "This concert will be the most successful of all because it is being held during the college hour allowing all students to attend.

"Silverman will direct a 25-piece string orchestra. The services of these professional musicians was kindly donated by the Musicians' Union and we all appreciate it a lot. I know it will be an extremely entertaining program."

While enrolled at City College visiting conductor Silverman was student director of the band and editor of the annually published literary magazine, The Forum.

State Of Party Politics Clarified

By Bill Thomas

The state of party politics in the forthcoming Associated Student elections was believed to be finally clarified after members of the various college political organizations met with a Guardsman reporter last week.

The two parties will be the Fraternity Party and a new party originally called the Committee for Better Student Government but now campaigning under the name of the Allied Students for Better Student Government.

LEAGUE WITHDRAWS

The Student League was officially dissolved by its head, Leonard Wolf, who issued the following statement:

"The Student League withdraws from the forthcoming campaign because we (the members of the Student League) feel that certain things have jeopardized our position, notably the withdrawal of our main candidate through the pressure of the opposition."

STREET NEW HEAD

The Allied Students for Better Student Government is headed by Randy Street. Informed observers considered the A.S.B.S.G. the successor to the old Student League which for four semesters rivalled the Fraternity Party.

Urging that students get out and vote, Associated Student President Harry Williams stated, "If the fraternities carry this election as they carried the last election, the present two-party system of student government will end."

COMMENT ON VOTING

He estimated that if fewer than 1,000 votes are cast the Allied Students will lose the election. (Fewer than 500 votes were cast in the last election when the Fraternity Party swept into power.)

Representatives of both parties pledged themselves to conduct the election in an orderly manner.

IFC CANDIDATES

Thomas Dill, Assistant Publicity Director for the IFC, said he considered that the Fraternity Party had selected a good cross section of students when it chose its candidates.

Both parties announced that they would reveal the names of their candidates at a later date and would also present their platforms at the same time.

RESULTS AFTER COMPROMISE

The final outline of how the election will be contested came only after more than a month of meetings, debates, rumors, and compromises. All the parties held night sessions, some of them lasting into the early hours. Compromises between various factions in the different parties were accomplished only after many hours of debate. Rumors of what was happening behind the locked doors spread throughout the campus.

Both parties were plagued by leaks of "secret information" and many a person was looked upon with suspicious eyes. It was perhaps the most hectic month of political planning that the college had ever seen since the beginning of party politics.

And the expectation of the end of two-party politics was dispelled more

(Continued on page 4, column 1)

The Guardsman
Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco
1949 Member Associated Collegiate Press 1950
Represented for National Advertising by NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco 420 Madison Avenue, New York City
Volume XXIX, No. 18 TUESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1950 Page 2

Elections Serve As Challenge To All Responsible Students

SOCRATES, a very wise old boy, once said that man should never seek to rule except when he is convinced that his affairs are not being as well handled as they could be if he himself were in office. We think that this could serve as a challenge to every responsible member of the Associated Students to run for office in the coming elections. Of course, today is the last day to file a petition and you will have to hurry.

If future Associated Students affairs are mismanaged, the responsibility lies not so much with those who handled the affairs but more with those who knew they could have done better but were too lazy to bother. We must also remember that the right [illegible] only with those who have taken some interest in student government.

ONE glance at the cartoon to the right will give you some idea of the state of affairs in the rubbish department. As Comrade Briggs points out in his column, with seagulls who know, it is City College two to one. Unless we want to be known as that college with the untidy campus we had better get on the beam. After all this is our college and our campus and it is up to each of us to do our share in keeping the place clean.

We have the choice of doing our part or turning the place over to the seagulls. What is that old saying about doing here what you do at home or something like that?

The Associated Students have received a nice letter from a grateful mother concerning a "lovely turkey dinner made possible for me and my small family at Christmas." This is the result of the Christmas rally held on the Friday just before Christmas vacation. The mother goes on to say, "It was a lovely turkey and the shape my 11-year-old son left it in when he finished dinner, well if you could have seen it, you would know how greatly it was appreciated. Even Joan, age 16 months, had her own drumstick." Everybody connected with this rally can take a bow.

Counterpoint: Movie Version Of Song Writer's Life Misleading

By Walt Heil

THAT old adage, "Truth is Stranger Than Fiction," is still to be learned by the men who produce motion pictures in the city of Hollywood.

Recently we saw a picture titled, Oh, You Beautiful Doll, supposedly the life story of one Joe Fisher, a song writer, who reached his zenith during the 20's.

GLOSSY AND FROTHY

The movie itself was not very distinguished. It had the usual gloss typical of all musicals, the usual triangle, and flimsy and frothy plot. It was all very nostalgic and easy to look at.

The idea of the whole thing was to glorify the life of Fisher and have an excuse for the cast to break into song every so often. However, it wasn't the life of Fisher that came out in the final result; rather it was a fictional character.

In the role of Fisher is S. Z. Sakal, who always portrays an Austrian because of his Teutonic accent. He is his usual stuttering and blustering self. In short, it is a stereotyped role.

Briefly, the story concerned the family of an opera composer and an energetic song plugger. To bring the family some money and win the song plugger's love, the daughter sells her father's songs.

The father is outraged at this and gives in only after the money raises the family's status in life.

After many trials and tribulations all turns out well in the end when a famous symphony conductor plays Fisher's songs in the local opera house.

Normally if this were true, the story of an idealist fighting for his beliefs would have made an interesting movie, but it's all fiction.

MISLEAD

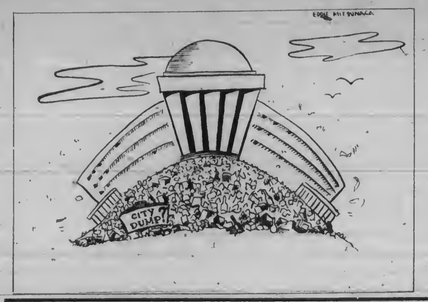
Nobody can imagine our dismay to find it was not so. In fact, we were rather sore at the movie for misleading us so.

As it turned out, Fisher was not an idealist, nor did he write his own tunes. He was not a rotund Austrian with overhanging jowls, in fact he was grossly misrepresented.

TUNE THIEF

Furthermore, he was one of the biggest tune lifters that ever used the old masters for his tunes. Once he was quoted as saying, "You get the best of Chopin, Beethoven, and Mozart in Fisher."

All this goes to show you can't believe what you see on the screens of movie houses throughout the nation. The Fisher episode was just one of many that occur in almost all movies. In our humble opinion, Fisher's tune lifting antics would have made a better picture than his phony idealism as shown in the movie.



Quips About the Campus

By Dayton Lawson

Notes off the cuff: The most frustrated fire engine in town must be that big hook-and-ladder job that comes booming down Plymouth Ave. with flaps up and all stops out. Mothers gather their children in off the street, and strong men tremble as the smoke-eaters barrel by amid a discordant bell-and-siren obligato.

But the honeymoon comes to an abrupt end at Ocean Ave., and the snaky fire wagon slowly serpentines through a maze of piled-up street cars, torn-up streets, and detached students ambling across from all directions. If a fire engine were capable of emotion, this one could very well become a hot-bed of inhibitions. . . .

Joe Ortega, upon running across an acquaintance of many years back: "I can't place the naime, but the face isn't familiar either" . . . and from Irene Britt: "Yeah, he's a card, all right; with a black border around it." Nick Zafranovich swears he overheard this touching ditty rendered by a consistent loser last week: "But those lucky old dice got nothin' to do, but roll 'round SEVENS all day." . . .

Unsightly Rubbish Litters Hill 29

February, 1950 will mark the second anniversary of the official name change of the college by the Board of Education, from San Francisco Junior College to City College of San Francisco.

In April, 1949, the San Francisco News published a story on the 40 hills of the city, naming Hill No. 29 as City College Hill.

In this era of new names, the question arises as to whether Hill No. 29 will become know as "City Dump Hill" in the future.

The recent carelessness by students in disposing of refuse has brought about this constant query.

Looking-Up . . . Campus 'Personage Of Year' Easy Selection; Winner Makes Best Contribution To College

By Dick Briggs

NOW that the New Year is over two weeks old and we have ripped December f[illegible] calendar, it's appropriate to name City College's Personage of the Year—the one whose contribution to the college stands unexcelled, and of the highest order in comparison with achievements of all students on campus during 1949.

Despite the beak-breaking task of 1949, the project offered the feathered award winner for 1950 might be tripled. For the moment little relief is in sight, but hearing of unlimited opportunities at City College, millions of seagulls are rumored moving toward campus from all parts of the nation.

ACP Survey Lists Top College Papers

By Bill Thomas

Complete results of the Associated Collegiate Press Critical Survey of college newspapers released in December, revealed that the City College Guardsman was one of a pair of two-year colleges to receive the All-American rating in the twice-weekly, four-year college classification.

The college press survey is taken twice each year, and the All-American rating is the highest rating that a college paper can receive.

The only other two-year college paper to receive this honor rating with the four-year college group, was the Los Angeles Collegian of Los Angeles City College.

Other well known colleges to receive this rating are the University of Maryland, the University of Pittsburgh, the Southern Methodist University, and Washington University, St. Louis Mo.

Seagull representative, Percy C. Gull, after receiving the award, was all aflutter but remained composed long enough to thank City College students for their gross untidiness and negligence in strewing food and garbage about campus last year. "This carelessness enabled us Seagulls to win this coveted award for meritorious and remarkable achievement in aiding to keep the campus clean," Percy said.

"If City College students are careless, negligent, and untidy, we Seagulls are perfectly willing to keep the campus tidy," Percey added, though he remarked in strictest confidence that many gulls suffered nervous breakdowns and indigestion on last year's sunup to sundown schedule.

Percy G. Gull absolutely declined to bus old paper bags and cartons. "Garbage and old food is our limit," he said, waving us back with his wing and appearing highly insulted. "If you want disposal of paper refuse why not transport rats from the city dump or the waterfront. Those will cleanup anything!" Percy suggested, holding his nose.

Representative Gull was not implying City College should surrender its distinction as possessor of an untidy campus when he urged students to be a little "more careful in scattering rubbish this year. Our overtime schedule during 1949 was too gruelling, and unless we receive student cooperation I've been asked to call an immediate strike," he said.

We mentioned rumors circulating on campus that students were planning a cleanup campaign. "Oh we never worry about that," Percy peeped, "students are so indifferent they never back campaigns. Well, have to fly now, and not expecting any improvement in the cleanup situation guess I'll be back next year to collect the 1950 award."

Spotlight: Local Typewriters Blamed For Columnist's Mistakes

By Keith Gardner

PEOPLE have been writing in to this column and asking, "Why don't you learn to write the English language?" As a matter of fact, we do know how. It's the typewriters around The Guardsman office that are at fault.

In case that sounds a little cowardly, shoving the blame off on a poor defenseless typewriter, let us explain that these machines are not only old enough to write. They smoke, drink, and make passes at the girls around the office as well.

There are seven of these fiendish machines. Two Royals, two Remingtons, two Underwoods, and a lone L. C. Smith. All of them lineal descendants of the Frankenstein monster.

To illustrate our point, take the L. C. Smith (and welcome to it). This obstinate contraption has the curious habit of writing only when it darn well feels like it.

BLANK VERSE?

Let's try a really choice excerpt from that great classic, Forever Amber, as it comes out on the L. C. Smith: "

!" Hot stuff, huh? Small wonder that book was banned in Boston. Can't have writing like that polluting our children's minds.

Anot here ne of th emachin es writeslik ethis. F.B.I. cryptographers have been working on that sentence for the past three days. Rumor has it that J. Edgar Hoover will be on the bread line if they don't crack it soon.

Then there's still another one of the machines that has an affinity for the double "I". Ordinarily this isn't much use, but if one of our instructors would care to assign a paper on "The Importance of the LLama as a Beast or Burden" it might come in handy. Meanwhille we'llll just llet things rolll allong as they are.

FIRST ONE

While preparing this essay we did a little research on the origins of the typewriter. It seems that the first patent for one was given to an Englishman named Mills in the year 1714.

Although they don't say so in so many words, the encyclopaedia boys would have us believe that this original typewriter is now lying in some obscure museum, quietly gathering dust.

Don't let them feed you that old stuff, Jack. You know where that typewriter is as well as we do.

Fortune Magazine Polls American Public, Finds College Is 'Good'

By Bob Jones

Results of a recent survey conducted by Fortune magazine, revealed that like Mama of the movie I Remember Mama, the American public feels that a college education "Is good."

Fortune commissioned pole taker Elmo Roper and a body of nine distinguished educators to conduct the survey. It was their job, not only to present questions to a cross-section of the nation's people, but to prepare questions as simple as possible on this difficult subject.

People, whose stations in life embraced many various aspects of life, were asked their opinion of the field of higher education.

A surprising percentage could express no opinion, but happily nil were greatly interested in the subject. However, with the majority that did offer their beliefs, a great deal was learned, as follows: The people, as a whole, think that colleges are fine; they want more of them; and they want their children, and other's to attend. They expressed admiration for the professors, and they think that the average college student "Is a mighty nice sort of youngster."

According to further results of this survey, the average citizen values a college education for his child because he feels it will aid in future economic development. He feels that if he is unable to finance his son's or daughter's college training, that the government should see to it that they are still able to attend.

Average citizen states that he feels there are a large amount of qualified high school students that will never see the inside of one of the institutions of higher learning, unless federal or local government aid is forthcoming.

When asked if the subject of racial and religious prejudice be discussed in the college classroom, most answered, "Yes." Yet, when queried as to whether Communism he also discussed, a majority of college graduates and students gave affirmative answers, while grade school pupils voted against it.

It is felt by 84 per cent of those poled that it is a practical idea that all college students work for at least part of their college expenses.

When asked, 53 per cent of the people felt that there were a number attending college who had no right there, and 83 per cent said that they felt there were a number of deserving students who were unable to attend college.

As a whole, the nation echoes Mama, when it speaks of college education, "Is Good."

Guardsman Staff — Fall, 1949

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... RICHARD BRENNAN
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Richard Briggs
ASST. MANAGING EDITOR ..... Walt Roessing
ASST. MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rosa Hardie
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Cyrus Donaldson, Robert Goncalves, Roberta Jackson, Dayton Lawson, Frank Monte, Terry Ryan, Adolphos Thomas, William Thomas, Gene Van Dyke, Dick Williamson.
NEWS: Robert Thorsen, editor; Nathan Carter, Ben Golon, Georgie Watkins, Robert Johnson, Robert Jones, Robert Kaye, Raymond Kelly, Richard Lorrick, Sandra Marks, John O'Sullivan, John Spalding, Naomi Takahashi, Robert Valli, John Vanderbilt, Clarence Whitcomb, Felton Wolfe, Leroy Bates.
FEATURE: Walt Heil, editor; Keith Gardner, assistant.
SPORTS: Bob Quinlan, editor.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Richard Herrington, Claude Dittmore, Dick Steinheimer.
STAFF ARTIST: Eddie Matsunaga.
BUSINESS: Barbara Low, manager; Norman Reger, Alicia Diaz.
ADVERTISING: George Kelly, manager; Richard Hart.
CIRCULATION: Jerry Unider, manager.
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Cagers Cop Consolation Title In Modesto Tourney

Hillsmen Face Hartnell Friday In Conference Opener On Home Court

City College's basketball team, coached by Ralph Hillsman, meets Hartnell and Monterey Colleges in the opening games of actual league play, this Friday and Saturday nights at the men's gymnasium here.

These tilts will be the first to be played on the home courts this season, and will give the Ram supporters a chance to see what may prove to be another great team in action.

Because the opportunity to look over their opponents was presented through the just-completed Modesto tournament, the Rams should be well prepared for what may happen in these opening contests.

One thing certain is that neither of the visiting squads will be as weak as it was last season, and each may [illegible] the Red and White with some tough competition.

Last year's Hartnell squad, which finished fifth in a seven-team race, fell easy prey to the Rams in two encounters, 53-40 and 78-54.

Monterey Peninsula College, beaten by every team in their division and ending the season with a no win, twelve loss record, was hopelessly beaten by the Rams in both of their meetings, 64-28 and 71-44.

Monterey was dealt both trouncings by the Ram second stringers, who won the games as casily as the first team had won other contests.

After such discouraging showings, Monterey was ready to drop out of the conference, but changing their minds, they have come back into the fold eager to prove that it just was not their year last season. With that kind of attitude they may be a hard team to beat, especially at the outset of the season.

Although the Rams have won five out of six contests so far, a good rooting section may be all that they need to go all the way.

COACH RALPH HILLSMAN leads his hoopsters into their first conference contest Friday night in an effort to repeat last season's championship performance. Hartnell went down twice before last year's club, and the Rams didn't lose until the semi-finals.

Duggan Sets Scoring Record, Wins All-Tourney Team Berth

By Rob Goncalves

MODESTO, Jan. 7.—After losing their first round game of the Modesto Tournament to Glendale, 55-51, the Rambling Rams of City College, led by Mr. Everywhere, Kev Duggan, finished in a blaze of glory by beating Reedley, Fresno, and Long Beach to annex the consolation championship.

Duggan, boasting a 24.5 average in tournament play, set a new tourney record of 98 points in four games.

As a reward for his great all-around play, Duggan was awarded a position on the all-tourney team.

Solving the problem of the fast break, which Long Beach had deployed so successfully in their previous tilts, by controlling both of the backboards the Rams took a 40-21 lead in the first half, and built up their margin to win by a score of 77-54 to take the championship.

Although special precautions were taken by Long Beach to hold down Duggan, he had his most successful evening while pouring 32 points through the hoop to take high scoring honors for the game. Center Pat Boyle was second in the scoring with 22.

Long Beach had set a new team scoring record for the tourney earlier that afternoon while trouncing Marin 106-74.

Lacking the scoring punch that they recovered so well in later games, the Red and White dropped a heart-breaking decision to Glendale in the Rams' first game of the tournament.

Unable to hit for a point in the first seven minutes of the contest, the College five rallied a little to bring the half-time score to 27-20, in favor of Glendale, and went on to take a slim three point lead late in the game. Glendale quickly recovered the lead and went on to win the battle. Duggan was high for the losers with Reedley proved to be easy prey for the enraged Rams in the next fray and were completely outgunned from the outset of the game. Coach Ralph Hillsman substituted his players freely, but the 40-16 half-time margin was steadily increased to the final 79-37 score. Duggan was again high scorer for the game with 28 digits.

Although holding the Rams to a slim 27-22 first half lead, Fresno became the next victim of the Red and White by a 53-41 finale. Again Duggan was high with 19.

Swimming Team Meets To Plan Coming Season

Swimming Coach Roy Burkhead issued a call for all interested swimmers to meet in the men's gymnasium team room tomorrow at 3 o'clock to discuss plans for a possible team this coming season.

As yet all plans for squad organization are indefinite, pending gaining use of a pool and arranging some practice time. Last year's group took second place in the Northern California Junior College Conference meet at Napa in a surprise climax to their season.

They swam against Navy teams and several clubs as well as with other colleges and universities. Practice consisted of two afternoons a week at Jefferson pool with additional time spent on their own. However, this year's squad could practice completely on its own.

Five lettermen will return to Burkhead's side if the college pools a team.

Baseball Signup Set Tomorrow Afternoon In Men's Gymnasium

Getting down to business early with anticipation of a successful and cooperative season ahead, Head Baseball Coach Bill Fischer set tomorrow as signup day for students intending to tryout for the college nine.

The get together will take place in the men's gymnasium, hygiene room 107, at 3:15 p. m.

"All students are invited to secure a tryout for themselves," said Fischer.

Schedules for next semester's sports have not been completed, as yet. Committees of the NCJC Conference are presently drawing dates for the coming season's enrding in boxing, baseball, swimming, golf and track.

Anyone who is unable to attend the meeting tomorrow may see Fischer personally at any time in the men's gymnasium, to discuss joining the college nine.

Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament Preparations Are Now Under Way

With the conclusion, last December 6, of the Novice Boxing Tournament, plans are now under way for the City College Golden Gloves Boxing tournament.

No date has been announced for this event which will pit the champion boxers of the novice tourney with members of last year's varsity. This tournament has become an annual event at the men's gymnasium, and it gives the students a chance to see some of the future Ram pugilists.

Volleyball will climax all intramural activities for the fall semester. Signups ended last Friday and all organizations entered will begin competitions this week.

Gold buckles will be awarded the victors, and bronze medals the runners-up. Rules for competition will be posted on the bulletin board in the men's gymnasium.

WAA Plans Banquet At Sigmund Stern Grove

Sigmund Stern Grove will be the setting for the Women's Athletic Association's annual banquet to be held Thursday, January 19, from 4 to 10 p.m., Loyola Vose, chairman, announced.

Everyone is welcome to the affair, and tickets for 50 cents each may be purchased from any Women's Athletic Association member. "A delicious dinner, games, entertainments and presentation of awards will climax an evening of fun," Miss Vose added.

Today the college's women volleyball team will play host to Mission and Commerce High Schools' girls' team. The games, scheduled to start at 3 p.m., will be played in the women's gymnasium.

Casaba Jayvees Beat Santa Rosa And Marin

Displaying great potentialities, although they are as yet an unorganized team, the Ram Jayvees have won two games in as many outings.

Leading the squad in their easy victories over the jayvee teams of Santa Rosa and Marin Junior Colleges, and deserving a great deal of credit are Bob McGovern, Dick Farley, Bob Hunter, Scott Amour, Gil Schmite, Dave Weddington, Frank Puckett, Jack Marens, and Ray Sells, several of whom are now participating in the varsity skirmishes. Both squads are under the management of Alex Litvinov.

Rams Drop Cal Blues 41-29 At Cow Palace

Coach Ralph Hillsman's championship bound basketball squad added another win to their fast growing victory skein when they subdued the Cal Blues 41-29, December 30, at the Cow Palace.

Holding a slim 22-18 margin at the half-way mark, the Rams came to life in the second half to win going away from the highly touted Blues quintet, which was expected to give the Red and White its toughest battle of the still young season.

Although playing only about half of the tilt, Kev Duggan amassed a total of nine points to lead the team scoring.

Ingleside Stationers
The Most For Less
Draftsmen's Supplies
Greeting Cards
College & Commercial Stationery
1931 Ocean Ave. - JU 5-4267

Keep Alert!
For Health & Recreation
Bowl at
Johnny Swanson's
MISSION BOWL
3140 Mission St.
A. S. Card Rate—25¢ Week Days

ROBIN HOOD'S
It's down Ocean Ave.
But not the last,
It's neat in its style
And noted for its class.
Featuring
Shakes
Sundaes
Sodas
Sandwiches
Next Door to the El Rey Theatre
Free Parking at Rear
1962 Ocean Ave.

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP
CUSTOM MADE HAIR CUTS
1334 Ocean Avenue
2 blocks from campus

Must you start earning earlier?
If time, money and personal problems make it necessary to bring closer the day you must start earning money, this may be your answer. In only 50 to 96 weeks you can complete your education at Northrop Aeronautical Institute, graduating fully prepared for a career in Aviation. Northrop training gives you an earlier start...makes possible an extra period of earnings.
College credits earned to date apply on corresponding Northrop course subjects. Inquire promptly—a limited number of openings remain in the Feb. 27 starting class. Other classes start at 4 and 8 weeks intervals thereafter. Both courses approved for veterans...available to non-veterans.
Aeronautical Engineering Course Curriculum approved by Engineers' Council for Professional Development. 96 weeks course (continuous). Less time required of students with advanced standing based on college credits.
Aircraft & Engine Mechanics Course Approved by Civil Aeronautics Administration as preparation for A & E Mechanics license. 50 weeks.
SEND THIS COUPON FOR FULL DETAILS
Northrop Aeronautical Institute
DIVISION OF NORTHROP AIRCRAFT, INC.
1531 E. Broadway, Hawthorne, Los Angeles County, Calif.
NORTHROP AERONAUTICAL INSTITUTE
1531 E. Broadway, Hawthorne, Los Angeles County, Cal.
Please send information on opportunities in Aviation, your catalog, and details on transferring to Northrop. I am interested in:
☐ Aeronautical Engineering ☐ Aircraft & Engine Mechanics
NAME AGE
ADDRESS
CITY ZONE STATE
CHECK ONE: ☐ VETERAN ☐ NON-VETERAN

AFTER GRADUATION, WHAT?
When you graduate from Junior College, you may want to enter one of the business fields—accountancy, marketing and sales, production, finance, or personnel administration. If so, it's time now to start thinking about specialization.
Golden Gate College, in its day and evening schools, has maintained a distinguished record in preparing its graduates to assume important roles in all the major fields of business. Junior College graduates who have taken their degrees at Golden Gate College are successfully employed in Bay Area industries or in professional practice as attorneys or Certified Public Accountants.
If you plan to enter an occupation immediately upon graduation, evening courses offer you practical training in Accountancy, Business Administration, Advertising, Insurance, Traffic or Law—training which will be invaluable in preparing you for advancement.
The opening date for the day schools of Accountancy and Business Administration in the Spring Semester is Monday, February 13. Some evening courses open January 9; others open January 30. Applications for admission are now being accepted.
Upon inquiry, you will receive a bulletin on the program of interest to you. Your college library also has reference copies of current college publications.
GOLDEN GATE COLLEGE
An Affiliate of the San Francisco YMCA
200 Golden Gate Avenue and 537 Market Street
Telephone PRospect 5-5774

TOM IRWIN, Municipal Railway public relations director, left, and Harry Williams, Associated Student president, right, shown demonstrating the new signs now gracing the fronts of streetcars on the K line that lead directly to the college.

City College Now On K Car Signs Thanks To Muni Railway Chiefs

By Ray Harvey

Through the efforts of John Paskaly, public relations student here, dash signs that designate City College as a destination have been placed on the front of all K streetcars.

Since the location of the college here, there have been attempts to have these signs installed; but up to the present time without success.

Negotiations with the Municipal Railway Company were undertaken by Paskaly, and through the courtesy of James Turner, utilities manager; William H. Scott, Railway company manager; and Tom Irwin, public relations director for the company; the signs are now being used.

Scott and Irwin were guests of honor at a luncheon on the campus Thursday, December 29.

Also in attendance at this luncheon were Louis G. Conlan, president of the college, Archibald J. Cloud, former college president; Harry Williams, Associated Student president; and Nick Choulos, publicity committee chairman.

As a climax to the occasion, Williams presented Irwin with a model of these streetcar signs.

Desperation Parking Ends

By Paul Cooper

Days of desperation parking in the mud may soon be over for student drivers as the new parking area between Buildings 1 and 13 is completed and being used by lucky students and faculty members.

It has been a familar sight in the past to see students desperate for parking space on rainy days, when everyone brings his car, trying in vain to remove their vehicles from the swamp to the right of the main building. This informal parking lot has been forced to take the surplus of unlucky student parkers.

The effect derived from driving over this area after the mud has dried, leaving deep tire ruts, is somewhat the same as riding a pogo stick and is definitely not recommended as good treatment for either the tires or the springs of an automobile.

The Burma Road might be a suitable name to describe the road leading to this desperation parking area, as it is unpaved and marred by chuck holes from the entrance on the corner of Ocean and Phelan Avenues to the area itself. The new parking zone, which holds more than 100 cars, takes care of these and other desperate parkers.

More About State Of Party Politics

(Continued from page 1)

by sleepy looks, whispered conversations, and numerous headaches than by all the optimistic speech making.

What happened behind the scenes? It is doubtful that anyone can tell the whole story of the agreements made and broken and of the hopes and plans smashed by some unforeseen incident. And those few who know the whole story will never tell it for this is "politics."

PROFESSIONALS

A political science instructor surveying the activity remarked, "They're as good as professionals."

But behind all the activity was one object "to get the votes" by presenting the ablest and best-liked candidates and the most constructive platforms to the voters.

Only one thing was agreed upon by all parties. The two-party system at City College had gained a new lease one life.

"It all depends on the voters now," Randy Street, Allied Students head, remarked.

50 Million Frenchmen
Can't Be Wrong!
COLE'S
Barber Shop
— Is The Place To Go
ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

Young Ladies
FREE FREE
Ask For Your GIFT Of Wonderful Hair Shampoo
At 379 Marston Ave.
Compliments of Your Fuller Cosmetic Dealer

WESTWOOD PARK FRENCH LAUNDRY
Quality Dry Cleaning Service
We Specialize in SHIRTS!
1031 Ocean Avenue
Opposite West Campus

Williamson

Round 'n About

Clubs Formally Greet New Pledges; Beta Phi Boys Throw Gay Clambake

IN response to last week's appeal by President Louis Conlan for a cleaner and more attractive campus, it seems that local organizations could demonstrate the old college try!

Perhaps campus societies could jointly sponsor a cleanup campaign each semester with the old adage, "Keep it Clean," as the permanent slogan for the drive.

Sorority leaders have designated the next week or so as formal initiation time with several of the feminine societies participating in the fun.

Pledges of Phi Beta Rho will officially become members on Saturday, January 14, with dinner dancing at the Claremont rounding out the evening for the ladies.

Last Saturday night, January 7, found Kappa Phis enjoying their pledge dinners at the aforementioned East Bay hostelry. Preparatory to this affair, pledges treated members to a rollicking Christmas party on Sunday, December 18. (Known as "polishing the apple.")

Kappa Phi sorority is also popular with the boys, witness the joint meeting on Wednesday, December 28 with Alpha Sigma Delta fraternity, and the similar affair coming up on Wednesday, January 18, with Phi Ita Delta men.

Seems that Phi Beta Delta fraternity brothers are leaving no idle hands for the devil to make use of, because last Wednesday evening they were busy (the members, that is) at a meeting held in conjunction with Theta Tau sorority.

Pi Mu Gamma, honorary biological science club, will hold a cinematic presentation for members and their friends this Thursday evening, January 12, at 7:30 o'clock. Scene of the film show hasn't been disclosed, but following two movies which deal with tuberculosis, a prominent local chest specialist will speak to the audience on T.B. and its treatment.

Members of the campus French society, Le Cercle Francais, were treated to slides of scenes in the old country at the assembly of the group held last Wednesday evening. Another meeting of the club is to be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the home of instructor Edwin Cranston, 80 Southwood Drive.

Spring officers of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, were recently elected and are as follows: President, Paul Chong; Vice-president, Albert Flores; Secretary, Robert Olson, and Treasurer (incumbent), Lucian Douglass. Installation of the officers will take place at the organization's semester banquet, Friday, January 20.

News remnants from the holidays are worth mentioning.

Christmas decorations to Theta Tau sorority for its annual party on Sunday, December 18, for underprivileged girls from the San Francisco Boys' Club (that's a switch!) The party was thrown at the home of sister Miriam Lagan, where food was served to the kids and each received a story-book doll.

Men of Beta Phi Beta fraternity and their ladies (and a couple of us leeches) thoroughly enjoyed the New Year's Eve clambake they held in an elite-but-obscure downtown hotel. The rooms were small, but there was space enough for elbows.

Omicron Phi Pi, honorary economics society, plans the dinner that climaxes each semester's activities for Friday, January 20, at the Claremont. The affair is under the direction of members Kenneth Parker, Robert Burns (poet or cigar?), and Wallace Levin.

Phi Rho Pi Debate Society Schedules Three New Contests For This Month

Members of the college's debate society, Phi Rho Pi, have three debates scheduled for this month, Armond Magid, debate society representative, stated recently.

Randy Street and James Anderson will debate with San Francisco State College on the Nationalization of Non Agricultural Industries next week. However, a definite date has not been set, Magid explained.

Magid will represent the college at a public debate held by the League of Women Voters to discuss voting and election problems. The debate will be held Tuesday, January 31 and representatives from all the leading Bay Area colleges will be present.

Magid and Joseph Schwab have a return debate with the American Institute of Banking Wednesday night to debate the question should reciprocal trade agreements be the policy of the United States.

The two debaters spoke at the institute last Wednesday night.

Ilene Carroll
For Your Suits
By
Rosenblum of Calif.
Pink - Aqua - Coral
Powder - Blue
1600 Ocean Ave. - JU 7-4151

MELODY FOUNTAIN & RESTAURANT
BREAKFAST - LUNCHES - DINNERS
1641 Ocean Ave. JUniper 7-9802
Sandwiches and Ice Cream to Take Out

Student Ushers Needed For Szigeti Concert

Students who wish to usher for the concert appearance of violinist Joseph Szigeti tomorrow evening, January 11 or for singer Elena Nikolaidi on Monday evening, January 16, should request passes immediately from Margaret Dougherty, dean of women, in building 2.

Ushers will also be needed for the performance of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra Thursday evening, January 26, Dean Dougherty said.

Typing
VA 6-6199
•
Pick Up Service
•
Themes and Thesis
Term Papers

That career of yours -
You will find it far easier to take the tried and proved way to success regardless of the type of work or career you may follow. In our 86 years of Business Training more than 250,000 Heald students have gone forward and reached high goals. Once you start at Healds, your problem is more than half solved. Here you acquire the TRAINING and the KNACK to get ahead and win. Short or long term courses.
A Heald Business Course will help you win your goal
☐ GENERAL BUSINESS ☐ BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION
☐ PRIVATE SECRETARIAL ☐ MODERN OFFICE MACHINES
☐ HIGHER ACCOUNTANCY ☐ EXECUTIVE SECRETARIAL
☐ STENOGRAPHIC ☐ SPECIAL BRUSHUP
Write or phone ORdway 3-5500 for your Catalog
"THE TREND IS TOWARDS THE TRAINED"
APPROVED FOR VETERANS
DAY SCHOOL HEALDS NIGHT SCHOOL
BUSINESS COLLEGE
Van Ness at Post St. • Phone ORdway 3-5500 • San Francisco
2090 BROADWAY Oakland Phone Hlgate 4-0201
9TH AND J STREETS Phone Gilbert 2-4924 Sacramento
10 NOTRE DAME Phone Columbia 1340 San Jose

Ring The Bell By Giving Your Belle A City College Ring
See Special Design And Display
Lobby Showcase — Main Building
Orders Taken At College Bank
$5.00 Deposit Required — Balance On Delivery
FOR ALL FRATERNITY AND SORORITY PINS AND RINGS
Van Wormer & Rodrigues Inc.
126 Post Street EXbrook 2-5886

Official Twice Weekly Publication of Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

The Guardsman

Volume XXIX San Francisco, California—Friday, January 13, 1950 Number 19

Election Rally Today!

Campaigners Speak In College Hour

The excitement of election campaigning is scheduled to take on added momentum today as the election rally, spurred by the Ram band and yell leaders, takes place in the auditorium during college hour starting at 10:40 a.m., Election Chairman Curtis May announced.

The purpose of this rally is to afford students an opportunity to get acquainted with the candidates running for student office positions, May said.

Rally Commissioner Urb Cummings will formally introduce the candidates, and those running for the Associated Student Presidency and Vice-presidency are scheduled to give short campaign speeches to explain their platforms.

In a statement released by Cummings early yesterday morning, the Rally Commissioner said that the candidates for executive office will be allotted a certain amount of time to deliver their addresses.

At the same time he urged that all students attend this rally who possibly can, as it should be of especial interest to those students who may seek office in future elections.

Dean Louis Batmale also reminded students that Associated Student members not only are accorded the privilege of running for office and voting in elections, an additional advantage is the reduced price of 50 cents for basketball games at the Cow Palace.

Magid, Parker Lead Parties; 39 Candidates Compete For Offices

Thirty-nine candidates filed petitions last Tuesday for the forthcoming Associated Student elections. Three positions are uncontested, with only one candidate running for each office. Election dates are Tuesday and Wednesday, January 17 and 18.

Only three independent candidates filed petitions, and total number of petitions (39) is about half the number filed two years ago.

Armond Magid, Affiliated Students, and Donald Parker, Fraternity Party, will campaign for the Associated Student Presidency.

Mary Ann Johnston, Fraternity Party, will compete in the election against independent Helen MacKay for the Associated Student Vice-presidency.

Norman Reger, Fraternity Party candidate, automatically gained the [illegible] Men Student Presidency when no other candidate filed for that position.

Fraternity candidate Richard Gauzert also obtained the office of Yell Leader when no candidate filed against him.

Jeanne McKnew, Fraternity, and Marcella Lewis, Affiliated Students, are competing for the Associated Women Student Presidency.

Fraternity candidate William Rosia automatically became the next Sophomore Class President when his election was not contested.

Independent Stanley Fletcher is running against Larry Ross, Fraternity, for the Freshman Class Presidency.

Candidates for the Sophomore Council are as follows:

Affiliated Students—Joseph Azzolino, Wallace Levin, Joan Marenda, Patty Patterson, Oscar Rivas, Robert Tyson.

Fraternity Party—James Anderson, Frank Bayol, Russ Greer, Ann McBride, James Reed, James Smith.

Independent—Irwin Phillips.

Candidates for the Freshman Council are as follows:

Affiliated Students—George Bayko, Ralph Howes, Robert Lacapagne, John Sandin, Richard Schanbach, Ralph Vitterlein.

Fraternity Party—Marjorie Bergset, Pete Chevrier, Lynn Donaldson, Pete Gentile, Louis Guevera, George

(Continued on page 3, column 3)

Intramural Program Regulated By CAB

New regulations governing campus organizations by the Club Activities Board were strongly felt in the athletic department today, when the entire intramural sports program was brought under CAB control.

As stipulated in the precepts in immediate effect, all persons participating in intramural sports must belong to a recognized organization on campus.

Frances McCarthy, CAB president, remarked the rule was effected merely to encourage more individual participation in recognized clubs.

Athletic sports coordinator Tom Wilson, however, pointed out that the rule would have a detrimental effect "in stifling the entire intra-college sport program."

Wilson further stated that campus clubs have hindered campus sports by failing to participate. "Of the 30 clubs on campus, not more than five have fielded teams. And it is not logical that individuals will join clubs merely for the purpose of playing in intramural sports," he emphasized.

Wilson prophesied that "endorsement of this plan will deal a severe, and perhaps fatal blow to intra-college sports activities."

Also ordered under the seven division board, which represent fraternity, sorority, religious, social service, music, professional, and honor society councils, is the regulation that council members comprising the CAB must enroll in Political Science 2a, which meets Tuesday and Thursday at 12 noon.

Fourteen New Constitutional Amendments To Go On Ballot

Fourteen amendments to the Constitution of the Associated Students have been proposed and approved by the Student Council, with final approval to be exercised by the Associated Students at large at the January 17 and 18 elections.

Five of these changes are merely a matter of a small change in wording. Two of the changes bring boxing constitutionally to the position of a major sport. Two changes remove the already defunct judiciary committee. One change restores the handbook to the position of a recognized publication.

One change concerns the Club Activities Board. If passed it will no longer be necessary for the CAB to give reasons for disapproval when failing to recognize an organization. Two changes have affected the office of vice-president. The vice-president must now complete 45 units of work before election. The vice-president will also be the social committee chairman.

One change states that the yell leader must now have 30 units of work completed before assuming office.

One change stipulates that elected officers must either enroll in or have completed political science 2a or 2b. These proposed changes will be posted in a public place before the election.

Paper Processing Told In Film Today

From Trees to Tribune is the color movie being presented today by the audio visual aids department as this week's feature of the college film series, Madison Devlin, instructor, announced.

According to all reports this is an outstanding picture of the processing of a forest of trees in the wilds of Canada to their eventual appearance on the streets of Chicago, in a modified form, of course, as the Chicago Tribune.

From Trees to Tribune shows a romanticized version of the manufacture of paper.

The movie will be shown in Room 136 during college hour, and for the convenience of students and faculty members who are unable to come at that time, there will be a second presentation in the same room during the hour immediately following college hour.

CAMPUS POLITICOS Fred Houston (left to right), Lloyd Grable, Charles Benson, and Chairman Curtis May, find common interest in discussing the current election situation. They form the election committee, and while they confirm there is no "dark horse" candidate, they point out, too, that non-voting students may be correctly classified "black sheep." (Alan Bille, absent from picture.)

'You Never Can Tell' Costuming Starts

Preliminary costuming for You Never Can Tell, next offering of the college Little Theater, has started, according to Paul Ellison, director, with the first dress rehearsal scheduled for Tuesday, January 17.

Ellison said that little difficulty was anticipated in procuring costumes which would fit the locale and period of the play, which takes place in England in 1897. The players will supply parts of their costumes, but most of them will come from the Stagecraft Studios in Berkeley, which has supplied costumes for several other Little Theater productions.

Two of the principal roles will be enacted by newcomers to Little Theater productions. Jerry Pozzi, who plays Valentine, and Camilla Justensen as Dolly, won their parts in tryouts held late in 1949.

Admission prices for the comedy are 25 cents to those with Associated Student cards and 90 cents to those who are not Associated Student members.

The play opens Thursday evening, January 19, and continues through the following Wednesday, except Sunday.

Rehearsals for the production are coming along quite well, Ellison commented, and construction of the sets is now in progress. The sets were designed by John Allen, Speech 40 student, and are being constructed by members of the speech 40 class.

Auditions For Choir, Spring Operas Set

Auditions for the choir and Opera Workshop for the spring semester will be held Thursday, January 19 at 3 p.m. in Building 1, Room 6, Flossita Badger, director, announced recently.

Students interested in obtaining parts in next season's operas are expected to be at this audition to make arrangements with Miss Badger.

The operas scheduled are Kurt Weill's Down In The Valley, and F. von Flotow's sparkling comedy, Martha.

Bob Tyson, choir manager and president of the Lambda Alpha, announced Al Hernandez as the winner of the "Guess the Mystery Melody Contest," held at Lambda Alpha-Mu Iota Psi dance last Friday evening.

Hernandez correctly guessed the tune to be The Only Girl That I Adore, and as winner received a Columbia long-playing record attachment from the music societies sponsoring the contest.

Two-Year-Old Law Enforcement Program Has Placed 33 Students

Since its inauguration two years ago, the law enforcement department has trained and helped place nearly forty former students in law enforcement and correction work, Fred F. Fitzgerald, director of the course, announced.

These ex-students from the college are now employed by local, state, and private police agencies. Those employed by the San Francisco Police Department are Jack Capparrone, Dick Finnis, Robert Gibbons, Richard Hall, Morris Hazen, James Kennedy, Alfred McCarthy, Brian McDonnell, Robert McLennan, Paul Neuer, Bill Porter, Charles Sheehan, Gene Simmons, Carl Davis, and Fred Schmorde. Ken Murray, another alumnus, is working for the City Coroner.

Clifford Watts and Florence Brakovich are private investigators, as is Doris Bennett, who works for a social service agency in Los Angeles.

In the East Bay, the Richmond City Police Department includes on its roster the following former students: Norman O'Dea, James Chambers, John Kearns, Barrett Kyle, and Robert Lanee. Alan Henderson is a policeman in Oakland, and Dean Davenport a deputy sheriff in Alameda.

Mat O'Connor is with the California State Narcotics Bureau. Robert Hoffman, Robert Loreano, Robert Major, and Bennie Slocumare are correctional officers at San Quentin Prison. Ernie Cortez is with the South San Francisco Police Department and Arnold Dunn is with the San Francisco Juvenile Department.

Lieutenant Arthur Williams, Accident Prevention Bureau Director, will continue his lectures to law enforcement classes on Tuesday, January 17.

Good Neighbor Atmosphere Expected At Latin-American Club Dance Tonight

A policy of good neighborliness will pervade the atmosphere at the auditorium tonight when the Latin-American Club presents its semi-annual night of dancing.

The festivities are scheduled to extend from 8 p.m. until midnight with music supplied by a South American orchestra under the baton of Luis Alonzo Polio. The audience will also view special acts performed by professional entertainers.

Tickets are on sale at $1.00 each and can be obtained through club members, or the club sponsor.

The climax of the evening will be the breaking of the huge Pinata, which is a papier-mache figure that is traditional in all Latin-American carnivals. The Pinata's practical value stems from the fact that when broken it will shower the dancers with toys and sweets, reminiscent of the "horn of plenty." All the color of South America will be in evidence.

Soph Formal Bids Go On Sale Next Week

Bids for the Sophomore Formal will go one sale the first part of next week in the main building at two dollars per couple, Bob Ryan, sophomore president, announced.

They may be purchased at the college bank or from committee members selling tickets, he said.

The dance is scheduled Saturday, January 28, in the Scottish Rite Auditorium in Oakland.

President Conlan Notes Cleanup Improvements

POPULAR VENDOR Kahn "Pop" Mihan might be forced to turn nomad if students fail to keep the area near the wagon free from rubbish.

Belief that there has been an improvement on the campus in the waste paper disposal situation was expressed by President Louis G. Conlan yesterday.

"Although I didn't tour the whole area, from what I did see, I would say that the situation seems better. I noted only one car with trash around it," the college's president said.

In reference to the large amount of trash that is scattered around Kahn "Pop" Milan's popcorn wagon, he said, "The last thing in the world I would want to do is have that wagon removed, but if the students continue to abuse this privilege as they are now doing, I will have to do just that."

In the Tuesday edition of The Guardsman, a picture revealed "Pop's" wagon located within a few feet of a trash container, while the area was covered with waste paper, garbage, and seagulls.

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

1949 Member Associated Collegiate Press 1950

Represented for National Advertising by NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco — 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Volume XXIX, No. 19 — FRIDAY, JANUARY 13, 1950 — Page 2

Short Cut To An Education By New Testing Technique

EDUCATION, as Dr. A. J. Cloud is fond of saying, is a journey rather than a destination. Since we are all involved in this journey it may be of some interest to note the short cut recently taken by an entering student at the University of Chicago.

This lucky young man took several tests at the university all designed to test his knowledge and intellect. After the professors took one startled look at the results, this lucky student was told he would not have to bother with any under-graduate work but could start on his post-graduate work immediately.

OF course, Dr. Hutchinson, the president of the University of Chicago, has little regard for degrees in general and B.A. degrees in particular. He has been quoted as saying that a degree "is that protectorate of archaic standards given at the wrong time to the wrong people for the wrong thing."

We don't know what kind of questions were used in the test at Chicago, but we would like to present our own elimination question for any local students who are interested. First prize for the first correct answer to the following question will receive an autographed picture of the Editor or three cents in cold cash.

Problem: If I can drink beer twice as fast as you can (this is a hypothetical problem), and I can drink a keg of beer in an hour, how long will it take the two of us to drink a keg of beer?

TO turn from the sublime to the latest actions of the Student Council, we find ourselves a bit confused by this new Club Activities Board regulation bringing intramural sports under CAB control. First it is our opinion that the entire CAB reorganization plan is unconstitutional. Section one of article V states that the CAB shall be composed of the representatives of each duly chartered organization on campus. The new plan calls for only seven representatives. How come?

Counterpoint: Ladies Styles Slammed By Medieval Philosopher

By Walt Heil

THE fickleness of women when it comes to clothes and hair styling has caused brave men to cry since time began.

Not that we haven't been aware of it, but the fact was brought into clear focus for us in the last few years when fashion styles skipped from one look to another.

FASHION DICTATORS

How a handful of fashion dictators in New York and Paris can tell the women of the world how to dress and when is beyond us. In most cases the womenfolk have a mind of their own and let no one tell them what to wear.

Yet, since 1947, when the so called new look was brought to the fore, the gals have lowered their hemlines according to the dictate of the Paris connoisseurs. We don't pretend to be a fashion expert, but the fact remains that the new look was lifted from the styles that prevailed during Victoria's reign, with modifications, of course.

After two years of this the experts decided to raise the hemline to just below the knee.

VAMP(IRE)

With outraged cries heard all over the place, the 1950 look made its bow recently. It features a chopped sort of hairdo, the kind that Carol Channing, the new Broadway star, made famous. Further, it recreates the vamp face all over again.

All this just goes to show that women's styles fluctuate whenever an expert gets a brainstorm.

In the middle ages one Berthold of Regensburg blasted the women for their frilly adornment.

"In order that ye may compass men's praise ye spend all your labour on your garments. It must have shields on the shoulders, it must be flounced and tucked around the hem; it is not enough for you to show your pride in your very buttonholes, but you must send your feet to hell by special torments.

"Ye busy yourselves with your veils; ye twitch them wither; ye twitch them hither; ye gild them here; and there with gold thread . . . When thou shouldest be busy in the house with something needful for the goodman, or for thyself, or thy children, or thy guests, then thou art busy with thy hair."

FACTS STILL THERE

The remarkable fact is that this condemnation still holds up well in this day and age. The language of Berthold is somewhat outmoded, but the facts are still there.

During the war and immediately after, the big thing was the natural look. Now it's the 1950 look that's causing men to scream in agony.

Quips About the Campus

By Dayton Lawson

In Retrospect: (Old Grad Dept.) Ernie Loustalot, former Ram eager, who with Coach Ralph Hillsman helped the City College bucket quintet through an undefeated season some fifteen years ago, now works for the Vet's Administration downtown . . . Ernie was something of a high-jumper, also . . . Bill Phelan, also a member of the same casaba squad, is married to Gussie Raegner, ex-tennis champ, and at last word was in the ice business . . . Will Blackfield, another basketballer, and Ward Cox, aquatic star and record holder for the Red and White in previous years, are currently enshrined in the halls of Valhalla, along with many another athlete who once sported the colors of City College . . . The Gods of War make no distinction in favor of individual merit when demanding their pound of flesh . . . Art Paymiller, former baseball scribe on the GADSMAN, is currently handling the same chores for a Visalia daily . . . ditto with City Editor Hank Tweith up in Lodi . . . Bill Collier observes: "Some kind of a record for us, huh? Bill Fischer, Lee Elsan, and Louis Conlan in three bowl games.

Sugary Smiles Herald Election Time

Elections Alter Manners (Temporarily)

By Bob Jones

It won't be long before the personalities of some 5,000 students attending the college will show a sudden change. The guy who has labeled himself the life of the party, who won't show up at any affair without his favorite lampshade hanging over his ears, will suddenly appear in the library engrossed in Albert Einstein's unified field theory.

The gal who made her Monday morning appearance with her hair in pin curls and her face mournfully drooping out of a bandanna will be demonstrating her bright, beaming smile with every toss of her soft blonde tresses.

WHAT'S DOIN?

"What's the scoop?" you'll ask, and if anyone is on the ball, you'll be informed, "Brother, it's election time!"

The little red haired girl who smiles whenever you pass by is the same one who carried her nose so high that you strained your eyes staring at the clouds to see what she was looking at.

The little gentleman on the "K" ear that got up and offered one of the girls his seat is the same All-American that climbed up your back to get on the ear a few weeks ago. Yup, it's election time.

Don't be too surprised to see your buddy salting his donuts, and stirring his coffee with your fountain pen; the little red head smiles at him too.

CANDIDATES SMILE

No, most students won't have to wait until the campus is flooded with posters that demonstrate each candidate's friendly smile or best profile to know that the student elections are about to take place.

When the guy who set his size twelves on your most touchy corn becomes as graceful as a ballet dancer . . .

When it becomes safe to cross a road on the west campus without fear of becoming a part of somebody's new Ford . . .

When you can walk down the halls of the main building without being shoved three rooms past the one you were headed for . . .

When you can walk up the hill between the main building and the west campus without once detouring onto the grass . . .

Then there is no doubt about it; it IS election time!

Good Impression Advice Here Today

In observance of National Graphic Arts Week, the graphic arts department will show a movie, titled How to Make a Good Impression, in Room 209 during college hour today.

Although the title of this motion picture implies that it should deal with phychology or, in some manner, be tied in with Dale Carnegie's book, How to Win Friends and Influence People, the subject matter of the movie deals strictly with photography and lithographic offset processes.

How to Make a Good Impression refers strictly to impressions of prints and photographic processes, and there is no reference to the age-old struggle of all but iconoclasts to "Make a Good Impression" on his fellow man.

Lithography is a chemical process that transfers photographed material from a plate to the paper, thus making photography of major importance in graphic arts.

For further information all students who are interested are invited to attend the movie and see for themselves the big part that it plays in the graphic arts field, George Mullany, graphic arts instructor, said.

Spotlight: Earthquake Threat Ignored By Callous San Franciscans

By Keith Gardner

WHAT with all this talk about communism, American foreign policy, and super-powerful atom bombs it may sound a little trite to discuss something as everyday and humdrum as earthquakes, but let's try it anyway.

To be brutally frank, friends, we're just about due for another earthquake around these parts, and what's worse, nobody seems to care.

WORRY A LITTLE

This casual indifference to the coming catastrophe may be perfectly all right for people with large life insurance policies, but honestly, don't you think folks would have the decency to worry just a little bit?

The trouble is that San Franciscans are actually used to earthquakes. Every few weeks the newspapers report that the seismograph at one of the local universities has recorded what they call a tremblor. "Damage," they always insist, "was negligible." This is pretty poor comfort to a man who has just fallen into a bottomless crack. But then, he probably won't be wanting a newspaper anyway.

Our own opinion of why the local residents are indifferent to earthquakes is simple. Simple stupidity, that is. So in an effort to correct this sad state of affairs, here are a few facts.

The focal point of an earthquake is called the hypocentre, located deep under the Earth's crust. When things get all hot in the hypocentre they blow up. The point right smack above the hypocentre—Third and Market, for instance—is called the epicenter. If you happen to be standing on the epicenter you'll soon find yourself in the hypocentre.

AMUSING

This, of course, is only true if there is an actual eruption. Sometimes, to quote an expert, there is merely "a movement like the shaking of a sieve." An experience such as that may be amusing enough for some people, but if it's all the same to you we'll pass.

Delving deeper into our source material in the forlorn hope of finding something optimistic, we find this bit of information, "When the origin of an earthquake is submarine, the shock along the coastal region may be followed by the inrush of a seawave . . ."

TOO HORRIBLE

It would be nice if we could make some sort of comment on the above paragraph, but to a man who has to wear water-wings in the bath tub the whole thing is too horrible. Let's not mention it again.

The information that many people survive quakes is obviously intended to relieve the fears of neurotics; and, thank God, we're not neurotic! But there's no sense pushing your luck too far. This column came to you from a tent pitched on the mathematical center of the U. S.

Looking-Up . . . Tid Bits From Campus: Absenteeism Blamed On Term Papers; Students Create Poetry

By Dick Briggs

NEW YEARS and holidays past, we wondered if campus activity was restored to hectic normal, and, after peeking through our wide angle lens telescope, found that:

Pleasant-voiced, and even pleasanter mannered Marie Dyson, college switchboard operator, keeps in good spirit from calls like this: A student explained absence due to an "operation on his eppendoctomy." The same afternoon a student transcribed on a Leave of Absence Card his reason for withdrawal, "Lack of fiancees."

This semester, if all final grades in instructors' record books were laid end to end, the total distance would not exceed 90 yards, which would make a short ladder if claming an A mark is like reaching for the moon.

Eminent authority on most things political, Mervin Slossberg, explained to his Far East History class that the honorable method of suicide in China is self-strangulation by a silk scarf. All in fun, students next day sent Slossberg a scarf neatly wrapped, with the notation, "to M.S; please use before finals." This shows what comes when an instructor teaches his history course too well.

Popular English instructor, Dr. Dorothy Mercer, whose learned approach to literature through both Western and Eastern concepts attracts both students and professors, will complete study for her Ph. D. degree at Oxford University in June.

Answering a four alarm call for help in the Registrar's Office, students volunteered to clear up the deluge of clerical work caused by an alarming increase of absenteeism. The absenteeism, not indicating an impending epidemic, was merely a seasonal trend which meant the "occupational hazard" of writing term papers at the first stroke of doom had descended. Dean Edwin Browne sent a grateful "thanx" to the volunteer helpers, which arrived too late for Ram's Horn this issue.

Garrett Kyle and Carl Davis, law enforcement graduates, were placed as permanent elitation awarders, instructor Fred Fitzgerald says. As patrolmen, Kyle was appointed to the Oakland Police Department, and Davis was ordered to the San Mateo foree.

Two poems, Sleep, and The Fool, were accepted for publication in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry, English instructor Samuel Duff told us. The authors, Jean Murlin and Kitt Sornborger respectively, would not say, but some deduced by the poetry titles that inspiration for their creation came from observing college students.

Guardsman Staff — Fall, 1949

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... RICHARD BRENNAN
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Richard Briggs
ASST. MANAGING EDITOR ..... Walt Roessling
ASST. MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rose Hardie
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Cyrus Donaldson, Robert Goncalves, Roberta Jackson, Dayton Lawson, Frank Monte, Terry Ryan, Adolphus Thomas, William Thomas, Gene Van Dyke, Dick Williamson.
NEWS: Robert Thorsen, editor; Nathan Carter, Ben Galan, Georgie Watkins, Robert Johnson, Robert Jones, Robert Kaye, Raymond Kelly, Richard Larrick, Sandra Marks, John O'Sullivan, John Spalding, Naomi Takahashi, Robert Valli, John Vanderbilt, Clarence Whitcomb, Felton White, Larry Baley.
FEATURE: Walt Heil, editor; Keith Gardner, assistant.
SPORTS: Bob Quinlan, editor.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Richard Harrington, Claude Dittmore, Dick Steinheimer.
STAFF ARTIST: Eddie Mitsunaga.
BUSINESS: Barbara Low, manager; Norman Regar, Alicia Diaz.
ADVERTISING: George Kelly, manager; Richard Hart.
CIRCULATION: Jerry Unider, manager.
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Friday The Thirteenth Here Again, Black Cats And Horseshoes Required

This being Friday the 13, students of this college will join other Americans in 24 hours of superstitious contemplation.

Anything that happens, and anything bad might, will be blamed on the unlucky Friday, and black cats as usual will cause many about-faces and needless detours.

All combinations of one and three will be strictly taboo. So instructors in Rooms 113, 213, 313, and Building 13 just might not have any students today. Or perhaps the students will not have instructors.

With the second Friday in the year Friday the 13, things do not speak too well for 1950. But perhaps that is nothing to get alarmed about. Two students in instructor Phylis Haley's experimental psychology class have discovered a cure for this unlucky Friday hysteria—hypnotism.

Neil McDowell and Kenneth Hurbert last week reported new uses for the now accepted science of hypnotism, once considered "black magic." According to their reports, if a subject is told while under hypnosis that Friday the 13 is the luckiest day of all, he would be likely to believe it thereafter in spite of previous experiences.

Since mass hypnotic treatments seem to be things of the future, the usual Friday the 13 is expected today.

STELLAR DEFENSIVE man and a constant scoring threat is Al Munn. Little "Alby" is one of the most colorful men on the courts.

Wrestling Looms As College Sport

Possibilities that the college might produce a wrestling team for the coming mat season were apparent recently as a result of discussion among physical education instructors and students.

Conjecture as to just what type of team would be introduced was voiced by interested parties and possible mat coach, Roy Burkhead. It was thought possible that the team would be a varsity sport, since its twin brother, boxing, is already in the upper bracket.

However, it is possible that for the first few years it will remain as a minor sport or even an intramural activity. Very little expense would be entailed, it was pointed out, to produce the club, since the college already has mats and a ring. Traveling funds could come from the Associated Student funds and from physical education allotments. If the mat team becomes a thing of reality the number of spring semester sports would be boosted to eight and be included with basketball, baseball, track, swimming, boxing, tennis, and golf.

Competition would be according to weight, like boxing, from 120 pounds to heavyweight.

The City College west campus is composed of 15 buildings, with buildings 7, 8, and 13 used as men's dormitories and accommodating 250 students.

Cagers Host Hartnell In Conference Opener Tonight On Local Hardwoods

By Bob Goncalves

After finishing the Modesto Tournament in great fashion, the college basketball team is prepared to meet Hartnell and Monterey Peninsula Colleges tonight and tomorrow night, respectively, in the Ram gymnasium. The games will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Both Monterey and Hartnell were eliminated in the first round of the recent Modesto tourney.

Little information is available about either of these clubs except for the fact that they have been suffering from a lack of scoring power.

Hartnell will probably prove to be the tougher of the two squads, simply because it was the higher scoring of the two during the tourney.

Both of the visiting quintets easily succumbed to last year's powerful Ram team by very large margins during league play.

Kevin Duggan, high scorer in the Modesto Tournament, was presented with a very fine watch at the end of the final evening of play. This watch was Duggan's reward for receiving a position on the all-star team.

Closest to Duggan's 98 point output for the Rams during their four game schedule was center Pat Boyle with 49 tallies. Boyle collected 22 of these points in the final contest, in which he and Duggan scored 54 points between them.

Biggest setback for the Rams was the fact that Al Munn, first string guard and a great floor man, was ineligible for all but the last game. Munn proved his worth in the final game. His terrific passing and ball stealing ability plus his magnificent defensive work were a great asset to the club.

Other great helps to the Red and White were Marty Schneider's fine sniping up of plays, Boyle's, George McLaughlin's, and Bob Wilson's fine rebounding, Dick Mulready's terrific drive-in shots, and Frank Samson's fine ball handling and defensive work.

The following is a composite box score for the Modesto Tournament:

Player	FG	FT	PF	Tal.	GP
Duggan	43	12	6	98	4
Boyle	21	7	11	49	4
McLaughlin	12	2	11	26	4
Schneider	7	2	11	16	4
Mulready	3	3	9	14	4
Carnegie	6	2	15	14	4
Samson	5	2	4	12	4
Munn	3	1	2	7	1
Wilson	3	1	3	7	3
Farley	2	1	3	5	3
Nicora	2	1	4	5	3
Hunter	0	0	2	4	3

California Wins Annual Bay Area College Horse Show, Rams Third

The University of California captured first place in the City College annual inter-collegiate horse show presented January 7, by the Women's Athletic Association and the Spur and Saddle Club.

Out of eight events which took place at the St. Francis Riding Club, California placed first in two events, second in three events and third in three events.

Stanford University came through with one first and four second places, while City College took one first, no seconds, three thirds, and three fourth places.

San Francisco State finished in the contest with two first places, one second, one third, and two fourth spots.

San Mateo wound up with two firsts, no seconds, one third place, and three fourth positions.

The eight events in the Horse Show were the jumping obstacle course, beginner's equitation, intermediate equitation, beginner's game, advanced equitation, pair class, pleasure class and the fancy dress.

By winning the show, California acquired a gold trophy to be kept on the campus for one year until the next horse show.

Those representing the college for the event were: Billie Antipa, Margaret Blount, Mary Campau, Noel Crutchett, Charles Delmage, Jeanne Hunncyman, Dale Leonard, Pat McGrath, Merritt Olds, Bob Ott, Josephine Paraventi, Bob Parr, June Schallenberger, Pat Simmons, Jean Sliter, Jean Speck, Vivien Stiphens, Elizabeth Stobbe, and Don Therence.

More About Candidates

(Continued from page 1)

Jackson, Joseph Schwab, Stan Seaman, Lee Tanover.

The Fraternity Party is assured one seat on the Freshman Council since the Affiliated Students have only six candidates for the seven seats.

Magid, Affiliated Students' presidential candidate, stated that his party is not the successor to the student league as previously indicated.

DICK MULREADY has proved to be a great crowd pleaser with his fantastic drive-in shots. "Mo" is one of the Ram cagers' offensive stars.

Largest Boxing Turnout In College History Greets Coach Diederichsen

Blessed with the largest boxing turnout in the college's history, Coach Roy Diederichsen and his 25 varsity contestants, including five veterans, started training for the coming season last week.

Although most of Diederichsen's team comes from the ranks of the Novice Tourney, five veterans, Jerry Stern, Frank Sueuga, Len Garcia, Jack Bettencourt, and Roxie Navarro, will be on hand to uphold last year's second place national honors.

Stern, lightweight, two year college national champion last year, will remain in the 135 pound class if he can make the weight. Should he fail he will move to the 145s and try his luck with the heavier boys.

Heavyweight slugger, Sueuga, and 125 pound Len Garcia, both runners-ups in the Pasadena Nationals who will fight in the same class, should prove mainstays in the Diederichsen attack.

From the new ranks, both Sigurd Jett, 155, and John Brooks, 165, loom strong contenders with their lethal wallops, light footedness and elusiveness. Another newcomer with great possibilities is Len Gage, 130. Gage an excellent boxer, carries a surprisingly heavy punch for his light weight.

Herb Brown, agile, 220 pound heavyweight up from the novice tourney will share the heavy bouts with Sueuga.

Although there are 25 men on the varsity, none will be cut and all members will be given bouts.

Other varsity members are Telmo Frisco, 120; Tom Hahn, Bill Banks, and Bill Revilla, 135; Dan Carrol, Ken Won, Gene Hamilton, and Al Revere, 145; Dick Fiore, 155; John Wells, 165; Jim Keyes, 175; and Bob Sorenson, heavyweight.

All-School Archery Meet Here Friday

An all-school archery meet will be held today on the east campus shooting range. All experienced archers are welcome to participate at their own convenience during the day.

Men will shoot a Columbia, that is 24 arrows at fifty yards, forty yards, and thirty yards, while the women will shoot a Junior Columbia: twenty arrows at forty yards, thirty yards, and twenty yards.

Rambling Writers Merge Knowledge

RAMblings . . .

Sporty Scribes See Spring Sport Setup

(Editor's note: With the approach of the spring semester, the members of the sports staff have combined in this column to give The Guardsman readers an outlook on the college's spring sports.)

Basketball—Bob Gonealves

Shifting into high gear, after a fairly successful season beginning of nine wins in eleven contests, the Ram basketeers will tackle their first league opponent this evening with hopes of keeping their win streak of three games intact.

Once they get over their nervousness, which has been so apparent in their first few contests, the Red and White has every possibility of being as smooth a club as last year's team.

Ability to put either a tall rebounding team or a small, fast-breaking club on the floor should enable the Rams to cope with any sort of a squad their competitors could put against them.

Baseball—Gene Van Dyke

A new trend in two year college baseball, a State Championship playoff, is being hashed over for approval by two year college conference leaders.

The playoff will be held in Los Angeles following the conclusion of the various California Conference seasons.

Such a meeting would pit the winner of the NCJC Conference North-South playoff against a representative from the Los Angeles area.

Down South there are three leagues: the Orange Empire, Metropolitan, and Western States.

Winner of the State Title would be determined by a best two out of three series.

Boxing—Frank Monte

While most athletic teams take part in the so-called breather for their initial contest of a season, Coach Roy Diederichsen will tackle his toughest assignment first when his varsity boxing squad meets San Jose State College on Friday, January 27 at San Jose.

San Jose, always considered one of the top college boxing teams on the Pacific Coast, took the second place Intercollegiate National Boxing title last year. Not only will the San Jose bouts provide a testing ground for the local sluggers, but should they defeat the strong men of the Pacific coast, they will add quite a feather to their cap.

Track—Terry Ryan

Coach Grover Klemmer and his thin-clads have everything to gain and nothing to lose as they approach the track season. Last year's squad was not the best ever produced at the college, but it did well as it operated under terrific difficulties.

The main disadvantage of the team was its lack of depth. It could place well in nearly every event, but it could not take the valuable seconds, thirds, and fourths which are absolutely necessary in the final accounting.

Alan Christie, Joe Greggins, and Irv Beltrame will return to the fold. All were dependable point gainers on last year's small production.

Put Away The Violin
and
Get A Haircut
at
COLE'S Barber Shop
ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

METRO MOTORS
'Does It Again'
Terrific Savings on Good Used Cars
A Few Selections From Our Large Stock

'49 Ford Club Coupe	$1595	'46 Ford Coupe	$895
'38 De Soto Coupe	$ 195	'40 Buick Super Conv.	$495
'40 Hudson Coupe	$ 395	'34 Oldsmobile Sedan	$ 95
'48 Chevrolet Sedan	$1495	'40 Pontiac Club Coupe	$395

50 More to Choose From Low Down Payments
Easy Terms — Trades
METRO MOTORS
1667 MARKET AT GOUGH
UN 1-6125 USED CAR DEPARTMENT GR 4-3030

We Air Express
We Deliver — We Telegraph
Chain of Flowers
Florists
CORSAGES — FLORAL DESIGNS
WEDDINGS
JUniper 4-9038 1805 Ocean Avenue
San Francisco 12

Students!
Special Rates On Portraits
'The Studio'
1304 Ocean Ave. — JU 5-0924
Photo Finishing, Enlarging

Friday 13
This Could Be
Your Lucky Day
You Just Found the
Avenue Coffee Shop
1612 Ocean

Prepare Now For Those FINALS
We stock a complete set of College Outline Series
Drop in today and see them at the
C. C. S. F. STUDENT STORE
965 Ocean at Phelan

Williamson

Round 'n About

Recent Rains Dampen Social Life; Ski Rams Frolic In Frosted Aqua

RECENT rains evidently dampened campus society spirits and washed out plans for social activities, but a few drops of club news are in the barrel.

Swirling round 'n about at the top of local puddles is the news that Associated Student President Harrison Williams will soon have budget troubles of his own.

At the formal initiation dinner of Alpha Sigma Delta fraternity, which was held Saturday, December 3, at the Marin County Fireside Club, an announcement was made to the effect that Miss Mary Ann Johanson, of Alpha Lambda Chi, and Williams will soon take the marital plunge.

Delta Psi sorority members are anxiously awaiting tomorrow night when they will present their pledge dinner-dance at the Fireside. Pledges of the society are excited, too, because their formal initiation takes place during the evening.

Honored guests at the affair are to be Maralee and Charles Single, who were married on October 25. Mrs. Single is an alumna of the sorority, while her spouse was a Tri-Epsilon man.

The townsfolk of snow-covered Truckee are preparing for the arrival of Beta Phi Beta fraternity adherents, who have selected the village as site of their annual ski trip. Considering the assets of the bitter burg, a pertinent question is, will there be any skiing done?

Tau Chi Sigma fraternity adviser, Maurice Power, tells interesting stories about the organization's formal initiation Wednesday night at the home of a member. The 20 pledges tingled with joy during the sociable evening.

Plans for the Tau Chi future include the semi-annual dinner to be held, probably at the Claremont, on Saturday, February 4.

Speaking of the Claremont, on Saturday, January 7, high atop the Oakland-Berkeley hills overlooking San Francisco Bay and only a few minutes drive from the city by the Golden Gate (thank you, American Broadcasting Company) Alpha Lambda Chi ladies danced to the music of Leighton Noble and his orchestra at their semi-annual pledge dinner. A record crowd of 20 couples attended the affair.

Phi Beta Delta has beat the rush and announced their spring semester officers. The new potentates are as follows: President Urb Cummings; vice-president, George Rebholtz; treasurer, Jim Crough; recording secretary, Bud Murphy; corresponding secretary, Ed Botsford; sergeant-at-arms, Monroe Johnson; pledge-master, Tom Jenkin; alumni-liaison officer, Bruce Ingmire; parliamentarian, Ralph Thomas; historian, Bill Walti; custodian, Don Smith; CAB, John Sarber; assistant CAB, Fred Grene; and athletic directors, Walti and Walt Stevens.

The local honorary economics society, Omicron Phi Pi, will hold its most important and final meeting of the current semester on Wednesday, January 18. On the agenda for the evening is the completion of the club dinner plans, election of Spring officers and a discussion of the United Nations.

Hillel Foundation is following suit and will elect new leaders at a meeting on Monday, January 16. Formal dinner plans will also take up some of their time, along with the mapping of the Spring events calendar.

The meeting Monday is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock at 295 Urbano Drive, home of M. Zarchin, adviser.

Ski Rams are revelling in the winter season and took off on their first official trip of this winter on Saturday, January 7. Members held their annual "Olympics" for the perpetual trophy which is on display in the hall showcase in the main building.

Discussions of this and future trips will take place at the society's meeting during college hour today in Room 5-D. Novice enthusiasts are especially urged to attend.

The Hotel and Restaurant Society has scheduled its annual winter formal supper dance tonight in the Mural Room of the St. Francis Hotel from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., a pleasant time is expected.

Alumni Association Officers Launch Campus-Wide Search For New Members

Alumni officers on campus launched a campus-wide search recently for prospective graduates and transferring students who desire membership in the Alumni Association.

For application blanks, interested students can apply to Joseph Amori in the placement office, Building 2. Ten dollars will secure a lifetime membership, and students, upon request, are allowed to pay the membership fee on an installment plan, Amori said.

The Alumni Association encountered severe setbacks in recent semesters because of lack of interest toward the association, Amori pointed out.

Transferring students with at least one year of satisfactory work and prospective graduates are eligible for membership in the association, he said.

JOSEPH AMORI, job placement officer, also donates his time and efforts in guiding the Alumni Association toward a better future.

338 Prospective Graduates File Petitions With Registrar Learnard

Petitions have been filed by 338 prospective graduates, Mary Jane Learnard announced recently.

The prospective graduates must complete a total of 60 units to be eligible for graduation, Miss Learnard said.

The 338 who filed petitions to graduate are as follows:

Gene Abercrotte, John Alexander, Phyllis Allen, Ahmad Amirhoveini, Raymond Algerth, George Anderson, Geraldine Anderson, Charles Andrade, Lou Aronian, Ann Arthurs, Donald Ayers.

Audrey Bach, Grayce Baker, William Bardoli, Robert Barton, Ellen Baumann, Albert Beck, Gloria Bertr, Richard Belgum, John Bellramo, George Berejkoff, Rudolph Bertolozzi, Lorraine Blinn, Edward Boerman, Pinchos Bejm, Norma Bone, Richard Boone, Gary Bowman, James Bradford, Peter Brady, Kenneth Broadhead, Gerald Brown, Norman Bruns, John Buranno.

Harry Caddow, Wallace Cantor, Michael Cappellotti, Ronald Carroll, Betty Cartwright, Elizabeth Carvelli, Norma Chabot, Herman Chanz, David Chan, Pauline Chanz, George Chavez, George Chin, Marian Chin, Lotts Chinn, Melvin Chow, Wilfredo Cha, Vito Clarfaglio, Miguel Cifuentes, John Coelough, Carlton Colombat, Albert Conragan, Francis Consoni, Frank Coppel, Gerard Conrade, Ruth Cristanie, Richard Croner.

Victoria DeBarrows, Edward Del Carlo, Lawrence Del Rosago, LaVerne Demeler, George De Uriosle, Melvin Dixon, Jimmy Doon, Keith Doverspike, John Dracopoulos, Patricia Draper, Eugene Dupignac.

Walter Efsaif, Delwyn Elfers, Dolores Engelhardt, Shigeru Enomoto, Edwin Erbentraut, Juanita Erwin, Jacqueline Eshia, Gustavo Espino.

Rita Fabri, Ernest Fagnani, Helen Fahey, Melvin Fairchild, Jack Farren, Harry Fischer, Reni Fisher, Marion Flowers, Pearl Font, Dean Fox, Jac Francovich, Francis Fraser, Gilbert Frederick, Harold Freedman, Robert Friedland, James Frost, Herbert Fung.

Earl Gage, Raymond Gamba, Alvin Gamma, William Gee, Joseph Genille, Dennis George, Raymond Gilmartin, Fong Gin, Richard Gordon, Richard Graham, Jack Grasherzer, Carolyn Gray, Roy Gustafson.

Marvin Hagra, John Hampel, Donald Hancock, William Hansen, Barbara Hastings, James Hauchian, William Hayes, Lawrence Healy, George Heckert, Jerry Herfield, Rolf Hermsson, Francis Hearing, Money Hickmon, Janet Higgins, Shirle Hilding, Astine Hinchen, Clarence Hirose, Lam Ho, Francis Hoff, William Holloway, Andrew Hom, Arthur Hunt, Samuel Hunter, Kenneth Harbert.

Mitsuru Ikeda, Kazuko Imada, William Inn, Edward Israel, Frederick Jackson, Paula Jackson, Robert Jackson, Donald Johnson, Edgar Johnson, Monroe Johnson, William Johnston, Oliver Jones, Robert Jones, Mary Kartell, Alice Kawana, Louis Keers, Frankie Kelly, William Kelly, John Kenefick, William Kinsley, Tatiana Kitkoff, Kenneth Koppel, Gordon Kull, William Kurz, John Kwei.

Daniel Lazar, Donald Lavin, Peggy Latimer, Dayton Lawson, William Lawson, Lillian Lee, Marshall Lee, Henry Lehman, Eugene Leneeg, Richard Leong, Sarah Leung, Leonard Levenson, Jennie Lim, Orma Lindsey, Andriana Litras, Alex Litvinov, Marianne Lloyd, Beryl Lohse, Rodney Losberger, Robert Loucks, June Louie, Richard Lovell, Barbara Low, Ernest Low, George Lowson, Thomas Lunader.

David Maher, Christopher Makras, Nick Mariani, Joan Marinkovich, Irving Marks, Marion Marmon, Robert Marshall, Mary Mariveh, Frances McCarthy, Harold McGrath, James McKeown, Barbara McLeod, Robert Mead, Mildred Mesrich, Alberta Milani, George Miller, Lewis Miller, Norma Moebes, Joan Moore, Robert Morelli, Veronica Morrison, John Moss, Raymond Moy, Jesse Murphy, Margaret Murphy, William Murray, Alice Myers, Jean Myers.

Jack Nakashima, Chris Naloues, Charles Nirkel, Robert Nelson, Herbert Neumeister, Roy Neyhart, John Nichols, Charles Nolan, Jerome O'Brien, Doris Olson, Robert Orchid, Noboru Otani.

Athena Pappas, Robert Parenti, Fred Payne, Benigno Pereyra, Jeannelle Perrien, Joaquin Pereira, William Perry, Donald Peters, Albert Podesta, Loma Pohlmann, Thomas Pollitzin, Kuen Pon, George Poppin, Fred Prail, Frank Purkett, Frederick Pyle.

Brian Radecke, Floyd Rader, Donald Read, Jeanne Reardon, George Resel, Samuel Riolin, Charles Hiros, Harry Robinson, Walter Roesing, Robert Ryan, Anthony Sacra, Henry Salminen, Farhad Samii, Richard Sams, Igor Sazevich, Russell Schabel, William Schaefer, Henry Schaffner, Jane Schallenberger, Donald Scheper, Jean Schmidli, Erich Schneider, Peter Schwarre, Lorenz Schweitzer, Patricia Sellers, Mary Shahan, Clarence Shaw, Margaret Shepherd, Robert Sherrall, Naomi Shibata, Preston Short, Louis Silvi, Donald Smith, Leo Smith, Richard Soulib, Louella Solin, Thomas Sousa, Ernest Spitzer, Alfred Stankowiak, Marion Steineke, Jeanette Sterling, Christopher Stewart, Eugene Sluka, Warren Storkman, Robert Stranion, Howard Strauss, Randie Street, Falaoga Suesa, Mario Suzzi.

James Tabor, Joan Tall, Raomi Takahashi, May Takakuwa, Frank Tashiro, Guy Taylor, Pete Taylor, Joan Thies, Ralph Thomas, Robert Thompson, Carol Tindell, Roger Tom, Robert Tomlinson, Joan Tweedt, Rose Tyan.

Anna Ung, Jerry Under, Renna Varelias, James Venes, Richard Vogel, Walter Von Tagen, Harry Wairaih, Ben Wang, Don Warden, Frank Warn, Harold Warren, Jack Waung, John Weber, Robert Werner, Walter Werner, George White, Earl Whiteley, Albert Williams, Frank Williams, Hallie Williams, Lawrence Williams, Robert Wise, Leonard Wolf, Irwin Wolff, Chester Won, Mary Wong, Wymon Wong, Wesley Woo, Stanley Wrichl, Masahiro Yamashita, Norman Yates, Loren Yearsley.

LEE EISAN, former college football coach and now an instructor of hygiene here, just recently refereed the East-West Shrine football game. Eisan donated his services to the worthy cause and had to pay his own carfare to reach the game. Also, the four-bit piece flipped for the kickoff and direction advantage was donated by Eisan—to the winning East team.

Muni Buses Detour Via West Campus

Municipal buses which normally use Phelan Avenue to approach the main building, began last Monday a detour route through the west campus.

Although the Phelan Avenue gate will be opened, primarily for the benefit of the buses, President Louis G. Conlan requested that students driving cars onto the west campus continue to use the main gate on Ocean Avenue.

"Use of the gate on Phelan Avenue by automobiles will result in too much danger to students walking to and from the main building," he said.

It is necessary to take these measures, because the entrance to Phelan Avenue will be blocked by construction work, he explained.

Students are warned to exercise additional caution while walking between the west campus and the main building during the current traffic interruption, he pointed out.

Architectural Students Get Professional Evaluations

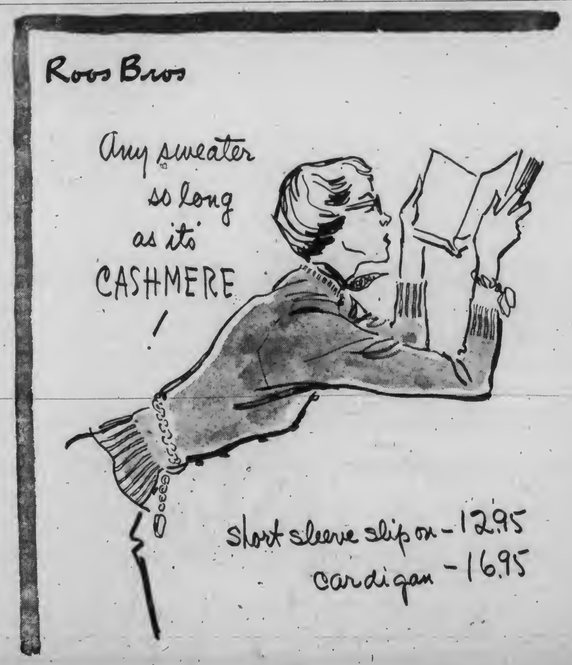
The work of six Architecture 24 students of the college which featured designs of a church facade in a residential neighborhood was given professional criticism this week by Architect John L. Reid, San Francisco specialist in school designs.

The six students were D. P. Elfers, Jaime Pons, Donald L. Foster, Thomas H. Jenkin, Bruce Johnson, and Charles E. Jordan. W. Merle Weidman, instructor, accompanied his class to Reid's office where the criticism was made.

Reid, who did conversion work on the old Wave barracks, the gymnasiums, and the cafeteria here, is coauthor of the book "So You Want To Build A School." He is now in charge of the designing of the Lake Merced Elementary school which will be used in conjunction with the San Francisco State College teaching program.

Library's Open-Stack System Aids Students

More students know how to use the card catalogues, magazine indexes, reference books, and to locate books in the open stacks of the library this semester than in any previous semester, Eleanor Blinn, circulation librarian, and Irene Mensing, reference librarian, announced recently.



According to Miss Blinn, the library's open-stack feature is uncommon compared with other colleges and universities whose stacks are closed to students. In an open-stack system, students are allowed to select books directly from the stacks or shelves, she pointed out.

The open-stack system familiarized students with a greater variety of books and rendered practical experience to students while learning to use the library intelligently, Miss Blinn emphasized.

Simultaneously, Katherine Pedley, librarian, announced that students from the Alpha Phi Omega fraternity, and Delta Psi sorority voluntarily rendered 83 hours of work respectively to the circulation, reference, and maintenance departments of the library.

Other students contributed voluntary service to the upkeep of the library, she said.

The services given by the students will be added to their permanent records at the end of the semester as a citizenship merit. Students who desire librarianship as a career, or any students may receive, upon request, first hand information, assistance, and practical experience in librarianship, from the library staff, Miss Pedley said.

The Guardsman

Election Edition

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

VOLUME XXIX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—TUESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1950 NUMBER 20

Polls To Open For Associated Student Election Today; Light Vote Expected

ARMOND MAGID, Presidential Candidate:

"The Affiliated Students for Better Government was founded this semester in the interest of better student government.

"So far, our party has been viewed with great enthusiasm which indicates that the students are tired of a one party system dedicated to a vested interest. We firmly believe in student government for all the students and not for a special interest group. We have presented to the voters a slate of candidates which we believe represents all the students.

"An interesting fact recently revealed by Dr. Anderson at Student Council is that since the present administration took office the reserve fund has dwindled down to $149.00 as compared with $11,000.00 on hand a year ago; it is apparent that incompetent administration of student funds has placed the Association in financial jeopardy which if allowed to continue will bankrupt the Association. Even with the return of certain unspent budgeted funds, the Association will still be in a precarious position at the end of the semester."

Polls will be open today and tomorrow for members of the Associated Students to elect their officers for the Spring semester. The voting booths are located in the Student Lounge, Building 2, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. today and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. tomorrow.

Top officials in the Associated Students refused to predict how many voters would cast ballots in the election, but unofficially they took a gloomy view and prepared for a small turnout.

Associated Student President Harry Williams urged that all members of the Associated Students turn out and vote; he pointed out that the results of this election would determine the future history of the Associated Students.

The success of 38 candidates and 14 amendments will be decided in this election.

Candidates must remove all of their posters from the inside and the outside of the student lounge before the elections begin, and no campaigning will be allowed in the voting area, Election Commissioner Curtis May warned.

Two candidates are campaigning for the position of Associated Student President. They are Armond Magid, Affiliated Students, and Donald Parker, Fraternity Party.

Mary Ann Johnston, Fraternity Party, will compete in the election against independent Helen MacKay for the Associated Student Vice-presidency.

Jeanne McKnew, Fraternity, and Marcella Lewis, Affiliated Students, are competing for the Associated Women Students Presidency.

Stanley Fletcher, Independent, is running against Larry Ross, Fraternity in the Freshmen Class Presidential race.

There are 13 candidates campaigning for seats on the Sophomore Council and 15 campaigning for the Freshman Council.

Magid announced that the name Allied Students had been changed to Affiliated Students because of an error by the "poster painters."

DON PARKER, Presidential Candidate:

"As an independent candidate running on the IFC ticket for the office of Associated Student President, I endorse the following platform which was mutually agreed upon by myself and the other members of the IFC Policy Committee:

"To add to the privileges of Associated Student members; To elevate the status of CCSF at the California Junior College conference; To make the Mardi Gras THE social event of the year; To have professional as well as student talent in rallies and improve student spirit; To increase cooperation between faculty and students; Upon approval of the Board of Education, to give whole-hearted support to an on-campus Student Store; To have definite office hours for senior Association officers; To support the new CAB program.

"We believe that all should share in our student government who shall take an active part in sharing its burden."

Council To Host New Officers At Banquet

This semester's outgoing Student Council will play host to administrators and the newly elected Associated Student officers at a banquet Wednesday, January 25 at 6 p.m. in the faculty dining room.

Both Superintendent Herbert Clish and President Louis Conlan, along with other college administrators, have been invited to attend the dinner. Outgoing Student President Harry Williams will present awards to the council members.

Anderson Tells Student Council Of Depletion In Reserve Fund

By Bill Thomas

The Associated Students have $149 in available funds, Controller Oscar E. Anderson told the Student Council Thursday and warned that the budget for next semester would have to be held to $13,000 unless constructive measures are taken.

The budget for the Spring '49 semester was $26,245.20.

He urged that action be taken to increase Associated Student membership which, he said, has declined despite the fact that the enrollment at the college has remained nearly at the same level since 1947.

The $149 available, Anderson stated, was the reserve fund. He told the council in his report that he expects the fund to rise to between $2,000 and $3,000 at the end of the semester, when money not spent and revenues from activities that have not yet taken place are turned into the treasury.

The reserve fund at the end of the Fall '48 semester contained $11,000 and at the end of the Spring semester $4,000.

Anderson stated that the college administration was doing everything in its power to aid the Associated Students and that it would appeal to the Board of Education for money for theater productions and for athletic activities.

Anderson attributed the financial crisis to the decline in cash and automatic veteran membership in the Associated Students, and to the financial failure of the college football games.

The football budget had $700 left over, Anderson said, and that has been put into the injury fund.

He pointed out that if every student enrolled in the college joined the Associated Students in the spring semester, the Associated Students would have a budget of $27,000.

Anderson recommended that Ram-Pages, college yearbook for the Spring '49 semester, be sold at 50 cents a copy. The yearbook was valued at $5 when published and was a financial failure to the amount of $5,000 which depleted the reserve fund. He said he would be forced to throw out the 500 remaining copies if they were not sold.

Danny Lagan, finance director, criticized the amount spent for publishing The Guardsman and said most of the rest of the money budgeted by the Student Council "goes down the drain for athletics."

Anderson had previously said, "I think The Guardsman has done a fine job this semester."

The controller urged many times during his talk to the Student Council that more students should be persuaded to buy Associated Student cards.

"Show them that there is a purpose and a value in Associated Student membership," he insisted.

Women Students Needed To Assist With Spring Registration Here

Women students who wish to help with the registration of incoming students on Friday, February 10, may now apply at Dean Margaret Dougherty's office in Building 2.

Much aid has been given in the past by the Associated Women Students in assisting advisers and new students during the registration procedure.

These women assist the freshmen and other newcomers by helping them to fill out their registration books, schedule their programs, obtain their IBM cards, complete their books and turn them in for a registration card, Dean Dougherty said.

They also direct newcomers to the proper buildings, and attempt in every possible way to make them feel at home.

All women students who are returning to the college for the spring semester who wish to give service to the AWS by helping out, should apply before the week of final exams.

According to F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, all phases of the registration will take place on the west campus. The actual procedure for registration is unaltered, however, he added.

Former students will register on Wednesday, February 8, and Thursday, February 9, from 7:45 a.m. to 1:45 p.m. in order of their registration numbers. They will be admitted only upon presentation of their counsellors' recommended program.

Clubs Meet In Friday College Hour

College hour is scheduled at 10:40 this Friday, Louis Batmale, dean of activities, announced yesterday. All college clubs will meet in their regular rooms in their final roundup of the semester.

Another outstanding attraction during this Friday's college hour is the double feature movie being presented by the audio visual aids department. This is free and open to all students and faculty members. The movies, "Winter in Switzerland" and "G.I.'s in Switzerland," will be shown in Room 136.

The semi-annual Award Rally will be combined this year with the Soph-Faculty Basketball game scheduled for the men's gymnasium during college hour Friday, January 27, Batmale said.

Batmale added that he hoped a double college hour could be arranged for this date.

Mary Ann Johnston

Fate of Miss Johnston, vice-presidential candidate on the Inter-Fraternity ticket, will be determined today and tomorrow when students gather in the student lounge to vote for government nominees.

Party Candidates Lineup

	AFFILIATED	FRATERNITY	INDEPENDENT
President	Armond Magid	Donald Parker
Vice-President		Mary Ann Johnston	Helen MacKay
AMS President		Norman Reger
AWS President	Marcella Lewis	Jeanne McKnew
Soph President		William Rosia
Frosh President		Larry Ross	Stanley Fletcher
Soph Council:	Joseph Azzolino	James Anderson	Irwin Phillips
	Wallace Levin	Frank Bayol
	Joan Marenda	Russ Greer
	Patty Patterson	Ann McBride
	Oscar Rivas	James Reed
	Robert Tyson	James Smith
Frosh Council:	George Bayko	Marjorie Bergset
	Ralph Howes	Pete Chevrier
	Robt. Lacampagne	Lynn Donaldson
	John Sandin	Pete Gentile
	Richard Schanbach	Louis Guevera
	Ralph Vitterlein	George Jackson
		Lee Janover
		Joseph Schwab
		Stan Seaman

Party Affiliations are not listed on the ballot. Voters who wish to vote a straight party slate are urged to take The Guardsman to the polls with them.

String Orchestra Presents Original Student Composition This Friday

An original composition by a former Ram student, Richard Cumming, will be presented by the American Federation of Musicians' String Orchestra at the west campus auditorium, Friday, January 20, Conductor Marvin Silverman, also former student, announced yesterday.

The composition, Concerto Camera, for violin and string orchestra, features violin soloist, Stanley Plummer, concert master of the Pasadena Symphony Orchestra.

"This music," Silverman said, "is provided through the cooperation of Local 6 of the American Federation of Musicians, by way of a grant from the Music Performance Trust Fund of the American Phonograph industry."

The Music Performance Trust Fund is an extension of the original Recording and Transcription Fund set up by the American Federation of Musicians, under the leadership of James C. Petrillo, president.

The concert will be the third in a series originated this semester. The first concert featured Xenia Blair, violin soloist, and the second was highlighted by the appearance of Aileen Fealy, pianist.

Helen 'Sandy' MacKay

Results of Miss MacKay's campaign for vice-president will be determined by voting students today and tomorrow. Election booths will be open between 9 and 3 on Tuesday and Wednesday. Miss MacKay is running as an independent candidate.

Opera Workshop Holds Auditions Thursday

Choir and Opera Workshop auditions will be held this Thursday, January 19 at 3 p.m. in Building 1, Room C, Flossita Badger, director, announced recently.

Students wishing to try out for parts in Spring productions, which are Kurt Weill's contemporary American folk opera, Down in the Valley, and F. von Flotow's Martha, are expected to be at the auditions.

Spring '50 Program Schedule Processed

Spring semester schedules should be ready for distribution to students in approximately one week or ten days, Marcus Skarstedt, coordinator of division of instruction, said yesterday.

The schedules are in the process of being proof read, and the remaining time will be utilized by the printers to complete them, he said.

According to Skarstedt, quite a number of changes have been made in the schedules as a result of alterations in courses presented this semester.

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

1949 Member Associated Collegiate Press 1950

Represented for National Advertising by NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC. 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

681 Market Street, San Francisco

Volume XXIX, No. 20 TUESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1950 Page 2

High Adventure And Buried Treasure; See Story Below

BEFORE we go into the high adventure and buried treasure story we must mention that today and tomorrow are election days. This is the time when the students of the college have an opportunity to have their say in student government. Of course, few students bother to take advantage of this opportunity and this means the officers will again be elected by a minority.

We have said before that if the student government is a farce and a joke, as it sometimes is, it is not the fault of the students who take part in the government but rather it is the fault of those students who are indifferent.

It is ironic that those students who do not bother to vote, who take the least interest in elections, are the first ones to moan and cry when those elected do not do what they think is wise and right.

WE think that the value and worth of the student government is in direct proportion to the number of students who vote, and please remember they are going to be spending your money. The Guardsman does not take sides in any student election, but we do urge that all of the students spend a minute or two and vote. We feel sure that both the incumbent fraternity group and the new affiliated students for better student government would agree with the above statement.

At the risk of sounding pompous and too serious, we would still like to say that lack of interest and apathy are the greatest foes of democratic system. The responsibility of student government lies squarely in the hands of you, the students, and it is now up to you to prove yourselves worthy of this responsibility. It is your government. It is your money. Now what are you going to do about it?

The Adventure and Buried treasure? Well, we will bet that no one has ever read this far in an election editorial before. After all there is plenty of adventure in a student election, and, according to the financial figures on page one, our treasure is buried—but good.

Counterpoint: U. S. Policy Far Cry From Teddy's 'Big Stick'

By Walt Heil

BACK in the days of Teddy Roosevelt's administration in the White House during the early years of the century, the United States government backed up its citizens who were in trouble on foreign soil to the hilt.

If an American national was thrown into the pokey in some distant land, Roosevelt would send a warship into the harbor, land a platoon of marines and get the citizen out.

"BIG STICK"

Further, private enterprise overseas got a good deal of protection. They didn't call Roosevelt the "Big Stick" for nothing.

Things have changed somewhat since those days. The government got into business more and more and private enterprise became something of a myth.

Take for example, Hans Isbrandsen, an individualist of the old guard, who insists on doing business with the new regime in China. Time and time again his ships have run the Nationalist blockade into Chinese waters.

FORCEFUL LANGUAGE

When one of his ships was halted by a Nationalist destroyer, Isbrandsen screamed, "No darned Nationalist gunboat is going to stop our ships." Of course he used much more forceful language, but after all this is a college newspaper. Anyway, the other day one of his ships was stopped and shelled.

Did the government back this ship up? Did the administration send a warship to escort the steamer to a safe voyage? No, on both counts.

WARD CASE

Furthermore, take the case of Angus Ward, American Consul in China, who was held by the Communists for allegedly beating his Chinese servants. It took a great deal of pressure on the part of the American newspapers to get the administration to secure Ward's release from his Red jailers.

If all this had happened 40 years ago, Ward would have been rescued by U.S. warships and Inbrandsen could get his ships through the Nationalist blockade.

NO BUSINESS

However, the State Department has asked American shippers to refrain from doing business with the Chinese Communists and keep their ships out of the China shipping lanes. Individualist Isbrandsen refused to comply with the order and has been in hot water since.

Just wish that the government would ease its tight grasp on business and let businessmen trade with whom they darn well please. After all the country got along pretty well in the old days on the same lines.

Looking-Up . . . Modern Woman Moves To Usurp Last Rights Of Man: Annexation Of Street Car Seat

By Dick Briggs

WHEN Mrs. Raggio cried foul, mankind on campus suffered the ugliest smear since Elizabeth muddied Raleigh's coat in a rain puddle. Mrs. Raggio, an Ocean Avenue resident who rides streetcars regularly, wrote in a letter to The Guardsman, that "chivalry at City College is definitely defunct," all because masculinity fails to yield their seats to the ladies.

Campus males guarded their streetcar seats with glue-like tenacity during a recent K line ride, she said.

We are curious how Mrs. Raggio was aware that all seated male passengers on the K line were City College students. She didn't say. This isn't important, however, the major issue being that Mrs. Raggio's criticism is the greatest threat to mankind since Hitler and the introduction of bobby pins.

Her opinion is a perfect come on for further Woman's Protective League campaigns to increase woman's rights, which actually can't continue too far, man's rights having been unceremoniously stripped away. Relating to independence, woman has indirectly reduced man to peonage through the unfair subterfuge of a conquering smile and interesting figure.

Woman isn't content ruling the home; she's slowly reaching to grasp control in the business world. Since women won the right to vote, they've wiggled their way into man's sacred realm of politics, medicine, and wrestling, and not satisfied with these encroachments, they desire usurpation of man's almost last humble entitlement: The privilege of a streetcar seat, and a last row seat at that.

Woman wants man's sufferance, not sufferage.

Not only has woman muscled into business, but on the highways as well. When horse and buggies were popular, woman remained demure in a rear seat and travel was reasonably swift. But now, since woman moved behind the driver's wheel her best efforts snarl traffic.

Through "charming" men, modern woman has acquired more luxurious living than an Egyptian Pharaoh—a woman pharaoh. In this respect, according to many campus authorities on woman, she ranks in the highest dcelle of earthly creatures, while man rates somewhere between a mongoose and trap door spider—though even a trap door spider has more freedom than man.

From most people's viewpoint it looks like a rough ride, so hang onto your seats, boys. But all of us actually know that if a woman really wants our streetcar seats, she'll get it.

Spotlight: Flying Discs Real! Or Buck Rogers Meets The Martians

By Keith Gardner

SINCE True, The Man's Magazine, has already let the cat out of the bag, there's no reason why we shouldn't pass the big news along to those of you who haven't heard it yet.

The flying saucers are real!! No kiddin'.

Donald E. Keyhoe, in the latest issue of the aforementioned magazine, reveals the fact behind the recent flying saucer craze in what is no doubt a highly informative article. Frankly, we couldn't say. The first few pages were all we could take.

From the very start, Keyhoe's story has real punch. Get this:

"For the past 175 years the planet Earth has been under systematic, close-range observation by living, intelligent observers from another planet."

To a nation bred on the escapades of Buck Rogers that "living, intelligent observers" business can only mean one thing. Those guys are Men from Mars. No matter what Keyhoe or anybody else says those guys are from Mars, and they're after something.

Now the question is, just what are they after? Radar? The atom bomb? The formula for Coca-Cola? Frankly it doesn't seem very probable. If they've been keeping tabs on us for 175 years they know all that stuff already.

Having eliminated the scientific aspect, what else could the Martians be after? There's only one other possible answer. They want the girl who was kissing Buck goodbye on page 2 of last Sunday's comics. And they'll get her, too.

And so, as our hero goes into his rescue act, the Martians go into hiding, the nation goes into a state of emergency, and the writer of this column goes into a coma.

Just the other day, like a bolt from the blue, the answer to the flying saucers came to us. Next time you see a saucer, remove your glasses, polish them. Bingo! No more saucers. If you don't wear glasses try the same treatment on your corneas.

In conclusion, let us mention that True's article, like all those dealing with flying saucers, has one major fault. It's too factual. Why in the world doesn't a good fiction writer someone with experience in this sort of thing, latch on to this saucer business and write it up?

Hans Christian Anderson or the Grimm brothers, for instance.

Chronicle Writer To Speak Here

Jack Wallace of the San Francisco Chronicle staff will address the 9 o'clock Journalism 31 class tomorrow morning, on the topic, "The Death of a Newspaper."

As a newspaperman, Wallace recalls that it has been a little over ten years since the New York Telegram was taken into the fold of the New York World, and his discussion of the World's recent acquisition of a third newspaper, the New York Sun, is particularly timely.

This consolidation of three large newspapers into one has created a stir of nation-wide interest, both in and out of newspaper circles, and should prove an interesting topic for discussion in a beginning journalism class.

Wallace devotes his working time to the Special Services Department of The Chronicle; a department which is comparable to public relations, promotion, special events, feature writing and news reporting all rolled into one.

After his lecture, Wallace will answer questions raised by members of the class.

Students in the 8 o'clock class are invited to attend the lecture and participate in the discussions.

Phelan Estate To Give Music Award

According to a recent announcement by the Trustees of the Estate of Senator James D. Phelan, a $1,000 award is now offered in the field of music.

This award is made available annually under the terms of a bequest to bring about a further development of talent in California in the fields of literature, music, and art.

Noel Sullivan, speaking for the trustees, called attention to the fact that applicants for the award must be native born citizens of California, and must be between the ages of 20 and 40 years.

Entrants must present an example of their achievements, which include creative work in the field of symphony, chamber choral compositions, or opera.

Application forms may be obtained from the office of the James D. Phelan Award in Literature and Art, 820 Phelan Building, San Francisco 2, before March 15, 1950.

Quips About the Campus By Dayton Lawson

Town Within a Town: Hurley Village, one of the many campus communities located in the various college towns of the nation; a quaint mixture of barking dogs, exuberant kids making like the Lone Ranger and Dick Tracy, on days which should be strictly reserved for polar bears; the long line to wash you stumble into when you take the shortcut for that eight o'clock after getting off the bus; the curious feeling of "not belonging" which must envelope the wanderer who strays into the Gulliver-like sanctity of the tightly-knit community, especially when the make-shift Christmas trees decorate all four-square blocks, and holly runs rampant between the windows in quonset huts, as if to serve warning to the trespasser to take the Way Home . . . Hurley Village, a living testimonial to the gritty people who are successfully completing an education, while serving an apprenticeship in a family way . . . Late Flash: Dud Truelson, former CCSF cage star, is lending his talents to the House of Six Club.

John O'Looney, 1935 candidate for student pres., now a prominent Clement St. businessman. . . .

Graduating Sophs Wind Up Activities

By Paul Cooper

With graduation drawing near for many students of the college, the time has come for feverish last minute activities to begin. Many are striving to wind up their careers at City College with a bang.

Among these many prospective graduates one might find such a brilliant scholar as Barney Braintrust, currently pouring busily through his many, slightly dusty textbooks, so that he may not flunk out after such a long, brilliant collegiate career, an enviable eight semesters.

The graduating politicians are working very hard striving to get their worthy buddies into office so that their parties may live on in glory and that student government may receive proper guidance in their absence.

The campus clubs and organizations are busily planning and arranging term banquets and farewell parties to bid their departing brothers and sisters farewell, but not goodbye.

Excluding all their busy activities, the main affair for all the graduates and future graduates is the Soph Formal coming up on Saturday, January 28. This semi-annual affair, which has always been a success, and probably will always be the big affair of each semester, is expected to draw a goodly crowd this semester as usual.

Guardsman Staff — Fall, 1949

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... RICHARD JESENNAN
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Richard Gross
ASST. MANAGING EDITOR ..... Walt Reeving
ASST. MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rete Hardie
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Paul Cooper, Jo Ingham, Cyrus Donaldson, Robert Roberts Jackson, Dayton Lawson, Fra Terry Ryan, Adalphus Thomas, William Gene Van Dike, Dick Williamson.
NEWS: Robert Thorsen, editor; Ni Ben Galen, Georgia Watkins, Robe Robert Jones, Robert Kays, Ray Richard Lorrick, Sandra Marks, John John Spalding, Naomi Takahashi, Ro John Vanderbilt, Clarence Whitcan White, Larry Bales.
FEATURE: Walt Heil, editor; Keith Gar assistant.
SPORTS: Bob Quinlan, editor.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Richard Harrington, Cl Dillmore, Dick Steinheimer.
STAFF ARTIST: Eddie Mitsunaga.
BUSINESS: Barbara Low, manager; Norm Alicia Diaz.
ADVERTISING: George Kelly, manager, F Hart.
CIRCULATION: Jerry Unfder, manager.
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Classes, Hospitals, Keep Student Nurses Busy

By Roberta Jackson

Although the average student may feel that his program consists of too much work and too many classes, there is one group of students here at the college that can truly say what work and study involve.

These rare individuals are the women enrolled in the nurses training schools at various hospitals and who attend the college three days a week for the pre-nursing program offered in conjunction with hospital training programs.

Pre-nursing students from St. Francis, Franklin, French, and Mount Zion Hospitals attend courses in anatomy, physiology, and bacteriology from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays, and from 1 to 5 p.m. on Fridays in the main building. In addition, they have five or six courses at the hospitals and practical training work on top of all that.

Hospital classes are also held on Saturdays, while the average co-ed would never dream of attending class on a weekend.

The women reside in quarters provided by the respective hospitals, and are allowed only one free night per week, and Sunday as a day off.

After this period of intense training, the student-nurses may receive their caps, providing, of course, they pass their courses at City College.

Along with all this work they are required to study from 7 to 9 p.m., five nights a week. This studying is compulsory and there is no way of squirming out of it.

Ram Boxers Prepare For Opener

SEASONED VETERANS returning from last year's second place national two-year college boxing team are, left to right, Len Garcia, 125-pound runner-up in the national championship; Frank Sueuga, second place national heavyweight; Jerry Stein, national lightweight champion, all of whom will open their season against San Jose State at San Jose on Friday, January 27.

Pair Off With Spartans Set For First Matches Of Current Season

By Frank Monte

Preparing for their season debut against San Jose State at San Jose, Friday, January 27, Coach Roy Diederichsen's boxing squad conducted an informal match with the Moffat Field Flyers last Tuesday night in the men's gymnasium.

Although the bouts were staged mainly for conditioning with no decisions rendered, the locals showed that they are well ahead in both ability and conditioning at such an early stage of the season.

Veterans Len Garcia, 125, and Frank Sueuga, heavyweight, looked very impressive hitting their opponents, Fred Easely and Jim Ford at will, while displaying none of their lethal punches.

Returnee Louis Gage, 145, while meeting a larger foe, Ed Jacobs, 155, surprised Coach Diede- laser by unveiling rocking rights which shook Jacobs. Gage, last year, made use of his fast left-jabs and hooks, and at no time exhibited a powerful right.

John Brooks, 165, Bob Sorsenson, hvy, Len Gage, 130, Sigurd Jett, 155, Jim Keyes, 175, Tom Hahn, 145, and Dick Flore, 155, all demonstrated talents worthy of a varsity berth.

Looking to the San Jose engagement, in which the locals join with the Moffat Field Flyers to oppose San Jose State, the varsity is conducting daily training with all-intensive purposes centered on toppling the Spartans, strong men of the Pacific Coast.

With all men scheduled to fight, 25 will journey to San Jose. Because of the large number of bouts, some matches will take place in the afternoon, the major events will share the night spots.

The much awaited college Golden Gloves Tournament has definitely been postponed until the spring semester. The annual event matches the winners of the Intramural Novice Tourney against the seasoned veterans of the varsity.

No Coach, No Pool— No Swimming Team

Interested swimmers and former team members met with Coach Roy Burkhead last Wednesday and came to the conclusion that it would be impossible to pool a team next semester because of the lack of a practice pool and because Burkhead would not be able to coach them.

Last year's team took second place in the Northern California Junior College meet in a surprise climax to their season.

Four lettermen and several returnees will be without a sport this season. Al Nelson, Tom Tomlinson, Ron Cutler, and Terry Ryan were to return to the water.

No physical education credit would be issued for the sport in which all participants must practice every day. Burkhead will not coach because Jefferson pool cannot be rented next semester and the college will offer no swimming of any kind. He will probably coach wrestling.

It was advised that the team members and all interested swimmers go to a city club and get in the swim this season so as not to miss a complete year of the sport. Several teams offer good competition. The "Y", the Elks and the Olympic Club all swim complete seasons against college and junior college competition.

It was suggested by Nelson and Ryan that if swimmers could not compete for a complete season, perhaps they could go to the NCJC meet which will be held in Napa. Only if they had been swimming and turned in times that would assure placing in competition would the suggestion be given consideration however.

A meeting of all interested persons will be held in the near future to discuss the matter, and until such time as the college obtains a pool, swimming will probably not be offered.

Intra Volleyball To Begin This Afternoon

Six teams have been entered in intramural volleyball competition with play expected to start today, Director Tom Wilson announced.

Four different groups have been signed by the Balboa Alumni Association. They will play under squads named Blues, Bucs, Portola A.C., and Unknowns. The other two clubs are the River Rats and the Keiki Kanes.

The complete schedule has been posted on the bulletin board in the men's gymnasium. Games will be played in the afternoon in either the men's or women's gymnasium depending on facilities and time. Wilson urges all team managers to apply to him for playing dates and rules governing the games.

Volleyball is the last intramural sport of the semester. Customary awards will be presented to the winning teams, gold belt buckles for the winners and bronze medals for the runners-up.

Fischer — Ambassador Of Good Will

By Dayton Lawson

Those old Bells of St. Mary's clanged out in rich consonance some seventeen years ago, when one of Moraga's favorite sons was selected to the All-American squad of 1932.

They later chimed double-fortissimo when he was chosen to represent the West at the left guard position in the annual Shrine fitanie at Kezar. Fate put the whammy on the latter venture however, and Bill Fischer, sporting a scrimmage-incurred injury, observed that worthy classic from the sidelines. But the legend was beginning to take shape.

William "Big" Bill" Fischer, currently guiding the baseball destinies of the Phelan Avenue plant, is something more than a physical education instructor.

He could easily be catalogued as an Ambassador-of-Good-Will, insofar as the college is concerned; his extra-curricular activities include many engagements as guest speaker at various fraternal and social organizations, and since leaving St. Mary's he has held many offices of an informal nature, both within the city's athletic picture and without.

A glance at the record tells the story:

President of the Northern California Intercollegiate Football Association; President and Organizer of the San Francisco Coach's Organization; Freshman Football Coach under Red Strader at St. Mary's; Commerce High School Counsellor and Coach in 1936.

Coach Fischer has been offered many choice coaching berths in various parts of the nation during his teaching career, but has refused them in the belief that his future lies in the San Francisco Public School System.

Rams Win Pair, Seek Revenge Against Don Frosh Here Today

By Bob Gonealves

Hoping to secure revenge for their loss to the USF Frosh earlier in the season, the college basketball team will meet the Frosh squad in a return match this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the men's gymnasium.

Making the most out of two early season breathers, the squad romped to a pair of easy victories over the hapless teams of Hartnell and Monterey Peninsula Colleges last Friday and Saturday nights by scores of 67-38 and 69-36, respectively.

Monterey proved to be the tougher opposition of the week-end. Displaying very good teamwork and some fine plays, they managed to match the Ram attack point for point during the opening minutes of the contest, and were on the short end of a 12-9 score at the finish of the first quarter.

Beginning the second frame with a burst of unstoppable fury, the Red and White quintet meshed six fast baskets to pull ahead 26-11. This outburst seemed to be too much for the still game Lobos for they immediately began to fall apart at the seams, and ended the first half trailing 34-16.

During the second half of the tilt, Monterey slid still further behind in the scoring, although Coach Ralph Hillsman had taken his first team out of the game early in the third quarter, which ended with a 51-29 margin.

As if he planned to make a habit of it, Kev Duggan was again high point man for the Rams with 17 digits.

The Hartnell game proved to be an entirely different story, however. It was apparent from the outset of the fray that the Panthers would in no way give the Rams much trouble, and that fact was proven to be horribly true as the contest progressed.

Fully eight minutes had elapsed before the Salinas squad managed to register a field goal, and by that time the Red and White had established a comfortable 14-3 lead which they never relinquished.

Playing the remainder of the game with renewed energy, the Rams quickly built up the 33-19 half-time score to the final 67-38 margin.

Duggan was again high scorer for the winners with 23 tallies.

LEE JONES, outstanding moundsman from last season's Ram nine, will return to enhance Coach Bill Fischer's crew of two seasoned hurlers. Also back for duty is Bob McGovern, dependable chucker who won 2, lost 1 while fanning 21.

Counting veterans, Fischer will have "Hook" Arata back in the outfield. Lou Williams returns to defend his second base position. Williams was the Rams' leading slugger in '49, belting an impressive .522.

WAA Banquet Thursday At Sigmund Stern

The Women's Athletic Association will hold its annual banquet this Thursday from 4 to 10 p.m. at Sigmund Stern Grove, Loyola Vose, chairman of the affair, announced.

All women students are invited to attend the banquet which will be followed by games and entertainment highlighted by presentation of sports awards. Admission is 50 cents and tickets may be bought from any WAA member.

Tomorrow, Commerce and Poly will participate in volleyball games with WAA teams.

Propose Western Pact For Little Rose Bowl

RECENTLY there was a suggestion that the Little Rose Bowl, battlefront of junior college disputes, invite two western teams to meet in their main attraction at Pasadena in December.

This would set up an interesting proposal. Have the NCJC Conference send the winner of their North-South Playoff in Pasadena against the chosen superior of the Western States, Orange Empire, and Metropolitan Conferences.

Compton College is a member of the WSC, which is the strongest league in the Los Angeles area. The Metropolitan is the thinnest.

The Pacific Coast Conference is merged in a post season Rose Bowl contract with the Big Ten, which does not expire until 1951. The games have been a success to date and the contract is presently up for re-signing.

California's junior college conference could follow the general pattern of the Big Ten-PCC agreement and organize an annual battle between the NCJCC winner and one of the three Southern Conference teams.

RAMblings...

By Gene Van Dyke

Added honors were received by famous and fabulous Eddie Le Baron when COP campus authorities judged the T wizard's four-year caper in a Bengal football uniform deserving of a lasting tribute. So the school will preserve Le Baron's fame by retiring his No. 40 jersey from future Pacific gridiron use.

Sounds like a noble and fitting custom to adopt here at the college. The romping jersey numeral of Ollie Matson would have been a natural to start the ball rolling.

Le Baron's Jersey Becomes Memorial

Le Baron added fortune to his fame and fable when he accepted $343 for participation in the North-South Senior Bowl played at Jacksonville, Florida and topped it off when the City of Lodi presented him with a television set, repeater rifle, and fountain pen. Gifts coming from Stockton included a new Studebaker convertible and a diamond ring.

Nice start in professional football for someone who has yet to complete his senior year in college.

Ilene Carroll
For Your Suits
By
Rosenblum of Calif.
Pink - Aqua - Coral
Powder Blue
1600 Ocean Ave. - JU 7-4151

Cole's
City College
Barber Shop
Your Hair is Your Best Asset
Keep It Neat!
Across from West Campus

Keep Alert!
For Health & Recreation
Bowl at
Johnny Swanson's
MISSION BOWL
3140 Mission St.
A. S. Card Rate—25¢
Week Days

ROBIN HOOD'S
The fountain of distinction
Known both near and far,
For quick, friendly service
And food that's way above par.
Featuring
Shakes
Sundaes
Sodas
Sandwiches
Next Door to the
El Rey Theatre
Free Parking at Rear
1962 Ocean Ave.

Legal Secretaries
Short Intensive Professional Course
Next Class Begins Wednesday Evening, Feb. 1, 1950
Instructor—Arthur F. Edwards, Prominent San Francisco Attorney
For Information or Bulletin, Telephone or Write
GRACE BALL SCHOOL
58 Sutter EXbrook 2-5232

Student Store Example Seen In State's Co-Op

By Bob Jones

Comparative facts about the college's new student store and the on-campus store at San Francisco State College give an indication of what City College students may expect in the future.

Sally Wilde, store manager at State College, said that their store is owned and operated by the associated students. So far, plans are proposed to start a similar operation here.

All profit made by the State College's store is put into a fund provided for the financing of a new student store to be located on the future campus, near Lake Merced, Miss Wilde said.

Profits Balance Budget

Designed to benefit the Associated Students in a like manner, profits from City College's store may be used to make up any deficiencies in the budget. At any rate, students will receive the benefit of any profit.

Although no definite location has been decided upon, it is quite possible that the college's store will be established somewhere on the west campus, and later relocated in the student union building when the Balboa Park campus is completed. State College's store is on the basement floor of the administration building.

"Good service is our slogan," Miss Wilde said. City College's store, like the one at State College, will be operated upon a principle of convenience to the students.

Limited Store Here

According to statements by President Louis G. Conlan, the proposed store will not be able to begin operations on the scale now employed at other college stores. The college's store will sell classroom supplies as offered at State, but will not be able to provide text books or stationery. Students here will not be able to purchase, at first, such items as trade and reference books, shower gifts or greeting cards; nor will athletic equipment or novelties, plus the other items offered at State's store, be made available to City College students.

"Most of the college stores in operation now, even the larger ones, had to begin business on a limited scale," President Conlan said.

According to Miss Wilde, during the Easter and Christmas seasons, State's store increases the number of gift items on hand. The students may purchase objects of jewelry, linen, silver or any of the items referred to before. These are all of good quality, and yet within the student's price range, she added.

1,200 Students Served

There are about 1,200 veteran students handled each semester by the store at San Francisco State College, with each receiving approximately $45 worth of merchandise. In an earlier interview, F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of the division of student welfare here, said there are 1,100 veterans attending City College.

"State College provides the items that are in demand. Whatever items we choose to present for sale to the students must be what they want," the store manager said.

At State College, several types of kits are prepared months in advance to the rush period at the beginning of each semester, to facilitate the rapid handling of sales. Each type of kit contains binders, binder paper, and other items considered necessary to the student, but each varies from the others as to the quantity of each item. Students then have a selection of which kit they feel will best serve their needs; and if none will, they may purchase separate articles instead, Miss Wilde explained.

Products Below List Price

All text books must be sold at the list price, because the Fair Trades Act so stipulates. This law was enacted in order to avoid an unfair competition to private business, Miss Wilde stated. However, other products, not controlled by this law, are sold below the list price.

The San Francisco State College store is operated under a manager, Miss Wilde, with the remainder of its personnel made up of associated students.

Women Students Urgently Needed In Offices; Blood Donors' Aid Asked

Professional blood donors interested in giving one pint of blood are requested to report to the placement office this week, Joseph Amori, placement director, announced today.

Only students who have given blood before are needed in this call, Amori said.

Students must bring their Record of Donation card when applying with the placement office.

The Irwin Memorial Blood Bank will pay $25 per pint to the blood donors, Amori said.

A three months waiting period between blood donations is requested for all professional blood donors, Amori added.

Amori also announced that women students are urgently needed by business offices on a part-time or full-time basis.

Clerk-typists and stenographers are needed by business offices, and the range of pay is from $150-$185 for typists to $185-$200 per month for stenographers, he said.

Part-time held is still on the decrease in most lines of work, but there are a few openings for trained part-time personnel, Amori added.

The graduating class is requested to report to the placement office if they desire full-time employment immediately after graduation, Amori continued.

Many good over-seas positions are still open for students who desire government employment.

Positions Open For Photography Models

Qualified women students who desire a chance to become professional models now are offered an opportunity for training.

Beverly Pasqualetti of the photography department said yesterday that he had received a request from a commercial photography studio for applicants to train as models.

The main requirement is that applicants are between 5 feet 4 inches and 5 feet 7 inches in height.

Pasqualetti can be reached in Building 9 on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, between 9 and 10 a.m.

Students Prepare For Coming Garden Show

Students of the floriculture class are making preparations for the Annual Garden Show to be held in Oakland next spring, John Lawrence, flower shop instructor, said yesterday.

Actual work on the display arrangements begins in two weeks, he added. Floriculture and Flower Shop students will work together.

Shaw's Play Opens Thursday

Admission Raised To Balance Budget

By Gene Kelly

The curtain opens on the second Fall semester presentation by the City College Little Theater, George Bernard Shaw's pungent comedy, You Never Can Tell, next Thursday night at 8:15 p.m. in Room 28. The play will run through Wednesday night, with the exception of Sunday.

Tickets may be obtained at the student bank. Because of increased expenses, the prices have been raised to 25 cents to members of the Associated Students and 90 cents to non-members.

Shaw's burlesque of manners and morals sends boy chasing girl through the properties of Victorian England to both the consternation and approval of the onlookers.

Paul Ellison, director, said recently that Shaw's skillfully drawn characters and his command of the English language would furnish a most enjoyable evening to all who attend the play.

The cast includes both newcomers and veterans to Little Theater histrionics. Jane Howarth as Mrs. Clandon, the outspoken advocate of women's rights, is familiar to all who enjoyed Much Ado About Nothing; Vivian Breslin as her daughter Gloria also enacted a prominent roll in Much Ado.

Jerry Pozzi, who portrays Valentine, the "Duellist of Sex," has never before taken part in a college production, nor has Camilla Justesen as the boisterous Dolly. Ed Mulvihill, a veteran, enacts the part of her twin brother, Phil.

Eugene Carlson, a more than capable actor who gained his experience in several other Little Theater productions, is cast as Finch McComas, while Mervyn Murphy and Dick Vreeland have the roles of the irascible Crampton and William, the johnny-on-the-spot waiter, respectively. Sidney Brakey, Kenneth Wilson and Jeanette Daniel round out the cast.

VICTORIAN ENGLAND comes to the Little Theater here Thursday night when the College Players open the curtains for six performances of the great Shaw's You Never Can Tell.

Above, in an early scene (a dentist chair, yet!) are Jerry Pozzi as Valentine, Jane Howarth as Mrs. Clandon, and Ed Mulvihill as Phil. —Photo by Steinheimer.

Williamson

Round 'n About

Clubs Snow Bound, But Few Carry On

By Paul Cooper

The over-abundance of snow, that soft, white, fluffy stuff, in California, seems to have snowed-in campus social activities, but a few of the local social outfits have announced coming clambakes.

Speaking of snow, incidentally, the Ski Rams apparently have not yet gotten their fill of it, for the organization is planning to compete in the annual Junior College Championship Races, sponsored by the Auburnas Club, at Cisco Grove. The survivors of the first excursion of the current slush season on January 7, will be entered in the various contests, such as jumping, down-hill skiing, cross-country skiing, and distance racing in addition to the other usual flip-flop events.

The social committee of the college chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, announces that the frat's term feed is to be held at the Will King restaurant, 18th and Geary, at 7 p.m. this Friday. Paul Chong, elected the spring semester president, will emcee the affair. The Gamma Gamma chapter of the University of California has received an open invitation. Don't gorge yourselves boys!

While on the feed subject, it might be worthy to mention that The Guardsman staff members will feed their faces a little one week from tomorrow at the intimate Ripley's (believe it or not) Restaurant.

Recently the Zeta Chi sorority sisters were surprised and very happy to learn of the engagements of Joan Talbot to Bliss Hill (where's that?) and Margo Shaw to Fred Jackson. Miss Shaw will be wed in the Spring while Miss Talbot will tie the knot in August.

Following these sensational announcements, the women adjourned to the Hotel Claremont, high atop the lovely Berkeley hills, where a wonderful dinner-dance was enjoyed by all.

The Jazz Band Ball held last Wednesday night at the S.F. Civic Auditorium, was well attended by students of the college, or at least by members 45 and 88 of the Bayside Jazz Society.

Dick Williamson will be back scribbling next time. Toodle..

There were 241 Associate in Arts degrees awarded in 1939 to City College graduates.

RAM SHACK
Out to Ocean
Over yonder.
That's the path
You should wander.
For
MEL'S SPAGHETTI
Across From West Campus

WESTWOOD PARK FRENCH LAUNDRY
Quality Dry Cleaning Service
We Specialize in SHIRTS!
1031 Ocean Avenue
Opposite West Campus

JOHN HASKETT STUDIO
Artists — Photographers
For Fine Portrait Photography
1903 Ocean Avenue
JU 7-3639

You Can Be What You Wish To Be A Little Extra Effort Is the Price
Your desire to be successful is answered by training in one of the courses listed below. A little extra effort to make the break, to go forward spells the price of success. The way generally opens when the right effort is put to work. HEALDS: 86 years of Business Training.
A Heald Business Course will help you win your goal
☐ GENERAL BUSINESS ☐ BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION
☐ PRIVATE SECRETARIAL ☐ MODERN OFFICE MACHINES
☐ HIGHER ACCOUNTANCY ☐ EXECUTIVE SECRETARIAL
☐ STENOGRAPHIC ☐ SPECIAL BRUSHUP
Write or phone ORdway 3-5500 for your Catalog
"THE TREND IS TOWARDS THE TRAINED"
APPROVED FOR VETERANS
DAY SCHOOL HEALDS NIGHT SCHOOL
BUSINESS COLLEGE
Van Ness at Post St. • Phone ORdway 3-5500 • San Francisco
2090 BROADWAY Oakland Phone HIgate 4-0201
9TH AND J STREETS Phone Gilbert 2-4924 Sacramento
10 NOTRE DAME Phone Columbia 1340 San Jose

MELODY FOUNTAIN & RESTAURANT
BREAKFAST - LUNCHES - DINNERS
1641 Ocean Ave. JUniper 7-9802
Sandwiches and Ice Cream to Take Out

Coeds!
Make Your Own Clothes!
Study Dressmaking & Tailoring
For that New Look
We Specialize in Buttonholes & Alterations
A Representative of Westinghouse Dressmaking School
ELEANOR'S SEWING CENTER
1418 Ocean Avenue Phone DElaware 3-9204

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP
CUSTOM MADE HAIR CUTS
1334 Ocean Avenue
2 blocks from campus

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

VOLUME XXIX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—FRIDAY, JANUARY 20, 1950 NUMBER 21

College Hour Schedule
8 o'clock classes— 8:10 to 8:50
9 o'clock classes— 9:00 to 9:40
10 o'clock classes— 9:50 to 10:30
College Hour—10:40 to 11:20
11 o'clock classes—11:30 to 12:10
12 o'clock classes—12:20 to 1:00

CLOSE RACE AND CONGRATULATIONS, says Armand Magid, Affiliated Party candidate, to IFC nominee and new Associated Student President, Don Parker. Parker compiled a sizeable lead to defeat Magid handily, 387-214.—Photo by Steinheimer.

Parker Leads IFC To Presidency, 10 Council Posts As 641 Cast Ballots

Sudden challenge by the new Affiliated Students Party to end IFC domination of campus politics was repulsed during elections Wednesday, when the fraternity group swept 16 of 21 government positions in one of the lightest votes in campus history.

A total of 641 votes was registered as Donald Parker, IFC presidential nominee, polled 387 votes to defeat Armand Magid, Affiliated candidate, with 214 votes.

Sandy MacKay, only elected Independent candidate, won over Mary Ann Johnston, IFC choice, 379 to 211 as vice-president.

With the exception of Miss MacKay's victory for the vice-presidency, all other executive positions were won by the IFC.

They are as follows: Norman Reger (unopposed) 326, was elected AMS President; Jeanne McKnew, 103, AWS President; William Rosia (nopposed), 467, Soph President; Larry Ross, 300, Frosh President; and Richard Ganzert (unopposed) 480, yell-leader.

In the Frosh Council, the IFC swept six of the seven available positions. Marjorie Bergsef, Pete Chevrier, Louis Guevara, Lee Janover, Joseph Schwab, and Stan Seaman were nominated from the IFC ticket, while Ralph Vitterlein was the lone candidate elected from the Affiliated ticket.

Voting for Soph Council seats was tight, but in a close race the IFC dominated by winning four of the seven seats. IFC winners were James Anderson, Frank Boyd; Ann McBride, and James Reed. Those elected from the Affiliated Party were Joan Marenda, Patty Patterson, and Robert Tyson.

Concerned over the light vote, Election Commissioner Curtis May commented, "Though the women vote was unusually small, they appear to have swung the election by voting a straight party ticket." Men voters seemed to vote with little regard for either party."

All amendments passed but one, pertaining to the yell leaders' class standing. (Complete returns page 4.)

VICTORY SMILE for vice-presidential winner Sandy MacKay, had special significance in that Miss MacKay was the only Independent candidate to win in the election.

Symphony Forum Sponsors Orchestra Concert Today

A 25-piece professional orchestra, provided by the American Federation of Musicians, presents a concert in the auditorium during college hour, 10:40 a.m., today, according to Meyer Cahn, college orchestra and band director.

This is the third in a series of concerts at the college this semester, sponsored by the Symphony Forum. Marvin Silverman, former student, will conduct the orchestra, and the program includes an original concerto written by another former student, Robert Cumming.

Silverman, in a statement to The Guardsman last week, said that a large percentage of the musicians who are to play for the concert are regular members of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, so those attending may expect the very best in orchestration.

Conductor Silverman was student band director and editor of the annually published literary magazine, The Forum.

Cumming, also a past music major here, was graduated in 1944.

The music is provided through the cooperation of Local 6 of the American Federation of Musicians through a grant from the Music Performance Trust Fund of the American Phonograph Industry. The Music Performance Trust Fund is an extension of the original Recording and Transcription Fund set up by the American Federation of Musicians, James C. Petrillo, president.

Features other than Cumming's original concerto include Quartet for Oboe and Strings (transcribed for string orchestra) by Wolfgang Mozart, with, soloist Raymond Duste; Scherzo from the String Octet, by Mendelssohn; and Fantasia on a Theme of Thomas Tallis, by Ralph Vaughan-Williams.

New Parking Permits Will Be Numbered

Campus parking permits will be numbered next semester to give the campus police a list of owners, Edwin C. Browne, dean of men, announced today.

The new arrangement will improve the parking facilities and help the campus police keep check on car owners, Browne said.

Following last semester procedure, numbers will be drawn by the Student Council to determine who can use the available parking facilities.

Entering freshmen will not be able to use the campus parking facilities, Browne added.

There is room for 450 or 500 cars on the two west campus parking areas.

College Heads Give Advice On Finances

College administrators, interviewed by Guardsman reporters following Controller Oscar Anderson's budget survey given to the Student Council January 12, offered constructive opinions yesterday to remedy the financial crisis facing the Associated Students.

President Louis G. Conlan stated, "I never like to see the Associated Student reserve fund so low. There are two things that can be done at present to keep the fund alive—cut down the amount allocated to activities, and increase revenue. Next semester I would like to see Associated Student membership greatly increased."

Edwin C. Browne, dean of men, said:

"It is unfortunate that an inheritance should be spent without regard for the second generation.

"If a man dies and leaves a substantial reserve fund it hardly shows appreciation for the heirs to spend it all in one fell swoop.

"A reasonable reserve should be maintained to care for emergencies.

"A constitutional amendment should be passed stating that a reserve fund be maintained."

Lonis Batmale, assistant dean, said:

"I think that it is a challenge to the Associated Students. If they want to increase their program they must have more revenue. This can be done by having 100 per cent Associated Student membership at the college.

"I believe it is desirable to have more student activities, but unless revenue is increased, we will not even be able to maintain those we now have."

Bids Now On Sale At Student Bank For Traditional Sophomore Formal

Climaxing this fall semester's social calendar, the traditional Sophomore Formal is scheduled Saturday, January 28, with bids now on sale at $2.00 per couple at the student bank.

The Scottish Rite Auditorium in Oakland is the spot chosen for the affair, with the Kearns-Ticoulat Orchestra supplying the musical arrangements.

Tuxedos are the attire for men, but dark suits may be worn if desired, Bob Ryan, sophomore president, announced. The no-corsage rule is lifted for this dance and placed on an optional basis, he added.

Feature attraction of the evening will be the coronation of the Sophomore King and Queen, whose names, following protocol, are withheld until the dance. They will be presented perpetual trophies and loving cups at that time.

Steeped in tradition, the Soph Formal had its inception in the fall semester of 1940, when the graduating sophomores had a gala week of fun climaxed by the formal prom and the election of the "sophomore sweetheart."

In the fall of 1945 the position of king was added to the ballot so that the male members of the class would get a chance at the glory that goes with the honor.

It was also at this time that Beta Tau fraternity first presented its perpetual trophy to the queen, while Theta Tau sorority awarded a perpetual trophy to the king for the first time, a tradition which accompanies the formal, even today.

Sale Of 1949 Ram Pages Set As Job For New Student Council Committee

A proposal made to the Student Council that a committee be set up to dispose of last year's Ram Pages with the price to be left up to the discretion of the committee, was approved last Tuesday by an 11 to 1 vote.

There are more than 500 old yearbooks left, Controller Oscar Anderson said, and the space is vitally needed for storage. Practically anything that students are able to pay beats the space they take up, he concluded.

Although the committee hasn't decided what the established asking-price for the Ram Pages will be, the general assumption is about $1.50.

Dean Louis Batmale said that post cards will be sent out to all new students entering the college next semester, urging them to bring $5.00 for Associated Student membership.

San Francisco Garden Club Fetes Competitors For Award At Luncheon

At a luncheon here yesterday for the San Francisco Garden Club, four floriculture students competing for the Alice Eastwood Award, were formally introduced by Harry E. Nelson of the floriculture department.

The luncheon was held for Alice Eastwood, retired botanist of the Academy of Science in Golden Gate Park, in whose honor the annual award is presented by the Garden Club.

The four students introduced at the luncheon were Donald Baum, Herman Chow, Robert Franklin, and Frank Hilton. They were chosen by the floriculture instructors on the basis of scholarship, interest, and ability in that field of work, and recommended to the board of directors of the Garden Club for the award.

Announcement of the winner will be made at a later date, and the award will be presented during commencement exercises, Nelson said.

The Alice Eastwood Award amounts to $100 a year, payable each semester. It was won last year by William Irvine Jr., who still attends the college.

Clubs Meet Today; Twin Movies Set

College hour is scheduled at 10:40 a.m. today, Louis Batmale, dean of student activities, announced recently.

This being the final club meeting hour of the semester, it offers the last opportunity for clubs to wind up their current affairs and make plans for next semester, Batmale added.

A double feature movie is a second highlight of today's college hour. The movies, Winter in Switzerland, and G.I.'s in Switzerland, are scheduled for presentation by the audio visual aids department.

These Swiss films, obtained through the courtesy of the Swiss Consulate in San Francisco, are reported to be in great demand everywhere and have been shown at numerous universities throughout the country.

Madison Devlin, audio visual aids department head, commented on the realistic scenes, and he declared that the film is every student's opportunity to visualize a trip through Switzerland.

Highlight of "Winter in Switzerland" is an outstanding presentation of the recently held Olympic Games.

A Swiss book exhibit, in conjunction with these films, is currently being shown in the library.

Talented Cast Wins Praise For Production Of Shaw Comedy

By Gene Kelly

The first performance of You Never Can Tell, directed by Paul Ellison, was given last night by the Little Theater Players, and if audience reaction is any yardstick, George Bernard Shaw's clever comedy was an undeniable success.

Jane Howarth, Vivian Breslin, and Eugene Carlson were outstanding in a cast that was consistently good.

The approval of the audience became apparent early in the first act, and its interest in the sprightly situations and brilliant banter never flagged to the final curtain. Shaw's dialogue was consistently punctuated by laughter from the audience as his characters threaded their way through a series of intriguing complications.

Jerry Pozzi, despite a tendency to close his eyes, did a fine job with the difficult role of Valentine, particularly with his monologue comparing the "duel of sex" to the manufacturers of cannon balls and armor plate, while Miss Breslin was consistently convincing as the strait-laced and occasionally befuddled Gloria.

Miss Howarth repeated her success established in Much Ado About Nothing. As Mrs. Clandon, the suffragette, her attempts to shield her daughter from the pitfalls of romance only help submerge her deeper in emotional hot water.

Camilla Justesen and Ed Mulvihill were well cast as the waggish Clandon twins, Dolly and Phil. Both handled their interlocking lines with the aplomb of seasoned veterans.

Carlson as McComas, the ineffectual lawyer, and Mervyn Murphy as Crampton, the long-lost father, were particularly impressive. Both have fine resonant voices, well suited to the stage. Dick Vreeland as the diplomatic waiter also carried his theatrical burden without bending.

Sidney Brakey, Jeanette Daniel, and Kenneth Wilson rounded out the talented cast.

Five more performances are scheduled nightly through Wednesday, with the exception of Sunday. Tickets which may be obtained at the student bank, are priced at 25 cents to Associated Student members and 90 cents to non-members.

Social Calendar Bids Due Next Wednesday

Deadline for turning in bids for dates on the activities calendar during the Spring semester is 12 o'clock Wednesday, January 25, Ronnie Morrison, Associated Student vice-president, announced yesterday.

Bids should be placed in the Associated Student mail box or left in the student office, she said, adding that those received on time will be given first preference.

A President's meeting will be held at 3 p.m. on Thursday, January 26, in Room 2B for all incoming and outgoing officers of clubs and organizations in order to make final arrangements for the calendar, Miss Morrison said.

The Guardsman

Official Twice-Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

1949 Member Associated Collegiate Press 1950

Represented for National Advertising by NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.

681 Market Street, San Francisco — 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Volume XXIX, No. 21 — FRIDAY, JANUARY 20, 1950 — Page 2

Reflections On Highlights Of Closing Fall Semester

WITH this, the next to the last issue of the semester, we would like to reflect on some of the highlights of the semester now drawing to a close.

What with one thing and another it has been a hectic semester. We started this trip without our skipper, Miss Nourse, and the first few issues were published under pressure. The lights in The Guardsman office were burning late in those days as the student staff worked overtime trying to turn out a creditable newspaper.

This extra work was rewarded by a sympathetic and understanding student council who voted an investigating committee to "find out what was wrong with The Guardsman." We, of course, reacted to this in kind, and the fun began. However these differences were reconciled and in the end it was decided that the editorial staff should edit the student newspaper, and the student council should concern itself with student council business.

After that, with relations on much better terms, a touch football game was organized between the council members and The Guardsman staff. Modesty forbids our telling who won, but everybody agreed that it was the worst touch football game ever played. Some said that it was almost bad enough to finish the sport for good.

AN indication of the new friendly relationship is a letter recently received from Associated Student President, Harry Williams.

"In the past semester the squabbles between The Guardsman and the student council have been many, but we have both worked towards the same end—the advancement of student affairs at City College.

"If it hadn't been for you and your staff, interest in student activities might have been permitted to die. Instead of dying, that interest has gained momentum, and the Associated Students will benefit from your criticisms. The right of freedom of the press has been exercised and we, the students, deeply appreciate your efforts in our behalf.

"In closing, I'd like to say on behalf of the student council and myself, thanks for keeping us on our toes."

Counterpoint: USF-Cal Play Next Season; David And Goliath?

By Walt Heil

THERE was great and unbounded joy on the hilltop of the University of San Francisco recently when mighty California condescended to play a game of football with the Dons next season.

The reason for the happiness was, of course, the fact that the Dons had crashed Cal's schedule for the first time since 1943. Furthermore, another apparent reason for the joy that prevailed in the Don camp was that USF will have a fair chance to beat the Bears.

POSSIBLE UPSET

California will lose some 26 seniors through graduation next June and will be rebuilding after two consecutive Rose Bowl appearances. It is quite evident that the Dons could upset the Bears, even though it is far too early to tell for sure.

All this came about recently when the University of Idaho booted Cal off its 1950 schedule. California officials went looking for a suitable foe for their team and came up with the Dons.

At a first glance this would seem to be an ideal setup for both colleges. Fans will now get a chance to see how the Dons will fare against a Pacific Coast Conference team of some stature. Ollie Matson, former City College star, will be on hand to help draw the crowd with his spectacular runs and the game itself is a Bay Area natural.

SAME DAY

However, after examining the schedules of some of the other colleges in the Bay Area we found that Stanford will play Army at Palo Alto that same Saturday.

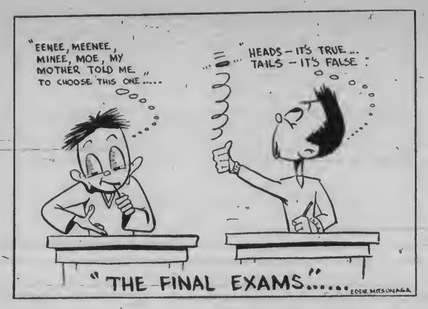
Now where will the greater amount of fans go? Our guess is that they will flock to the Farm.

We say all this without taking a thing away from USF. Our guess is that the Dons will lure more fans through the portals of Memorial Stadium than Idaho ever would.

Further, the football fortunes of USF are looking up. They play a game with Fordham in New York, giving the all important New York football writers a chance to see them and especially Matson.

MATSON'S CHANCE

It is in the Gotham that most of the All American teams are chosen and if Matson should have a good day against the Rams (Fordham version), we would think he would be in line for some kind of recognition.



At any rate, it will be interesting to see how the Dons do against the Bears come November 18.

Quips About the Campus

By Dayton Lawson

Rustles of Spring: That big puddle at the South Gate, the west campus' answer to Stow Lake, resembled a feather merchant's convention last Monday as the annual armada of blackbirds, fresh from points south, met up with a flying platoon of mallards and bluebills at about 2 o'clock high. Disregarding that old saw about birds of a feather, both parties peeled off and came in low in twin formation, whereupon they proceeded to splash around like crazy, and knock themselves out in general.

When the bath was completed, the ducks took off in the direction of Golden Gate Park, while their dusky playmates transferred their maneuvers to the lawn in front of Bldg. 2, giving the worms no chance to run for cover. . . . A morning strictly for the BIRDS. . . . Short Quote: Walter Daniel Patrick McCahen, Horticulture major and runner-up in the Ocean Ave. pinball derby, claims that on such floody days as we've had this week, even a man's best friend is a MUDDER! . . .

Even Chance Given In Objective Exams

Much advice has been given to the college student on applying the art of studying for final examinations, but whether this advice has ever been taken seriously is another matter.

Often students drag into a classroom "cold" with only a meager, smattering knowledge of what the course is all about.

The only hope for this situation is an objective test—a test that gives the student a chance for survival. True and False questions can be answered by flipping a coin as the picture indicates; or with multiple choice questions there are various rituals that can be employed to guess the correct answer, providing that the right one is applied.

Photo Award

Dick Harrington Wins First Prize

By Cy Donaldson

"All it took was correct timing, the right subject and composition, and the opinion of the judging officials to enable Dick Harrington (pictured below) to capture first place award in the color division of the 1949 world-wide Graflex photography contest.

First place honors included a check for $350 and a certificate indicating his accomplishment.

Harrington, a photography major at the college, was first notified of an award on December 24, but did not know the amount of the award until last Friday.

Harrington entered the contest, sponsored by Graflex Photographic Supplies Inc., with a shot entitled "Into the Fog," which he took with his 4 x 5 Speed Graphic press camera, depicting the Golden Gate Bridge partially enveloped in fog.

A total of $5000 was distributed in the contest which involved two sections—a black and white section and a color section. The black and white division was separated into three distinct entries—teen-agers, semi-professional, and professional.

Harrington, a staff photographer for The Guardsman, graduated from Washington High in the city and expects to graduate from the college in June, 1950. He is a licensed photographer and will continue his chosen profession after graduation.

Spotlight: Approaching Finals Bring Review Of Year's Mistakes

By Keith Gardner

IT won't be very long now before final grades are distributed—a pretty good synonym for the term "the kiss of death."

So, since it's way too late to correct this semester's many mistakes, let's concern ourselves with how to keep the same thing from happening all over again.

To begin with, let's all start a general return to punctuality. Psychologically speaking, it's bad for an instructor's ego when students walk in late every day. Destroys their self-confidence and all that sort of thing. So remember, always go to class on time, be polite to your instructor, and feed him Strongheart twice a day:

STUDYING

The next thing to worry about is studying itself. While most students follow the "night before mid-terms" theory, the intelligensia among us study religiously every night. One of the college's outstanding students, Nick Intelligensia, confirmed this when he said:

"I study religiously every night. I also study historiously and sociliously." May we all take some sort of lesson from this.

EXAMS

As our third problem for today let's discuss exams. Examination, as Webster puts it, "is the general term for testing or searching . . .; to try or test, as by question, as by a student." From personal experience, we can safely state that the whole thing is a pack of lies. An exam is pure torture, brother, and that's all there is to it.

Another important factor in getting good grades is note-taking. Having concise, legible notes at one's fingertips is an invaluable aid in studying. Looking back through this semester's notes we find thirty-seven libelous sketches of instructors, sixteen different ways of signing our own name, and the first draft of this column. Truly a collector's item to anyone willing to bid high enough.

RESULTS?

Incidentally, if there's any reader of this twice-weekly treatise who would like to follow the above rules; study hard, be punctual to class, and take accurate notes, we'd be interested in learning the results.

A Steal?

Broken Down Auto Up For Sale Here

You dial ANdover 1-6909 in the dead of night. Who answers?

Sam Spade? Bugs Bunny? Or possibly General of the Armies MacArthur?

No doubt a conversation with any of these characters would prove interesting to most students. At the present time it is highly unlikely that they would answer ANdover 1-6909.

Instead you hear the ringing voice of a super-used-car salesman whose greatest claim to fame is that he owns a 1937 Plymouth (complete with battery) which he is trying to peddle to the nearest buyer. This young man, Rick Hastings, attends City College.

As a student, he is privileged to post advertisements on the bulletin board in the main building. His most recent ad went something like this:

"Plymouth, '37. Windshield wiper on right works like a bunny, two tires are gone—the other two are going, burns two gallons of oil a week, roof leaks, upholstery shot, paint job is a regurgitating green, rumbling muffler, windows are opaque, BUT BRAKES ARE AMAZING! A steal at $1,000.00."

This car obviously must have some attraction to demand such a high price. Rick (shorty for rickety), says this car is distinctive; it isn't duplicated anywhere, it is an original, and above all, it has personality.

Naturally, he adds, this car isn't for the average car owner. To the student who would like to be different, who would like to have people stop and stare, this car will fulfill his wildest dreams.

Now go ahead and call ANdover 1-6909.

Looking-Up . . . Ancient Sages' Lost History Of City College Basketball Uncovered; Decyphering Needed

By Dick Briggs

AS preparation for a final in "phonehead" Hieroglyphics 5a —prerequisite to Sandskrit 21a —we have delved into the ancient writings of the sages on campus, and through meticulous decyphering of age-old Guardsmans (13 years), the history of basketball at City College was uncovered. And the story shows, to wit:

From Guardsman records, in 13 seasons of practice and conference play, the cagers have won 113 games and lost 85. The all-time point totals reveal the Rams scored 8,033 points to their opponents' 7,478 which converts to an average 40 points scored for City College against their adversaries' 37.

HIGH AVERAGE

The 40 point averages indicates creditable basketball considering scores of the last decade were usually in the middle 30's.

Highest recorded score in conference play was registered last season when the Rams defeated San Mateo 77-50, and Monterey 71-44. In 1946 the cagers easily outscored Salinas 70-43.

Evaluating conference games only, the Rams have won 622 per cent of all contests, or 79 of 129 contests.

SAN MATEO CINCH

Easiest opponent for the Rams has been San Mateo, whom City College defeated in 18 of 22 contests. In 13 skirmishes the cagers have gained 11 victories from Santa Rosa and are tied 8-8 with Modesto.

The Rams found trouble in games with San Francisco State College, defeating the Gators in only four out of 10 contests. Against Marin College the varsity has won five games in 15, and five of 12 games opposing Menlo. The cagers hold a one-game edge over Sacramento, 8-7.

TITLE FIRST SEASON

Only two league championships in a 13-year period were won by the college. One, during the team's first conference season, in 1936, and the second last season.

Top record for the college basketball teams was established last season when the cagers won 30 contests, lost two, and took the league title, and the Modesto Elimination Basketball Tourney Championship.

HIGH SCORERS

The 1930 champions disposed of 16 opponents and lost 4, in outscoring their adversaries 740 points to 615.

Perhaps the most unusual occurrence of campus basketball history occurred as an anti-climax to a 31-30 defeat by San Francisco State College. One week following the contest, Ram coach Russ Sweet revealed that through an error detected in the scorebook, City College was actually the victor. Anticipating that a misunderstanding would result, a return game with State College was cancelled.

Guardsman Staff — Fall, 1949

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ——— RICHARD BRENNAN
MANAGING EDITOR ——— Richard Briggs
ASST. MANAGING EDITOR ——— Walt Roesing
ASST. MANAGING EDITOR ——— Rose Hardie
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Cyrus Donaldson, Robert Goncalves, Roberta Jackson, Dayton Lawson, Frank Monte, Terry Ryan, Adolphus Thomas, William Thomas, Greta Van Dyke, Dick Williamson.
NEWS: Robert Thorsen, editor; Nathan Carter, Ben Gaion, Georgie Watkins, Robert Johnson, Robert Jones, Robert Kays, Raymond Kelly, Richard Larrick, Sandra Marks, John O'Sullivan, John Spalding, Naomi Takahashi, Robert Valli, John Vanderbilt, Clarence Whitcomb, Felton While, Larry Bales.
FEATURE: Walt Heil, editor; Keith Gardner, assistant.
SPORTS: Bob Quinlan, editor.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Richard Herrington, Claude Dittmore, Dick Steinheimer.
STAFF ARTIST: Eddie Mitsunaga.
BUSINESS: Barbara Low, manager; Norman Reger, Alicia Diaz.
ADVERTISING: George Kelly, manager; Richard Hart.
CIRCULATION: Jerry Unider, manager.
Faculty Adviser ——— Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ——— Fred Kelly

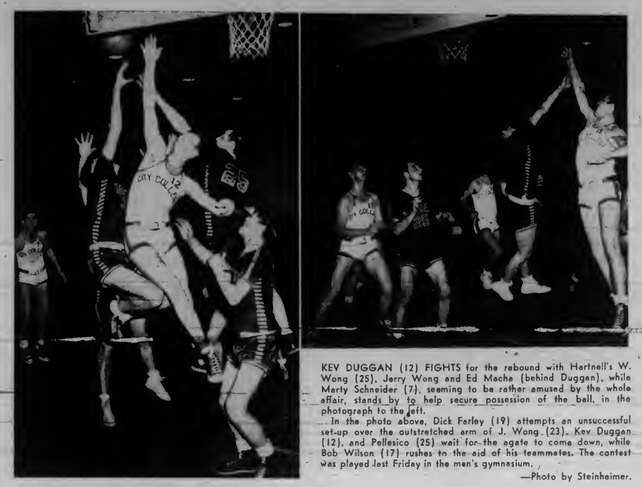
Volume XXIX, No. 21 — FRIDAY, JANUARY 20, 1950 — Page 3

League Leading Locals Go Against Braves And Menlo

By Bob Goncalves

Leading the southern division of the NCJCC with two wins and no losses, the Ram basketeers will take the role of the visitors for two games at Palo Alto this weekend.

In the first contest the Rams will play the Stanford Braves at Stanford this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, while the second game, against the Menlo Oaks, will be played on the Menlo court at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening.



Although the Brave game is a non-conference tilt, it should provide the Red and White with some tough competition, because Stanford has a supposedly strong squad, and will be trying to gain revenge for their 53-42 loss to the Rams last season.

Menlo, who lost their first league tilt to Modesto last week by an 11 point margin, provided the upset of the conference last year when they edged the Ram quintet in their final meeting in play by a 34-33 score. The Red and White won the remaining two contests between the two squads, 57-32, and 42-36.

Boasting only one first string returnee from last year's team, Irv Gisler, but strengthened by the addition of Ken Flower, all-city star from Lowell High School last season, the Oaks will undoubtedly be a hard team to beat on their home court.

Menlo lost to Placer in the championship game of the recent Modesto Tournament by an unbelievable margin because of the complete lack of reserve strength suffered by the Oaks.

Coach Ralph Hillsman was pleased with George McLaughlin for the fine work he did in helping the Rams overcome Hartnell and Monterey last weekend. It was largely because of McLaughlin's constant rebounding and 17 point output in the Panther game that the Red and White was able to win by such a margin as 29 points.

KEV DUGGAN (12) FIGHTS for the rebound with Hartnell's W. Wong (25). Jerry Wong and Ed Macha (behind Duggan), while Marty Schneider (7), seeming to be rather amused by the whole affair, stands by to help secure possession of the ball, in the photograph to the left.

In the photo above, Dick Farley (19) attempts an unsuccessful set-up over the outstretched arm of J. Wong (23). Kev Duggan (12), and Pellesico (25) wait for the agate to come down, while Bob Wilson (17) rushes in the aid of his teammates. The contest was played last Friday in the men's gymnasium.

—Photo by Steinheimer.

Sophs And Profs In Practice For Annual Basketball Contest Next Week

By Frank Monte

Professors began running up the hill to classes and writing faster on their blackboards this week, to get in shape for the coming soph-prof traditional basketball game which will take place Friday, January 27, in the men's gymnasium.

Resting on last year's laurels, when the "batty professors" knocked over their younger foes, 16-12 (we don't know how), the intellectuals decided on two men for their captains, Jack "Smiling" Brady, and Tom "Watcher" Dutiber, not having one man with the ability to fill the job.

From the soph camp comes word that the "young 'uns" have employed Don "Lover" Ayers as captain, who will use every conceivable method to topple the faculty starters.

In naming the professors' line-up, Lois "Slugger" Batinale, stellar performer of last year's contest who amassed one-third of the faculty's points for a grand total of five (wow) stated that two dark horses of the prof team will not be named until game time. These two casaba wizards combine the talents of Hank Luisetti and Jim Pollard.

The professors' roster, sprinkled with intellect and brawn, is Tom "Slider" Nesbitt, Harry "Racket" Buttimer, and Joseph "Get-A-Job" Amori. Desperately intent on retaining the crown, the "brains" reached into the physical education department and came up with Ralph "The Kid" Hillsman, Jack "Commander" Gaddy, Roy "Sock 'Em" Diederichsen, Grover "Rover" Kiemmer, Bill "Ambassador" Fisher, and "Long" Tom Wilson.

Looking to the younger and maybe brighter side, the sophomores are determined to take this encounter regardless of the price. Still in the clouds as to how the "old guys" beat them, the sophomores will also field a couple of ringers. (Remember the Sanity Code, boys.)

Bursting with youth and vigor the sophomore roster is composed of Dud "Deadly" Truelson, Jack "Pretty Eyes" Marcus, Frank "Rapid" Ratto, Neal "Heel" Decker, George "Forge" Chavez, Harry "Outside" Williams, Danny "Inside" Lagan, Jack "The All American Boy" Armstrong, and Lou "Potent" Pisani.

A double college hour will be given with 11 o'clock class cancelled.

Boxers Make Debut Against San Jose; Twenty Fighters To Compete Friday

Hoping that there is strength in numbers, Coach Roy Diederichsen will take a squad of 20 boxers to San Jose, to compete in their seasonal debut against the Spartans next Friday night, January 27.

Diederichsen's team boasts not only the ability, but also the depth which should provide the Spartans with one of their toughest assignments of the season.

From eight feature bouts, points will be compiled to determine the winners, while most of the other fights will count as junior varsity tallies. Also, two exhibitions will be staged.

Dick Ramsey, senior Diamond Belt light heavyweight champion, and last year's Golden Gloves Champion, will meet Don Schaeffer, San Jose's top-notch light heavy, in a non-decision match.

Ramsey, considered probably the best amateur light heavyweight in the Bay Area, combines his heavy punching with a good defense, and should provide Schaeffer with the toughest assignment of his boxing career.

Len Gage, member of last year's varsity and runner up in the welterweight class of the San Francisco Golden Gloves, will also take part in a non-decision contest.

For varsity points, Diederichsen will rely on Jerry Stern, 135, National Championship, Frank Sueca, heavy, and Len Garcia, 125. Stern boasts a win over the Spartans' top lightweight, Dave Grey, but may face a different opponent next Friday. Garcia stands at one win and one loss with Al Tafoya, first string 125.

Other locals who will share the varsity bouts are newcomers, Gage, 130, Harry Won, 145, Sigurd Jett, 155, John Brooks, 165, and Jim Keyes, 175.

San Jose is conducting an All-College Tournament tonight to determine first and second string varsity berths. Opponents will be named after the outcome of the matches.

Intramural Sports Rate Among Best

The intramural sports program of City College ranked among the best in a recent comparison made at the University of California of all two-year colleges in California.

One of the main factors responsible for the success of the intramural program is the active interest that a large number of the male students are taking in it, the report pointed out.

During this fall semester more than 400 students participated in the basketball tournament alone. Tennis, boxing, bowling, and touch football claimed several hundred more. A number of minor sports were also included in the program.

The program was designed so that every male student in the college would have a chance to compete successfully regardless of physical capabilities. Few of the other junior colleges in the state have the facilities to carry on such an elaborate program. In fact, many do not even have gymnasiums.

Soccer Players Receive Awards For Efforts

A list with names of 14 soccer players who are to receive 1949-50 Block SF Awards was approved by the Student Council during the meeting last Tuesday.

The list was submitted to the council by Coach Roy Diederichsen. A motion was made to accept the players and the motion carried a unanimous "yes."

Among the players to received the award is Neal Decker, three-time letterman and president of the Block SF Society.

Others to receive the award are Robert Datwyler, Ernest Echeverry, Rene Enriquez, Gaston Gassiot, Dave Hughes, Arturo Godoy, Nathan Kusninsky, Wallace Levin, Dave Nilkier, George Sergeff, Robert Sherwood, Ernie Smith, and Ron Lie Nau.

JV's Drop Thriller To GGAC

In the preliminary to the varsity contest with Monterey Peninsula College Saturday night, City College's junior varsity found the going too tough as they dropped a 66-67 decision to the Golden Gate Athletic Club, a team composed of former high school and junior college stars.

The club team included such local notables as Al McCubbin of Polytechnic High and Leo Bucciarelli, formerly of Balboa High and City College.

Coach Ralph Hillsman said of the game that it was possibly a better game from the spectator standpoint, than was the varsity contest.

The jayvees, who trailed at the half by a 32-19 margin, found the range in the second half to pull up even in the last minute of the game.

A free throw by the club team iced the game.

Dick Mulready and Phil Winetraub paced the team in scoring with 13 points apiece. Dick Farley showed well in controlling the backboards for the Lambs, while Al Nicora, brought down from the varsity, furnished drive and scoring punch to the squad.

Farley's 10 points showed the way on Friday night as the jayvees downed a team representing the San Francisco Boys Club, 44-37. The squad pulled away from a 37-37 tie to win in the final minutes of the contest. City College students playing for the Boys Club were Nick Leaskou, Bob Icorn, and Bob Frazier.

Adult Badminton-Recreation Opens

Adult Recreation Director Tom Wilson announced the opening of a badminton class to be held every Tuesday and Thursday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock, in the men's gymnasium.

This class will be open to any high school graduate, who is not enrolled in a public school at the present time. Adults enrolling in this class may obtain credit for high school physical education deficiencies, Wilson said.

There will be no fee charged for this class and all equipment, with the exception of shoes, will be supplied by the Recreation Department. Play during this two-hour class will be on an informal basis although instruction in badminton will be given to any participant who so desires. Attendance in the classes will be taken, stated Wilson, but attendance is not compulsory.

No signup date for the class has been announced as yet by Wilson, but a date should be forthcoming from the main office at the Marina Junior High School.

The Adult Recreation Department at Marina is headed by Principal Chaney. The City College department has not as yet been informed as to the date the program will get underway.

50 Million Frenchmen Can't Be Wrong!
COLE'S Barber Shop
Is The Place To Go
ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

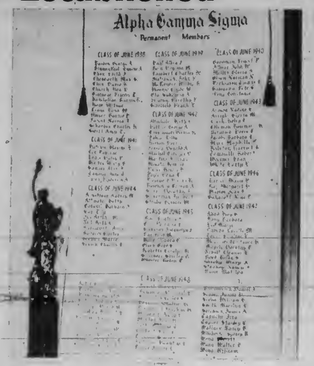
AIR MINDED?
An Interviewing Team will be here to give you all the facts about a career as a U.S. Air Force Officer!
15-16-17 Feb. — 9 AM - 4 PM
Student Lounge — Bldg. 2
If you're single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, find out about the educational and physical requirements for pilot or navigator training as an Aviation Cadet!
U. S. AIR FORCE
Only the best can be Aviation Cadets!

"Even I look good in an Arrow White Shirt!"

• PERFECT FITTING ARROW COLLARS
• MITOGA-SHAPED TO FIT BETTER
• FINE, LONG WEARING FABRICS
• BUTTONS THAT STAY PUT!
• SANFORIZED—WON'T SHRINK OVER 1%
$3.65 up
ARROW SHIRTS & TIES
UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

AGS Honor Scroll Established

Permanent Member Graduates Listed; Total Is 135 To Date



Culmination of two years' work was accomplished recently with the hanging of the Alpha Gamma Sigma honor scroll in the glass case in the hall of the main building of the college. The honor scroll contains a list of 15 honor graduates beginning with the graduating class of June, 1938.

The scroll is so contrived that as more names are added, it may be rolled up permitting the latest additions to be easily viewed.

The paper is a parchment-type diploma paper and was a complimentary gift of A. Carlisle & Company of San Francisco.

The designing and lettering of the scroll was done by Walter Wong, a former Art Department student, and himself an honor graduate. The expense of the scroll was defrayed by the Faculty Association and permission to hang the scroll in the case was granted by the college administration.

The project was first conceived by the Faculty Student Relations Committee, headed by Douglas Soule, language instructor, and one of its aims is to recognize proficiency in scholarship. The committee was aided in its work on the scroll by Edwin Cranston, former sponsor of Alpha Gamma Sigma, and by Don Jensen, present sponsor. The society is a chapter of the state-wide organization.

Graduates Seeking Full-Time Jobs Urged To Report To Placement Office

Students planning to graduate this semester are requested to report to the placement office if they desire to begin full-time employment immediately after graduation, Joseph Amori, placement director, announced recently.

There is a wide range of desirable positions open to students on a full-time basis, Amori said.

The graduating class should apply now before students from other colleges fill the better positions, Amori added.

Many good over-seas positions are still open for students desiring to work outside the country, Amori continued.

Sign-up lists are ready for students wishing to work next summer, Amori announced, and the list will show what type of work the student desires, but the list will not guarantee a job.

Amori said that according to the latest reports the demand for jobs will exceed the supply next summer, but students signing up now will be in an advantageous position because they will have first call on available positions.

Larson Cops Prizes

Comes the knowledge that the rewards of the teaching profession are not always restricted to a complacent feeling of imparting worldly wisdom to others.

It seems that Ed Larson, business instructor at the college, has transformed his erudition (book learnin') into monetary returns, by giving the correct name of the mystery tune in a recent contest sponsored by the Dude Martin program.

Ushers Needed For Rodzinski Concert

Students who wish to usher for the San Francisco Symphony concert under the conduction of Artur Rodzinski at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow evening, may receive their passes from Margaret Dougherty, dean of women, building 2, today.

Ushers are also needed for the Rise Stevens concert next Monday evening, and the performance of the Shan Kar Hindu Dancers on Tuesday evening, Dean Dougherty said.

The Hotel and Restaurant Management Division of City College was organized in March, 1936.

Award Rally And Soph-Faculty Game Take January 27 Spotlight

An award rally will be held in the men's gymnasium, in conjunction with the traditional faculty-sophomore basketball game, on Friday, January 27, during an extended college hour, Louis Batmale, dean of student activities, announced yesterday.

Awards are to be presented to winning teams and individual performers who distinguished themselves in the intramural tournaments in boxing, basketball, and touch football.

Entertainment for the rally is under the direction of Bill Rosaia of the Variety club, and is expected to consist of a varied and well rounded program.

The rally and game are scheduled to last beyond the college hour as there will not be any 11 o'clock classes on that day, Batmale said.

Presentation of awards to the championship teams in the intramural tournament is a traditional event in the athletic department of the college. A gold belt buckle will be given to each member of the championship team, while a bronze shield will be awarded to the runners-up.

Complete Election Returns Listed

President—Donald Parker—387 . . . . . Armand Magid—214
Vice-President—Helen MacKay—379 . . . Mary Ann Johnston—211
AMS President—Norman Reger—326 (Uncontested)
AWS President—Jeanne McKnew—103 . . . . Marcella Lewis—30
Sophomore President—William Rosia—467 (Uncontested)
Freshman President—Larry Ross—300 . . . . Stanley Fletcher—228
Yell Leader—Richard Ganzert—480

SOPHOMORE COUNCIL—

Ann McBride—360	Joan Marenda—278	James Smith—243
Frank Bayol—335	James Anderson—275	Joseph Azzolino—222
Patty Patterson—327	Russ Greer—264	Oscar Rivas—151
James Reed—305	Wallace Levin—263	Irwin Phillips—145
Robert Tyson—297

FRESHMAN COUNCIL—

Pete Chevrier—312	Leo Janover—267	Robert Lacampagne—254
Stan Seaman—300	Ralph Vitterlein—265	John Sandin—251
Louis Guevara—285	George Bayko—256	Pete Gentile—234
Marjorie Bergset—284	Ralph Howes—256	Richard Schanbach—190
Joseph Schwab—270	(Lynn Donaldson, George Jackson—withdrawn)

Names in bold type indicate those elected.

Final Examination Schedule

Fall Semester, 1949

Classes	Day	Hour
8 Daily	Wednesday, February 1	8:00-12:00
8 MWF	Wednesday, February 1	8:00-10:00
8 TTh	Wednesday, February 1	10:30-12:30
9 Daily	Tuesday, January 31	8:00-12:00
9 MWF	Tuesday, January 31	8:00-10:00
9 TTh	Tuesday, January 31	10:30-12:30
10 Daily	Monday, January 30	8:00-12:00
10 MWF	Monday, January 30	8:00-10:00
10 TTh	Monday, January 30	10:30-12:30
11 Daily	Thursday, February 2	8:00-12:00
11 MWF	Thursday, February 2	8:00-10:00
11 TTh	Thursday, February 2	10:30-12:30
12 Daily	Wednesday, February 1	1:00-5:00
12 MWF	Wednesday, February 1	1:00-3:00
12 TTh	Wednesday, February 1	3:30-5:30
1 Daily	Thursday, February 2	1:00-5:00
1 MWF	Thursday, February 2	1:00-3:00
1 TTh	Thursday, February 2	3:30-5:30
2 Daily	Tuesday, January 31	1:00-5:00
2 MWF	Tuesday, January 31	1:00-3:00
2 TTh	Tuesday, January 31	3:30-5:30
3 Daily	Friday, February 3	8:00-12:00
3 MWF	Friday, February 3	8:00-10:00
3 TTh	Friday, February 3	10:30-12:30
4 MWF	Monday, January 30	3:30-5:30

SPECIAL EXAMINATIONS: Hygiene 22—Monday, January 30 (will meet in Rooms 209, 211, 5K, 5L, and 9K) 1:00-3:00 p.m.; Hygiene 21—Monday, January 30 (will meet in Rooms 100, 136, 200, 204, 205) 1:00-3:00 and 3:30-5:30 p.m.

Williamson

Round 'n About

Social Outfits Electing Like Mad; Zeta Chi's Smorgasbord The Boys

CAMPUS societies are electing spring officers like mad!

The following are some of the prominent selections for office, whether ladies' choice or not.

Beta Phi Beta fraternity recently disclosed its selectmen for next semester as being thusly: President, Dick Manseau; Vice-president, Sandy Brousseau; Historian, Don Clarke (alias Harry Stevens); Treasurer, Jeff Dewberry; Secretary, Pete Larraj; Corresponding Secretary, Marv Sharpe; and Pledge-master, George Chavez.

Not to be outdone by any other local club, Alpha Sigma Delta fraternity has chosen vernal dignitaries, too. These are President, Nick Choulos; Vice-president, Duane Smith; Recording Secretary, Tom Campanella; Corresponding Secretary, John Oakes; Magistrate, Joseph Schwab; Treasurer, Jerry Herfield; Historian, Lloyd Baumann; and Sergeant-at-arms, Allan Sebanc.

Local Hillel Foundation partisans attended a meeting on Monday, January 16, and chose their new leaders. For the office of President they picked Harry Spatz; Vice-president, Pinchos Bojm; Secretary-Treasurer, Wally Levin. Other things were accomplished at this gathering, namely, the making of plans for the society's semi-annual dinner at the Sir Francis Drake hotel on Saturday, February 4.

Jim Reed, president of Tau Chi Sigma brotherhood, disclosed this week names of pledges accepted at the formal initiation of the club held at the home of a member, 2937 - 25th Avenue. Those receiving pins were Duane Ward, Jess Doran, Jerry Slater, Ken Abernathy, Leu Testaguzza, Jack Russel, Glenn McFadin, Stan Havorka, Rich Piper, Andy Waldron, Murray Jewell, John Tomac, Bob Frasier, Cesar Vellejos, Chuck Taggart, Bill Downs, Pete Gentile, Jack Creighton, George Jackson, and Len Stinger.

Zeta Chi sorority sisters are going hog-wild with joint meetings. Last Monday they had one with Block SF Society members and they are presenting men of Pi Delta Kappa fraternity with a Smorgasbord feast tonight at the home of Felice Quast. Zeta Chi formal initiation will be Sunday at Mary Ann Johnston's dwelling.

Seems Wednesday, January 11, was a good day for joint meetings, too, because there was a Beta Tau-Kappa Phi affair and a Theta-Tau-Alpha Sigma Delta gathering.

The famous old Planter's Dock in Orinda will be the site of a dinner dance for new and old members of Theta Tau come tomorrow night, when 14 pledges will receive their pins. The formal initiation will take place earlier in the evening at the home of Nadia Labbe.

Final meeting of the semester for Engineering Society members is today during college hour in Room 204.

Good News for Air Minded College Men!

A U. S. Air Force interviewing team will be here to give you complete details about the many flying and non-flying opportunities open to single young men between ages of 20 and 26½. Find out how you can prepare for a career as an officer in the U. S. Air Force!

15-16-17 Feb.
9 AM - 4 PM
Student Lounge Bldg. 2

AFTER GRADUATION, WHAT?

When you graduate from Junior College, you may want to enter one of the business fields—accountancy, marketing and sales, production, finance, or personnel administration. If so, it's time now to start thinking about specialization.

Golden Gate College, in its day and evening schools, has maintained a distinguished record in preparing its graduates to assume important roles in all the major fields of business. Junior College graduates who have taken their degrees at Golden Gate College are successfully employed in Bay Area industries or in professional practice as attorneys or Certified Public Accountants.

If you plan to enter an occupation immediately upon graduation, evening courses offer you practical training in Accountancy, Business Administration, Advertising, Insurance, Traffic or Law—training which will be invaluable in preparing you for advancement.

The opening date for the day schools of Accountancy and Business Administration in the Spring Semester is Monday, February 13. Some evening courses open January 9; others open January 30. Applications for admission are now being accepted.

Upon inquiry, you will receive a bulletin on the program of interest to you. Your college library also has reference copies of current college publications.

GOLDEN GATE COLLEGE
An Affiliate of the San Francisco YMCA
200 Golden Gate Avenue and 537 Market Street
Telephone PRospect 5-5774

We Air Express
We Deliver We Telegraph
Chain of Flowers
Florists
CORSAGES—FLORAL DESIGNS
WEDDINGS
JUniper 4-9038 1805 Ocean Avenue
San Francisco 12

For a Delicious Dinner
That's Economical, too
It's The Avenue
Coffee Shop
1612 Ocean Ave.

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

1948 Member Associated Collegiate Press 1949

VOLUME XXIX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—TUESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1950 NUMBER 22

Soph Activities Wind Up Semester

Upper Classmen Seek Revenge In Battle Against Prof Cagers Friday

By Frank Monte

Experience will battle youth Friday, January 27, during a double college hour, when the "old men," namely the professors, will "try" to tip off with the sophomores in the traditional soph-prof basketball game in the men's gymnasium.

The game will start promptly at 10:40 o'clock and last through the regular college hour and 11 o'clock classes, which are cancelled, Dean Louis Batmale said.

Embarking on the second game of the current series, the batty profs will be seeking retention of the "bucket trophy," which they gained last season by virtue of a 16-12 win over the youngsters.

As to probable odds and the post-time favorites, each team is positive it will win, which cancels all odds and makes the match an even-money affair.

Never bothered with the loss of men by graduation, the "old men" have a slight advantage over the sophomores. While the students gather new men each semester, the professors hang around year after year.

Because prof coaches Jack "Smiley" Brady and Tom "Watcher" Dutcher could not be located (they are probably in solitude dreaming up some devilish plan), Louis "Slugger" Batmale announced the starting line-up:

Tom "Slider" Nesbitt, forward; Jules "Rules" Fraden, forward; Jack "Commander" Gaddy, center; Ralph "The Kid" Hillsman, guard; and "Long" Tom Wilson, guard.

The sophomores will use the highly acclaimed "two platoon" system. Sending in another team each time the ball changes hands will keep ten men active instead of five.

First platoon: Dud "Deadly" Truelson, forward; Jack "Pretty Eyes" Marcus, forward; Lloyd "Big Boy" Ferguson, center; Frank "Rapid" Ratto, guard; and George "Forge" Chavez, guard.

Second platoon: Neal "Heel" Decker, forward; Lou "Potent" Pisani, forward; Jack "All American Boy" Armstrong, center; Don "Lover" Ayers, guard, and Harvey "Hey Now" Cranow, guard.

Intramural Trophy Awards Follow Game

All players who participated on winning teams in boxing, touch football, basketball, badminton, tennis, and ping pong during the intramural tournament, will be given awards Friday following the Soph-Faculty game, of belt buckles and bronze medals.

Portola A. C. will be given first place awards for annexing the intramural football championship, and Washington 130 for the basketball championships. In boxing, first place belt buckles will be awarded to the following novice winners: Telma Frisco, Len Gage, Tom Hahn, Jim Rockwell, Al Revere, Gene Hamilton, Dick Fiore, Sigurd Jett, John Brooks, and Herb Brown.

SOME OF THE GLITTER that goes with the titles of Soph King and Queen is displayed here by members of the Sophomore Formal dance committee. From left to right are Bud Armstrong, Lois Arfsten and the queen's loving cup, Bob Ryan and Theta Tau perpetual trophy, and Gloria Beetz and Don Ayers with the king's cup.—Photo by Harrington.

Royalty Coronation Features Formal Dance Saturday Night

Bringing the social season to a close and bidding farewell to graduating sophomores, the semi-annual Sophomore Formal is slated for the Scottish Rite Auditorium in Oakland on Saturday, January 28.

Couples will dance from 9 to 1 to the rhythm of the Kearns-Ticoulat Orchestra. This band has played at many of the big University of California dances.

Bids for this formal function are now on sale at the college bank for $2.00 a couple, and will also be sold at the door of the dance.

Tuxedos are the attire for men, but dark suits may be worn if desired. The no-corsage rule has been lifted for this occasion and placed on an optional basis, Bob Ryan, class president, said.

Highlight of the formal will be the royal coronation of the Sophomore King and Queen. Following tradition their names are not disclosed until midnight in a colorful, suspense-creating ceremony.

Awaiting the announcement of who shall reign as king are Lloyd Ferguson, Dick Ganzert, John Harness and William Rosaia. Hopeful aspirants for the queenship are Barbara Goodwin, Dolores Henninger, Jeanne McKnew, Jo Anne Knights, Norma Moebes, and Felice Quast.

Climax of the royal ceremony will be the presentation of the Theta Tau perpetual trophy to the king and Beta Tau perpetual trophy to the queen.

The committee in charge of this royal dance are John Armstrong, Lois Arfsten, Don Ayres, Gloria Beetz and Ryan. Faculty advisers are Thomas Dutcher and Betty Heckman.

The Scottish Rite Auditorium is located at 1547 Oak Street, by the shores of Lake Merritt, in Oakland.

Arthur Maguire, Music Student Here, Wins Scholarship On Radio Program

A $1000 scholarship was awarded to student Arthur Maguire, music major at the college, on January 16, by contest judges of the Buddha Hour, an amateur program aired over KFRC every Saturday at 8 p.m.

Maguire first entered the contest by auditioning at the KRFC studios at 1000 Van Ness Avenue, six months ago. Following the audition, he sang on the Buddha Hour twice, winning the contest by votes from the listening public who sent them in by mail and telephone.

During his second appearance on the show he won a $100 bill. On his final appearance he sang the aria, Fleeting Vision, from Massenet's opera, Herodiade.

In Progress for the past six months, the contest was sponsored by the Marin Dell milk company and judged by Tony Martin, Tommy Harris, Dwight Newton, Bill Courtney, Tom Tyrell, Curran Swint and George Gibson Davis, dignitaries prominent in San Francisco radio, opera, and newspapers.

Maguire was graduated from Washington High in San Francisco in June 1949.

Presses Need Oiling, So Guardsman Rests

With this edition, The Guardsman staff bows out for another semester and prepares for the rigors of spring registration.

Although it might be better to forget them, final grades may be obtained after Tuesday, February 14, by students who leave self-addressed envelopes with the registrar before the last day of instruction, Friday, January 27. Students will be stuck with final examinations until Friday, February 3, however.

For those who deem it wise to return for another semester after seeing their grades, registration will be conducted Wednesday and Thursday, February 8 and 9. The spring semester will open formally with regular class instruction on Monday, February 16.

Buy Savings Bond Treasury Urges

Student-veterans who expect a dividend refund from their National Service Life Insurance policies were advised by Treasury Department representative Minnette Ker Higgins, during her visit to the campus recently, to invest it in U. S. Savings Bonds.

N.S.L.I. dividends will total $2,800,000,000, and will be distributed among 16,000,000 veterans. Payments are based on a computation of 55 cents times the number of months the policy existed, times each $1000. The largest checks will be about $528, with the average $175. The smallest check will be $1.65, as the policy must have been in use over three months.

Dividends will be paid according to the last three digits of the Veteran's service serial number. Those who have a serial number in the 900 series, the last to be paid, can expect their checks in about four months, Miss Higgins said.

She added that it will not be necessary for the veterans to report their dividend in their income tax reports.

Miss Higgins, who is a deputy director of the savings bond division, pointed out that it is ideal for the veterans to invest this added cash in Savings Bonds.

The bonds are safe, produce an interest rate higher than any bank savings account, and can be cashed at any time, she said. Interest on the bonds is 2.9 per cent.

Parking Lot Closes During Registration

Painting of the campus parking lots, Dr. Oscar Anderson, coordinator of educational management, announced, will take place during the registration period, February 8 to February 10, instead of the proposed earlier date.

Students are advised, he said, to keep this in mind if they plan to use their cars at that time.

The painting will consist of re-striping the parking stalls.

New Registration Procedure Set For Spring

By Bob Kays

The tearing of hair and biting of fingernails that always accompanies registration in the main building is a thing of the past. Students will now be able to tear their hair and bite their fingernails without leaving the confines of the west campus.

The entire registration procedure for the Spring semester will take place without students having recourse to the main building in any way, shape or form.

The new move, according to Dr. F. Grant Marsh, was designed primarily to eliminate the maddening trips up the hill and back that the average student makes (at double time) somewhere between 10 and 20 times before he completes rgistration.

The first station stop of the "Registration Limited". (City College Special) will be Building 2, same as last semester. Here students will make out registration booklets and pick up their grades. Next stop will be the adviser's office.

Providing closed classes haven't caused a derailment somewhere along the line, those who are still aboard will steam back to the auditorium to pick up class enrollment cards. Once the enrollment cards are in the individual's possession, a short whistle stop will be allowed for coffee and a big sigh of relief.

Closed classes will be announced via mimeographed sheets distributed twice a day instead of over the loudspeaker that was used in the main building.

The loudspeaker had the advantage of spreading information quickly, but numerous complaints were registered that it caused no end of disruption.

Everything had to stop when the bong-bong-bong sounded, and everyone chewed his fingernails down to the elbows during the "pause that exasperates" while all present prayed in unison that the closed classes announcement didn't contain that 11 M-W-F that they just hadda get into.

The registration dates and numbers are as follows:

Wednesday, February 8:
7:45 a.m.—0001 to 0449; 8:45—0450 to 0889; 9:45—0900 to 1299; 10:45—1300 to 1699; 12:45—1700 to 2099; 1:45—2100 to 2499.

Thursday, February 9:
7:45—2500 to 2949; 8:45—2950 to 3399; 9:45—3400 to 3799; 10:45—3800 to 4199; 12:45—4200 to 4599; 1:45—4600 to 5000.

"THE MAIN THING NOW is to sell Associated Student cards," President elect of the Associated Students, Donald Parker (above), said in an interview recently.

Asked about the budget for next semester he said, "There won't be much of a budget unless we sell Associated Student cards."

Speaking of the election, he emphasized, "The two party system should continue if we are to have healthy student government."

Activity Dates Due For Social Calendar

Bids for dates on the activity calendar must be submitted by 12 o'clock tomorrow in Building 2, Room 6, Louis Batmale, dean of activities, announced this morning.

The reason for this deadline, Batmale said, was that the social calendar for the Spring semester is nearing the completion of the planning stage.

To be assured of obtaining an open date for any particular activity, all bids submitted must list three alternative dates for each planned activity, Batmale emphasized.

A President's meeting will be held at 3 p.m. on Thursday, January 26, in Room 2B, in order to complete final arrangements for the calendar.

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco
1949 Member Associated Collegiate Press 1950
Represented for National Advertising by NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco — 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Volume XXIX, No. 22 — TUESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1950 — Page 2

Editor Turns In Typewriter With Thanks For Assistance

WITH this, the last issue of the paper for this semester, we turn in our typewriter and take off for other parts. Now that we are about to retire, we think that it is time to say that the whole thing has been a lot of fun and a lot of work, but we hope that all in all we've done a satisfactory job.

We realize that there are many people on campus who could have done so much better. We know this because several have modestly taken the trouble to tell us. Of course, these talented students were too busy with other more important matters to allow them the time to take over.

We have in our brief term of office stepped on a few tender toes, and the screams of anguish were heard on the other side of Twin Peaks. This is, however, part of the game and we were not hurt too deeply.

We have also made a few errors and one of these was trying to get a large portion of the members of the Associated Students to take the enormous trouble to vote. Only 20 per cent of the eligible voters went to the polls, which shows how wrong we were to think that the students were concerned about their own government.

We have committed the editorial indiscretion of attempting to offer constructive criticism at times and this has not always resulted in the best of feelings. It would have been a lot easier to play hearts and flowers and sweetness and light, but we don't think it would have been as much fun.

IN closing, the editor would like to thank those fine co-workers, both business and editorial, of The Guardsman staff who have made our stay on the newspaper such a rewarding one. And especially the graduating members of The Guardsman staff: Dick Briggs, managing editor, Walt Roessing, assistant managing editor, Bob Quinlan, sports editor, Bob Thorsen, news editor, Frank Monte, sports writer, Dayton Lawson, feature writer, and Barbara Low, business manager.

Last but not least, our congratulations to Don Parker, the new President of the Associated Students, and Walt Heil, the new Editor-in-Chief.

Counterpoint: Harvard Head Advocates More Two Year Colleges

By Walt Heil

NOT so long ago eminent educators from all parts of the nation got together and talked about doubling the enrollments in all colleges by the time 1960 rolls around.

Some people doubt the good this will do in the long run, so the very eminent James Bryant Conant, president of the University of Harvard, came up with a better idea designed to give all young Americans a college education.

MORE TWO YEAR COLLEGES

Conant's idea was very simple: more two year colleges.

In this respect California already has a head start on the rest of the nation, having some 70 two-year colleges throughout the state.

Conant, quoted in this week's edition of Time magazine, believed that with doubled enrollment, too many trained specialists would graduate, thus making it harder than ever for the degree holder to find a job. Conant further stated that no one should take advanced educational training which might tend to thwart his future economic life.

TOO EXPENSIVE

The Harvard President also thought that too many Americans could not afford a four-year college education and would be socially undesirable.

On the former we can agree with Conant, for often it is too expensive to go to college. On the latter, however, it is a well known fact that many people go to colleges and universities merely for the social life. In most cases it doesn't hurt their social life, either.

Getting back to the idea of more two-year colleges, we think Conant came up with a goodie, to coin a colloquial term. Two-year colleges are instrumental in training people for practical life after graduation. Furthermore, the university parallel courses, offered here and elsewhere, prepare the students for work in a regular four-year institution.

CAEN LEAVES

We hate to disrupt the unity of this piece, but since so many people have asked us why Columnist Herb Caen left the paper he was associated with for 14 years (we're still with 'em), we just thought we better clear up the questions in people's minds.

We know little more than what was published in the paper that was after Caen. The basic reason is very—well, very basic—it was a question of more money involved for Caen from his new employers. He will also get a crack at writing a nationally syndicated column.

Quips About the Campus

By Dayton Lawson

Complaint Dept.: Every once in a while somebody comes up with a beef. There's nothing wrong with this; a certain amount of it went on in the army, but we had a different name for it; a certain amount of it goes on in practically every public or private enterprise; it can best be catalogued as merely a normal reaction or outlet when things begin to pile up. . . . A few "beefs" heard 'round the college are transcribed for posterity:

(1) "I predict that if an arterial is not placed at that dangerous Ocean-Phelan crossing in the near future, a certain San Francisco family will be needlessly wearing black." . . . (John Williams).

(2) The parking hassel around here has been getting worse; there doesn't seem to be any prospect of improvement; my customers are deserting me . . . (Louis' Dapelo, Ingleside merchant) . . . Why not an open house once in a while, like the secondary schools have . . . (Bob Lee) . . . "How about some gardens out in back?" . . . (John McIntosh).

Concert Party

Students To Attend Symphony Broadcast

Two hundred and fifty members of various musical organizations and of the music appreciation classes from the college have been invited to attend a Concert Party to be given at the San Francisco War Memorial Opera House on Sunday evening, February 5.

Ticket holders for this party will witness the weekly broadcast of the Standard Hour, which is heard over the National Broadcasting Company's stations. This program features the noted conductor Pierre Monteux, leading the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

Through the help and courtesy of the Standard Oil Company of California, Meyer M. Cahn, college orchestra director, was able to procure this allotment of tickets from the distributor, the San Francisco Music Guild.

Groups attending this party represent the orchestra, band, choir, Opera Workshop, and Music 7, 27, and 30 classes; and members of Lambda Alpha and Mu Iota Psi.

Light Poles Become Centennial Symbols

By Rose Hardie

Centennial spirit is spreading along Market Street this year as once drab light poles become gilded symbols of California's one hundred years of statehood.

From Valencia Street down to the Ferry, painters and workmen are sandblasting grime collected since the 1915 fair.

The poles were originally adorned for the first great fair centered in this city.

A new era in classroom technique at City College may develop from the added blue and gold finery downtown.

California history classes here could benefit from the uncovered artwork by firsthand analysis.

Over 600 poles line the path of gold, so it is probable that there would be a pole for each student to peruse unless there is a new trend in class enrollment.

Of course, the list of needed supplies for the group might have to be lengthened to include a collapsible ladder for expeditionary work during a semester!

Spotlight: Gypsy Bears, Cowboy Races, Fertile Ground For S.P.C.A.

By Keith Gardner

YESTERDAY afternoon, while working on the final draft of our new play, down at Stratford-on-Avon, the mail from London arrived.

Aside of the usual letters from the Queen and Sir Walter Raleigh, there really wasn't much of interest with the exception of our favorite magazine, Collier's, The National Weekly.

To the casual observer, Collier's may look pretty much like any other magazine, but it has one feature that puts it in a class by itself. The department known as Keep Up With The World, by Freling Foster, is what we're talking about.

Lately, however, there's been an awful lot of stuff about animals included, and it's bothering us quite a bit. Take this excerpt, for example.

"Many a European gypsy still travels from village to village with a trained bear, muzzled and on a chain, which not only does tricks but also gives massages."

If that isn't the slickest piece of doubletalk yet, we pass. "A trained bear" they call it, but still it's "muzzled and on a chain." And if you can't imagine what those massages are like, read this.

"Occasionally, during a massage, the bear gets tired, sits down on his patient, and refuses to get off until he has taken a rest." Taken a rest, indeed. Eaten his fill would be more like it. Something should be done about this.

If that isn't enough, try this bit from another issue.

"A memorable American sports event was the Great Cowboy Horse Race . . . nine men started, each with two horses . . . three others (besides the winner) finished . . . the rest having dropped out because . . . horses were unable to endure the heat, etc. . . . a newspaper reporter rode alongside the (winner) for the last 300 miles—on a bicycle."

For Heaven's sake, someone call the S.P.C.A. Imagine riding those horses 'til they dropped from heat and exhaustion. To say nothing of the bicycle.

Well, now that we've that problem off our chest, there's just one other thing that's bothering us. In this new play of ours, Romeo and Juliet, it's called, there a scene where . . . but what's the use. You wouldn't know the answer either.

See you around the Mermaid Tavern, kid. And give our regards to Ben Jonson.

Early University Student Paradise

By Paul Cooper

The average American college students may think they have it pretty soft, with an abundance of holidays, vacations, and the like, but looking into history they would find that they have nothing on the ancient Italians.

The University of Bologna in the early 1300's was virtually a paradise for undergraduates. The students organized the university as a means of dropping prices on foodstuffs which the townspeople set high for those coming into town to study under the masters of law. They organized, somewhat as a union, and threatened to leave in a body unless prices were lowered.

These ancient Joe Colleges also managed to keep the professors under their control as their earliest statutes (1317) show. A professor could not be absent without leave, even a single day, and if he desired to leave town he had to make a deposit to insure his return.

Today in most colleges the students are penalized for not attending lectures but not at old U. B., for if the instructor could not secure a class of at least five for a lecture, he was fined as if absent. When he was able to secure five hearers, he was obliged to begin with the bell and quit within one minute after the next bell.

In addition to his other restrictions and rules, an instructor was also told how to go about instructing his students. He was not allowed to skip a chapter in his commentary or postpone a difficulty to the end of the hour and he was also obliged to cover ground systematically.

If any reader doubts that students could ever have pushed instructors around with such apparent freedom it might be suggested that he enroll in History 24a, or read Page 407 in the chapter entitled University and Cathedral in the text, Civilization Past and Present.

Looking-Up . . . First Scale Model Of Washington's Mt. Vernon Home Offered For Display To Students

By Dick Briggs

THE first known scale model of George Washington's Mount Vernon home will be displayed for the Associated Students, if its craftsman, campus guard Richard J. Medlin, receives permission from responsible college administrators.

The miniature of the first president's Virginia home has been equipped with lighting, and, as Medlin asserts, "If my model is displayed, it will be the first time anyone will have seen Mount Vernon lighted at night."

HAND CARVED

Construction is chiefly of wood, hand carved, and grooved by Medlin, though the hinges for doors were cut and shaped from brass. The replica, comments Medlin, is made to the scale of one-half inch to the foot.

Medlin's incentive to create George Washington's Mount Vernon home in miniature was inspired from a love, half for the old South, and half to help others grasp the friendliness of the American Colonial period.

The urge to duplicate Washington's home was not spontaneous with Medlin. When the mood of the South was fading from its static aristocratic tradition to an aroused movement for industrial progress, Medlin decided to model homes representative of the South as he had known it.

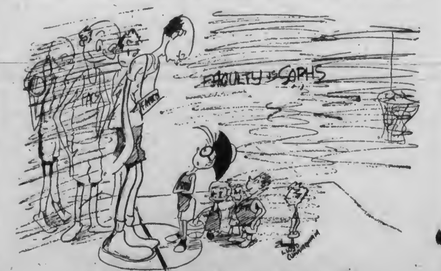
WON CONTEST

In 1915, Medlin completed his first creation of a plantation, and during 1937 he won second prize with this exhibit at a craftsman's contest in the Civic Auditorium Museum.

Sequel to Medlin's effort to portray the South in its revolutionary mood, began in 1938 with his plan to carve an exact duplicate of Washington's home. The project was finally completed in January, 1949.

All work on the model of the President's mansion was performed by Medlin with only a sharp pocket knife, a hammer, and brad nails, but this tiring method was simple when compared to the long research involved to obtain correct dimensions of the Virginia home, Medlin says.

RESEARCH DIFFICULT



Medlin's search for the overall measurements was directed to many sources, but each reply was unsatisfactory. Following fruitless research, Medlin resorted to figuring the dimensions from photographs, and drawings occasionally printed in newspapers and magazines.

Finally when the model was near completion, he visited Mount Vernon and discovered that all calculations were correct with the exception of two windows and a door, which were each six inches too short.

Medlin's criticism, among others, prompted the management of Mt. Vernon to measure all articles on the Washington site; a project completed in three months by 69 employees.

Guardsman Staff — Fall, 1949

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... RICHARD BRENNAN
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Richard Briggs
ASST. MANAGING EDITOR ..... Walt Roessing
ASST. MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rose Hardie
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Cyrus Donaldson, Robert Goncalves, Roberta Jackson, Dayton Lawson, Frank Monte, Terry Ryan, Adolphus Thomas, William Thomas, Gene Van Dyke, Dick Williamson.
NEWS: Robert Thorsen, editor; Nathan Carter, Ben Galon, Georgie Watkins, Robert Johnson, Robert Johns, Robert Kaye, Raymond Kelly, Richard Lavrick, Sandra Marks, John O'Sullivan, John Spalding, Naomi Takahashi, Robert Vail, John Vanderbilt, Clarence Whitcomb, Felton Wilde, Larry Bains.
FEATURE: Walt Heil, editor; Keith Gardner, assistant.
SPORTS: Bob Quinlan, editor.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Richard Harrington, Claude Dittmore, Dick Steinheimer.
STAFF ARTIST: Eddie Mirunago.
BUSINESS: Barbara Low, manager; Norgran Rager, Alice Diez.
ADVERTISING: George Kelly, manager; Richard Hart.
CIRCULATION: Jerry Unider, manager.
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Boxers Face Rigid Test In San Jose

Spartans Favored Over Rams In Season Opener This Friday Night

By Frank Monte

Coach Roy Diederichsen's varsity boxing team will get their first taste of rugged competition Friday night, January 27, when the men invade the San Jose State gymnasium for their initial contest of the season.

With the prospect of a large crowd, the night's card will present eight varsity bouts, 10 junior varsity matches and two exhibitions.

In meeting the Spartans, the locals oppose the stiffest competition that they should face all season. In the past, San Jose, under the capable piloting of De Witt Portal, has led the way for Pacific Coast Collegiate boxing.

Nevertheless, Diederichsen, aware of the depth and ability his team possesses, stated, "This looks like the best chance we've ever had to beat San Jose."

Although San Jose will enter the ring as favorites, talented Jerry Stern, Len Garcia, Frank Sueuga, and a host of newcomers nearly equal in ability, may provide a different outcome.

Stern, national two year collegiate champion, will face Ted Ratcliff in the lightweight division. Second string last year behind Dave Grey, whom Stern decisioned at the college gymnasium, Ratcliff has moved up to the first string spot. Ratcliff will have to be on his toes to take the bout away from Stern, who keeps both fists flying steadily throughout the fight.

Main event of the evening puts Sueuga, local heavyweight, and runner up in the nationals, paired off with Jack Scheberies, top fighter in the Spartan stable. Sueuga, loaded in either fist, preferred the kayo route for annexing most of his victories last season.

Lightning fisted, lightning footed, Garcia, 130, also a national runner-up, meets an unknown foe, Ken Harris. Garcia, a well seasoned fighter, finished last season with nine wins and two losses.

In the 165 class, John Brooks will tangle with San Jose's Niek Diez. Brooks, novice tourney champion, has all the requirements of a good boxer, heavy punching, fast footwork, good defense, and speed.

Rounding out the varsity card, Len Gage meets Mike Rivera, Jerry Won (SF) vs. Les Walters, 145, Sigurd Jett (SF) vs. Joe Desoto, 155, and Jim Keyes (SF) vs. Dusty Rhoades, 175.

Highlight of the jayvee bouts will be the pairing of Dick Flore, local 155, and Stan Marcil. Marcil, now at San Jose, was last year's middleweight, two year national collegiate champion from Pasadena City College.

Other junior varsity bouts scheduled are Roxie Navarro (SF) vs. Ernie Parama, 120, Telmo Frisco (SF) vs. Keith Bayne, 120, Tom Hahn (SF) vs. John Jackson, 135, Al Revilla (SF) vs. Charles Burnett, 135, Jack Bettencourt (SF) vs. unknown, 155, Bob Sorenson (SF) vs. Alanzo Wiemers, heavy, Herb Brown (SF) vs. Jerry Gold, heavy.

FIVE VARSITY BOXING MEMBERS, left to right, Jim Keyes, 175, John Brooks, clever 165, Sigurd Jett, 155, Jerry Stern, national two year college lightweight champion, and Telmo Frisco, 125, all appear ready to defend last year's second place national honors. While all men, except for veteran Stern, lack the experience, they make up for it in ability and conditioning. The above men, along with Frank Suege, heavyweight, Len Garcia, 125, Len Gage, 130, and Jerry Won, 145, will share the varsity berths in the season opener against San Jose Friday night. In the foreground is manager Ron Lieneu and Coach Roy Diederichsen.—Photo by Steinheimer.

River Rats Lead Volleyball Tourney

Winning the best of a three-game series, the River Rats posted the initial victory in the intramural volleyball tournament last week, director Tom Wilson revealed.

The River Rats defeated the Balboa Blues by scores of 17-21, 21-12, and 21-17. In another contest the Balboa Blues won by default from the Portola A. C.

Dates Posted

Volleyball competition has been scheduled into a round-robin tournament with each of the six teams playing five games. Dates and time of each game have been posted on the bulletin board in the men's gymnasium.

Volleyball is the final intramural sport of the semester. Customary awards will be presented to the winning teams' namely, a gold belt buckle for each member of the championship club, and a bronze shield for the runners-up.

Deadline Set

Semi-final and final round play in tennis, badminton, and ping pong singles and doubles will be completed next week. Players who haven't finished their matches or contacted Wilson by today will default to their opponents.

The College Golden Gloves Tournament has been momentarily postponed, but it will be staged in the early part of the spring semester. This annual event pits the members of varsity boxing squad against the winners of the novice class tourney held last month.

Cagers Beat Menlo, Take League Lead

Stanford Braves Edge College Five; Duggan Consistent In Scoring Parade

By Bob Goncalves

Securing undisputed league leadership with a 3-0 record, the college basketball team romped to an easy 63-35 victory over Menlo on the Oaks' home court last Saturday night.

Jumping into an early 10-3 lead, on a basket by Kev Duggan and two buckets each by Marty Schneider and Al Munn, the locals held a comfortable margin throughout the first half of the contest, and were on the long end of a 28-13 score at the midway mark.

Coming to life early in the third period, Duggan poured in eight fast points, and these, coupled with three baskets by Pat Boyle and two pointers each by George McLaughlin and Skip Carnegie, enabled the Rams to regain their 15-point lead, 46-31. The Oaks had narrowed this margin to ten points early in the third period, when, led by Ken Flowers scoring five points and Irv Gisler tallying five also, they closed the gap to 32-22.

Main factor of the comfortable lead enjoyed by the visitors at half-time was the fine defensive play shown by the Ralph Hillsman quintet in holding the Oaks to five field goals in the first two stanzas. Being unable to crack the Ram defense, Menlo had to satisfy themselves with long shots, which they could make with no reasonable accuracy.

Flowers, Menlo's main scoring threat, was held completely in check by Munn and Schneider, and at the half-way mark had not collected a single point.

Although he collected only five points in the first half of the contest, Duggan found the range during the remainder of the game to take high scoring honors for the evening with 19 tallies.

Journeying to Stanford Friday afternoon, the Rams went down to defeat before the hands of the Stanford Braves, who staged a terrific second-half comeback to win going away by a score of 58-49.

Leading 29-22 at half-time, the Rams could not cope with the gallant pressure play of the Braves, and slid behind in the final minutes of the contest. Tying the tilt three times in the final minutes, the last at 49-49, the Red and White saw their chances go out the window when Stanford hit for nine fast points to ice the contest. Duggan led the scoring parade with 17 points.

Testing the sweetness of revenge, the Ram quintet man-handled the USF Frosh squad in the final quarter of the contest to win by a 59-45 margin last Tuesday afternoon in the college gymnasium. Duggan was high scorer with 17 points.

Cagers In Home Stretch Of League Title Play

With the completion of the first half of their season, the college's classy cagers head down the home stretch in NCJCC's Southern Division title race. The Rams have nine remaining scheduled games, and all are conference tilts. Only four of these games, the first being February 4, against Menlo, will be home games. The remaining schedule:

Jan. 27—Stockton (There)
Jan 28—Modesto (There)
Feb. 3—San Mateo (There)
Feb. 4—Menlo (Here)
Feb. 10—Hartnell (There)
Feb. 11—Monterey (There)
Feb. 17—Stockton (Here)
Feb. 18—Modesto (Here)
Feb. 24—San Mateo (Here)

All games begin at 8 p.m.

College Skiers In Auburn Tournament

Ski Rams, the college skiing club, will journey to Auburn, California, February 4 and 5, where they will participate in the Northern California Junior College Skiing Tournament, to be held at Cisco Grove.

Sponsored by the Auburn Ski Club, the tourney will consist of events such as jumping, slalom, cross country skiing, and distance racing.

Second Postwar Entry

This will be the second postwar year that City College has entered in the competition.

Last year the Rams failed to gain better than a third place in any of the individual events, but managed to place third in total number of points scored in the five-team meet.

Ram Points Listed

The Rams copped a fourth and sixth place in the jumping event, fourth and eighth in the downhill, and seventh and tenth in the slalom.

Vernon Dallman, Bud Taylor, and John Townsley proved to be the mainstays for the Red and White, accumulating all the points between them.

Competitive Swimming Offered Ram Squad

An opportunity to get back into competitive swimming was offered to members of the now defunct college swimming team recently by Bob Weller, Oakland YMCA swimming coach.

Weller stated that membership will be restricted to the men living in the Oakland area. Workouts are held every Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights at the YMCA, situated at Telegraph Avenue and Hobart Street.

The senior men's squad will meet corresponding teams from the YMCAs of San Jose, Sacramento, and San Francisco for the area championship. The winning team will then advance to the state championship.

Weller requested those interested to inform him at their earliest convenience.

Keep Alert!
For Health & Recreation
Bowl at
Johnny Swanson's
MISSION BOWL
3140 Mission St.
A. S. Card Rate—25¢ Week Days

CAB's New Ruling Is Against Intra Plan

RAMblings . . .

By Gene Van Dyke

Intramural Sports Are Organized For Everyone

GOVERNING the intramural sports program by restricting participation in campus sports exclusively to clubs, fraternities, societies, and organized campus groups, the recent action of the Club Activities Board runs in direct conflict with Tom Wilson's present setup.

Says Wilson: "The intramural sports program is primarily for all those students who wish to enjoy some recreational activities on an informal plane, but cannot put their full time and effort into varsity sport programs.

"Now students are encouraged, along with returning students, to form teams for competition in group sports as well as playing in the many individual ones."

He also emphasizes in his program that "competition is open to fraternities, clubs, societies, organized groups or independent teams."

In past semesters Wilson has handled the intramural league efficiently and effectively, arranging schedules, compiling statistics, adding prizes for teams and players, always with the incentive of improving intramural activities.

The majority of teams entered in the past intra-tourneys were independent groups. Many of the organizations on campus failed to field clubs. The few that did enter, at times, failed to appear at scheduled game times and therefore forfeited.

One of the leading contributors to the growth of the intramural scene on the campus is the independent group playing under the title Balboa A. C.

Among their conquests is the Dr. Cloud perpetual trophy, presented to the group or organization winning the greatest number of points during one semester's play. They are one of the most prominent intramural independents.

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP
CUSTOM MADE HAIR CUTS
1334 Ocean Avenue
2 blocks from campus

College Men! Here's Your Chance To Get All The Facts About A Career As A U. S. AIR FORCE OFFICER!

If You Can Qualify for Aviation Cadet Training . . .
You'll Be on Your Way Toward a Future as an Aviation Executive . . .

A U. S. AIR FORCE INTERVIEWING TEAM WILL BE HERE TO GIVE YOU FULL DETAILS on age, educational and physical requirements for pilot or navigator training as an Aviation Cadet. Also ask about the many opportunities for a non-flying career!

(DATE) 15-16-17 Feb. (TIME) 9 A.M. to 4 P.M.
(PLACE) Student Lounge—Building 2

U. S. AIR FORCE

Only The Best Can Be Aviation Cadets!

Air Force Officers To Show Enlistment Advantages Here

In connection with the renewed Air Force Recruiting drive, two officers, Lt. D. E. Nelson and Lt. R. H. Hutchins, will explain career opportunities and other enlistment details in the student lounge, Building 1, at 10 a.m., February 15, 16, and 17.

A movie, Flight Plan For The Future, produced by March of Time Inc. will also be shown in Building 1 at 10 a.m. on February 16 and 17 in conjunction with aviation cadet training.

Both men and women interested in a career as an officer in the United States Air Force are invited to attend the meeting. The officers present will assist those interested in filling out application forms and give qualifying examinations to those seeking Aviation Cadet pilot or navigator training.

To be eligible for this program, men and women must be between the ages of 20½ and 26½, married or single, citizens, in good physical condition, and have completed a minimum of two years of college.

Men and women students who are able to meet the above qualifications and who wish a non-flying career involving administrative or technical duties receive military leadership training at Lackland Air Force Base.

Controller To Close Office Friday; All Business Must Be Completed Then

Organizations having any outstanding advances or signed bills for goods are asked to present them to the controller's office not later than this Friday, Oscar Anderson, dean of educational management, said yesterday.

Because the Associated Students' financial report must be made by February 2 this year, the controller's office will close its books on January 27, Anderson advised. He added that this will not require that no more purchase orders be issued for the Fall budget.

Students who intend to use streetcar tickets during registration week are advised to get them early from the student bank, Anderson pointed out, because the bank will be closed between February 6 and February 10, and not re-open until Tuesday, February 14.

Twins Needed By Photo Studio

Two women students (twins) can gain immediate positions as professional models and without the special requirement set up for "single" models, Beverly Pasqualetti, of the photography department, said yesterday.

In announcing the latest request received from a commercial photography studio, he said that the usual main requirement for models (that they be between 5 feet 4 inches and 5 feet 7 inches in height) will be omitted in this case, since the twin sister requirement is paramount.

Qualified students will have to be interviewed by Pasqualetti before going for an interview with the employer, he announced.

Pasqualetti is in Building 9 on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday between 9 and 10 a.m.

Fifty Men Needed For Night Inventory Work

Fifty men are needed by a department store for one night, Tuesday, January 31, to take inventory, Joseph Amori, placement director, announced recently.

The hours will be from 5 p.m. to 10, and will pay $1.05 per hour. A few women are also needed in this inventory call, Amori said.

Expanded Program Underway For Photo Majors With Higher Education Plans

An expanded program for photography students interested in transferring to a higher college is underway, Beverly Pasqualetti, photography director, announced recently.

The Ohio University, Athens, Ohio, is now offering a Bachelor degree and a Masters degree in photography, Pasqualetti said.

Other colleges are also offering photography degrees to students from the college, he said.

A minimum of 32 credit hours in photography are required by Ohio University for the A.B. degree, and an additional 18 hours are required for the Masters degree.

San Jose State and San Francisco State have also announced they are accepting full credit from photography majors from this college, Pasqualetti pointed out.

The requirements from other colleges have not been received by the photography department as yet, but they are expected to be approximately the same standards as Ohio, he said.

Students interested in learning the requirements from these colleges should consult with him, Pasqualetti concluded.

Floriculture Majors Construct New Patio

Completion last Friday of a red brick patio, located in the corner formed by the connection of the Floriculture green house and class rooms, was announced by Harry E. Nelson of the Floriculture department.

This was the first part of a two-fold landscaping program by the Floriculture department to beautify the area surrounding the greenhouse.

A Cappella Choir And Opera Workshop To Be Recorded By Radio Engineering Class

Recordings of the outstanding works of the A Cappella Choir and Opera Workshop are being made by students of radio engineering at the college.

Flossita Badger, music instructor, said, "The music students in cooperation with the radio engineering class have initiated a record library of City College talent. Already fully recorded is the Marriage of Figaro, presented last spring, and some solo numbers by Opera Workshop members.

Recordings will be made under the direction of Mark Sheldon and Henry Leff, radio course instructors.

A program of light opera selections was presented by the Opera Workshop members for Aptos Junior High School's Scholarship Society yesterday.

The following students participated in the performance: Irene Boullet, soprano; Jean Bonaccorsi, contralto; and Bob Sherratt, baritone.

Put Away The Violin
and
Get A Haircut
at
COLE'S Barber Shop
ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

Ilene Carroll
For Your Suits
By
Rosenblum of Calif.
Pink - Aqua - Coral
Powder Blue
1600 Ocean Ave. - JU 7-4151

Shaw Comedy Ends Run Tomorrow

TWO PERFORMANCES of You Never Can Tell remain for these talented Little Theater players in George Bernard Shaw's hilarious comedy about Victorian England. From left to right: Camilla Justesen as Dolly, Mervyn Murphy as Crampton, Vivian Breslin as Gloria.—Photo by Steinheimer.

Tickets Available At Student Bank

Only two performances remain of You Never Can Tell, George Bernard Shaw's witty comedy about a perceptive young dentist's attempts to break down the inhibitions of an almost equally perceptive young lady. The play, under the direction of Paul Ellison, is offered in Room 29.

Tonight's and tomorrow night's offerings will conclude the City College Little Theater's schedule for the Fall Semester.

Tickets for these last two performances are still available at the student bank. Prices are 25 cents to Associated Student members and 90 cents to non-members. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

Sets and lighting were designed and constructed by students, John Allen, Robert Stranton, and James Deckert.

Williamson

Round 'n About

Pi Beta Kappa Discloses Leaders; Two-Beaters Prepare to Celebrate

NOT satisfied with recently copping most of the Associated Student offices for next semester, local organization members are currently conducting elections among their own ranks.

Presidency of Tri Epsilon fraternity for the approaching spring months has gone to Lou Guevara, who will be ably assisted in office by vice-president, Al Lawson; secretary, Ron Vevoda; treasurer, Herb Bernauer; historian, Boris Alenin; and custodian, Fred Smith. Tri-E elections were held on Wednesday, January 4.

The local Gamma chapter of the national Pi Delta Koppa fraternity last week formally announced members' choices for leadership of the society next semester.

President will be Lou Rocea; vice-president, Rex Reyes; treasurer, Bill Bros; secretary, Eloy Escarcido; pledgemaster, Bob Datwyler; social chairman, Pep Gassiot; guard, Walt Halquist; master of ceremonies, Milt Melzian; and editor, Dave Jeffery.

At the Wednesday, January 18, meeting of Omicron Phi Pi, honorary economics society, the following were chosen as spring dignitaries: president, Russel Greer; vice-president, Wally Levin; treasurer, Walt Mortenson; and secretary, C. A. Franklin.

Rumor has it that the Inter-Fraternity Council is going to celebrate completion of finals with a little party on Monday, February 6, at Druids Hall on Page Street. Perhaps those in attendance will be celebrating the outcome of the recent student elections, too, but a keg of good time is expected for all!

Castanets weren't in evidence but Mexican food was at a south-of-the-border dinner given by the pledge class of Theta Tau sorority for members and alumnae way back on Sunday, January 15. Everybody had a hot time!

Struggling to find ways to keep warm, men of Beta Phi Beta fraternity set up housekeeping in a Truckee lodge last weekend and prepared to enjoy a few days of winter sports. Never got out of the lodge, though! Must have been snowed in!

Several editions ago in this column we expressed the opinion that campus clubs should conduct a campaign to rectify the trashy conditions of the campus since it was their members standing around shooting the bull that caused most of the mess. Nothing was done, however!

Looking back through old editions of The Guardsman, we discovered that leaders of one brotherhood evidently felt the same way once. On Sunday, October 19, 1947, 21 members of Beta Tau fraternity answered a call similar to that of President Louis Conlan's, and invaded the campus with brooms and shovels to have the place looking like new in no time flat. What's happened, men, spirit left you?

Members of the A Cappella Choir will sing for their dinner at their annual banquet Thursday, February 2, at Lucea's. Highlights of the evening will be the awarding of choir service pins and the introduction of new officers.

Bayside Jazz Society held its second formal clambake on Sunday, January 15, at Cook's Union Hall in Oakland . . . terrific! Next affair, Saturday night, January 28, Art Studio Galleries, 1570 California Street. Features of the evening will be Alexander's Jazz Band and free refreshments.

The local honor society, Alpha Gamma Sigma, had its fling last Thursday at its annual dinner at the New Tivoli. New officers were announced at this time. President is Renna Varellas; vice-president, Masahiro Yamashita; secretary, Virginia Cutler; CAB, Lois Arfsten.

See ya round 'n about next semester!

Returning Students . . .

Trade in your TEXTS NOW and get 60 per cent in trade for your Spring Books

Textbooks for next semester are now in stock

Graduating Students . . .

Best Wishes and Lots of Luck in Years to Come

Join the Alumni Association TODAY

CCSF Student Store
965 Ocean Avenue at Phelan

Crackdown On Illegal AS Card Use Starts

SEVEN MEMBERS of City College's conference leading quintet are pictured above and to either side preparing for a pair of important games over the weekend in the men's gymnasium. To the left is Al Munn, great playmaker and guard, while above are Marty Schneider, guard; Dick Boyle, center; George McLaughlin, forward; Bob Wilson, guard; and Kevin Duggan, forward. To the right is the fabulous Babe Samson, speed burner and the "old man" of the squad. The Rams meet Stockton on Friday and Modesto on Saturday.

The Guardsman
Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco
VOLUME XXX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1950 NUMBER 1

Rally

Slim Gaillard To Appear Friday In College Hour

Slim Gaillard and his trio will highlight the first rally of the current semester this Friday, February 17, in the west campus auditorium during college hour, 10:40 a.m.

This will be the second appearance on campus for the Gaillard Combo, who have just completed a successful run at Ciro's. They entertained at a rally here last Spring.

Monroe Johnson, newly elected Rally Commissioner, said yesterday that he is working to make the rally a smashing success, and he stressed the fact that admission will be restricted to Associated Student members.

Johnson, in cooperation with Bill Rosain of the Variety Club, is making plans for a full program of events for members of the Associated Students for Spring 1950. They are presently working to arrange a dance on Friday, February 24, after the basketball game here with San Mateo.

The college hour activity schedule for the semester, as announced by Dean Louis Batmale, is as follows: February 17, Rally; February 24, Club meetings; March 3, Rally; March 10, Club meetings; March 17, Rally; March 24, no college hour (mid-terms); March 31, Club meetings; April 7, holiday; April 14, Rally; April 21, Club meetings; April 28, Club meetings; May 5, no college hour (mid-terms); May 12, Club meetings; May 19, Election rally; May 26, Club meetings; June 2, Club meetings; June 9, Faculty-Sophomore baseball game.

Local Bouts May Be Screened Over KGO-TV In March

In all probability, television will enter the college sports scene this semester, with the televising of boxing matches between the varsity and yet to be named opponents over KGO-TV during March.

An idea by Coach Roy Diederichsen stimulated action by student Rod Russell, who in turn contacted Ira Blue, KGO sportscaster.

(Blue is expected to referee the Rams' bout with Camp Pendleton Marines on Thursday.)

Plans had been made to telecast every Thursday during March but because of a conflict with the Northern California Regional Championship Tournament, to be held March 16 and 17, the dates were changed.

A new schedule has been worked out, pending confirmation by the KGO studios. Included in the tentative program are the All-College Tournament, and matches with San Jose State and Santa Clara.

With the introduction of television, college activities will receive a visual outlet, bringing to the homes of San Franciscans further realization of the college's achievements.

AS Card Sales Head Outlines Drive To Squash Misuse Of Cards Here

The "severest crackdown in the history of the college" was threatened for the illegal use of Associated Student cards this week by Wally Levin, head of the Association membership drive.

Cards, Levin said, can be purchased in the student lounge, Building 2, in the lobby of the main building, and at the student bank.

Outlining his proposed program for checking illegal use of Associated Student cards, Levin said cards would be checked and punched at all dances and other major activities.

"Students will be required to sign their names so that their signatures may be compared with those on the card. Also we may ask for other identification, such as a driver's license," he explained.

"Cards will be punched when streetcar tickets are purchased and at all rallies," he emphasized.

Persons participating in the illegal use of Associated Student cards will be brought before the Student Council, Levin warned.

Six activities will be conducted by the Associated Students through February 21.

- BOXING—February 16; Free with AS card, 40 cents without.
- RALLY—February 17; AS members only.
- BASKETBALL — February 17 — Stockton; Free with AS card, 50 cents without.
- PI MU GAMMA DANCE—February 17; 80c with AS card, 50 without.
- BASKETBALL — February 18 — Modesto; Free with card, 50 cents without.
- FRESHMAN DANCE — February 21; Associated Student members only.
- GUARDSMAN—This issue free to all students. Other issues to Associated Student members only. The next issue will be published Tuesday, February 21.

Pi Mu Gamma Dance

Primary Shuffle And Game In Friday Night Double Header

Associated Student membership presents an added advantage Friday night when Pi Mu Gamma sponsors its "Primary Shuffle" in the student lounge.

Opening this semester's social calendar, the dance will follow the Stockton basketball game to be played here.

The affair, scheduled for presentation in the student lounge, will be 30 cents for Associated Student members. Cards will be punched at the door, committee spokesmen said.

"All students are invited to appropriately end game night at the dance," Lee Stark, president of the biology club, declared.

Casual attire for men and women will be fitting for the sport dress affair, he added, and dancing will continue from 9 to 12 midnight, to the music of juke box recordings.

Refreshing soft drinks are promised to quench the thirst of the dancers.

Committee members Stark, Chuck Konigsberg, and Arthur Brooks promised a good time to all attendants.

This will be the first time a dance has been held here following a home basketball tilt.

This event will be the first of the numerous affairs on the Pi Mu Gamma's activity list.

Membership in the society is open to all students who are majoring in biological science, with the purpose of the club to create and maintain an interest in biology.

Sponsor of the group is John F. Hare, biology instructor.

This is only one of the clubs and organizations which benefits from Associated Student funds.

Programs are arranged throughout the semester which feature movies and guest speakers. Frequent parties and outings highlight the activities of the scientifically-minded organization.

President Conlan Predicts Student Store Opening

Sometime during the Fall semester the student on-campus store will be started, President Louis G. Conlan predicted yesterday.

The college's president, in foretelling events expected to occur during the next year, said that provided no new difficulties appear, the student store will open its doors in the latter part of 1950.

In reference to the proposed campus development in Balboa Park, he said that architects have already submitted a "rough" plan.

President Conlan also said that he expects a very successful semester under the new Associated Student leaders, whom he had met recently.

Approximately February 20 he expects to leave for Atlantic City where he will attend the Convention of American Association of School Administrators. During his trip, he said, he plans to visit several trade and technical schools in the New York area, and use what information he gathers to benefit the college.

Parker Asks Club Presidents' Aid In Card Sale

Attention Club Presidents:

As the new Associated Student President, I request a moment of your attention and serious consideration concerning a subject of vital importance to all of us: The sale of ASSOCIATED STUDENT CARDS!

The Spring Semester of 1950 affords you, the leaders, an opportunity to enlist old and new students alike into the membership of the ASSOCIATED STUDENTS.

This year the ASSOCIATED STUDENT will receive a $40.00 return for a $5.00 investment. With the increase in privileges there is a new ruling: ONLY MEMBERS OF THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS WILL BE ADMITTED TO ACTIVITIES SPONSORED BY THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS. It is only fair that the investor, and the investor alone, should receive the dividends.

I cannot impress you enough with the importance of 100 PER CENT ASSOCIATED STUDENT MEMBERSHIP within your respective organizations. Such whole-hearted support of your Student Government is sincerely solicited, for, without that support budgets and activities for the coming semester would require drastic curtailment.

Remember, the larger the membership the greater the benefits!
Don Parker, President Associated Students

ASSOCIATED STUDENT President Don Parker stressed the importance of 100 per cent student membership in his message to club presidents.

Basketball

College Cagers Play Key Games February 17, 18

By Walt Hell, Editor

Rolling smoothly down the stretch, City College's fast moving cagers take on two important opponents in a pair of games in the men's gymnasium over the weekend that could make or break their chances for the Southern division title of the NCJC Conference.

On Friday, February 17, the Rams collide with strong Stockton College and on Saturday, February 18, the locals meet a pesky Modesto quintet. Starting time for both games is 8 p.m. with Associated Student members admitted free. Cards will be punched.

In the opener on Friday, the Rams will be the slight favorites because of the home court aspect of the clash. However, the Mustangs, who edged out the locals, 48 to 47, last month, could conceivably jolt the Rams with another stinging defeat.

Stockton's attack is built around the scoring and backboard work of Rod Dietrich. Along with Dietrich's work, the Mustangs possess height and speed, the thought of which caused Coach Ralph Hillsman to groan, "Stockton will be tough to beat."

On Saturday, CCSF can breathe a little easier when the locals face Modesto, though the Pirates are not exactly in the pushover class.

The importance of the two tilts was emphasized over the week-end when the Rams entered a first place deadlock with San Mateo, both having a 7-2 won, loss record.

Kev Duggan and Dick Boyle have given the Rams a consistent scoring punch, while Al Munn and Marty Schneider handle the playmaking chores. George McLaughlin and Skip Carnegie alternate at forward.

Hillsman expects his fast breaking second team to see plenty of action in both tilts, either as a unit or as substitutes.

Parking Permits Increase To 400

Recent improvements in west campus parking facilities will increase the number of student parking permits to 400 for the Spring semester, Edwin C. Browne, dean of men, announced early Friday.

Three numbers will be chosen by the Student Council at the close of registration, and students whose last number on their Associated Student card corresponds to any of these numbers will be eligible for a parking permit, Browne said.

First semester students will not be eligible for parking permits this semester, he continued.

The improved parking facilities will increase the number of cars on the two paved areas to 300, with 50 cars permitted near Buildings 1 and 2.

The unpaved area between Buildings 1 and 13 can be used for parking during dry weather, he added.

The lucky number holders should see Dean Browne immediately after the three numbers are picked by the Council.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

"WITH Us Today" is what we call it around these parts, and with us today we have some pretty interesting people. So without further introduction let's hitch the typewriter up a notch or two and plunge right in.

In the local boy(s) make good department we have Dick Brennan, who occupied The Guardsman editorial throne last semester. R. B. currently resides in Ukiah where he holds down the sports editor's job on the Redwood Journal Press-Dispatch . . . then there's Arnold Wechter who went from City College to San Jose State and from there to Santa Cruz and a job as reporter on the Santa Cruz Sentinel News . . . and last, but certainly not least, we have Raymond Tom, formerly a student in the Advertising Art dept and now an honored alumnus. Tom's oil painting, "The Two Of Us," copped a $100 prize at the recent Palace of Fine Arts exhibit. Congrats all around

BOUQUETS. BRICKBATS, ETC.

No column of this type would be complete without a bouquets and brickbats dept. Today it's strictly bouquets

From Wally Levin, chairman Associated Student Card Incinerator drive:

To: Sandra Marks, Claire Jones, Marilyn Backman, Barbara Ross, Caroline Bosque, Miriam Rubens, Shela Berke, Sharon Hoskins, Gloria D'amico, and Arlene Owens for their help in sending one thousand post cards on their way to incoming students. And also to Bob Billings, Frank Bauer, Charles Adams, and Larry Johnson "for all their work in putting out the Associated Student cards, pamphlets, and posters." Ladies and gentlemen, Mr. Levin thanks you.

And while the bouquets are flying thick and fast let's set one aside for Dean Jack Brady who celebrated the passing of another birthday just a week ago today.

MIRACLES STILL HAPPEN

One for the book: Psychology instructor Phyllis Haley had a pearl necklace whose cash value was exceeded only by its value as an heirloom. One day while on the campus she lost it. Two weeks creep by then, while looking in her mailbox at home, she noticed a plain, unmarked envelope. The pearl necklace is inside. Miss Haley wants her unknown benefactor to know she's "very grateful."

All those present who still don't believe in miracles can go stand in the corner. Class adjourned

Student Of Distinction

Cage Star Kevin Duggan

Kevin Duggan, that scoring phenomena of the hardwoods, presently guiding the college five at the crest of the NCJC Conference Southern division with his extraordinary scoring spurts, was not always a heavy point producer.

Only since he began playing at City College did the 6 foot 3 inch, 185 pound team captain blossom out with his high scoring attributes. "Throughout my basketball career preceding entrance into college I was just an average player scoring at a minimum," reminisces Duggan.

To Ram Coach Ralph Hillsman, Duggan accords much credit for his outstanding development. He describes Hillsman as "the best coach I have ever played under."

The evening Duggan picked off 32 points against Long Beach City College in the Modesto Tournament he exercised no particular over-exertion. Explains Duggan: "When they told me I had hit 32 points it came as a surprise. I knew I was scoring consistently and believed I had around 22."

Duggan's most effective scoring punch comes from the use of his jump, hook and pivot shots. "However," he explains, "against Long Beach I scored heavily on drive-ins."

—By Gene Van Dyke.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX No. 1 TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1950 Page 2

A Hearty Welcome, Changes, And Stress On Participation

IN most cases the opening editorial of a college publication facing a new semester is filled with resolutions and goes out of its way to welcome the new students to the campus.

Now all of this is well and good and we do want to welcome the new students to the college and wish them a prosperous stay, but for the moment we would like to discuss a few innovations that will go into this publication.

First, in the adjoining space is a column that will give the news behind the news. Furthermore, this column will hit small but newsworthy items about people and things current on the campus.

Just below the editorial will be a running feature covering all of the women's activities on the campus. In a survey conducted by The Guardsman last semester we found that the women and their organizations were "left in the cold," so to speak. Therefore: The Feminine Viewpoint

ELSEWHERE on this page the reader will find a running feature spotlighting outstanding students who deserve recognition for their accomplishments scholastically and otherwise. The selection of these students will be made by an impartial committee not connected with The Guardsman. If the reader knows of some outstanding student attending the college, let him submit the name to us and we will forward it to the committee.

Turning to page four the reader will find a type of column, the lack of which has been sorely noticed for the past few semesters. The column will strive to clear up in the reader's mind questions which may arise from time to time on student government.

With this presentation, aimed at a cross section of student interest, the stress and the aim are on greater participation.

One medium we offer here. The Ram's Horn is open at any time for a letter of opinion or a question on a pertinent subject. The letters must be legitimate and may be turned in at the telephone office in the main building or brought direct to The Guardsman office, Building 12.

Feminine Viewpoint: Coeds Play Major Role In College Life

By Bobbie Jackson

ALTHOUGH the men students attending the college greatly outnumber the women, there are many activites and groups on campus that are limited to the fairer sex only.

Foremost on this list are the Associated Women Students, who give a great deal of service to the college.

Associated Student membership is the only prerequisite for women who wish to belong to and to play an active role in helping the college through the AWS.

Each semester the AWS, under the guidance of Dean Margaret Dougherty, gives a tea in the student lounge in honor of incoming freshmen.

A tea is also held for high school seniors who plan on attending the college in the future; and the group aids new students through the complications of the registration procedure. Members also usher at the Opera House during the concert and opera seasons.

Another group exclusively for women is the Women's Athletic Association, sponsored by Gloria Swiegood. Tennis, basketball, softball, volleyball, badminton and archery are offered by the WAA. During the first college hour a meeting will be held to formulate the semester's plans.

For women who enjoy music and like to sing, the Treble Clef Society offers voice training and opportunities to sing on and off campus. Under the direction of Gertrude Norgard, it also entertains at the AWS teas and takes part in the annual Christmas Concert.

The home economics courses offer women a chance to develop their cooking and sewing skills to the utmost. While this course is devoted to the needs of the woman, an occasional male sometimes strays into one of the classes.

Thus although outnumbered by far, the women have an opportunity to hand together for social activities and service to the college in the field of each individual's own choice.

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Forty-Six Organizations Open Semester As Seven Councils

This semester marks a period of organization for the many clubs and organizations on the campus as all have been segregated and placed in councils according to their type of society under the supervision and coordination of the Club Activities Board.

In the honor society council the college honor society, Alpha Gamma Sigma, is open to students maintaining a B average in at least a 12 unit program. Music majors possessing a B average are eligible for Lambda Alpha, while membership in Omicron Phi Pi, the economics honor society, is limited to students receiving the same grade average in sociology, political science, history and economics. The last organization to fall under this council is the honorary debate society, Phi Rho Pi.

Those wishing to join a professional club may find many listed under the professional council such as the Drama Society, Engineering Society, Forum Club, Hotel and Restaurant Society, Ram Cam, the photographic society, the geologists' Pick and Hammer Society, Pi Mu Gamma for those interested in biological sciences, Phi Epsilon Rho, the society open to women students majoring in physical education or recreation, and last but not least in this group, the Radio Club.

Under the religious council religious and cultural activities may be found in the Collegiate Christian Fellowship and the Hillel Foundation.

Many organizations may be found in the social service council whose activities are primarily social and service. Alpha Phi Omega Fraternity, devoted to service projects and social activities, and the S. F. Society are the two men's groups under this council. Others which are co-educational are the Chinese Club, Cosmopolitan Club, Latin-American Club, Le Cercle Francais Society, Masonic Club, Ski Rams, Strikes and Spares, Filipino Students Club and the Newman Club.

The music council includes such societies as the Band Association, Mu Iota Psi, and the Men's Glee Club.

The fraternity council includes the following clubs: Alpha Lambda Sigma, Alpha Sigma Deltas, Beta Phi Beta, Beta Tau, Tri Epsilon, Gamma Phi Ypsilon, Phi Beta Delta, Pi Delta Koppa and Tau Chi Sigma.

The following fall under the sorority council: Alpha Lambda Chi, Delta Psi, Kappa Phi, Phi Beta Rho, Theta Tau, Zeta Chi, and Delta Sigma Tau.

Pulse Of The Campus

Ram's Horn

• Is Baseball A Waste Of Money?

Editor, The Guardsman:

Since it is rumored that you're asking for comments from the public it seems high time to me that something were done about the awful waste of money on activities that are not a drawing card to the public and offer comparatively little to the students. What about baseball? Do you see the games? Does anyone? What income comes from baseball? Is a game ever played on a dry field? Why couldn't we take the baseball budget and send a debating team around the country, establishing City College as a source of fine academic preparation? Well, you asked for it and I gave it to you.

Interested Reader

(Editor's note: It is regrettably true that college baseball is not as well attended as some other sports, notably football and basketball. We would be interested in hearing some other opinions on this.)

• Observer Says Men Look Sloppy

Editor, The Guardsman:

What is the matter with the college student of today that he can't dress up and look at least acceptable in public? From many of the clothes I see on the campus one would think that there is a perennial hard time party in progress. Dirty khakis that would stand alone. Sloppy shirts and sweaters. Unshaven faces, sloppy socks, if any, and plenty of other things that might reflect home life on the range at branding time. The coeds try to hold a decent balance and really look nice as a general rule. They are a good plug for the college and if they dressed as careless as the men students it is quite probable the enrollment would suffer and the Community Chest would send all old clothes to the campus for immediate use. Does it cost so much to keep clean? I can't see it.

Disgusted

(Editor's note: What's wrong, "Disgusted," don't you like our state? This is the land of sunny days and carefree people. What do you expect people to wear? Tuxedoes?)

Take It From Kays

Dogs Now Attend College

SCIENCE has found that Ram students aren't the only ones that scratch their ears before an examination or become nervous in new or strange surroundings. Dogs also display many of the same characteristics.

It was this phenomenon that led to one of the most unique establishments in the field of four-legged education. It is a school for dogs at Bar Harbor, Maine, under the direction of a geneticist, Dr. J. P. Scott.

SOUP-BONE SCHOLARSHIPS

The school is coeducational with no racial or religious restrictions. At present there are about 90 students enrolled, including most every size, shape, and breed of canine. Scholarships are granted in the form of soup bones and tenderloin steaks, and the Hydrophobia chapter of the Alpha Bityer Gramma Fraternity maintains a dog house there.

Since the names of a family of 90 would be too hard to remember, the pooches are given numbers. They are graded by various I. Q. tests and report cards are kept on their performance.

Their intelligence is calculated by the amount of time it takes them to get around a barrier, run through a maze, or make a decision.

They have a little cocker spaniel that is regarded as pretty much of a dog genius. Something of an Einstein on the woof.

She is number 701 on the records. In a matter of 20 seconds she figures out which door of several will lead to food, when it takes ordinary dawgs well over a minute. She rates three times higher than the mob in memory work, and can run through a complicated maze in 15.8 seconds flat. (She will probably go to the post odds-on in her next race.)

CANINE I. Q. RATED

In tests to see which dog will snap first at a bone, it has been found that timidity is closely associated with intelligence. The least aggressive pupils seem to have the highest I. Q.s.

Dr. C. C. Little, past president of the University of Michigan, now working at the laboratory, says that a human being's emotions will determine, more than his intelligence, how well he will get along in the world. The main project in the canine classroom now is to determine just how the emotions are influenced.

Aside from the dogs, the school has raised a strain of rabbits that would rather fight than run, and a strain of mice that throw a fit and drop dead at the sound of a bell.

Just as an afterthought we wonder how many cans of Red Heart number 701 would charge to take our physics exam for us tomorrow.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rose Hardie
STAFF EDITORS ..... Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Mary Lou Cooper, Larry Bales, Jack Vanderbilt, Felton White.
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Kays.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, Terry Ryan, Jack Spalding, Bob Valli.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandra Marks, Assistant.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcomb.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Harrington, Dick Steinheimer.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diez, assistant.
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normoly, assistant.
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

PILOTING last season's basketball team to a southern conference championship and a 31 wins, 2 loss seasonal record, Coach Ralph Hillsman's casaba team is currently leading the NCJCC conference.

College Cagers Split Weekend Basket Series

By Gene Van Dyke

Splitting a week-end double bill, defeating Monterey 69-41 last Saturday evening and dropping a 51-67 decision to Hartnell the previous night, the college five slumped into a first place deadlock with San Mateo, both now having a 7-2 record.

The Rams continue their quest for the NCJC Conference Southern division title and an eventual shot at the Sacramento Regional Play-offs when they encounter Stockton and Modesto at home this coming week-end.

Losing for the second time in conference play this season Coach Ralph Hillsman's Rams succumbed to the accurate shooting of a home-town rallied Hartnell quintet Saturday. The Panthers' new center, Bob Wilson, was the difference between defeat and victory for the Salinas team. Wilson, who had not played against the college earlier in the year, found the range for 17 decisive points.

Hillsman and his travelling squad of 12 had little trouble putting aside Monterey. The Lobos gave the Rams a run for their money early in the game, knotting the count at 12-12, but found themselves incapable of hitting the target in the second half. Kev Duggan potted 18 for the winners.

Against Stockton January 27 City College lost its initial conference game, 47-48, after blowing a 41-25 lead with eight minutes remaining. With 15 seconds left Duggan put the college in front 47-46 on a drive shot. Cub reserve guard Jim Moser counted from far out to ice the game, less than five seconds from the finish.

While outscoring Modesto 56-45 January 28, Ram starters Skip Carnegie, Pat Boyle and Marty Schneider hit ten points apiece. Duggan and Boyle registered 21 and 20 respectively, to lead Hillsman's charges to a 69-53 win over San Mateo, February 3.

Winning only 50-44 from Menlo February 4, the Rams staged an impressive defensive show.

Ken Flower scored the Oaks' first field goal ten minutes into the first half. Until that point the Menlans kept abreast the Rams through their ability on the free throw line.

Trackmen Ready For Next Season; Signup Due Soon

Coincident with the opening of the spring semester, trackmen begin limbering up for the coming season. Grover Klemmer, thinclad coach, is expected to name a signup date as soon as the semester is under way.

Last year's squad, while not the best the college has turned out, did well considering the number of men who partiicpated. Because of lack of funds, the team had to be cut drastically and thus valuable members who would have boosted point totals by taking second and third places were not able to compete.

Despite the lack of depth and the fact that the college lost nearly every meet last season, several men turned in outstanding records. Owen Moore broke the college record for the 440 yard run, and John Hurst was a consistent point winner in the hurdle events. However, both of these lads are out this season via ineligibility.

Coach Klemmer counts on the return of Ken Fogarty, sprinter; Bob Bland, broad jumper and sprinter; Allen Christe and Roy Carnegie, 440; Charles Leonard, shot and discus; and Irv Beltrame, sprint star.

Fischer Calls Baseball Signup

Coach Bill Fischer gave the order yesterday for a meeting of all prospective baseball candidates this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, in Room 107 at the men's gymnasium.

A heavy turnout is expected again this semester, but Fischer warned that every candidate will be given an equal chance to make the 35-man varsity team. Students interested in gaining berths on the roster are invited by Fischer to secure a tryout for themselves.

Any new students desiring to play baseball this spring are expected to make every effort to see Fischer at the earliest date and to attend today's meeting.

Fischer plans to hold intra-squad games throughout the month to determine who will occupy positions on the college nine. Names of the intra-squad members will be posted on the gymnasium blackboard in advance of the elimination sessions.

Opening practice games are scheduled to start early in March, with the initial NCJCC game to be played against Modesto at the rival diamond on March 25.

The schedule follows:

March 25	SF at Modesto
April 1	Monterey at SF
April 15	Stockton at SF
April 22	Menlo at SF
May 6	SF at Salinas

Ted's Ocean Cleaners
50c
Slacks
Shirts
Skirts
DRY CLEANED
Corner of Ocean & Plymouth

Bobbie & Les
Invite You To Make THEIR
CANDID CAMERA SHOP
YOUR Photographic Headquarters
1933 Ocean DE 3-3340
(Open Nights Until Nine)

PICTURED above is Tom Wilson, intramural director. Wilson, who divides his time between teaching Recreational Leadership and Hygiene, besides directing all intramural sports, still has time to sling the casaba pill.

Wilson Announces New Intra Setup

A new set up for all intramural sports will be put into operation during the coming semester, Tom Wilson, director of intramural sports, said yesterday.

Under the new system, all similar group teams will play among themselves, thus enabling, for example, fraternity teams to play other fraternity teams.

All club organizations will be placed in a league, with the winner being named champion of all college club organizations.

At the end of the regular schedule, all champions of the various leagues will meet in a tournament to determine the champion of the college.

Awards will be made at the end of the season to all champion teams which reach the final tournament. This setup will probably be used in all of the intramural sports during the spring semester.

Wilson also stated that this is the first time anything of this nature has been tried at the college. Results of the participation will determine whether this system will be used in future intramural scheduling.

Overtime Decides Traditional Game

Profs Grab Casaba Victory Over Sophs 15-13

By Bob Valli

With a crowd of over 1500 students echoing mixed cheers, the college professors scored two free tosses in a three minute overtime to score a breathtaking 15-13 victory over the rival sophomore quintet in their traditional basketball game during the double college hour on Friday, January 27, in the men's gymnasium.

With the score tied at 13-13 after the regulation playing time, the profs put together two charity throws; one by Tom Wilson and another by Roy Diederichsen, to take the game. Both these veteran performers had too much vigor for the bewildered sophs, who were held scoreless in the overtime.

Resting on last year's laurels in the first half, the profs trailed by a 7-3 count as the half-time buzzer sounded. It was an uphill battle all the way for the experienced intellectuals. But with "Sock 'em" Diederichsen spearheading the attack, the profs rallied from behind to even matters just as the final whistle blew.

It was a matter of too much determination to succeed in the overtime period that gave the profs their victory. In the extra session, the well-drilled faculty men huffed and puffed the length of the court to outscore the ragged and flustered sophs.

The two-platoon system was employed by both quintets; thus a fast finish materialized. Fact is that the profs had a three platoon system. A special congregation of the college's administration department, led by Edwin C. Browne, was delegated to get the affair started. Other starters were Marcus Skarstedt, Edward Sandys, Luther Lyon, and George Gould. This group entered the contest for the opening tip-off ceremonies and then retired to watch their fellow members retain the prof's domination of the annual tilt.

High scoring honors were garnered by Diederichsen, who tallied nine markers for his side. Wilson put four points on the scoreboard, and Lou Batmale hit for two. Leading point maker among the soph squad was Jack Armstrong with four, followed by Dud Truelson, Lou Pisani, Frank Batto and Don Ayers, who each scored two points. George Chevez scored on a foul toss.

Boxers Start Spring Season, Battle Marines Corps Team In Men's Gym Thursday Evening

By Frank Monte

Local boxing will assume its first important role of the current season since its elevation to a recognized major sport, Thursday night, February 16, when the college varsity meets the Camp Pendleton Marines from Oceanside, California, in the men's gymnasium at 8 o'clock.

Featuring eight matches, the night's contests will comprise the second varsity engagement this season, the first one being the locals' loss to San Jose State, 14½-3½.

With no information concerning their opponents available, Coach Roy Diederichsen's pugilists will battle unknowns, but judging by the caliber of most service teams, they should face some tough competition.

Local contestants scheduled to box Thursday night are Telmo Frisco, 125; Len Gage, 130; Jerry Stern, 135; Louis Gage, 145, Sigurd Teutz, 155; John Brooks, 165; Dick Ramsey, 175; Frank Sueuga or Herb Brown, heavyweight.

A re-occurrence of a right hand injury in the San Jose meet, sidelined heavyweight Ike Sorenson for three or four weeks. Compensating for the loss will be the addition of Joe Boyd, a member of last year's varsity. Boyd, who resides in Detroit, Michigan, journeyed from Detroit to attend the college and participate on the boxing team.

Although the varsity suffered its humbliest defeat by San Jose State, Friday, January 27, awareness of the type of competition to expect this season was gained by all. Dewitt Portal, Spartan coach, praised Diederichsen's team, stating that conditioning would make them a top-notch squad.

In the main event between Frank Sueuga, local heavyweight, and Jack Schberies, it appeared Sueuga would put his opponent away in the first round. Schberies, never tiring, took all Sueuga's punches, displayed his own barrage in the second round, and emerged from the third with a technical knockout to his credit.

Local winners were: Dick Landry (SF) dec. Cliff Tucker, 145; Jim Keyes (SF) dec. Dusty Rhoades, 175; Herb Brown (SF) dec. Jerry Gold, and Jerry Stern (SF) drew Jim Macdonald, 135.

ROY DIEDERICHSEN, boxing coach, whose last year's varsity took second place national honors, is preparing for the coming season with hopes of taking the Pasadena National Two Year College tournament.

Fighters Arrange Meetings With Service Teams

Because very few of the two year colleges in Northern California possess boxing teams, Coach Roy Diederichsen's varsity squad will conduct all their dual meets with four year colleges and service teams.

During the month of March all local bouts are expected to be televised over KGO-TV on the first four Thursdays of the month. Beside the All-College meet and the San Jose matches, two yet to be scheduled matches will comprise the March television broadcasts.

While the dual meets are all important, all eyes are centered on the Northern California Junior College Boxing tournament at Modesto, which will determine representatives for the National Two Year College Championship at Pasadena City College sometime in April.

Associated Students will be afforded another one of the many advantages offered members, gaining free admission to all local bouts. Non-members will be charged 40 cents and adults 60 cents.

The complete schedule is as follows:

CCSF vs. Camp Pendleton	Feb. 16 (Here)
CCSF vs. Santa Clara	Feb. 21 (There)
CCSF vs. El Toro Marines	Feb. 25 (Here)
San Jose Invitational	March 17 (There)
CCSF vs. unistred	March 23 (Here) TV
CCSF vs. unsigned	March 30 (Here) TV
Northern California Championship	Modesto
Nat'l 2 Year College Champ.	Ogden, Utah

Attention Faculty of C.C.S.F.

The 1950 PONTIAC

Attention Students of C.C.S.F.

Performance Unsurpassed
SEE IT
Sunset Motors
1215 Ocean Avenue . . . Across from West Campus
• Skip Payment Plan for Instructors on Vacation
• Factory Delivery, Pontiac, Mich., Saves $274
Orders must be placed soon to insure factory delivery
Mechanical Repairs and Service by Expert Mechanics
Leave your car while you attend your classes

Straight Talk

By Bill Thomas

A NEW and enlightened era is being heralded at the City College of San Francisco.

The Associated Students are planning a new policy under the competent and able leadership of President Donald Parker.

This is a policy of cooperation and understanding, a policy of action, a policy that believes that the Associated Students are the ones who should receive the benefits of the functions of the Associated Students.

They have a long way to go, these leaders of the Associated Students; but with this new idea of trying they will get there. Of that there is little doubt.

The present financial condition of the Associated Students is poor. But with this active policy of cooperation there is every chance that the financial condition will improve immeasurably when the money is invested where it can do the most good.

This is a time when all the plans and signs are optimistic. It is not so much the idea of what we shall do if we fail, but rather how much better will things be when we succeed.

However, these officers will tell you that there is no room for the free-loader in this new scheme of things. Instead there must be constant cooperation and participation.

With new and improved methods for development of the Associated Student organization, there is a prediction for the highest Associated Student membership in the history of the college. Higher membership brings more activities and a program of much wider interest.

There will be a crackdown on the lending of Associated Student cards to non-members, and activities will be more and more limited to Associated Student members. The idea of getting something for nothing is being ended.

The success of this new movement also rests on the question of the size of the Associated Student membership. Ambitious ideas cannot succeed without financial support.

Redwood Ram Dominates West Campus

Symbolic Sammie Cavorts For Student Activities

Actually it's just a large piece of carved redwood, a purely inanimate object. But with a coat of red and white paint and a commanding position on the west campus, it ceases to be just an object. It becomes a symbol.

So a piece of wood becomes a statue and a statue becomes a symbol. But a symbol must have something to symbolize. Something like the City College of San Francisco.

Now a gentleman of such stature must have a history, and the Ram is no exception. It began when sculptor Dudley C. Carter wood-carved a redwood stump into the form of a Ram. Then came the first public appearance, at the San Francisco World's Fair in 1939-40, where it appeared in one of the California handicraft exhibits.

But fairs don't last forever, not even world's fairs, and a self-respecting Ram needs a home. So the late architect Timothy Pflueger, who planned the college, presented the Ram to the college's former president, Dr. J. A. Cloud.

There was, however, one drawback. In those days the college had no west campus; and consequently, no place to put a 3,000 pound redwood Ram. So down to the men's gymnasium it went, and into storage.

For five long years it lay there, 'til the west campus came into being. Then, at 10:45 on Tuesday, March 12, the symbol assumed its rightful place—as pictured at right.

However, the symbol has an alter ego, a very animated fellow who is known as Sammy the Ram. Sammy (pictured at left) consists of a papier-mache head with a member of Phi Beta Delta fraternity underneath. At the end of each semester, according to tradition, the head is removed, revealing the true identity of the anonymous Sammy.

Fairmont Hotel Is Scene Of Dance To Welcome Freshmen

In honor of the freshman members of the Associated Students, the freshman class dance is slated for Tuesday, February 21, in the Terrace Room of the Fairmont Hotel, according to Larry Ross, president.

Theme for this event, which precedes the Washington's Birthday holiday, is "Snow Fall."

Music will be provided by Wally Heider's orchestra from 9 p.m. to 12 p.m., and the dress will be semi-formal.

The affair, which is the second event on the Ram social calendar, is open to all Associated Student members. Cards will be punched.

Ross is assisted in the planning of the dance by Nan Zachariah, Gayle Travis, Sheila Burke and members of the freshman council.

Concert Artists Will Appear Here

A series of free concerts for all Associated Student members has been planned for the Spring semester, according to Flossita Badger, music director, with the first scheduled for Tuesday, February 21, and four others following through June.

Soloist for the first concert will be a child prodigy, Leonore Joffe, a 15-year-old violinist who made her debut last year as a violin soloist with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

Accompanied by Ludwig Altmann on the piano, she will open the concert series on Tuesday, February 21, at 12 noon, in the west campus auditorium. Admission is by Associated Student card only, which will be punched.

The A Cappella Choir from College of the Pacific will give the second concert on Tuesday, March 7, and will be followed in early April by Maurice Uphrat, pianist.

Hearts And Flowers Rule Valentines Day

Traditional crimson hearts adorned with cupids and sentimental verses blossom forth again this February 14, for it's St. Valentine's Day!

Cherished by all romantic-minded individuals, the custom of sending valentines began centuries back in the days of the Roman festivals.

The ancient Roman practice of drawing names has died out, and is now replaced by the exchange of gaily decorated greeting cards fashioned from bits of colored paper and lace.

Washington, Mission, Lincoln, Commerce

Tally Lists Winners In Registration Derby

By Cy Donaldson

As registration of new students terminated it was reported by students conducting an unofficial poll that approximately 1100 enrollees had passed through the student lounge.

This influx of incoming students brings the total number of students entering or returning to the college to roughly 5000, Dr. Grant Marsh, Coordinator of Student Welfare, commented.

Veterans comprise one-fifth of the total number of students attending the college, 246 having registered as Freshmen on Friday.

Half of the enrollees went to local public, private, and parochial high schools in the city. The high school graduates from public schools in the city were evenly distributed among nine different schools.

Enrollees from Washington High outnumbered those students from other public schools with 72 applicants; Mission second with 64; Lincoln third, 53; Commerce fourth, 48; Balboa fifth, 47; Lowell sixth, 46; Galileo seventh, 40; Polytechnic eighth, 37; and Girls' High ninth with 15.

Former students from San Francisco private or parochial schools numbered 37, while there were 114 men and women from out of state schools, excluding those from foreign countries.

Switzerland, Japan, China, Korea, San Salvador, the Canal Zone, and many other countries were well represented by students registering at the college. City College of San Francisco is thus truly an educational "melting pot."

The enrollment at the college has decreased slightly since an all-time high in Fall '47. In Fall '45 there were 2000 men and women on campus, but a distinct increase was noted the following semester, Spring '46, when the returning veterans increased the enrollment to 3300, an increase of almost 75 per cent.

During the Fall '46 semester and the Spring '47 semester enrollment remained constant an approximately 5200 students.

The main building originally was planned for a maximum of 3000 students, since no allowance was made for World War II, which left a gap in many men's and women's plans for a college education.

The additional space offered by the west campus, which was a wartime base for U. S. Waves, relieved the congestion caused by the influx of veterans.

New students are the recipients of a revised registration procedure this semester. Simplification of the program in restricting registration to the west campus instead of the main building and the west campus results in much less foot-work for the student.

TRAVEL-MINDED?

We handle all student tours to Europe, Mexico and the Orient

We plan . . . independent travel, too!

If travel-minded, call

The Students Travel Club
Morse-Gleason Co.
Travel Agents
323 Geary at Powell
SUtter 1-4869

ROBIN HOOD'S

From past to present
We've led the league
For snacks and treats
That are sure to please

Featuring

THICK SHAKES
TEMPTING SUNDAES
REFRESHING SODAS
DELICIOUS SANDWICHES

Next Door to the
El Rey Theatre
Free Parking at Rear
1962 Ocean Ave.

Sophomore Class Winners Cups Awarded To King And Queen

Pictured at right are Norma Moebes and Bill Rosaia, who, clutching loving cups from Beta Tau and Theta Tau assumed the coveted positions of Sophomore King and Queen at the traditional Soph Formal on Saturday, January 21.

Climaxing a gay evening of music and dancing, the coronation revealed the two sophomores elected in January.

FAXON GARAGE

OFFICIAL BRAKE TESTING STATION

Brakes Inspected and Adjusted $1.50

GENERAL REPAIRS

545 Faxon Avenue JU 7-1063

The Student Store

Features A Complete Line Of College Supplies

Belt Buckles
Pennants
Stationery
Pens and Pencils
Athletic Equipment
Engineering Supplies

Support Your College

Buy An Associated Student Card

City College Student Store

965 Ocean At Phelan

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

1949 Member Associate Collegiate Press 1950

VOLUME XXIX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1950 NUMBER 2

Kathleen Kerrigan 1000th To Cross Registration Line

KATHLEEN KERRIGAN, thousandth new student to pass through the registration line, receives congratulations and a welcoming arm from Sammy the Ram. Miss Kerrigan, an Abraham Lincoln graduate, is enrolled in the college's Opera Workshop courses.—Photo by Harrington.

Opera Workshop To Get Benefit Of Soprano Voice

By Larry Bales

Weary and spent, Kathleen Kerrigan, attractive entering student, passed through the registration line Friday, February 9, to win recognition as the 1000th new student registering at the college.

Officially welcomed by the Associated Student officers and Sammy-the-Ram, Miss Kerrigan turned out to be the student long awaited by the tabulators at the end of the registration line.

Recently graduated from San Francisco State College, Miss Kerrigan, gayly dressed in typical campus garb, has enrolled in Opera Workshop courses. She has studied voice for the past five years, and is a soprano.

Her Opera Workshop courses will be completely different from the ones she took at State College, those of elementary teaching.

Coming from a family of teachers, she was planning to follow the teaching tradition of her family but changed her mind after graduation.

An alumnus of Abraham Lincoln High School and one of those rare native San Franciscans, she was a member of the Alpha Chi Alpha while at State College.

After purchasing her Associated Student card from Don Parker, president of the Associated Students, Miss Kerrigan, who is taking the maximum of 16½ units, commented favorably on the magnitude and pleasant atmosphere of the campus.

AS Cards Ending In 4, 7 And 8 Get Parking Permits

Applications for west campus parking permits will be accepted today in the Dean's office, according to an announcement made late last Wednesday by Edwin C. Browne, dean of men.

Members of the Associated Students whose cards end in the numbers 4, 7, and 8, students living on the campus, and certain student officers whose duties necessitate their making several trips a day to the west campus, are eligible for the 400 permits.

To assure an honest distribution of permits three numbers were drawn by Associated Student officers last Wednesday. The students holding cards ending in numbers 4, 7, and 8 should submit their applications immediately to the Dean's office, located in Building 2, second floor.

This semester all persons parking their automobiles on the west campus are expected to comply with the following rules: no parking on campus streets, no parking behind Building 12, and no parking in front of any other buildings, with the exception of Building 12.

At the present time, there are 351 parking spaces on the west campus and 450 students holding parking tickets.

Parker Tells Council CAB System Is Unconstitutional

In a surprise move, Associated Student President Donald Parker announced at the Thursday Student Council meeting that the Club Activities Board reorganization plan "is unconstitutional and null and void."

Before the declaration of the invalidity of the new club activities structure, the Student Council had the new plan explained by the parliamentarian in a brief, highly technical sentence.

Then in several quick, forceful sentences, Parker outlined the statements concerning the CAB as listed in Article Five of the Associated Student Constitution, and he announced that the reorganization plan was unconstitutional and therefore inactive.

In the surprised silence that followed this statement Parker asked for and got a motion of adjournment. He then took a voice vote on the adjournment and with a crack of his gavel announced the meeting was ended.

The reorganization plan divided the CAB into seven groups with each group sending one representative to the CAB.

However, Parker stated the Constitution requires that every club cast votes in charter approval, which, under the new plan, would be impossible. He also pointed out that a large amount of power would be vested in a few persons under the seven council plan.

Representatives from all the clubs will now meet together as before the reorganization. This will not affect the legality of such groups of clubs as the IFC, Parker said.

Debaters To Meet Bay Area Colleges

Developing rapidly after the forced discontinuation during the war, Phi Rho Pi debating society has planned an extensive program for this coming semester under the sponsorship of Michael Griffin, debate coach.

Between the present debate on the question: "Resolved, that the Federal Government Should Enact a System of Compulsory Health Insurance," the society is making plans to enter the National Intercollegiate Debate, where the question of "Federal Government Should Nationalize All Basic Non-agricultural Industries" is to be discussed.

The society expects to hold debating sessions with local colleges. Both Stanford and San Francisco State have put in their bids for a meet with the college.

A Speakers' Bureau is commencing a series of talks before the Physiology 10 classes today, to familiarize the new students with the many activities offered here.

Cafeteria, Bank Heads Announce 'Trade' Hours

Cafeteria hours for the current semester will be as follows: breakfast 7:45 to 10 a.m.; luncheon 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., and dinner 5 p.m. to 6:15 p.m. The fountain will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The college bank, located in Room 188, main building, is open from 9:45 a.m. to 11 a.m., and 12:01 p.m. to 1:15 p.m.

Car tickets and dance bids are sold at the bank, and dormitory rentals and Associated Student dues are payable there.

Child Prodigy Featured Today In Free Concert

Leonore Joffe, violinist, will be featured in the first of a series of free concerts sponsored by the Music Guild and scheduled for 12 today in the west campus auditorium.

Miss Joffe, a 15-year-old child prodigy, made her debut last year as a violin soloist with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra. Her debut was acclaimed in music circles throughout the West. She will be accompanied by Ludwig Altmann, well-known pianist.

Miss Joffe has chosen for her guest appearance a great variety of selections to please all music lovers. She will open the recital with Sonata, followed by Adagio; Fugue by J. S. Bach; Sonata, Opus 94, by Prokofieff, and Nocturne and Tarantella by Szymanowski.

The concert is free to all Associated Students and is the product of arrangements with city concert managers.

Organized last Fall, the Music Guild is composed of nine campus musical groups: the Opera Workshop, Orchestra, A Cappella Choir, Treble Clef, Men's Glee Club, Symphony Forum, Lambda Alpha, Mu Iota Psi, and the music majors.

Present members of the governing organization of the Guild are President, Robert Tyson, Lois Arfsten, John Oaks, Alfred Hernandez, Patricia Fitzgerald, Pat Patterson, Adele Lee, Bob Tefft, Conrad Dorn, Herb Neumeister, Nancy Durkee, Eileen Scott, Bill McCormack.

The A Cappella Choir from College of the Pacific will give the second concert on Tuesday, March 7, and it will be followed in early April with a concert by Maurice Uphrat, pianist.

Inauguration Dance Honoring Freshmen Scheduled Tonight In Fairmont's Terrace Room

A semi-formal inauguration dance honoring freshman members of the Associated Students will be given in the Terrace Room of the Fairmont Hotel this Tuesday evening under the leadership of Freshman President Larry Ross.

Theme for this event, which precedes Washington's Birthday, a holiday from classes, is "Snow Fall."

The occasion is the traditional freshman class dance which will feature Wally Heider and his gala champagne orchestra from 9 to midnight.

Admission is open to all Associated Student members, and cards will be punched at the door, Ross said.

Besides dancing, those attending will be treated to special entertainment furnished by the members and professional entertainers during intermission.

Larry Ross

The primary purpose of this social gathering is to afford students an opportunity to get acquainted with one another.

The Freshman Class welcomes all new students as well as the entire Associated Students to their dance, which, it is hoped, will help promote college spirit this semester, Ross declared.

Informal dress and Associated Student membership is all that is needed for admission one couple per card.

This affair, the second event on the Ram social calendar, is sponsored by the Freshman Class committee, with Nan Zachariah, Gayle Travis, Sheila Burke and members of the Freshman Council assisting Ross.

Washington's Birthday Holiday Here Tomorrow

"The Truth Shall Make You Free" might have been the line spoken by George Washington's pappy when little George wiped the cherry tree stains off his axe and admitted the guilty deed.

Although the matter of whether George went free or not was an issue that took place many moons ago, it still has a rather roundabout bearing on City College today, in that Ram students will be freed of the burden of classes tomorrow.

Washington's birthday, February 22, will be observed as a legal holiday.

Agenda Committee Calls Meeting Of Club Delegates

BULLETIN

Campus Clubs were addressed as follows Thursday by the Agenda Committee of the Student Council:

"This is to inform you that the CAB has reverted back to the old system. All member organizations are required to send one representative to the CAB meeting in Room 9K at 2 p.m. Thursday, February 23. At this time the permanent date for all meetings will be set.

"All organizations failing to comply with this order will be suspended from this organization until such time that they comply with this ruling." (Signed)—Jim Reed, Lou Guevera, and Ralph Vetterlein, Agenda Committee.

Clubs will meet for the first time this semester during Friday's college hour in rooms tentatively assigned by Dean Louis Batmale.

Engineering Club, 100; Tri Epsilon, 111; Cosmopolitan Club, 113, Alpha Phi Omiga, 115; Beta Phi Beta, 133; W.A.A., 140; Band Club, 190; Theta Tau, 193; Phi Beta Rho, 194.

Christian Fellowship, 200; Faculty Assn., 204; Kappa Phi, 205; Pi Mu Gamma, 211; Ski Rams, 5d. Young Progressives, 213; Phi Beta Delta, 214; Strikes & Spares, 215; Tau Chi Sigma, 254; Latin American Club, 255.

Graduate Statesmen, 256; Alpha Sigma Delta, 257; Alpha Lambda Chi, 303; Phi Delta Rappa, 304; Filipino Students Club, 309; Iota Phi Lambda, 310; French Club, 311; Hillel Foundation, 312; Paint Technology, 344; Pick & Hammer, 45.

C.A.B., Bldg. 2B; Chinese Students, 4D; Alpha Gamma Sigma, 5K; Masonic Club, 4D; Rally Committee, 4K; Radio Club, 405; Dramatic Society, 28; Pep Club, Bldg. 9K; Film, 10D; and the Gamma Phi Upsilon, 242.

Friday Deadline For Class Change

Three important dates, two affecting both new and returning students and the other affecting old students only, were announced last Wednesday by Mary Jane Leonard, registrar.

Class additions must be completed by Friday, February 24, she said. By that date students wishing to add courses must have obtained signed add cards from their counselors.

Students will then have the cards signed by the chairmen of the departments concerned, she continued.

The change will be complete after students have filed the cards in the registrar's office, and picked up a card to be signed by the new instructor.

Veterans may add or drop courses only with the permission of the Veterans Affairs Office in Building 3, she warned.

Friday, March 10, will be the last day for sophomores to file petitions for graduation, she added. It will also be the last day for all former students to remove incompletes from their records for a preceding semester.

Five AS Activities Listed For This Week

Five activities are listed for Associated Student members through Saturday, February 25.

- FRESHMAN DANCE—tonight—Associated Student members only.
- BOXING — tonight — CCSF vs Santa Clara—free with AS card, 40 cents without.
- CONCERT—today at noon—Associated Students only.
- BASKETBALL — Friday, CCSF vs. San Mateo — free with AS card, 50 cents without.
- CLUB MEETINGS — College Hour, Friday.
- GUARDSMAN — next issue Friday, February 24.

Wally Levin, head of the Associated Student membership drive, emphasized that the crackdown will be continued on the illegal use of cards.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

EXCLUDING the possibility that you stole this copy of our Ownest Own from a member of the Associated Students, the assumption is that you've paid five bucks and are yourself a member of that august body. So having paid your money, you are now entitled to take your choice.

Choices: Well, to begin with, there's Phil Chalmers, formerly of the college and currently a radio speech major at the College of the Pacific. Chalmers has his own disc jockey show down at COP on a student operated FM station . . . then there's Flossita Badger, head of the college's music and Opera Workshop. Miss Badger has a new title to add to an already long list. To wit: State Chairman of the California Music Educator's Conference, which meets about the first of April way down south in Pasadena (gasp!) . . . and finally we have Norwood Burdon who copped a $10 Honor Award in the black and white division of the recent Graflex photocontest.

FILING CABINETS

If any of the readers of this column are filing cabinets (or closely related to one or more filing cabinets) they can take it easy now.

In case your head's been buried in the sand for the last few weeks let us explain that the boys in the "Welder," officially known as the Men's Dormitory, were using filing cabinets to keep clothes in. But thanks to Dean of Men Edwin Browne, who learned of a shipment of war surplus bureaus on their way to San Leandro from Fort Ord, and Controller Oscar Anderson, who accompanied Dean Browne on an expedition after said bureaus, the filing cabinets may now be used for files.

Gentlemen, filing cabinets all over the world salute you.

Why football coaches get grey hair: Backfielder Walter Jordan and linemen Leo Camp, Wallace Barnard, and Jack Wallock have deserted these hallowed halls for the University of Nevada, and teammate John Brown has left for St. Mary's, leaving five good-sized holes to be filled in the grid line-up.

TYPEWRITER TROUBLE

Personal gripe: Although we strive to maintain a high standard of literacy around these parts, there comes a time in everyone's life when a good, solid "damn" is absolutely necessary. That's why it's especially irritating when a certain Underwood typewriter (there's no need to mention names) that hangs out around this office, refuses to type the letter "d." Take warning, Underwood, there's a ball peen hammer around here too, and you-know-who is just the boy who can use it.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, No. 2 TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1950 Page 2

Parker Prepared To Stamp Out Passing Around Of AS Cards

LATELY we have been giving considerable thought to the illegal passing around of Associated Student cards. Furthermore, it has been the subject of our conversations with student leaders and members of the administration.

Several factors dominate this issue, one of which is best described by the colloquial term, "freeloader." Our definition of a freeloader is someone who benefits without contributing. This definition is especially true of non-members who contribute nothing to the college but expect to reap the numerous benefits given to regular members.

Let's explore for the moment, the damages the freeloaders inflict upon the regular Associated Students. First, the passing around of the cards curtails activities of the Associated Students as a whole. Moreover, the freeloaders cut into the expected revenue of each activity.

IN short, the persons who are free with their cards are just as guilty as those who accept someone else's card. Each group cheats the honest members of the Associated Students who do not pass around their cards.

For example, the Cow Palace, with its basketball doubleheaders and other events, open to students from this college, is reported to lose over 1,000 admissions through the illegal passing around of cards among students. This just goes to show that such thoughtless action extends outside the college.

With some 1,000 admissions lost by Bay Area sport promoters, these businessmen are quite likely to cancel the cut rate prices for students in the future.

Drastic steps will be taken to punish both factions. Associated Student President Don Parker is prepared to stamp out the practice. Anyone caught passing or using a card will have it confiscated. The misdemeanors will be brought before the Student Council where they will be dealt with.

The issue requires much thought on the part of the students.

The issue is placed squarely in their laps for if the activity calendar is slender this semester it's nobody's fault but their own. Already we've noticed a trend of cooperation among the students in not passing around their cards. Along with this spirit of cooperation the card sales committee continues to check cards at activities, and the entire college will benefit.

Pulse Of The Campus

Ram's Horn

• Parker Thanks AS Sales Aides

Fellow Students:

Registration is no fun for anyone, and, contrary to popular opinion, those of us on the receiving end of the line are especially plagued by headaches at this time. To make the whole process an easier one for all concerned, however, we employed the time and energy of several students last week to help get the semester's actual instruction started off right.

I'd like to use this opportunity and medium to thank these students for the excellent job they accomplished in aiding the Associated Student Card sales. Working all three days from 8 until 4, with no personal gain involved, they sacrificed their time and their own chances for enrolling in classes at decent hours. For their fine work and seemingly untiring effort, I say thanks.

Students helping during registration were the following: Cy Donaldson, Walt Heil, Sandy MacKay, Richard Hallbeck, Jean Zumwalt, Barbara Andress, Barbara Silvers, Bob Bell, Tom Campanella, Ralph Vetterlein, Bill Rossia, and Randy Street.

Wally Levin, Arnold Dunn, Urb Cummings, Bob Tyson, Dave Irvine, Pat Welch, Shirley Stockton, Frank Bayol, Jae Schwab, Jeanne McKney, Jack Creighton, Jim Reed, Jim Crough, Lori D'Amico and Lou Guevara.

Kay Ross, Bob Easton, Tom Jenkins, Tom Dill, Dan Stevens, Carmel Lee, Bob Hawkins, Mary Lou Cooper, Lois Hoffman, Lois Herting, Frank Monte, Monroe Johnson, Larry Ross, Lloyd Baumann, and George Boyko.

Gratefully, Don Parker, President, Associated Students

(Editor's Note: Letters to the Ram's Horn may be left with the telephone operator in the main building or in The Guardsman office in Building 12. Deadlines are noon on Monday and Wednesday. If so desired the author's name will be withheld but the identity of the author must be known by the editor.)

PanoRAMa With Jones

Modern Pirate Grabs Bus

EXCEPT for the surrounding props, the incident might well have recalled tales of western outlaws and peg-legged pirates to the college's history students. Before the captain could shout, "Prepare to resist boarders," the one-man boarding party had gained the deck.

"Get off. Every one of you. Out!" the pirate growled, menacing the captain and passengers with a gleaming knife.

Spilling from the craft with alacrity, the passengers obeyed, the captain last to leave. Then they turned, and watched the craft speeding away, leaving them adrift.

ROBBERY AND RAIN

The craft, a sleep bus, and its captain, plus some 20 passengers, were enjoying the first run of the day when they stopped for a male passenger, a few weeks ago. The modern pirate, after displaying his knife, turned the passengers and driver out into one of San Francisco's rare rainfalls, a short distance from a police station.

Three minutes after the piracy, the bus was discovered four blocks distant, minus the pirate.

Might have been some poor fellow late for his first class.

According to Monogram pictures, when film star Johnny Sheffield gets tired of his college classes, "he jumps into a loin cloth and runs off to the jungle." The "jungle" is located in one of Monogram's studios, where Sheffield makes pictures and money.

HOT WATER BOTTLES YET

We're not casting any reflections on Mr. Sheffield, but at the time our classes end, we're not about to sacrifice our padded shoulders for a loin cloth. Comes the last bell, we draw on our two sweaters, raccoon sweatshirt, steelwool-lined ear muffs, place our two hot water bottles in strategic positions, and waddle as fast as we can for the "K" line.

Speaking of Indians, and this time we weren't, reminds us of the tale of an Indian who was reputed for his memory. Doubting his ability, a tourist asked him, "What did you have for your breakfast on July 21, 1906?"

"Eggs," the Indian grunted.

"Hah!" the tourist scoffed, "Everyone has eggs for breakfast. You're a fraud."

Some five years later, when the tourist stopped at the same village and meeting the same Indian, he said jovially, "How!"

"Scrambled," was the quick reply.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rose Hardie
STAFF EDITORS ..... Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Larry Bales, David Brauer, Graceine Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, John Dierking, Barbara Eggian, Ray Harvey, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kenyo, Richard Larrick, Henry Louie, Herb Marvin, John Nihill, Warren Northwood, Bob Rezek, Jack Vanderbilt, Georgia Watkins, Felton White, Eura Williams
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Kaye.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, Terry Ryan, Jack Spalding, Bob Valli.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandra Mariz, Assistant.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcomb.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Harrington, Dick Steinheimer.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz Mary Anne Quartarolli.
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normanly, Terry George, Harry Paratchan, Bob Easton.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Advisor ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco 420 Madison Avenue New York City

Feminine Viewpoint

Women Hold Council Jobs

By Bobbie Jackson

SINCE the role of women in politics is comparatively new, dating from the 19th amendment which brought about women's suffrage, the significance of their work is often overlooked in the mad scramble that office seeking causes.

This semester's Student Council boasts five capable women who are putting forth their best efforts on behalf of the college.

Sandy McKay

Foremost is the vice-president, Sandy MacKay, whose job requires the ability to accomplish much work in a minimum amount of time. Not only must she be capable of taking over in case of the president's absence, but she heads the social committee, belongs to the President's Cabinet, and acts as a voting member of the Student Council as well.

Work on the social committee entails a great deal of time and effort as Miss MacKay helps draw up the semester's social calendar and devotes many hours to planning each college dance. At the present time she is working with Freshman President Larry Ross and other committee members on details for tonight's freshman dance, Snow Fall, to be held in the Fairmont Hotel.

Associated Women Students' President, Jeanne McKnew, also devotes her share of time for the betterment of the college. She is in charge of the two forthcoming AWS teas, and presents the women students' business to the council.

In the recent college elections, three women, Ann McBride, Patty Patterson, and Joan Marenda, won seats in the sophomore section of the council, while Margie Bergset won the lone feminine place with the frosh council.

Student Of Distinction: Campanella Man Of Many Varied Jobs

By Cy Donaldson

Tom Campanella, chairman of the Finance Committee and today's Student of Distinction, undertakes a giant-sized task with his present duties, which bring him into contact with group budgeting and student card sales.

Each campus organization desiring financial assistance during the semester must submit a complete report on funds necessary for operation to the Finance Committee.

The Finance Committee checks every request from a group activity so that they don't overlap available funds in the student coffers.

The student bank and the group sponsor are notified by Campanella, who serves as liaison officer between faculty and students, of the acceptance of a budget by the Student Council.

Campanella participated in debating while at Lowell High from which he was graduated in spring '48. He is a pre-legal major and expects to join the ranks of the U. S. Foreign Service after college.

Tom Campanella

Upon graduation from City College, he will transfer either to the University of California or Georgetown U. in Washington, D.C.

This is the second in a series spotlighting "Students of Distinction." The selection of each student is made by an impartial committee.—The Editor.

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Alpha Sigmas Bestow Pins; Beta Phi Delts Initiate Racket

Well here we are, another new semester and another batch of club news which just goes to show that all the club kiddies aren't going to waste any time in starting the social side of the semester with a bang.

Word has it four members of Alpha Sigma Delta have bestowed their pins on four lovely and lucky maidens. The four men and their charming choices are as follows: Nick Choulos, president, to Joan McDonnel; Lloyd Baumann, historian, to Doreen Mannion; Duane (vice-president) Smith to an unsuspecting lassie in Danville named Virginia; and Jim Cooper to the Delta Psi president, Jo Ann Knight.

A unique means of making money for the March of Dimes was initiated by Phi Beta Delta at a meeting of the frat on campus Tuesday, February 14. A total sum of $5.83 was collected by way of a 25-cent fine assessed against late dues-payers and also through bids of members to paddle or "swat" those members who disrupted the meeting. "Those swatted" for a dollar bid apiece were Urb Cummings, president; Monroe Johnson, sergeant-at-arms, and Jim Crowe. The idea for the penalty for late dues payers is attributed to Don Smith.

Omicron Phi Pi, honorary economics society, ended last semester with a dinner followed by dancing, Friday, January 20, in the Garden Room of the Hotel Claremont in Berkeley. The participants all enjoyed a lovely evening.

W6FJL the Amateur Radio Club, invites all students interested in amateur radio communications to attend the meeting regularly held during college hour on days set aside for club meetings in Room 402 and on the Roof Lounge (oooh fancy) on Fridays.

The Hillel Foundation ended last semester with a dinner at the Normandie Restaurant followed by dancing at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel. The feed was held in conjunction with the Foundation from San Francisco State. All were well pleased and well stuffed. The first event of the current new semester was held yesterday at 295 Urbano Drive (one block below Ocean Avenue, in case you'd like to know).

The Ski Rams, who have enjoyed two ski trips already this season, invite all interested to attend their meeting in Room 212 during college hour this Friday.

Rams Tackle San Mateo For Title Friday

By Bob Goncalves

Currently leading the Southern Division of the NCJCC with a nine win, two loss record, the college hoopmen will be fighting for the championship when they play host to the San Mateo Bulldogs this Friday night at 8 o'clock, in the City College gymnasium.

Standings of the two clubs hinge around the outcome of the San Mateo-Menlo contest tonight. In the event of a Menlo victory, the most San Mateo can hope for is a tie for first place with the Rams, but if the Bulldogs should emerge the victors of the Menlo tilt, the title will be open to either of the two clubs.

Keeping their title hopes alive, the Rams won a brace of games over the past weekend, edging out Stockton 49-45 Friday evening, and beating the Modesto Pirates 48-35 on Saturday.

Owing to the lack of consistency of either team to hit the bucket, the first half of the Modesto tilt, with but few exceptions, was a very slow moving affair.

After taking a 6-2 lead early in the game on three 25-foot set shots by Al Munn, the Rams fell into a scoring slump and scored only eight points during the remainder of the first half to fall behind 14-15 at the midway mark.

Sparked by "Skip" Carnegie, who played one of the best floor games to be seen this season, the Red and White came to life in the remainder of the contest to win going away.

Closing fast in the final minutes of the contest, the Rams eked out a hard earned victory over Stockton in a game which saw the lead change hands seven times and the score tied three more times during the second half.

Ram Cindermen Begin Workouts On State Oval

Trackmen moved to San Francisco State's field this week for their first real workouts in preparation for the coming season. More than 55 men answered co-coaches Grover Klemmer's and Roy Burkhead's call for recruits.

Five lettermen and several outstanding prep men form the nucleus of the squad.

Joe Greggins, Irv Beltrame, Bob Bland, Allen Christie, and Skip Carnegie are letter winners who will perform for the Rams.

Among the prep candidates is Sal Masitelli from Alhambra High in Martinez; Soloman Mason from Richmond High; Dick Lapham from Lowell, and Tom Hendrix from Pittsburg High.

Running events are potentially strong with the majority of men out for the footwork, but the field events are lacking in manpower, and field event Coach Roy Burkhead has issued a call for any high jumpers, broad jumpers, pole vaulters and javelin throwers.

Bob Bland, returning letterman in the hurdles, broad jump and 220-yard dash, is on the doubtful list because of a leg injury received in football.

However, if the leg does not respond in workouts, he will assume the position of running-manager. Carnegie also will be out of action for the beginning of the season because of basketball, but he will join the thinclads as soon as the ball season closes.

The club faces a ten-meet schedule with trips planned to Sacramento, Modesto, Berkeley, Stanford, Fresno, and Visalia.

COLE'S CITY COLLEGE BARBER SHOP

Be Well Groomed

IT'S THE KEY TO SUCCESS ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

JOHN BROOKS, lightning-fisted 165 pounder, left, and Sigurd Jett, scrappy 155 pounder, both up from the novice ranks, will step into the ring tonight against the Santa Clara Broncos at 8 o'clock.

Boxers Scrap To 4-4 Deadlock With Strong Pendleton Team

By Frank Monte

Crowd pleaser Jerry Stern, lightweight, battered out a unanimous decision over Marine Herod Ward last Thursday night, in the men's gymnasium, pacing the college boxers to a 4-4 deadlock with the strong Camp Pendleton Marines.

Amidst the fairly large crowd's cheers, the locals gained three bouts, one more than their opponents. Two draws and a Ram default concluded the night's scoring.

Stern, aggressive all the way, took advantage of Herod's poor body defense, battering to the stomach at will. Never in trouble, he kept both fists flying, continually sweeping all three rounds.

Making his fistic debut for the college, Ray Nelson, middleweight, capitalized on his lethal left hand to decision Jim Martin.

Jack Bettencourt, 155, dropped Billy Aeton in the first with a left hook, then took the remaining rounds to score his first seasonal victory.

Displaying a superior brand of boxing ability, Len Gage, 130, traded blow for blow with Marine Ken Davis, both boys emerging with a draw.

Another draw saw John Brooks, 165, take on much more experienced Leatherneck Ray Miller.

Although all bouts were agreed on before ring time by both coaches, when the light heavyweight bout supposedly between Ram Jim Keyes and Al Dean rolled around, the Marines on the short end for the moment, had Jessie Barber, Marine Corps champion, in their corner.

Coach Roy Diederichsen, realizing Keyes, with one competitive bout registered in his boxing career, was no match for Barber, who has a string of 35 victories, defaulted the match.

River Rats Win Volleyball Title

Intramural volleyball season closed between semesters with a flurry of close games, and at the finish the River Rats were crowned champions over the Balboa Bues.

The final series of the season was won by the River Rats over the Bucs by scores of 19-21, 21-19, and 21-15.

Members of the top squad were listed by Intramural Director Tom Wilson as follows:

Bill Mancuso, Al Gamma, Bud Grey, Pete McKenzie, Ben Gressman, Jim McCallister, George Moore and Bill Mulav.

Other series of the final week were won by the River Rats over the third-place Keiki Kanes and by the Balboa Bucs also over the Kanes.

Application dates for Spring semester intramural sports have not been announced, but these dates should be forthcoming from Wilson's office soon.

Sports will probably include football, softball, basketball and the minor sports such as badminton and ping-pong.

Your Happy College Days Remembered In Gold

ORDER NOW

Your Official City College Ring

Ladies' Miniature Or Men's Massive

On Display At The Lobby Showcase—Main Building

$5.00 Deposit Required At The College Bank

Van Wormer & Rodrigues Inc.

126 Post Street EXbrook 2-5886

Local Scrappers Seek Third Straight Win Over Broncos Tonight On Ten Bout Program

Santa Clara's boxing team moves into the men's gymnasium tonight at 8 o'clock, to pair off with Coach Roy Diederichsen's scrappers in a ten-bout program, with hopes of amending last season's two defeats.

Riding a crest of two victories over the Broncos, one in a dual meet, and the other a three-way meet at San Jose last year, the locals are in readiness and hopeful of making it three in a row.

Although possessing an inexperienced team, with the exception of Patty Walsh, heavyweight, and a lightweight, Coach Alvie Menendez's Broncos, intent on victory, will furnish the locals with a good night's work, and the expected large crowd with an evening of entertainment and excitement.

Jack Bettencourt, until now a Ram middleweight, drops down to the welterweight division. Bettencourt, fast and hard hitting, has improved consistently, and appears ready to take on a first string berth.

Handling the middleweight assignment will be Tom Stern, brother of Jerry Stern, National Two Year College lightweight champion. Possessed with a heavy punch and excellent boxing ability, T. Stern may prove as capable as his brother.

Another brother act comparable to the Stern combination, consists of Louis Gage, 145, last season veteran, and newcomer Len Gage, 130. Len, who took the college novice crown last semester with a series of knockouts, takes on the 130 pound spot tonight, while brother Louis will be sidelined, having fought in the Pendleton meet.

WELL LIKED by everyone who has the chance to be acquainted with him is Coach Bill Fisher. Fisher will be in charge of the college baseball team this year.

Baseball Tryouts Begin; Fischer To Rely On New Men

By Bob Valli

With only four veterans returning from last season's team, Coach Bill Fisher will be eyeing new baseball prospects with special interest when the college diamond hopefuls start intra-squad games this week.

In the initial signup meeting held last Tuesday more than 75 students filed applications for tryouts.

The four veterans back for their second year are Bob McGovern, a right-handed pitcher who won two and lost one in conference competition, and struck out 21 opposing batsmen with impressive form; Lou Williams, a second baseman who won the team batting title with a lusty .522 average; Bob (Hook) Arata, a dependable centerfielder; and Hugh Mooney, a strong-armed hurler.

With only this group of four college-experienced players on the roster, the remaining berths on the 35-man varsity squad must be filled by new students. Fisher, who considers all future positions wide open, is conducting intra-squad games at the moment, and he plans to continue this policy until he determines who will be members of the varsity team.

Lineups and positions of the players scheduled to participate in the intra-squad contests are posted on the gymnasium blackboard prior to all tilts. Candidates are asked by Fischer to consult these charts.

The first practice game will be played Wednesday, March 1, against Sacred Heart High School. Last season the Ram nine had difficulty getting their season under way. Fischer had a number of practice games scheduled with various high school and service nines, but heavy March rains compelled the squad to cancel their plans.

By the close of last week, Fischer predicted that close to 125 students would turn out for a tryout.

"COFFEE DANNER'S"
Membership Cards
(Special Discount)
Contact
Les Poe
Coffee Dan's
430 Mason St.

PHIL LYNCH
Sporting Goods
623 Mission at New Montgomery
YUkon 6-6950

MAC GREGOR
Heavy Leather, 14 Club Size
GOLF BAG
Chocolate color, natural trim, 4 zipper carrying pockets. Full Hood Very special at 22.45

1950 GOLF CLUBS
Louisville Grand Slam Models

#1IR IRONS—New Bar Back Heads—slightly offset True Temper "Dynamic" Shafts with the very latest non-slip "Golf Pride" grips Registered sets of 8 Factory list price 80.00
PHIL LYNCH Special Price 59.95

#1IR WOODS—A championship model—Solid Persimmon Heads—Cherry Color—True Temper "Dynamic" shafts—"Golf Pride" grips—Will not slip rain or shine—Registered sets of 3 — FACTORY LIST PRICE 40.50
PHIL LYNCH Special Price 29.95

JUST ARRIVED
A complete new stock of MacGregor "Ben Hogan" Irons and Woods. We invite your inspection.

GOLF SHOES
Moccasin type Philips detachable jumbo spikes for Men or Women.
Phil Lynch Price 9.95

A complete line of Golfers' Rain Jackets, Pants, Rubbers, Umbrellas, etc.

Free Delivery Anywhere in California Convenient Terms If Desired!

Straight Talk

By Bill Thomas

THE pounding of a fist upon a desk and some short, firm words changed a snoozing columnist into an embarassed one hastily scribbling notes.

The columnist had been half asleep because everything was going the way he expected it to in the Student Council, and apparently the Club Activities Board reorganization plan (see page 1) was going to be shelved until next week. His column about this issue reposed comfortably in his back pocket, and he was confident nothing was going to change.

Then, in a move that surprised everyone, President Don Parker said the plan was unconstitutional.

What was the reorganization plan passed last semester? Well, the Club Activities Board is, and was until the reorganization, the body to which all clubs sent representatives. These representatives elect a president and then disuuss matters of interest to the clubs. It has been customary for them to hold meetings during college hour.

PLAN CLARIFIED

In the middle of last semester the clubs were split into seven groups according to the purpose of the club. Each of the seven groups chose a representative who represented it in the CAB, which was thus composed of seven representatives. One of these representatives was chosen president of the CAB.

The purpose of the reorganization was to permit the CAB to act in a more efficient manner for the clubs, because of their different interests, always seemed to be unable to act in a large group with any degree of speed.

For example, the CAB is expected to screen all the club charters at the beginning of the semester and then submit them with its approval or disapproval to the Student Council. It was the middle of the Fall semester before the CAB reported to the Student Council.

CAB BY-PASSED

The reorganization plan was passed by the Student Council without the approval of the CAB (it was always the custom to consult the CAB on such legislation) and as it now appears, the CAB was not entirely in favor of the proposal, and, it can be guessed, tried, to delay the issue.

But the announcement by Parker that the CAB reorganization was unconstitutional, and the rapid adjournment which followed, evoke another realization—a realization that there is a determined man at the head of the student government and that he is surrounding himself with others who are willing to take direct action and get to the heart of a problem.

Much controversial comment will probably roll out of this typewriter, but for the first time in many semesters it appears that there will be definite and concrete action on which to comment in student government.

Certainly that is the interpretation of the quick, firm words and the sharp crackling of the gavel.

College Living Facilities Now Open To Men

Men students interested in living on the campus should apply immediately for the limited accommodations available, Edwin C. Browne, dean of men, announced today.

The cost is $12.50 per month payable, two months in advance for rooms which are equipped with two lockers, beds, study tables, and chairs. The college furnishes bedding and linens, Browne said.

Applicants for campus residence will be required to submit two letters of recommendation, he said.

Each dormitory has two student proctors who are responsible for the rules of conduct and management of the buildings.

Married veterans who wish to secure accommodations at Hurley Village can apply with Dean Browne, but the accommodations are quite limited, he warned, and students must be placed on a waiting list.

The cost for Hurley Village apartments ranges from $32.50 to $41.50 per month and furniture and utilities are included, Browne, said.

Dining room facilities are maintained on the west campus by the Hotel and Restaurant Division to accomodate students living on the campus and others wishing to take their meals at the college, he pointed out.

Library Schedule Announced To Aid Freshmen

For the benefit of new students, the following college library hours were announced yesterday by Clement Skrabak, library committee chairman.

The main library, located in the main building, Room 314, will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; the branch library, Building 2, west campus, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Skrabak said yesterday the library now has more than 39,000 books, an untold number of informational pamphlets, and subscribes to 250 magazines for the students' benefit.

The branch library is used for books reserved by instructors in social sciences for research by their students, and houses as well a complete collection of vocational books for use in selecting a career.

At the main library, reserved books for other courses will be found as well as magazines, pamphlets, and research books on any subject encountered at this college, Skrabak said.

Advertising Plan Develops Booklet

Developing something new in the way of an advertising scheme, the Advertising Art class, working with the Photography department, is preparing a new booklet for the Paint Technology department in conjunction with their work, for release some time this semester.

This cooperative plan between the Art and Photography departments is proving beneficial to all concerned, William Eckert, Art instructor, commented, since producing literature of this kind in the advertising medium requires the working functions of both departments.

The creation of the layout work by the artists, and the photographers with their series of photos on paint technology, is expected to prove advantageous to the Paint Technology department.

Merchandising Club Meets

Tentative plans of the Merchandising Club for this semester were drawn at a recent meeting, sponsor Virginia Gohn said yesterday.

Social events and informative speeches on merchandising given by various local store executives are two of the activities planned thus far.

The club was organized last semester and is open to students enrolled in merchandising classes and participating in the college's training program. Purpose of the organization is to further the welfare of its members.

Lockers To Be Held By Last Semester Owners

No new lockers will be issued this semester, Dr. Oscar Anderson, college coordinator, said today.

The college has only 400 lockers but more than 5000 students. Students desiring lockers will have to make arrangements to share with those who already have them, he said.

Dr. Anderson warned students to remove all of their belongings at the end of the semester.

REWARD!
Do unto others
Lost Brown Wallet
Keepsake Picture of Father
Return to Lost & Found or
Olivia Lowney, Fl. 6-1717

Student Drama Tryouts Start On March 6 For Dr. Faustus

Paul Ellison, drama director, announced yesterday that Dr. Faustus, a tragedy by Christopher Marlowe (1564-1693) will be the spring production to be staged by the Campus Players here. Opening night will be Saturday, May 20.

Tryouts are scheduled Monday through Wednesday, March 6 to 8, from 2 to 4 p.m. in Room 28. Ellison urged that all students interested attend because a large cast is needed. Originally the play had very few parts for women, but more are being added to the cast, Ellison said.

Adding that it is not necessary to be enrolled in speech or drama to be eligible and that it is possible to earn from one to three units, Ellison advised students who intend to try out to secure a copy of Dr. Faustus published by Barron Education Series, Brooklyn, New York. Copies are priced at 50 cents and may be obtained from book stores.

In addition to the cast, students are needed to help with sets, lighting, and all back stage activities. Those interested may apply during tryouts or see Ellison in Room 251. Credit will also be given for these activities, he said.

Student Ushers To Get Current Concert Passes

Students wishing to usher during the current concert season should apply to Dean Margaret Dougherty in Building 2 for passes.

Among top-ranking operas booked for this season is the San Carlo Opera, presenting such favorites as Traviata, Aida, Butterfly, Carmen, Rigoletto, Faust, Barber of Seville, and Trovatore. These will be presented at the Opera House, March 2 to 12.

Register Now For Jobs, Says Amori

Students who are looking for full or part-time jobs are advised to register now with Joseph A. Amori, placement director, in Building 2, west campus.

Amori has been interviewing 100 students a day, many of whom are graduates. He has stated that the big problem in employment in California today is that not enough jobs are available for men who are not specialized in certain skills.

Many college graduates are finding jobs difficult to obtain, he said, because their education has been general instead of specialized. The market is good, however, for women who are interested in clerical work.

Applications are also being accepted for students wishing summer employment in resorts, camps, agricultural, forest and playground work.

Students may qualify for graduation from City College with the degree of Associate in Arts by completing a two-year curriculum amounting to a total of 60 units.

Campus Police Place 6 Grads In Bay Area

The Law Enforcement class graduated eight students this past semester, placing six of the graduates on various police departments throughout the Bay Area, Fred Fitzgerald, instructor of Law Enforcement, said recently.

Gordon Hall, former Chief of the Campus Police, and Carl Davis accepted positions with the San Mateo Police Department. Paul Neuer and Robert McGlennan received appointments with the San Francisco Police Department.

George Berejkoff joined the Army, whereupon he was automatically placed as an agent with the Counter Intelligence Corps, Sixth Army, Presidio of San Francisco. Irving Markes accepted a position with the Burns Detective Agency of San Francisco.

Members of the campus police, who have been sworn in as deputy sheriffs by Michael Mitchell, San Francisco Chief of Police, supervise all traffic on the campus. They may issue tickets to both traffic and parking violators.

Two Join Faculty

Two new instructors joined the college faculty this semester, according to an announcement from the administration.

Grace Crasap will instruct in merchandising, and Raymond V. Moore will teach judo to law enforcement majors here.

... that's the Pendleton shirt, a regular Paul Bunyan of rugged comfort, cut loose and full for action. 100% pure wool in plaids, checks and plain colors. 9.95 11.95
Nobody knows the campus like—Roos Bros

Cagers Vie Tonight In Title Clash

By Walt Heil, Editor

With the Southern Division title of the Northern California Junior College Conference at stake, City College meets San Mateo tonight in the men's gymnasium at 8 p.m., in a game which can rightly be called "crucial."

The Rams, boasting a 9 and 2 record in conference play and a seasonal record of 18 and 5, need a victory tonight to gain admission to the loop playoffs with the North next week. Meanwhile, San Mateo, which was beaten by the locals last month, also brings a 9-2 conference record into the men's gymnasium.

Placer Is Shoo-in

Both teams need win tonight in order to insure their playing Placer, the shoo-in from the North, for the conference championship.

If comparative scores mean anything—and they don't to Ram Coach Ralph Hillsman—the local cagers will be in for a rough evening. A fortnight ago, CCSF was buried by a revitalized Hartnell quintet, 67-50. Last weekend the Bulldogs barely scraped by Hartnell with a 58 to 57 triumph.

Top man on the San Mateo five is one Bob Peterson who flipped in 20 points against the Panthers on Saturday. Hillsman described the tall center as being "Awfully good." Coupled with Peterson, the remainder of the Bulldog squad forms a fast, high scoring team.

Carnegie Pleases

Reports that the Rams were a second half team proved to be true last weekend when they came from behind in both games and went on to win. Hillsman was greatly pleased with the excellent backboard work of Skip Carnegie, who, though a light scorer, was tremendous under the net.

Forward Kev Duggan tapered off from his sensational high scoring output of last month but continued to display a deadly hookshot that adds up points on the scoreboard.

Admission is free to Associated Student members with non-members subjected to a 50-cent admission price.

Clubs Meet Today In College Hour

College hour will be held today at 10:40 a.m., meeting in the rooms tentatively assigned last week, Dean Louis Batmale announced.

The Club Advisory Board will meet regularly on Wednesdays preceding club college hour days.

The college hour schedule for today will be as follows:

- 8 o'clock classes— 8:10 to 8:50
- 9 o'clock classes— 9:00 to 9:40
- 10 o'clock classes— 9:50 to 10:30
- College Hour—10:40 to 11:20
- 11 o'clock classes—11:30 to 12:10
- 12 o'clock classes—12:20 to 1:00

The next college hour activity is a rally Friday, March 3.

Two Student Officers Announce Office Hours

Office hours have been posted in Building 2 for students and faculty members who wish to see Don Parker, Associated Student president, and Norman Reger, Associated Men Students president.

Parker has his office hours from 11 to 12 noon daily and Reger from 10 to 12 noon on Tuesday, and in Room 2B at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

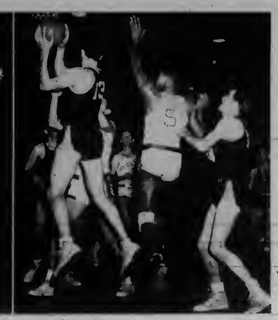
Ceramics Instructor Walker Has Exhibit At N.Y. National Museum

During the past two months an exhibition of contemporary form in handwrought silver by H. Roy Walker (right), instructor here of ceramics and silver, has been on display at the National Museum of Art in New York City.

Walker was chosen from a competitive field of 10 instructors at the first silver conference held at the Rhode Island School of Design during the summer of 1947. This conference was to promote and develop the throphetic style of handwrought silver.

A native Californian, Walker received his Bachelor of Science degree in Landscape Architecture at the University of California two years ago.

While doing graduate work at the University of California, he was appointed dean of boys at the California State School for the Blind where he taught arts and crafts.



Walker later continued his teaching at Woodland High School before coming to this college as instructor in ceramics and silver.

THE FIRST triple social event of the young semester was held last Friday with a rally in the morning and a basketball game and the Pi Mu Gamma dance in the evening. Over a thousand students flocked to the auditorium to see and hear the Slim Gaillard Trio. Above, two members of the Associated Student rally commission punch cards of a small portion of the crowd.

GOING THROUGH their version of a popular hit tune, the Gaillard Combo "sends" the enthusiastic audience. Gaillard, lower left, arms outstretched, gets the combo set for the number. The show was a huge success. Currently appearing at Ciros, the Combo's records, waxed on MGM platters, may be purchased at any record shop. Pic by Steinheimer.

THE SPORTING element of the college topped off the first big social events day of the new semester by watching Coach Ralph Hillman's cagers edge Stockton College in the men's gymnasium. The Rams won by a 49 to 45 score, putting them in front of the Southern Division race of the NCJC Conference. Here a Mustang hoopster picks off a rebound while Skip Carnegie reaches in vain.—Photo by Thranert.

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

VOLUME XXX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1950 NUMBER 3

Parking Stickers Made Available To Eligible Students

Eligible students, those whose Associated Student card numbers end in 4, 7, or 8, may receive parking permits from Robert Donnely in Room 8, Building 2, Edwin C. Browne, dean of men, said today.

Applicants will be required to take the following steps: They must first present an automobile registration slip and Associated Student card for verification, then fill out an application card stating model and license number of car; and finally the card with prescribed information and their car must be taken to the gate keeper at the main entrance to the west campus.

The gate keeper will attach a parking permit sticker to the car's windshield; and finally, the number of each permit will be recorded on an application card to be put on file, Browne said.

Office hours are 10:45 to 11:45 each morning, 2:15 to 2:45 Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and 1:15 to 2:15 Tuesday and Thursday.

Shearing, Cole Trio Due Today At Rally; Dance Follows Game

By Fellon White

Preceding the Ram-San Mateo basketball game and dance scheduled for tonight, the Associated Students feature two sensational entertainers in a benefit Damon Runyon Cancer Fund Drive to be held in the auditorium today at 2 p.m.

George Shearing, the celebrated British pianist who is presently playing a four-week engagement at Club Coronet, and Nat "King" Cole and his renowned trio are expected to appear here, Sophomore President Bill Rosala said late Tuesday.

A donation of 25 cents will be asked at the door, according to Rosala. This will not be an entrance fee, however, for funds will be donated to the Runyon fund to help cancer patients.

Rosala is asking all students who are free at this hour to come out and bring a donation.

Both Shearing and Nat "King" Cole are appearing here under the auspices of their respective employer, Rosala said. Shearing, the blind British pianist whose jazz music has thrilled thousands all over the United States, is playing an engagement at Club Coronet.

The King Cole trio, long a noted combination of boogie woogie, Bop and the Blues, is appearing nightly in the Venetian Room of the Fairmont Hotel.

Following the Ram basketball game and rounding out a triple student program, a dance is slated to follow immediately the ending of the game in the men's gymnasium tonight.

Music will be that of the college dance band, and only Associated Students will be admitted. Cards will be punched at the door.

Calendar Discloses AS Events On Increase

Nine activities are listed for Associated Student members through Friday, March 3.

- BASKETBALL—tonight—CCSF vs. San Mateo for league championship—free with AS card, 50 cents without.
- DANCE—tonight after game—Associated Student members only.
- CLUB MEETINGS—College Hour today.
- BOXING—tomorrow night—CCSF vs. El Toro Marines—free with AS card, 60 cents without.
- Wednesday, March 1—All-College Tournament—60 cents for adults, free to AS card holders, 40 cents to non-members.
- BASEBALL—Wednesday, March 1—CCSF vs. Sacred Heart—free to Associated Student members.
- RALLY—Friday, March 3—AS card holders only.
- BENEFIT DANCE—Friday, March 3, at 8:30 p.m.—50 cents.
- GUARDSMAN—next issue Friday, March 3.

Red Cross Benefit Dance Scheduled

A benefit dance for the welfare of the Red Cross is scheduled from 8:30 p.m. to 12 midnight, Friday, March 3, in the college auditorium.

Purpose of the dance, sponsored by a group of college social service clubs, is to raise funds for the Red Cross, thereby aiding this organization in their fight to relieve suffering and deprivation, and in its numerous educational programs.

The following are the college organizations backing the affair:

Masonic Club, Ski Rams, Block S.F., Alpha Phi Omega, Chinese Club, Cosmopolitan Society, Latin-American Club, Newman Club, Le Cercle Francais, Filipino Club, and the Women's Athletic Association.

The college dance band will supply the music, and the Latin-American Club will furnish entertainment during intermissions.

"Admission to the dance is 50 cents," Richard Schambach of the Masonic Club, and chairman of the benefit dance, declared. "All proceeds will go to the Red Cross," he added.

Bill Fischer, baseball coach, is the faculty adviser aiding the clubs in the program.

Council Passes Resolutions On Clubs, Library

The Student Council unanimously approved a motion recommended by the Agenda Committee at last Tuesday's council meeting, that any club failing to attend more than two Club Advisory Board meetings without proper or valid excuse will have its charter suspended and be placed off campus.

Validity of these excuses will be determined by the Student Council, Associated Student President Don Parker explained. The resolution emphasized that all clubs must attend the CAB meetings regularly or face the new penalty.

The council also passed a resolution requesting that one of the new buildings to be erected on the campus preferably the library, be dedicated as the Dr. Archibald O'Cloud Library, in respect to Dr. Cloud, past President of the college.

The resolution will be sent to Superintendent of Public Schools Dr. Herbert C. Clish, for final approval.

A letter will also be sent by the council to Dr. Cloud this week wishing him a speedy recovery from his recent illness.

Four College Singers Appear On Programs

A quartet of the college's Opera Workshop singers will be featured before a conference group of more than 300 Pi Delta Kappa members, Saturday evening, March 4, at San Francisco State College.

This same group, consisting of Jean Bonacorsi, Eileen Scott, George Saunders and Daniel Segrove, will participate in a similar program Tuesday evening, March 7, for the Women's Guild of St. Francis Community Church.

Selections will be taken from Martha and Down in the Valley, Spring musical productions here.

On the same day, March 7, the A Cappella Choir from the College of the Pacific will appear at the college for the second in a series of concerts sponsored by the music guild.

Lloyd Luckmann Named Judge Of High School Debating Contest

Lloyd Luckmann, dean of university parallel courses, will judge an all-high school student speakers' contest, sponsored by the Lions Clubs of California and Nevada to be held at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel on Tuesday, March 7.

"Education in American Ideals—Basis for International Understanding" is the 13th question since 1937 that students from the ninth to the twelfth grades will speak on in competition for awards.

The general purpose of the contest is to provide an opportunity for competitive public speaking among students and to stimulate self-expression and independent thinking, a Lions spokesman said.

Lloyd Luckmann

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

SINCE we've just returned from a short bout with some snow and the hickory boards, you'll have to excuse it if a skiing term creeps in now and then. So, doing an open christy through the office and pulling a jump turn before the typewriter, we find . . .

Raymond Tom, who appeared in this column a couple of weeks back. It seems that Tom's painting, "The Two Of Us," copped a $100 prize at the Palace of Fine Arts. Now it's moved on to the Museum of Art where it won the $300 Wm. L. Gerstle memorial prize . . . and Jim Bogue, who came to the college via Mission High. Bogue has appeared on radio and television shows, won an amateur hour program, and even found time to take a screen test at RKO studios (he sings y'know).

LUNCH & MAGAZINES

If, by any chance, you missed the Slim Gaillard rally last Friday you also missed a little speech by Dean Edwin Browne when the rally ran overtime. He said, and we quote, "I have no authority to extend the college hour, but since most of you are 21 you can use your own discretion, and if you land in jail I'll come down and bring you lunch and reading material." Anyone looking for some free lunch?

This has been said before and it'll no doubt be said again, but in a college of approximately 5000 students there are bound to be a few children with sticky fingers. If books had names and addresses written in them in ink, and coats were left in locked cars, there'd be a lot less of this sort of thing. What's that old line about a word to the wise?

HEAVEN ON EARTH

Dream department: Imagine a course with no set subject matter. Imagine a course where the instructor gives no lectures. In short, imagine a veritable heaven. Believe it or not that course exists. It's called Recreational Leadership 10 under instructor Lester Tarnopol. The idea seems to be that if men like Edison and Einstein can get along without a formal degree, then it might be wise to teach other students to "think independently." Might bear looking into more closely, mmmh?

And from Doug Hayward comes this one: On the bulletin board in the main building where one can find rooms for rent and such, is this note, "For sale: Tropical fish . . . guppies . . . black panthers . . . etc." And in parentheses at the bottom of the card, ("If I don't sell 'em I'll have to eat 'em.") Know any good recipes?

Feminine Viewpoint

By-Gone Events Recalled

By Bobbie Jackson

BEFORE the semester gets too well under way, a moment should be taken to look back on the achievements of women in past semesters.

In active collegiate activities such as drama, music, journalism, women have come to be recognized for their individual merits.

Looking back in the past, it is discovered that there have been three women piloting The Guardsman, although the editorship is usually considered a man's job. In 1937 Florence Murphy was editor, Fall 1945 and Spring 1946 Pamela Sampson was the head woman, and in Spring 1947, Carmel Gannon was editor.

In more recent times, the music department of the college has staged two light operas, The Vagabond King in Spring 1948, and Naughty Marietta in Spring 1949. Among the outstanding performers in these productions were Helen Setalov, Caroline Herfield, Luba Shuhin, Pat Fitzgerald, and Bobbie Andress.

In recent presentations by the College Little Theater, Mary Cooke, Jane Howarth, Mary Ann Stewart, Rita Fabri, Rosalyn Mincer, and Bobbie Andress are a few of the many women who have stolen the show with their feminine roles.

Horseback riding brought Shirley Austin, past Women's Athletic Association president, many honors. Fall 1948 found two able women, Miss Fabri and Jean Vivaldi, aiding the yell leaders in cheering a successful football team to championship.

There have been many women who have thrown their hats into the ring and emerged victorious. Among these vice-presidents and Associated Women Students' presidents were Jo Ellen Cain, Millie Laube, Claire Levesque, Barbara Hendrickson, Nancy Wallace, Bea Groger, Sandy MacKay and Ronnie Morrison.

When a college yearbook, Ram-Pages, was published in the Spring of 1949, managing editor, Jeanne Marsh, along with the other women on the staff, contributed greatly in preparation of the book.

Yes, the woman has come into her own right here at the college.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, No. 3 FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1950 Page 2

Classrooms Close At Night; Bandwagon Worth The Climb

A great deal of concern has been expressed by the faculty and the administration of the college recently on the subject of students being in campus buildings without supervision of an instructor.

For the purpose of clarifying this issue we would like to discuss it here at some length.

Uppermost in the administration's responsibility is the fact that entering buildings other than dormitories at night or on holidays without permission is against the City's school laws.

Some individuals have entered buildings on the campus without permission. In some cases these individuals had absolutely sound reasons for being there, but, nevertheless, the fact stands out that they didn't have permission, nor did they have an instructor with them.

The administration has issued a strict directive to faculty members not to admit students to any of the buildings when classes are not in session, other than during college hours. The reason is plain enough.

Furthermore, vandals have broken into Building One, destroying large areas of the wall, which is now being repaired. In the same building thieves broke into the music room and made off with two trumpets.

The examples mentioned herein caused the administration to issue the directive and to enforce it. The issue is the old story of a few ruining the benefits of the majority.

LAST Tuesday we mentioned here that Associated Student President Donald Parker was prepared to stamp out the illegal passing around of AS cards.

For the benefit of those who have not yet purchased their cards; we would like to point out a box running on page one of The Guardsman in which members are the recipients of many sound activities.

The list is complete, accurate, and up-to-date. We feel that many non-members would like to attend the activities; therefore, we urge those who haven't bought a card to do so. Climb on the band wagon, so to speak.

An example of how the college attracts students to its halls was proved last week in the person of Kathleen Kerrigan. Miss Kerrigan graduated from San Francisco State, and entered this college to enroll in its opera workshop program.

The hotel, restaurant division and other departments have the same attraction.

Student Of Distinction: Card Sale Chairman Confident Of Success

By Bob Jones

Being the chairman of Associated Student card sales is only one of many responsibilities assumed by Wally Levin, this week's student of distinction.

Levin, who has taken on the job of Association membership drive, is also vice-president of Omicron Phi Pi and secretary-treasurer of the Hillel Foundation. He is a member of the Block S. F. society, the Ski Rams, and was on last season's soccer team.

The sale of Associated Student cards, he said, can be just as big a job as the chairman wants to make it. Some of his duties are seeing that the cards are made available for purchase, assigning punch numbers on the cards for particular events, and pouring shame on the "Geck." or non-cooperative student.

"It's my hope that I will be instrumental in making City College of San Francisco what it should be, right on top," he said.

Levin, who is a graduate of Lowell high school, plans to continue his major, Business Administration, at the College of Pacific.

Wally Levin and Geck

Referring to the sale of Associated Student cards, he stated that he believed that program was going along smoothly. "I want to make it clear," he emphasized, "that I'm very grateful for all the support I have received from members of the Associated Students."

Pulse Of The Campus

Ram's Horn

• Fischer Tells Baseball's Value

Editor, The Guardsman:

I read with a good deal of interest the article appearing in the Ram's Horn entitled "Is Baseball A Waste of Money?" There is no doubt that many of the facts stated therein are true; few spectators, little publicity to the college, and no income produced by the sport of baseball.

The author of the article missed the real reason for the existence of any activity in an educational institution, namely: the participants should be the beneficiaries of those educational outcomes derived from participation in the sport.

The publicity and spectator interest should be encouraged, but it is only secondary to the educational objectives. A baseball diamond on the campus would certainly act as a stimulus to spectator interest.

The consumability of baseball equipment does boost the cost of baseball to the Associated Students, and no revenue is forthcoming because we cannot charge admission for games when they are played on public playground diamonds.

If the continuance of baseball must be justified on a revenue producing basis, then it is high time that we should discontinue it quickly.

The promotion of one student activity at the suggested expense of another activity is contrary to good logical thinking. All activities should be fostered and encouraged so that all our students will have an opportunity to participate in one or more self-satisfying activities.

To insure this there is only one answer, and that is 100 per cent student purchase of Associated Student cards so that all may play and profit by the many worthwhile activities that City College sponsors.

Bill Fischer, Baseball Coach.

Take It From Kays

Wily Chicks Cross Road

CHICKENS are the subject of today's feathery discourse. The fowl ones, not the fair ones that flit through the halls of City College.

Aside from brickmasons, hens are about the only creatures that are able to lay around and make money. Eggs are their stock in trade, and although they aren't always as good as they are cracked up to be, they help to prolong the life span of the hens. An egg a day keeps the axe away, that is.

Psychologists—those people who tell us what everybody knows in language that nobody understands—say that if you can't stand the sight of a fried egg, sunny side up, you are either neurotic or illiterate. The fact that you are reading this leaves only one alternative, but we will go into that at another time.

Getting back to henfruit, statistics show that the U. S. is the world's leading producer of eggs. That's really something to crow about.

Chicken eggs roll off the assembly line at the rate of well over a billion dozen annually, of which about 28 million dozen are exported, chiefly to Canada, Cuba, and Mexico.

The best producer of large eggs is the White Leghorn. For the dual purpose of egg and meat production, the Plymouth Rocks, New Hampshires, and Rhode Island Reds rank tops. No statistics were available on the duck-billed platypus.

Along with other new innovations, modern poultry raisers have found that hens lay more eggs when the lilting refrains of a Strauss waltz are allowed to float through the roosts. Music lovers might object to the immortal gentleman's masterpieces being wasted on the lowly fowl, but we'd like to see them lay a billion dozen eggs—with or without the aid of a 100-piece string orchestra.

Ram students currently enrolled in Poultry Raising 21A (open only to cute chicks) probably would encounter difficulties trying to house a string orchestra in the henhouse.

It has been suggested that they try playing the radio, but this also has its setbacks in that there are too many interruptions in the music. Arthur Godfrey would probably put them to sleep, and Bob Hope would "lay" enough in a half hour to give them an inferiority complex.

After much profound thought and brooding on the matter, we have hatched a sure fire solution to the problem of what to do with chickens that won't lay.

Step one is to purchase a barrel of tar, a sack of feathers, a rail, and a pistol.

Step two—shoot all the chickens. After they are dead they will lay wherever you put them.

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Clubs Cram Space With New Officers; Tau Chi's Toss Party

A sudden influx of club news has relegated this humble column to a thriving enterprise of great proportions, and before we run out of space let's get into the latest group of new officers.

Beginning with Delta Psi, the new "chiefs" are as follows: president, Joanne Knight; "veep," Janet Clreidele; pledge mistress, Pauline Bertalino; corresponding secretary, Jessie Taylor; recording secretary, Ann Yearsley; treasurers, Dot LaRocca and LaDay Elledge; historian, Vanda Puccinelli and "sarge" (at arms, that is), Shiela Berke.

The Theta Tau's line up thusly: president, Ann McBride; vice pres., Miriam Lagan; treasurer, Jackie Lantheaume; recording secretary, Carole Morrison; corresponding secretary, Pam Hall; "bouncer," Margie Bergset; and historian, Helen Smiernoff. Also worth mentioning is that the girls gave a dinner in honor of last semester's president, Norma Moehes, February 9 at the Villa Chartier Restaurant.

Around and "about" the male officers of the social circle we find Beta Tau Fraternity hierarchy listed in this order: president, Frank Bayol; vice president, Ed Fass; treasurer, Johnny Allen; recording secretary, Tom Killilea; corresponding secretary, Pete Chevrier; custodian, Dick Ganzert and historian, Dick West. Best wishes to Will Renke, Beta Tau and Pat Lantheaume, Theta Tau, who were married on the weekend of February 12.

The men of Tau Chi Sigma installed their new officers at a formal dinner, February 4, at the Hotel Claremont in Berkeley. The "boys" installed in their new offices were president, Jim Potter; vice president, Joe Gentile; secretary, Chuck Taggart; recording secretary, Jess Doran; treasurer, Andy Waldron; sergeant at arms, Pete Gentile; pledge master, Hank Hall and parliamentarian; Tom Moore. The final officer elected was George Jackson as historian. A valentine party was held February 14 with alumni and present active members and was the first of many activities planned for this semester.

Speaking of Alpha Sigma Delta (we were, you know), plans are being formulated for the annual Carrot Top Dance scheduled to be presented here Friday, March 31.

The Ski Rams are presenting a color movie in Room 136 today during college hour. All ski fans are cordially invited. Toodle oodle.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rose Hardie
STAFF EDITORS ..... Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Avey, Larry Bales, David Brewer, Graciene Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, John Dierking, George Eberl, Barbara Egoian, Ted Goulet, Ray Harvey, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kanaya, Richard Larrick, Henry Louie, Herb Marvin, John Nihill, Warren Northwood, Bob Rezek, Elaine Stamos, Jack Vanderbilt, Georgia Watkins, Felton White, Ralph Winsner, Eura Williams.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcomb.
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Kast, Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Bob Goncalves, Frank Monte, Terry Rose, Jack Spalding, Bob Valli.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandra Marks, Dolores Aguirre, Assistants.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Harrington, Dick Steinheimer, Bob Tkranart.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz, Mary Anne Quarteroli.
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normanly, Terry George, Harry Peretchan, Bob Easton.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Graham Field New Home For Baseball Team

In an effort to gain student support at home games, Coach Bill Fischer has acquired Graham Diamond at the Big Rec playground for all the college's conference baseball tilts this season.

With a seating capacity of over 2000, the Graham bleachers will offer adequate space for Ram followers.

The concrete grandstands were constructed only two years ago, and inasmuch as the college is without a home court, Fischer believes the use of this modern park will help revive interest in the baseball team from a spectator standpoint. The Big Rec field is located at Lincoln and 7th Avenues.

Meanwhile, the 75 baseball candidates have been divided into six organized teams for intrasquad contests. Games are being played daily and the most promising players of this group will be awarded with a position on this semester's college nine.

For the first time in NJCAA annals, a regional playoff will he held to determine the state two year college champions. Winners of Region I, composed of Southern California and the surrounding area, will meet Region II, central and Northern California, on the former's home grounds in a three-game series.

On May 26 and 27, the victors of the central section and the northern California division will tangle for the right to represent Region II in the finals. This is the first step in an effort to organize a national baseball tournament among the nation's junior colleges.

Traveling squad size for the regional finals will be limited to 15 men because home and visiting teams will share alike the profits and losses, after expenses of both clubs are deducted.

It will be the visiting college's responsibility to call the home representative to complete arrangements for the playoff. Championship round governor will be the Vice President of the Region in which the series is to be played.

Eleven Matches Scheduled For Intra Tourney

Intramural Director Tom Wilson announced today that the annual All-College Boxing Tournament, sponsored by the Associated Men Students, will be held at 8 p.m., Wednesday, March 1, in the men's gymnasium.

Ira Blue, radio and television announcer, will judge the matches, and 11 bouts are scheduled in the various weight divisions.

This is one of the highlights of the Intramural sports program planned to interest students in participation in different activities. Miniature Gold and Silver Gloves will he presented to winners in the boxing tournament.

Deadline for the coming round-robin basketball tournament has been set for Friday March 3. All student groups, including fraternities and independents are urged to join together now and submit their entries at the men's gymnasium in care of Wilson.

Hoping to surpass last year's record entry of 49 teams, Wilson expressed a desire that all groups interested apply to him as soon as possible.

Starting date for the hoop tournament is March 6, continuing daily Monday through Thursday, 3 to 5 p.m.

Individual sports, including tennis, pingpong, badminton, horseshoes and free-throw shooting, have a March 10 deadline.

Put Away The Violin

and

Get A Haircut

at

COLE'S Barber Shop

ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

Rams Battle Broncos To 4-4 Tie

The Guardsman SPORTS

Volume XXX, No. 3 FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1950 Page 3

Klemmer Trackmen Conduct Heavy Workouts, Prepare For Season Opener On March 25

By Terry Ryan

Heavy workouts are scheduled for next week by Coach Grover Klemmer's trackmen in preparation for their opening meet with Sacramento and Modesto, at Sacramento on Saturday, April 1.

Saturday, March 25 is an open date at which time Klemmer hopes to hold a practice meet with another college or high school as an extra non-conference contest.

Field coach Roy Burkhead is still under his handicap of lack of men for the field events. It is hoped that some of the runners, of which the college has a surplus, can be converted to field event men.

As soon as the squad rounds into enough shape to really see who has possibilities, the team will be cut to an efficient traveling size.

Competition is keen for all berths despite the lack of aspirants in some events. Track events especially have keen workouts, and only four men will make the team out of 10 recruits.

Although returnees are expected to make up the nucleus of the squad, Klemmer emphasizes that no position is certain and that all men will have an equal chance to win traveling team places.

The track schedule follows: March 25, open; April 1, Sacramento and Modesto at Sacramento; April 7, open; April 15, California Frosh and Santa Rosa at Berkeley; April 19 (Wednesday night), Santa Rosa at Santa Rosa; April 22, Stanford and San Mateo at Stanford; April 29, the Southern Conference Sectionals at Modesto; May 6, Conference meet at Sacramento; May 13, Fresno Relays; May 20, Modesto Relays; and, team funds permitting, the National meet at Visalia, May 26 and 27.

COACH GROVER KLEMMER enters his second year as track coach at the college this season. His cindermen are now preparing for their opener, April 25.

TRAVEL-MINDED?

We handle all student tours to Europe, Mexico and the Orient

We plan . . . independent travel, too!

If travel-minded, call

The Students Travel Club
Morse-Gleason Co.
Travel Agents
323 Geary at Powell
SUtter 1-4869

Rams-Placer Both Face Big Test

Although the championship for the Southern Division of the NCJCC is still a toss-up between City College and San Mateo, the race for the Northern Division title is practically "in the bag" for Placer Junior College, which is currently setting the pace with a 10-2 record.

Assured of at least a tie for first, Placer has only to win one of their two remaining games, both of which will be played against seventh place Yuba, to cop the title.

Conference standings through last weekend are as follows:

Southern Division	Won	Lost	Per Cent	Pts. For	Pts. Against
1. CCSF	9	2	.818	637	487
2. San Mateo	8	2	.800	631	557
3. Menlo	6	5	.545	563	587
4. Stockton	5	5	.500	513	480
5. Modesto	5	5	.500	161	439
6. Hartnell	3	7	.300	509	530
7. Monterey	0	10	.000	440	697

Northern Division	Won	Lost	Per Cent	Pts. For	Pts. Against
1. Placer	10	2	.833	670	587
2. Santa Rosa	8	4	.667	630	612
3. Grant	8	4	.667	604	569
4. Vallejo	6	6	.500	612	644
5. Sacramento	6	6	.500	606	676
6. Marin	5	7	.417	698	682
7. Yuba	4	8	.333	588	660
8. Napa	1	11	.083	614	712

WAA Members To Meet In College Hour

Women's Athletic Association activities are scheduled to be decided during college hour today. Any women who wish to join any of the sport groups should attend this meeting in the women's gymnasium.

Sports being offered this semester are the following: tennis, swimming, basketball, softball, speedball, volleyball, modern dancing, co-ed archery, fencing, folk-dancing, badminton and riding.

Officers for the spring semester are Lois Herting, president; Helen Simons, vice-president; Loyola Vose, secretary, and Marilyn Shaves, treasurer.

ROBIN HOOD'S

Best for thirst and hunger
And with plenty of mirth
Proved by many—
So try here first!

Featuring

THICK SHAKES
TEMPTING SUNDAES
REFRESHING SODAS
DELICIOUS SANDWICHES

Next Door to the
El Rey Theatre
Free Parking at Rear
1962 Ocean Ave.

De La Torre Knocks Out Flynn In Fistic Debut; Brooks TKO's Vranizan, Pacing Local Boxers

By Frank Monte

Middleweight Ralph De La Torre commenced his college boxing career in great style, knocking out Bronco Clyde Finn in the second round, while the varsity fought to a 4-4 tie with Santa Clara last Tuesday night in the men's gymnasium.

One knockout, two technical knockouts featured the evening's card, with the Rams taking three bouts, and defaulting the heavyweight and 125 matches, and the Broncos winning two while defaulting the lightweight fracas.

In other bouts: Bill Sullivan, SC, dec. Ken Won, SF; 145; Bob Hentchell, SC, tko Jim Keyes, SF, 175; Rueben Burton, SF, draw Bob Ratcliff, SC, 135; and Marc Zuccato, SF, draw Bill Marinovich, SC, 145.

Highlighting the local boxing scene next Wednesday, March 1, will be Coach Roy Diederichsen's presentation of the All-College Golden Gloves Tournament in the men's gymnasium at 8:00 o'clock.

A grand evening of entertainment will be on hand, which will see varsity members battling each other for the college title, and a chance at the Modesto Northern California Regionals, preliminary to the Nationals to be held at Weber College, Ogden, Utah, on April 10, 11, and 12.

De La Torre, All-City quarterback at Balboa last year, stalked his opponent in the first, hitting only to the body with left hands. Came the second, he unveiled a smashing hard right dropping Flynn to the canvas. Flynn got up only to be dropped again for the full count 30 seconds later.

165-er John Brooks added to the crowd's excitement, unloading a barrage of punches, downing Ed Vranizan in the second. Vranizan arose at the nine count, but the bout was stopped by the referee, handing Brooks a TKO.

Flashy Len Gage, 130, garnered his second consecutive win, toppling taller Bronco Al Terrazas, and then going on to grab the decision.

In the JV matches, Jack Bettencourt scored the only local win, decisioning Dick Nellis, 145. Santa Claran Bill Silvera took the nod over Al Chapius, 125, with the two remaining bouts ending in draws.

Pugs Host El Toro Marines Saturday

Engaging their second marine team in as many weeks, the fistic hopefuls of the college host the El Toro Marines at 8 p.m., Saturday in the men's gymnasium.

General admission is 60 cents with A. S. card holders admitted free.

Having had a taste of marine competition last week against Camp Pendleton, Roy Diederichsen's boxers will be well prepared for the leathernecks from the south.

Glancing at comparable scores, the locals loom as favorites to walk off with the evening's card. The Rams tied Pendleton, who in turn walloped the Toros, 8-1.

Major Charles M. Kunz, marine coach, will rely on Johnnie Malloy, 125, Roy Shelton, 145 and Lionel De Leon, 155.

Lightweight Jerry Stern, undefeated in two seasons, will move up to welterweight division facing Shelton. Len Gage, 125, battles Malloy, one of the marines' leading boxers.

"COFFEE DANNER'S"
Membership Cards
(Special Discount)
Contact
Les Poe
Coffee Dan's
430 Mason St.

MEN GET FONDA AND FONDA OF

Arrow Shirts and Ties

shirts $3.65 up ties $1.50 up

Here's Henry Fonda, star of "Mr. Roberts," one of many well known men who prefer Arrow shirts. Men like the good looking, comfortable collars (Hank is wearing the widespread PAR), the trim Mitoga fit and the fine, long wearing fabrics in every Arrow shirt.

ARROW SHIRTS & TIES

UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

Straight Talk

By Bill Thomas

BUDGET requests of the many Associated Student organizations were presented to Tom Campanella, the finance chairman, at the end of last semester.

These requests totaled some $26,000 and were what the Associated Student organizations figured they needed to continue their numerous activities.

REQUESTS EXCEED CAPITAL

The requests were far in excess of what the Associated Students could afford. An optimistic estimate is that the Associated Students have a working capital of about $17,000.

Since the budget requests were submitted, Campanella, President Don Parker, and Dean Louis Batmale have been interviewing the sponsors or the head of every group which put in a request for money.

They have made a sincere effort to determine possible adjustments in case requests cannot be fully met, and each organization has been given a chance to clarify its budget requests in greater detail than the official form permits.

In any budget request, especially at a time when money is scarce, there is a natural tendency to pad in the theory that the inevitable cut will hurt less. However this policy is often one that results in the necessary requests being cut and the padding remaining untouched. This has a harmful effect on student activities.

PADDING OUT

That is why this semester each organization is being consulted about its financial needs in order that the necessary budget appropriations will be passed and the padding left out.

Also this gives each organization the realization that its case has been carefully considered as well as an understanding of the financial situation the Associated Students face.

Next Thursday the budget will be presented to the Student Council for approval. Then the council will have a chance to change or modify any part of the budget. If they follow precedent, there will be little changing, however.

THE BLACKBOARD

What the budget will look like is still unknown at this time and probably will remain so until it is written on the blackboard of Room 2b for the Student Council to see.

Another item worthy of note is the motion passed by the Student Council stating that if the representative of a club fails to attend two meetings of the Club Activities Board that club will be expelled from the CAB and put off campus.

This is another move in the current drive to make the CAB an efficient operating member of the student government. It emphasizes that the clubs have responsibilities as well as privileges within the Associated Students.

DEAN LOUIS BATMALE, who initiated a series of conferences concerning budgets between activity leaders and finance committee members. (See Straight Talk, Column 1.)

India Travelogue Shown Today

First showing this semester of the new College Film Series, "Wheels Across India," is scheduled, admission free, for 9:30 a.m. and again at 2 p.m. today in Room 136, Madison Devlin, audio visual aids director, announced yesterday.

The film is a travelogue showing the wealth, poverty, and natural beauty of today's India, he said.

Last semester the films were shown during college hour, but because of conflict with club meetings and student rallies, it was felt a film presentation preceding college hour and one in the afternoon would serve the students better, he said.

The College Film Series was introduced three years ago to present films of general interest to students. Educational and travel films plus films on industries, products, and railroads were shown in past semesters.

Today Deadline To Add Courses To Program

Students adding courses to their program must file applications not later than today, in Building 3, Mary Jane Learnard, registrar, warned recently.

The counsellors are issuing the change of program cards, and students must report to their counselors before any course additions will be approved by department chairmen, Miss Learnard said.

Final day for filing petitions for dropping courses is Wednesday, April 5, she added.

Macy Official Here

Robert H. Schroeder, division superintendent of Macy's, will speak to members of the merchandising club today during college hour in Room 258. His topic will be "Careers in Retailing."

The speech given will be the first activity for the merchandising club this semester. The club which was organized last semester is sponsored by Virginia Gohn.

"Ut Adolescentes Vitae Educantur" is the motto printed on the City College official seal, which means "That Youth May be Educated to Life."

City College Alumni Association To Hold Fifteenth Charter Day Dinner

The City College Alumni Association Board will highlight its Fifteenth Charter Day observances with a dinner to be held Monday, April 3, at the San Francisco Shipyard Officers Club, Hunters Point.

Association members and their guests will celebrate the passing of the fifteenth year since the founding of the college. Association purposes are primarily to help obtain jobs for other members and to be of any other assistance possible.

Members keep in close contact with each other through the Alumni Bulletin, an illustrated newsletter containing personal items, news about the college and its activities, placement opportunities, and news of general interest to the association.

The bulletin is edited by Henry S. Louie.

The Alumni Executive Board is composed of Dr. Richard Kelly, chairman; Gloria Swicegood, secretary; Joseph A. Amori, Donald Burger, Trev Burrow, Max A. Call, Frank Ferguson, Edwin Frediani, Ralph Hillsman, Elmer Hubacher, Don Jensen, Hon. Charles A. Meyers, Donald Mix, George Mullany, and Randle Street.

Frediani is in charge of the program for the year and is currently planning a series of activities for the alumni.

Frank Ferguson, head of the membership committee, urged every alumnus to join the association and to receive the benefits offered by it.

Further details about the organization may be obtained through Randle Street, Alumni Liaison, or other members of the Executive Board.

Student Thespians Scheduled To Vie For Parts March 6

Tryouts for parts in Dr. Faustus, Spring production to be staged here by the Campus Players, start Monday, March 6, and will continue through Wednesday, March 8, director Paul Ellison said yesterday.

Ellison added that sets for Dr. Faustus are quite difficult as they must be made extremely simple, yet effective enough to set the mood for a tragedy.

The sets to be used were adapted from those designed by a famous German designer for the production of Dr. Faustus, which was staged in England by Ellison.

Ellison emphasized the fact that many new players are needed, and he urged all interested students to come to the tryouts.

Students who have an interest in "behind-the-scenes" activities are especially invited to attend the tryouts for many students are needed to help with such things as sets and costumes, Ellison added.

Students are not required to enroll in speech or drama to be eligible for tryouts, he pointed out, and it is possible to earn from one to three units of credit for their participation.

Oratorical Program, Speaking Contest, Keep Debaters Busy

California's centennial year is proving to be a large one for Mike Griffin's debating society with the recently disclosed news that the college is to be represented at the Native Daughters of the Golden West's public speaking contest during May and June.

The speaker for the college is to be chosen through a series of speaking contests to be held in the near future. The winner will then compete in two primary competitions on May 1 and 10 to decide the representative for this district in the finals to be held sometime during late in June.

California History, The Centennial, Pioneers, and Land Marks are the list of topics from which the contestants will select to talk on in competition for a $50 first prize and a $25 second prize.

Andy Ferrari of the college was the winner of the contest's first prize as well as a gold watch during last year's meet.

Members of the Debating Society are also busy with their oratorical programs to familiarize the new students of the psychology 10 classes with the many activities offered at the college.

Debaters Armand Magid, Joe Schwab, Erwin Phillips, Randy Street, Marcella Louis, Jim Anderson, and Don Parker, are the nucleus of the bureau who are participating in the oratorical program.

Debating Society Set For Hearst Contest

City College debating society is making plans for the eighth annual Hearst Oratorical Contest to be held at Baltimore, Maryland, Michael Griffith, debating director, announced recently.

All students are invited to compete for the cash awards, but applications must be filed prior to Friday, March 3, Griffin said.

The national oratorical contest has attracted nation-wide attention in past years, and competition for the awards should be stronger than ever, he said.

The state-held contest winners will speak on May 12 at Baltimore, Maryland, for the awards.

Students interested in this contest should report to Griffin in Room 17, Building 19.

RAM BOOSTERS

Let Us Patronize Them — They Patronize Us

If It's Koret of California It's From The Ladies' Shop Everything for . . . the Miss 1532 Ocean Avenue

Bowl . . . Johnny Swanson's MISSION BOWL Free Instruction Daily Beginners Welcome at all times! 3140 Mission St.

For a Snack Or a Dinner, The Avenue Is a Winner Avenue Coffee Shop 1612 Ocean Ave.

EXCELSIOR SCHOOL of DRIVING LEARN TO DRIVE IN TRAFFIC! DUAL CONTROLLED CARS We prepare you for driver's examinations SPECIAL RATES for students, payable in installments 4666 MISSION ST. AT OCEAN AVE. JUniper 4-3687

TYPEWRITERS RENTED GArfield 1-6633 3 MONTHS $7.50 Free Ribbon, Carbon Paper Free Delivery Tibbs Typewriter Co. 821 Market St., San Francisco

Ayook's Sport Shop Men's and Boys' Clothing Featuring Team & Club Jackets Tailored To Order Also Athletic Equipment 2598 San Bruno Ave.

JOE and BILL'S RICHFIELD STATION LUBRICATION Tires and Batteries Washing & Polishing 1298 OCEAN AVE.

Paint & Decorate Figurines Lil Audrey's Dresden Craft Free Instruction Daily Also Tues. & Thurs. eves. 1443 OCEAN AVE. DE 3-4574

Gems of Art Gift & Children's Shop Wedding Shower and Birthday gifts Brides register here for your Dinnerware & Stemware 1700 OCEAN AVE. JU 4-0831

Get Ready With The EL REY MEN'S SHOP Opposite El Rey Theater 10% off Still Holds with Associated Student Card Sport Clothes For Your Wardrobe

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP Your haircut as You want it 1334 Ocean Avenue 2 blocks from campus

A. Walter McMurray

Ted's Ocean Cleaners 50c Slacks Shirts Skirts DRY CLEANED Corner of Ocean & Plymouth

We Air Express We Deliver We Telegraph Chapel of Flowers Florists CORSAGES — FLORAL DESIGNS WEDDINGS JUniper 4-9038 1805 Ocean Avenue San Francisco 12

Don't Miss This . . . Tasty HAMBURGERS and Delicious Home Made SPAGHETTI RAM SHACK Across From West Campus

Ram Talent Will Highlight Big Rally Today

Student talent and the college band will headline a star-studded show in the auditorium during today's college hour rally at 10:40 a.m., Monroe Johnson, rally commissioner, announced yesterday.

The talent for today's show was recruited from the college student body to acquaint the Associated Students with performers of ability that attend the college, Johnson said. The entertaining quality of their acts will come as a pleasant surprise to most of the students who attend the affair, he added.

Admission to the rally will be allowed only upon presentation of Associated Student card for punching, a practice which will continue for all subsequent rallies and social affairs of the semester.

Today's rally is under the direction of the rally commission and members of its subsidiary committees, Johnson explained. As chairman of the committee, Johnson arranges college hour functions with the aid of a score of assistants.

Custodian of the group is Lloyd Baumann, while Variety Club Chairmen are Dave Irvine, Bill Rosaia, and Robin Rosefield, and Doreen' Mannion is secretary. Other members of the commission are Ted McHale, Terry Conroy, Don Foley, Bill Steiner, Ralph Griffin, Urb Cummings, Emmett Thompson, and Charles Robinson.

Assisting the rally commission in program arrangement is a committee of students comprised of Richard Svelia, Bob Luiz, Bob Brown, Jerry Barnes, Robert Smerle, and Wally Levin.

Attendance at today's affair is expected to be great after the Rally Commission's triumph of last week. The college auditorium was the scene of a gala musical fanfare last Friday afternoon as George Shearing and Nat "King" Cole and Trio appeared on stage here in a benefit Damon Runyon Cancer Fund drive which netted $242.45.

Approximately 1000 student enthusiasts donated 25 cents at the door as they congregated in the building to see and hear artists of the eighty-eights at work.

Shearing, the celebrated British pianist who is on extended tour of America, began the 50-minute entertainment with his ever-popular rendition of September in the Rain. This was followed by his latest release, George Gershwin's Summertime.

Accompanied by his Trio, King Cole gave out with many of his favorite tunes. Among them were such numbers as Sweet Lorraine and Exactly Like You.

The Shearing-Cole appearance here was sponsored by the Associated Students, according to Sophomore President Bill Rosaia. Billy Eckstine and Sarah Vaughn are slated to appear here in the near future, Rosaia said.

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

VOLUME XXX — SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—FRIDAY, MARCH 3, 1950 — NUMBER 4

REPRESENTATIVES OF SOCIAL SERVICE clubs gathered to discuss arrangements for the Red Cross Benefit dance to be held in the west campus auditorium tonight. Shown here are (back row, left to right), Bob Edwards, Ski Rams; Dick Schambach, Masonic Club; George Boyko, Block S. F.; (front row, left to right), David Mehr, Engineering Club; Neil Fahy, Newman Club; and Stan Fletcher of the Cosmopolitan Society. Admission has been set at 50 cents, with all proceeds going to the Red Cross.—Photo by Thranert.

Eleven Social Service Clubs Sponsor Benefit Dance Here

Eleven college groups will sponsor a Red Cross benefit dance to be held tonight in the college's auditorium from 8:30 to 12 midnight, Richard Schamback of the Masonic Club said yesterday.

Clubs participating in the event are Alpha Phi Omega, Chinese Club, Cosmopolitan Society, Filipino Club, Latin-American Club, Le Circle Francais, Masonic Club, Newman Club, Ski Rams, and the Women's Athletic Association.

Student committee chairmen are Al Flores of Alpha Phi Omega, handling decoration and entertainment arrangements, and Schambaek, who is in charge of tickets and admission details. "Admission to the dance is 50 cents," Schambaek said, "and all proceeds will go to the Red Cross."

Refreshments will be sold, with Block S. F. and the Ski Rams handling the coke concession. Music will be furnished by the college's dance band under the direction of Jerry Barns. Additional entertainment during the intermissions will be supplied by the Latin American Club. The decorations will follow the Red Cross' theme, Schambaek added.

Coach Bill Fischer is the faculty adviser aiding the clubs with the dance.

AS Dance Dropped In Favor Of Game

Postponement of the Associated Students' dance scheduled for Friday, March 10, was announced yesterday by Associated Student Vice-President Sandy MacKay.

A possibility that the college basketball team will play in the championship tournament to be held in Sacramento the same evening was the reason for cancelling the dance, Miss MacKay said.

The dance would not have been in accordance with a college policy which prohibits more than one activity an evening.

Rally, Dance, Games Lead AS Functions

Eight activities are on the agenda for Associated Student members through next Friday, March 10:

- RALLY — college hour today — AS card holders only.
- CAB BENEFIT DANCE—tonight —50 cents per person.
- BASKETBALL — CCSF at Auburn—free to AS members.
- BOXING — tonight at 8 p.m. — CCSF at Santa Clara—free to AS members, 40 cents to nonmembers, 60 cents to adults.
- CONCERT — Tuesday, March 7, at 11 a.m.—Associated Student members only.
- BOXING—Wednesday, March 8, CCSF vs. San Jose State—free to AS members, 40 cents to nonmembers, 60 cents to adults.
- CLUB MEETINGS — Friday, March 10, during college hour.
- GUARDSMAN — next issue Friday, March 10.

CAB Delegates To Meet Wednesday To Elect Officers

The Club Advisory Board will meet Wednesday, March 8, in Room 9K to elect officers and to file charters, according to James Reed, sophomore student council member who officiated at last week's CAB meeting.

"Every club represented at the March 8 meeting will have a single vote in the elections held at that time," Reed said.

He added all organizations must also submit their charters for approval at this time.

Associated Student President Don Parker urged each group to appoint a permanent representative and an alternate to insure representation at each meeting.

"Any organization missing two meetings will be dropped from the active list," Parker said.

Twenty-two organizations were not represented at last week's CAB meeting.

The dates of the future meetings to be held at 3 p.m. in Room 9K, are as follows: March 8 and 22; April 19 and 26; and May 10, 24 and 31.

Engineering Department To Offer New Semi-Professional Courses

Air conditioning, refrigeration, heating and ventilation are the new courses offered by the Engineering Department at the college, said John Brady, semi-professional courses, in announcing plans to broaden the offerings in the technical engineering program.

Equipment for one of the laboratories will consist of an air-conditioning system complete with a precipitron; a refrigeration unit, including walk-in type commercial refrigerators; a cooling room; a quiek freeze room and cold storage room; also heating and ventilation systems including warm air heating, steam radiators, hot water radiators, steam unit heaters and panel-heating.

An advisory committee consisting of representatives from the unions and industry is assisting in the selection of the latest equipment and materials for the laboratory and course to insure up-to-date training for students.

The committee consists of N. J. Carman, Assisting International Representative of the International Union of Operating Englaeers; C. M. Welshons, Chief Engineer of the National Ice and Cold Storage Company; Larry Rapp, Sales Manager for C. C. Moore; Joe Sullivan, President of the Hotel Association of San Francisco; and Carl Webber, Manager of the Whitcomb Hotel.

Students desiring information on any of these courses should contact William Mayo, chairman of the Department of Engineering, in Room 142.

Summer Session Out; Lack Of Interest Cited

Lack of student interest in summer session has resulted in its cancellation, Dr. Marcus Skarstedt, coordinator of curriculum, said yesterday.

For the second year in succession, summer school, which was instituted in 1946, has been cancelled because prospective student participation did not warrant its expense.

The summer classes were originally designed to facilitate the rapid training of veteran-students, whose education had been hampered by the recent World War II, Skarstedt said.

Last year, a survey conducted among the college's students disclosed that the number planning to attend the proposed summer courses did not justify the expense required to maintain the college for that period, he said.

Although the men's dormitories were closed during the 1949 summer vacation, no announcement has been made as to how they will be affected by the above announcement.

Cutler, Kays Head Honor Group

Alpha Gamma Sigma, college honor society, recently elected Virginia Cutler, president; Robert Kays, vice-president; Marjorie Brownwood, secretary; Klaus Schaie and Joseph Azzolino, CAB representatives; Claire DeBacker, director of coaching service.

Donald Jensen, Alpha Gamma Sigma adviser, emphasized the fact that of the number qualified to join only 60 per cent were members. Jensen believes that either the eligible students think the club will require too much time or that they do not realize that they have the qualifications. Requirements for membership are that the student must have at least 12 units, 30 grade points, a B average and no grade lower than a C.

Advantage of the society is the chance to acquire a scholarship through being an officer of the club, to such colleges as College of Pacific, LaVerne College, Occidental College, Pomona College and University of Southern California. Membership card, silver pin, silver guard, and a gold pin are given for the first, second, third and fourth semesters respectively.

COP Forty Voice Choir Presents Concert Tuesday

The A Cappella Choir of College of the Pacific, under the direction of J. Russell Bodley, will perform a four-part concert in the west campus auditorium on Tuesday, March 7th, at 11 a.m.

This second concert of the series being sponsored by the music department and the Music Guild of the college is free to faculty and Associated Student members.

Included in the program of the 40-voice choir is a Bach motet, "Sing Ye To The Lord," "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte; a Brazilian psalm, Tschaikowsky's "Song of the Reapers," and several other selections by contemporary artists. The group is climaxed by Bodley's own composition for the words of Clement Wood, "De Glory Road."

Featured soloist with the Pacific choir is June Hook, who will sing Christina Rossetti's "The Shepherds Heard An Angel," and the solo sections in Kodaly's "Evening." John Nastari, baritone, of Oakland, is also a violinist, and will perform between groups of the choir.

A Cappella music literally means music in the manner of the chapel. In modern time it has come to mean unaccompanied choral music and has broadened in scope until it now embraces the best in art songs and secular poetry, including a fine group of negro spirituals as well as music of more formal religious setting and origin.

This is the second appearance of the College of the Pacific choir here. Other free concerts in the series are planned for later this semester sponsored by the Music Guild. The Guild is composed of ten campus music organizations with Bob Tyson, president.

Alumni Association Members Are Spokesmen For College — Conlan

The importance of the position of the City College Alumni Association was emphasized by President Louis G. Conlan at a recent meeting with the Alumni Executive Board, when he said that they represent and are spokesmen for every person who has attended the college.

Conlan discussed and clarified the relationship of the association to the college during his two hour meeting with the board.

"The success of the Alumni Association will be reflected in the growth and stature of City College," Conlan said. "The association will be the central clearing house for the interchange of thoughts with the college's graduates and the community at large."

Declaring the association to be an integral part of the college family, Conlan indicated the organization should assist in placement of graduates (a task already assumed by the association), and should support the interests of the college in its work with the students of San Francisco.

Conlan concluded with an offer to give all reasonable assistance on any problem that might be presented to the expanding Alumni Association.

President Conlan is expected to join with the association's Charter Day dinner at Hunters Point. Donald J. Burger, Charter Day chairman, said, "It was decided to hold this celebration of Charter Day off-campus in order to provide extended facilities for the enjoyment of those who will attend."

Informal dress will be in order for the evening festivities on Monday, April 3, that will begin at 5:30 with dinner at 7, Burger said.

Tickets may be obtained from Joseph A. Amori, college placement director, in Building 2, or from Randle Street, alumni liaison officer. Tickets are $2.00.

The Alumni Association has been given an office in Building 2, opposite that of Dean Edwin C. Browne. Street has posted his office hours for those who wish to see him.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

SOMETIMES, without really meaning to, we find ourselves giving special emphasis to a person or group of persons connected with the college. So if you don't mind (or even if you do mind for that matter) we'll go theatrical today.

Department of theatrical-type people: How about Chuck Hulse who's currently with the well-known Straw Hat Review as a hoofer . . . and Mary Cook, with the lead in the Just Players (over'n Oakland) production of the Glass Menagerie . . . or Rita Fabri handling the top spot in Other Wife, presented last Sunday by the Green Room Players . . . or Mary Ann Stuart, who trods—or is it treads?—the boards for the Theatre Arts Colony . . . and John Durand, working on the lead in the Muni Theater's new prize play, the title of which is not yet known. Felicitations to all.

MORE TALENTED PEOPLE.

You never can tell dept.: Jane Howarth, veteran of the College Players' production of G.B.S.'s You Never Can Tell n' many others, also designs Christmas and greeting cards . . .

The things that don't happen around here: If you happened to be looking at television last Sunday evening at 8:30 and the TV happened to be tuned in on Tommy Harris' Amateur Show on KPIX then you can skip this because you already know that instructor Lester Tarnopol with student Virginia McCarthy assisting put two of the former's marionettes through their paces in a skit called "Monkeyshines."

P. S. The college's orchestra and band conductor, Meyer M. Cahn, plays piano accompaniment for the show.

Many, many thanks to: George Shearing, the King Cole Trio, the AFL Musicians Local No. 6, Rally Commissioner Monroe Johnson, and all those students who paid their two-bits admission last Friday. Together you helped drag in $242.45 for the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund.

TOP TEAM

Edward Bodel went to San Francisco Junior College—they call it City College now, or something like that anyway—back in 1940. Now Bodel and his wife are preparing for the world ice skating championships, to be held in London early in March. The Bodels are the top amateur dance skating team in the country.

Ask a simple question dept.: Don Johnson tells this one. When asked, "Why are you taking this course?" most students reply with some tripe about its providing them with information they consider necessary. But one stout Hotel and Restaurant major gave his ample stomach a pat and said, "Are you kiddin'?"

Feminine Viewpoint

Fashions Flatter Femmes

By Bobbie Jackson

TODAY the feminine viewpoint is directed at fashions both here on campus and throughout the nation.

By latest fashion decree, skirts are shorter, although the length worn depends upon the individual and the type of costume. Soft curved lines and straight boyish lines are both in order. Slim, flared and pleated skirts share the spotlight.

Hair styling is decidedly on the short side, although whether it is worn straight or in curls is again entirely up to the individual.

For spring, the old standby, the suit, is high on the list. Tailored styles, short, boxy jackets or bolero-type jackets with pencil-slim skirts are fashion-right.

Getting back to home, the campus that is, it is noted that the new short hair cuts have come to stay as more and more women appear minus their long tresses. The advantage of short hair is its easy manageability and neat appearance, even in the local fog.

Of course suits are numerous on campus, for like the short coat, they prove more practical for the co-ed who is not fortunate enough to have a locker to store a long coat in during class hours.

It should also be noted that with shorter skirts and emphasis on feet and ankles, shoes are much more attractive than before. The ever-faithful dirty saddle-shoe is now being replaced by Mary Jane sandles, Robin Hood type shoes, and other neat and often individual types of footwear.

Sweaters, including the popular cashmeres, are now being worn tucked in with gaily designed scarves and belts for decoration.

On the whole, it appears that the fashion trend is toward neatness and a well-dressed look for college women.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, No. 4 — FRIDAY, MARCH 3, 1950 — Page 2

Mayor Asks For Letters; Editor Asks For Buildings, Fields

LATE last week Mayor Elmer E. Robinson decreed that the week starting Monday, February 27 through Friday, March 3, would be Write-A-Letter-To-The-Mayor-Week.

In his announcement, the Mayor asked for letters of praise, requests, suggestions, and criticism. We would like to forward a few of each herein.

First, Mr. Mayor, we would like new buildings to house our classrooms, library, and fine arts halls. We need all of them, for as you know, City College is growing and is now housed in temporary structures on the western side of the hill, listed as Hill 29 by the City Planning Commission. The college was first organized in 1935, and since that time only the main building and/or science building has been erected. We wish you would push this for it is important that students be housed in adequate structures. We are 5000 strong out here and the average age is 19.

FURTHERMORE, the college needs a new football stadium. At the present time our Rams use the San Francisco State gridiron. While this situation is adequate, our team needs its own field. On the baseball front, we would like to have a diamond of our own, for we have no field to speak of. Having our own baseball field would increase student interest in the sport.

Moreover, our swimming team is without a pool; the track team is in the same debacle.

Further, on the request side of things, we wish you would get the Municipal Railway out of our parking lot at the corner of Ocean and Phelan Avenues. The parking situation is fierce, Mayor, without having a stock of rusty rails in the lot, forcing students to seek muddy holes in which to park their autos.

Speaking of autos, an arterial should be placed on Ocean Avenue to cut down the threat of accidents at the Phelan Avenue intersection.

One last thing, Mr. Mayor, we would like to call your attention to our plans of a student store. It is important that we have such an establishment on the campus. The store would help increase our revenues, and you know how important revenues are, and decrease student expenses.

And while you're at it, Mr. Mayor, The Guardsman, the official student publication, is in dire need of some new typewriters. We have some talented people on our staff—some veterans over 21—who can only continue to do good writing on adequate typewriters.

Student Of Distinction: Larry Ross Guiding Hand Of Frosh Affairs

By Bob Rezak

There seems to be a general assumption that once the Freshman Class dance is out of the way, the frosh class president can relax from the pressure put upon him in planning an affair of this kind.

While this may be partially true, it is not the case with Larry Ross, Freshman class president, pictured at right, and this week's student of distinction.

Larry Ross

A quick glance at the "behind the scenes operations" of the work that goes into an affair of this type reveals that Ross was the guiding hand responsible for the success of the frosh class' one big event of the spring semester.

Ross explained that making hotel reservations and dance band contracts was only a part of the job he was expected to fulfill in less than a month's time.

Preparing a tentative list of expenses involved in the dance and finally getting it approved by the Student Council was probably the biggest job he had, Ross said.

Once the budget was approved and $235 granted for the dance the affair began to take a definite shape. Ross then went ahead with final plans.

After the hotel and orchestra contracts were made, he said the $5 left was used to promote the dance, since it was not enough to pay for the tallies originally planned.

He also saw that the event was adequately publicized, and, in general, run off smoothly according to the plans approved by his committee.

Ross takes an active interest in other campus activities, too. He was one of those hard-working students who devoted his time to the sale of Associated Student cards.

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Clubs Escape Horror Of Spring Fever, Plan Coming Events

Prospective semester plans from the realm of the social sphere are currently pouring forth with great gusto, which just goes to show that spring fever has not as yet caught up with the social outfits.

First on the agenda of coming things is the annual dance sponsored by the men of Alpha Sigma Delta, to be presented on the evening of Friday, March 31. The theme of the dance, formerly known as the Carrot Top Dance, has been changed and will be announced at a later date. The dance committee is under the able guidance of its chairman, Duane Smith, who is aided by four capable assistants.

The first rush tea of the Delta Psi girls is due to come off on March 12, at the St. Francis Hotel. The Delts also wish it to be known that a miniature ivory gavel was recently presented to last semester's president, Ginny Cutler.

The California Gamma, National Fraternity of Pi Delta Koppa, has set March 3, 4 and 5 as the dates for their ski trip to Soda Springs. Many new faces were seen at a rush party held last Tuesday.

Also in the realm of rushing was the first social of the semester of Tau Chi Sigma Fraternity, which was held Thursday evening, February 23, at which prospective new members were invited and introduced to all present and alumni members who attended the gathering.

Speaking earlier of spring fever, a rumor about campus seems to show that it is beginning to spread, as word has it that a couple of campus sweethearts and two brothers from Alpha Sigma Delta are interested in matrimony. What "about" it men?????

Getting away from that sad malady, spring fever, for the moment, the Hillel Foundation announced that the club plans to have dances, hay rides, cultural meetings, picnics and a formal dinner this semester. Anyone interested in joining the organization should leave their name with Michael Zarchin, the organization's sponsor.

The Drama Club will meet today in Room 28, in the main building, during college hour, to discuss and plan semester activities. All students interested in dramatics either from a social or acting angle are invited.

Although spring is here, we have noticed an absence of the pleasant chortle of the winged creatures. Here's a fitting poem: "Spring is sprung, the grass is riz (poet's license), I wonder where the boidies is?" That's all from here for now.

Pulse Of The Campus

Ram's Horn

• Parking Lot Not For Ball Games

Editor, The Guardsman:

I think the Student Council or the campus authority should issue a law to prohibit any "ball-playing" in the West Campus parking area.

Many cars have been damaged through this "ball-playing" by some of our selfish and inconsiderate students.

This is intolerable!

Associated Student card holders 2407, 3813, and 48.

(Editor's note: After reading the above letter we were inclined to suggest that the men playing ball in the vicinity of parked cars go out for the baseball team. Coach Bill Fischer would be more than happy to give them a try-out.)

• Levin Thanks Those Who Helped

Editor, The Guardsman:

I would like to thank the following students for their help in keeping the Associated Student Card drive going: Bob Smirle, for the use of his car and his help; Dick Hallbeck, for the use of his P.A. system; Bob Thranert and Dick Jackson for their fine broadcasting from the car.

Sharon Hoskins, Carmel Lee, Shirley Stockton, Honey Anderson, Kay Rose, Lorl D'Anico, Pat Welch, Caroline Bosque, Arinyne Donnan, and Jeanne Zumwalt, for their help in selling Associated Student cards at the Silver Pole during the first two weeks of the semester.

These students showed real college spirit by giving me their help.

Also I would like to thank all those who helped in any way to make the Associated Student card sales a success.

Chairman Associated Student Card Sales,
Wally Levin

PanoRAMa With Jones

Popcorn Versus Perfume

IF a male student has at least one nose dangling from his eyebrows it will pay the gal students to use perfume. This is the opinion of five famous men interviewed by Liberty Magazine recently.

The men (executive Pierre Harang, perfume-blender Julien Bellot, radio personality Norman Brokenshire, portrait painter Michael Werhoff, and fashion designer Mr. John), all agreed that if a gal doesn't use the stuff, the men won't tumble. At least it is their combined opinions that any female who doesn't use scent is missing a good bet.

We don't want to give the impression that we disagree with these gentlemen. Far from it. However, it is our viewpoint that certain facts have been overlooked, at least they were not mentioned.

For a long, long time, longer than we care to mention, we have admired such ladies as Jane Wyman, Elizabeth Taylor, Jane Russell, and Joan Crawford. We appreciated these ladies even if we could never tell whether they wore Chanel Number Five or Odor of Fisherman's Wharf. We still attended the neighborhood movie and drooled at them, even though we had to be content with the smell from the bag of popcorn we held in our oily little fist.

* * * * *

This didn't happen in the Veteran's Administration office here at the campus, but it could have. It seems that a man appeared at the Veterans Claim office in Suffolk, Virginia, and asked for an application blank for the prisoner of war subsistence allowance.

When the clerk asked him if he was a prisoner of war, he replied, "Yes, I was in Leavenworth the whole time."

* * * * *

We haven't heard this complaint made against our female students, but the following occurred in Berkeley. It seems that a resident of that fair city found that he couldn't travel far along the sidewalks without finding them blocked by the girls of a nearby high school. The man was near distraction until he came upon a solution. Now he carries a huge automobile horn with him, and when he meets the girls he simply blasts the horn, waits until they scatter, places the horn back in his pocket and continues on his way.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rose Hardie
STAFF EDITORS ..... Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Airo, Larry Bales, David Brewer, Gracene Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cummings, John Dierking, George Eberl, Barbara Egnion, Ted Gray, Ray Hervey, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kinoya, Richard Larrick, Herb Lipke, Herb Marvin, John Nihill, Warren Northwood, Bob Reiss, Elaine Stamos, Jack Vanderbilt, Georgia Watkins, Felton White, Rose Wurster, Ezra Wurtzel.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnston, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcomb
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Kaye, Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, assistant; Bob Gonsalves, Terry Ryan, Jack Spalding, Bob Valli.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandra Marks, Dolores Aguirre, Assistants
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dirk Harrington, Dick Steinheimer, Bob Thranert
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz, Mary Anne Quartaroli
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normanly, Terry George, Harry Panetichen, Bob Easton.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco — 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Broncos, Spartans Face Rams In Return Bouts

By Frank Monte

Two return matches feature tonight's and next week's boxing attractions, with the varsity pugilists invading the Santa Clara gymnasium tonight at 8 o'clock, and then hosting San Jose State next Wednesday, March 8, in the men's gymnasium at 8 p.m.

Of the two teams, San Jose, fistic tyrant of the Pacific coast, affords the toughest assignment. In previous engagements this season, Coach Roy Diederichsen's varsity tied the Broncos, 4-4, allowing them two defaults, while the Spartans pounded out a decisive decision, 14½-3½.

Facing Coach Julie Menendez's Broncos, Diederichsen will use most of his first team. Jerry Stern, lightweight, slugger and the initial Santa Clara meet, will step up into the welterweight division, to battle Bill Sullivan who decisioned local Ken Won last month.

Ralph De La Torre, 155, makes his second start against Santa Claran Clyde Flynn, intent on another knockout.

Absent from the 11-bout program Wednesday night, will be most of Spartan Coach De Witt Portal's first string boxers. Currently riding a string of ten consecutive victories, Portal will use such notables as Ernie Paramo 125; Vic Harris, 135; Johnny Johnson, 145; and Jo De Soto, 155.

Although both coaches have indicated no definite starting line-up, Len Gage, 125, faces either Ernie Paramo or Keith Bayne, both experienced men. De La Torre clashes with Joe De Soto, heavy punching senior.

Stern's opponent is a toss-up between Ed Martin or Vic Harris. Should Stern meet Martin, a battle royal will prevail, with both boys seeking redemption of their previous draw together.

Stern Acclaimed Outstanding Boxer

Jerry Stern, lightweight, kept his seasonal record unblemished, taking the decision over tough Louis Gage, and walking off with the outstanding boxer trophy of the All-College Boxing Tournament, held in the men's gymnasium last Wednesday night before 1500 spectators.

Sixteen rugged and capable boxers kept the fans on edge throughout the program, battling for the coveted all-college titles in their respective weights. The victors received gold boxing gloves, and the runners-up silver gloves.

The main event provided the nightcap for the evening's thrills, when light heavyweight Dick Ramsey battered a vicious left hand to Jim Keyes' body, curling him on the canvas for the count in the second round.

Middleweight Ray Nelson's clever counterpunching and in-fighting gave him a well earned decision over Ralph De La Torre.

Results were: Len Gage dec. Ruehen Burton, 130; Jack Bettencourt dec. Ken Won, 145; Dick Fiore dec. Manuel Caravalho, 145; Joe Boyd dec. Al Rivera, 145; and Tommy Stern dec. Reggie Brown, 165.

Student enrollment in the first semester of City College of San Francisco in September, 1935, was 1,449.

State Track Facilities Unavailable; Thinclads Workout At Balboa High

Coach Grover Klemmer's track squad ran into unexpected difficulties last week when San Francisco State College was unable to permit full use of their field and track upon which the local thinclads have been practicing.

From now on the trackmen will practice on the Balboa High field and from 2 o'clock until 3:30 o'clock on the State oval. This is a concession made the college by State because the Rams have no pits for high jumpers, broad jumpers, and pole vaulters. Balboa field and the practice foothall field will also see action as practice grounds for weight men.

As yet the squad has not been cut, but in the near future Coaches Klemmer and Roy Burkhead will narrow the team down to a reasonably sized traveling squad.

Weights, shot, discus and javelin, under the direction of Coach Burkhead, are weak points of the 1950 edition of the track team. While some men out for the events show promise, they are not enough in numbers to take the valuable second and third places which win meets.

Returnees Irv Beltrame, Chris Christie, Joe Greggins and others are reported to be rounding into shape quickly and are promised support by men from the prep ranks.

The opening meet is scheduled for April 4, but an open date of March 25 has been offered for a practice meet.

College Golfers Open Season Against Police

The college golfers open their 1950 season against the strong San Francisco Police Department medalists Tuesday, March 14. The sleuths are led by Jim Molinari, former city champion.

Ram greenmen are now in the midst of medal play to establish a leader. Coach Ralph Hillsman revealed there still remains time to sign up for the team.

LEVI'S

"America's Finest Overall"
Made in San Francisco
Since 1850
Levi Strauss & Company
98 Battery Street

(★The name "LEVI'S" is registered in the U. S. Patent Office and denotes only overalls made by Levi Strauss & Co., San Francisco, California.)

Hoopmen Drop Series Opener

Placer Beats Rams In First Tilt; May Decide Championship Tonight

With a comfortable lead in the current three game series with the Ram basketball team, established by winning the first game last Wednesday night, the Placer Junior College Spartans defend their margain tonight when they meet the Rams in the second contest of the playoffs at the Spartan home court in Auburn.

If the championship series is tied after tonight's game, a third game, which will also be played at Auburn, will be necessary. The scene for the third engagement was decided upon by mutual consent of Coach Ralph Hillsman of the Rams and Coach Harry Aronson of the Spartans.

Having the advantage of playing on their home court, and being cheered on by their home town rooting section, the Placer quintet will undoubtedly prove to be a tough team to beat.

Unable to close the three-point gap that Placer held for most of the contest, the Rams went down to a stinging 56-42 defeat at the hands of the Spartans Wednesday in the jam-packed men's gymnasium.

Behind at half time by a 23-19 margin, the Ram quintet, after pulling within one point of the Spartans during the third quarter, could not cope with the almost fantastic accuracy of the Placer squad in the second half.

Some idea of this accuracy is given in the fact that Jim Sugrue, all-conference center for the Spartans, was held by the fine guarding of Pat Boyle, to a single point in the first half of the contest.

In the remaining half Sugrue, who could not seem to miss, threw in 17 digits to tie for game scoring honors with Kev Duggan of the locals, both finishing with an 18-point total.

The burden of keeping the contest close, for the larger part of the time, rested mainly upon the shoulders of Duggan and Boyle, for Skip Carnegie, fast-scoring forward, was held without a point by the tight defense shown by the Spartans.

Usually a second half club, the Rams were defeated mainly because they could not score with any consistency during the latter part of the tilt, in which time there seemed to be a covering on the basket.

Three bus loads of Placer rooters, who kept the gymnasium in constant hedlam, journeyed from Auburn to witness the fray.

		H	R	E
CCSF		7	4	3
SH		9	3	2

Fischer Reviews Diamond Tryout

With three weeks and ten practice games remaining before the conference opener, Coach Bill Fischer is busily working with more than 75 baseball candidates in order to bring his varsity team down to the required 35-player limit.

Though the official baseball roster won't be known for several weeks, Fischer pointed out that a group of new students who turned out for tryouts have shown well in the intra-squad games that have been conducted during the last two weeks.

The official list of players surviving the first cut will be posted on the bulletin board in the men's gymnasium Monday afternoon. Fischer urged all candidates to check this list before Monday's practice.

Because of inclement weather, Fischer has been unable to give the outfield hopefuls a thorough chance to display their talents. However, all outfields will get another observation from the frog-voiced coach before he determines who will fill the positions.

The college nine opened its practice season last Wednesday, breaking a 3-3 deadlock and walking off with a 4-3 victory over Sacred Heart High School at Ocean View park. Tom Campos was the winning pitcher.

COLE'S CITY COLLEGE BARBER SHOP

Be Well Groomed
IT'S THE KEY TO SUCCESS
ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

TRAVEL-MINDED?

We handle all student tours to Europe, Mexico and the Orient

We plan . . . independent travel, too!

If travel-minded, call

The Students Travel Club
Morse-Gleason Co.
Travel Agents
323 Geary at Powell
SUtter 1-4869

It Is Beautiful It Is Economical

Your Official City College Ring
In Everlasting Sterling Silver

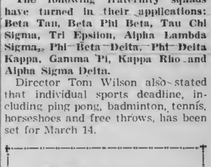
On Display

Trophy Case Outside Basement Study Hall - Main Building

$5.00 Deposit Required At Student Bank

Van Wormer & Rodrigues Inc.

126 Post Street — EXbrook 2-5886



Intra Teams Sign Up In Two Loops

Signups for the spring intramural basketball leagues opened this week with the applications received from 10 fraternity teams, all to be placed in one league. A separate league will be composed of independent squads, who should enter their applications as soon as possible.

Monday, March 6, has been made opening date for play, with games scheduled in the men's gymnasium from 3 to 5 p.m. Games will be played throughout the week from Monday to Thursday.

The following fraternity squads have turned in their applications: Beta Tau, Beta Phi Beta, Tau Chi Sigma, Tri Epsilon, Alpha Lambda Sigma, Phi Beta Delta, Phi Delta Kappa, Gamma Pi, Kappa Rho and Alpha Sigma Delta.

Director Tom Wilson also stated that individual sports deadline, including ping pong, badminton, tennis, horseshoes and free throws, has been set for March 14.

★

It's Manny's Fountain
Just across the street
For Borden's Ice Cream
That can't be beat.

★

Manny's Fountain
1039 Ocean Ave.
Across from West Campus

Be The Picture Of COMFORT In Your

Arrow "Gabanaro"

• The finest GABARDINE sports shirt value a man could ask for!
• Completely WASHABLE!

A smooth, rugged, washable gabardine sports shirt in solid maroon, navy blue, forest green, fireman red and other colors — that's "Gabanaro".

Good looking and long wearing, "Gabanaro" is an Arrow sports shirt you'll be proud to own. See your Arrow dealer today! $5.95

ARROW SHIRTS & TIES

UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

Straight Talk

By Bill Thomas

PROBABLY no subject has ever caused so much controversy and so much trouble and so much confusion in student government as the Club Activities Board.

The Student Council took up the question of the CAB once again during its session on Thursday, February 23, and debated the pros and cons of who is to write the board's by-laws. In other words who is going to say how the CAB is going to conduct its meetings.

A motion was presented suggesting that a committee from the Student Council write the CAB's by-laws. Much debate followed, most of it arising out of what can be called lack of information.

AS President Don Parker told the council at one point, "Some of you don't know what's going on!" and later, "Study the constitution, the by-laws, and Robert's rules of order."

Anyway the motion on the CAB was amended, dis-amended, then passed, and on a re-count of the vote defeated!

Bob Bell

The CAB had a constitution of its own at one time but this was ruled unconstitutional. At the request of Vice-President Sandy MacKay and Councilman Frank Bayol, Parliamentarian Bob Bell ruled that the CAB was in effect only a standing committee of the Student Council—having no authority except to recommend legislation.

After everything was straightened out somebody tried to start the argument all over again but President Don Parker pounded on his desk with the gavel in an exasperated manner.

Later that same afternoon the CAB held its first meeting. Representatives from only 28 clubs attended and most of these were temporary representatives.

As one of the club representatives remarked to us, "If these meetings are just going to be talk I'm not coming to any more . . . I'll wait until they've send me five or six letters saying they're going to throw me and my club off campus before I go again."

Parker told the CAB, "Don't get the idea that the Student Council is going to rule over the CAB all the time . . . you have the privilege of governing yourselves as long as you do the right thing."

There was throughout this meeting an air of apathy which perhaps reflected the real heart of the trouble.

The whole dispute can be stated in a few sentences.

1. The CAB does not operate efficiently, not even in its main job of approving club charters; perhaps because it is too large a body.

2. The Student Council is interested in getting the CAB to operate efficiently.

3. The clubs are interested only in their own problems and want nothing better than to be left in peace, and allowed to remain absorbed in their own specific interests.

Photo Class Film Law Enforcement

Advance students of photography have begun work on a 16 millimeter film in color depicting the college's Law Enforcement program in action, Beverly Pasqualetti, photography instructor, announced late yesterday.

The script was written and directed by the advanced students of the photography department, she said.

Pasqualetti also cautioned students not to become alarmed if, in the near future, they discover various areas of the campus under artificial illumination with various groups of camera-wielding students studying and using timing devices and other photographic equipment.

Emmett Smith, a photographic composition instructor here, has been asked to organize night classes at Marin Junior College. The offer was made shortly after he delivered a talk before the Marin Artists' Group on the photographic application of art.

Floriculture Department To Use Balboa Park Greenhouse

Use of the west greenhouse and potting shed in Balboa Park for a period of one year commencing July 1 was recently granted the floriculture department by the Park Commission, Harry Nelson, floriculture instructor, said recently.

Dr. Herbert C. Clish, Superintendent of Schools, received an affirmative reply to his request from Superintendent of Parks Julius L. Girod.

A copy of Girod's letter was sent by Clish to Louis G. Conlan, president of the college, who will take the necessary steps for the final procurement of the buildings.

The horticulture department has been asked by Herbert Plath of the Central Chapter of the California Association of Nurserymen to install landscaping exhibits for the annual Sportsmen's Show, which is to be held this weekend in the Civic Auditorium, Nelson said.

Landscaping will be done by the combined classes of instructors John Herman and Edgar Young.

Illegal West Campus Parkers To Be Cited

All cars parked on the road which extends around the west campus will receive a citation, Edwin C. Browne, dean of men, announced yesterday.

The reason for this regulation is that the road must be clear at all times so that in case of fire the fire fighting equipment will have easy access to all parts of the west campus.

Students should park only in the prescribed parking areas and if in doubt they should ask the gate attendant, Browne said.

India Movie On Screen Here Today

Wheels Across India, a travelogue in color showing the wealth, poverty, and natural beauty of today's India, is scheduled to be shown at 9:30 a.m. in Room 136 and again at 2 p.m. today, Madison Devlin, audio visual aids instructor, said Wednesday.

Last semester the films were shown during the college hour, but because of conflict with club meetings and rallies it was felt a film showing preceding college hour and one in the afternoon, would serve students better.

The College Film Series was introduced three years ago to present films of general interest.

Debaters' Plan To Meet State

Tentative plans are being made by Mike Griffin, faculty adviser, for Phi Rho Pi, and Randy Street, president of the Debate club, for a coming debate with San Francisco State sometime during the week of March 13, Griffin disclosed yesterday.

From the debating teams of Irwin Phillips and Street, Clift Brown and Don Foley, Joe Schwab and Ralph Vitterland, Armand Magid and Dick Schnal, and Marcella Lewis and Andy Anderson, Griffin will choose to represent the college, two teams through a series of eliminating debates.

If all goes well in the college's first intercollegiate debate, Griffin and Street plan to meet the University of San Francisco the following week.

The club will compete in the national meet of Phi Rho Pi.

Campus Players To Stage Othello

Shakespeare's Othello will replace Christopher Marlowe's tragedy, Dr. Faustus, as the spring production to be staged here by the Campus Players Saturday, May 20, Drama Director Paul Ellison announced yesterday.

The substitution was made to satisfy student demand for another Shakespearian tragedy this semester, Ellison said.

Othello requires a great deal of talent and it has a larger variety of bigger and better parts, he declared.

Tryouts are scheduled Monday through Wednesday, March 6 to 8, from 2 to 4 p.m. in Room 28. Ellison urged that all students interested in this production attend because a large group will be needed to help with sets, lighting, and all back stage activities.

Grad Petitions Due Next Friday

Final dates for filing graduation petitions, removing incompletes and dropping courses have been definitely set, Mary Jane Learnard, registrar, announced yesterday.

Graduation petitions must be filed and incompletes cleared Friday, March 10, Miss Learnard declared. The deadline for filing petitions for dropping courses is Wednesday, April 5, she added.

Students removing incompletes by March 10 will receive the same grade they would have received had their work not been deficient or late. If made up later in the semester, students will receive no higher than a B, and if not made up at all, an F will be recorded.

Much difficulty would be avoided if students would read the college catalogue, Miss Learnard said.

Graduation Plus Registration

Band Status Is Practically Quo

By Mary Lou Cooper

Graduation plus registration has left the "status" of the band practically "quo."

According to Mike Cahn, band director, there was just about one-third turn-over for the band and approximately a one-third increase for the orchestra.

With the prospect of a violin-less orchestra staring him in the face, Cahn was pretty glum until he learned that the orchestra had gained five new violinists, a rarity indeed, according to him, for there seems to be a nation-wide shortage of "fiddlers."

The new members are Edwin L. Coleman, Jr., Anna Elecopoulos, Muriel T. Henderson, Robert Lloyd Jacobson, and David J. Longman.

Last semester for the first time members of the college band were awarded band pins.

Recently band members voted to buy pins for three of their former student managers in order to express appreciation for the outstanding work performed by students holding this position.

These pins were paid for out of the band association fund accumulated through dues paid by band members. The former band managers to receive the pins are: Allen Parry, Robert Sears and Walter McRae.

This semester the 35-piece band is under the student leadership of Patty Patterson, student conductor; Ed Turdici, band manager; Jerry Barnes, assistant conductor, and Charlie Robertson, assistant band manager.

RAM BOOSTERS

Let Us Patronize Them — They Patronize Us

AUTO - TRUCK - FIRE
Standard Form Policies
at Low Costs
Compare Our Rates
Before You Buy
C. E. PEARSON
1125 Ocean
JU. 5-4478
Prompt Personal Claims Service

Gems of Art
Gift & Children's Shop
Wedding
Shower and Birthday gifts
Brides register here for your Dinnerware & Stemware
1700 OCEAN AVE. • JU 4-0831

Ted's
Ocean Cleaners
50c
Slacks
Shirts
Skirts
DRY CLEANED
Corner of Ocean & Plymouth

Get Ready
With The
EL REY MEN'S SHOP
Opposite El Rey Theater
10% off
Still Holds
with
Associated Student Card
Sport Clothes
For Your Wardrobe

We Air Express
We Deliver We Telegraph
Chain of Flowers
Florists
CORSAGES — FLORAL DESIGNS
WEDDINGS
JUniper 4-9038 1805 Ocean Avenue
San Francisco 12

MAX'S DE LUXE
BARBER SHOP
Your haircut
as
You want it
1334 Ocean Avenue
2 blocks from campus

TYPEWRITERS RENTED
GArfield 1-6633
3 MONTHS
$7.50
Free Ribbon, Carbon Paper
Free Delivery
Tibbs Typewriter Co.
821 Market St., San Francisco

EXCELSIOR
SCHOOL of DRIVING
LEARN TO DRIVE IN TRAFFIC!
DUAL CONTROLLED CARS
We prepare you for driver's examination
SPECIAL RATES
for students, payable in installments
4666 MISSION ST. AT OCEAN AVE.
JUniper 4-3687

Ayoob's Sport Shop
Men's and Boys' Clothing
Featuring
Team & Club Jackets
Tailored To Order
Also Athletic Equipment
2598 San Bruno Ave.

Bowl . . .
Johnny Swanson's
MISSION BOWL
Free Instruction Daily
Beginners Welcome
at all times!
3140 Mission St.

Paint & Decorate Figurines
Lil Audrey's
Dresden Craft
Free Instruction Daily
Also Tues. & Thurs. eves.
1443 OCEAN AVE. DE 3-4574

For a Snack
Or a Dinner,
The Avenue
Is a Winner
Avenue
Coffee Shop
1612 Ocean Ave.

JOE and BILL'S
RICHFIELD STATION
LUBRICATION
Tires and Batteries
Washing & Polishing
1298 OCEAN AVE.

If It's
Koret of California
It's From
The Ladies' Shop
Everything for . . .
the Miss
1532 Ocean Avenue

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

1949 Member Associated Collegiate Press 1950

VOLUME XXIX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—FRIDAY, MARCH 10, 1950 NUMBER 5

Council Votes Drastic Action: 'Full Association Membership Or No Money'

College Hour Devoted To Clubs

All Music Majors Invited To First Guild Meeting

All students enrolled in music courses here are invited to attend a Music Guild meeting today during college hour, George Saunders, Guild president, disclosed yesterday.

The Guild started its second semester at a Music Council meeting last Monday when the governing council approved the constitution of the group, elected officers, and discussed their semester's activities.

Guild officers elected in addition to Saunders, were vice-president, Conrad Dorn; secretary, Roberta King; and treasurer, Bob Witmer.

The purpose of the Music Guild is to coordinate the functions of all the music groups on campus.

Objects of today's conclave are threefold, the time being devoted to the presentation of officers, outlining of the Music department's program for this semester, and for members to get acquainted, Saunders said.

Membership in the Guild is comprised of students in Lambda Alpha, Mu Iota Psi, the band and Band Association, Orchestra, Opera Workshop, Symphony Forum, A Cappella Choir, Men's Glee, Treble Clef, and Music majors. However, all Music students are invited to today's meeting, Saunders said.

Approximately 200 students attended the second concert presented under the auspices of the Music Guild last Tuesday when the A Cappella Choir from College of Pacific sang in the auditorium here under the direction of J. Russell Bodley.

Choral Festival Set For March 30

Choirs from nine San Francisco high schools have been invited to participate again in the annual choral festival to be held in the college auditorium Thursday, March 30, at 7 p.m., Elossita Badger, music director, announced yesterday.

Second of its kind to be held on campus, the festival is under the general supervision of the Music department and will be sponsored by the A Cappella Choir, Treble Clef and Men's Glee, with assistance from the other Music Guild organizations.

Music by the college band is under the direction of Mike Cahn, band director.

An average of 500 to 600 high school students are expected to participate in the musical program.

Following the choral festival, the college administration is planning an escorted tour of the college. Dinner and informal entertainment will round out the program for the day.

Mills College Offers Dance Symposium Here

Under the direction of Betty Heckman, the college dance group is sponsoring a dance symposium here tomorrow, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, for 100 bay area high school girls.

Conducted by Miriam Lidster, the Mills College Dance Group will present a master lesson and a demonstration.

Members of the Women's Athletic Association will act as hostesses.

Clubs Use Newly Assigned Meeting Places Today

Permanent assignment of club rooms for college hour meetings scheduled today for 10:40 a.m., was released yesterday by Dean Louis Batmale.

Tentative rally plans call for a car caravan to leave at 3:30 p.m. today from the Ram in the west campus for tonight's NCJC Conference tournament at Sacramento, Rally Commissioner Monroe W. Johnson announced at last Monday's weekly rally commission meeting.

Plans call for this car caravan if the Ram basketball team defeated Santa Rosa Junior College last night, Johnson said, and students can see him in his office in the student lounge some time today.

The Collegiate Christian Fellowship offers an address on How Good Must One Be to Be a Christian? by Jane Hollinsworth, Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship staff member and writer, during today's college hour, which is open to all students and instructors in Room 200.

The following is the permanent list of rooms assigned to clubs for the current semester by Dean Batmale:

Engineering Club, 136; Tri Epsilon, 111; Cosmopolitan Club, 113; Alpha Phi Omega, 257; Beta Phi Beta, 133; W.A.A., 140; Band Club, 190; Theta Tau, 193; Phi Beta Rho, 194.

Christian Fellowship, 200; Faculty Assn., 100; Kappa Phi, 205; Pi Mu Gamma, 211; Ski Rams, 212; Young Progressives, 213; Phi Beta Delta, 214; Strikes & Spares, 215; Tau Chi Sigma, 254; Latin American Club, 255.

Graduate Statesmen, 256; Alpha Lambda Chi, 303; Pi Delta Koppa, 304; Filipino Students Club, 309; Iota Phi Lambda, 310; French Club, 311; Hillel Foundation, 312; Paint Technology, 344; Pick & Hammer, 45.

Chinese Students, 4D; Alpha Gamma Sigma, 5K; Masonic Club, 4A; Forum Club, 19-A; Radio Club, 405; Dramatic Society, 28; Pep Club, Bldg. 9K; and the Gamma Phi Ypsilon, 242.

Cosmopolitans To Hold First Meet

The Cosmopolitan Society, a non-invitational social and study group better known as the Cosmos, will hold a meeting today during college hour in Room 136 where all new members will be welcomed, Advisers Phyllis Haley and Eugene Mead said late Wednesday.

The purpose of this organization, open to all races and creeds, is "to carry out activities designed to promote friendliness and mutual understanding and, thereby, integration among our fellow men."

Membership is open to all students, Ginny McCarthy, acting president, said.

Frequent dances and gatherings are held, Miss Haley added. The club was one of the 11 social service groups who sponsored the Red Cross benefit dance last Friday.

Campus Dormitories To Close For Summer

Dormitories on the west campus will be closed this summer because of cancellation of summer session this year, Edwin C. Browne, dean of men, announced yesterday.

The college will be completely shut down, Browne said, because if there aren't enough students interested in a summer session there would not be enough wanting to stay all summer to make it worthwhile to keep the dormitories open.

Unprecedented Action Draws Critics; Spring Budget OKed

By Bob Rezak

Unprecedented action in the form of a resolution prohibiting members of campus organization from accepting their budget vouchers until they have 100 per cent Associated Student membership, led to a sudden outburst of sharp criticism and discussion by council members and campus organizations, following the council meeting of March 2.

Reason for the passage of the resolution centered around the fact that the Spring budget faced a cut because of a lack of money.

The resolution, it was hoped, would encourage campus organizations to join the Associated Students reaching 100 per cent membership.

Introduced by Joseph Schwab, freshman class member of the council, the resolution read as follows:

"All members of organizations which get money from the Associated Students must have 100 per cent membership before they may accept their voucher from the Associated Students."

The resolution was passed with eight council members voting their approval, none opposed, and four abstained. Deadline for purchasing cards was set at Friday, March 24.

Parliamentarian Bob Bell pointed out that "such a maneuver would not be in keeping with the principles of the college," since it would apply not only to students participating in extra curricular activities, but activities for which they get regular college credit as well.

But Bell's action was declared personal opinion and not within the advisory capacity of his office.

(There was indication from other sources, The Guardsman learned, that Bell's statement was partially correct. President Louis G. Conlan was not available for comment, however.)

Passage of this resolution means that every campus activity, including athletic teams, The Guardsman, all music and drama organizations, the Publicity Committee and Forum Magazine, would be denied money unless personnel meet the new law.

The Student Council, meanwhile, did not outline the immediate action it plans to take in enforcing the new ruling.

Associated Student President Don

(Continued on page 4, column 4)

Hotel Foundation Left $25,000 For Scholarship Fund

Harvey N. Toy, prominent San Francisco and Northern California hotel owner who passed away recently, bequeathed a $25,000 scholarship fund to the college Hotel and Restaurant Foundation, according to Mrs. Hilda Watson, head of the Hotel and Restaurant Division.

Toy, managing owner of the Hotel Manx in San Francisco and head of the Toy hotel chain, was one of the originators and first members of the Foundation, serving on the Advisory Committee at the time of his death.

The Foundation is not legally affiliated with the college, Mrs. Watson said, but is rather an organization incorporated in the state of California for the purpose of promoting the education of Hotel and Restaurant majors. Its members form a cross-section of outstanding men in the hotel and restaurant industry in the Bay Area.

It is not yet known, Mrs. Watson declared, whether Toy left specific instructions as to the bequest's administration, or whether he left the matter to the discretion of the Foundation's Board of Directors.

Past Semester Budgets Show Trends

Editor's Note: The total amount of the original budgets from the Fall semester 1946 to the Spring semester 1950, are revealed herein as compiled from The Guardsman files. The budget hit an all-time peak in the Fall semester 1948 when $27,561.63 was voted by the Student Council. An additional three thousand odd dollars was later added when revenue derived mainly from all the football games and the Gold Dust Bowl game boosted the budget.

Biggest money earners for the college over the five-year period were the football teams, The Guardsman, and the opera productions.

The Fall 1948 budget details were never recorded. In certain budget appropriations, amounts were later increased.

	Fall '46	Spring '47	Fall '47	Spring '48	Spring '49	Fall '49	Spring '50
A CAPPELLA CHOIR	$ 495	$ 450	$ 275	—	$ 265	$ 400	$ 275
ALPHA GAMMA SIGMA	90	300	142	$ 50	118	75	136
BAND AND ORCHESTRA	200	25	105	1500	127	450	180
DRAMATICS	300	300	470	500	300	550	400
COMMENCEMENT	—	250	—	250	500	—	290
RALLY COMMITTEE	125	150	200	250	273	200	150
SOCIAL COMMITTEE	535	1050	665	408	305	335	185
SOPHOMORE CLASS	500	640	450	410	450	425	400
DEBATE	—	—	—	—	—	150	300
FRESHMAN CLASS	—	310	375	340	—	335	235
OPERA	—	—	—	1500	2400	—	1350
ADMINISTRATION	100	310	150	150	—	150	150
CONTROLLER	175	110	150	392	380	310	435
DEAN OF MEN	150	100	70	150	37	100	40
DEAN OF WOMEN	—	—	—	30	37	30	30
STUDENT COUNCIL	550	250	30	1608	—	1300	1140
PUBLICITY COMMITTEE	250	—	—	508	550	1250	950
CAMPUS POLICE	—	—	—	—	—	—	110
FORUM	—	1575	—	—	400	—	400
HANDBOOK	—	500	600	—	—	—	—
GUARDSMAN	6392	6241	6239	6240	6340	5500	5875
AMS	650	445	345	395	365	380	335
MEN'S GLEE	—	—	50	87	—	40	60
MEN'S ATHLETICS	4448	4200	6750	4810	6541	8445	3970
AWS	355	280	260	222	198	185	163
WOMEN'S ATHLETICS	185	200	250	150	167	175	300
RAMPAGES—Fall '48 and Spring '49—$10,000

Associated Students Offer Thirteen Events

Sports, rally, and Tri Epsilon dance dominate the calendar of 13 student activities scheduled for the week ending Friday, March 17.

- CLUB MEETINGS — today during college hour.
- BASEBALL — today — CCSF vs. Balboa High.
  Tuesday, March 14 — CCSF vs. SF Police at Big Rec.
  Wednesday, March 15 — CCSF vs. SF State at State.
  Thursday, March 16 — CCSF vs. Washington High at Funston.
  Friday, March 17 — CCSF vs. Sacramento—double header at Golden Gate Park.
- BASKETBALL — today — Sacramento Elimination Tourney — free with A.S. card.
  Tomorrow — Sacramento Elimination Tourney (if Rams win first game).
- BOXING—today and tomorrow—NCJCC meet at Modesto—free with A.S. card.
- RALLY—Friday, March 17, during college hour—A.S. card holders only.
- DANCE—Friday, March 17 at 9 p.m. — Tri Epsilon's Shamrock Shuffle, in west campus auditorium—$1.25 per couple.
- GUARDSMAN — next issue Friday, March 17.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

LAST week we went all out on theatrical news in the hope of getting the local thespians temporarily out of the way and making room for some other items, but, happily enough, they keep popping up. Anyway, we have with us today a couple of coming actors and some local-boys-who-made-good in the form of . . .

George Jackson and Ed Mulvihill. Both are veterans of such college productions as last semester's You Never Can Tell and both are currently working in a Berkeley stock co. presentation of J. B. Priestly's Laburnum Grove . . . and Bob Cuthbertson, Guardsman Ed. in '42 and now chief of the Oakland Tribune bureau in Richmond . . . and Kenneth Howe, who graduated last semester. Howe was formerly a staff photographer for this Illustrious Sheet and is now working at the Kayo Harris studio across the bay in Oakland.

EXCLUSIVE:

At the risk of infringing on the club news territory, we herewith present a real, live scoop, about which there will be more of on other pages (that's English?). It seems that Tau Chi Sigma fraternity is planning to hold a Campus Sweetheart contest with each organization that presents a candidate donating a fin. The five-spot will be used to buy Associated Student membership cards for those we are unable to afford them. And a more laudable enterprise can't be imagined.

Talking about former Guardsmen, we almost skipped Jim Riggs, who left here in '47. Riggs is free-lancing now, and at last report had just returned from a six weeks' cruise to South America on an assignment. Having no formal training in photography he was naturally expected to take his own pics. There must be a moral in that.

CORONET STORY

If you're interested in reading some of Riggs' writings, you'll find a story of his in the October, '49, issue of Coronet magazine.

Personal notice: Will the kindly gentleman—believed to be a member of the administration—who supplies the Guardsman staff with dart boards (used only after hours, of course), please bring boards with larger bullseyes in the future? Journalism students are notorious for their poor aim, and if the bullseyes were larger perhaps the mortality rate among bystanders would drop. Thank you.

FROM BOB (PANORAMA) JONES

We don't know if this fellow was a starving student or not, but he is worth a "hyuck" or two. George T., of Pittsburg, stopped two police officers and informed them that he was "powerful hungry."

When the two sleuths searched him they discovered that his pockets were filled with ham sandwiches. "That's why I'm hungry," he explained, "I ain't et 'em yet!"

Feminine Viewpoint

Vocal Talent In Chorus

By Bobbie Jackson

FOR women who enjoy singing and participating in concerts, the women's chorus, known as Treble Clef Society, offers the advantages of vocal training and practice—minus male distraction.

When the college opened its doors in 1935, the women's chorus was founded, but because of increased student enrollment and lack of faculty members to direct it, it was disbanded two years later.

With the war years, however, and the larger population of women, this group again formed and soon became the leading choral section on campus under the guidance of Flossita Badger. For the first Christmas concert held off campus, the women's chorus furnished the majority of vocal talent.

After the war, when the men returned, the women in the group were part of the A Cappella Choir, and again Treble Clef was inactive.

In 1947 the need for such a group became apparent, and it was formed again under the name of Treble Clef and directed by Gertrude Norgard.

Treble Clef furnishes entertainment for the Associated Women Students' teas, joins in the Spring opera productions, and participates in the Christmas concert. The group also sings for functions off campus.

At present the Treble Clef numbers about 40 women. Both those who merely sing with the group for pleasure and those who are seriously interested in music as a career are enrolled for the one unit the group offers.

Among those enrolled in the chorus is Opera Workshop member Eileen Scott, who not only held the leading role in The Marriage of Figaro, but also played the lead in the Pacific Opera Company's production of Carmen. Other soloists include Irene Boullet and Nancy Durkee, who have held leading roles in college musical productions.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, No. 5 FRIDAY, MARCH 10, 1950 Page 2

Clauses Of New Council Ruling Up For Consideration Here

WE have taken a long, searching look at the recent motion passed by the Student Council which stipulates that member organizations of the Associated Students can participate in activities only when they have 100 per cent membership.

We have a great personal admiration and respect for President Donald Parker in his drive to boost the budget so that each organization has a comfortable working margin. Parker has spoken forthrightly on the subject and has done what he considers is best for the Associated Students.

However good the motion may be, we question certain clauses in it.

Freshman Council member Joseph Schwab put forth the bill which reads thus: "All members of organizations which get money from the Associated Students must have 100 per cent membership before they may accept their vouchers from the Associated Students."

At the time the motion was passed Parliamentarian Robert Bell said, "Such a maneuver would not be in keeping with the principles of the college." We agree with him for reasons stated herein.

The motive behind this act is good, for it will extend benefits to all organizations and increase their respective budgets to where they can plan on a larger income in the future.

BASICALLY the motive is understandable. But what this act amounts to is that students will HAVE to purchase a card in order to participate.

Is it legal for the council to tell the faculty of this college what students they may use in their activities and what students they may not use? Moreover, if this act is enforced, the quality and standard of service may be cut. Besides, what means are there for checking the delinquent members of each organization.

Without setting a fixed deadline, the act amounts to coercion on the part of the council toward the faculty and non-members.

As an added thought on this issue why not permit non-members whose service is unquestioned to have cards good only to participate in their activity without extending to them the regular privileges that paid up members of the Associated Students have.

Pulse Of The Campus

Ram's Horn

• Maestro Suggests Union Scale

Editor, The Guardsman:

It has been brought to my attention that under a new student council ruling, organizations such as band, orchestra, opera workshop, etc., may not be allowed to perform for the public or take any part in student body affairs. This is due to the fact that since some members of these groups do not have ASB cards, the groups cannot use funds allotted for their activities.

The stipulation that cards may be earned by working them out has been made. It is hereby suggested that members of the musical groups who do not have cards be allowed to earn them by appearing in and for COSF activities—at union rates for performers. This should be agreeable since all public appearances made by these students come outside of class hours and can be classified as extra-curricular work.

Yours for right information.

• Production Expenses; Income

Editor, The Guardsman:

Before our last council meeting on March 2nd, several people were heard to remark that the three big musical shows given here have failed to bring in any profits. I, personally, having had a small part in each of these productions, felt that these statements were unjust, and furthermore, were made without sufficient information and facts behind them. However, not being in possession of facts and figures myself, I could not defend the activities mentioned.

Therefore, I turn to you of The Guardsman, with two questions:

1. What are the figures on profits or deficits from "Vagabond King," "Figaro," and "Naughty Marietta"?

2. What were the budgets allotted for each of these productions?

If these figures are available, let's have them! If they are not available, WHY AREN'T THEY? ? ?

Yours for right information.

Editor's note: The profits on the Vagabond King, based on information from The Guardsman files and from Controller Oscar E. Anderson, amounted to $2,356. The incomplete returns on the Marriage of Figaro came to $1,065. Naughty Marietta's income, though not reported, came to at least $1,000.

All told, the income for the three productions amounted to at least $4,221.

Budgets listed for the three were $1500, $800, and $1600, respectively, a total of $3,900.

Take It From Kays

Men Rebel Against Debs

EVERY year, along with the onions, cabbages, and potatoes, there flowers a crop of young ladies, known in social circles as debutantes.

Some of the male members of the species Homo sapiens regard these frilly debuts as something inherent in the nature of their female counterparts and pass it off with a shrug as just another argument in their favor in the matter of men's superiority over women: (Apologies to B.J. and the Feminine Viewpoint.)

There are a few males, however, who do not take such a passive attitude toward the situation. One of these is a certain Douglas Burns of Boston, Massachusetss, 20-year-old student at Babson Institute.

Burns, along with five other young men annoyed at debs in general, had their own coming out party recently in the ballroom of the swank Hotel Somerset in Boston.

DIRECT APPROACH

"A girl has a coming out party because she is ready to marry some rich, handsome, debonaire man," Burns explained. "But the deb is too subtle, too formal. We're going to show them the value of the direct approach."

The direct approach, according to Burns, consists of: (1) a doe line of about 200 eligible girls. Which, in his opinion is the proper ratio to six outcoming dubs. And (2) an auctioneer to pound the gavel and sell the dubs to the highest bidder.

About 500 guests watched the "dub cotillion," including Jane Russell. (The number who just watched Jane Russell wasn't announced.) The payoff of the evening came when Miss Russell planted a big smooch on the "dub of the year," who turned out to be Burns himself. Could be he planned the whole affair just for the buss from Russell?

LAMBS?

If there are enough frustrated dubs romping the pastures of City College, the west campus auditorium would be an ideal place to hold a dub cotillion. They might call it the "Ram Cotillion," and introduce lambs instead of debs.

Jane Russell might somehow be inveigled to attend, but that would probably be disastrous. Too many lambs would be trampled in the rush. And you know who would be leading the stampede—Baaaaaa.

HARD TO CHEW

College students eat too fast, says Christine Ricker, director of university dining halls at Stanford University. More emphasis should be placed on food that takes time to eat. She recommends, therefore, candlelight, celery, and artichokes. The candles would no doubt slow things down, but they would be hard to chew. But, as the saying goes, you can't burn the candle at both ends and eat it too, so who gives a hoot?

Student Of Distinction: Actress Howarth Writes And Paints Too

By Don Cunningham

Developing into one of the most polished actresses that has ever attended the college, Jane Howarth, by virtue of her contributions toward the success of the drama productions, is undoubtedly one of the hardest working students on the campus.

In her five semesters of college life, Miss Howarth (pictured at right getting ready to go on stage) has played an integral part in the cultural output of the Associated Students. She entered the dramatic scene a year ago when she appeared in a production of a one-act farce entitled Le Cuvier (The Washtub) which was presented in French.

Last semester, Miss Howarth came to the attention of the students by her artistic performance as the shrewish Beatrice in the College Players' presentation of Shakespeare's Much Ado About Nothing. She followed this success with another excellent performance in George Bernard Shaw's witty comedy, You Never Can Tell.

Miss Howarth's talent does not end with her stage ability, for she is also an accomplished poet. Some of her verse has appeared in the college's semi-annual Forum magazine.

Photo by Steinheimer.

Completing her mastery in the arts, Miss Howarth also paints. She humbly admits having sold seven wash drawings to a lithograph firm.

Although planning to attend the University of California, with an English literature major, upon graduation, Miss Howarth admits that she is "hopelessly stage-struck."

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Zeta Chi Announces Officers; Theta Tau Holds Coffee Time

Well, here we are again with another batch of sensational news of forthcoming social attractions and worthy tidbits from the realm of clubdom, the hub of campus society.

To start things off, the newly elected officers for Zeta Chi line up in this order: Joan Talbot, president; Felice Quast, vice-president; Kitt Sornborger, recording secretary; Sharon Hoskins, corresponding secretary; Joyce Nelson, treasurer; Vance Killingsworth, sergeant-at-arms, and Lori D'Amico was elected CAB representative. At the last meeting, the girls surprised sister Margo Shaw with a wedding shower. Margo and Fred Jackson, a Pi Kappa Tau and pre-med student at Cal, plan to tie the knot in June.

Semester elections, dancing and refreshments highlighted the Newman Club's meeting last Monday night at St. Emydius Hall, Jules and DeMontford Streets. Meetings are held on the first and third Mondays of each month at 8 p.m. and all students are welcome.

Members of Forum Club meet tonight at 8 o'clock at 157 Kensington Way, home of John Gerstung, adviser. Primary purpose of the meeting is to choose staff members for Forum Magazine, annual college literary magazine.

Magazine adviser Fred Foultz issued an early call for contributions from all students on any topic and of any type. Publication is expected in May.

Here's that worthy little tidbit we were speaking about—Alpha Lambda Chi president, Karalee Kimberk, is engaged to Bill Sheehan.

All students interested in photography as a pastime are invited to attend the meeting of Ram Cam during today's college hour in Building 9. William Falkowich and Vic Morales, club members, emphasized that the club offers field trips, contests, outings and technical discussions. Attention all enterprising shutter bugs! !

The Theta Taus held their first affair, a coffee (that's a switch), on Sunday, February 26, at the home of Marilyn Jacobs. See you next time.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rose Hardie
STAFF EDITORS ..... Cy Donaldson, William Thomas

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

PARTICIPATING IN THE MODESTO boxing tournament to determine the Northern California supremacy are, left to right, Dick Ramsey, 175; Lee Gage, 125; Louis Gage, 145; Ray Nelson, 155. The semi-finals take place Thursday, March 16, and the finals the following night at 8 p.m. Winners will be eligible for the nationals. —Photos by Matthes.

Boxers Place Title On Block In NCJC Tournament March 16-17

By Frank Monte

City College's NCJCC boxing title will be placed on the block Thursday and Friday nights, March 16 and 17, when Coach Roy Diederichsen's battlers step into the ring at Modesto Junior College's gymnasium to take part in the second annual Northern California Two Year College Boxing Tournament.

Semi-finals will take place Thursday night and the finals Friday night, both at 8 p.m.

Comprising probably the largest and strongest representation in the tourney, the locals will be attempting not only their second NCJCC title, but also a berth in the Nationals, which take place at Weber College, Ogden, Utah, April 10, 11, and 12.

Since last year's contest, when the tourney was still in the experimental and infancy stages, more colleges have enlisted boxing teams.

With Modesto, Placer, San Mateo, Santa Rosa, and Hartnell colleges entered, all sections of Northern California will be represented.

With most of last semester's squad departed, Jerry Stern, 135, and Louis Gage, 145, are the only remnants of the previous tourney.

But because of an injury received in the All-College Tournament, Stern, who swept the Nationals at Pasadena last year, will not compete at Modesto.

Handling the light-heavyweight spot will be Dick Ramsey. Ramsey, along with his excellent defense, is capable of a knockout with either hand.

Two men will take on the middleweight assignment, Ray Nelson and Ralph De La Torre.

Stern and John Brooks compose the 165 division.

Klemmermen Coast In Practice Meet

With but a week of practice under their belts, the local trackmen held a joint meeting with Balboa High last Thursday, February 28, on the Buc oval.

The meet was not an official contest and runners were instructed to "take it easy" by Coaches Grover Klemmer and Roy Burkhead. Nevertheless several college thinclads showed exceptional pre-season form.

Irv Beltrame, returning sprinter, ran the 220 yard dash in 23.5, closely followed in the next heat by Joe Greggins in 24 flat. In the sprints, in which the college is exceptionally strong, Oscar Jones and Tom Hendrix proved their worth. In other events Bill Topham and Charles Allums stood out. In the mile run a newcomer, Sal Mastelli, ran an easy third with a form and stride that pleased Klemmer.

However, most of the entrants will change events when the season begins and Klemmer starts shifting his runners in order to gain points.

An open date for March 25 has not been filled as yet, leaving the first meet set for April 1 at Sacramento.

Skiers Cop Third In Auburn Meet

Local skiers slid to a third place in the NCJCC meet at the Auburn Ski Club near Cisco on Saturday and Sunday, March 4 and 5, in a close vie with Placer and Yuba JC, over nine teams.

The Ski-Rams gained a first, a second, a fourth, and a fifth to finish third in the meet. Lack of equipment forced the team to relinquish valuable points when they were in the lead and allowed the other colleges to take over the final positions.

Ted Hamm, Bud Taylor, and Bob Spratling combined to give the college a first in the Giant Slalom. Spratling, Hamm, and Dick Brown placed in the jumping to win second place. Dick Brown took fourth place in the cross country, and Bud Taylor took a fifth in the Slalom.

The team is self-sufficient and competes completely on their own in the name of the college. The Conference meet climaxed their 1949-50 season but the team will lose only Don Jones and Taylor to graduation.

For the benefit of deserving students, City College offers scholarships, the Denman and Alice Eastwood scholarships, four loan funds, the American Legion, Lions Club, Optimist Club and Joseph Pomeroy Nourse student loan funds, and three awards, the Harlan, Nuodex and Wall Street Journal awards.

Baseball Club Cut Is Posted In Gym

Coach Bill Fisher will cut his baseball team before today's game with Balboa High from the original 75 turnout to the 25 man traveling team.

Four returning lettermen make up the nucleus of the squad for today's tilt. Bob McGovern, pitcher; Lou Williams, second baseman; Hook Arata, outfielder; and Hugh Mooney, pitcher.

Prospects for first string berths include Monoz and Arata in the outfield; La Costa, third base; Driscoll, first base; Nicora, shortstop; McCarthey, catcher; and Chiros and Ganzales, pitchers.

During the past week Fisher's second and third teams have been engaged in a series of intra-squad games while the first team has had practice games with Galileo, Sacred Heart, and Mission.

Semis Of High School Cage Tourney Tonight

The semi-final round of the Tournament of Champions, featuring eight high school basketball champs from all over Northern California, begins tonight at 9:15 in the men's gymnasium.

Finals of the three night tourneys will be held tomorrow evening at 8:45 p.m. The consolation bracket game starts at 7:30.

Galileo High School represents San Francisco.

Intra Individual Sports Underway

With the Spring intramural basketball season well underway, Director Tom Wilson has turned his attention to the individual sports field, where ping pong, badminton, tennis, horseshoes and free throw shooting hold the public interest.

Wilson has designated Tuesday, March 14, as the deadline for all signups. Any student is entitled to enter if he has not earned a letter in the sport he wishes to enter.

Included in the entry blank should be the following information: Name of the student, telephone number, name of sport, and whether or not the participant wishes to enter in singles or doubles or both, and available free time.

Volume XXX, No. 5 FRIDAY, MARCH 10, 1950 Page 3

Hillsmen Cop NCJC Crown In Startling Comeback Beating Spartans 48-47 And 52-46

By Bob Goncalves

Displaying the greatest comeback that could possibly be shown by an underdog squad, the college basketball team won two straight from Placer Junior College, 48-47 and 52-46, last Friday and Saturday at Auburn, to annex the NCJC championship playoff.

Only Ram scorer for the first quarter, which ended 4-2, was George McLaughlin, who tanked a beautiful tip shot after going high into the air to grab a rebound from three Placer players Saturday night.

The Rams, displaying a smooth, new offense, were more than a match for their Spartan rivals, and left the court at half time leading 24-16.

The Spartans could not stop the fast break of Frank "Babe" Samson and teammate Skip Carnegie, and permitted the Rams to hold a fairly comfortable lead during the final minutes.

Attempting a do or die attack in the final quarter, Placer pulled up to a 39-43 deficit, but enabled the Rams to recover a nine-point lead, which was protected with a smooth working stall in the final two minutes of the contest.

Led Friday night by Duggan's fine guarding of the Spartan's star forward, Chuck Hawkins, and Samson's drive-in shots, the college maintained a slight margin for most of the second half, and held a seven-point lead with less than a minute to play, after a 23-23 halftime tie.

Favorites in the current Regional Playoffs to determine the representative of Northern California in the coming national Playoffs at Hutchinson, Kansas, the Ram basketball team trekked to Sacramento yesterday for their first round game against Santa Rosa Junior College.

WAA Decides On Semester Schedule

Women's Athletic Association members met last Friday to decide on a sport schedule for this semester.

The results are as follows: Tennis—Wednesday, 2 p.m.; riding—Monday, 2-4; badminton—Wednesday, 7-9 p.m.; folk dancing—Thursday, 7-9 p.m.; basketball and softball—Monday, 3; archery (to be arranged with instructor); swimming—Tuesday and Thursday, 2-3; fencing to be arranged with Helene Mayer, instructor, or Jean Simmons.

Any student who wishes to earn her award and who cannot meet the time of a WAA club, may enroll in extra physical education classes for WAA credit.

Gloria Swiegood, badminton instructor, listed meets as follows:

March 24—3 p.m. at Marin
March 29—7 p.m., San Mateo, here
April 14—3 p.m. at Marin
April 19—7 p.m., San Mateo, here
May 17—7 p.m. at San Mateo

TRAVEL-MINDED?

We handle all student tours to Europe, Mexico and the Orient

We plan . . . independent travel, too!

If travel-minded, call

The Students Travel Club
Morse-Gleason Co.
Travel Agents
323 Geary at Powell
SUtter 1-4869

Through the West Campus
Across the green
to the
RAM SHACK
For food supreme
1015 Ocean Avenue
Across From West Campus

LEVI'S
"America's Finest Overall"
Made in San Francisco
Since 1850
Levi Strauss & Company
98 Battery Street
(★The name "LEVI'S" is registered in the U.S. Patent Office and denotes only overalls made by Levi Strauss & Co., San Francisco, California.)

COLE'S CITY COLLEGE BARBER SHOP
Be Well Groomed
IT'S THE KEY TO SUCCESS
ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

El Padre
Good Eats
Good Seats
Where
The Gang Meets
1425 Ocean

Fountain Lunch
associated student card number
1684 is entitled to a free $3.30 dinner

The Smartest Men on Campus Wear ARROW

SOLID COLOR SHIRTS

Arrow's smart solid color shirts in broadcloth or oxford give your wardrobe welcome variety and reflect your good taste!

They come in regular, wide spread, button-down and many other collar styles—every shirt carefully tailored of fine fabrics.

$3.65, $3.95, $5

ARROW SHIRTS & TIES
UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

Straight Talk

By Bill Thomas

EVERY President of the United States has had certain persons in both houses of Congress upon whom he could depend to introduce and support legislation which he wanted passed.

Perhaps then it is somewhat natural that such a situation should exist in the Student Council and that there is a group of councilmen who have been referred to as the "rubber stamps."

These council members can be depended upon to react correctly to any suggestion presented by President Don Parker.

Joe Schwab

Such a situation is, however, not necessarily unique to the national government, for there the President cannot personally present all his bills to the innumerable committees involved; but here the Associated Student President presides at every meeting of the Student Council.

This rubber stamp situation among some of the council members is causing inertia among the other more independent members, for their attitude becomes "what's the use?" when it comes to opposing an issue.

No matter how good the intentions of the President, a dangerous situation arises when the Student Council begins to feel that its only duty is that of a "yes" man.

Ignoring the principles of democracy, the rubber stamp situation inevitably causes a grave danger—that of letting legislation go through without considering all the aspects of the situation and what the results will be.

For an example of this one has only to examine the legislation passed by the Student Council between considering part one and part two of the budget. This is a law requiring a hundred per cent Associated Student membership for all organizations using Associated Student funds.

The idea, and the spirit behind the idea, was good, but the legislation did not take into consideration many facts such as the difference between purely service organizations and others, nor of certain Board of Education rulings.

The legislation, introduced by Joseph Schwab, was not given the careful consideration that such an important move requires, and most of that consideration obviously took place in the President's office, not at the council meeting.

Pessimistically speaking, it is evident that most legislation is first considered in the Associated Student office before it is ever introduced into the Student Council. Although that is to be expected, the bill should still be carefully considered by the Student Council as a whole.

Undoubtedly the "balance of power" between the legislative and executive branches of the government has been upset.

Chest X-Rays Scheduled For Women, Faculty

Chest X-rays for women physical education students will be given next Monday and Tuesday, March 13 and 14, in the women's gymnasium from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., E. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, said yesterday.

Concluded this week for the men physical education students in the men's gymnasium, the chest X-rays, which are non-compulsory, are part of the campaign which the San Francisco Tuberculosis Association is conducting against tuberculosis.

The X-rays given at all San Francisco schools, and compulsory at San Francisco State College, are part of a ten-year campaign being conducted all over the nation to eradicate tuberculosis.

Faculty members, all non-physical education students, and campus employees, are urged to have chest X-rays made on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, March 15, 16 and 17.

The hours ... days are from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. on March 15, and from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on March 16 and 17, in the testing room, located on the second floor of Building 3.

Charles Meehan, medical technician operating the X-ray equipment, said yesterday that even though with a college group of people the number afflicted with tuberculosis may be as low as .005%, every student should check his health by having an X-ray made.

PHOTOGRAPHED FROM THREE STORIES UP: A bird's eye view (currently popular) shows the front steps of the main building. Looking like a target in a bomb sight, these steps are a stopping off place for students trudging up the hill from the west campus. Acknowledgment for this picture is given "Chimp the Chimpanzee," who was borrowed from the local zoo to take this picture.

March Of Time Film Will Be Shown Today

The college film series is presenting New California, a film showing the growth of this state since the post-war period, today in Room 136 at 9:40 a.m. and at 2 p.m. Madison Devlin, audio-visual aids instructor, said yesterday.

The film, produced by the March of Time Series, is an up-to-date record of the progress being made in the Golden State today.

Publicity Committee Acquires Permanent Office In Building 12

Establishment of a permanent location and daily office hours for the publicity office was announced this week by Mary Lou Cooper, chairman of the committee.

Located in Building 12 on the west campus, the new office will be open at the following times: Monday and Wednesday, 9 to 11 and 2 to 3 o'clock; Tuesday and Thursday, 9 to 11 and 1 to 3 o'clock; Friday, 2 to 3 o'clock.

According to Mrs. Cooper, liaison students or representatives will be appointed to work with the committee at all times.

A meeting of these liaison people has been scheduled for 2 o'clock Tuesday, March 21, in the Publicity office.

Members of the committee are Mrs. Cooper, chairman; John Paskaly, vice-chairman; Walt Heil, Editor of The Guardsman; Georgia Watkins, Alicia Diaz, Don Smith, Henry Washington, Wally Levin, Rod Russell, and Nick Choulous.

Tri Epsilon Fraternity Holds Annual St. Patrick's Day Dance

Shamrock Shuffle, Tri Epsilon fraternity's annual St. Patrick's Day dance, will be held Friday, March 17, in the west campus auditorium, from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight, Pete Krenkel, chairman of the dance committee, announced yesterday.

Tickets are $1.25 per couple and may be bought from fraternity members or purchased at the door. Sport clothes will be the attire for the evening, although "everyone is expected to wear something green," Krenkel declared.

Wally Heider and his orchestra will supply the music and decorations are planned to follow the Shamrock theme, he said.

Committee members are Jack Donohue, Ken Duncan, Lou Guevara, Jack Sommers, Ron Vevoda, Jim Williams and Krenkel. W. Rollin Hanson is the faculty adviser aiding the fraternity with the dance.

The fraternity was given $20 by the Student Council when it was announced that it was the first organization to have 100 per cent A.S. membership. Tri Epsilon returned the money to the council.

More About AS Membership Rule

(Continued from page 1)

Parker explained. "About three weeks have been spent on making this budget.

"We can't help (these activities) if we haven't got the money," he added. "It's all we've got, period!"

Council member Pat Patterson asked the council, "What about students who can't afford the $5 AS membership fee?"

"If they can't afford a card, arrangements can be made where they can earn it," Parker answered emphatically.

At last Tuesday's meeting, the council approved the spring semester budget for $17,859. A breakdown of the budget into categories follows:

Co-educational activities, $3,940; Miscellaneous, $2,455; Publication, $6,275; men's activities, $4,365; and women's activities $463; total, $17,859.

Mardi Gras Club Booth Deadline Set March 31

Preparations for the annual Mardi Gras Festival started Tuesday, February 28, with the first meeting of the Associated Men Students' Mardi Gras committee.

The committee, headed by AMS President Norm Reger and Vice-President Jim Crough, decided on Friday, March 31, as the last day for campus organizations to file applications for carnival booths.

The cost and exact location of the booths has not been decided upon as yet, but, following last year's example, the Mardi Gras will be held in the west campus parking lot.

The traditional Mardi Gras, once the theme of a freshman dance, has expanded year by year until now it has become a public festival.

Let Us Patronize Them — RAM BOOSTERS — They Patronize Us

Men! Here is that soft, silky, luxurious shirt you have been waiting for... The new Arrow gabardine shirt Designed exclusively for you college men. at the EL REY MEN'S SHOP Opposite El Rey Theatre • 10% Discount with Associated Student Card

Ted's Ocean Cleaners 50c SLACKS • SHIRTS SKIRTS DRY CLEANED Corner of Ocean & Plymouth

Gems of Art Gift & Children's Shop Wedding, Shower and Birthday gifts Brides register here for your Dinnerware & Stemware 1700 OCEAN AVE. • JU 4-0831

AUTO - TRUCK - FIRE Standard Form Policies at Low Costs Compare Our Rates Before You Buy C. E. PEARSON 1125 Ocean JU. 5-4478 Prompt Personal Claims Service

ROBIN HOOD'S Home of the thickest shakes in town SO-O-O-O It's never too late to make it a date • Next Door to the El Rey Theater Free Parking in the Rear 1962 Ocean

TYPEWRITERS RENTED GArfield 1-6633 3 MONTHS $7.50 Free Ribbon, Carbon Paper Free Delivery Tibbs Typewriter Co. 821 Market St., San Francisco

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP Your haircut as You want it 1334 Ocean Avenue 2 blocks from campus

WE DELIVER WE AIR EXPRESS WE TELEGRAPH Chain of Flowers Florists CORSAGES — FLORAL DESIGNS WEDDINGS JUniper 4-9038 1905 Ocean Avenue San Francisco 12

EXCELSIOR SCHOOL of DRIVING LEARN TO DRIVE IN TRAFFIC! DUAL CONTROLLED CARS We prepare you for driver's examination SPECIAL RATES for students, payable in instruments 4666 MISSION ST. AT OCEAN AVE. JUniper 4-2687

Its a Strike! X Bowl... Johnny Swanson's MISSION BOWL Free Instruction Daily 3140 Mission Street

Ayoob's Sport Shop Men's and Boys' Clothing Featuring Team & Club Jackets Tailored To Order Also Athletic Equipment 2598 San Bruno Ave.

A. Walter McMurray

If It's Koret of California It's From The Ladies' Shop Everything... for the Miss 1532 Ocean Avenue

JOE and BILL'S RICHFIELD STATION LUBRICATION Tires and Batteries • Washing & Polishing 1298 OCEAN AVE.

For a Snack Or a Dinner, The Avenue Is a Winner Avenue Coffee Shop 1612 Ocean Avenue

Paint & Decorate Figurines Lil Audrey's Dresden Craft • Free Instruction Daily Also Tues. & Thurs. eves. 1443 OCEAN AVE. DE 3-4574

Cagers Kansas Bound This Week

DISPLAYING THE SPIRIT which won the Sacramento Regional Playoffs, Kevin Duggan (12) is shown going high to grasp a rebound shot, as the college won, 55-40. Other Rams shown are Al Munn (11) and Pat Boyle (20). The team leaves for the National Junior College Basketball Tournament this weekend.

By Walt Heil, Editor

As Northern California two year college kingpins, City College's victory-minded cage team departs 7:45 Saturday night by Western Airline to participate in the National Junior College Tournament in Hutchinson, Kansas, next week.

Coach Ralph Hillsman said his players are ready for the tourney, having gone through extensive drills in the men's gymnasium during the week in preparation for their first opponent—Joliet Junior College of Joliet, Illinois—in the opening round on Tuesday.

Tournament officials placed the Rams in the upper bracket seedings with eight other teams. Hillsman said 16 teams in all will play in the tourney, representing all sections of the nation.

"We are going into this tournament cold," Hillsman groaned. "I have no reports on any of the other clubs and know only that Los Angeles City College is the other California team entered.

"Of course this is balanced by the fact that none of the other teams know anything about us either," he said brightening. "Everyone is in the same situation."

Los Angeles has been placed in the lower bracket pairings, however, and may not meet the locals at all.

"It would sure be wonderful if we could meet them," Hillsman declared. "The natural rivalry that exists between Los Angeles and San Francisco would add a California touch to the tournament."

The Rams won the right to appear in the Nationals by whipping San Mateo in the Sacramento Regional Tourney last Saturday. CCSF threw in a revised lineup in the tournament and Hillsman was pleased by the performance of the players.

"We'll go along with the winning combination of the last three games—Al Munn, Kev Duggan, Pat Boyle, Babe Samson, and Bobby Wilson. I expect the reserves to be used often. Skip Carnegie, George McLaughlin, and Marty Schneider will be worked too."

The Rams will leave loaded with honors. Duggan bagged 98 points in the Modesto tourney, 64 in Sacramento, was named to both the all-tournament teams, and is a candidate for an all-conference berth. On the other hand Wilson, who was an unheralded reserve most of the season, blossomed into one of the best players in the regionals.

Boasting a 24-6 season record, the locals won the Southern Division title, the conference flag, and placed second at Modesto.

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

VOLUME XXX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—FRIDAY, MARCH 17, 1950 NUMBER 6

Ram Car Caravan Goes To Town For Cage Funds

An all-out drive to help send the City College Rams to the National Junior College Basketball Tournament at Hutchinson, Kansas, was mapped out early this week by spirited campus leaders and organizations.

A caravan of 100 automobiles with police escort and the college band toured the city Wednesday to publicize the need for the $1500 required to cover the cost of transportation incidentals for the team.

Additional help came from campus fraternities, sororities, and other organizations who volunteered to canvass district merchants for contributions.

John Gerstung, Faculty Association president, pledged full support of the association.

The Student Council temporarily postponed business on the agenda for the weekly meeting Tuesday so that all efforts could be directed toward raising the money.

"Is this going to be like the earthquake of 1906?" one councilman quipped when plans were laid before the council. The council gave every indication that it was as ideas and suggestions were voiced in a steady stream.

Further aid in publicizing the campaign came from newspapers and radio stations.

The fund raising campaign first took shape last Sunday at a special meeting of campus leaders called by Dean Louis Batmale after it was learned that the Rams were eligible to play in the Kansas tournament.

Contributions will continue to be accepted today. They should be left at the bank, with Dean Batmale, or deposited in the containers placed at strategic locations on the campus.

Checks should be made out to the Associated Students of the City College of San Francisco.

KGO's Sportscaster Ira Blue Highlights College Hour Rally

Ira Blue, KGO's sportscaster, will highlight today's double college hour send-off rally for Coach Ralph Hillsman's basketball team playing next week in the National Junior College championship basketball games in Hutchinson, Kansas.

Blue will assist in awarding blocks and white sweaters to team members during the two hour rally which will also feature Joanne Perrin and Bill Rosaia as student talent, Monroe Johnson, rally commissioner, said yesterday.

Dr. Oscar Anderson, coordinator of educational management, announced extension of the college hour rally time starting at 9:50 a.m. to 11:20, thus cancelling 10 o'clock classes.

Admission for the event in the auditorium will be by Associated Student cards which will be punched at the doors by rally officers and campus police. Donations will be collected during the rally to help raise the $1,500 needed for the team's traveling expenses, Johnson said.

Non-members of the Associated Students will be able to purchase a card in front of the auditorium where they will be sold by Associated Student officers.

Guardsman Returns To Two A Week Schedule

Irish the world over will commemorate St. Patrick, the patron Saint of the Emerald Isle, today. It's time for the wearing of the green again here as well as in Eire.

The person who thinks all this fuss about someone who's chased away a few snakes is nonsense would be wise to avoid any owners of the famed Irish temper. The shillelagh can be mighty powerful if used appropriately.

With next Tuesday's issue The Guardsman will return to its regular Tuesday - Friday publication schedule.

Double Casting Near Completion For April Operas

Casting for the Music department's spring productions of Martha and Down In The Valley neared completion yesterday when Flossita Badger, music director, announced that with the exception of a few members of the chorus, the roles have been filled.

Selections were made after tryouts held last Friday; both operas will be double-cast, and three performances will be given, April 20, 21, and 22.

Tuning up and rehearsals will begin in earnest now that the major part of casting has been accomplished.

The same technique applies to the orchestra and they have been equally industrious under the leadership of Meyer M. Cahn, director.

Taking the honors for the Martha production, are Martha, Lorraine Dyrness, Cynthia Burke; Nancy, Eileen Scott, Jean Bonaccorsi; Lionel, Carl Schlangel, Dan Segrove; Plunkett, George Saunders, Andrew Stathis; Sir Tristram, Jame Bogue; The Sheriff of Richmond, Richard Vreeland, Alfred Hernandez; Maids, Roberta King, Nancy Durkee, Irene Boulet, Shirley Smith, Nancy Linden, Betty Tompkinson and Gari Eliopoulos.

Main characters in the short Down In The Valley are, The Leader, George Saunders, Andrew Stathis; Jennie, Patricia Fitzgerald, Kathleen Kerrigan; Brack Weaver, Bob Sherratt, Dean Peters; Jennie's Father, Dan Alvini, Richard Vreeland; Thomas Bouche, Alfred Hernandez, Elmer Delaney; A Guard, Joseph Henry; Peters, Dan Alvini, Richard Vreeland; The Preacher, Paul Andrews.

The quartet of Opera Workshop singers who recently performed before Pi Delta Kappa and the Women's Guild of St. Francis Community Church have been invited "to do it again" for a group of engineering educators who will hold their conference Friday, March 24, at the Bellevue Hotel.

According to Miss Badger, both these groups were generous in their praise for the fine performance of this "famous four," Miss Bonaccorsi, Mrs. Scott, Saunders and Segrove. Solo and quartet selections were taken from the forthcoming operas.

Shamrock Shuffle Emphasizes Wearing Of The Green Tonight

Green balloons, shamrocks, and green streamers will change the auditorium into a little bit of Ireland tonight for the annual Tri Epsilon St. Patrick's Day dance, "Shamrock Shuffle," Pete Krenkel, chairman of the dance committee, reported yesterday.

Dancing will begin at 9 p.m. and last until 12 midnight, with Wally Heider and his orchestra setting the dance mood.

Sport clothes will be the attire for the evening, although "Everyone is expected to wear something green," Krenkel said.

Tickets are $1.25 per couple and may be purchased at the door or from fraternity members, he added.

Refreshments will be sold, and tables will encircle the dance floor so onlookers may see and be seen.

A large turnout is expected tonight because of the successful dances held in past years by Tri Epsilon, Krenkel declared.

Dance committee workers are Jack Donohue, Ken Duncan, Lou Guevara, Jack Sommers, Ron Vevoda, Jim Williams, Fred Smith and Krenkel. W. Rollin Hanson is the faculty member assisting the fraternity with the dance.

Committee Lists Dates For Club Dance Reports

All college clubs planning dances for this semester are asked to send representatives to the social committee meetings on dates assigned them, Helen MacKay, Associated Student vice-president, announced early this week.

Clubs are to present complete reports on dance details of cost, decorations, and entertainment, and meetings will be held at 2 o'clock in Room 2B, she said.

The schedule of meetings is as follows: Pi Delta Koppa and Hillel club, March 29; Phi Beta Rho and Inter-Sorority Council, April 12; Gamma Phi Ypsilon and Omicron Phi Pi, April 26; Associated Men Students Mardi Gras committee, May 3; Beta Phi Beta and Latin-American Club, May 10; Tau Chi Sigma and Alpha Lamida Sigma, May 17; and Sophomore class, May 24.

"It is important that the clubs attend their meetings so that all dance arrangements can be made," Miss MacKay declared.

Copy For Forum Due By March 31

Contributions to Forum, the college's magazine of student writing, published each spring semester, must be received by Friday, March 31, and may now be turned in to Donald Snepp or Fred Foultz of the English department in Building 19, Adviser Foultz announced last Tuesday.

This opportunity to have his work published is open to any student, Foultz said, and all contributions will be carefully considered.

"Short stories, one-act plays, essays not over 1500 words (serious or humorous), critiisms (of books, authors, institutions), articles of current interest, poetry, light verse, may be submitted.

Copy should be on 8½" by 11" paper and, if possible, typed with double spacing.

The Forum staff this year is as follows: Editor, Curtis May; Associate Editors for production, business, manuscripts, and arts, respectively: Henry Louie, Randy Street, Bob Kays, and Jerry Pozzi; director of publicity, Mary Lou Cooper; advertising, Alma Zito and Jeff Bowman; sales, Bob Seward; secretarial work, Marcella Lewis; assisting in the art work, Margaret Blounk and Allen Friedman.

City Hall Backs Campaign For Funds

Mayor Elmer E. Robinson and the Board of Supervisors got behind the college's fund raising drive early last week when they asked the people of San Francisco to donate money to help send the cagers to the Nationals.

"City College of San Francisco's basketball team is a fitting representative to send to the National Junior College Tournament in Kansas," the Mayor said.

President Louis G. Conlan extended a message to the college and team and gave the students permission to solicit funds.

"Best wishes to the 1950 City College National Contenders and my heartiest backing to my first champion captain, now Coach Ralph Hillsman. I am pleased with the manner in which the team went through the conference playoffs and regional tournament."

Meanwhile, on Mouday the Board of Supervisors passed a resolution praising the college, the team, and asking the people of the City to give financial assistance. The resolution read:

"Whereas, through its outstanding ability on the basketball court, City College of San Francisco has this year won the right, representing the Northern California region, to participate in the JC National Invitational Tournament at Hutchinson, Kansas, commencing March 21, 1950, and, whereas, by its skill, enthusiasm, and team work the basketball team of CCSF has evoked his commendation for itself, and its coach and has reflected credit upon the City and County of San Francisco.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, that on the behalf of the people of the City and County of San Francisco this Board of Supervisors expresses to the basketball team of CCSF its sincere appreciation for the efforts which have qualified it for this National honor and expresses its convictions that the boys of CCSF shall return from the tournament victorious and triumphant; and be it further resolved that this Board of Supervisors commends to the citizens of the City and County of San Francisco appeal of the Associated Students of the City College of San Francisco for financial-assistance to help in providing the additional money to defray the cost of transportation incidental to the participation of their team in this tournament."

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

WILL the ladies present please stand and file out through the rear exit? Thank you very much. Now if the rest of you will just move up to the front of the auditorium . . . that's much better.

The problem is an old one, men, but it keeps popping up every now and then. In brief, it seems the women are getting out of hand again. This sort of thing has been going on for a long time, but this time it looks pretty serious.

To support our opinion in this matter we offer in evidence one Warren Bruner, a management consultant. Bruner has laid down the dictum, "Marry a woman who knows more than you do." In our own case, naturally, this would be impossible, but to those less gifted, Bruner's statement may have disastrous effects.

But that's just one instance. The trouble struck closer to home last Wednesday when four of City College's top debaters: Randy Street, Irwin Phillips, Armand Magid, and Joe Schwab were guests of Stanford in an international debate given by students from the Universities of Glasgow, Edinburgh, and Stanford. The query was, "Resolved: that the increasing dominance of man by woman is to be deplored."

And if that's not enough consider what happened to Samson in C. B. DeMille's latest epic, "Samson (played by Victor Mature) and Delilah (played by Hedy Lamarr)." Samson, as you know, was the fellow who brained all those men with the jaw-bone of an ass (played by the jaw-bone-of-an ass).

At any rate, it seems best to just lie quiet 'til the whole thing blows over, but before we go let's take this opportunity to offer an invitation to Warren Bruner. Come and see us some time, old boy. We'll have a swell reception all ready for you. Tar, feathers, and everything.

Back to business: A come-back-quick greeting to Tom Campanella, laid up with an appendix operation . . . did you catch Coach Roy Diederichsen on KCBS Tues. the 7th? Close call for Bob Sherratt, Charles Sherman, Carolyn Herfield, and Barbara Wittrich. They were caught in that gas "fog" explosion near Oleum . . . and John Pantoleon, whose hand won the Lyceum Theater's weekly amateur contest. If they win seven more at seven more theaters it means a TV appearance . . . did we mention that the debaters mentioned earlier—Street, Phillips, Magid and Schwab—were judges for the National Forensic League at Tracy?

Feminine Viewpoint

Stores Promote Careers

By Bobbie Jackson

FOR the woman who has her heart set on a career, the field of merchandising offers much in the way of interesting work and chance for advancement.

Through the efforts of Virginia Gohn, who acts as instructor-coordinator for the merchandising department, many women who once were enrolled in the college retailing courses now hold choice positions in major department and specialty stores.

Some of the subjects in merchandising that are offered to the students include retail selling, store operation, merchandising analysis, advanced retail buying, retail advertising, display, retail marketing and a very advanced course dealing with the problems of retailing.

These classes are open to both men and women, although this space stresses the opportunities for the fairer sex.

In addition, students may earn five units plus the prevailing salary, by working a minimum of 15 hours per week either in sales or stock in one of the downtown stores. Thus experience in the merchandising field and some handy spending money are gained by those enrolled in store practice.

Within the past five years, many of the feminine graduates have climbed high on the ladder of success. At the top is former student, Dorothy Del Monte, who now manages Leslie's Dress Shop here in San Francisco.

Others who are proving successful in this field are Phyllis Palst and Fedora Romiti who are buyers at the Emporium, Lillian Nielsen who is a buyer at H. C. Capwell in Oakland and Shirley Jarvis Glass who buys formals for Hale Brothers.

Claire Bolger Smith and Aloyse Christianse are assistants in the Emporium. Marie Kirk and Mary Louise Dechery Lillestol are assistant buyers in the City of Paris, while Peggy Greuner assists in sportswear in Capwells.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, No. 6 | FRIDAY, MARCH 17, 1950 | Page 2

Basketball Gains National Recognition For The College

IT isn't often that the word "National" can apply to a two year college when it concerns athletics. An institution can be nationally famous for its scholastic standards, but high academic records do not make newspaper headlines. Thus, the only method through which a college can reach the population is in the pages of the sport section of a newspaper.

One reason for this is that the number of two year colleges is not too great, nationally, and they are widely scattered.

When it comes to national recognition, City College can claim only three instances when its athletic teams received nationwide mention.

THE first time in the college's history the football team was in line for national recognition was in 1947, when the Rams were ranked fifth among two-year colleges throughout the nation. In 1948 the football team gained a share of the limelight when two members of the team were placed on the two year college All-American listings. The United Press carried the story to all parts of the country, with Halfback Oliver Matson and Center Burl Toler on the mythical team as duly qualified All-Americans.

Last year the college boxing team earned national recognition by placing second in the national Two Year College Boxing Tourney in Pasadena, California.

This year, with the basketball team preparing to go to Kansas, the college is receiving once again its rightful share of national recognition.

Through the medium of stories in the downtown newspapers concerning the fund raising drive, the people of San Francisco became conscious of the basketball team in particular, and the college in general. People began to realize that City College of San Francisco is a going concern and knows how to get things done.

We have heard praise from all quarters and the people have expressed hope that the Rams could go to the Nationals. In short, the drive to raise the necessary funds has made the public sit up and take notice.

At this point we would like to clarify a story that appeared in The Guardsman last Friday. Joseph Schwab's picture was placed where it was for typographical reasons only. The story was not intentionally critical of Schwab, who has proved himself a young man who thinks before acting.

Student Of Distinction: Bill Rosaia Guides Soph Class Activities

By Don Cunningham

Playing an important role in the college's student government program, Bill Rosaia, fulfilling the obligations of his position as Sophomore president, has a job that brings him little gratitude but plenty of hard work.

The amiable Rosaia, pictured here below, who formerly exercised his talents for the benefit of the U. S. Navy, supervises many of the social highlights of the campus year. The wide extent of these functions keeps his task from becoming a seasonal occupation; this is one job that requires constant attention.

He is a member of the President's cabinet along with being an integral part of the Social Committee.

Some of the highly successful rallies that have been staged this semester have been made possible by Rosaia's inventiveness and planning. The show that featured George Shearing and the King Cole Trio was due in part to his efforts.

Next on the agenda for Rosaia will be the formulating of plans for the semi-annual Sophomore dance, which is to be held sometime next spring. This event is one of the most eagerly awaited activities of the semester and requires an abundance of effort from him.

Direction of the Sophomore King-Queen election is also a part of the Sophomore president's tasks. In this capacity Rosaia must see to it that all the rules of the contest are strictly adhered to.

He somehow finds time to put aside the demands of his offices long enough to participate in a social life of his own. Alpha Sigma Delta fraternity claims him as an active member of their organization.

(Editor's note—Nominations for the twice-weekly student of distinction are made by a committee appointed by AS President Don Parker.)

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Kappa Phi, Beta Rho List Officers; Delta Psi Has Parties

Much has happened in the world of clubdom since this illustrious space was filled in the last issue of this equally illustrious newspaper and we will now delve into the problem of trying to squeeze as much news into this issue as possible. Whew!!!

First on the present agenda is the new batch of officers of the Kappa Phi's. Here they are: Lois Hofman, president; Florence Hourihan, vice president; Ann Brady, recording secretary; Kay Handlon, corresponding secretary; Helen Mersich, treasurer; Rose Marie Glenn, historian, and two CAB representatives, Gail Keating and Betty Richards. Bob Easton of Phi Beta Delta was unanimously voted the "Dream Boat" of the sorority because of his "delightful" personality. He was delighted also.

The girls of Phi Beta Rho have lined up their new officers in this order: Angie Guerra, president; Pat Edwards, vice president; Pat Sperry, corresponding secretary; Nancy Frietzsche, recording secretary; Dorris Pappas, treasurer; Joyce Braughton, historian, and Dolores Henninger, "sarge" at arms. Their first affair of the semester, a tea, was held Sunday, March 5, at the Western Women's Club.

Omicron Phi Pi, economics honor society, held a meeting on Wednesday, March 1, at which time plans for the current semester were made. New officers are Russell Greer, president; Wally Levin, vice-president; C. A. Franklin, secretary; and Walt Martenson, treasurer. Farm subsidies were discussed at their last meeting on Wednesday of this week.

A joint Tau Chi Sigma and Delta Psi birthday party was held on Friday, March 3, at Sister Vanda Puccinelli's home. Those birthdaying were brother Jack Creighton and sisters Ginny Cittler, Gloria Finochio, Bobbie Walker, and Doreen Manion. A beautifully decorated cake was presented.

On Tuesday, February 28, the Gamma chapter of Pi Delta Koppa held a rip snorting rush party at which time sport movies were shown and plenty of good food and refreshments were served for all who attended.

The men of Alpha Sigma Delta were out in force on Saturday, February 25, at a birthday party for Doreen Mannion, of Delta Psi. The surprise of the evening was the presentation of a pin by Danny Lagan to a young lass of Delta Psi. The Alphies also held a smoker on Sunday, March 5, at which all members and 27 pledges attended and enjoyed the gay Mickey Mouse movies. See you.

Pulse Of The Campus

Ram's Horn

Editor's Note: In regard to the letter printed last Friday in the Guardsman under the heading of "Maestro," the writer's name was inadvertently omitted because of a line correction that landed in the wrong place. The writer was Pat Patterson, Associated Student card holder 3520. The Guardsman regrets the unintended slight.

• Writers, Not Typewriters Needed

Editor, The Guardsman:

In regard to your editorial request for new typewriters. You've got the type, but where are the writers?!! Or the imagination to make The Guardsman worth reading? Will this semester's fare continue to be somebody's pet project or the "disclosed" date of some spokesman. It's a student's paper. Let's make it one!

—V. H. M.—3957

• To Be Or Not To Be A Shovel?

Editor, The Guardsman:

Near the basement entrance to the study hall in the main building, there is a show-case containing a certain digging tool and a jar of earth bearing the inscription "This Shovel and Jar Represent The Official Beginning of the Present Site of The Junior College—April 25, 1937." While we are not too concerned about having a shovel and a jar represent the beginning of a site(!), even the Home Econ. department can tell you that the "shovel" in question is actually a spade.

Heartbroken Construction Man,
George F. Horowitz, No. 2000

PanoRAMa With Jones

Ice Cream Bribes Voters

WE would suggest that those students planning on running for an office in the college's Associated Students pay heed to the means used by a nine-year-old boy to gain office. The boy, whom we will call D. S., attends school in Menston, England.

D. S.'s platform was that there should be free ice cream for all children (this could be matched by free coffee in the cafeteria). D. S. felt that the children should collect the five-shilling (70 cents) per child weekly allowance that the British government gives parents for each child after the first. (This could be matched by promising all married veteran-students the right to cash their own subsistence checks. Hehheh, only kiddin' ladies.)

D. S. finally concludes his platform with, "Hang all instructors." (No comment.)

WE ARE NO longer going to spend our time in classgazing at the instructors and muttering, "Sure, it's okay for you. You've already got your education." Now after we heard about the new courses offered at the New School for Social Research. This institution announced recently that next fall it would establish a College for Retired Professors.

MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE has a student, we'll call him G. K., who we think is a clean cut kid. In fact, G. K. has received the title of the "cleanest man at Michigan State College."

G. K. takes a shower 15 times a week, and next fall he plans to take 30 showers a week. G. K. is a physical education sophomore, and a shower before each class is required by the physical education department.

We admire G. K.'s courage. We don't even indulge in a cup of coffee without our water wings in place.

WE DON'T WANT to stray too far from the subject, but speaking of coffee recalls the good old days when we complained that coffee kept us awake. Now it's the price of coffee that keeps us awake.

NOW THAT WE'VE gotten around to money, we can tell about the sharp character that entered a downtown drug store and purchased a package of cigarettes and received $4.80 change for his $5 bill.

He then asked for his $5 and handed the clerk a dollar bill to pay for the purchase. While the clerk still had the $1 bill in his hand, the customer handed him the original $5 and $4 of the $4.80 change, and he asked for $10.

The clerk handed him the money requested, and didn't realize until the customer had left that he was out $4.80 and a pack of cigarettes. Then he called the police.

Don't ask us, we're not going over it again. Well see you in Economics 21A.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER Heil
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rose Harold
STAFF EDITORS ..... Cy Donaldson, William Thom
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jacque A... Larry Bales, David Brewer, Graceene Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Mar... Cumming, John Dierling, George Ezell, Barbara Eggleton, Ted ... Ray Harvey, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kanaya, Richard Lanuza, Jean... Louie, Hedy Marcia, John Nihill, Warren Northwood, Bob Pinto... Elaine Stamos, Jack Vanderbilt, Georgia Watkins, Felton White, Pa... Weimer, Eric Williams, Bernie Davis.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcomb
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob ... Kaye, Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, assistant; Bob Gass... Terry Ryan, Jack Snadding, Bob Valli.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandra Marks, Dolores Ag... Assistants.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Harrington, Dick Steinheimer, Bob Thrasher
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz, Mary Anne Quattrini
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normanly, Terry George, Harry Pasterchak, Bob Easton.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Advisor ..... Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco | 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

The Guardsman SPORTS

olume XXX, No. 6 | FRIDAY, MARCH 17, 1950 | Page 3

The 1950 National Contenders

KEVIN DUGGAN, high scoring Ram pictured above, personally led the C.C.S.F. cagers to the Northern California Championship title he has contributed 494 points in 28 tilts this season. His average is now 17.6 per game. Duggan was All-City at Commerce in 1946, then played on last year's conference champion team only to be edged out by Grant Tech because of injuries.

This year classy Duggan was not to be denied. His 64 points at Sacramento was high for the tournament. Other honors included being chosen as the outstanding player and being chosen along with Bobby Wilson on the all tournament team.

COACH RALPH HILLSMAN, above, is shown pointing out defensive tactics while the first string Ram varsity pays close attention (in some cases). Left to right are Babe Samson, forward; Al Munn, guard; Marty Schneider, guard; Dick Mulready, guard; Skip Carnegie, forward; and George McLaughlin, forward.

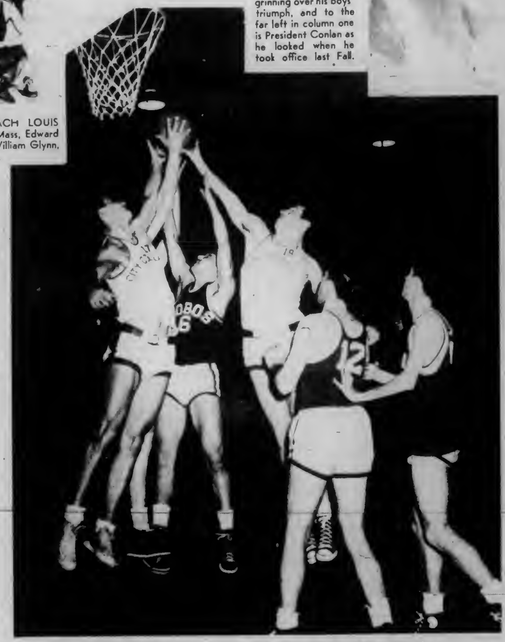
Center Pat Boyle in the foreground, to the left of Hillsman, is concentrating on what the coach is saying. The Rams expect to leave for Hutchinson, Kansas, today to participate in the National Junior College Tournament. Hillsman expects his lads to come through with their usual form that won the conference title.

CHAMPION BUILDER

WHEN CITY COLLEGE OF SAN FRANCISCO won its initial basketball championship in 1936, a young man named Ralph Hillsman was the captain. Further, another young man who was going places, name of Louis G. Conlan, was head coach.

A curious situation arose in 1949 when Conlan became President of the college and Hillsman led the basketball team to its second Northern California Conference title.

Above is Hillsman as he looks today, while to the right is the young man who captained the first hoop crown wearers. On the left, with the original caption printed in 1936, is Conlan, grinning over his boys' triumph, and to the far left in column one is President Conlan as he looked when he took office last Fall.



ALTHOUGH NOW President of the college, Louis G. Conlan, who coached the first championship basketball team of the institution in 1936, is no longer active in the coaching ranks, he still takes a keen interest in the activities of the various teams on the campus. The President also is one of the top coast grid officials.

FROM THE FILES of The Guardsman comes this picture of the 1936 conference winning basketball team. Kneeling (left to right) are Felix Anido, Paul Ripon, Guido Nicco, Captain RALPH HILLSMAN. Carlyle Caine, Ernest Loustalot; (standing) COACH LOUIS "DUTCH" CONLAN, Douglas Mass, Edward McSweeney, Monti Mordecai, William Glynn, Jack Butler, Len Leigh, R. Lowans.

KEV DUGGAN is shown executing his famed jump shot against Stockton, a team the Rams defeated last month. Duggan's tremendous variety of shots carried the Rams to the title.

808 WILSON AND DICK FARLEY battle a quartet of Monterey Peninsula College cagers for the ball in the Ram's victory over the Lobos, 69 to 36.

It was City College's second home conference triumph of the season and the second consecutive loop win. Shortly after this lop-sided victory, the locals went into high gear during January and copped the majority of their conference games. In fact, the Rams lost only two conference games in the remainder of the conference title chase.

Attendance at the Lobos game was not too heavy but picked up during the stretch drive when capacity crowds filled the gym. High point of the season came when CCSF defeated San Mateo for the circuit leadership of the Southern Division before 3000 fans. Later a full house was on hand to see the locals lose to Placer in the first game of the conference playoffs.

Aftermath For '49 Champs

SHOWN ABOVE IS the dejected 1949 basketball team that came within one victory of a national bid, after winning 30 of their 31 starts. The club lost a 56-50 decision to Grant Tech, a team which placed sixth in the nationals. In the NCJC Conference playoffs, the college five dumped the Saracens twice.

Pictured sitting, after receiving runner-up silver basketball awards, from left to right, are Dud Truelson, Don Payne, Bob Kahn, Marty Schneider, Bob Metheny, Bob Payne, comforted by Coach Ralph Hillsman end Football Coach Grover Klemmer. Front row sitting are, Kevin Duggan, Les Brilliant, Guardsman Sports Editor Bob Quinlan, Al Athanasopoulos, Captain Jim Caldwell, Bill Kahn, and Bob Mingee.

Of the none too happy cagers, Kev Duggan and Marty Schneider are the only two returning letterman. Truselson, while still attending the college this semester, performs for the Viking AC and the YMI. Bob Metheny played this season under Nibs Price and made all PCC Southern Division guard. Bob and Don Payne have split their selection of schools. Bob is at Oregon State College, where he played a successful season for the Beavers. Don is attending California. Jim Caldwell and Al Athanasopoulos play for San Francisco State.

Les Brilliant, reserve Ram guard last season, reported back for play this season but was warned by physicians not to enter competition because of a harmful arm injury.

Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside, Truelson and Metheny, and Bob Payne were all-conference selections last year. Through his performance in the Sacramento Regional Tournament in 1949, Payne was selected as the outstanding player in the tournament.

The Rams were hampered by injuries in their final game with Grant Tech. Payne with a broken nose, Truelson with leg injuries, and Brilliant with a dislocated shoulder, were slowed down to half speed.

PAT BOYLE and George McLaughlin are seeking a rebound in the picture below. Boyle finished second to Duggen in scoring this season and supplied the Rams with needed backboard control. Here the college triumphs over Stockton.

CITY COLLEGE'S CAGERS of 1949 in a game with Grant Tech are shown struggling for possession of the ball. Guard Jim Caldwell is taking the ball off the backboard while, left to right, Kev Duggan, Bob Payne, Dud Truelson, Bob Steen, Carl Youngstrom, and Ed Rueda watch. In this game the Rams drubbed Grant Tech in the men's gymnasium. Had the college's previous victories over the Saracens carried any weight, the Rams might have had a bid to the nationals, despite their loss in the final at Sacramento.

SAMMIE THE RAM has the right idea as he rallies students in attendance at the college to buy an Associated Student card and help send their team back to the National Junior College Basketball Tournament in Hutchinson, Kansas, March 21-25.

A team not only needs to win its games but must also have the funds to finance a trip of such distance. Sammie tells us that without a necessary $1500, a trip is out of the question.

A drive to supply the team with money for their earned trip has been started by Associated Student President Don Parker and Dean of Student Activities Dean Batmale. Also helping the drive along are a group of sports writers from the college, one each assigned a local daily newspaper as their beat.

Every loyal student wants his college represented in such a tourney, but interest alone is not enough.

Therefore, attendance at the send-off rally for the basketball team today in the west campus auditorium is imperative. There will be a campaign charge of 25 cents and any other donations will be accepted.

Players on the Ram team and Coach Ralph Hillsman have promised victories at Hutchinson if backed by proper support.

Entertainment at the rally is always of interesting calibre as the picture below points out. Rallies during the semester have provided some of the most outstanding talent in show business. Recently the college was fortunate enough to obtain the services of George Sheering, Slim Geillerd and others.

COLLEGE TRACKSTERS SEEN ABOVE are working out daily at Balboa High field. The four men are Tom Hendricks, Bob Brooks, Irv Beltrame and Joe Greggaus. These boys comprise the Sprint relay team. Hendricks and Brooks run the century, Beltrame and Greggaus the furlong.—Photo by Maritten and Steinheimer.

Trackmen Show Promise In Unscored Meet On State Oval

By John Dierking

No scores were kept while Coach Grover Klemmer's trackmen indulged in intensive workouts last Saturday on the State College oval with State College and San Mateo.

It was generally conceded that the Gators, with perhaps the strongest team they have fielded in years, were victors.

The main idea behind the practice with other teams was, Klemmer stated, to give the men an incentive and to gain experience for the opening of the season on April 1, with Sacramento and Modesto, at Sacramento.

Irv Beltrame and Joe Greggins, mainstay sprinters, ran a 22.2 in the 220 yard dash as "they took it easy." Sal Masitelli, miler for Klemmer, made a good showing in the half-mile run.

Cecil Beldsoe was a bright light for field coach Roy Burkhead as he pole vaulted 10 feet with only a week's practice. Soloman Mason turned in a credited 2:01.5 for the 440 yard dash which Klemmer says is good for pre-season.

John Bologna threw the shot around 42 feet, with form which promises additions to the mark. The relay team took first place in the meet.

An open date of March 25 is as yet not filled by Klemmer.

College Golfing Squad Meets Police Today

The college golf team, N.C.J.C.C. champions in 1948, open their season today with a match against the Police Department at Harding golf links.

Leading the Rams will be Vince Holian, John Baumgartner and Frank Hanlon. Newcomers to the squad include Roger Artox, Robert Geene, Jack Hirshon, Stan Jackson and Walt Stephens.

Horseback Club Set For Outing

Meadowbrook stables, near San Rafael in the Marin Hills, will be the scene of the College Spur and Saddle Club's horseback ride and wienie roast on Sunday, March 26, Merritt Olds, club president, said yesterday.

The three hour afternoon ride, first for the club this semester, is one of a galaxy of activities planned for the remainder of the semester and the summer months.

The club also participates in a horse show every semester in the St. Francis Riding Academy in San Francisco with San Mateo Junior College and in horse shows in the east bay.

Club meetings are held every college hour in Room 108.

Baseball Team In Double Bill

By John Dierking

Coach Bill Fischer's baseball nine encounters Sacramento Junior College today at Big Rec diamond, 7th and Lincoln Way, in a double header starting at 3 p.m.

During this past week the Rams had three games with the San Francisco Police Department, San Francisco State College and George Washington High School.

In last Thursday's double header, the Rams walked off by dumping Mission 11-3, and Sacred Heart 2-1. Winning pitchers were Boland and Chicos, respectively.

In Saturday's game with Pesa Restaurant, the college came through in the ninth inning to take a 4-3 thriller. Winning pitcher was Chicos.

The only loss of the week was to Balboa last Friday by 7-3. Gangales was charged with the loss.

Today's tentative lineup for the Sacramento till is: 1st: Cuddy; 2nd. Williams; 3rd. La Costa; ss, Nicora; lf, Munoz; cf, H. Arata; rf, Polando; c, Pantoleon; p, McGovern.

Fischer will use the majority of his remaining candidates in the second game to determine squad positions.

* LEVI'S
"America's Finest Overall"
Made in San Francisco
Since 1850
Levi Strauss & Company
98 Battery Street
(*The name "LEVI'S" is registered in the U. S. Patent Office and denotes only overalls made by Levi Strauss & Co., San Francisco, California.)

Phone
JU 4-9251
1963 Ocean Ave.
MIKE'S SPUDNUTS
Evano J. Maiocchi
TAKE HOME
ICE CREAM
MILK SHAKE
HAMBURGERS

DORM STUDENTS!
The City College Cafeteria
Your Best Bet
for
Delicious - Low Priced Dinners
Served Daily (except weekends) 5-6:15 p.m.
Dinners $.60 also A la Carte

Rams Win Regional Tourney; Gain Trip To Kansas Nationals

By Bob Goncalves

Completely overpowering a tired but game San Mateo quintet, the Ram basketball team coasted to an easy 64-49 victory over the Bulldogs last Saturday night to earn a trip to the National Junior College Tournament, to be held next week at Hutchinson, Kansas.

Although just as tired as the San Mateo squad, the Rams were very impressive as they rolled to the Sacramento tournament championship.

Making a fight of it the first few minutes of the contest, San Mateo quickly fell behind the Rambling Rams and trailed at half-time 36-24.

Kev Duggan helped make this lead possible by pouring 17 points through the hoop during the first half, while Al Munn kept the Mateans' defense on its toes with a fine array of long shots and drive-ins.

Unable to do anything wrong in the second half of the fray, the Rams took over completely, and built up the score to 51-36 with ten minutes remaining.

Bob Hunter, hitherto unheralded center for the college quintet, did a commendable job while guarding Bob Peterson, high scoring San Mateo pivot man, holding "Pete" to eight points during the final half.

Toughest competition of the tourney was the fast breaking College of Sequoia's team, which dropped a 54-52 decision to the Rams in the final minute.

The college five held a fairly comfortable 28-22 half time lead, but the speedy Visalia squad came back strong during the remaining minutes of the contest, keeping the issue in doubt until Monte Gonzales, tiny Visalia forward, broke into the clear but missed his shot with but two seconds remaining in the game.

In the first round of the tourney, the Rams subdued Santa Rosa Junior College 55-40. Although leading by a six-point margin at the half, the Rams found no trouble in winning the contest going away.

Duggan, leading scorer for the tourney with 64 tallies, was awarded a spot on the all tournament team and named the most valuable player of the playoffs.

Bob Wilson, 6 foot 4 inch replacement for the Rams, who played the greatest ball of his career during the tourney, was also awarded a position on the all star team.

Boxing Mentor Speaks On Radio

In a radio interview Tuesday night, March 7, with KCBS's Sports Director Carrol Hansen, Coach Roy Diederichsen of the college boxing team, expressed his regret that "very few people know much about college boxing."

Clarifying his statement Diederichsen went on to say, "Actually college boxing as it is today is on a par and in some cases better than Golden Gloves and amateur competition. There is just as much action and the boys are just as willing to mix it."

Diederichsen points out that Jerry Stern, Ram boxer, defeated Herod Ward from the Camp Pendleton Marines. Ward had previously won 87 out of 100 bouts and is a Golden Gloves champion from San Diego.

Diederichsen also revealed that he is a strong advocate of the use of protective equipment, such as competitive headgear, mouthpiece, 12 oz. gloves and any other object that will help to minimize injuries in college boxing.

COLE'S
CITY COLLEGE
BARBER SHOP
Be Well Groomed
IT'S THE
KEY TO SUCCESS
ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

TRAVEL-MINDED?
We handle all student tours to Europe, Mexico and the Orient
We plan . . .
independent travel, too!
If travel-minded, call
The Students Travel Club
Morse-Gleason Co.
Travel Agents
323 Geary at Powell
SUtter 1-4869

ROBIN HOOD'S
From north and south
From east and west
Join the crowd
Our food's the best
Featuring
Thick Shakes
Refreshing Sodas
Tempting Sundaes
Delicious Sandwiches
Next Door to the
El Rey Theatre
Free Parking at Rear
1962 Ocean Ave.

Your Official City College Ring
In Glistening Sterling Silver
Where can you see it?
Trophy Case Outside Basement Study Hall - Main Building
Where can you order it?
At The Student Bank With a $5.00 Deposit
See It Today — Order It Now
Van Wormer & Rodrigues Inc.
126 Post Street EXbrook 2-5886

Straight Talk

By Bill Thomas

THE governing body of the Associated Students is the Student Council. The council is composed of 15 persons. Fourteen of these are councilmen elected at large and seven are Freshmen and seven Sophomores.

The 15th member is the Vice-President of the Associated Students. The council is presided over by the President of the Associated Students, who does not have a vote.

The duties of the Student Council are to peer ove and all legislation concerning the Associated Students. Present at the council meetings are all officers of the Associated Students. These officers have the right to speak but not to vote.

At election time the seven freshman members of the Student Council are often referred to as the Freshman Council and the seven sophomores as the Sophomore Council.

There are many officers of the Associated Students. Top man is the Associated Student President, whose duties, outside of presiding over the Student Council meetings, are to regulate and control all functions of the Associated Students and to see to the enforcement of the student laws.

The Vice-President of the Associated Students is in charge of social activities and of arranging the calendar of social events. She is the only executive officer with a vote in the Student Council.

The Associated Men Student President takes care of all business concerning the men of the association and of such activities as the Mardi Gras, sponsored by the AMS. The Associated Women Student President has the same duties in relation to the women.

Then there are the Sophomore and Freshman class presidents who take care of the business for their respective classes.

These are the major officers of the Associated Students, however, there are many more who take care of certain duties.

For example there is the Rally Commissioner who handles all the details concerning rallies, and the Awards Commissioner who sees to such things as giving out block letters to athletes.

These and most other offices of a similar nature are appointed, not elected offices, appointed by the president with the approval of the Student Council.

WHEN YUBA PLAYS THE TUBA DOWN IN CUBA was the title of the novel ditty that had everybody oom-peh-peh-ing about 20 years ago. The song died, but the tubas are still making a big noise in the world, as evidenced by Bob Wilmar and Herold Henry, of the college band, blowing their brains out at a recent rally. You don't have to (puff-puff) be nuts to be able to (puff-puff) play the tuba, but it (puff-puff) sure helps. All together now, boys—one, two, three, and a oom-peh-peh.
—Photo by Steinheimer.

College Honor Society Enrolls 45

Active members of Alpha Gamma Sigma, scholastic honor society, were enrolled during college hour last Friday.

Numbering 45, the honor society's members are Jose Archuleta, Joseph Azzolino, Joseph Blank, Marjorie Brownwood, Peter Chevrier, Carlos Chong, Virginia Churchill, Mary Lou Cooper, Susan Court, Percy Cutler, Virginia Cutler, Marjorie Czeikowitz, William Dallman, John Davis, Claire DeBacker, Lillian Feight, Betty Lou Floyd, Jeannette Giovannelli, Lloyd Grable, Russell Greer, Warren Gustabson, George Horowitz, A. M. Jernakoff, Camilla Justesen, Robert Kerr.

Lillian Lawson, Joanne Lipsiomb, Irene Loretto, Florence Louis, John Low, Herbert McCall, Charles Meyerson, Nicholas Nicholas, Richard Olson, Alexander Pappas, Gloria Paul, James Reed, Klaus Schaie, Leonard Seader, Hershel Smith, Bernard Stuehler, Tashi Tanaka, Masahiro Yamashita, Robert Kays.

City College held classes in 25 different locations beefore settling permanently on the present site in 1940.

CAB Elects Officers, Distributes Petitions, Warns Against Absences

Campus organizations elected Harry Williams, Alpha Sigma Delta, as president of the Club Activities Board at their meeting last week at which time petitions for entering and re-entering the CAB were handed out.

In an open role call vote, Stan Fletcher, Cosmopolitan Club, and Reggie Cummings, Phi Beta Rho, were elected to the CAB offices of vice-president, and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

Representatives from 44 organizations attended the meeting.

Organization constitutions and rosters of members and their Associated Student card numbers must be handed in by Wednesday, March 29, Williams warned.

A suggestion committee was set up, headed by Fletcher, and includes members George Boyko, Al Lawson, Betty Lee, John Sarber, Bobby Andrews, and Gloria D'Amico.

There were seven organizations not represented at last week's meeting which will be declared "off campus" if they miss one more meeting, Williams said.

These groups are as follows: Hotel and Restaurant; Strikes and Spares, Phi Epsilon Rho, Mu Iota Psi, Latin-American Club, Spur and Saddle, and Filipino Club.

A WS Tea For Frosh Women March 30

Freshman women students will be honored on Thursday, March 30, at the traditional Associated Women Students' tea.

Under the co-direction of Dean Margaret Dougherty and President Jeanne McKnew, the affair will take place in the student lounge from 2 to 3:30 p.m.

Assistant hostesses include Vice-President Shirley Maritzen, Secretary Sue Leong, and Treasurer Tish Moyer. Help from representative groups on campus will also be expected.

All women students are invited to attend as the tea is sponsored for the purpose of getting acquainted, Miss McKnew said.

Debating Society To Meet U. S. F.

Negotiations are currently under way between University of San Francisco and City College to arrange a debate between the two schools.

Michael Griffin, director of forensics, announced yesterday that he had received an invitation from Ron Miguel, program director of the USF debating society, for City College's debating society to engage USF's debating society. A definite date for the meet was not included in the invitation.

The debate is to be concerned with the question: "Resolved, That all basic non-agricultural industries in the United States be nationalized."

A proposed time limit of ten minutes for affirmative speeches and five minutes for the rebuttal is under consideration by both sides.

It was mutually agreed that the college taking the affirmative side of the question will host the debate.

Summer Work Available To Students

Students interested in summer employment at Yosemite National Park with the Yosemite Park and Curry Company should sign applications immediately with Joseph A. Amori, placement director, in Building 2.

The following jobs are open for experienced and qualified people: bus girls and bus boys, waiters and waitresses, maids, laundry workers, and kitchen help, Amori said.

Students must be over 18 years of age, he declared, and have recommendations and proper references.

Some workers will be needed at the park by May 26, and immediately following Memorial Day.

Deadline For Dropping Courses Changed

The date for dropping courses, previously set for Wednesday, April 5, has been moved back to Tuesday, April 4, Mary Jane Learnard, registrar, announced yesterday.

April 5 has been set aside as Institute Day, which means no classes will be held on this day. This will give students a three day holiday as the Easter vacation falls on April 6 and 7, Miss Learnard said.

The latest announcement to come out of Dr. F. Grant Marsh's office deals with veterans. Dr. Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, urges those veterans who are planning to attend a different college during the summer, not to apply for their supplemental certificate of eligibility until May 5 or after.

At present, the Veterans' office is literally swamped with veterans who are going to attend summer sessions elsewhere, he said.

The first junior college was established in 1848 in Illinois.

Make it a date . . .
- West Portal's
- Most Popular Fountain

DENNY DAIRIES
321 West Portal
Open Daily - - 8 a.m. to 1 a.m.
Delicious Ice Cream, Grilled Sandwiches and Waffles

Let Us Patronize Them — RAM BOOSTERS — They Patronize Us

AUTO - TRUCK - FIRE
Standard Form Policies
at Low Costs
Compare Our Rates Before You Buy
C. E. PEARSON
1125 Ocean
JU. 5-4478
Prompt Personal Claims Service

Men!
The smartest in new styles
Shirts • Ties
Slacks • Coats
Complete . . . Line of menswear
at the
EL REY MEN'S SHOP
Opposite El Rey Theatre
10% Discount
with
Associated Student Card

Ted's Ocean Cleaners
50c
SLACKS • SHIRTS
SKIRTS
DRY CLEANED
Corner of Ocean & Plymouth

Gems of Art
Gift & Children's Shop
Wedding, Shower and Birthday gifts
Brides register here for your Dinnerware & Stemware
1700 OCEAN AVE. • JU 4-0831

WE AIR EXPRESS WE TELEGRAPH
WE DELIVER
Chain of Flowers
Florists
CORSAGES — FLORAL DESIGNS
WEDDINGS
JUniper 4-7038 1805 Ocean Avenue
San Francisco 12

TYPEWRITERS RENTED
GArfield 1-6633
3 MONTHS $7.50
Free Ribbon, Carbon Paper
Free Delivery
Tibbs Typewriter Co.
821 Market St., San Francisco

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP
Your haircut as You want it
1334 Ocean Avenue
2 blocks from campus

A. Walter McElroy

EXCELSIOR SCHOOL of DRIVING
LEARN TO DRIVE IN TRAFFIC!
DUAL-CONTROLLED CARS
We prepare you for driver's examination
SPECIAL RATES
for students, payable in installments
4666 MISSION ST. AT OCEAN AVE.
JUniper 4-3687

Its a Strike! X
Bowl . . .
Johnny Swanson's MISSION BOWL
Free Instruction Daily
3140 Mission Street

Ayoob's Sport Shop
Men's and Boys' Clothing
Featuring
Team & Club Jackets Tailored To Order
Also Athletic Equipment
2598 San Bruno Ave.

Paint & Decorate Figurines
Lil Audrey's
Dresden Craft
Free Instruction Daily
Also Tues. & Thurs. eves.
1443 OCEAN AVE. DE 3-4574

If It's
Koret of California
It's From
The Ladies' Shop
Everything . . . for the Miss
1532 Ocean Avenue

JOE and BILL'S
RICHFIELD STATION
LUBRICATION
Tires and Batteries
Washing & Polishing
1298 OCEAN AVE.

For a Snack
Or a Dinner,
The Avenue
Is a Winner
Avenue Coffee Shop
1612 Ocean Avenue

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco
1949 Member Associated Collegiate Press 1950

VOLUME XXX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—TUESDAY, MARCH 21, 1950 NUMBER 7

THE CITY COLLEGE CAR CARAVAN that toured San Francisco is shown leaving the West Campus headed by two motorcycle policemen. The caravan was gaily decorated in City College colors, red and white, and was accompanied by the college band shown here riding on a two-ton truck. The caravan ended by visiting the City Hall.—Photo by Theinert.

Local Papers, Mayor, Join Drive To Boost Contributions For Basketball Tourney Trip

By Bob Rezak

City College of San Francisco students—some 2000 of them—turned out en masse last Wednesday to tell San Franciscans their need for raising $1500 to send the championship Ram basketball team to the National Junior College Invitational Basketball Tournament at Hutchinson, Kansas.

A caravan of more than 150 automobiles, decorated with CCSF colors, and escorted by police, toured the city in an all-out effort to boost contributions for the fund which helped to cover the team's transportation fare.

Led by Associated Student President Don Parker, Vice-President Sandy MacKay, Sammy the Ram, the college band, and other campus leaders, the caravan paraded through neighborhood districts and through downtown San Francisco urging San Franciscans to get behind the drive.

At the Chronicle, City Editor Abe Mellinkoff told the students:

"This is just about the first time that a group has come down to the Chronicle to thank us for something. San Francisco and the Chronicle are proud of City College, and we wish your team a lot of luck. We appreciate your coming down to serenade us."

Then the caravan proceeded to the City Hall where it was greeted by Mayor Elmer E. Robinson, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Herbert C Clish, and scores of additional rooters who had been awaiting the signal for a giant Civic Center rally to begin.

Hundreds of spirited, but not wild, students stormed the Rotunda of City Hall where a mass demonstration was held.

"We are proud of City College for winning this championship," Mayor Robinson told the enthusiastic gathering. "The people of San Francisco are pinning for you all the time.

"We know your team is going to bring back the championship. I wish the city could afford to send your team to Hutchinson, Kansas, but we have no city funds for this purpose," the Mayor added.

Dr. Clish also complimented the college cage team on, as he put it, "this most wonderful achievement.

"I know they will come back with the bacon," he said.

The Mayor, Dr. Clish, and City Hall employees contributed $150 toward the campaign to send the cage team to the finals.

Ram Cagers Meet First Test Today For Championship

Coach Ralph Hillsman's championship basketball team begins their quest for National honors this afternoon at 1 p.m., Central Standard Time, against Flint Junior College of Flint, Michigan, in the opening of a round robin tournament involving 16 teams.

No knowledge of the Flint JC team is available for Hillsman, who must guide his team to four straight victories in order to gain the top spot in the nation.

Hillsman will start his conference winning combination of Al Munn and Kev Duggan at forwards, Pat Boyle at center, and Frank Sampson and Bob Wilson at the guard spots.

The team left Saturday at 7:45 p.m. on a Western Airline plane and stopped at Los Angeles to pick up the Southern Division Champion, Los Angeles City College.

During their stay at Hutchinson, Kansas, the squad will stay in the Bristonte Hotel, and should they go all the way, will be there until Saturday night.

Six Hundred Will Blend Voices At Choral Festival

Plans for the annual high school Choral Festival, to be held in the college auditorium Thursday, March 30, from 1 to 4 p.m., are taking shape, Flossita Badger, music director, said yesterday.

Choirs from nine local high schools, containing an estimated 600 blended voices, have been invited to attend the affair. Under the supervision of the music department, the festival is sponsored by A Cappella Choir, Treble Clef, and Men's Glee, with assistance from the other Music Guild organizations.

Each high school choir will be given about ten minutes to present its own program. Climaxing the festival will be performances by the college groups sponsoring the affair.

Upon the conclusion of the choral festival, the college administration is planning an escorted tour of the college, dinner and informal entertainment.

Because of the small seating capacity of the auditorium, a limited number of student and faculty members will be admitted, admission free.

Make Up Artists Help High School

Twelve graduate and tyro theatrical make-up artists of the Speech 19 classes were chosen last week to "do the cosmetics" in St. Peter's Convent and High School's production of the Passion Play, which opened last night and closes this Friday, Michael Griffin, director of forensics at the college, disclosed recently.

Rita Fahre, Mary Cook, and Barbara Andress head the artists as the graduate students of the class. Bill Hayes, Dick Vreeland, Juanita Harvey, Don Kidd, Ken Wilson, Ray Winham, Mer Murphy, Vivian Breslin, and Ed Mulvihill comprise the beginners of the program.

The class is formulating plans to help St. Cecilia's Convent make a success of their Passion Play, Griffin said, and is also taking an active part in putting over the Mount Tamalpais players' production of Robin Hood on May 14.

Last year's crew climaxed their make-up program with the Tamalpais production of Rough and Ready in which Randy Street, president of Phi Rho Pi, played an acting role.

No College Hour, But Midterms Friday

There will be no college hour this Friday because mid-term examinations occur all this week, Louis Batmnie, dean of student activities, said yesterday.

Cancelled because of conflict with the schedule of examinations, the college hour program, which is regularly from 10:40 a.m. to 11:20 a.m., will be resumed Friday, March 31.

Masonic Club To Hold Dance Here

Masonic Club's "Scotch Hop" sport dance will be held this Friday, March 24, in the student lounge, from 8:30 p.m. to 12 midnight.

Admission is free on presentation of an Associated Student card. Dress for the event is sport clothes, and a "combo" composed of some of the club members will supply music for the affair, Cokes will be sold.

Richard Schamback, Masonic club president, is general chairman for the "hop," and Bill Hurst and Jo Romero are assisting him.

"Scotch Hop is designed to be a dance for those who like an enjoyable, inexpensive and informal evening," Schamback declared.

Donald Atherton and Donald Bryant are the faculty advisers aiding the club with its first dance of the semester.

Cancellation of the Filipino club dance, planned for Saturday night, March 25, was announced yesterday by the organization's president, Antonio Campos.

The club's first event of the semester, a party held between fall and spring semesters, was a big success, according to Campos.

John Fawcett is faculty adviser of the Filipino club.

Charter Day Dinner Location Changed

A shift of the Charter Day Dinner location was announced yesterday by Randie T. Street, Alumni liaison officer.

The dinner will be held at Fort Mason Officers' Club instead of Hunters Point, as had been reported previously. The date remains the same.

Tickets are $2.00 and may be obtained from Joseph A. Amori, placement director, or from Street in Building 2.

Manuscripts For Forum Must Be In Within Ten Days

Students planning to contribute to Forum, the annual college magazine of student writing, have just ten days left in which to submit their compositions, according to Curtis May, editor. Deadline for contributions is Friday, March 31.

The magazine, faculty sponsored by John Geestung and Fred Foultz, will be placed on sale for one week starting May 5.

Short stories and one-act plays, articles of current interest, poetry, essays not exceeding 1500 words, criticisms of books, authors, and institutions, and light verse will all receive serious consideration by the editorial staff, May said.

"Satirical and humorous material in any form is especially encouraged," he added.

Manuscripts should be typewritten, double-spaced on 8½" by 11" paper and submitted to Foultz or Don Snepp, English instructor.

The staff of Forum, chosen from the membership of the Forum Club, is as follows: May, editor; Bob Kays, associate editor in charge of manuscripts; Marcella Lewis, secretary; Henry Lonie, publication; Jerry Pozzi, Al Friedman, and Margaret Blount, art; Randie Street, business; Mary Lou Cooper, publicity; Alma Zito and Jeff Bowman, advertising; and Bob Seward, sales.

Bob Johnson, Jane Howarth, Thomas O'Mara, and John Spears, who will assist in reading and judging manuscripts, round out the staff.

USF DONATES $50

Student leaders from the University of San Francisco contributed $50 toward the fund drive to send the Ram basketball team to Kansas at last Thursday's Student Council meeting.

Rene Herrerias, representing the USF basketball team, told the council, "We know how it is . . . were in the same situation last year. We wish your team lots of luck."

Dick Benson, yell leader, Bill Duffey, USF vice-president, and Bob Hanson and Bob Highed of the USF executive council, accompanied Herrerias to make the donation.

New Song Typifies Campus Operas

By Mary Lou Cooper

"And music, music, music," that catchy new song heard today wherever there's a five-cent piece dropped into a juke box, seems to fit into the theme of what's happening on campus, especially since the casts of Martha and Down in the Valley were announced last week.

Since each of these operas averages a little more than an hour of actual stage time, they are doublebilled and together will constitute the two-and-one-half-hour opera productions April 20, 21, and 22.

Just to "get the feel" of the stage and to give the principals an idea of how the opera "hangs" together, the cast of Down in the Valley ran through a complete stage rehearsal last Tuesday.

Henry Leff, of the college's Opera Workshop and Radio departments, who is stage director and dramatic coach for these two operas, had an opportunity to start to acquaint them with the acting part of the opera. Flossita Badger directs the productions, and Meyer M. Cahn and the college orchestra, supply the instrumental music.

Robert Morton, music faculty member, has designed scenery and, with his crew, is building stage sets. Dances, which add color to both operas, are in preparation by Laurine Bergin's folk dancing class, and by the Mason-Kahn dance studio.

The Opera Workshop, though still in its infancy (it was established in the Fall of 1948), has nevertheless gained wide recognition through its former presentations of The Marriage of Figaro, Naughty Marietta and the Vagabond King.

As a division of the Music department, college credit is given for all courses in the Opera Workshop curriculum with full-time work leading to the Associate in Arts degree or an Opera Workshop diploma.

Through this medium, young singers preparing for professional work in the opera and allied fields of vocal performance can supplement their private vocal study and take advantage of the opportunity to appear in workshop productions.

Clean-up Asked For China Beach

An ambitious program directed to improve conditions at China Beach was started this week by a college improvement committee headed by Ronald Zimmerman.

Plans include the provision for easier access to the beach and the use of lifeguard stations on weekends.

Zimmerman is scheduled to speak before the San Francisco Board of Supervisors this week to tell them of the need for providing a safe, clean sunbathing area for the people of San Francisco.

Jim Potter, Joe Gentile, Henry Washington, and John Paskaly are other members of the improvement committee.

They will speak at city high schools and colleges to gain additional support in the campaign.

Although official approval is still pending, Zimmerman said, most school and faculty groups are in favor of the improvement drive, and the city's four daily newspapers have offered assistance in publicizing the campaign.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

IN a recent press release we came across a seemingly innocent item concerning the inevitable scientists conducting the inevitable experiment to prove something that everyone knew in the first place.

This time it's a group from the Pennsylvania State College Medical School, and they proved that you can do better work by eating a good breakfast. That's innocuous enough in itself, but the methods they used are enough to make your flesh crawl.

FRANKENSTEIN AND THE ERGOMETER

Perhaps it's just that we're suffering from a surfeit of Frankenstein movies, but just listen to this and see if you don't agree. We quote at random: "A group of women were used as subjects . . . a cycle-like machine called ergometer was used . . . to show the trembling of the outstretched arm, another electrical machine was used . . . a series of lights and a timing machine were used."

It requires very little imagination to picture the scene after that description. The women—under the influence of some mysterious drug—are strewn carelessly about the laboratory, lightning flickers eerily from an anode and cathode tube, in the center of the room buzzing ominously, stands the machine called ergometer (a name, no doubt, that will one day rank with Dracula and the Wolfman), and over in the corner lurk the scientists, laughing fiendishly to themselves as they prepare for . . .

Now, what we want to know is, who does this Pennsylvania State College Medical School think it is anyway? You'd better watch yourselves, boys. Fun is fun, but there's a limit to what you can get away with in this country.

Some news for a change: A few days ago Roy Burt returned for a visit. Burt was formerly in the Opera Workshop and is currently on tour with a trio called The Royal Mounties (we've heard that name somewhere before) . . . ex-Guardsman Mel Hansen dropped by to speak to George Mulany's journalism class. Hansen is editor and owner of the Coast Side Comet . . . how 'bout some congratulations for those members of art instructor Martin Metal's classes who have art works on exhibition at the Egyptian Museum in San Jose . . . from S. F. State College comes the news that a group of CCSF boys are starting a frat over there. They must still have Ram blood in their veins . . .

Jim Bogue (he's the boy-with-voice whom we told you about several issues back) is now singing at Club Lido—his first professional paid engagement. Bogue has also appeared on several local TV and radio shows in the Bay Area.

Feminine Viewpoint

Co-eds Help Ram Spirit

By Bobbie Jackson

WITH the recent rise of the Ram basketball team to success and glory has come a gratifying rise of college spirit.

Credit should be given to the co-eds, as well as the men, for their part in cheering and aiding (financially and otherwise) the team on its way.

Sheila Berke, assistant yell leader, who helped rouse spirit along with Dick Ganzert, head yell leader, and assistant Harry Williams, attended many games and also was present during the fund soliciting car caravan parade and rally at the City Hall last Wednesday.

Many of the fairer sex rode along to lend their spirit to the cause and contribute to collections from the district merchants. This car caravan marked an occasion in college history, not only because such activities are common among large universities, but also because it aided in putting the college's athletic accomplishments before the public eye.

While fewer women attended the play-offs at Sacramento, those who did attend greatly enjoyed the victories.

A frightening climax to the Saturday, March 11, game, was the flash-fog explosion near Rodeo Union Oil Refinery, in which a homeward bound car containing four City College students was involved.

Charles (Skip) Sherman, Barbara Wittrick, and college Opera Workshop students Caroline Herfield and Bob Sherratt were able to escape from the auto without serious injuries, although Miss Wittrick had to be carried from the car because of a broken leg she had suffered in a previous ski accident.

Most basketball games do not have such excitement following them, however, and we are sincerely grateful that these students were not injured in this accident.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

College Thanks Newspapers, Civic Groups For Help In Drive

THIS "afternoon," while City College students attend their 11 o'clock classes, the college basketball team will take to the floor in Hutchinson, Kansas, before a Midwestern crowd.

As we mentioned last Friday, a college is usually recognized for its athletic prowess before its academic standards by the majority of the populace. This is due to the fact that the people are interested in the athletic events of the educational institution. Therefore, the sport pages of each newspaper cover the events thoroughly.

Thus, in City College's fund raising drive of last week, the press backed up the college with coverage and space. The students must understand that to a newspaperman space is valuable, and when the students went out on this drive, the dailies did the college a favor by printing the day by day results. Of course there was a certain amount of newsworthiness in the drive, but it wouldn't have been nearly as successful without the assistance of the press.

For their help and cooperation we would like to thank the downtown dailies.

IN particular we would like to thank those fine professionals who helped. Our editorial thank you's are extended to Darrell Wilson and Henry Super of The Chronicle, Joe Haughey of The News, Prescott Sullivan of The Examiner, and Sut Chalios of the Call-Bulletin.

Further, we would like to extend our thanks to those who donated money, in the interest of sport, to send the cagers to Kansas. Moreover, we would like to thank The Shanly Company, our printers, for contributing the insert page of last Friday's edition. The names of the many contributors are too numerous to mention herein, but their help was invaluable.

As for the civic groups and individuals who helped in the drive and gave their untiring support to aid the drive, our thanks. The list includes the Mayor, Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Herbert C. Clish, and the Board of Supervisors.

With the support of the press and the civic groups, the people of San Francisco recognized that City College of San Francisco is an educational plant that knows how to get things done.

Student Of Distinction: Cage Star Skip Carnegie Plays Fast Game

By Bob Goncalves

Coming into his own late in the semester, Skip Carnegie, pictured at right, has fast developed into one of the main threats on the champion Ram basketball team.

One of the fastest men in the conference—and a deadly shot from far out, Carnegie has provided many an opponent with a constant headache.

Carnegie spent his high school days cavorting for Berkeley High across the bay, and last year played for the college's Junior Varsity.

Along with teammate Frank Samson, Carnegie has created a fast break offense that has the opponents going around in circles.

Skip's main trouble is found in his own terrific speed, which carries him past the bucket before he has had a decent chance to aim his shot, and on several occasions has sent him careening into the stands or a wall.

Although seemingly rather quiet and very conscientious, Skip is well liked by all who have a chance to know him, and has proved to be very popular with the spectators in every city the Rams have played.

Pulse Of The Campus

Ram's Horn

• Council's Budget Action Backed

Editor, The Guardsman:

As a past participant, but no less interested in our student government, I would like to defend the council's action requiring all budgeted organizations to have full membership in the Associated Students.

In looking over the budgets and the amounts that could be spent from the past semester, I noted a badly unbalanced condition. The A. S. card sales were declining, while the budgets were increasing. This condition prevailed in Spring 1948, and a similar bill was considered then. However, the situation has grown more serious and will eventually reach a point where many of the budgeted organizations cannot be considered if it goes unchecked.

A student's interest in an activity should go beyond his actual participation. After answering the question, "Where is the money coming from that provides me this opportunities to manifest my abilities?" he should willingly contribute to its continuance and enlargement by purchasing his A. S. card.

Things worth having are not known to be had free.

Jack R. Sommers

(Editor's note: Though he is not attending the college at present, Jack Sommers is well qualified to speak on this subject. He is a former chairman of the Associated Student Finance Committee.)

Take It From Kays

Shakespeare Modernized

WHAT many people may have thought was a mild earthquake recently, was merely Will Shakespeare turning over in his grave. Can you picture Marcus Brutus bouncing around stage in a trim cut tweed suit along with Mark Antony in a souped up version of a Nazi officer's uniform?

It was done recently in the Margaret Webster modern dress staging of Julius Caesar at the Geary. The dress could have passed if the acting was of the attention-holding caliber, but frankly, it wasn't.

Since they changed cloaks and sandals for uniforms and boots, they might as well have kept going. Instead of Caesar walking through the streets of Rome to the Senate, he could have hailed a cab, complete with two-way radio. Better yet, he could have picked up the telephone and called one. But then, we came here not to bury anybody, so let's drop the shovel.

* * * * *

A COLLEGE GRADUATE is 49 times as likely to get his by-line in Who's Who in America than is a non-college man. He is also 15 times as likely to make over $10,000 a year, with the odds being 2 to 1 that he will make at least $4,000.

These are some of the facts gleaned from a recent Time Magazine poll of a cross section of America's college grads. The poll also revealed that college males are much more apt to marry than are coeds (82 per cent as compared with 62.4 per cent, to be exact).

After taking a survey of our own, we discovered that more college men marry women than anything else. Which proves beyond a doubt the value of higher education.

Anyhow, for those who haven't quite reached the $10,000 bracket yet, and are having trouble making both ends meet, we suggest they try making one end vegetable.

* * * * *

A CERTAIN K. H. LIMAN of Rye, N. Y., has recently patented a device to keep drivers from falling asleep at the wheel. He calls it a chin jabber. It is a gadget that fits around the driver's neck and holds a sharp prong under his chin. When he gets drowsy and starts to nod—whammo!

Sleepy Seniors and somnolent Sophomores needn't get excited about Liman and his brainchild as long as he keeps the thing back in Rye, N. Y., but if he ever gets the idea of supplying the contraptions to be passed out during dull lectures he will have to be tarred and feathered and run out of town on a chin jabber.

Well, whether it ever comes to this stage or not, statistics show that if all the Ram students that slept in class were placed end to end they would be more comfortable.

* * * * *

FLASH! Returns from Moscow show that Stalin won the recent election by a unanimous vote, proving beyond a doubt that the peasants just love him. (P.S. Of course there was only one ballot.)

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rose Herdle
STAFF EDITORS ..... Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Avey, Leroy Bates, David Brewer, Graceine Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, John Dierking, George Ebert, Barbara Epplan, Ted Gould, Fay Hanson, Don Johnston, Sumiko Kanaya, Richard Larrick, Henry Louie, Herb Minvin, John Nihill, Warren Northwood, Bob Rezak, Elaine Stamos, Jack Vanderbilt, Georg'a Watkins, Felton White, Ralph Wymer, Eula Williams, Bernice Dow.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcomb.
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Kay, Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, assistant; Bob Goncalves, Terry Ryan, Jack Spalding, Bob Valli.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandra Marks, Dolores Aguirre, Assistants.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Harrington, Dick Steinheimer, Bob Thranert.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz, Mary Anne Quartarolli, Harry Peretchan, Bob Easton.
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normanly, Terry Geroge.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Clubs Extend Invitations; Sororities Hold Rush Affairs

Although the club kiddies have reported a galaxy of items, the main occupation of most of the social clubs seems to be rushing prospective new members, and they appear to be going at it with great gusto.

The first rush tea of the Zeta Chi girls was held on Sunday, February 26, at the home of Mary Ann Johnston. During the course of the afternoon, sister Tai Pappas announced her engagement, to Tri-E Tom Dietz, by passing the traditional box of chocolates. A grand time was also had by all at a recent Zeta Chi-Pi Delta Koppa joint meeting which was held at the home of sister Felice Quast.

Tea was also the beverage served at the first affair of the Alpha Lambda Chi sorority, Sunday, March 5, at the California Club. A very enjoyable time was had by all who attended.

Although tea was not served at the second social of the term for prospective members of the Tau Chi Sigma frat, on the eve of Wednesday, March 8, the many men who attended thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

The first tea of the Kappa Phi's, with future hopeful members being invited, was held at the home of Leslie Coley on Sunday, March 12, from 1 to 4 in the afternoon. A joint meeting previously held with the Tri E's was also a success.

Emerging victorious in the current elections of the new officers of the French Club, otherwise known as Le Cercle Francais, were as follows: Cecile Best, president; "Effervescent" Elva Lambert was elected secretary-treasurer, and Susan Court and Rich Hastings were selected the advertising managers.

The Billet Foundation held a get-together meeting on Monday, March 13, at 8 p.m., at 295 Urbano Drive (in case you're interested). All students interested in joining the club are urged to attend the next meeting.

At the meeting of the Cosmopolitan Society during college hour on Friday, March 10, Virginia McCarthy, acting president, appointed a temporary cabinet and all members decided when the semester elections were to be held. Foundations for this semester's activities were also laid. New members are needed and all interested are invited to attend the club's next meeting.

The Beta Tau's and Theta Tau's postponed their planned joint meeting, Wednesday, March 1, to attend the game. A hasty banana till next time. (Thank you, Judy Canova.)

St. Mary's Nine Provides Final Practice Game

By John Dierking

With one eye on the clouds and the other on the pitching staff, Coach Bill Fischer is looking toward today's baseball tilt with St. Mary's College at Moraga with all the concern in the world.

Today's practice game will be the last before going into the regular conference schedule next Saturday at Modesto.

St. Mary's hasn't shown much in the way of being exceptional this season but will give the Rams a tough time as proved from past seasons' games.

"The Ram nine will be on their toes today as past practice tilts have shown," said Coach Bill Fischer, "but I am still undecided as to who will take the mound against the Moraga Valley boys."

Still weak on hitting, the Ram nine is hopeful of getting into the swing of things today. Coach Fischer thinks it's about time for his diamond lads to come through with those necessary hits.

The line-up for today's game is: Cuddy, 1st; Williams, 2nd; La Costa, 3rd; Nicora, ss; Arata, Hook, cf; Pandon, rf; Arata, Bob, lf; Panteleon, c; undecided, p.

Pugilists Annex Conference Title

By Frank Monte

Modesto, March 17—Len Gage, 125, and Dick Ramsey, 175, made their bid for the national boxing tournament here tonight, sweeping the finals of the NCJCC boxing tournament, with Coach Roy Diederichsen's boxing team taking its second consecutive Northern California title.

Entering the finals, Modesto, Placer, and the locals were deadlocked with 12 points apiece, closely followed by Yuba's nine points. Two victories and two runner-up berths gave the varsity 16 points, enough to edge out Yuba, 15, and Modesto, 14.

Gage, who byed into the finals, battered Mitz Hada, Placer, at will, dropping him twice in the second round, to score a tko.

In the finals, Ramsey had the crowd in an uproar, decking George McMahon, Menlo, twice in the first round. Saved by the bell, McMahon went the distance to lose the decision by the widest margin of the meet, 90-76.

The results were, quarterfinals: Jack Bettencourt, SF, dec. Ken Won, SF, 145; Ralph De La Torre, SF, dec. Cliff Frazier, Placer, 155; Tom Stern, SF, dec. Jim Warren, Yuba, 165; Charles Wilson, Modesto, dec. John Brooks, SF, 165; Dick Ramsey, SF, dec. Jack Buford, Yuba, 175.

Semi-finals: Bettencourt dec. Marvin Miller, Placer; Joe Fanjul, Santa Rosa, dec. Stern. Finals: Bob Dossey, Modesto, dec. Bettencourt; Cloy Stapleton, Yuba, dec. De La Torre.

Trackmen Seek Meet Before League Opener

A slack in the schedule loomed in the track team's future this week as they continued strenuous workouts in preparation for their opening meet with Sacramento and Modesto on the Sacramento oval on Saturday, April 1.

Co-coaches Grover Klemmer and Roy Burkhead are slickering with possible opponents for their open date of March 25. No word is forthcoming from the coaches' office as to the opponents, but according to Klemmer, the college does not want to open its season on that date if possible.

BOB McGOVERN, one of the four returning veterans, is expected to carry the pitching load for the college nine this season.—Photo by Matthes.

Intramural Cage Schedule Altered

Because the varsity basketball squad was practicing in the men's gymnasium, all intramural basketball games were cancelled last week.

All games scheduled for March 14 were played yesterday, March 20, and include the following contests: 3 p.m. games—Tsetse Flies vs. Lyons; Sharps & Flats vs. Bella Vista; and Tri E vs. Pi Delta Koppa.

At 4 p.m.—Block SF Bulldogs vs. Dark Horses; River Rats vs. Block SF Mice; and Beta Tau vs. Gamma Phi Ypsilon No. 1.

Available scores for the first round of intramural play found, in the Fraternity League, Phi Beta Delta, 31, Alpha Sigma Delta, 14; Beta Tau triumphed over Pi Delta Koppa, 23-20, and Beta Phi Beta won from Gamma Phi Ypsilon, 20-6.

In the Independents, Crusaders were victorious over the Jokers, 50-38, and the Dark Horses emerged the winner in their game with the Tramps by a 41-30 margin.

Signups for all individual sports may be turned in until today to the office of Director Tom Wilson, in the men's gymnasium.

HOLLOWAY MARKET
Victor Stagnaro, Prop.
FRESH . . .
Meats • Fruits • Vegetables and Groceries
•
HOLLOWAY AT BRIGHTON

ROBIN HOOD'S
Ocean Avenue is
Noted for its class,
So here's the place
To bring that lass.
Featuring
Shakes
Sundaes
Sodas
Sandwiches
•
Next Door to the
El Rey Theatre
Free Parking at Rear
1962 Ocean Ave.

All-Conference Hoopmen

Guardsman Issues All-Conference Dream Team

By Bob Goncalves

The annual Guardsman poll of the NCJCC college newspapers and coaches, published here today, placed one Ram, Kevin Duggan, on the Southern Division "dream team."

Stockton, San Mateo, Menlo, and Modesto, rivaled the Rams, each with a candidate named among the elite.

Duggan, high scoring Ram forward with a season total of 494 points, was a unanimous choice for the first squad of the Southern Division All-Stars, while center Pat Boyle was placed on the second team.

Captain for the Southern Conference "dream team" by a narrow margin, was center Rod Dietrick from Stockton Junior College. Dietrick was the mainstay for the Stockton quintet although he was unimpressive in either of the Panther tilts with the Rams.

Bob Peterson, San Mateo star, was awarded the center position ahead of Dietrick because of his consistent high scoring and sterling play. Peterson ended the season with a total of 506 points.

Winners of the guard positions on the dream team were Kenny Flower, former all-city star for Lowell High School and now playing for Menlo, and Jim Doan, high scoring guard for the Modesto Pirates.

Boyle, most dangerous center in the conference, was placed on the second string along with Marv Rector from San Mateo and Jim Wilson of Hartnell at the forward slots, and Erv Gisler of Menlo and Ed Macha from Hartnell at the guard positions.

Two repeaters from last year's all-conference Northern Division team are found again this year in the persons of Lee Deming and Jim Loscutoff from Napa Junior College and Grant Tech respectively.

Deming, who was last season's all-star captain, was again a unanimous choice for the mythical honor.

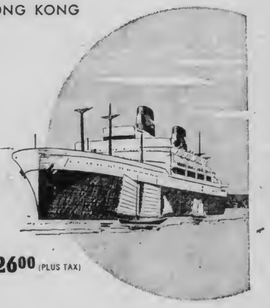
Jim Sugrue, great center for Placer Junior College, was also named to the first team along with teammate Dick Alvarl. Sugrue steered Placer through one of their most successful seasons to date. In the NCJC Conference playoff between the college and Placer the lanky center hooked up in a scoring duel with Rami Duggan, the final outcome being a draw, each potting 56 points in the three-game series.

Fifth spot on the squad is held down by Johnny Mayers, Marin Junior College's only contribution to the Northern Division all-stars.

Five former high school stars from San Francisco were among the first and second team choices. Duggan hails from Commerce along with Loscutoff. Boyle played for St. James, and teammates Flower and Gisler come from Lowell and Mission respectively.

SOUTHERN DIVISION		NORTHERN DIVISION
FIRST TEAM		FIRST TEAM
Kevin Duggan	CCSF	Lee Deming	Napa
Rod Dietrick	Stockton	Jim Sugrue	Placer
Bob Peterson	San Mateo	Jim Loscutoff	Grant Tech
Ken Flower	Menlo	Dick Alvari	Placer
Jim Doan	Modesto	John Mayers	Marin
SECOND TEAM		SECOND TEAM
Marv Rector	San Mateo	Joe Geyer	Grant Tech
Ed Macha	Hartnell	Carter Williams	Vallejo
Pat Boyle	CCSF	Jack Nordt	Yuba
Jim Wilson	Hartnell	George Goto	Placer
Erv Gisler	Menlo	George Dujmovich	Santa Rosa

TOURIST-THIRD CLASS



summer adventure cruise

TO HAWAII, JAPAN, HONG KONG AND THE PHILIPPINES

ABOARD THE NEW, MAGNIFICENT

S. S. President Wilson

SAILING FROM SAN FRANCISCO JULY 14
RETURNING AUGUST 25

special economy fares from $626.00 (PLUS TAX)

SUMMER ADVENTURE CRUISE HIGHLIGHTS:

- Tourist-Third Class accommodations aboard the S. S. President Wilson, America's finest post-war luxury liner.
- Special calendar of on-board activities, including swimming, deck sports, dancing, motion pictures.
- Superlative cuisine served by world-famed chefs.
- "Custom-tailored" shore excursions (at slight extra cost).
- Economy fares that make this cruise the travel buy of a lifetime.

For complete details consult your local travel agent or write

AMERICAN PRESIDENT LINES

Your American Hotel Abroad

311 California Street, San Francisco 4, California

Les Poe's Show Business YUkon 2-0770
441 POWELL STREET • SAN FRANCISCO 2, CALIFORNIA
Instruction and Coaching in Voice
Complete personality development for presentation in Theater, Night Club, Radio and Television
Interviews by appointment only
Special Material: Written, Arranged and Produced
Professional Contacts for the "Qualified"

Straight Talk

By Bill Thomas

UNDOUBTEDLY the most arduous task of all in student government is that of Associated Student President.

The President must preside at all meetings of the Student Council. He is expected to meet with other officers of the Associated Students in cabinet meetings, he also attends "hot" sessions of most committees—and there are plenty of them.

Then there is the job of co-ordinating the efforts of all the other Associated Student officers. This requires a knowledge of what is going on in every department.

A NEW TWIST

Anyone who has a complaint heads for the President's office, and then with patience and care the President must listen to the "offended's" story, usually the same old one with a new twist.

The attendance of the President at major social functions is also a must unless he wants hurt feelings to develop. This usually means eating his lunches about once a week with an important visitor to the college, and attending dinners given each semester by various organizations.

And usually he has to pay for his own meals!

When it comes to procuring outside entertainment for rallies or inviting important personages to visit the college, it is the President who calls and gives the official invitation—and the overhead at some of these joints!

THE BALL ROLLING

The driving force behind most activities usually starts by approaching the President, and it is usually up to him to get the ball rolling.

To put his ideas over, the President must use his persuasive powers upon many officials. This job of selling an idea usually takes a good part of his time. In addition to selling persons on his ideas, the President must also, naturally, contend with opposition from various groups.

The effectiveness of student government and the manner and efficiency with which it acts, depends mainly on the co-ordinating powers of the President. Concerted action in such a diversified thing as the Associated Students is very hard to get, and it can best be accomplished by the President.

It has always seemed that the better and more able the President, the better and more efficient the whole Associated Student organization is.

AND GRADES TOO

This perhaps rounds out the major duties of a President of the Associated Students—except—he must also attend classes, be enrolled in a minimum of 12 units, and maintain a "C" average.

So you can see there is "nothing" to being President of the Associated Students—all you have to do is smile and look pretty at election time!

Organizations Select Mardi Gras Booths

By Warren Northwood

Campus organizations that plan to have booths in the forthcoming Mardi Gras festival, to be held Friday night, May 19, must submit applications to the Associated Men Student Mardi Gras committee during the two week period from Friday, March 24 to May 7, Norm Reger, AMS president, announced recently.

All organizations are asked to make a first, second, and third choice of booth locations on their applications to give the Mardi Gras committee a chance to separate clubs having similar entertainments.

Committee Decides

Final decisions on booth locations will be made by the Mardi Gras committee only, Reger said.

All told there are 36 booths ranging in size from eight to ten feet wide. Booth numbers 1 through 12 are eight feet; 13 through 16 are ten; and numbers 17 through 36 are also eight feet wide.

They will be lined up along the sidewalk in front of Building 12, beginning at the student fountain and continuing past The Guardsman's office entrance. Booths will be in numerical order with number 1 to be the first one from the fountain, as shown in the accompanying diagram.

Booths At South

Since there is not enough sidewalk space to accommodate the 36 booths, the remainder of them will be set up on the south end of the parking lot, parallel to Building 2.

The plan shown here is designed to help clubs and organizations find the approximate location of the various booths.

A fee of $5.00 will be charged each organization having a booth but not entering a float in the Pre-Mardi Gras parade, Reger said, and organizations that join together on a float but maintain separate booths will be charged $2.50 each.

Two Features Cut Charge

Clubs having both a float and booth will not be charged; and plans for all floats must meet the approval of the Mardi Gras Committee.

The many features under consideration for this year's Mardi Gras include, besides the carnival and parade, dancing to the music of Ben Watkins and his band, contests with prizes offered by local merchants, and colorful costuming, to make "this year's carnival an outstanding event of the spring semester."

It is expected that the west campus parking area will be closed to cars May 19 during the day.

Campus Patrol Increased To 20

The number of law enforcement students assigned to the campus patrol was increased to 20 this week as nine new men were sworn in by Deputy Chief Quigley of the San Francisco Police Department.

The names of those appointed are as follows:

Don Becker, James Conroy, Glenn Dyer, Robley Gardner, Ken Givens, Libert Myers, George Schreiner, Frank Suega, and Irwin Tuttleman.

Forty-five graduates of the program are now active in the law enforcement field, Fred Fitzgerald, director of the program, said last week, and among the students now enrolled, 15 are presently employed in some phase of law enforcement.

Show Case Available In The Main Building

Openings are still available to instructors and student organizations who wish to use the display cases on the first floor of the main building, William Eckert, ndvertising art instructor, announced recently.

Those who wish to apply are expected to inform Eckert in Room 349. This display cases may be used for the period of one week only by each organization, he said.

During the fall semester 1946, City College acquired the west campus from the Navy Department.

Fencers 'Cross Swords' With UC

City College fencers will participate in a fencing exhibition at an "open house" hosted by the fencers of the University of California, this afternoon at Hearst gymnasium, Helene Mayer, fencing instructor, said yesterday.

It will be the first time that the local fencers have been invited to "cross swords" with men and women fencers of UC, San Francisco State College, YMCA, and other East Bay clubs.

"It is not a competition with the usual elimination matches; instead each fencer may choose his opponent and try out his skills, thus we hope to get much experience, Miss Mayer said.

City College participants in the fencing exhibition are Jean Fischer, Kit Sarubarger, Vivian Breslin, Mary Harkins, Frances Bellman, D. Denny, R. Fregoso, H. Griffin, H. Marvin, R. Osborne, T. Pozniakoff, D. Strong, and C. Thomson.

According to the City College Veterans Administration, a disabled veteran may enroll in any VA-approved training establishment offering the course of training he needs to insure his proper rehabilitaion in line with his desires.

COLE'S CITY COLLEGE BARBER SHOP
Be Well Groomed
IT'S THE KEY TO SUCCESS
ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

Through the West Campus
Across the green
to the
RAM SHACK
For food supreme
1015 Ocean Avenue
Across From West Campus

100 MEN WANTED
Age 17-34
145th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron
Fort Miley, San Francisco
HAS OPENINGS FOR
RADAR OPERATORS
RADIO OPERATORS
TELEPHONE OPERATORS
TELETYPE OPERATORS
AUTO MECHANICS
RADIO MECHANICS
CLERICAL HELP
Experience Not Necessary
Earn as much as $6.75 for only 2 hours weekly training
For Further Information
CALL SKyline 2-3100
OR IN THE EAST BAY
LAkehurst 2-6412

Boulevard Market
667 Monterey Blvd.
Groceries -- Delicatessen
Fresh
Fruits and Vegetables
★
FREE DELIVERY
JUniper 5-3393

Look at your clothes . . . other people do.
3 Day Service
THE MONTEREY CLEANERS
"We Operate Our Own Plant"
643 Monterey Blvd. DElaware 3-7644
ALTERATIONS . . . REPAIRS

A sad sight indeed, the man without
THE RIGHT SHIRT
THE RIGHT TIE
THE RIGHT SOCKS

...like the chap to the left, he might better wear none. To those with any doubts about the matter, we suggest the following items, with the assurance that they'll be right with any suit: Roos Bros own Oxford cloth button-down shirt (3.65); an all silk striped foulard tie (2.50) and, classic of classics, a pair of knit wool argyles (2.50)

Nobody knows the campus like - Roos Bros

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco
1949 Member Associatel Collegiate Press 1950

VOLUME XXX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—FRIDAY, MARCH 24, 1950 NUMBER 8

Scotch Hop Will Feature Glen Plaid Tonight

With admission by Associated Student card, Scotch Hop, the Masonic Club's seasonal social event, is scheduled tonight from 8:30 p.m. to 12 midnight in the student lounge.

"Glen plaid streamers, bagpipes, and kilts will help create the festive mood," Richard Schambeck, president of the Masonic Club, declared in describing the decorations to be used this evening.

A "combo" featuring some of the members of the club will set the dancing mood. Attire for the evening is "strictly sport," Schambeck announced, and cokes are to be sold for refreshments.

Bill Hurst and Joe Romero are assisting Schambeck, general chairman for the evening, with dance details. Donald Atherton and Donald Bryant are the faculty advisers helping the club with the dance.

Scotch Hop is the second dance the club has participated in this semester. The organization was one of the 11 co-sponsors of the Red Cross benefit dance held at the college last month.

Private Sleuths Seek Education

By Don Brlese

There are more professional private-eyes per capita at City College than at any other college in the bay area, Fred Fitzgerald, instructor of law enforcement, revealed yesterday.

The ex-policeman's enrollment records disclosed that there are five honest-to-shamus gumshoes daily lurking around the pillars and portals hereabouts.

With elementary deduction, it figures one "eye" for about every thousand students. It is believed that this ratio establishes some kind of record for two-year colleges.

Identities of these licensed private operatives are bound to secrecy to protect detective agencies. Fitzgerald pointed out his conviction, however, that it is no secret that he instructs the arresting figure of 15 professional and actively engaged police and correctional officers (San Quentin guards) each day in his classes which total 115 students.

He cited that more than half of his students commute from four different counties outside of San Francisco, and added that 64 other students had to be turned away from the popular course at the beginning of this Spring semester.

Film Today Features State Trailer Tour

Touring the United States in a housetrailer is the theme of today's college film series presentation entitled, Mr. Grant Sees The Light, to be shown at 9:50 a.m. and 2 p.m. in Room 136, Madison Devlin, audio visual aids instructor, said.

The film shows many of the nation's most beautiful spots including national parks, historical landmarks, national shrines, and the locations where famous men in the country's history lived and died.

DR. MARCUS SKARSTEDT, convention delegate.

Skarstedt Attends NJC Convention

Dr. Marcus Skarstedt, coordinator of instruction, has been named to represent the college at the National Junior College convention to be held in Roanoke, Va., March 27-28, President Louis G. Conlan announced early this week.

The convention will be attended by representatives of junior colleges throughout the United States, and the general topics under discussion will be activities and current trends within the various colleges, President Conlan added.

The Honorable John Stewart Battle, Governor of Virginia, will make the address of welcome to the convention on Monday, March 27.

Among specific topics under discussion will be techniques of audio-visual aids in education, practices in personnel work, intercollegiate athletics, teacher preparation, and national issues in legislation.

Magazine Announces Features; Contributions Needed On Campus Life

Forum, student literary magazine, this year plans to publish, in addition to an already wide variety of literary work, a new feature, Talk of the Campus, Curtis May, editor, announced here last Tuesday.

"Purpose of the feature, patterned, with cartoons, after the New Yorker's Talk of the Town, will include entertaining material dealing with life on the college campus. Talk of the Campus, students can express their reactions to college life here," May said.

Talk of the Campus items should run from 50-300 words, with 100-150 as an optimum, and must be submitted, as is the case with all other Forum manuscripts, by Friday, March 31, on 8½" by 11" paper, double spaced (typed, if possible), to Fred Foultz or Donald Snepp, Forum sponsors, in Building 19.

This feature, with each contributor's name after his item, will be printed in Forum's front pages, preceding poetry, light verse, articles of current interest, short stories, one-act plays, essays not over 1500 words (serious or humorous), and critiesms of books, authors and institutions.

These are only a few of the many interesting highlights of campus life, May said.

"Trying to study in the west campus lounge; City College as a melting pot; making it on time to class on west campus after gym; problems behind getting turnouts for C. C. athletics; what can be done to enlarge Associated Student membership; the long trek up the hill; an amusing conversation or remark overheard by chance.

Many other topics and suggestions can be obtained from Foultz or Snepp, Building 19.

Writers of this new feature are advised to use urbane, inpersonal style, to write with a chuckle, not a gripe, May added.

It would also be advisable to read a copy of the New Yorker to see the witty style that has made the Talk of the Town section of this magazine such a popular feature.

The spring issue of the Forum will be a popular issue because of the wide range of subjects that are to be covered, May continued.

Contributions so far have been excellent and the Talk of the Campus section is expected to further increase reader interest.

Selling price will be 50 cents, May said, and there will be pre-sales from Wednesday to Friday, April 12 to April 14.

Clubs Missing Social Committee Meets To Be Fined

Any club failing to attend scheduled meetings before the Social Committee will have a $5 fine levied upon them, voted action by the Student Council so stated last Tuesday.

Associated Student Vice-President Sandy MacKay said that clubs schedule meetings before the social committee and then fail to attend them. As a result, she said, dates on the social calendar cannot be planned accordingly.

The social committee meets every Wednesday at 2 p.m.

A college civic improvement committee's campaign to develop China Beach as a clean, safe swimming area for the people of San Francisco was given wholehearted support by the council.

James Potter was also appointed as spring election commissioner.

Parker Freezes All Organization Budgets

All budgets of each budgeted organization were frozen last Tuesday, March 21, when Associated Student President Don Parker forwarded a note to Dr. Oscar E. Anderson informing him not to release money until the Association member lists can be checked.

Organizations must hand in the list to Finance Chairman Tom Campanella before drawing their vouchers.

The Student Council passed the measure permitting such action Thursday, March 2.

Enrollment Up But Men Still Three To One

Enrollment figures for the current semester, released yesterday by President Louis G. Conlan, total 6,036 including 738 special students.

Of the full-time students—totaling 5,298—3,937 are men and 1,361 are women. This is a ratio of approximately three to one in favor of the men students.

Of this number, 1,049 are in their first semester of attendance at the college, 777 of these are men, 272 women. This continues the approximate ratio of three to one.

In contrast, last semester's enrollment figures listed 5,416 full-time students, an increase of 250 over Spring 1949.

Before the war there were about four men students to every woman. During the war the ratio dropped to two to one, the men still predominating. Now it is midway between the pre-war and war-time ratios.

Rams Take First In Nationals

HILLSMEN LOSE SECOND

Hutchinson (Kansas) March 22—Garden City, Kansas, Junior College defeated City College of San Francisco 58-45 in the National Junior College basketball tournament here tonight.

Skip Carnegie was high point man for the San Francisco Rams with, 13. Garden City put forth an endurance act, using only five players in the game.

Special to The Guardsman

Hutchinson (Kansas) March 21—City College of San Francisco's Rams smashed Flint, Michigan, Junior College, 64 to 52, here today, to win their opening round game in the National Junior College Basketball Tournament.

Led by Forward Kev Duggan, who whipped in 18 points, 12 in the first half, the Rams forged ahead in the early minutes of the game and were never headed.

After Center Pat Boyle broke a 2-2 deadlock with a pair of goals, the San Franciscans' Duggan tanked six buckets to give the Rams a 31 to 17 half-time lead.

Frank Samson added impetus to the West Coast five's first half drive when he tanked three setshots.

Flint's Don Kelly and Roy Middleton put on a spirited drive in the third quarter to close the gap to 44 to 36, but City College pulled even further ahead and iced the game.

Industry Leaders Form Committee, Aid Chemists Here

Top men of the Bay Area's food industries met with faculty members here for luncheon recently to discuss plans for assisting the college to develop its chemical technology course.

Howard Benninghoff, chemistry instructor here, who attended the luncheon with Dean Jack Brady and John Booher, also chemistry instructor, said:

"These men will help give students the needed background to be further trained by the food industries as plant foremen.

"Upon completion of the two year terminal course here, graduates will go to work in the field as laboratory operators."

Members of the committee are C. F. Finney, Langendorf Baking Company; Thomas A. Bruce, Corn Products Refining Company; C. R. Habighorst, Pacific coast editor of Food Industries Magazine; E. C. Mitchell, Richmond Chase Canning Company, and Dr. A. P. Stuart, Golden State Products.

. . . The Big Parade . . .

THE COLLEGE'S FUND RAISING drive reached a climax last Friday when Dr. Herbert C. Clish addressed the students in the auditorium. In panel one Dr. Clish with Horsetrader Ed Shapiro said: "I am very happy to be accorded the honor of coming here today . . . I am sure the team will bring back the bacon."

In panel two Coach Ralph Hillsman prepares to board the plane that took the Rams to Hutchinson, Kansas, while Mrs. Hillsman beams for the camera.

On Wednesday, Mayor Elmer E. Robinson spoke to the rooters as they stormed the City Hall. "We are proud of City College for winning this championship" (the Northern California Junior College Championship).

Also on Wednesday, when 100 cers paraded through the City, newspaper officials spoke to the crowd. In the bottom panel Chronicle City Editor Abe Mellinkoff declared, "San Francisco and The Chronicle are proud of City College and we wish your team a lot of luck . . . We appreciate your coming down to serenade us."

In the middle panel, part of the crowd that crammed into the City Hall rotunda is shown led by Sammie The Rem and the college band.

Below, a closeup shot of the band aboard the former army truck that transported them.—Photos by Maritzen, Matthes, and Steinheimer.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

HEAVEN only knows how Hollywood is going to take this, but there's no sense in holding back any longer; they're going to find out sooner or later and it might just as well be now.

It seems the college's Motion Picture Workshop class is producing a film for release sometime after midterms end. At present the picture is tentatively entitled "City College Takes A Field Trip." Not too engaging a name, perhaps, when compared to such as "The Outlaw" or "Duel in the Sun," but you'd pay your $0.85 readily enough if Jane Russell were in it (assuming you're not mentally deficient, that is).

ON LOCATION YET

Following the latest H'wood trend toward realism, the film will be made 'on location' at Crystal Springs. Color is to be used in the filming, and it will run about five minutes, complete. If it turns out well enough, "Field Trip" will be shown to all interested students. At any rate, photo majors are assured a chance to see it.

All these busy people: Here's a chance for those of you with a literary bent. Forum mag is asking for 50-75-word contributions on camp. . . . Turn 'em in at Building 19 . . . did anyone ever thank Frank Bayol and Lee Janover for their work in getting the car caravan rolling last week? . . . and how about some congrats for the Hotel and Restaurant Division. The lead article in this month's issue of "Hotel and Restaurant Operation" magazine gave them a swell writeup. H and T student Ted Lossman posed for the pics.

Think you're pretty smart, huh? Then decipher this without looking at the last sentence. "The instant and forthwith but ephemeral and evanescent manipulation of solicitude and circumspection rendered in the contingency of misfortune or unanticipated affliction, preceding the obtainment of a medical practitioner or hospital vehicle for the conveyance of the indisposed." More commonly known as first aid, you illiterate bum, you.

Blanch Meurer brought this to our attention and we in turn present it to you. The Air Force is renewing its civilian defense program and will need about 25,000 air raid wardens. We'll bring you info on how to qualify as soon as it's released. This sounds like a swell chance for some of you to really do some good.

Now think fast, is it a bird, is it a plane, or is it time to see an optometrist?

Feminine Viewpoint

AWS Plans Activities

ONE of the major events for the Associated Women Students is the forthcoming freshman tea, held for the purpose of welcoming all new women students (sorry, fellows), to be held on Thursday, March 30.

Behind the scenes work is accomplished by members of the AWS board, representatives from campus sororities and clubs, Margaret Dougherty, dean of women, and Jeanne McKnew, AWS president pictured below.

The work of the AWS president only begins with this tea, for Miss McKnew is also in charge of the tea to welcome high school seniors who plan on attending the college in the future. She is also a member of the President's Cabinet and the Social Committee, and is representative of all Women's affairs in the Student Council.

Thus, being AWS president is no small task, and Miss McKnew is handling the job in a very satisfactory manner.

The AWS is also in charge of conducting a tour of the college for the San Francisco chapter of the Horizon Girl's (Senior Campfire Girls) on Wednesday, April 19, and the group frequently guides visitors about the campus.

Another event that is sponsored by the fairer sex is the annual Inter-Sorority Dance, which is slated for Saturday, April 30, at the Century Club. Attire for the affair will be formals for the women and business suits for the men; with the optional rule applying to corsages.

Spring illusion is the theme of the dance, and decorations will be carried out accordingly. Incidentally, the name Spring Illusion was submitted by Marilyn Jacobs, Theta Tau.

By the way, a plea is issued for the return of a lost copy of Klepner's Advertising Procedure and a well-scribbled shorthand notebook to yours truly, at The Guardsman office.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, No. 8 FRIDAY, MARCH 24, 1950 Page 2

Sam The Ram Has Good Side; A Few Manners Would Help

WE definitely do not approve of the cavortings of Sammie the Ram, the college mascot, upon the stage of the auditorium when entertainers are performing before an audience.

The entertainer goes away muttering under his breath and if he is foolish enough to return will take another beating and have his number ruined by the bad taste of a man dressed as a Ram.

Sammie could be doing many things without destroying his character, rather than injure the feelings of performers on the stage.

These are:

1. Sammie could add a touch of comic relief to the intense competitive feeling that prevails when an athletic event is being played. Crowds laugh at the antics of Sammie when he attends a game. This much can be said in his favor: he does add a touch of comic relief at games. However, a little good taste would be beneficial.

2. Sammie could be built into a college tradition, a regular fixture at all games. Such a case is prevalent at the University of California where Oskie the Bear entertains football spectators.

Oskie is a tradition in Berkeley. Why not make Sammie a tradition at City College? Only let's have a Sammie with manners and good up-bringing that will reflect favorably on the college.

3. Sammie could do a lot of good in uniting this college, bring it together, make it laugh, make it cry. Make it so that wherever City College students saw Sammie they wouldn't laugh at him, but with him. Only let's have a Sammie with manners.

To his credit, Sammie does do some of the aforementioned items. The Sammie the Ram we saw at last Friday's rally was not a credit to the college. He was a scene stealer, he interfered in the acts, he made uncomplimentary gestures, and above all he was a boor.

We advocate a few simple changes in Sammie's makeup. More courtesy toward entertainers, more comic routines, and more manners.

Eventually we hope to see such a Sammie, and we'll be as delighted with his antics as the next man. We are for Sammie, only he is going through the bad boy stage of life and must be brought into a better light.

LET'S HAVE A SAMMIE THE RAM WITH GOOD MANNERS!!

Student Of Distinction: Jim Bogue Puts Talents To Practical Use

Jim Bogue, a freshman student at the college, continues a tradition of several years by combining college study with practical experience.

In his case, Bogue is enrolled in the Opera Workshop program, a course which constitutes serious vocal study. To help carry out this study, he has become active in the realm of professional show business by appearing on radio and television shows, and at public show places, the most recent of which was a paid professional engagement at Club Lido.

His first crack at professionalism came when he appeared on the Budda Amateur Hour radio program. He won the contest which netted him the prize of appearing at the Golden Gate Theater and a trip to Hollywood where he was given a brief screen test.

At RKO, where he was given the test, studio executives were favorably impressed with his talents but advised him to get a little more experience.

Bogue is currently rehearsing for his part in the Music department's production of the opera Martha. He is impressed with the opera workshop program and says that it has also given him further training in acting and dancing, two of his other talents.

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Newmanites Plan Goodies; Cosmos, Phi R's List New Chiefs

Apparently the club kiddies have other things on their minds, namely, the chances of the Ram basketball team in Hutchinson, because this department has hit an all-time low in club news, but we will do our best to fill this space with dainty club bits.

The Newman Club is apparently planning to have a stupendous semester because they have announced many coming "goodies." Here is the Newmanites' slate of coming attractions: April 23, Communion breakfast; May 1, roller skating party; May 21, picnic; and June 3, a "weenie" roast.

The hierarchy of the Cosmopolitan Society, who were recently elected, line up in this order: Ginny McCarthy, president; Edmond Bartlow, vice-president; Euralee Williams, secretary; Bob Sherard, treasurer; Stan Fletcher, sergeant-at-arms; and Betty Lee and Unola Rochan, CAB representatives.

If any of you lovely readers have perchance been looking at television lately, you probably saw Zeta Chi sister Kitt Sornborger. She appeared on Bill Guyman's TV show Friday, March 10, where she gave a discussion and demonstration of artificial respiration for the Red Cross.

Whoops, here's some more new officers. Randy Street, elected for a third term as president of Phi Rho Pi, the college debating society, resigned, and Andy Anderson, newly elected vice-president, took over the job. Marcella Lewis and Armand Magid were elected to their former offices of secretary and treasurer by a unanimous vote. California, St. Mary's, San Jose State, Stanford and San Francisco State plan to debate the society whenever it is convenient.

A rumor about campus has it that a group of the campus hotshots are planning to form a new club, to be called the Beta Be Bop Society (mellow huh), nicknamed the Bopsters (mellower yet). The organization is to be devoted to the appreciation of progressive jazz and be-bop.

A group of the Delta Psi girls went skiing during the break between semesters and were heard on the radio program "Sierra Serenade" on February 9. The occasion was an interview at Whitehall Lodge. There were no casualties on this trip.

Here's a little note to those of the club world who wish to get some news printed in this column. Incoming news should be placed in the wire basket marked "Club News" which will be found on the table to the right of the door in The Guardsman office, Building 12.

Pulse Of The Campus

Ram's Horn

• Can Incompletes Be Made Up Late?

Editor, The Guardsman:

A few issues ago, The Guardsman published an article to the effect that "incompletes" had to be removed from the grade records by March 10. Isn't it possible to remove an "incomplete" by another date later in the semester and take a reduction in grade? Also, a very dear friend of mine asks if he can replace an "F" with an "incomplete."

Associated Student card holder No. 1721.

(Editor's note: Quote from the official bulletin, page 29: "A grade of 'D' will be assigned in the course if the 'incomplete' is removed later during the semester, while a grade of 'F' will be assigned if it is not removed during the next semester of attendance." We suggest you go to the registrar's office for complete information.)

• How Is 'Student' Selection Made?

Editor, The Guardsman:

In regard to the closing paragraph of your latest Student of Distinction feature which stated: (Editor's note: Nomination for the twice-weekly student of distinction is made by a committee appointed by AS President Don Parker), I, as well as many other students, would like some enlightening information as to the procedure involved.

Namely, on what basis are the selections made? The Guardsman states that nominations are made by a committee. Who then makes the final selections? Who is on the committee and what are their student affiliations.

Perhaps a step-by-step procedure of the consideration of candidates to the ultimate selection of the one selected would clarify the whole matter.

Robert R. Johnson, A.S. 3424

PanoRAMa With Jones

Streetcar Named 'K' Line

STUDENTS of the college who have to rely on the "K" line for their transportation to and from the campus would find a staunch sympathizer in Judge Charles Markell of Annapolis, Maryland. In his description of the perils of safety islands bordering the street car tracks, many students will find the voice of experience.

According to Markell, referring to the pedestrian who has just ventured off a streetcar, "... he is surrounded by a sea of perils where he has no right-of-way to escape to either shore, automobiles on every side have a right to mow him down blindly, and he can only plunge into the sea and perish."

All together now, students, "LIFEGUARD! HALP!"

TRAFFIC METERS can also be a dangerous item; at least one person found them so. A busy housewife, just leaving her parked car, stopped long enough to drop a coin in the parking meter. Then she started hollering for the police, and using words that are not endorsed by our English department. Two policemen arrived, calmed her enough to discover her problem, opened the meter and handed the ruffled lady her $2.50 gold piece.

We aren't too sure, but we'll bet she flunked Economics.

Traffic problems remind us of the City College student who, after getting his car out of the repair shop, prayed on his knees on Sundays, and preyed on pedestrians the rest of the week.

MEMBERS OF the college's law enforcement division may profit from the experience of two New York detectives. Apparently in New York, accidents can occur between people on the sidewalks as well as between cars in the street.

The two sleuths had been trailing a suspected carlooter when one of the officers accidentally bumped against the suspect. Gentleman to the last, the officer apologized for his error, and helped the man on his way. A few moments later the two met again, but this time not by mistake. The officer grasped the surprised man a second time, but this time offered no apologies. Police said the man was seized as he walked away from a parked car with a motion picture camera and an armload of clothes that were not his.

ACCORDING TO Warner Bros., their new picture "Lightning Strikes Twice," opens with Richard Todd wading knee deep in mud to assist Ruth Roman in changing a flat tire.

We deeply appreciate the dramatic beginning for this new picture, so do the rest of the college's students. In fact the parking area outside of the west campus fence, along Ocean Avenue, contains the most romantic mud in the world.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF — WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR — Rose Hardie
STAFF EDITORS — Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Avey, Larry Bales, David Brewer, Gracene Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, John Dierking, George Eberl, Barbara Egolan, Ted Goulis, Fay Harvey, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kanaya, Richard Larrick, Henry Loula, Herb Marvin, John Nihill, Warren Northwood, Bob Rezzo, Elaine Stamas, Jack Vanderbilt, Georgia Watkins, Felton White, Ralph Wiesner, Eura Williams, Bernita Davis
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcomb
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Ben Kays, Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, assistant; Bob Gonsalves, Terry Ryan, Jack Spalding, Bob Valli.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandra Marks, Dolores Aguirre Assistants.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Harrington, Dick Steinheimer, Bob Thranert.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz, Mary Anne Quartaroli
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normanly, Terry George, Harry Paratchek, Bob Easton.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Adviser — Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser — Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco — 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

The Guardsman SPORTS

Volume XXX, No. 8 FRIDAY, MARCH 24, 1950 Page 3

Trackmen Keep Expenses Within Traveling Budget

Traveling team size for Ram trackmen will be kept at the limit of the expense account, Mentor Grover Klemmer announced yesterday.

With only a week to go before their first conference encounter, the thinclads are working hard to gain a berth on the mobile group. "We will work at the limit of our expenses because, especially in a dual meet, it is useless even to go [illegible] to stake at least 20 men," Klemmer said.

A practice' meet with SF State reserves and two high schools was held yesterday in which Klemmer and his field coach, Roy Burkhead, looked over the club for the last time before announcing the traveling team.

Several bright lights loom for the coaches, especially in the field events, which were cited as exceptionally weak at the beginning of the season. They are developing some candidates who will carry part of the point load.

Bob Patterson and Bill Fraizer in the 440; Rod De Christafero and Charles Allums in the broad jump and Cecil Bledsoe in the pole vault are all rounding into shape.

The high jump remains as the weak spot in the field events because of the loss of the squad's top high jumper. Field coach Burkhead is looking for a jumper and will perhaps switch some of his runners to high jumping.

Golfer Defeats National Champ

In a feature match upset, Merle Fisher, City College golf ace, defeated highly publicized Ken Towns, National Publinks champion of 1949, though the Ram greatsomen lost a 2½-9½ decision to the crack San Francisco Police Department squad.

A return match was cancelled by Coach Ralph Hillsman who is with the basketball team in Kansas.

Hillsman's roster now includes Fisher as his leading man with the defeat of a national champion to his credit. He is followed on the team ladder by Vince Holian, John Baumgartner, and Frank Hanlon, plus several promising newcomers.

Phone
JU 4-9251
1963 Ocean Ave.

MIKE'S SPUDNUTS
Evans J. Maionchi

TAKE HOME
ICE CREAM
MILK SHAKE
HAMBURGERS

Graduating Students Urged To Buy AS Cards

Associated Student President Don Parker earlier this week urged all students who want to graduate this semester to purchase an Associated Student card.

With an AS card graduates will receive their cap and gown and engraved invitations free of charge, Parker said. If they do not purchase a card, Parker added, they must face the costs of all graduation expenses themselves.

(The Associated Students pay the costs for regular members, while non-members must pay $3.50 for cap and gown, plus 50 cents for each invitation, and incidental expenses.)

Intra Basketball Rolls Next Week

Intramural basketball swings into high gear next week with a full schedule of games slated every day.

Opening the week's play on Monday, March 27, at 3 o'clock in the men's gymnasium will be the following contests:

Gamma Phi Ypsilon No. 2 vs. Bella Vista Hilltoppers, Hotel & Restaurant vs. Block SF Tamales, and Phi Delta Kappa vs. Alpha Sigma Delta.

Games scheduled for 4 o'clock of the same day are Block SF Blues vs. Dark Horses, Tsetse Flies vs. Three Mills Alumni and Tau Chi Sigma vs. Alpha Lambda Sigma.

At 5 o'clock on Monday, March 28, Sharps & Flats will meet the Aces, River Rats vs. Washington Alumni, and Beta Phi Beta vs. Phi Beta Delta. Four o'clock contests the same day are Whiz Kids vs. Crusaders, Cellar Dwellers vs. Scoreless Wonders, and Beta Tau vs. Kappa Rho.

Any team failing to make an appearance on the day they are scheduled to play will be eliminated after two forfeits. Forfeits also detract from the point totals compiled at the conclusion of the season.

Last season's play was highlighted by hardfought contests finally won by the Balbon AC, who received gold belt buckles, while the runner-up teams got silver medals. Both awards were presented in a special assembly at the end of the semester.

Rams Open Conference

Baseball Team Invades Modesto Diamond Tomorrow In Twin Bill

Coach Bill Fischer's baseball team journeys to Modesto tomorrow to open their conference season against Modesto Junior College, in a double header.

Hoping to redeem last season's defeats against the Pirates, 4-3 and 11-9, Fischer, with only four returning veterans, has developed a new hard-hitting ball club.

The outfield, composed of Bob "Hook" Arata, right field, Bob Frazier, left field, and Cas Munoz, centerfield, has shown consistency at the plate along with capable fielding.

Veteran Lou Williams leads the infield at second base. Williams was last season's top hitter with .522. Jack Cuddy handles the initial sack, Al Nicora at [illegible] Jon Pantolean catches, and Bob La Costa in the hot corner.

Bob McGovern, returning pitcher, is pleasing mentor Fisher with his hurling and leads newcomers Sam Chicos and Joe Gonzales on the mound duties. McGovern had a 3-1 record last season.

Tied at six-all, Arata's ninth inning home run with two men on base, gave the Rams a 9-6 win over San Francisco State on the Gators' diamond last week.

Bob Duplen held George Washington High School to two runs last week while the locals walloped the Eagles, 13-2

Last Friday's double header against Sacramento was cancelled because of rain.

Ski Rams Ask Help By Petition

Petitions are being circulated today on campus by the social service council to have the college sponsor skiing as a regular sport.

The Skiers have made a showing in recent competitions throughout the state even with the lack of ski equipment. They have been self-supporting up to this time, and the members believe that they will do better if sponsored by the college.

Petitions are being circulated around the campus for Associated Student members who are in favor of this idea. One copy will be placed in the student lounge for their convenience.

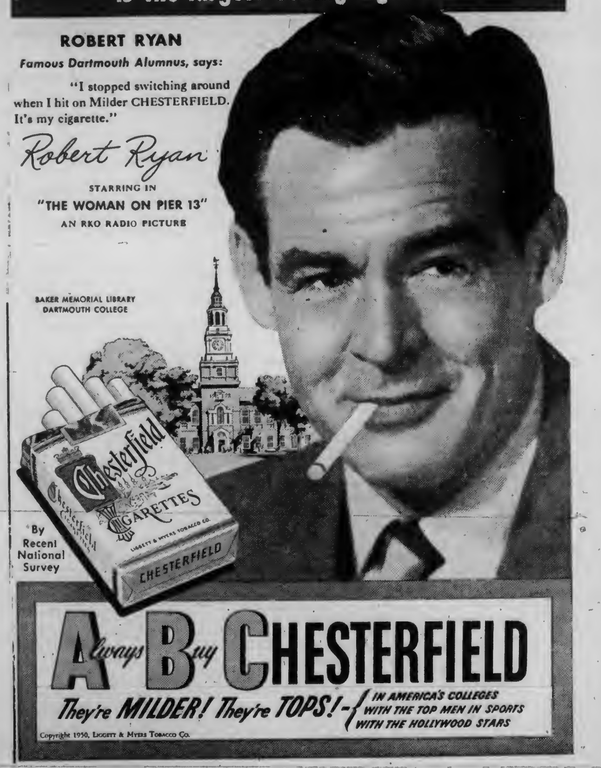
A similar petition was circulated last year but did not receive the necessary number of signatures; however, this year the sport has gained more recognition.

"ARROW Gordon Oxfords are tops on my list" said John in a recent campus interview. "The collars look good and fit perfectly. The body is cut right, doesn't bunch at the waist. . . . They wear and wash well, too! Best for MY money—any day!"

$3.95

ARROW SHIRTS & TIES

UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS



At DARTMOUTH and Colleges and Universities throughout the country CHESTERFIELD is the largest-selling cigarette.*

ROBERT RYAN
Famous Dartmouth Alumnus, says:

"I stopped switching around when I hit on Milder CHESTERFIELD. It's my cigarette."

Robert Ryan

STARRING IN
"THE WOMAN ON PIER 13"
AN RKO RADIO PICTURE

By Recent National Survey

Always Buy CHESTERFIELD

They're MILDER! They're TOPS! — IN AMERICA'S COLLEGES WITH THE TOP MEN IN SPORTS WITH THE HOLLYWOOD STARS

Copyright 1950, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Straight Talk

By Bill Thomas

EVERY spring the two year colleges of California get together in a meeting that goes under the title of the California Junior College Student Government Conference.

Also there are three regional conferences under this conference, the Northern California Junior College Conference, the Central and the Southern.

The regional conferences consider problems that are of importance to the conference as a whole.

Frank Bayol

The conferences hold a main meeting every day which the delegates from every college attend. Also there are work problems that are of interest to them even if they are not groups. These are in reality committees that consider different specific problems of the colleges.

The Associated Men Student Presidents also meet in a conference to consider problems confronting the AMS organizations at the various colleges. The only AMS group that is really active in northern California is the one at City College, according to Student Councilman Frank Bayol.

These regional conferences are held at separate times and at different places from the main conference.

Topics discussed at the regional conference and at the work groups of the whole conference are brought before the main meeting of the conference and voted upon there.

At these conferences each college has three voting members but may send as many observers as it wishes. Usually the three top officers of the student organizations attend the conference. These usually are the AMS president, the Associated Student vice-president, and the president.

In recent times the colleges from the southern part of the state have dominated the conference because of their larger numbers and better organization.

Amori Sets Dates For Summer Job Seeker Interviews

Dates for personal interviews for students desiring summer positions with the Yosemite Park and Curry Company are Tuesday, April 4, and Wednesday, April 5, Joseph A. Amori, placement director, announced yesterday.

Students will be separated for interviews according to their previous experience. April 4 is set for only those applicants who possess occupational skill, such as baking and cooking, and these students must be available for work by Memorial Day weekend, Amori said. April 5 is set for those applying for jobs such as waitresses and waiters, kitchen help and maids. These persons will be needed for work after Memorial Day.

Amori stated that there are more applicants this year than in any like period since 1945 and that only top quality applicants with training and experience will be hired.

Interested students are requested not to appear for interviews without proper credentials. Full information may be procured from the Placement Service Office, Building 2, west campus.

Counsellors Discuss Plans For Advanced Group Dynamics Course

Sixteen counsellors, departmental heads and instructors, met last Friday, during college hours, to discuss plans for instituting an advanced group dynamics class participation program.

Howard Schoon, engineering counsellor, revealed that the new system, which would be patterned after the old Roman "thumbs down or up" method, would stimulate interest in a course on the part of the instructor as well as the student.

The group dynamics course, which Lester Tarnopol, radio engineering instructor, referred to as being of a therapeutical nature, is already in existence here in the form of the Recreation 10 class. Recreation 10, however, does not employ all the fundamentals of group dynamics, which are as follows:

A circular room with a round table placed in the center; a small number of students (approximately [illegible]); electrically controlled pushbuttons, indicating approval, disapproval, or neutrality, at each seat and attached to a centrally located response meter; and a one-way mirror for experimental observation.

Class participants, while listening to a speaker, can silently register, by means of the pushbuttons directly hooked to red and green lights on the response meter, agreement or disagreement.

Student Leaders At Government Meeting

Leaving today for a sectional meeting of the Northern California Junior College Student Government Conference at Kentfield are 17 members of the college's Associated Student Government, Don Parker, president of the Associated Students, said yesterday.

The conference, which will be held from 9 this morning until late in the afternoon, is one of three section meetings preceding the Ninth California Junior College Student Government Conference to be held on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, April 20, 21, 22, at Bakersfield.

The Associated Students of Bakersfield Junior College will be the official hosts for the event.

Provisions Of Harvey Toy Will Revealed Today

The will of Harvey N. Toy, which included a bequest of a $25,000 scholarship fund to the college Hotel and Restaurant division, will be read today at the courthouse in Redwood City.

At this time all details and provisions as to how the money will be directed, will be released, Hilda Watson, division chairman, declared yesterday.

At the annual meeting of the Hotel and Restaurant Foundation, held recently at the Mark Hopkins Hotel, George Smith, manager of the Mark Hopkins, and Tremain Loud, each donated $25 to establish a petty cash fund for the Hotel and Restaurant division of City College.

This fund takes care of the small incidentals which occur during the semester.

New officers for the Foundation are Loud, president; Dr. A. J. Cloud, vice-president and former president of the College; instructor Lawrence Wong, secretary; Carl Rutledge, treasurer; Mrs. Watson and Attorney Lyle Miller, advisers. Others present were George Olsen, George D. Smith, and John S. Grifford.

'Practical Pillar' Wins Part In Opera Cast

By Mary Lou Cooper

The glamour and glory that will appear on the Everett Junior High School stage on the nights of April 20, 21, and 22 in the two Opera Workshop productions, Martha and Down in the Valley, will have been secured through the magic of "Mr. Hard Work, Inc."

Sunday rehearsal of Valley, minus the props except in imagination, attested to this and brought home a few facts that might be easily overlooked in the general hustle and bustle of opening night fun.

Rehearsals, especially the Sunday afternoon variety, have about as much glamour as a fizzed-out bottle of soda water. In fact, rehearsals of any kind can only be described as a very necessary evil.

Yet the Valley cast went about this "necessary evil" in a manner that proved to the observers their intense interest by the alacrity with which they accepted and executed singing, acting and staging instructions.

Integration, that's the word to apply here, to rehearsals for the Opera Workshop. The cast, under the direction of Flossita Badger, music director, ran through the musical score. Henry Leff, stage director and dramatic coach, made changes in stage positions and gave tips on how to act while singing, a difficult task to execute.

To be sure that all was kept within the confines of the Everett stage, Robert Morton, stage manager, and Bob Segrin, student manager in charge of stage, kept a close eye on the positions of future props and the chalked off stage limits.

Several times, Jennie, sung Sunday by Eileen Scott, walked right through the neatly chalked garden fence without even batting an eye.

Opera productions are possibly the most difficult of all to undertake. Miss Badger and Leff are constantly aware of the difficulty confronting the cast. Not only do they have to learn the music, how to move gracefully "up stage" and "down stage" and off stage, they must also combine this with singing and acting in such a manner to hold the attention and interest of the audience.

This necessitates a ceaseless coordination of all details, for as Miss Badger told the chorus Sunday, you can't stop singing just because you're acting. And this has a vice-versa application.

Then too, when people are so intensely absorbed in what they are doing, there's sure to be some emotional strain that breaks through either in tears or laughter. So it was at the Valley rehearsal. Everyone had a good relaxing laugh and the cast has a new bit player, "the practical pillar."

This is how it happened:

In the midst of a very dramatic scene as Leff was directing Jennie with words to this effect: "You're hurt inside; your heart is broken; the man you love is going to die! That's it! That's right! Now lean on that pillar, even though it isn't there yet, and slowly slide down to the porch."

Then Leff turned to Morton, the stage manager, and in the same dramatic voice: "Pillar's got to be practical."

And Morton, caught up in the spirit of the action said, in an equally dramatic voice: "It's practical! It's holding up a porch!"

Then, Miss Badger, as if to make this little aside complete, let out a big sigh: "Oh, for a practical pillar!"

Rehearsals over for today.

Let Us Patronize Them — RAM BOOSTERS — They Patronize Us

Make it a date . . .
• West Portal's
• Most Popular Fountain
DENNY DAIRIES
321 West Portal
Open Daily - - 8 a.m. to 1 a.m.
Delicious Ice Cream, Grilled Sandwiches and Waffles

*LEVI'S
"America's Finest Overall"
Made in San Francisco
Since 1850
Levi Strauss & Company
98 Battery Street
(*The name "LEVI'S" is registered in the U. S. Patent Office and designates only overalls made by Levi Strauss & Co., San Francisco, California.)

TRAVEL-MINDED?
We handle all student tours to Europe, Mexico and the Orient
We plan . . . independent travel, too!
If travel-minded, call
The Students Travel Club
Morse-Gleason Co.
Travel Agents
223 Geary at Powell
SUtter 1-4869

Gems of Art
Gift & Children's Shop
Wedding, Shower and Birthday gifts
Brides register here for your Dinnerware & Stemware
1700 OCEAN AVE. • JU 4-0831

AUTO - TRUCK - FIRE
Standard Form Policies at Low Costs
Compare Our Rates Before You Buy
C. E. PEARSON
1125 Ocean
JU. 5-4478
Prompt Personal Claims Service

Easter slacks . . . and jackets to match
at the
EL REY MEN'S SHOP
Opposite El Rey Theatre
Ties - Shirts - Sweaters
and a complete line of Colorful Haberdashery
for your
Easter Outfits
•
10% Discount
with
Associated Student Card

Ted's
Ocean Cleaners
50c
SLACKS • SHIRTS
SKIRTS
DRY CLEANED
Corner of Ocean & Plymouth

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP
Your haircut as You want it
1334 Ocean Avenue
2 blocks from campus

WE DELIVER WE AIR EXPRESS WE TELEGRAPH
Chain of Flowers
Florists
CORSAGES — FLORAL DESIGNS
WEDDINGS
JUniper 4-9038 1805 Ocean Avenue
San Francisco 12

TYPEWRITERS RENTED
GArfield 1-6633
3 MONTHS $7.50
Free Ribbon, Carbon Paper
Free Delivery
Tibbs Typewriter Co.
821 Market St., San Francisco

Ayoob's Sport Shop
Men's and Boys' Clothing
Featuring
Team & Club Jackets Tailored To Order
Also Athletic Equipment
2598 San Bruno Ave.

A. Walter McMurray

EXCELSIOR SCHOOL of DRIVING
LEARN TO DRIVE IN TRAFFIC!
DUAL CONTROLLED CARS
We prepare you for driver's examination
SPECIAL RATES
for students, payable in installments
4666 MISSION ST. AT OCEAN AVE.
JUniper 4-3687

Its a Strike! X
Bowl . . .
Johnny Swanson's
MISSION BOWL
Free Instruction Daily
3140 Mission Street

A Different
ICE CREAM SPECIAL
Each and Every Week
Daily From 2 to 5
Avenue Coffee Shop
1612 Ocean Avenue

Paint & Decorate Figurines
Lil Audrey's
Dresden Craft
•
Free Instruction Daily
Also Tues. & Thurs. eves.
1443 OCEAN AVE. DE 3-4574

If It's
Koret of California
It's From
The Ladies' Shop
Everything . . . for the Miss
1532 Ocean Avenue

JOE and BILL'S
RICHFIELD STATION
LUBRICATION
Tires and Batteries
•
Washing & Polishing
1298 OCEAN AVE.

Eight Choirs Partake In Coming Choral Festival

Six hundred members of eight San Francisco high school choirs will assemble tomorrow in the college auditorium at 1 p.m., the occasion being the annual high school Choral Festival, Flossita Badger, choir director here, said yesterday.

Climaxing a month of preparation on the part of the college's musical groups that are sponsoring the affair, namely, A Cappella Choir, Treble Clef, and Men's Glee, the program will end around 4:30.

Each of the high school choirs will be given approximately 10 minutes to present its respective program. The second part of the festivities will be the presentation of programs by the sponsoring groups.

The p[illegible] of the sponsoring organizations is as follows: A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Miss Badger, will sing excerpts from "Down in the Valley" and other selected compositions. Treble Clef, directed by Gertrude Norgard, will include in its program, "Lift Thine Eyes," by Mendelssohn; "Tambourne," a French folk song; and "Panis Angelieus," by Franck. The program of the Men's Glee has not yet been announced.

The eight visiting choirs are from Lowell, Lincoln, Washington, Polytechnic, Mission, Commerce, Balboa, and Girls High Schools.

The entire production is under the supervision of Miss Badger, with assistance from Mrs. Norgard, Harold Cunningham [illegible] Wolfe.

Martha, Valley Tickets On Sale At Student Bank

Tickets for the college opera productions, Martha and Down in the Valley, will go on sale tomorrow, Dean Edwin C. Browne, faculty ticket chairman, said yesterday.

The two productions will be presented at Everett Junior High School on three nights: Thursday, April 20; Friday, April 21; and Saturday, April 22.

Students wishing to purchase tickets may get them through campus social organizations or at the student bank and box office in the main building. Admission for Associated Students is 50 cents; general admission is $1.00.

In considering taking the operas off campus for the first time, Dean Browne touched on a few salient factors which make it so difficult to stage an opera production in the west campus auditorium.

The stage in the auditorium is too small to adequately accommodate an opera-size production. In addition, the stage has no wings, making it uncomfortably necessary for the cast to crowd off stage waiting for cues.

Once a player has located himself on one side off stage, he must leave the auditorium, go around the building, come in the other door, in order to make a stage entrance from the opposite side. In cold and rainy weather this can be unpleasant.

The floor of the auditorium is a level floor and not one designed for the best view of the performance. There are no dressing rooms; class rooms must serve the double purpose and in co-ed dressing this arrangement is inconvenient, and too, next morning's classes are apt to walk into a pot of grease paint from last night's performance, she declared.

In contrast, Everett offers a spacious stage, with wings; a proper place for the orchestra; adequate dressing rooms; sloping floor and comfortable seats for the audience. Dean Browne described the auditorium as very live with no dead spots and no echoes.

Medical Excuse Must Be Verified By Dean

Any student wishing an excuse for an absence because of a medical appointment must present the Attendance office with an appointment card signed by the doctor or dentist, said Edwin C. Browne, dean of men, in an official announcement yesterday.

If a student fails to present his appointment card to the attendance office his absence will be counted as a cut, Browne said.

'Bluebook Blues' Hop Friday; Door Prize On Display

"Bluebook Blues," Alpha Sigma Delta sport dance, will be held Friday in the west campus Blue Room (auditorium) from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight, Nick Choulos, fraternity president, announced yesterday.

Featured event of the evening will be a door prize of a real (motor and all) car. "This is no joke," Choulos declared. "It is a real honest-to-goodness car and it will be given away as a door prize," he added. The car will be on display in the west campus parking lot all this week.

Decorations will follow theme of the dance with bluebooks adorning the walls of the auditorium and blue streamers hanging from the ceiling.

Entertainment is to be furnished by the pledges of the fraternity as the dance is the climax of "Hell week." Bob Greenwood and his band are going to supply the music for dancing. Cokes will be on sale.

Tickets are $1.25 per couple or stag and may be purchased from the pledges or bought at the door.

Assisting Choulos with dance details are Duane Smith, Lloyd Boumann, Milt Kasner, Tom Thomas and Tom Campanella. Faculty adviser is Russell Posner.

Tyler Puts Rams Out Of Tourney

Special to The Guardsman

Hutchinson (Kansas), March 23—Fast moving Tyler, Texas Junior College eliminated City College of San Francisco, 66 to 61, from the National Junior College Basketball Tournament, here tonight.

City College led 31 to 30 at the half and put on a spirited drive in the second half, during which the lead changed hands 12 times. Tyler grabbed a 53-49 lead in the closing minutes only to have the West Coast quintet knot the count at 56-56.

Tyler's O'Neal Weaver sank a pair of buckets with seconds to go, giving the Texans a 64 to 61 lead. Two free throws in the last two seconds gave Tyler the victory.

Kev Duggan potted 24 points for a losing effort as he hit from the outside with one-handed push shots and used either hand up close. Pat Boyle tanked 11 markers for the Rams.

Music Guild Meet Rescheduled For Next College Hour

Cancelled March 10, the first meeting of the Music Guild, open to all music students, has been rescheduled during college hour, George Saunders, guild president, announced yesterday.

All students enrolled in music courses, as well as those who belong to the various musical organizations on the campus, are invited to attend this meeting, he said.

The purpose of the Music Guild is to coordinate the functions of all music groups on the campus.

Objects of Friday's meeting are threefold: the time will be devoted to the presentation of officers; outlining of the Music department's program for this semester; and for members to get acquainted, Saunders said.

Representatives of the various music groups will be introduced and given the opportunity to announce the plans of their respective organizations.

President Louis Conlan is expected to address the meeting.

Pop's Snack Truck Campus Tradition

By Sumiko Kanaya

No, "Pop" Mihan has no bananas today but he always has on hand big bunches of other noonday nourishments.

Kahu Mihan and his vending truck, pictured above, have been "attending" the college much longer than the most hoary-haired sophomores can recall and has thus become almost an institution on the campus.

Arrives Early

The portable snack bar arrives at its customary spot on the south end of the loop between 9 and 9:30 each morning. During the 10 minute breaks between classes students on their way down to sea level classrooms usually pause briefly for a mid-morning or midday filler. Not so short lines are customary during these breaks.

Perhaps Pop's pleasant manner and his hearty "Allo, wotsferyou" contribute much to what is said to be a surprisingly high rate of turn-over for the small lunch wagon.

The recent excavation and pipe laying operation on Phelan Ave. forced Pop to move his emporium on wheels. His liking for the construction men, it has been reported, was not increased by the fact that he got stuck in the mud.

During a slack period one is liable to find him rearranging and replenishing his array of fast-diminishing sandwiches, which range from an old fashioned jelly and peanut butter filling to a tasty turkey salad.

Pop's Popcorn

Or he may have just finished preparing a fresh batch of popcorn with what has been described as "an exactness usually associated with an articulate Parisian salad chef." He hands a still-warm sack of the popped maize to a consumer with the flourish and a white paper napkin.

The many pauses under the colorfully striped awning to refresh various metabolic needs continues till about 4 or 4:30 when Pop closes shop and makes his departure.

Sunday Sunning

On a sunny Sunday afternoon anyone cruising down near Lake Merced is liable to spot Pop vending his wares near the pistol shooting ranges.

Judging from a recent observation of Pop's candy sales, the season that breezed in two weeks ago has definitely decided to stay awhile on the campus. For Pop's current sweetest sellers appear to be "Lovenests."

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

VOLUME XXX — SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY, MARCH 28, 1950 — NUMBER 9

Student Council Meet Last Week Lacked A Quorum

The Student Council meeting adjourned last Thursday with no official business being transacted because of lack of a quorum.

The council lacked the presence of the necessary two-thirds of the listing membership which constitutes a quorum.

Finance Committee Chairman Tom Campanella named the organizations which have sent in membership lists enabling them to receive their budget vouchers. Budgets for organizations which are not 100 per cent in Associated Student membership will remain frozen until 100 per cent lists are sent to the council, Campanella said.

This action was undertaken by the council early last week to enforce a resolution passed Thursday, March 2 which prohibits organizations from receiving their vouchers until they are 100 per cent in AS membership.

The following list of organizations have had their budgets released by the controller's office:

Sophomore class officers, baseball team, controller, executive council, commencement, Guardsman, Dean of Men's fund; Dean of Women's fund, administration, and Social committee

Traditional AWS Tea To Honor Freshman Women On Thursday At 2 In Campus Student Lounge

By Rose Hardie, Managing Editor

Highlighting Associated Women Students' activities here this semester, the traditional tea honoring Freshmen women is scheduled Thursday under the supervision of Dean Margaret Dougherty.

Hostess honors for the affair, to be held in the student lounge from 2 to 3:30 p.m., are delegated to Jeanne McKnew, AWS president.

Dean Margaret Dougherty

Miss McKnew extended a cordial invitation to all women students to attend the event.

The receiving line will include the other AWS officers, Shirley Maritzen, vice-president; Sue Leong, secretary; and Tish Moyer, treasurer. Other campus notables in the line will be Sandy MacKay, Joan Marenda, Ann McBride, Patty Patterson, Lois Hertling, and Marjorie Bergset.

Representatives of all women's organizations will also be on hand to receive the Freshmen women.

Pouring duties go to faculty women, Catherine Shorb, Catherine Connolly, Gloria Swieegood, and Marjorie Cullen.

An array of delicious refreshments including a variety of cakes and cookies as well as piping hot tea and coffee are promised all attendants at the tea.

Floral decorations for the occasion are being prepared by the campus flower shop, under the able direction of John Lawrence, instructor.

Manuscripts For Magazine Needed

Forum magazine is well pleased with both the quality and quantity of copy received, and is still anxious to receive "any and all types of contributions from any and all students," Curtis May, editor, said here recently.

Since deadline for submitting manuscripts to Forum is this Friday, only three contribution days remain.

Copy must be on 8½" by 11" paper, double spaced, typed, and should be submitted with the writer's name and address to either Fred Foultz or Donald Snepp, the magazine sponsors, in Building 19.

The annual magazine is a collection of the best student stories, poetry, plays, and humorous and serious writings done by students during the year. The manuscripts are selected by an editorial committee composed of members of the Forum Club.

The presale for the magazine will start April 12 and continue for two days. All students desiring copies are urged to buy tickets during the presale so they will be sure to receive a copy.

Phi Rho Pi In Two Tourneys In Easter Week

President Louis G. Conlan yesterday approved participation of Phi Rho Pi in two debating sessions during the Easter week, Michael Griffin, faculty adviser to Phi Rho Pi, said.

Pi Kappa Delta tournament at Stockton on April 3, 4, and 5, is the starter for the society. Following this tournament on April 6, 7, and 8, is the national meet of Phi Rho Pi at Bakersfield.

At the Stockton meet Randy Street and Joe Schwab, Irvin Phillips and Dick Schnal will represent the college on the debate query, "Resolved, that the United States should nationalize all basic non-agricultural industries."

The oratory phase of the meet will be covered by Schwab, Phillips, and Blanch Meurer, while the extemp question of "Labor and management, 1950 and beyond," will be expounded by Miss Meurer, Armand Magid, Schnal, Phillips, and Schwab.

From 46 topics, beginning with advertising, including journalism, and ending with vocational training, Street, Schwab, Magid, and Phillips will make impromptu speeches.

Awards will be made by Charles M. Guss, tournament director, to all first place winners. A sweepstake cup will also be given to the college whose contestants earn the most points as determined by the usual sweepstake system of judging.

Another trophy is being offered to the college presenting the best speech act in the Forensic Follies. The college winning the Follies will also be given credit towards the sweepstakes award.

College Hour Resumed Friday; Clubs Meet

College hour will be resumed this Friday, March 31, Louis Batmale, dean of student activities, said yesterday.

Not held last Friday, March 24, because of midterms, the college hour is scheduled for club and organization meetings from 10:40 a.m. to 11:20 a.m.

Next Friday, April 7, a rally will be given as a preview of one to be held Friday, April 14, at the College of Marin in Kentfield. The highlights of the rally have not as yet been decided.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

RECENTLY we were informed that a "green thumb" party was held on the 10th of this month at the college's Horticultural center. Our informant went on to relate that among the "decorations" were such odd flora as evergreen trees bearing gardenias, and acacias blooming with daffodils.

Now the really odd thing is, we were at a party recently and noticed exactly the same thing. Our memory is a little foggy on this, but it seems that the hostess introduced us to a bowlful of something she called "punch." And so, in due course of time, we became punchy. And then was when the fun began.

PINK ELEPHANTS TOO

All of a sudden a whole forest of gardenia-bearing evergreens sprouted in the living room, and a herd of little pink elephants began to fly around the room, munching on gardenias.

The fly in the ointment, however, appeared later in the evening while we were driving home. Two chartreuse giraffes were doing a rumba on the radiator cap, and except for the occasional dull thud of a pedestrian rebounding off the fenders, the show was pretty good. But right about then a little man in a blue uniform rode alongside on a motorcycle and asked us to pull over.

The rest of the evening isn't quite clear in our mind, but anyway, watch out for those gardenia-bearing evergreens. They're just not safe to mess with.

And by the way, does anybody know where we can get hold of a good lawyer?

People you should know about: Our current "student of distinction," Arnold Dunn, is expecting a new Dunn next month (well, his wife is anyway). "It's just gotta be a boy," he says . . a galaxy of real experts from the college will judge the Second Annual Father Yorke Speech Tournament on April 1. Director of Forensics Michael Griffin, and students Joe Schwab, Randy Street, Armand Magid, and Irwin Phillips will judge the debate, oratory, etc., and Jane Howarth, Dick Vreeland, Ed Mulvihill, and Vivian Breslin will judge the Shakespearian quotes. Schwab and Street recently championed the college in a debate with USF.

Note from Dean Edwin Browne to the college in general and the faculty in particular: "All the available area between Buildings 1 and 13 is open for parking. This should make it unnecessary for anyone to park on the grass between west campus classrooms."

Feminine Viewpoint

Aims For Education Vary

By Bobbie Jaekson

AMONG the women who attend college, one finds numerous differences in goals and aims in life.

Some attend this college only as a stepping stone to a large university; hence they devote all time and energy toward constant study, and participate very little in campus activities and events. To them, college life will begin when and if they ever reach the "big university" and can share in the glamour and fame it offers.

The women who attend college to take a terminal course, or study for the business world, usually participate actively in campus affairs, and extend much effort toward the betterment of the college.

They run for student offices, serve on committees and join organizations. This service is a direct tie-in with their aims in life; such as poster work for art, parts in musical and dramatic productions, or student government.

Thus they serve the college and obtain as much as they can in return in the way of experience and education. Their scholastic average is usually satisfactory or better, and they take pride in their part of college life.

Then, there are the social butterflies who attend college merely to boast that they went to college. Although they pass most of their courses, the great majority of time is spent in chatting with friends or dealing the cards in the student store. Their contribution to the college lies in their usual willingness to aid and support the Associated Student activities. They usually attend all the dances and games, and any other events that provide pleasure.

The intentions of these three types are all good in their individual ways, although to the casual onlooker, the women who do the most for the college, no matter what their motives might be, are the ones who should receive the credit and become part of the college history.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, No. 9 TUESDAY, MARCH 28, 1950 Page 2

Council Members Urged To Attend Student Council Meets

THE majority of the duly elected members of the Student Council failed to put in an appearance at last Tuesday's Student Council meeting. This situation forced an early dismissal of the council and no business or legislation could be discussed.

As representatives of the Associated Students the members of the council should be on hand to discuss any legislation that may come up on the agenda.

There has been an increasing tendency on the part of the council members to by-pass the meetings for other business they have on hand. Out of this situation there arises an important factor: the council can not act on important matters without a quorum. This slows the progress of the council and the Associated Students.

Either it's a lack of interest on the part of the council members, or the members figure their presence is not needed. Any observer of student government can see that only harm can come out of such an existing situation.

WE urge the council members to be on hand for every meeting. After all, as elected officers of the Associated Students, their number one obligation is toward that group. The council is obligated to exercise the right the Associated Students have bestowed upon them through the medium of a secret election. And that right is to vote on student matters.

Every June the Sophomore classes of City College hold their commencement exercises. At that time the graduates receive an Associate in Arts degree from the college. Associated Student members of the graduating classes receive, free of charge, their cap and gown, engraved invitations, and other incidental articles.

Last week Associated Student President Don Parker urged all students who expect to graduate to purchase their Associated Student cards.

We agree with the President on this issue. It is beneficial to the graduates to have an AS card. A non-member must pay $3.50 for his cap and gown, 50 cents per engraved invitation, plus incidental expenditures.

The committee selecting the Student of Distinction, which appears in every Guardsman, has recommended that The Guardsman select the student to insure a fair selection. The Guardsman feature editor will assign staff members to poll department heads for their recommendations. Individuals may also recommend students and their choices will receive serious consideration on the part of the editorial board.

Student Of Distinction: Arnold Dunn Arranges For Top Rally Talent

By Bob Rezak

"It keeps you going," sighed Arnold Dunn, this week's student of distinction, as he outlined the wide variety of duties he has performed at City College.

Briefly, Dunn has given his assistance to the Student Council, Rally Committee, Associated Men Students, and has supported other college activities that needed help.

One of his jobs, which is contacting name talent to appear at rallies, may sound like a pleasant task, but Dunn said, it is actually a big assignment. First, he said, an entertainer has to be convinced (usually he is after Dunn gives off with one of his stirring pep talks) why he should perform at City College. Then arrangements for their appearances must be made and finally planned.

The appearances of Nat Cole, George Shearing, and Slim Gaillard at rallies so far this semester were due largely to Dunn's work.

Dunn takes special interest in all college activities and he strongly favors student government. "Student government," he said, "is a wonderful background for any life work."

He also helped with student card sales and assisted in the enrollment of new students.

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . With Paul Cooper

Pledge Plans Roll Along; Clubs Schedule Joint Meetings

Well, here we are again with another batch of clubbits, tidbits and newsbits which concern, naturally, those of the gay, fascinating land of Clubdom.

With much to get off our chests we may as well go "Tau-dling along" with the girls of Theta Tau who are to hold their second shindig of the semester, a traditional Hawaiian Luau, tomorrow at the home of Mary Lou Graham. The Thetas also plan to have a joint meeting with the Beta Tau men this Thursday.

Speaking of the Beta Tau's, they held a "smokey" smoker Sunday, March 19, and plan to stage their edition of Hell Week through this Friday. Our sympathy, pledgies.

A novel meeting was held by the Delta Psi girls at the home of sister Flo Madigan, March 14. Their second affair of the semester will be held Thursday, March 30, a spaghetti feed, complete with bibs, at the Fox Hostess House. A joint meeting with Alpha Sigma Delta is scheduled for this evening.

Also in the realm of Alpha Sigma Delta is their annual dance. Formerly called the Carrot Top Dance, it has been changed to the Blue Book Blues (very appropriate). This is a last minute change as the dance was scheduled to be presented under its former name this semester as in the past. A car is to be given away as the door prize at the dance scheduled for this Friday evening.

Moving right along with their pledge plans are the men of Tau Chi Sigma as they thus far have held their two planned pledge interrogations. The first was held on the evening of Wednesday, March 15, and the final interrogation was held at the home of brother Joe Gentile last Sunday.

The new officers of Gamma Phi Ypsilon have been elected and here they are: Bill Lanam, president; Vito D'Acquisto, vice-president; Paul Hester, secretary; Jerry Tuttleman, treasurer; James Anderson, historian; Roger Brown, custodian; Joe Litcoffsky, brother at large; Dave Maher, sarge at arms; Boris Orloff, pledgemaster and Bob Golookoff, CAB representative. The men also would like it understood that their plans for a weird Hell Week are completed. A joint meeting is planned as their next social with the Phi Beta Rho's tomorrow eve.

The kiddies of Alpha Gamma Sigma, college honor society, held a feed, Saturday evening, March 18, at Joy's Restaurant on 48th Avenue. Approximately 26 members attended. Au revoir.

Pulse Of The Campus

Ram's Horn

• Some Rules Cause Extra Expense

Editor, The Guardsman:

College life is, of necessity, abundant in rules pertaining to actions and attitudes of students in relation to their activities, whether social or educational. These rules usually are functional and pertinent, but there are a few that tend to hinder the healthy performance of college affairs. It is about one of these that I feel I should comment.

One of the most flagrant obstructions to the well-being of social affairs of the college is the rule that for any dance sponsored by a campus organization, the presence of two campus police, one janitor, and one student bank employee is required.

The bad effects of this rule do not now, nor will they this semester, become evident, but the manifestation of them will show in the social activities of next semester.

It is desired that dances and teas be presented under the surveillance of qualified college authorities to prevent the occurrence of actions that would cast disfavor on the college and its students. Off-campus affairs are for this reason discouraged.

However, under this rule local clubs next semester will be prompted to conduct activities in places other than those offered on the campus. Smaller organizations cannot and will not pay for these unnecessary services, and the thing which is unwanted will become prevalent.

To dispel this evil, I think it is far wiser for the administration not to require the presence of these persons, and thus encourage sociable gathering on the campus.

Sincerely, Randle Street.

Take It From Kays

Census Time Here Again

WHILE listening to the Chicago Round Table Conference over NBC recently, we were reminded of the two seagulls flying over Bikini one sunny day. One turned to the other and said: "Say, what ever happened to Charlie?" The other one replied, "Oh, he went over to see what that big mushroom-shaped cloud was."

Seagulls are a far flight from the subject, but at the aforementioned conference Dr. Leo Szilard, biophysicist at the University of Chicago, declared that a radioactive dust can now be made that could destroy the world. That's nothing to be sneezed at.

Szilard estimates that it would take about 500 tons of heavy hydrogen to kill everybody on earth. Even the Rooshians aren't taking that one lightly. This is something they can't veto.

To make matters worse, New Mexico has an old Navajo medicine man who claims that the world will come to an end before next winter.

If anyone knows where we can take out an insurance policy that pays double indemnity for mushroom poisoning, we would appreciate information concerning same.

The currently popular ditty "Enjoy Yourself" might be later than the composer meant it to be. We might as well eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow we will all be radioactive.

• • • • •

PROVIDING THAT a stray H-bomb doesn't change the box score in the meantime, the Bureau of Census will turn every living American into nothing more than a tiny statistic in the files come next Saturday.

The huge decennial task of counting noses begins on that date when about 150,000 enumerators start asking "who? what? and how many?"

A census enumerator is a person who goes from door to door increasing the population.

The first U. S. Census was ordered by Congress in 1790. About 600 men were engaged to collect as much information as they could without the aid of printed questionnaires or maps of their districts.

We wouldn't care to comment on the accuracy of this system, but the records show that the enumerator for Philadelphia somehow missed old Tom Jefferson. (He was probably down in the cellar at the time sipping a mint julep—Suh.)

The 1950 census will be an invaluable aid to long run planning and production in industry, but it has its drawbacks to struggling college freshmen.

The economics major who planned on turning in a report copied from a friend last year will be in a bad way when the 1950 statistics are available.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rose Hardie
STAFF EDITORS ..... Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Avey, Larre Bales, David Brewer, Graciela Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, John Dierking, George Ebert, Barbara Egnian, Ted Gould, Ray Harvey, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kanaya, Richard Lanini, Henry Louie, Herb Marvin, John Nihill, Warren Northwood, Bob Pazek, Elaine Stamos, Jack Vanderbilt, Georgia Watkins, Felton White, Ralph Wiesner, Eura Williams, Bernita Davis
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcomb.
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Kaut Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monie, assistant; Bob Goncalves, Terry Ryan, Jack Spalding, Bob Valli.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandra Marks, Dolores Aquirre Assistants.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Steinheimer, Bob Threanet, Shirley Mestjian, Fred Matthes, Ken Hilmer, Herb Andrew, Dick Jarrett, Dick Lee, Ray Wood.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz, Mary Anne Quadarelli, Harry Parentchen, Bob Easton.
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normanly, Terry George
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street San Francisco 420 Madison Avenue New York City

Guardsman SPORTS

Volume XXX, No. 9 TUESDAY, MARCH 28, 1950 Page 3

Rams Engage USF Today

Rain Stops Modesto Double Header; SF State Game Slated Tomorrow

By John Dierking

Getting a bit discouraged because rain has been keeping his diamond hopefuls from the necessary practice tilts, Coach Bill Fischer isn't saying much as to the possibilities of his club when they meet the University of San Francisco Frosh today at 3:30 p.m. at USF's diamond.

Last Saturday's double header conference game with Modesto Junior College, to be played at Modesto, was called off because of rain.

It hasn't been easy for Coach Fischer to whip his charges into first class shape before they meet Monterey Junior College in their first conference double header here next Saturday.

The pitching staff hasn't been getting into enough games to really decide if they're able to go the full nine innings, Fischer said.

Because they saw only a few innings of work during past practice tilts, the Ram moundsmen are hoping that they'll be ready before they get into the full swing of the conference.

The Fischermen hope they won't repeat last week's performance when they went down at the hands of St. Mary's Frosh, 9-8, at Moraga, and Santa Rosa Junior College 21-1 at Ocean View, when they meet USF's Frosh today.

Today's tentative lineup will be: Cuddy 1st, Williams 2nd, LaCosta 3rd, Nicora ss, Frazier lf, Munoz cf, Arata rf, Pantoleon c, and McGovern p.

City College Rams will take on the San Francisco State College nine tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. at the Gators' diamond.

In a prevous game two weeks ago, the Rams downed the Gators on the State diamond 9-6.

Casaba Tourney In Full Swing

The strong teams began to show their power last week as the intramural basketball season got underway in its first full week of play.

In the Fraternity loop, Alpha Sigma Delta fell to Tau Chi, 31-23, while Phi Beta Delta defeated Alpha Sigma Delta 31-14. Tri E trampled Pi Delta Kappa 42-16, and Beta Phi Beta won, 20-8, over Kappa Rho. Beta Tau downed Gamma Phi Ypsilon, 41-22.

On the Independent side, the Lyons registered the top score of the season in their 62-47 win over the Tsetse Flies. Other score of the week was Bella Vista 57, Sharps & Flats 14.

Individual sports applications will still be accepted by Director Tom Wilson, who has extended the deadline until tomorrow, March 29. Ping pong, badminton, horseshoes, and tennis will be the feature sports of the semester.

Wilson stated that the dates and time of play will be suited as much as possible to each applicant. All sports are open to anyone who has not earned a college letter in the sport he wishes to enter.

Mermen May Enter NCJC Meet At Napa

Possibilities that the now defunct college swimming team may come to life long enough to swim in the NCJC meet at Napa in the early part of May were highlighted this week as swimming mentor Roy Burkhead issued a call for all interested men to sign up with him personally before Saturday, April 1.

Competition will be in the name of the college, but all conditioning will be on the swimmer's own, it was announced. Burkhead wants to take about seven good men to the contest to keep the spirit of swimming from fading altogether from the campus. Last season's team won second place in the conference.

Any man who placed first, second, or third in a large high school meet is possible material for college swimming, and Burkhead would like him to sign up for the team try-outs.

Burkhead would be unable to coach the teach officially except for the trip, but could help during the conditioning period. Two time trials will be held in the weeks preceding in order to determine the men who will represent the college at Napa.

Duggan Nominated For All-American Rating

City College's outstanding cager and NCJCC Southern Division first team choice, Kev Duggan, because of his performance last week at Kansas, has an opportunity to cinch an All-American junior college rating.

He would follow the brilliant Ollie Matson and Burl Toler as the third All-American in the college history.

Duggan had another honor bestowed upon him last Wednesday when Joe Haughey, San Francisco News sportswriter, chose him as captain of the News' mythical All-Northern California five.

The team consisted of Duggan and Monte Gonzales, Visalia, forwards; Bob Peterson of San Mateo, center; Ken Flower, Menlo, and Jim Sugrue, Placer, guards.

Don't Miss This . . .
Tasty HAMBURGERS
and
Delicious Home Made
SPAGHETTI
RAM SHACK
Across From West Campus

Phil Lynch
Sporting Goods Co.
623 Mission St.
YUkon 6-6950

Headquarters for MacGregor-Goldsmith
Athletic Equipment
MacGregor Golf Clubs
Fishing Tackle

Award Sweaters
Team and Club Jackets
Prompt Courteous Service
at
PHIL LYNCH
Free Delivery

"We Operate Our Own Plant"
3 Day Service
THE MONTEREY CLEANERS
Look at your clothes . . . other people do
643 Monterey Blvd. DElaware 3-7644
ALTERATIONS . . . REPAIRS

Boxers Eye National Tourney Scheduled For Ogden In April

By Frank Monte

With the Northern California two year college boxing title tucked away, all eyes are centered on the national boxing tournament, which will be held at Weber College, Ogden, Utah, April 10-12.

If funds to finance the trip are obtained, Coach Roy Diederichsen will enter five men in the tourney, namely: Len Gage, 125; Jerry Stern, 135; Jack Bettencourt, 145; Tom Stern, 165; and Dick Ramsey, 175.

Judging by the caliber and large representation of boxers in the NCJCC tournament last week at Modesto, the nationals, now in their second year, will provide tougher competition, and have a larger number of colleges from throughout the United States entered than last year.

Last year at Pasadena, the locals, with 18 points, placed second in the country-wide meet, behind Pasadena City College with 20 points. Jerry Stern took the lightweight title, while the other four representatives were all runner-ups.

Ramsey and Gage qualified for the nationals by taking it place in the regional finals at Modesto. An injured jaw stopped J. Stern from entering the tourney, but because he is lightweight champion, earns the right to defend his title if his jaw heals.

Bettencourt was decisioned in the finals by Bob Dossey of Modesto, while T. Stern lost a disputed decision to Joe Fanjul of Santa Rosa.

According to NCJCC rules, any finalist, winner or not, is allowed to participate in the nationals. Permission of Fred Earle, regional boxing director, will be necessary for T. Stern.

Trackmen Open Season Saturday

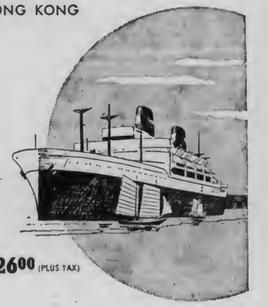
Trackmen made their way into the last lap of practice before their first conference encounter with Sacramento and Modesto on the Sacramento oval at 1 o'clock this Saturday afternoon.

Co-coaches Grover Klemmer and Roy Burkhead pushed their charges into strenuous workouts today and will give the thinclads a day of rest Friday with a light practice session.

Ivy Beltrame, returning 220 star, will be called upon to take points in that event and the relay through the possible complete loss of sprinter Joe Greggens because of a leg injury.

Oscar Jones, sprinter who has pleased runner coach Klemmer with his speed will be shifted to take the brunt of sprint work, but he will receive help, it is hoped, from Tom Hendrix and Bob Brooks.

With the addition of several field event men, field coach Burkhead will be all right in everything except the high jump, where he has no participant.



TOURIST-THIRD CLASS

summer adventure cruise

TO HAWAII, JAPAN, HONG KONG AND THE PHILIPPINES

ABOARD THE NEW, MAGNIFICENT
S. S. President Wilson
SAILING FROM SAN FRANCISCO JULY 14
RETURNING AUGUST 25

special economy fares from $626.00 (PLUS TAX)

SUMMER ADVENTURE CRUISE HIGHLIGHTS:

- Tourist-Third Class accommodations aboard the S. S. President Wilson, America's finest post-war luxury liner.
- Special calendar of on-board activities, including swimming, deck sports, dancing, motion pictures.
- Superlative cuisine served by world-famed chefs.
- "Custom-tailored" shore excursions (at slight extra cost).
- Economy fares that make this cruise the travel buy of a lifetime.

For complete details consult your local travel agent or write
AMERICAN PRESIDENT LINES
Your American Hotel Abroad
311 California Street, San Francisco 4, California

Straight Talk

By Bill Thomas

Sandy McKay, vice-president of the Associated Students, is a very pretty and charming young lady.

She also stepped into the legislative spotlight last week when she asked the Student Council to pass some legislation punishing those organizations which did not go before the Social Committee in order to have their dance plans approved.

She ended by proposing a five dollar fine for violators, which was passed, and thus became the originator of the first fine ever to be imposed upon any organization or person by the Associated Students.

Sandy McKay

When asked how the fine was to be collected she said that was the job of the Student Council and failure to pay the fine would result in the cancellation of the organization's dance.

To understand the situation completely a little background is necessary and for this we are grateful to Miss McKay.

The dates for all dances and other social activities are planned by the Social Committee. The dates are prepared in what is called the social calendar.

On this calendar Associated Student activities get first priority, then organizations which did not conduct activities last semester, and organizations which conducted activities last semester get what is left.

No two conflicting activities may be held on the same date, and no social functions are permitted during midterm week. The Social Committee attempts to split the dances up so that one week there will be a free or low priced dance and the next week a higher priced one.

The Social Committee is now composed of the major student officers and an equal number of faculty members under the chairmanship of Miss McKay, and meets every Wednesday afternoon.

An organization holding a dance must appear before the committee two weeks before the dance and present its plans for entertainment, decorations, band, etc. Before the dance can be held everything must meet with the satisfaction of the Social committee.

A controversial requirement for on campus dances is that there must be present a campus policeman, a bonded employee from the controller's office, and a janitor . . . they all cost money. (See Ram's Horn.)

The fine was imposed upon organizations failing to appear because at the first meeting of the Social Committee none of the organizations scheduled to appear showed up.

Seems members of the committees put their heads together and decided something should be done about the situation . . . another case of "they hrought it on themselves."

College Handbooks Available At Bank For Student Card Holders

Associated Student handbooks will be available free to all students, new and old, possessing Associated Student cards, at the student bank, Room 108, Wally Levin, Associated Student card sales chairman, said yesterday.

A complete reference book of the college, the handbooks contain data on the college's history and tradition; the officers of the student government and its constitution and by-laws; and information on the awards, the bank, cafeteria, attendance, all the clubs and organizations, and complete general information of the college.

The binder size handbooks (8½" by 11"), originally printed for this semester's new students, constitute a small surplus which may be had upon presentation of the cards at the bank located in the main building.

Associated Student cards may still be purchased at the bank. Students planning to graduate at the end of this semester may save many dollars, which would otherwise be spent on caps, gowns and announcements, by purchasing the cards, Levin said.

Batmale Releases Incomplete List Of Basketball Fund Contributors

An incomplete list of contributors who donated to the basketball fund to send the Ram cage team to Hutchinson, Kansas, was released last week by Dean of Activities Louis Batmale.

The list follows:

Phil Lynch Sporting Goods Co., Stewart Chevrolet Co., Golden Gate Breakfast Club, Horsetrader Ed, St. Mary's Alumni Association, University of San Francisco, Mission Bowl, Spreckles Russell Dairy Co., Ltd., Granat Bros., West of Twin Peaks Lions Club, Hotel Mark Hopkins, Mayor Elmer E. Robinson.

Dr. Herbert C. Clish, Dr. Louis G. Conlan, P. S. Department Store, St. Francis Hotel, Texdahl and Johnson, Russell Wolden, George Heat, Log Cabin Grocery, John Brady, Dr. A. B. Carfagni, Van Wormer and Rodrigues, Inc., Beta Tau Omega, Student Book Store.

Best Foods, Inc., Mission Terrace Drugs, John Borlo, Orpheum Theater, Fairmont—Hotel, James F. Waters, Inc., Fong Wan, Weinstein Co., West Coast Linoleum and Carpet Co., Gamma Phi, Charles R. Hadley Co., J. W. Stacey, Inc., J. Levin.

Cyclops Iron Works, Robert Hayes, Chairman Basketball Committee; H. R. Huston, Northern Calif. Basketball Coaches and Officials Assn., A. J. Snyker, Jack Kineanoy, P. Courtney Dwyer, Golden Gate Athletic Club, and The Shanly Co.

The list does not include contributions made by faculty members or students who donated money in containers which were placed about the college campus.

The volume of the earth is 260,000,000,000 cubic miles.

Registrar Announces Easter Vacation Date

No classes will be held on Thursday, April 6, and Friday, April 7, in observance of Easter, Mary Jane Learnard, registrar, announced recently, while Wednesday, April 5, will also be a holiday except for faculty members.

Tuesday, April 4, is the deadline for dropping courses, Dr. Grant Marsh, coordinator of the division of student welfare, stated recently.

Boulevard Market
667 Monterey Blvd.
Groceries - - Delicatessen
Fresh
Fruits and Vegetables
★
FREE DELIVERY
JUniper 5-3393

COLE'S CITY COLLEGE BARBER SHOP
Be Well Groomed
IT'S THE KEY TO SUCCESS
ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

ROBIN HOOD'S
East side West side
All around the town
Here's the place to eat
When you're feeling down
Featuring
Thick Shakes
Refreshing Sodas
Tempting Sundaes
Delicious Sandwiches
•
Next Door to the
El Rey Theatre
Free Parking at Rear
1962 Ocean Ave.

CAB Discusses AS 100 Per Cent Ruling

Discussion of a 100 per cent Associated Student membership requirement for organizations active on campus is expected to be the major issue of the Club Activities Board at its second official meeting at 3 o'clock tomorrow in Room 9K.

At the first CAB meeting March 8, questions and arguments arose when Don Parker, Associated Student president, announced the Student Council's resolution that "all organizations must have 100 per cent Associated Student membership before they can accept their budget vouchers."

"CAB members will get first consideration in any event," Parker said. "The campus organizations should 'get' behind the college if they want the college to get behind them," he added.

Wednesday's CAB meeting is also the deadline for CAB petitions, organization constitutions, and rosters of members and their student card numbers to be handed in.

Mardi Gras Booth Applications Due

The deadline for all booth applications for the forthcoming Mardi Gras has been set for Friday, April 7, Associated Men Student President Norman Reger announced last week.

Although Friday, April 7, is the official deadline, Reger observed, applications should be submitted in the student government office, Building 2 before Easter vacation.

Reger urged organizations to observe the deadline, and if at all possible submit their applications earlier in order that the electricians may have ample time to plan the proper lighting.

The committee must know what electric appliances each group is going to use, he added.

Plenty of light for the west campus parking lot and booths is promised this year, Reger declared, provided applications arrive on time.

Flower Shop To Enter Garden Show

The college Flower Shop will enter the 18th annual California Spring Garden Show which opens at the Oakland Auditorium April 26th, in quest of its fifth consecutive first prize, instructor John Lawrence revealed today.

The theme for this year's show is Pacifica, and garden arrangements will feature the flowers of California, Washington, Oregon, South and Central America, Canada, Japan, Australia and the island groups of the Pacific.

During the show, classes will be held at the Oakland Auditorium. This procedure met with great public approval last year, visitors manifesting a sincere interest in the classroom procedure.

The entry will be the combined efforts of 80 students in the five flower shop classes, Lawrence said.

At past shows, the exhibits have overflowed the Exposition Building and the Oakland Auditorium onto several acres of ground outside.

Honor Society Offers Tutoring

Club presidents should submit names and grades of last semester's members before Wednesday, April 19, to Adviser Donald Jensen or at the next CAB meeting, in order that the Inter-Organization trophy for scholarship may be awarded, Virginia Cutler, president of Alpha Gamma Sigma, announced yesterday.

Offered each semester is the coaching service in Building 5, which aims at helping students desiring assistance in any of the courses presented at the college.

Students interested in receiving such assistance should leave their names in the envelope on the door of Room 5C. A rate of 60 cents an hour is charged for the service.

Tentative plans call for the annual Alpha Gamma Sigma Tea to be held on May 11, followed by a dinner-dance in the cafeteria and student lounge.

At BARNARD and Colleges and Universities throughout the country CHESTERFIELD is the largest-selling cigarette.*

JANE WYATT
Famous Barnard Alumna says:
"Chesterfields always give me a lift. They're wonderfully mild and they taste so good. They're my favorite cigarette."
Jane Wyatt
STARRING IN
"HOUSE BY THE RIVER"
A REPUBLIC PICTURE
*By Recent National Survey

Always Buy CHESTERFIELD
They're MILDER! They're TOPS! — IN AMERICA'S COLLEGES WITH THE TOP MEN IN SPORTS WITH THE HOLLYWOOD STARS
Copyright 1950, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

VOLUME XXX — SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—FRIDAY, MARCH 31, 1950 — NUMBER 10

College Hour Schedule
8 o'clock classes— 8:10 to 8:50
9 o'clock classes— 9:00 to 9:40
10 o'clock classes— 9:50 to 10:30
College Hour—10:40 to 11:20
11 o'clock classes—11:30 to 12:10
12 o'clock classes—12:20 to 1:00

City College Alumni Members Hold Dinner At Fort Mason Monday

By Henry Loule

In celebration of City College's 15th anniversary, the members and guests of the Alumni Association will join in a Charter Day dinner Monday, April 3, at Fort Mason Officers Club.

Persons interested in attending the Charter Day Dinner may write or telephone Joseph A. Amori, placement director, Building 2, for reservations. Tickets are priced at $2.00.

Among the many guests will be President Louis G. Conlan who is expected to speak.

Members of the Ram basketball team will be guests of honor at the banquet.

The Charter Day Dinner will recall the hectic growing pains of the college. It was 15 years ago in February when the Board of Education authorized the college and named as its leader, Dr. Archibald J. Cloud. In August of the same year, President Cloud conducted his first meeting with the students in an inaugural ceremony at the Opera House.

That fall found the students scattered on five campuses prior to the founding of a permanent college. Morning classes were held at the University of California Extension Building, 540 Powell.

In the afternoon, the college students replaced the high school students at Galileo High School. Meanwhile, other classes were held in Golden Gate Park, Palace of Legion of Honor, and the YWCA. This unique educational arrangement boasted being the city's largest campus since all of San Francisco was the City College campus.

Exactly five years and a day after the inauguration of the college, and two years after the ground-breaking ceremony at Balboa Park, the science building was dedicated in November, 1940. This building was the last word in educational structures and became the hub of the 30 acre campus.

Alumni liaison officer Randle T. Street urged anyone who has attended at least one semester and who has left the college in good standing to join the Alumni Association.

College Closes Doors Tuesday For Easter

Dr. F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, announced last week that Tuesday, April 4, will be the last day for dropping courses. The following Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday will be vacation for all students although instructors will be required to be in attendance Wednesday for Institute.

Inasmuch as the holidays disrupt the deadlines, this will be the last issue of The Guardsman for two weeks. The next issue is scheduled for Friday, April 14.

UC Exhibits Art Work On Campus

Architecture students from the University of California, through the cooperation of that institution and the college, will exhibit their work on this campus through April 12, Wilton M. Weidman, engineering instructor, announced yesterday.

The material, which will be shown in the display case at the south end of the main building's first floor and the second floor of Building 2, is representative of first to sixth year students, Weidman said.

Judgment on such work as design projects, watercolors, pen and ink drawings, composition, and shades and shadows, will be made by instructors Glenn Hurd, Alfred Edstrom and Weidman. Guest judges will be invited from the art and engineering departments, he added.

Job Opportunities Excellent: Amori

Excellent job opportunities are now available to both men and women students, Joseph A. Amori, placement director, announced recently.

Students interested in working at Yosemite National Park with the Yosemite Park and Curry Company as waiters, waitresses, maids, laundry workers or kitchen help, should make early applications, Amori advised.

The students planning on working at Yosemite, Amori advised, must be able to go to work by May 26. Those interested should meet with him by Tuesday, April 4, in Building 2.

Opportunities are now open for women experienced in secretarial work to enter the Foreign Service as diplomatic couriers. Those applying must be over 21, in good physical condition and present recommendations from previous employers, he said.

Single men interested in Naval Aviation, who are between the ages of 18 and 27 in good physical condition, are eligible to apply for cadet training with the U. S. Navy. In addition to meeting the physical requirements, the applicant must pass certain aptitude tests, he declared.

Candidates for the NavCad program join the Naval Reserve and agree to serve a total of four years on active duty. This includes 18 months of flight training and the remainder of the time as a commissioned aviator with the operating forces of the Navy, Amori declared.

Students interested in the Naval program may register applications with Amori in Building 2.

Twenty Local Cops Blast Merced Range

Twenty campus policemen began their initial three-day pistol instruction and qualification tests Monday at the Lake Merced firing range of the San Francisco Police Department, law enforcement instructor Fred Fitzgerald said yesterday.

Fitzgerald pointed out that the practical instruction and training in the use of service revolvers, furnished currently by the city, is similar to the official F.B.I. course. These firing range sessions are now scheduled for each month until the end of the term.

The Show Goes On

Tenor Shortage Hits Martha Cast, Moves Double-Bill To June

Change in the date of the Music department's spring opera double-bill, Martha and Down in the Valley, from April 20-22 to June 1, 2, and 3, was announced Monday by Directors Flossita Badger and Henry Leff.

The postponement came about when a nation-wide shortage of tenors reached into the Opera Workshop last Friday and the second-trained tenor, Carl Schiegel, was signed to a professional singing engagement, thus removing him from the cast of Martha.

The first "snatched" was Roy Burt, who left college last November to fill a similar engagement.

Immediate effect here, after consultation with administrative heads and re-auditioning of prospective tenors, was postponement of presentation of the operas and recasting, which put Dean Peters, Dan Segrove and Edward Schembs as triple-guarantors of the vacated role.

Announcement of ticket sales originally scheduled to start this week, will be made at a later date, Dean Edwin Browne said.

The pinch-hitting trio volunteered to "put the role under their belts" in the three and one-half weeks remaining before the April dates, but Miss Badger and Leff, with administrative agreement, felt that such pressure was unnecessary and said that it was preferable to postpone the date to June.

Cooperation was immediate from Tau Chi Sigma and Alpha Lambda Sigma, which had the June 2 date for a dance and the weekend dates were traded, thus scheduling Tau Chi Sigma and Alpha Lambda Sigma for the Friday, April 21 date.

Both Miss Badger and Leff stressed the fact that the shortage of tenors is noticeable in professional music as well as in amateur fields. As an illustration, they listed recent professional auditions in which tenors are at a minimum.

Members of the cast, chorus, and orchestra unanimously supported the new tenors, dubbing them "men with real college spirit." All three announced emphatically that they are not available for professional engagements until June 4.

Only Seven Phi Rho Pi Debaters Will Go South To National Meet

Unforeseen events have depleted the list of debaters who were to compete at the national meet of Phi Rho Pi at Bakersfield on April 6 through April 8 and at the Stockton debate on April 3 to 4, to seven, Mike Griffin, faculty adviser for the club, disclosed recently.

Donald Peterson and Don Wood, who were slated to take part in debate, and Don Parker, the number one radio contestant, have had to drop from the competition.

Blanch Meurer, entered in oratory, and Don Watson, a member of the debating team, are dropped from the roll.

Irwin Phillips, Dick Schnal, Randy Street, Joe Schwab, Dick Schambach, Don Foley, and Armand Magid are students who will make the trip with Griffin.

Last Thursday the University of San Francisco's debate team under the supervision of Father Bain, USF director of forensics, held a home debate with City College.

Street and Schwab debated the negative side of the national question, "Resolved, that the United States should nationalize all basic non-agricultural industries," to a non-decision at U.S.F.

At the college Peterson and Schnal also queried a non-decision match on the affirmative side of the same question.

A new idea was introduced into the college debating society when Griffin recorded the affirmative case for future use in developing Peterson's and Schnal's technique.

The college debating team has been active this semester with many more engagements scheduled for the future. This is going to be a very successful semester for the team, Griffin added.

Club Meetings Resumed Today

After an absence of one week because of midterms, college hour activities are resumed today at 10:40 a.m. to 11:20 a.m. for club meetings, Dean of Student Activities Lou Batmale said.

Batmale further disclosed that no rally will be held today and that the next one will be held on Friday, April 14.

Two organizations hold special meetings today, while the Audio Visual department film, Rancho Life, precedes the college hour at 10 o'clock, and is repeated during the college hour, in Room 136, Madison Devlin, director, said. The 2 p.m. showing is discontinued.

The Collegiate Christian Fellowship Club presents a program, The Wonderful Lord, in Room 200 today. Students are invited.

The Music Guild holds its first meeting of the semester today in the west campus auditorium. Guild President George Saunders invited all students enrolled in Music department courses and those taking part in musical clubs and music groups on the campus to attend the meeting.

Egger Psychoanalyzes San Diego County Bugs

By Sumiko Kanaya

Norman Egger, psychology instructor, has the third largest collection in San Diego county of small invertebrate six-legged animals which generally have more or less segmented bodies. Most of his specimens are of the Coleoptera order.

Dispensing with the services of Dan Webster, Egger collects insects, mainly beetles.

While attending San Bug? Diego State College he majored in zoology, specializing in entomology, and has kept up with the subject more or less ever since.

San Diego County, he reports, is a good county for insects. Most of his specimens are indigenous (of the local variety) but he does have exotic specimens from the Philippine Islands and the Orient. As yet he has none from Beetle? Europe.

A fascinating bit of information unearthed in the quest of the correct spelling of the Coleoptera is the fact that a beetlehead is a synonym for a blockhead or a stupid fellow.

Though Egger also writes ghost stories, he is most interested currently in Indian relics. He holds the equivalent of an A.B. degree in anthropology with Ghost? emphasis on archeology. He plans to spend the summer in Arizona digging for Indian relics as he did last year, continuing to build a now fairly extensive collection of Indian artifacts (pottery, weapons, and beads, etc.)

Automobile Door Prize Highlights Frat Dance Here

An automobile given away as a door prize will be the highlighting feature of the Alpha Sigma Delta sport dance, "Bluebook Blues," scheduled tonight, in the west campus Blue Room (auditorium) from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight.

"The car you have seen on display in the west campus parking lot is the one we are giving away tonight; motor, tires and all," Nick Choulos, Alpha Sigma Delta president, announced.

Tickets are $1.25 per couple and can be bought from fraternity pledges or purchased at the door.

Bob Greenwood and his band will furnish the musical downbeats and entertainment is planned to be presented by the pledges as tonight's event climaxes "hell week." Cokes are to be sold.

"Sport wear is definitely the attire for the evening," Choulos further declared. Blue books clinging to the walls and blue streamers hanging from the ceiling will set the scene as decorations.

Dianne Smith, Lloyd Boumann, Milt Kasner, Tom Thomas, Tom Campanella, and Choulos are dance committee members for this annual fraternity affair. Russell Posner is the faculty adviser assisting the organization with "Bluebook Blues."

Forum Will Accept Late Copy Next Week

Students unable to meet today's contribution deadline for Forum, the college's literary magazine, by and for students, may submit late copy next Monday or Tuesday to Fred Foultz or Donald Snepp, faculty sponsors, in Building 19, according to editor Curtis May.

May advised all students to "make allowance of 50 cents in their budgets", in the second week of April for a Forum pre-sales ticket, redeemable in early May. The tickets are sold to assure the printing of enough magazines to meet the demand.

Veterans Warned On Study Changes

Government subsistence may be suspended for veterans at the college who make a second radical change in the type of occupational field they are studying for, F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, stated yesterday.

This warning, made for veterans who are testing their capabilities for different professions, concerns a second change in a student's program which needs a recommendation from Marsh before being recognized by the Veterans Administration.

The first change usually doesn't involve an interruption in subsistence, but the second change and any others after that, may involve serious financial complications.

As an example of how radical a change may get, Marsh told of the student who studied floriculture at the college, left for some time, and then enrolled in the chiropractry course at Los Angeles City College.

The radical change ruling applies, for the most part, to persons switching occupational fields which conflict with one another.

For a second change the Veteran's Administration requires the student to obtain the usual recommendation from Marsh, and also a new advisement program.

The advisement program involves time during which the student is unable to attend college and therefore cannot draw his subsistence pay.

Marsh also stated that veterans who have not already started their schooling under the G. I. Bill must do so before July 24, 1951, the last date for enrolling in college under the bill.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

Y'KNOW that old typographical trick of printing words in tall, thin letters, so you have to hold the page at a certain angle to read it? Well, we've got a better one than that. Just lay an ear down close to this column and SINGING comes out! And if it doesn't there's something wrong with your hearing, because with us today are such talented vocalists as . . .

Patricia Fitzgerald, who has a contract from the Civic Light Opera. Pat has appeared in all of the college's Opera Workshop productions . . . and Elmer Delany, with a job in the Civichtopera chorus . . . or Eileen Scott and Jean Bonacorsi, who auditioned for the Atwater Kent music scholarships. At this writing, Jean has reached the quarter finals . . . and George Saunders, who's been a staff singer on NBC for some time now . . . then there's Betty Tompkinson and Virginia Wildman, in an Alameda presentation of the "Desert Song" . . . and Irene Sherman, who sang in a recent Oakland staging of Mozart's "Magic Flute" . . . and Carl Schlagel, who did a concert performance in Fresno a while back.

Say, what have these music people been doing, anyway? Eating vitamins on the sly?

FISH STORY

Bob Shepardson informs us that [illegible] a suggestion made by Dean Edward Sandys to help curb juvenile delinquency, Mayor Elmer Robinson announced that fishermen between the ages of 6 and 18 will have complete reign over Lake Merced and its 67,000 newly planted fish for the first two months of the season. The thing that worries us is what's going to happen to all us senile, or over-eighteen, delinquents? This sounds suspiciously like unfair discrimination, Mayor Robinson, and you oughta be ashamed of yourself.

Did you know: That Dean Lloyd Luckmann teaches a class on the United Nations at Oakland Technical Adult School . . . that positions are open in the college's library for students desiring practical experience in library work . . . that eight members of Phi Rho Pi will represent the college at the society's national meet in Bakersfield on April 6-8 (A. S. president Don Parker will participate).

Check this one: The land on which the west campus is located actually belongs to the water department and is slated to be the site of a reservoir some day. Which means, of course, that the water department hasn't seen it during a heavy rain. Drop around some wet day, boys. In your own boat, of course.

Feminine Viewpoint

Sunbathing Draws Co-eds

By Bobbie Jackson

NOW that spring has arrived, although the weather often seems reluctant to admit it, almost everyone begins to think of week-end and vacation recreation.

Heading the average co-ed's list of outdoor activities is sunbathing, with the goal of obtaining a good tan, even if it takes months of blistering and peeling.

With Easter vacation approaching, many will flock to Boulder Creek, Santa Cruz, and other favorite places; although more will remain in San Francisco with the hope that a few days will be warm enough to go to the beach.

Speaking of beaches, China Beach, which is the favorite spot for students, is the subject of a current campaign for clean-up. Committees from local schools are hoping that the city officials will have the beach cleaned and the path leading to it improved.

Because the beach at Playland is too windy for comfortable sunbathing, and the undertow is much too strong to allow any swimming, China Beach has been overcrowded by sunlovers; yet it has never been cleared of the waste that has accumulated there. The path that now decends to it is steep and rather dangerous. If this campaign is successful, many fellows and co-eds will greet the news joyfully.

As Spring advances, Fairfax, Adobe Creek, and other favorite sun spots will open their gates to provide swimming, refreshments and outdoor daneing in a country atmosphere. (Free advertising?)

As yet, spring fever has not become too apparent on campus, although the antics displayed on campus by the various fraternity pledges this week might be classified as such.

Not too many students are venturing into the great out-of-doors at this early date, but as time passes the lounge and fountain will becomo more and more deserted, and the campus lawns, benches, and the beach will draw the crowds.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, Number 10 FRIDAY, MARCH 31, 1950 Page 2

Opera, Mardi Gras Also Help Make City College-Conscious

JUST as the local basketball team carried City College to the people of San Francisco earlier this month, so do two other events scheduled for May and June of this semester.

First comes the annual Associated Men Students' Mardi Gras festival on Friday, May 19. Currently AMS President Norman Reger is working on plans to make the Mardi Gras a success. Further, Reger has a larger working margin with which to put on the festival this semester.

Last semester the AMS, on a budget that came to $170, put across a successful Mardi Gras. At the present, Reger has been alloted $335 with which to make the annual affair a success. The extra $265 does not necessarily mean the next Mardi Gras will be a bigger success than last year's, but it does insure a certain amount of security and a chance for wider planning, which is important in any long range work.

Just as last Spring, the upcoming event will be held out of doors. The parking area will be lined with some 35-odd booths, a band is expected, and the color and costumes that go with such an event will add a festive note to the Mardi Gras.

A city-wide publicity campaign is being planned with posters distributed to stores, mobile sound trucks, and a television show in the offing. A great deal of the success of the Mardi Gras hinges on a well planned publicity drive to bring the event to the population.

Although last semester's Mardi Gras was held on a cold, foggy evening, the weather did not dampen the enthusiasm of the several thousand students and citizens that flocked to the campus. However, Reger is hoping that the next Mardi Gras is blessed with good weather.

ON the cultural side, the college's annual opera will be held in the Everett Junior High School auditorium on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, June 1, 2, and 3. This semester two operas will be held in one evening, Martha and Down In The Valley.

The opera productions were originally scheduled for April 20, 21, and 22. However, departure of a tenor, trained for the lead role in Martha, came up and the new tenor did not have sufficient time to practice. Hence the switch in dates. Two fraternities, Tau Chi Sigma and Alpha Lambda Sigma, cooperated and switched the date of their dance to Friday, April 21, instead of Friday, June 2.

Both of these events will once again bring City College into the minds of the people of San Francisco.

Student Of Distinction: Industrious Hilton Uses Landscape Talents

By Don Cunningham

Frank Hilton, making use of his amazing landseaping and gardening talents, has transformed some of the dreary locations of the college into scenes of beauty and color.

One of the Floriculture department's husiest students, Hilton (pictured at right) has gained the praise of all hy his effective and professional appearing projects.

The most important of Hilton's undertakings was the construction of a 56 by 14 foot lath, or open greenhouse, which was built during the past summer. This building houses, among other things, Hilton's collection of 375 varieties and species of azaleas and 52 varieties of holly. During the past few semesters, Hilton has grown some 6,000 cut plants in or around the lath house.

Following an honorable discharge after 12 years of service in the Army Air Force, Hilton, in his four semesters as a Floriculture major, has been a contributor to virtually every display sponsored by the Floriculture department. He is a member of the Royal Hortleulture Society of London and the Holly Society of America.

After concluding his education at the college, Hilton plans to establish himself as a wholesale grower in the Washington area.

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Intercollegiate Group To Hold Dance; Gamma Phis List Pledges

This time, along with some sterling club news, we also have a couple of romantical tidhits for the readers of this column.

Yes, romance seems to be in the air for Alpha Lambda Chi Peggy Latimer will marry graduate Alpha Sigma Delta Dave Christensen on May 7. Doreen Mannion of Delta Psi will marry another smitten Alpha Sigma Deltan, Lloyd Baumann, sometime during the summer. Best wishes kidlets.

The Alpha Lambda Chis and the Alpha Sigma Delts also had a joint meeting Wednesday eve, March 15, and the Lambdas held another with the Tri E's last Wednesday.

New officers as announeed by the Delta Sigma Tau girls are as follows: Helen Martin, president; Jessie Guillory, vice president; Janell De Witty, secretary; Clara Jones, treasurer; Ruby Jean Fields, historian; and Florida Watson and Doris Dawson, CAB representatives.

The Hillel Foundation has also elected their new officers and here they are: Harry Spatz, president; Pinehos Bojm, vice-president, and Wally Levin, secretary-treasurer. Their last meeting was held last Monday and another is on tap for today's college hour in Room 312.

The new pledges (17 of 'em) of Gamma Phi Ypsilon are as follows: Jack Redman, Hank Drenth, Walt Winter, Murray Ross, Andy Gambardella, George Korbay, Bill Greelman, Robert Menlecucci, Joe Novello, Ronald Cohn, Martin Sohn, Richard Goodyear, Jim Crane, Con Davidenko, George Zaits, Gene Kelley and Warren Thomas. Whew! ! !

Orchids to the Tau Chi Sigma fraternity for services rendered. As a service to the college, members of the frat mimeographed 65 post cards to be enclosed in the invitations to opera patrons sent out by President Louis G. Conlan.

In the world of dances, the men of Alpha Sigma Delta will present their annual shindig, the Blue Book Blues, tonight.

For all the "cats" residing in the East Bay, a dance is on tap tomorrow evening at the Berkeley Tennis Club, 1 Tunnel Road, sponsored by the Intercollegiate Student Group, a bay area non-profit organization to promote fellowship between various colleges. The theme of the dance is Fools Rush In with music by the Modernists. The toll will he $1.75 drag and $1.00 stag, and tickets may be purchased from representatives at the college or at the door. Dancing 9 to 1

Pulse Of The Campus

Ram's Horn

• Plea For Return Of Lost Wallet

Editor, The Guardsman:

My brand new $15 wallet containing approximately $10 and all of my personal papers, drivers license, etc., is missing, and I would he very thankful if I could get the wallet and papers back, since the papers would be of no value to anyone else.

Lynn Chapman, 3 Commonwealth Avenue

• Rally Shots Draw Student Praise

Editor, The Guardsman:

How many students know about the photo display appearing in the windows of The Guardsman office? They are clear, interesting shots of a wonderful show of student spirit, and I hope that at least one student organization is purchasing a complete set of these photographs to be on file at the college for future references.

Wouldn't it be possible for the photographers to make up these pictures at a lower cost? If that isn't possible, what about smaller prints?

One other thing, are these photographers members of The Guardsman staff? I have heard that they are affiliated with Joe Rosenthal, Chroniele photographer.

A. S. 1750

Editor's note: The members of Joe Rosenthal's photography class are members of The Guardsman staff. Their names are listed in the staff box and they are affiliated with Rosenthal who happens to be a staff photographer for The Chronicle and who took the famous Iwo Jima flag raising picture.

PanoRAMa With Jones

April First Fools Fools

JUST in case you're not prepared for it, tomorrow is April 1st! That is the day set aside for some peoples to make sillies out of other peoples.

Of course some peoples can't seem to wait for the great day to roll around. Take the ex-GI student who saw one of his old buddies crossing the campus. Instead of rushing up to him and making his presence known he had to make certain preparations.

He remembered how good-ol-Charlie used to laugh at his little antics, so first he messes his hair, exchanges his left shoe for the right one and vice-versa, pulls his shirt collar up over his head so he has to peek through a button hole to see where he is going, and rushes at good-ol-Charlie making the silly noise that good-ol-Charlie always laughed at. He then pounds good-ol-Charlie on the back, and when good-ol-Charlie turns around, he discovers he never saw the guy before.

We were never so embarrassed!

IF YOU took note to the column written by Bob-Take it From Kays-Kays, you probably realize that April 1st is also the date when the census taker starts knocking on doors and asking those questions. Questions like, "Do you share a bath?" which you coldly answer with, "My good man, when I take a bath I solo!"

The census taker will have about 814,500 San Francisco noses to count, if the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce is up on its Math. Back in 1852 the nose counters had only 34,776 snozzles to count.

SINCE WE'RE looking back into the past, around 1870 Mr. I. P.'s mother gave him a jar of blackberry jam for his tenth birthday. Now, I. P., being a man of strong will, was determined not to eat all of that jam at one sitting.

A few days ago, I. P. opened and ate the contents of his jar of jam. "I couldn't resist the temptation any longer," he explained.

DID YOU hear about the three Boy Scouts who reported to their Scoutmaster that they had helped an old lady aeross Oeean Ave?

"That was a good deed, boys," the Scoutmaster said, "but why did it take all three of you?"

"Beeause," one explained, "she didn't want to go."

WE FEEL safe in saying that these crooks never attended City College. They broke into one of the town's safes recently. They had haeked away at the handle for some time, and finally removed the pins from the hinges of the safe's door. The total loot was 20e and a razor.

It's quite apparent they couldn't read, beeause on one side of the ruined safe the company had painted, in large letters, "No money inside."

Beneath that, in figures quite clear, was the combination.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rose Hardts
STAFF EDITORS ..... Cy Donaldson, William Thomes
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Avey, Larry Bales, David Brewer, Graeene Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, John Dierking, George Eberl, Barbara Egolan, Ted Gould, Kay Harvey, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kenaya, Richard Larrick, Henry Louie, Herb Marvin, John Nihill, Warren Northwood, Bob Rezek, Elaine Stamos, Jack Vanbiltl, Georgia Watkins, Falton White, Ralph Wiesner, Eura Williams, Bernita Davis.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcamb.
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Kays, Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Merlo, assistant; Bob Goncalvas, Terry Ryan, Jack Soelding, Bob Valli.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandra Marks, Dolores Aguirre, Assistants.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Steinheimer, Bob Thranert, Shirley Maritzen, Fred Matthes, Ken Hilmar, Herb Andrew, Dick Jarrett, Dick Lee, Kay Wood.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz, Mary Anne Quarterali.
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normanly, Terry George, Harry Paretchan, Bob Easton.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Adviser ..... Jean Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

JOHN BOLOGNA, former Galileo High athlete, leads the college shot-putters against Sacramento and Modesto at Sacramento tomorrow in the opening meet of the NCJC Conference track season.
—Photo by Steinheimer and Maritzen.

Trackmen Trek To Sacramento For First Meet

College trackmen trek to Sacramento tomorrow to take on the Modesto and Sacramento JC thinclads on the Sacramento oval at 1 p.m. in the NCJCC opener for the 1950 season.

Coaches Grover Klemmer and Roy Burkhead led their charges into a practice meet with SF State earlier this week to determine who of the 75 candidates would make the traveling club. The meet proved beneficial in that it gave indication of competitive power.

Burkhead's men will be weak in the javelin, but strong in nearly all other field events. He counts on a bevy of broad jumpers to garner points. Rod De Christafero, Jim Elkin, Charles Allums, Cecil Bledsoe, and William Revilla all leap around 20 feet.

Rivilla is also the top high jumper on the squad, reaching around 6 feet consistently. Bledsoe, Terry Sweet and Walt Cianfichi vault 11 feet in nearly every attempt.

John Bologna leads shot putters Oscar Brown, Scott Amour and discus tossers Don Parker and Tom Hendrix in the weight throwing events.

On the track, Coach Kiemmer hopes for points from Sal Masitelli in the mile, Tom Hendrix in the 100 yard dash, and Soloman Mason in the 880. Irv Beltrame meets his first opposition of the season when the sprint star runs the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Joe Greggins, valuable point getter, is on the doubtful list because of a leg injury.

Phone
JU 4-9251
1963 Ocean Ave.
MIKE'S SPUDNUTS
Evano J. Maiocchi
TAKE HOME
ICE CREAM
MILK SHAKE
HAMBURGERS

Women Urged To Signup For Intramural Sports

Women in any campus club or sorority who wish to participate in intramural tennis 'or badminton should apply to Dodi Fabrini, student manager, or Nancy Sparks, physical education instructor.

Schedules between the various club members will be posted after sign-ups are completed.

COLE'S
CITY COLLEGE
BARBER SHOP
Be Well Groomed
IT'S THE,
KEY TO SUCCESS
ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

Guardsman SPORTS

Volume XXX, No. 10 FRIDAY, MARCH 31, 1950 Page 3

Rams Meet Monterey

Rained Out Modesto Doubleheader Rescheduled For Close Of Season

The college baseballers will open their season tomorrow with Monterey Peninsula College on the Big Rec diamond at 7th and Lincoln Way with a double header.

The scheduled opening doubleheader with Modesto was rained out and will be tagged on the end of the season.

Practice games with the Port of Embarkation at Oakland, USF Frosh and San Francisco State were played to prep the squad for their opener, but mentor Bill Fischer still complains of lack of practice, especially for his pitchers.

Last season the Rams blasted out a pair of wins by 4-0 and 10-4 scores. Gordy Miyamoto, Lobo hurler who fanned 14 Ram batsmen with his erratic fast ball, returns to handle the Bay City's pitching chores.

Fischer will start veteran right hander Bob McGovern on the mound tomorrow with Joe Gonzales, Art Mooney, and Sam Chicos in reserve.

The rest of the team includes Bill Cuddy at first, Lou Williams at second, Cas Narou at third, Al Nieora at short, John Pantoleon behind the plate, and Hook Arata, Bob Frazier and Cas Munoz in the pasture.

The all-important opening conference games with the Lobos from Monterey has a bearing on whether or not the Rams will get off to as good a start as last season.

Top choice for the conference title is San Mateo. The Bulldogs won the championship last year and have veterans enough to repeat this spring.

San Mateo, coached by Herb Hudson, defeated the college nine last year by 9-3 scores. The Mateans have Frank Lico, top second sacker, returning along with hurler Bud Watkins.

Golfers Meet San Mateo At Harding

Coach Ralph Hillaman's golf team opens its conference season today at 3 o'clock against San Mateo Junior College on the Harding golf course.

Handling the first position will be Merle Fisher, who defeated Ken Towns, National Publinx champion, in a meet with the San Francisco Police Department.

Rounding out the team are Vince Hollan, Frank Hanlan, Roger Artoux, Walter Stevens, and Bob Baumgardner.

Following the San Mateo match, the linksmen meet Contra Costa Junior College on April 7 or 11, and San Francisco State on April 27.

The next conference match will be against Modesto Junior College on April 28, with Hartnell College scheduled for May 4. All meets will take place at the Harding course.

EL REY PET SHOP
CANARIES - PARAKEETS
Pet Foods and Supplies
Fresh Horse Meat
EL REY AQUARIUM
Tropical Fish Goldfish
Aquariums - Accessories
1330 Ocean Ave., JU 5-6390

100 MEN WANTED
Age 17-34
145th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron
Fort Miley, San Francisco
HAS OPENINGS FOR
RADAR OPERATORS
RADIO OPERATORS
TELEPHONE OPERATORS
TELETYPE OPERATORS
AUTO MECHANICS
RADIO MECHANICS
CLERICAL HELP
Experience Not Necessary
Earn as much as $6.75 for only 2 hours weekly training
For Further Information
CALL SKyline 2-3100
OR IN THE EAST BAY
LAkehurst 2-6412

Nationals Slow Intramural Play

Varsity practice in the men's gymnasium for the Hutchinson, Kansas, basketball Nationals had held up play for the intramural basketball games during the past two weeks. A full schedule will be played hereafter, Tom Wilson, intramural director, announced.

Bob Brown and Ed Habeebs, student intramural managers, will be drawing and redrawing the schedules for games to be played in the four and one-half weeks of intramural play remaining.

Play time for intramural is every afternoon at 3 o'clock, with six teams slated to play each day in a two hour period.

Approximately 35 hoop teams were scheduled to play in competition when the original plans for intramural were drawn up, but, Wilson said, eight or ten teams usually drop out within the first few weeks.

Awards for the winning teams will be presented at a special award rally at the close of the semester. The winning team and a runner-up will be presented with bronze medals and belt buckles.

TRAVEL-MINDED?
We handle all student tours to Europe, Mexico and the Orient
We plan . . .
independent travel, too!
If travel-minded, call
The Students Travel Club
Morse-Gleason Co.
Travel Agents
323 Geary at Powell
SUtter 1-4869

Funds Needed For Boxers

Possibilities of college representation in the national two-year college boxing tournament at Weber College, Ogden, Utah, on April 10, 11, and 12, hinged yesterday on the obtaining of necessary funds to finance the trip.

If the money is appropriated, Coach Roy Diederichsen and four boxers, Len Gage, 125; Jack Bettencourt, 145; Jerry Stern, 135, and Dick Ramsey, 175, will depart Easter Sunday, April 9, for Ogden.

Boasting a smaller but stronger team than last season, the locals will be out to beat last year's record, when they took second place in the Nationals at Pasadena behind Pasadena City College.

Offering the strongest competition are Pasadena City College, McNeese Junior College from St. Charles, Louisiana, who took third place in the nationals; Compton College, and host Weber College.

Stern's participation is not yet a certainty. If he receives a physician's OK concerning his jaw, Stern will defend his national lightweight title.

Ramsey, with a 3-0 seasonal record, and Gage, 3-1-1, earned the right to compete by taking the Northern California Regionals at Modesto.

Make it a date . . .
• West Portal's
• Most Popular Fountain
DENNY DAIRIES
321 West Portal
Open Daily - - 8 a.m. to 1 a.m.
Delicious Ice Cream, Grilled Sandwiches and Waffles

*LEVI'S
"America's Finest Overall"
Made in San Francisco Since 1850
Levi Strauss & Company
98 Battery Street
(*The name "LEVI'S" is registered in the U. S. Patent Office and denotes only overalls made by Levi Strauss & Co., San Francisco, California.)

Your College Days Encased In Silver
With An Official City College Ring
In Memory Sterling Silver
ORDER NOW
Ladies' Miniature or Men's Massive
On Display At The Basement Trophy Case, Main Building
$5.00 Deposit Required At The College Bank
Van Wormer & Rodrigues Inc.
126 Post Street EXbrook 2-5886

ON CAMPUS OR AT HOME —

You'll Want Arrow Whites for Easter

No matter which suit you wear—an ARROW white shirt will set it off right! They're crisp white, impeccably tailored of fine fabrics and come in a variety of good looking, perfect fitting Arrow collars. $3.65 up

ARROW SHIRTS & TIES
UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

Straight Talk

By Bill Thomas

ALPHA Gamma Sigma, college scholastic honor society, fired the first official gun against the hundred per cent Associated Student membership law passed by the Student Council when it wrote a letter to the Club Activities Board.

This is the letter as presented:

"We are submitting our constitution for your information. At the same time, we would like to advise you of our belief as to the nature of honorary scholarship. The determination of honorary scholarship on the campus has been and must be based upon academic usage rather than upon legislation. We feel that this academic usage is clearly defined and well established; therefore, membership in an honor society should not be contingent upon any other requirement since membership itself is the recognition of superior scholarship. It follows that the determination of honor scholarship is above the functions of student government. Consequently we advise the Club Advisory Board (Club Activities Board) of our assumption that no action of the Student Council can be construed as an intention to redefine the traditional concept of honorary scholarship."

Alpha Gamma Sigma receives funds from the Associated Students for items including buying pins for its members and for payment of dues to the state chapter of the society.

These funds, by executive order, have been frozen.

Unable to find any of the writers of the letter, we talked to Don Jensen, faculty adviser to AGS. He clarified, unofficially, certain parts of the letter.

Apparently Alpha Gamma Sigma feels that an honor society "is above the pale" and that tradition, by the requirement that all honor students must have an Associated Student card to be a member, has been violated. Scholarship, they say, should be the only basis for membership.

He pointed out that AGS always has 90 per cent Associated Student membership. Jensen stated that he thought that honor societies should not be included in the ruling and that the legislative committee of AGS felt the same way.

Associated Student President Don Parker replied, "We're not defining honorary scholarship.

"However we do pay $2.50 apiece for their pins. I believe that those who have cards will get pins: those who don't won't get pins."

Dean Louis Batmale indicated agreement on the question and hinted that perhaps there is something about being an honor student that means co-operation in student activities.

As for the big words in the letter, it has been gathered that some people did not want to be the first to stick their necks out. Also it was emphasized that the honor society is not starting an out and out drive against the hundred per cent law.

As for an honor society being above the laws of the Associated Students, we have always felt that "equality before the law" is a very good thing.

Government Conference Delegates Give Reports To Student Council

By Bob Rezak

Individual committee reports by members of the college's Associated Student government who attended the Northern California Junior College Student Government Conference at Kentfield last Friday, March 24, were presented to the Student Council for discussion last Tuesday.

The informal reports outlined the accomplishments made by the delegates at the regional conference.

Randie Street, alumni liaison officer, and one of the delegates who attended the conference, said that City College, which was the biggest college represented, was defeated on several voted actions.

"We were whipped," Street said. "We were whipped something awful."

He said that the college's delegates lacked coordination and made no attempt to do any lobbying. "There was no organized approach on our part," he said.

Council member Joseph Schwab made a motion that in the future representatives representing City College at any national, regional, or local conference concerning the junior colleges inform the Council of what they intend to discuss at such meetings.

The motion was passed with ten members voting their approval, none opposed, and two abstained.

Volunteers Needed For Library Work

Students interested in working or helping out in the library this semester may volunteer to do so now, library chairman Clement Skrabak disclosed late Tuesday.

Applications, oral or written, will be accepted at the west campus or main library desk. No credit will be received for services, but the hours which a student works will be entered on his permanent record card as a service to the college, he added.

The work is of general nature, such as mending books, filing, and working at the front desk.

Currently active in volunteer library work are Delta Psi members.

Pre-Registration For Fall Starts

Students planning to enroll for the fall semester, 1950, must have pre-counselling interviews before the end of this semester in order to plan their programs and to receive a registration number, F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, announced yesterday.

Registration in the fall will be by number as before and Marsh stressed the importance of each student reporting to the counselling office, Building 3, west campus, without delay to make appointments.

Those who fail to see their counsellors before the end of the semester will experience some difficulty and much inconvenience on registration day, Marsh said.

KPIX Television Station Plans To Feature Mardi Gras Festival

Photography students in cooperation with television station KPIX will bring this year's Mardi Gras carnival into the homes of bay area television set owners, Norm Reger, Associated Men Student president, announced recently.

The actual filming of the carnival will be done by students in the college's photography department the night of the Mardi Gras. The films will later be shown over station KPIX to the television audience.

The deadline for booths has been extended to Friday, April 14 from the previous deadline of Friday, April 7, Reger declared late yesterday afternoon. "We have extended the deadline one week because enough organizations have not made arrangements for booths yet."

As each year passes, the AMS Mardi Gras festival becomes more of a public carnival, attracting people from all over San Francisco. With television to publicize the carnival, increasing interest will be obtained from citizens throughout all the bay area, Reger declared.

Besides offering the people a form of entertainment, the Mardi Gras also serves as a connecting link between citizens who support the college and the students enrolled.

This year's carnival, observers believe, may be the biggest of them all. The committee is busy adding new features and the atmosphere about the college will soon be that of Mardi Gras, Reger said.

Othello Cast In Daily Rehearsal

Othello, Desdamona and Cassio are names being heard frequently in college conversation these days as increased activity goes on in Room 28 in preparation for the college players' production of Othello.

In addition to participating in daily rehearsals, all members of the east are assisting with the construction of sets, Paul Ellison, drama director, said recently.

Sets are being designed by John Allen, who also designed the sets for Twelfth Night and Much Ado About Nothing.

The same policy of editing used in past productions will be followed but in a lesser degree because the tragedy has so much great poetry it is difficult to cut without spoiling, Ellison said.

Since Othello is not a comedy, he added, it is not necessary to eliminate elaborate, out-dated [illegible] as were to be found in the two previous Shakespearian production staged by the Campus Players.

"Although considered a difficult play to present," Ellison said, "Othello is known the world over for the insight into real drama that it gives."

Hurley Village As Ol' Man River Keeps Rolling

By Doug Hayward

Hurley Village, the student veteran housing project located at the north-bottom side of campus hill, is still rolling along, subsistence or no subsistence, and now has a tenant clientelle ranging all the way from Scotch to French.

Hurley is commonly thought to be the entire 217 housing units in the project, but actually numbers only 50 units.

The Veterans' Administration office declared long ago that the student-vets must acquire part-time jobs, as the subsistence allotted them is not intended to be capable of providing full living costs.

So the men of Hurley have acquired odd jobs, such as gas station attendants, Sunday school teaching, three dollars per breach, and one particular instance as a mortuary caretaker, laying, midnight till six in the morning.

Vets receive 105 dollars per month if married and childless, and 120 dollars monthly if they have children. The 120 dollars remains constant, no matter how many new additions come into the family. There are now approximately 200 children in Hurley and Balboa Park combined.

Rent for the units runs an average of $35 a month, which leaves the average vet with 90 dollars operating capital for the rest of the month. Thus are the part time jobs explained.

Flower Shop Bamboo Not Five Cent Variety

By Meredith Foss

For a nickel, you can get three minutes of Bamboo from the juke box in the fountain, but the bamboo in the Flower Shop is not for sale.

The Flower Shop bamboo is being cut into 18 inch lengths and mounted on wooden frames which will be assembled to serve as background for the shop's entry in the 18th annual California Spring Garden Show in Oakland next month.

Let Us Patronize Them — RAM BOOSTERS — They Patronize Us

A Different ICE CREAM SPECIAL Each and Every Week Daily From 2 to 5 Avenue Coffee Shop 1612 Ocean Avenue

Paint & Decorate Figurines Lil Audrey's Dresden Craft Free Instruction Daily Also Tues. & Thurs. eves. 1443 OCEAN AVE. DE 3-4574

The Ladies' Shop is proud to announce that Carole King Dresses For Juniors ARE OURS ALONE IN THIS CITY! 1532 OCEAN AVENUE

JOE and BILL'S RICHFIELD STATION LUBRICATION Tires and Batteries Washing & Polishing 1298 OCEAN AVE.

Gems of Art Gay Easter Outfits for Children Sizes: Infancy to 12 years Greeting Cards and Gifts 1700 OCEAN AVE. JU 4-0831

AUTO - TRUCK - FIRE Standard Form Policies at Low Costs Compare Our Rates Before You Buy C. E. PEARSON 1125 Ocean JU. 5-4478 Prompt Personal Claims Service

Easter slacks . . . and jackets to match at the EL REY MEN'S SHOP Opposite El Rey Theatre Ties - Shirts - Sweaters and a complete line of Colorful Haberdashery for your Easter Outfits 10% Discount with Associated Student Card

Ted's Ocean Cleaners 50c SLACKS • SHIRTS SKIRTS DRY CLEANED Corner of Ocean & Plymouth

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP Your haircut as You want it 1334 Ocean Avenue 2 blocks from campus

WE AIR EXPRESS WE DELIVER WE TELEGRAPH Chain of Flowers Florists CORSAGES — FLORAL DESIGNS WEDDINGS JUniper 4-9038 1805 Ocean Avenue San Francisco 12

TYPEWRITERS RENTED GArfield 1-6633 3 MONTHS $7.50 Free Ribbon, Carbon Paper Free Delivery Tibbs Typewriter Co. 821 Market St., San Francisco

PRICES Hand Finished Shoes For Men — Featuring Price's Patented Styles — One Price $9.95 — 718 Market St., S. F. 1304 Broadway, Oakland

Ayoob's Sport Shop Men's and Boys' Clothing Featuring Team & Club Jackets Tailored To Order Also Athletic Equipment 2598 San Bruno Ave.

M. Walter McMinn

EXCELSIOR SCHOOL of DRIVING LEARN TO DRIVE IN TRAFFIC! DUAL CONTROLLED CARS We prepare you for driver's examination SPECIAL RATES for students, payable in installments 4666 MISSION ST. AT OCEAN AVE. JUniper 4-3687

Its a Strike! Bowl . . . Johnny Swanson's MISSION BOWL Free Instruction Daily 3140 Mission Street

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

VOLUME XXX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—FRIDAY, APRIL 14, 1950 NUMBER 11

Randy Street Leads Debate Victories

Student Orators Vie For Hearst Contest

Final local eliminations in the Seventeenth Annual Hearst Oratorical Contest will be held Monday, April 17, at 2 p.m. in Room 19a, Mike Griffin, forensic instructor, announced last week.

Participants in the eliminations include the following: Randie Street, Marcella Lewis, Joe Schwab, Armand Magid, Richard Schambach, Richard Schnal, Blanche Meurer, Irwin Phillips, Jim Anderson, Donald Wyatt, Janet Bender, Wood.

Magid And Schnal Gain Honors For Phi Rho Pi, Reach Quarter Finals

Randy Street led off the list of Phi Rho Pi winners during the club's big Easter week forensics with a first place in the after dinner speaking at Bakersfield on Thursday, April 6, Mike Griffin, faculty adviser to the club, disclosed yesterday.

At Pi Kappa Delta Tournament at Stockton on April 3, 4, and 5 the debate teams made the quarter finals only to be beaten in the semis by the University of Southern California.

Armand Magid was more fortunate than his team mates with an impromptu speech which won him a place in the semi finals.

Street had the audience "rolling in the aisles with his now famous 1-2 or 3 drinkers in the forensic follies," Griffin said.

Besides Street's national first place with his speech on practical jokesters delivered in Will Rogers' fashion, he also gained [illegible] for Phi Rho Pi in the Bakersfield contest. He was awarded a walnut and bronze plaque and a gold medal which will be displayed in the main building trophy room.

Magid tied for a third place in the impromptu division, and Diek Schnal took a fourth in the progressive speeches.

Griffin was equally pleased with the presentation that the debate teams gave even though they did not place. Dick Schambach and Magid comprised an on-the-spot team bringing the college's debate entries up to three.

The Universities of California, Nevada, Utah, Minnesota, and Oregon and the colleges of Compton, St. Mary's, and Los Angeles were the teams that fell before the college's Phi Rho Pi.

College Program Scheduled In Honor Of Public Schools Week

With the theme, "The Public School—Democracy In Action," schools throughout the state will hold open house April 24 through April 29 in observance of the 31st annual Public Schools Week.

In conjunction with Public Schools Week, a special program will be presented at the college on Monday, April 24, Lloyd Luckmann, dean of university parallel courses, announced early this week.

Highlights of the program will include a dinner, a preview of the college opera productions, Martha and Down In The Valley, and a tour to points of interest on the west campus, Luckmann added.

The dinner will take place in the cafeteria at 6 p.m., and the public is invited to come.

A program of entertainment is being arranged under the direction of Harold Cunningham, member of the physics department. Cost of the dinner will be one dollar, Luckmann declared.

The musical program, featuring a preview of the opera Martha, will be presented in Building 2 at 7:30 p.m., and will feature members of the music department.

F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, will speak at the program.

Forum Announces Loss Of Tickets

Forum Magazine Editor Curtis May reported this week the loss of a series of pre-sales tickets for the student literary magazine.

He said the lost tickets, numbers 421 to 600 inclusive, must be turned in to Frederick Foultz, adviser, since they will not be honored in exchange for a copy of Forum when it is issued May 5.

May also announced that the pre-sale of the magazine ends today at 2 p.m. He said students may purchase tickets today at any of the following locations:

The cafeteria, coffee shop, student lounge, at the Phelan Avenue gate, and at the silver pole and basement study hall of the main building.

Commenting on the contributions to the Forum, May said that a large number of manuscripts were received and the problem is to decide what must be omitted for lack of space.

Club Activities Board Declares 16 Clubs Off Campus, Defeats 100 Per Cent AS Membership

Failure to hand in a constitution, petition, and roster of their respective members, resulted in 16 organizations being declared "off campus" at the last Club Activities Board meeting, March 29.

Stan Fletcher, CAB vice-president, was appointed head of a membership committee to look over the constitutions of those groups who had turned in the required information. The committee members include Dick McFarland, Dick Schambaek, and Gloria D'Amico.

Non-campus organizations will have to clear with Louis Batmale, dean of student activities, Harry Williams, CAB president, declared after the roll had been called.

A motion by George Boyko, which in effect said that anyone wishing to join a club on campus must have a student membership card, was defeated by a large majority.

The purpose of the motion was to encourage all clubs on the campus to secure 100 per cent student membership before the CAB would recognize them.

"It should be within the clubs themselves to get 100 per cent student membership," Don Parker, student president, said.

The "off campus" groups include Alpha Lambda Chi, Delta Psi, Chinese Club, Hotel and Restaurant, Graduate Statesmen, Radio Club, Symphony Forum, Horticultural Society, Strikes and Spares, Phi Epsilon Rho, Ski Rams, Ram Cams, Mu Iota Psi, Latin American Club, Student League, and Spur and Saddle.

Large Apartments Now Open At Hurley Village

Some large apartments are open to veterans wishing to live in Hurley Village, Edwin C. Browne, dean of men, announced early this week.

It has been reported by the managers of Hurley Village, that small apartments are still in demand but there have been recent opportunities for larger apartments for veterans. Veterans wanting these larger quarters should see Dean Browne.

"The small apartments are unavailable and there is a waiting list for them," Browne said.

Chinese Students Sponsor Dance

For the first time on the campus a talent show and dance made up of students from various nearby colleges will be presented tomorrow evening in the west campus auditorium.

The entertainers are members of the Chinese Student Christian Association, sponsors of the program, at their respective colleges.

The affair will also be the first activity of the new college affiliate group of the local aforementioned organization. The show is scheduled to open at 7:30 p.m., and both the show and the dance will continue until midnight. Music will be by the Blue Notes, and admission is priced at 75 cents general and 50 cents for members.

All students are invited to attend.

Preview Rally Scheduled Today

As a preview of a rally at Marin Junior College in Kentfield, next Friday, April 21, a rally is being held today in the auditorium during the 10:40 to 11:20 a.m. college hour, Louis Batmale, dean of student activities, said yesterday.

Admittance is by Associated Student cards, punched at the doors by Rally Committee officers and the campus police, and will feature many new acts performed by student entertainers.

Highway to Hawaii is the title of the next college film series presentation to be shown today in Room 136 at 10 a.m. and again during college hour, Madison Devlin, audio visual aids instructor, said Wednesday.

Produced in color by United Airlines last year, the film takes the audience on a flight to Hawaii. Upon arrival it shows close up shots of the islands' famous beaches, hotels, and natural scenery, Devlin said.

Bare Feet, Loud Clothes Feature Of Kopp-A-Dance

Kopp-A-Dance, the Pi Delta Koppa Gay 90's dance of the semester, will be held tonight in the west campus auditorium from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight, Rex Reyes, chairman of the event, announced yesterday.

"Dress for the Gay 90's dance tonight should be loud, unusual and informal. Come barefoot if you like," Reyes declared.

Two prizes will be given during the dance—one to a boy and the other to a girl—for the best Gay 90's costume. Admission to the event is 75 cents stag or $1.50 per couple. Tickets may be purchased at the door tonight or at the fountain today from any fraternity member.

Steve Sacco, his orchestra, and vocalist will set the mood and furnish the evening's entertainment. Refreshments will be served. Decorations will follow the 90's scene.

Dance committee members are Lou Rocca, Pep Gassiot, and Bill Braus, and chairman Reyes. Faculty adviser is Donald Snepp.

AS Will Sponsor Springtime Hop

The Associated Students' first official dance of the semester has been tentatively set for Saturday, May 13, Helen MacKay, Associated Student vice-president, announced yesterday.

Springtime will be the theme, she said, with the committee members currently working on the decoration, entertainment and refreshment details.

Assisting Miss MacKay with the affair are Jeanne McKnew, Associated Women Student president, and Beverly Jank. Faculty sponsor is Dean Louis Batmale.

Changes in the schedule of the social committee meeting with college clubs planning dances were also announced by Miss MacKay yesterday.

The following changes on the meeting calendar were announced: Phi Beta Rho, Alpha Lambda Sigma and Tau Chi Sigma scheduled to meet April 19; Mardi Gras, Associated Men Students Committee, May 3; Beta Phi Beta and Latin American Club, May 10; Sophomore class committee, May 24. The meetings are held in 2B at 2 p.m.

Miss MacKay also reported better attendance at meetings since the $5 non-attendance fine was passed by the Student Council.

Student Council Approves Athletic Insurance Plans

Three motions concerning athletic insurance for college athletes were approved by the Student Council last Tuesday.

They are as follows:

1. That the insurance committee (formed last week), be kept as a standing committee of the Student Council to meet each time an athlete is injured.

2. That the insurance committee be allowed to submit a budget for a floating fund to take care of athletic injuries.

3. That the medical doctor be under contract for one year to take care of injuries suffered by athletes on either the football, baseball, or basketball teams.

The motions, to become effective next semester, were proposed by James Anderson, chairman of the insurance committee which was appointed by Student President Donald Parker last week for the purpose of investigating the college's athletic insurance situation.

Election Commissioner James Potter announced the dates for the fall semester Associated Students election. He said the election will be held on May 31 and June 1, and the election rally on May 26.

Bettencourt, Gage Win; In Final Round

Ogden, Utah, April 11—Jack Bettencourt, City College of San Francisco, 145, decisioned Don Hirche, Weber College, here tonight to gain the final round of the National Junior College Boxing Tournament at Weber College.

Bettencourt and Len Gage, who also won his opening round fight, will participate in the final round Wednesday. (Complete results will be published next week in The Guardsman.)

Former Wave, Coast Guardsman Typical Of Hurley Village Vets

Pennies And Dimes Must Be Stretched

By Douglas Hayward

Fred and Rita Antroll are a young married couple attending the college and living at Hurley Village, the North campus housing project. Mrs. Antroll was a WAVE and Antroll a Coast Guardsman during the war.

They live economically, have a bright eyed, red haired, five months old daughter and take pride in the cleanliness of their neatly furnished little two room home.

In short, Antroll and his wife are what might be called typical veterans living in a typical housing project, and looking towards the future much the same as any other veteran's family.

College vets are allotted 105-120 dollars a month by the Veterans Administration. Antroll knows the role of economy for a student-veteran well, and feels that "You have to be a bit of a genius if you start on pennies and dimes. Maybe you skip a movie now and then to make sure you get that new pair of shoes."

HURLEY VILLAGE residents Fred and Rita Antroll, and baby Marie, pose for a family photo. They are one of many veteran families living on campus. —Photo by Matthes

Rent for the home is $36 a month. "There's something nice about being in a place that's your own. This," he gestured airily, "is ours because we've painted it and fixed it up ourselves.

An optimistic young ex-G.I., he intends to teach English upon graduating from San Francisco State, where he will complete his schooling. "At least," he declared, "until I become the Great American Novelist."

Mrs. Antroll listened to her husband speak, while spooning food into baby Marie, who, just as industrious-

Happiness, Security Family's Main Goal

ly spitting it out, didn't seem to care for it at all.

"It's wonderful," went on the father, "to help youngsters mold their futures." Mother, wiping oatmeal off her apron, laughingly added, "You're going to have a lot of practice!"

A cross section count has revealed that most vets are entering Civil Service work. Antroll viewed this information matter-of-factly, saying, "This is an age when everybody is looking for security. To me, happiness is what I've got and what I intend to get. We are no longer high and mighty gamblers willing to risk everything on the flip of a coin."

Sober minded and straightforward, this young man with hopes turned to look at his wife and child, smiled.

"I think our lives here at Hurley and the college can be summed up in one sentence: This is our baby. We're having it, and we're raising it our way."

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

IN a recent bulletin from the college's administration, notice was given that it's against a Board of Education rule to bring animals into the buildings. But, just what constitutes an animal? Webster says, "Any member of the group of living beings typically capable of spontaneous movement and rapid motor response to stimulation, as distinguished from a plant."

Now, while many of you may qualify as animals under that definition (and can therefore consider yourselves barred from class), frankly, we can't. Along about this time of year our capabilities of spontaneous movement and rapid response dwindle to a point just below absolute zero, and what with the gull nests in our hair and the vines twined around our legs it takes a pretty sharp boy to distinguish us from a plant. As a matter of fact, you can find us on page 23 in the latest issue of "Flora of Northern California." The horticulturists labeled us "Garneris stuporum," and brother, they're not kiddin'.

SUCCESS STORY . . .

Back in the spring of 1948, George Lajeunesse topped off his local career by becoming [illegible] editor, then he married Nancy Nagle—former Guardsman feature ed—and went on to San Jose State where he worked his way up to sports editor and then ed-in-chief of the Daily Spartan. Now Lajeunesse has his B.A. cum laude from San Jose and now you with the San Jose Mercury-Herald. What more can you say about a guy like that?

How many of you caught Bon Parker, Bev Janks, Kev Duggan, Bill Rosia, and Mary Lou Cooper on Don Pitts' "Rumpus Room" b'cast over KYA the first of the month? If they do a repeat, we'll tip you off.

Lloyd Luckmann, dean of the college's university parallel courses, is keeping up a long distance correspondence with a junior high instructor in North Kyushu, Japan. The teacher, M. F. Hoshika, is also a Boy Scout master . . . by the way, Dean Luckmann, which of you is bi-lingual?

SUCCESS STORY NO. TWO

Speaking of Guardsmen who made good (a couple of paragraphs back) we almost forgot James Paul Green who was managing editor in 1936. Green is now Mayor of Daly City.

Final note: On the 26th of this month at the Richelieu Hotel, Randy Street will address the 20-30 Club on "Democracy in Action."

Feminine Viewpoint

Cottons Highlight Spring

By Bobbie Jackson

NOW that spring and warmer weather have come to stay most of the time (we hope) the fashion note turns toward summer cottons, beachwear, and vacation outfits.

The downtown stores are featuring numerous cotton dresses designed for feminine appeal. Bright prints are foremost, with ideas ranging from Hawaiian moods to figurines depleting the era of hoops and bustles. Color is tops, although the faithful pastels hold their own with daintily designed frocks.

One of the newer notes is the recent fad of using floral drapery material for dirndle skirts. One may either purchase these skirts or buy the material to make one.

For bright days, the strapless sun dress with a matching jacket for street wear is fashion high.

Although the Mab and Catalina lastex bathing suits, either one or two piece, are about as popular as ever, they are receiving a great deal of competition from Cole of California and other firms that are designing cotton suits in gay prints. The Hawaiian motif in a two piece suit is becoming more popular every day, along with the new designs and new fabrics that draw the attention of the prospective buyer.

Not to be outdone by the co-eds, the fellows have been appearing in loud colored Hawaiian shirts that are cool and colorful on warm days. The women also wear these shirts with pedal pushers and on the beach and thus employ the male viewpoint of fashion also.

That teen-age look that was so popular among the women, the wearing of men's khakis and Levis, has given way to the neater, better-fitting pedal pushers. Besides being more practical, pedal pushers more or less take the sloppy look away from vacation wear, and designers are taking advantage of this fact.

To round out the sports wardrobe, sandals in white, natural, and outfit matching colors add the finishing touch to warm weather outfits.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, Number 11 | FRIDAY, APRIL 14, 1950 | Page 2

Fast Action Needed To Ease Phelan Avenue Traffic Problem

BACK in January, 1948, plans were first formulated to widen Phelan Avenue. City Administrator Thomas Brooks released at that time the first tentative plans.

After the plans were made public, The Guardsman, in an editorial, cited the statement that it would take at least a year for the plans to become a reality. "However, it seems to us that it will take at least a year for the plans to be put into operation," the editorial said.

This has proved all too true.

The street was and still is a veritable death trap for students making the crossing between classes. The campus police, who have been directing traffic to lessen the chances for accidents, ease the situation.

HOWEVER, the existing situation is still bad. Twice now in the past two years Phelan Avenue has undergone ripping up operations. Each time it was a pipe laying job, and the street still hasn't been widened. Chances for an accident are still too great to ignore.

The original plans called for Phelan Avenue to be widened into four lanes with adequate parking space on both sides. A commendable plan that never was followed through.

Then in April, 1948, The Guardsman predicted—following several close calls—that someone would be injured or even killed on Phelan Avenue. Luckily enough, no accidents had occurred. However, the situation had reached a point where action was sorely needed.

Action is still needed and the sooner the better.

We would like to see Phelan Avenue widened into four lanes with parking space on both sides and a signal placed at the corner of Ocean and Phelan Avenues. Not an arterial, but a stop signal. Furthermore, we would like to see speed signs put up on Phelan, advertising the legal speed limit.

ALL of these factors, if followed through, would greatly lessen the chances for an accident, that may occur at any time during the college year when the street is crowded with cars and students.

Our main concern is to get the street widened. The rest will no doubt follow. But action comes first.

Student Of Distinction: Lossman, Typical Hotelman Of Tomorrow

By Don Cunningham

"Typical Hotelman of Tomorrow" is the description used by the Hotel and Restaurant Operator magazine to exemplify the qualities of City College student, Ted Lossman.

Lossman, a Hotel and Restaurant major, was chosen as the subject of an extensive article in this restaurant trade journal, because of his outstanding practical work in local hotels and eating establishments.

During his four semesters at the college, Lossman, pictured at right, has participated in practically all of the campus functions involving the hotel and restaurant division. As part of his required curriculum, Lossman spends two days every class week in the employ of some of San Francisco's most prominent hotels. In this way, besides the praise he has gained, Lossman is receiving the experience needed in his chosen profession.

At the recent Inter-Collegian Livestock exhibition held at the Cow Palace, Lossman was among the group sent from the college to aid in feeding the show's participants. He has also secured, through the Hotel and Restaurant division, a part time job at the Hunter's Point ship service.

After graduation, Lossman plans to enter directly into the purchasing field. (Photo by Maritzen.)

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Zeta Chi's Toss Smorgasbord Feed; Sutro's Offers AS Rate

Well, April is here with promise of improved weather, J. Pluvius permitting, and the local clubs are making plans for April attractions in addition to their current pledging activities.

According to rumor, a very select group of campus nature lovers have formed the Picknickers Club with Jerry Brienette as their president. The group plans to have picnics, outings and social affairs.

A traditional smorgasbord dinner was the theme of the Zeta Chi's second rush affair. The food is reported to have been very good and there was lots of it for those who attended. All left well satisfied and well stuffed.

Omicron Phi Pi, economics honor society, held a meeting Wednesday, March 15, at which time new members were initiated and a discussion on farm subsidies was held followed by refreshments. New members initiated at that time were as follows: Bob Addiego, Lou Aronian, Leslie Bandar, Henry Becker, Roland Casey, Olga Davidoff, John Deignan, Alex Jernakoff, Monroe Johnson, Eli Levy, Richard Manseau, Mary Mason, Bob Mohr, Alfred Nathan, Robert Rose, Wallace Sarrasin, Otto Von Raven, and David Yamato.

Here's an item which might be of interest to the clubs now planning events to come. Sutro's in San Francisco are offering the club members and other interested Associated Student members a reduction in the "toll" for using their facilities. The reduced rates will entitle all AS card holders to complete use of all the Sutro Bath facilities, swimming, ice skating etc., at any time. Refreshments will be served free of charge.

One AS card holder will get a rate of 75 cents for complete use of facilities. Ten or more card holders will be allowed a 10 per cent reduction below 75 cents. For 25 or more, a 25 per cent reduction will be allowed. This "bargain" should be an added incentive to throw a few clambakes at Sutro's. For added info see Don Parker, AS president.

Here are the new executive members of the college chapter of the national fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega: Al Flores, president; Lucian Douglass, treasurer; T. Rossi, secretary, and A. Marchesi, public relations. New pledges were initiated in Marin County before Easter vacation.

The Zeta Chi's and the Tau Chi Sigma's recently enjoyed a joint meeting at the home of Felice Quast. Tau Chi pledges supplied the entertainment. Farewell—but not goodbye.

Pulse Of The Campus

Ram's Horn

• Women Conspicuous By Silence

Editor, The Guardsman:

As an interested spectator at the student council meetings this semester, I am not happy with the conduct of the women of that organization. Not that they do anything outrageous, but that's just it, these "silent women" DON'T do anything.

I have sat through many meetings and have rarely seen them take part in any debate or discussion. Two members abstain on nearly every issue.

This is not intended as a slam toward any of the individual feminine members of the council but as elected officers, responsible to the Associated Students of City College, they should take part in the debates that arise from time to time. That is their responsibility—to let their colleagues know of their opinion—and not let their masculine counterparts do their thinking for them.

Who knows, it may even decide an issue.

Sincerely, Dick Schambach

• 100 Per Cent Ruling Questioned

Editor, The Guardsman:

The Student Council's recent and highly controversial ruling requiring one hundred per cent Associated Student membership for all clubs receiving student body funds is merely a smoke screen thrown out to hide the incompetency of its members. The inability of their committee to sell enough membership cards to cover finances has led to this last desperate attempt to squeeze more blood out of a turnip by using the clubs as a scapegoat for the Council's failures.

The distinguished Council members overlook the fact that ninety to one hundred per cent of all club members already hold membership cards and have demonstrated their cooperation in student activities. If all club members not now holding cards were forced to purchase them, the student treasury would not be appreciably swelled by the few extra dollars thus high-handedly extracted. The budget would still not be balanced by a long shot.

The Council should seek additional needed funds by selling cards to the two or three thousand non-member students roaming about the campus instead of attempting to ram hasty, questionable, and outright dictatorial legislation down the throats of those loyal students who have already shown interest in the college by their participation in club activities.

At the last meeting of the Club Activities Board a motion—inspired by the same sort of thinking prevalent on the Student Council—to ban all organizations not achieving a hundred per cent membership was overwhelmingly defeated. This should make it clear to the Council that the clubs do not appreciate its meddling in their internal affairs by its attempt to arbitrarily designate who should or who should not be a club member.

I am heartily in favor of achieving student co-operation by voluntary means, and I am sure the Council has not exhausted all the possibilities in that regard, but this compulsory one hundred per cent business whether in student card sales or loyalty oaths, being an attempt of an intrenched minority group to impose its will upon the rest of us, has no place in our democratic processes. Or is the student government of City College no longer operating along democratic principles.

Joseph Azzolino, A.S. 2281

Take It From Kays

Apricot Brandy Potent

LOCAL police of the small California town of Byron were recently plagued with innumerable phone calls by people who claimed they were being bothered by gangs of drunk mudhens. The first few calls were taken as a joke, but when they persisted, an investigation was ordered, and the source of the trouble was discovered to be a huge pile of dried apricots that had been condemned and dumped in an empty field.

The 'cots fermented like mad in the hot sun, and flocks of the birds had imbibed to the point where they were flapping around on their tail feathers and chirping out of the sides of their beaks.

One reputable Byron citizen swore he watched one of them make at least a dozen futile attempts to raise his landing gear. Every time he got off the ground he would bang into a tree, fall back down, and then turn around and bang into the same tree again. Finally he settled down, hiccupped, and chirped "losht in an impenetrable foresht."

IT IS some sort of a tradition that everyone who has ever been connected with a newspaper is supposed to have it in the back of his head to retire some day and write the great American novel. Being no exception to the fact, we are diverting our somewhat limited talents in that direction right now.

In our opinion, being original is all right in its way, but it doesn't weigh very much. The best way to make moola is to do something that has been done before and proved successful. In other words, write a sequel to an already famous novel.

Take Jolson (you can have him), he is mammy-ing again and raking in enough cabbage to feed himself and pay Carls to keep his mouth shut—or open.

We thought maybe we would start off with a sequel to "The Rains Came" and call it "The Sewers Backed Up."

If that gets banned in Boston we could try a sequel to "Grapes of Wrath" and call it "Mad Raisins."

O'k, forget it, we'll stick to writing our colyum for The Gadsman.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ____ WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ____ Rose Hardie
STAFF EDITORS ____ Cy Donaldson, William Thomas

Baseball Team Faces Test With Stockton Cubs Here Tomorrow

The Ram baseball nine will be out to show their best tomorrow at Big Rec park, 7th and Lincoln Way, when they tangle with the Stockton College Mustangs in a conference double header.

If City College can squeeze by Stockton tomorrow in both games, the Rams may be on their way to capture the conference title because of the Cubs double win over last year's conference champs, San Mateo.

The college had plenty of players with them when they downed Monterey Peninsula College in a double header 10-5 and 10-9 two weeks ago. Bob McGovern and Jack Boland were given credit for the wins.

The Lobos came from behind in the first of the ninth in the second game of the double header to tie up the ball game, nine all by driving in five runs off pitcher Jack Boland.

With Caz Munoz coming to bat in the last of the ninth and slamming out a single to right field, and Al Robertson walking, sending Munoz to second, the little might Hook Arata came to bat to bang out a slashing single to center to end the ball game.

The Rams dropped their game with the California Frosh last Tuesday before Easter vacation 5-2. Pete Zasso was charged with the loss.

Coach Bill Fischer will have pitchers McGovern and Boland work tomorrow's games with John Panoleon behind the plate.

In the infield will be Jack Cuddy at first, Lou Williams on second, Bob Lacosta on third and Al Nicora at short.

Covering the outer pastures will be Cas Munoz, Hook Arata and Al Robertson.

Ram Golfers Lose San Mateo Match

The college golf squad fell prey to the San Mateo linksmen last Friday, March 31, by a score of 9 to 6 at the Harding Golf Course.

In the opening flight of match play, Fred Streble of San Mateo stroked a par 72, two under Merle Fisher, number one greensman for the college.

Walt Stevens, home town clubber, was the only Ram representative to defeat a Matean. He halved a match with Dick Dunbarr of the Bulldogs 79 to 80.

Golf Mentor Ralph Hillsman found the weather "just right," for the 18 hole course.

The Rams are slated for another try at San Mateo, rated as a top contender for the conference match plays by Hillsman, this coming April 24.

Nine more conference meets remain on the agenda for the Hillsman linksters, among them Menlo, reportedly second best to San Mateo, the San Francisco Police, acknowledgedly semi-pro, the University of San Francisco, and Modesto.

Tri E Top Intra Mural Squad

Defeating Beta Tau 32-19 last week, Tri E took over the top position in Fraternity League cage standings. Beta Tau was previously undefeated.

Other Fraternity scores for games last week were Pi Delta Koppa 28, Alpha Lambda Sigma 19; Kappa Rho 18, Gamma Phi Ypsilon 14; Beta Tau 41, Gamma Phi Ypsilon 22; Tau Chi 35, Alpha Lambda Sigma 27, and Beta Delta 25, Alpha Lambda Sigma 15.

In the Independent League there were no outstanding upsets as favored teams continued to lead the race. The undefeated Crusaders, after a three day layoff, downed the Dark Horses 39-30. Other scores were Block SF Bues 44, Jokers 28; Bella Vista 47, GPV 3; Block SF Tamales 24; Hotel & Restaurant 20.

Victors in other contests for the last week, all in defaults, were Dark Horses, Tramps, Whiz Kids, Sharps & Flats, Cellar Dwellers and Washington Alumni.

For students interested in volleyball, intramural director Tom Wilson has set the entry deadline for Wednesday, April 19. Other sports that will follow include touch-football, tennis, ping pong and badminton.

Make it a date . . .
• West Portal's
• Most Popular Fountain
DENNY DAIRIES
321 West Portal
Open Daily - - 8 a.m. to 1 a.m.
Delicious Ice Cream, Grilled Sandwiches and Waffles

Phone JU 4-9251
1963 Ocean Ave.
MIKE'S SPUDNUTS
Evano J. Maionchi
TAKE HOME ICE CREAM MILK SHAKE HAMBURGERS

Cole says . . .
"Be the man of the year with the haircut of the hour"
COLE'S Barber Shop
across from west campus

Guardsman SPORTS

Friday, April 14, 1950 | Page 3

Stanford Hosts Dance Festivities

Between 20 and 25 City College students will attend the Stanford Invitational Folk Dancing Festival on Sunday, April 16, at Stanford. Various other bay area colleges have been invited, but as yet City College will be the only two-year college included in the dancing festivities.

This afternoon there will be a coed badminton playday with Marin here. All students who have signed up to play are expected to be at the women's gymnasium at 2:15 p.m. Another coed badminton meet will be held next Wednesday with San Mateo at San Mateo.

Trackmen Meet UC Freshman Tomorrow On Berkeley Oval

By Terry Ryan

Coaches Grover Klemmer and Roy Burkhead will finish their prepping of the track team today for the second meet of the season tomorrow at Berkeley, when the Ram thinclads meet the California Frosh and Santa Rosa on the Bear track at 10:45 a.m.

The mentors got a good look at their prospects and at the two strongest teams in the conference at the first of this month when they took a back seat to Sacramento and Modesto.

Several lights are still bright for the coaches however, and they hope that some of the candidates for money places will begin to pay off as the season progresses.

Skip Carnegie, recently on the basketball team and now switched to track, but with no practice under his belt, hustled to a third place in the quarter mile while logging his best time of his career. Sal Macisitelli lagged behind in the mile and had a hard time getting past the pack to take an easy second place.

Ed Reed and Joe Greggans took third and fourth places in the 100 yard dash while Irv Beltrame came in third in the 100. Charles Allums showed promise while jumping to a second place spot in the broad jump.

"This meet does not show our potentialities as well as it shows the strength of the league this year," Klemmer said. He will depend on the money-getters of the Sacramento meet to garner points in the tomorrow's California contest.

Riding Club Enters Stanford Show

Members of the college Horseback Riding Club will participate in an all Bay Area College Horseback Riding Show at the Stanford University arena, Saturday, April 29; Merritt Olds, president of the Spur and Saddle Club here, said yesterday.

Final date for filing an entrance application with the Spur and Saddle Club, meeting today in the dining area of Room 108, is Monday, April 17. Any student of the college, experienced in horsemanship, may enter the show.

Accent on Equitation is the stressed point of the show which is both English and Western in the type of saddles to be used, and will feature eight events ranging from bareback jumping to the stake race, which is similar to the skiing slalom, Olds also said.

Most of the eight events are to be judged on the showmanship of the rider, his posture, seating, and on the performance and suitability of the horse. The horses will be shown at a loose rein, a walk, jog, and canter.

Other Bay Area colleges and universities which may send riders to the show are Mills College, the University of California at Berkeley, San Mateo Junior College, and San Jose State College.

AFTER GRADUATION, WHAT?

When you graduate from Junior College, you may want to enter one of the business fields—accountancy, marketing and sales, production, finance, or personnel administration. If so, it's time now to start thinking about specialization.

Golden Gate College, in its day and evening schools, has maintained a distinguished record in preparing its graduates to assume important roles in all the major fields of business. Junior College graduates who have taken their degrees at Golden Gate College are successfully employed in Bay Area industries or in professional practice as attorneys or Certified Public Accountants.

If you plan to enter an occupation immediately upon graduation from junior college, summer term evening courses offer you practical training in Accountancy, Business Administration, Advertising, Insurance, Traffic or Law—training which will be invaluable in preparing you for advancement.

The opening date for the day schools of Accountancy and Business Administration in the Summer Semester is Friday, June 16. Some evening courses open in late May; others open June 13. Applications for admission are now being accepted.

Upon inquiry, you will receive a bulletin on the program of interest to you. Your college library also has reference copies of current college publications.

GOLDEN GATE COLLEGE
An Affiliate of the San Francisco YMCA
200 Golden Gate Avenue and 537 Market Street
Telephone PRospect 5-5774

At WISCONSIN and Colleges and Universities throughout the country CHESTERFIELD is the largest-selling cigarette.*

Always Buy CHESTERFIELD

They're MILDER! They're TOPS! IN AMERICA'S COLLEGES WITH THE TOP MEN IN SPORTS WITH THE HOLLYWOOD STARS

Copyright 1950, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Straight Talk

By Bill Thomas

IT is strange how some people aspire and struggle for the supposed honor and power of being president.

In the spring of 1949, Norman Reger ran for Associated Men Student President and lost to Frank Bayol by four votes.

This apparently cost him a chance for the AS Presidential candidacy, but in the last election he did become AMS President.

Then, three Tuesdays ago, AS President Don Parker and Veep Sandy McKay went over to USF for a rally. Therefore it was the job of the AMS President to take over the job of President for the day and preside over the Student Council.

Thus for one day Norman Reger took up the post which he had seemingly missed so narrowly. Gavel in hand, Reger sat at the President's desk.

Upon the agenda for that Student Council meeting there was nothing of importance; the meeting should have been over in ten minutes.

And that was where the human angle took hold, for Norm Reger continued the meeting by starting an unscheduled discussion of the Regional Junior College Student Government Conference held at Marin College.

One can suspect that there is no fun in being President for only ten minutes.

It should have been a very boring discussion for government meets are often long dry things.

Ironically, this one turned out to be different for it was a hot potato. In short, someone charged that none of the delegates knew what they were doing, or how they should vote, including Norman Reger.

In the end, the Student Council passed a motion ordering all delegates to these conferences to report to the Student Council before going to these conferences. Which is as nice a little crack as you can take at the person who is supposed to be leading the college's delegation.

Associated Student President Don Parker led the delegation.

And some of the boys haven't forgiven Norman Reger yet, and he himself has learned the real job of being president.

Deadline On Mardi Gras Booths Today

All applications for booths in the forthcoming Mardi Gras, to be held on Friday, May 19, must be in today, Norm Reger, Associated Men Student President, announced yesterday.

The deadline, originally set for Friday, April 7, was extended to assure all campus organizations the necessary time to prepare plans for booth decorations and float design, Reger said.

The booths, which will be located on the west campus parking lot along side Buildings 12 and 2, will feature such entertainment as hoop throws, skits, and ball-throwing.

The Hotel and Restaurant Division will sponsor a sidewalk cafe serving such carnival necessities as hot dogs and coffee. Many other booths will sell popcorn, Chinese food, and a variety of other exotic foods.

Dancing is scheduled for the parking lot opposite Building 12 to the music of Ben Watkins and his orchestra, which will be seated upon an elaborate bandstand facing Building 12. The immediate area between the bandstand and the building will be roped off in order to give the dancers enough room to swing, Reger declared.

Judo Team To Make Debut Tonight At 8

City College's new class in judo training will stage its first exhibition contest in an interbay competition beginning at 8 o'clock tonight in the men's gymnasium, Duke Moore, judo instructor, announced today.

Moore asked for a large turnout of students from this college to urge the CCSF team to victory in initial competitions. Admission is free, he said.

Black belt and brown belt judo experts will compete with men of equivalent rank from Oakland Evening High School and the College of Marin, in individual hand-to-hand bouts. Names of participants composing the teams were unavailable at press time.

The judo instructor added that there will also be exhibition contests in Police-Yawara and Ju-jitsu.

Springtime?

"MONKEYS are the cwaziest peoples," someone once said, and to prove this point, Photographer Shirley Maritzen focused her camera to record this interlude between Hack the chimpanzee of Fleishhacker Zoo and Dolores Courent of the photography class. The human interest picture was taken by Miss Maritzen during a recent photography class field trip to the zoo, one of several outdoor trips planned by Photography Instructor Bav Pasqualetti.

Pasqualetti said subsequent trips have been arranged to give student camera enthusiasts a chance to shoot other subjects including engineering projects and news events.

Date Is Announced For Counsellor Interviews

The first day for seeing counsellors about scheduling Fall classes will be Monday, April 17, Dr. F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, announced yesterday.

As in past semesters, an appointment must be made with the counsellor before registration numbers will be given out. Students having their counselling interviews early will get low registration numbers.

According to Dr. Marsh, registration date for returning students will be Tuesday, September 5, in the afternoon, and Wednesday, September 6, in the forenoon.

Noted Pianist Will Play At Concert

Maurice Uphrat, distinguished professional pianist, will be the guest artist featured in a concert to be held next Wednesday, April 19, in the campus auditorium, Flossita Badger, music director, announced yesterday.

Third in a series of monthly concerts for the spring semester, Uphrat is appearing under the auspices of the campus Music Guild. The content of his program is as yet not completed.

The purpose of these concerts is to acquaint students with the musical world and bring good musical entertainment to the college.

Admission to the concert is free, Miss Badger emphasized.

Speech Exam A Must For High Freshmen

All second semester students must take an examination in oral communication before registering for their third semesters, Anthony Paciotti, English instructor, said Wednesday.

The test consists of reading a paragraph or two of selected material and will require, he added, only three or four minutes of a student's valuable time.

The schedule for the tests to be given by Lucille Meredith, English instructor, and Paciotti, will be from Monday, April 24 through Friday, April 28, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and at 1 p.m. daily.

Distribution Points Changed For Paper

The Guardsman will be distributed to Associated Students in the main building—first floor, and in front of The Guardsman office in Building 12, starting today, Walt Heil, Guardsman editor, announced recently.

The paper formerly was distributed in the main building and at various locations on the west campus. The new distribution point was chosen for students attending classes on the west campus. Student were reminded by Heil that Associated Student membership is necessary to procure a copy of the paper.

Club Leaders Go To State Meet

Alpha Gamma Sigma officers, Virginia Cutler, president, and Robert Kays, vice-president, will attend the annual statewide conference of the honor society at Bakersfield on April 21 to interpret the Alpha Gamma Sigma constitution and to discuss future activities of the society.

Students having a 2.0 average and a 30 grade point average are still being accepted as members of the Alpha Gamma Sigma. Newly admitted members are Lloyd L. Morgan, Constantine Georgakas, Its Uenaka, Robert Tyson, and Ruth Adelson.

Presentation of the perpetual trophy will be made at the rally following the next CAB meeting, at which time club presidents should have submitted the names and grades of club members to Donald Jensen, adviser, Miss Cutler said.

Jensen will attend a conference of Alpha Gamma Sigma advisers on April 22, at Napa, California.

The next meeting of Alpha Gamma Sigma will be held on Friday, April 21, during college hour.

Work Starts For Flower Exhibit

The horticulture department, under the guidance of Raymond Peterson and Harry Nelson, are now laying the lawns and arranging the flower beds for the 18th Annual Spring Flower Show, which is to be held this month in the Oakland Auditorium, Nelson said yesterday.

The lawn has been cut into one-foot squares so as to be easily transplanted from the college to the show. Transplanting of the lawns is done weeks before the show opens, so that the grass will have regrown, and hidden the lines where they have been recently cut.

Last year the horticultural department received highest honors for having the best lawns at the show.

Horticulture students have pooled their cars to take the lawn from the college to the Oakland show, Nelson said.

"The Truth Shall Make You Free," the motto carried over the portals of the City College main building, is taken from the new testament, John, VIII, 32.

Let Us Patronize Them RAM BOOSTERS They Patronize Us

Ayoob's Sport Shop
Men's and Boys' Clothing
Featuring
Team & Club Jackets Tailored To Order
Also Athletic Equipment
2598 San Bruno Ave.

A. Walter McMurry

EXCELSIOR SCHOOL of DRIVING
LEARN TO DRIVE IN TRAFFIC!
DUAL CONTROLLED CARS
We prepare you for driver's examination
SPECIAL RATES
for students, payable in installments
4666 MISSION ST. AT OCEAN AVE.
JUniper 4-3687

Its a Strike! X
Bowl . . .
Johnny Swanson's MISSION BOWL
Free Instruction Daily
3140 Mission Street

TRAVEL-MINDED?
We handle all student tours to Europe, Mexico and the Orient
We plan . . . independent travel, too!
If travel-minded, call
The Students Travel Club
Morse-Gleason Co.
Travel Agents
323 Geary at Powell
SUtter 1-4869

A Different
ICE CREAM SPECIAL
Each and Every Week
Daily from 7 to 3:30
Avenue Coffee Shop
1612 Ocean Avenue

Paint & Decorate Figurines
Lil Audrey's
Dresden Craft
Free Instruction Daily
Also Tues. & Thurs. eves.
1443 OCEAN AVE. DE 3-4574

The Ladies' Shop
is proud to announce that
Carole King
Dresses For Juniors
ARE OURS ALONE IN THIS CITY!
1532 OCEAN AVENUE

TYPEWRITERS RENTED
GArfield 1-6633
3 MONTHS $7.50
Free Ribbon, Carbon Paper
Free Delivery
Tibbs Typewriter Co.
821 Market St., San Francisco

Where The Bunch Eats Lunch
- SODAS
- SHAKES
- SUNDAES
- SANDWICHES
- HAMBURGERS

ROBIN HOOD'S
Next Door to the El Rey Theater

Mother's Day is coming!
A Lovely Gift from
Gems of Art
will please her
1700 Ocean Ave. JU 4-0831

AUTO - TRUCK - FIRE
Standard Form Policies
at Low Costs
Compare Our Rates Before You Buy
C. E. PEARSON
1125 Ocean
JU. 5-4478
Prompt Personal Claims Service

Spring slacks . . . and jackets to match
at the
EL REY MEN'S SHOP
Opposite El Rey Theatre
Ties - Shirts - Sweaters
and a complete line of Colorful Haberdashery
for your
Spring Apparel
10% Discount with Associated Student Card

JOE and BILL'S
RICHFIELD STATION
LUBRICATION
Tires and Batteries
Washing & Polishing
1298 OCEAN AVE.

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP
Your haircut as You want it
1334 Ocean Avenue
2 blocks from campus

WE AIR EXPRESS
WE DELIVER WE TELEGRAPH
Chain of Flowers
Florists
CORSAGES — FLORAL DESIGNS
WEDDINGS
JUniper 4-9038 1905 Ocean Avenue
San Francisco 12

Ted's Ocean Cleaners
50c
SLACKS • SHIRTS
SKIRTS
DRY CLEANED
Corner of Ocean & Plymouth

The Guardsman EXTRA

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

VOLUME XXX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—TUESDAY, APRIL 18, 1950 NUMBER 12

Row On Budgets Breaks With Council Maintaining Stand!

Green Thumbers Enter Exhibit In Garden Show

Oakland's Civic Auditorium exposition building will be literally deluged April 21-28 by the college Flower Shop and Floricultural departments when they enter California's 18th Annual Spring Garden show with an array of flowers and plants grown, nurtured and displayed by college students.

A preview of the affair and judging will be held Thursday, April 20, at the exposition building, which is located across the street from Lake Merritt.

Tropical flowers, especially for the occasion, are being flown in from Hawaii by the Flower Shop.

Harry Nelson's floriculture group and John Lawrence's Flower Shop class (both the florists and the floriculturists have taken top honors in past garden shows) will be actively displaying their wares at the garden doings, patterned after the 1939 World Fair theme, "Pacifica," 14 hours a day.

Three Flower Shop teams of four students a piece will show off their plants in relays for the eight day session.

The Flower Shop is distinguished not only for winning medals at every show in which it has entered, but also for being the only two-year college course of its kind in the nation.

COLLEGE PRESIDENT LOUIS G. CONLAN attended his first council meeting of the semester last Friday, when he spoke to the Student Council on the hundred per cent Associated Student membership law, asking that it not be enforced for the opera productions until next semester and that the council write a new legal law.

Conlan Asked For Legal Ruling On 100 Per Cent Law; Council Warned Operas May Stop

Four Student Leaders Threaten To Quit At Special Meeting

By Bob Rezak

The Student Council took upon its shoulders last Friday a problem weighted with legal complications and one which is expected to reach a climax at today's Council meeting.

Requests for the San Francisco Board of Education attorney's rulings on the legal status of student funds climaxed a special two hour and forty-five minute emergency council meeting last Friday.

Associated Student President Don Parker said that the special meeting "was called to consider some emergency problems," namely the passage of a resolution by the council last March 2 which prohibited campus organizations which get money from the Associated Students from accepting their budget vouchers from the AS until they attain 100 per cent AS membership.

Finance Committee Chairman Tom Campanella said the meeting's "specific case in question" was the opera production. He said that because of the council's ruling that non-one hundred per cent organizations be denied money from the AS, the two opera productions scheduled next month, Down in the Valley and Martha, faced the possibility of not being produced, because of those enrolled in classes engaged in production, 38 were checked as not AS card holders.

(The total number involved is about 130 including members of the choir, orchestra, opera workshop, folk dancing classes, and the stage crew, and there was question as to the accuracy of the check.)

Budgets were frozen by President Parker March 21 at a time when the opera production staff had already made contracts and incurred expenses connected with productions of this size, Campanella declared.

He added that a total of the expenses for the productions so far was roughly $1000.

Campanella suggested that the council do one of three things:

1. Reappropriate the budgets for all campus organizations (which, in some cases, have already been spent).

2. Dip into the reserve funds to pay for opera bills (but this would leave only $100 in the reserve fund).

3. Allow the 38 people to perform and try to salvage the money with the stipulation that these people cannot perform or appear in the operas unless they have an AS card.

(Actually, when budgets were passed, $1500 was listed as anticipated opera income, with $1350 voted to underwrite the productions.)

Other council members, who had been sitting calmly and deeply interested throughout the lengthy discussion, took Campanella's suggestions as a cue to sound their opinions on the matter.

Sophomore Councilman Frank Bayol said he felt that "the council must define extra curricular activities. "Are they (the 38 non AS members) in an extra-curricular activity or in a class?" he asked.

Pat Patterson answered. Bayol, commenting that "they get credit for class hours and not after-school hours."

"You say these students aren't getting credit for these outside activities," Bayol continued.

"Are they there because they are forced to be there? Do they expect

(Continued on page 4, column 1)

ASSOCIATED STUDENT PRESIDENT DON PARKER who championed the hundred per cent law at last Friday's special Student Council meeting and warned that he might resign if the Board of Education lawyer called the law illegal and Associated Student funds subject to the allocation at the hands of the board.

How Dispute Over Hundred Per Cent Ruling Developed

By Bill Thomas

First action on the curtailment of Associated Student fund use and the first restrictive measures covering such use by organizations was started at the beginning of the semester when Don Parker took over the post of Associated Student President.

While Parker was asking every student to buy AS cards and requesting all organizations to have hundred-per cent Associated Student membership, Wally Levin was warning of the "severest crackdown in the history of the college" on illegal AS card use.

Cards were checked before admission to every Associated Student activity and punched. Also rallies with top musicians and dances and sports events were offered only to the Associated Student members while the benefits of membership were heralded to the student body.

Associated Student membership reached a new high in recent Spring semesters. However, the budget was a full $9,000 short of the amount allocated a year before, and the prospects for the future were dimmer.

On March 2, in President Louis Conlan's absence, a law was passed based on the theory propounded by Parker and other council members that only Associated Student members should benefit from Associated Student funds, that "All members of organizations which get money from the Associated Students must have 100 per cent membership before they may accept their voucher from the Associated Students."

On March 21, the first direct enforcement of the law came about when Parker wrote a letter to Doctor Oscar E. Anderson, controller for AS funds, telling him that the hundred per cent law was to be enforced and no budget was to be released without the membership list of the organizaton being cleared.

There was no immediate opposition to the law. However, as time passed opposition grew from various groups such as Alpha Gama Sigma and the

(Continued on page 4, column 2)

Cafeteria Closed To Students Thursday

The main cafeteria will be closed to students during regular breakfast hours on Thursday, April 20, owing to a breakfast scheduled to be served in the cafeteria for more than 300 persons attending the National Convention of College Registrars and Admission Officers.

Limited breakfast service will be offered in the student fountain on that date. It will be opened at 7:30 in the morning to accommodate breakfast patrons, instructor Lawrence Wong, in charge of the Restaurant Management class, announced yesterday.

CAB Plans Meet On Club Charters

Several discrepancies were discovered in regard to organization petitions, rosters, and constitutions at the CAB membership committee meeting, Stan Fletcher, committee chairman and CAB vice-president, announced last week.

Straightening out these difficulties will be one of the jobs at tomorrow's CAB meeting.

"Every organization that was on campus last semester and who wanted to be on campus this semester, should send a representative to the April 19 CAB meeting," Fletcher added.

The organizations declared off-campus March 29 may send a representative to plead its case for reinstatement on campus; however, all action must be cleared through Louis Batmale, dean of student activities.

Tomorrow's Concert Features Outstanding Local Pianist

Spotlighted in the monthly concert to be held tomorrow in the west campus auditorium at 12 o'clock is Maurice Euphrat, noted pianist of San Francisco, Flossita Badger, concert director, announced recently.

A native of San Francisco, Euphrat spent his first eight years of piano study under the direction of Margaret Christensen in this city. At Yale University in 1942, he studied with Dean Bruce Simonds. Entering the army early in 1943, he served in the South Pacific theater for three years, where he gave numerous concerts for the allied forces.

He returned to Yale in 1946, and in the following year, on a national broadcast, he gave the first performance of the William Rice Sonata. For the past year and a half Mr. Euphrat has been studying with Mme. Elsie Cook Larcia of San Francisco.

In recent concerts Euphrat has become somewhat noted for performing new music, according to Miss Badger. Included in his program for tomorrow is Sonata In F Minor, by an English composer, Howard Ferguson. Written in 1940, this composition was first performed in San Francisco by Euphrat in a concert at the Marines' Memorial Theater in October of 1949.

Euphrat is appearing under the auspices of the Music Guild and the college Music department. The concert is under the direction of Miss Badger and Meyer Cahn.

Euphrat's program is as follows: Two Sonatas by Scarlatti, E Major and G Major; Variations in C Minor by Beethoven, Sonata in F Minor by Howard Ferguson.

Opera May Play San Francisco High Schools

In view of the delay caused by the 100 per cent rule which the Student Council passed last month, Robin Dunn, production manager of the operas, suggested yesterday that it might be wise to present Down In The Valley only in high schools in the Bay Area.

President Louis G. Conlan is giving serious consideration to the proposal forwarded to him by Dunn. Meanwhile, the question of having the productions staged before the college and general public is in the hands of President Conlan.

Word from persons attached to the productions indicated that everyone is eager to cooperate with President Conlan in any means possible.

Down In The Valley is a contemporary American folk opera composed by the late Kurt Weill. The opera is scheduled to run for forty minutes. However, observers have clocked it at thirty-eight minutes.

Valley includes in its cast members from the Folk Dancing, A Cappella Choir, Orchestra, and Opera Workshop organizations.

The leading roles are sung by George Saunders, president of the Music Guild; Eileen Scott, and Bob Sherratt, Mrs. Scott recently reached the finals in the annual Atwater Kent Vocal content and goes to Los Angeles early in May to participate.

Two Candidates For Vacant Council Seat

Nominated as candidates to fill the Freshman seat in the Student Council vacated recently by Stan Seaman are Pete Gentile and Ronald Zimmerman.

The council failed to vote on the two candidates because of certain eligibility aspects on which the candidates were unable to supply information.

The election was tabled until today's meeting of the Student Council.

Candidates to vacated seats on the Student Council are elected according to Article Four of the Constitution.

Finance Chairman Tom Campanella declared that Opera Workshop, Choir, Band and Orchestra, Forum, Drama, Men's Glee, and WAA budgets remain frozen.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

HONESTLY now, what's the world coming to? Here some press agent went to all the trouble to dream up National Laugh Week (April 9-15), and what happened . . . nothing. People just went on acting as dyspeptic and ulcerous as ever.

Now, personally, we get a big kick out of NLW. For that matter we get a big kick out of all these "national weeks." They start out with shouting and alarms and great expectations, then end up by going over like a lead balloon.

As a result, we're starting a national week of our own. It's called National Laugh Like Made At Any National Week Week, and if everyone does his share we may laugh all the press agents back into sanity. Or is that too much to hope for?

Hey, buddie, ya wanta see some pitchurs dept.: The college's photography classes are holding an open house this coming Monday, April 24. Drop around between 8:30 in the morning and 5 in the afternoon—they'll be glad to show you around — . . . and by the way, everyone knows that photo instructor Joe Rosenthal took the famous flag-raising pic on Iwo Jima. Or do they?

Twenty-two Hotel and Restaurant students trekked all the way up to the Nut House—near Vacaville—for their annual blowout last Friday. Seems a long way to go for dinner, but then, who are we to argue with experts.

Hiiyo, Giddap, et cetera: Do you sneer when the hero gallops across the screen, looking as if he'd be more at home in a night club than on a horse? Then here's your chance . . . the college is entering two horse shows and anyone who wants to ride is welcome. The first show is this Sunday, April 23, at Stanford University, the second, Sunday, May 28, at San Mateo. Get in touch with Laurine Bergin, WAA adviser, or Merritt Olds, president of the Riders Club.

No wonder enrollment at the college keeps growing. Now the audio visual aids people are going around to junior highs and showing colored slides of social and class activities on campus.

When the college's next opera, Down in the Valley, is presented June 1-3 the singers will get plenty of publicity, so how about a word on the students who'll do the folk dancing sequences. Namely: Walter Kwar, Gerry Herfield, John Wilkins, Gene Kelly, Lillian Lawson, Mary Lee, Esther Mark, and Gay Glick.

And now, if no one minds, we'll grab a fast plane for the high hills. You see, it was just 44 years ago today that S.F. had a major earthquake, and there's just no sense in pushing your luck too far.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, Number 12 TUESDAY, APRIL 18, 1950 Page 2

Accord Can Be Reached Now If Working Basis Established With Administration, Council

THERE comes a time in every editor's life when he must make a definite stand on an issue that is of vital importance to the persons reading his publication.

Such an issue was brought before the Student Council in a special meeting last Friday. The issue up for discussion was the highly controversial 100 per cent rule and the organization that brought the entire matter to a head was the opera productions. Certain of the cast members do not belong to the Associated Students. Consequently the productions could not draw the money needed to stage its show.

At this point a certain amount of background is needed to clarify the highly complicated situation.

On March 10, eight full days after the council passed the 100 per cent rule, we editorialized that coercion would not work in enforcing the law, which stipulated that any organization must have full Associated Student membership before drawing a voucher.

Since the time of the passage of the rule, the campus has been subjected to a wave of bad feeling that reached a climax last Friday and will probably reach another today.

To enforce the law, Associated Student President Donald Parker, on Tuesday, March 21, without the council's approval, forwarded a memo to Controller Oscar Anderson informing him to freeze all budgets unless notified that the organization was 100 per cent. Finance Chairman Thomas Campanella was put in charge of finding out what organizations were 100 per cent and what organizations weren't.

LAST Thursday Campanella said that all but six organizations had been given the go-ahead signal. The productions, which had incurred expenses before the budgets were frozen and after the budgets had been passed, could not go ahead because additional funds were needed.

Actually the legal point involved was brought to a head by the necessity of immediate clearance of the budget concerned or cancellation of the productions.

That brings us up to last Friday's special session of the council, whose duty it was to reach a decision. We admire the individuality of the members for their sincere stand on the issue. For that the council deserves any congratulations that may be forthcoming. However, after much heated debate, the Student Council did not reach a decision.

Furthermore, the majority of the members feel that they are being thwarted by the 38 holdouts in the opera cast. Therefore the council did not retract or rescind the 100 per cent law.

At this point, College President Louis G. Conlan said, "The money becomes the property of the school district once it is collected from the students. The attorney for the Board of Education has said that non-card holders could not be excluded from any activity in the college."

"We ought to consider the legality of the plan we did pass in council March 2," Randle Street declared. "We are obviously arguing on something that is non-existant, under the law, President Conlan stated. If this is so, then we'd better start all over again."

Later President Conlan said, "I would like to devise some legislation and enact it now whereby no budgets become final until the matter (the 100 per cent ruling) is determined by the AS. Make no expenditures toward next semester until we set it up."

WE, for one, are in full support of President Conlan's plan and where the basic principles behind the 100 per cent rule are fine the members of the council are acting in an immature manner when they threaten to resign — which they did — and there is nothing wrong with having a law not work. Legislatures throughout the nation find this out every year.

Furthermore, we believe that the council and the administration can reach a working basis without jeopardizing the future of the college.

Pulse Of The Campus

Ram's Horn

• Students Lack Good Manners

Editor, The Guardsman:

Your editorial of March 24 was very interesting. Our thoughts hinge on the "manners" of not only "Sammie the Ram," but of the other individuals, both male and female, that attend this institution.

For some reason or other, common courtesy is going, or should we say "has gone," with the wind. Some people think of themselves, for themselves, and by themselves. Perhaps that is a wonderful way to live if one is, or could be a hermit! But, unfortunately other individuals do make up this wonderful world of ours.

Coming across the west campus or going to the gym, one can hear any number of miscellaneous words or phrases getting altogether too common!

Do these young people realize that they are "idols" for the younger generation coming up? It's not too impossible to realize, if one stops to think of his actions, and what others might think!! We are the builders of tomorrow; we have many followers even if we're not aware of it; we should be models to that certain group who will be the builders of the future.

We're not old stick-in-the-muds, but we do believe there is a time and place for everything!!

"Dot and Dash"

• Alpha Phi Omega Serves Too

Editor, The Guardsman:

I have noticed an article in The Guardsman about volunteers for library work. Why not mention that for the past year the Alpha Phi Omega fraternity has been make it a point to devote a certain number of hours per member to helping in the library.

We would appreciate some notice of our work.

Al Marchesi, Public Relations, Alpha Phi Omega

PanoRAMa With Jones

Midterms Made Easy

A FEW weeks ago one of the college's instructors was explaining to his class just what the coming midterm examination would include.

"The test will cover chapters 12 through 16," he offered, "with emphasis on chapters 12, 13, 14, and 15. So, the test will primarily be on 12, 13, and 14, but study chapters 12 and 13 carefully."

IT DOESN'T REQUIRE a student majoring in law to figure this one out. Recently, in Oklahoma, during a last minute rush for licenses, the County Tax Agent received a check for $23.65.

A few days later the county official received the check back from the bank and found it marked "no account." Upon closer examination he discovered that it was signed by "U. R. Stuck."

HEAR ABOUT THE TWO FLEAS who fell madly in love with each other? Well, one day they got married, and since they wanted to get ahead in life, they both went to work. After a long period of hard labor, they sat down one evening to count their savings and were surprised to find they had saved five dollars.

They both agreed that if they could save five dollars they were capable of saving ten. So, they continued their hard work until finally they had scraped together ten dollars.

Then they went out and bought their own dog.

A NOTE TO THE GIRL STUDENTS: "Ladies, do you find it hard to get good grades? Does a bout with your Political Science text leave you with red eyes, and ruptured pupils? Take heart, ladies, remember that a gal's I.Q. is what a man looks at last."

DID YOU KNOW THAT Bronx Zoo in New York City operates the world's largest earthworm-breeding farm in the world? The zoo's two duck-billed platypuses eat 25,000 large earthworms a month.

Or, did you know that in Kyoto, Japan, sea shells are used in place of church bells. The Shinto priests call the people to worship by blowing into the giant shells.

WE'RE NOT HOLDING a course in home economics, but we do have a recipe. The recipe for perpetual ignorance is to be satisfied with your opinions and content with your knowledge.

AN INDIGNANT LADY recently informed a policeman that she always rubbed the chalk marks off of her tires because she wanted to keep her car neat and clean.

Another driver explained to the same policeman that he weaved his car back and forth across the street so that his gasoline would slosh about and he wouldn't run out of gas.

A good thought to have in mind before the next midterm period, "If you don't learn anything from your mistakes, then there's no sense in making them.

Feminine Viewpoint

Pledge Week Here Again

By Bobbie Jackson

ONCE again, that week when the sororities pledge new members has his the campus, and one sees various co-eds decked out in different colored hats and skirts, and acting in a seemingly foolish way.

This is, if you will pardon the expression, "Hell Week"; a week during which the neophytes of these groups must obey orders that senior members give and perform all tasks expected of them.

The main idea seems to be that if one survives the rigors of "hell week," then one is proved worthy of becoming a full-fledged member.

Although the women think their pledge period is bad; a great deal more is expected of the men pledging fraternities, in as much as they must polish shoes and cars and suffer an informal initiation.

As a point of information for those who are not sure which group each outfit denotes, they are as follows: Grey skirts and red hats are Kappa Phi pledges; red skirts and red and white hats are Theta Taus; navy skirts and middes with red and yellow hats are Phi Beta Rhos; blue and white colors are Alpha Lambda Chis; green and white are for Delta Psi; and yellow and white outfits indicate Zeta Chi pledges.

Pledges are not required to take orders from anyone except members of their own organization. The only exceptions to this ruling, are the sororities that have brother fraternities. Theta Tau pledges may be ordered about by Beta Tau men; Phi Beta Rho pledges by Beta Phi Betas; and Alpha Lambda Chi by Tri-Epsilon men.

Turn about is fair play, however, and during the men's "hell week" the new men must obey the orders of the sorority members.

Most members look back on their pledging period as one of fun, although some of it wasn't so at the time, and they feel that they did meet a lot of people and acquired numerous new friends.

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Frats Welcome New Members; Drama Club Searches For Talent

With fraternity pledging activities completed and this semester's editions of Hell Week almost over and done with, the club world turns to welcome new members into the campus social whirl.

The formal initiation of Beta Tau men was held last Saturday night. New members initiated into the fraternity were the following "lucky seven": Maurice O'Brien, Arthur Pappas, John Wright, Bob King, Doug Smith, Ray Sullivan, and Jim Yates.

Russian River was the site for the informal initiation of Tau Chi Sigma pledges. Among those who attended were the pledges proudly seen wearing the traditional Tau Chi pledge hats about campus during Hell Week. The "proud pledges" were Chuck Liebscher, Ed Mulvihill, Frank Stager, Don Smith, Ralph Reed, Vic Morales, Cecil Cushing, Art Pratt, Stan Jones, Frank Green, Wally Levin, Sam Chicos, Bud Pate, Don Frolli, Bob Ward, and Eric Marlow.

Results of a late election of new officers of the Chinese Students Club are in and here they include Bill Tend, president; Lillian Tong, vice-president; Harvey Ching, treasurer; Stella Chu, recording secretary, and Daisy Kong, corresponding secretary.

Here's a touch of romance: At a recent meeting of the Zeta Chi's, sister Carla Jo Penington announced her engagement to Peter Grimes by passing the traditional box of chocolates. Grimes is a second year post grad student at Cal.

More romance: Ruby Connolly, Alpha Lambda Chi, recently formally announced her engagement to Warren Keator. The two some plan to be married late this June.

A joint meeting was held on the evening of Wednesday, April 5, between the Theta Tau's and the Beta Phi Beta's at the home of Al Gordon.

This Friday night the college age group of the Bay Area will see the beginning of something quite different and unique in the realm of after dark entertainment. The beautiful Casino Room of the Hotel Richelieu will be the scene of the "Collegiate Capers" dances, beginning April 21 and continuing every Friday night thereafter. Dancing will be from 8 to 1, toll $1.00 per person.

The Drama Club is currently searching for talent for their presentation entitled "Rip Skits" at the annual Mardi Gras, Friday, May 19. They urge all students interested in trying out for "Rip Skits" to attend the meeting in Room 28 during college hour this Friday.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF — WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR — Rose Hardie
STAFF EDITORS — Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Avey, Larry Boles, David Brewer, Gretcne Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, George Ebert, Barbara Egolan, Ten Gould, Ray Harvey, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kanaya, Richard Larrick, Henry Louie, Herb Marvin, Warren Northwood, Bob Rejak, Elaine Stamos, Jack Vanderbilt, Georgia Watkins, Fallon White, Ralph Wiesner, Euro Williams, Bernita Davis, Don Briese, Doug Hayward, Elsie Monroe.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcomb.
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Kaye, Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, assistant; Terry Ryan, Jack Spalding, Bob Valli, John Diersing.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandre Marks, Dolores Aguirre, Assistants.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Steinheimer, Shirley Meritzen, Fred Matthes, Ken Hillmer, Herb Weiss, Dick Jarrett, Dick Lee, Kay Wood.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz, Mary Anne Quartarell.
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normanly, Terry George, Harry Peretchan, Bob Easton.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Adviser — Joan Neuner
Faculty Business Adviser — Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Windup For Intramural This Week

By John Dierking

The intramural basketball schedule winds up today, with the Lyons of the National League, Tri E of the Fraternity League, and the Hilltoppers of the American League leading the pack for the Intramural playoffs.

The schedule for the playoffs isn't definite as yet, and the date not set, but the mentioned teams will be in there to try and cop the title of being the number one Intra basketball team of the college.

Intramural Director Tom Wilson announced yesterday that tomorrow is the deadline for students who are interested in volley ball to sign their teams with him in the men's gymnasium by tomorrow, April 19.

This year's Intramural Volley Ball league should be very good since quite a few of the boys were interested in basketball and are continuing on into volley ball, Wilson also stated.

Today's schedule for the Intramural basketball will be as follows: Jokers vs. Aces; Washington vs. Cellar Dwellers; and Pancho's Tamales vs. Tsetse Flies, in the men's gymnasium at 3:10 p.m. Lyons vs. Pittsburgh Hot Shots; Tramps vs. Gamma Phi Ypsilon No. 2; and Block SF vs. Dark Horse at 4:10 p.m. in the men's gymnasium.

Of course this might not be a race for the top spot, but as yet no one knows who is going to get the award as number one team in the cellar.

At this rate, competition for bottom-of-the-deck spot should be interesting.

Going out to see that they won't land there will be the Hotel and Restaurant, Alpha Lambda Sigma, Pi Delta Koppa, Jokers and the Blues.

Golfers Play In Stanford Open

Golf Coach Ralph Hillsman's linksters spent a somewhat successful three-day stay at Stanford during the Easter vacation, Wednesday through Friday, participating in medal play which featured most of Northern California's college golfers.

John Baumgartner, the college's number seven man, placed fifth in the singles scoring contest, which, according to Hillsman, was a notable accomplishment.

The meet was actually out of his team's class, reported the golf mentor, but did provide good experience for the Rams, who were highly rated in previous medal matches.

A three day session was in almost direct contrast to happenings of last year's spring season when the Hillsman N.C.J.C.C. conference winners, playing in their own league, dominated the Stanford course by a landslide.

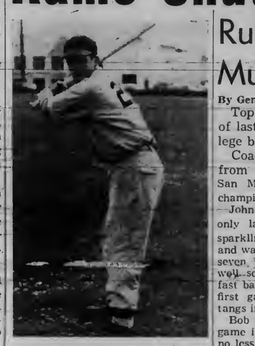
A few of the links teams remaining on the college calendar are the University of San Francisco, Menlo, San Mateo, Hartnell, and the San Francisco Police.

Boulevard Market
667 Monterey Blvd.
Groceries -- Delicatessen
Fresh
Fruits and Vegetables
★
FREE DELIVERY
JUniper 5-3393

"We Operate Our Own Plant"
3 Day Service
THE MONTEREY CLEANERS
Look at your clothes . . . other people do
643 Monterey Blvd. DElaware 3-7644
ALTERATIONS . . . REPAIRS

Guardsman SPORTS

Volume XXX, No. 12 TUESDAY, APRIL 18, 1950 Page 3



Rams Shut Out Stockton

Rubsic, McGovern Quell Mustangs; Local Fielders Shine

By Gene Kelly

Top notch pitching and five timely baseHits were the highlights of last Saturday's two shut-out victories at Big Rec when the college ball nine hobbled the Stockton College Mustangs, 5-0 and 3-0.

Coach Bill Fischer's squad definitely looms as a title contender from their showing against the strong Mustangs, conquerors of San Mateo, last year's conference champions.

LOU WILLIAMS, last year's leading conference batter with .522, again lends his talents to Coach Bill Fischer.
—Photo by Maritzen.

John Rubsic, who joined the team only last Wednesday, turned in a sparkling mound performance in the and walking three while allowing but seven hits, most of which he kept well scattered. He used his blazing fast ball frequently to keep the Mus- first game, striking out 12 batters tangs in the stable.

Bob McGovern pitched the second game in less spectacular fashion but no less effective fashion, striking out four and walking one, while scattering six hits in the nightcap.

Rubsic furthered his own cause by singling in two runs after three straight walks loaded the bases in the second inning of the first game. John Pantoleon and Ed Coulter drove in one and two runs respectively in the third inning with their doubles.

In the second game, the Rams' first tally was batted in by Cas Munoz' second inning single, while Lou Williams' double in the fifth sent two more Rams galloping across the plate. Munoz led the hitters with four hits in the two games.

The locals looked sharp defensively as well, completing two double plays in the first game and picking off several runners in both.

Fischer was moderately optimistic after the games, remarking, "I don't say we'll win the title, but if the boys continue their steady improvement we should finish near the top."

Jack Boland will pitch for the Rams against Menlo this afternoon down the Peninsula.

Room 211 Is Site For WAA Meetings

Members of the Women's Athletic Association are having their regular college hour meeting place changed to Room 211, in the main building, beginning this Friday, April 21.

The WAA is accepting interested new members who still will be able to earn their awards.

The weekly tennis tournament players meet each Wednesday at 2:15 p.m. They have not progressed to any degree because of the lack of participation of those women who have signed up to play.

COLE'S CITY COLLEGE BARBER SHOP
Be Well Groomed
IT'S THE KEY TO SUCCESS
ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

ROBIN HOOD'S
Ocean Avenue is
Noted for its class.
So here's the place
To bring that lass.
Featuring
Shakes
Sundaes
Sodas
Sandwiches
●
Next Door To The
El Rey Theatre
Free Parking At The Rear
1962 Ocean Ave.

Ram Thinclads Meet Bear Cubs

By Terry Ryan

For the second time in a week, college trackmen face thinclads from Santa Rosa when the Ram travels to Santa Rosa tomorrow night to run in a dual meet.

The results of last Saturday's invitational meet at Berkeley, in which both squads entered against the California Frosh, are too late for publication today.

Coaches Grover Klemmer and Roy Burkhead have narrowed their team down to 20 men on the traveling group and about 10 more working out in home meets and time trials.

Several sprinters make the future look decidedly bright for track Coach Klemmer, who points to Irv Beltrame, Joe Greggans, Tom Hendrix, Ed Reed and Oscar Brown as point getters. However, he sees that this season's league, as viewed by the team at the Sacramento meet, is very much stronger than it was last year.

Stockton, always a threat, is strong, and along with Sacramento may dominate all meets. Menlo has little, but Modesto has a couple of men who will gain some places in the finals.

These are all the teams that Klemmer will make themselves known and the best that any other team will get is two or three final points, Klemmer stated.

In the field events a strong league is also evident as Cecil Bledsoe, collegc pole vaulter, failed even to qualify for the finals in the Sacramento meet with a leap of 11 feet. Shot putter John Bologna, a hope for field event mentor Burkhead, has been heaving the weights well enough to gain second and third places.

Once you've worn them, you'll know why. We can think of at least three reasons: they're impeccably tailored... they're made of the finest of pure wool gabardines... and they're most comfortably priced. 16.50

Nobody knows the campus like—Roos Bros

More About Emergency Council Meeting

Conlan Clarifies Status Of Student Funds

(Continued from page 1)

credit for enjoying themselves on the stage? What is $5 if it means success to them in this field? I feel they are trying to get something for nothing. You can't make money from nothing," he added sharply.

Joseph Schwab said that "bigness is no reason why there is badness. People who are members of the AS have the right to say; the 38 should not say."

Bayol leaped to his feet again. He said that the Student Council was not the one putting the student store plans or other activities into jeopardy.

"Rather," he said, "the antecedent of 'we' should be 'they' (the 38 non-members). They are jeopardizing everything. Their job, their duty is to comply with our legislation.

"Miss Badger (Flossita Badger, opera workshop director) seems to think that she has a special group. Possibly they aren't students," Bayol emphasized with a quick wave of his hand.

In his first appearance at a council meeting this semester, college President Louis G. Conlan took the floor to address the council.

"We shouldn't have to beat students on the head to join our association," he said.

President Conlan continued, "The timing on this thing (the ruling) was not too good and it was too drastic a move to put in . . . you didn't think it through. I am not sure that this action you are taking is legal.

"I know it is not legal to set up a college hour and then say that students who are not members of the student body cannot go to it," he declared.

"I condoned this, and said nothing because I wanted to help you in this thing," he added.

President Conlan explained his situation in the present crisis.

"We are, in my estimation, a unified school," he said. "One of our problems is to define the point where instruction ends and activities begin.

"I am right in the middle—open to criticism on both sides—and I didn't ask to get here.

"First of all," he continued, "if we do things in a college not according to public policy, who gets the criticism? I'll get it. I'm responsible. That's why I can't be divorced from activities. I have to come into these things.

"We are not in a good position financially," he agreed, "and that's why we got into this."

"This is what I would like to do," President Conlan indicated: "One, devise some legislation and enact it now whereby no budgets become final until the matter (the 100 per cent ruling) is determined by the Associated Students.

"Two, make no expenditures toward next semester until we set it up."

He added that he had no criticism of the council, that many laws do not work."

"The fact that you are working this out in your delliberations and discussions should be to your own eternal credit," President Conlan assured the council.

"I say again this is an important problem. It's larger than any one of us or any one individual and a lot of thought has to be given to it."

There were other discussions by the council and once again President Conlan was called to the floor to explain the law as it is prescribed under the Board of Education.

He said that "money becomes the property of the school district once it is collected from students. That means that all equipment you have ever bought here with student body funds belongs to the Board of Education, according to the law.

"The attorney for the Board has said that non-student body card holders could not be excluded from any activity in the school."

He said that the council has "given the funds over and they (the funds) have lost their identity as far as the council was concerned.

Rising from his chair and standing before the council with a sober face, AS President Parker said that "in all sincerity, if the council backs legislation which is morally legal, and that legislation is overruled by the powers that be, then I see no further use for student government."

President Parker said he did not feel that "any such law is a democratic means."

President Conlan replied, "Then you'll have to change the law."

And in a final statement, Parker said that if [illegible] can be governed by 38, then I will tender my resignation. It is my duty to uphold legislation." (What legislation he meant was not clear.)

Standing opposed to the 38 non-AS members, Bayol said that "if at any time 38 people can hold us, then, I think, I am not capable of this office and I'd be willing to resign now."

Schwab and Campanella indicated they too would resign if Parker's and Bayol's outlook was definite.

Once again President Conlan took the floor.

"If we put this to a legal determination and you people resign, then it is evidence of weakness . . . It's not good," he asserted.

More About How Dispute Developed

(Continued from Page 1)

numerous production organizations.

Then the CAB came out against the law, and Flossita Badger, music director, the following week revealed that unless a decision was reached that week (last week) the opera productions must be cancelled.

The opera organizations (orchestra, chorus, folk dance group, and opera workshop) had not attained hundred per cent membership among their 200 members.

That was the background of the council meting of last Friday. It was a background of trying to promote Associated Student membership, of keeping the benefits of such funds to members of the association, and of trying to revamp the depleted financial status of the Associated Students.

(Following the meeting, President Conlan advised Parker that the way to change the ruling is "for you to get to the legislature and tell them why the ruling should not apply to two year colleges.")

"It is not illegal for us at the beginning of the semester to define the activities we are going to support," President Conlan pointed out.

"Here," he said, "we've let this activity (the opera productions) gain momentum until we say to certain students, 'you can't participate.'"

President Conlan said that he has asked the board for a ruling on this law.

"We have to ask them," he said.

"The case needs a lawyer who is familiar with school law," he said.

Then he discussed the possibility of bringing out the board's attorney to work with the council so there is no question of illegality.

Randle Street advised the council that "we ought to consider the legal-[illegible] that we did pass in council (March 2). We are obviously acting on something which is non-existent, under the law, Mr. Conlan stated. If this is so, we'd better start all over again."

Street said he was inclined to agree with President Conlan's philosophy. He said the council should establish a concrete policy as President Conlan suggested.

James Reed was fast to consider Street's suggestion that the council act on the matter. He made a motion "that the Associated Students of CCSF underwrite the opera workshop as a business venture; that is, as an investment of student funds, and that the money gained from this business venture be added to the AS fund to be used at the discretion of the council."

(This was what the council voted in March when passing all budgets.)

Schwab asked Reed if he proposed this as a "money venture."

"I don't know what you mean by a money venture," Reed said. "This is an investment."

(Reed indicated that the administration had given $200 and the Board of Education $600 toward the opera productions.)

"Forty per cent is paid for and we get 100 per cent of the profits," Reed declared.

Bayol commented that he thought this motion was "merely a frivolous attempt at passing Miss Badger's budget.

"If we pass Miss Badger's budget," he said, "then we've just unfrozen it (council March 2). We are obviously acting on something which is non-existent, under the law, Mr. Conlan stated. If this is so, we'd better start all over again."

In view of this, President Parker ruled Reed's motion out of order.

Reed then moved that the council withdraw the opera production budget so that his former motion could become effective. The motion was defeated.

James Anderson, Lou Guevara, Pat Patterson, James Reed and Bob Tyson voted approval of the motion, while Bayol, Marjorie Bergset, Pete Chevrier, Lee Janover, Sandy MacKay, Ann McBride, and Schwab opposed the motion.

Joan Maranda and Ralph Vitterlein were not present.

There were no abstaining votes.

There was a move for adjournment, but several council members felt as did Street when he said, "We cannot throw our hands up in this matter—we must decide if we'll give Miss Badger the money—and let the chips fall where they may."

There was an expectancy of a settlement, or at least a wider clarification and understanding of the problem at today's council meeting.

Government Group Attends State Conference

Six members of the college's student government are planning to attend the ninth California Junior College Student Government Conference in Bakersfield, which is scheduled for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 20 to 22, Louis Batmale, dean of student activities, said yesterday.

The students who will attend are Don Parker, Associated Students president; Sandy McKay, Associated Students vice-president; Norman Reger, Associated Men Students president; Tom Dill, Walt Heil, Guardsman Editor; and Dean Batmale.

The conference is a climax of three sectional conferences held at the College of Marin in Kentfield, at Santa Maria Junior College, and at Ventura Junior College. Regional presidents Jack Osborn, William Laubly and Bill Farrell presided over the conferences.

Each member of a representative group will be charged $19.50 for room and board over the three-day stay.

EVERY DAY THOUSANDS ARE PROVING CHESTERFIELDS SMOKE MILDER

BE YOUR OWN CIGARETTE EXPERT says JAMES H. DARDEN, JR., Prominent Tobacco Farmer, Farmville, N. C.

A YOU BUY A PACK OF CHESTERFIELDS AND OPEN IT UP LIKE THIS.

B YOU SMELL THAT MILD, PURE AROMA. NO OTHER CIGARETTE HAS IT.

C YOU LIGHT A CHESTERFIELD AND ENJOY THIS FACT... TOBACCOS THAT SMELL MILDER SMOKE MILDER.

The Aroma Tells You...

We tobacco farmers know that when tobaccos smell milder they smoke milder. That's how smokers can know that the mild, ripe tobaccos Chesterfield buys from me and hundreds of other farmers will taste better, smoke cooler and much milder.

That's why I've smoked Chesterfield for 15 years.

(SIGNED) James H. Darden, Jr. FARMVILLE, N. C.

BUY THIS PACK TODAY and enjoy more smoking pleasure than any other cigarette can give you.

Always Buy CHESTERFIELD THE BEST CIGARETTE FOR YOU TO SMOKE

Copyright 1950, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

*LEVI'S

"America's Finest Overall"

Made in San Francisco Since 1850

Levi Strauss & Company

98 Battery Street

(*The name "LEVI'S" is registered in the U. S. Patent Office and denotes only overalls made by Levi Strauss & Co., San Francisco, California.)

Relax after class with Tall cool shakes and tasty hamburgers at the RAM SHACK Across from West Campus

El Padre

Try Our New Merchants Lunch 65c

- Is The Place To Go
- For Food That's Tops
- When Your Feeling Low

Dinners Served Until 10 p.m.

1425 Ocean

Mardi Gras Trucks Needed

Need for trucks of all sorts to participate in the Mardi Gras parade was put in the hands of the students by Norm Reger, Associated Men Student president, at a recent committee meeting.

The many campus organizations sponsoring floats in the parade are having trouble locating trucks to act as float bearers. Any student who can supply a truck of any size, through family ties or otherwise, is requested to notify Norm Reger at the AMS office in Building 2, on the west campus.

The parade being planned will consist of marching units, including the National Guard and Boy Scouts, and several bands to supply the paraders with the necessary music. A fleet of floats, representing nearly all the campus organizations, will fall in line to add the proper air to the Mardi Gras theme.

The parade will probably march from Junipero Serra Boulevard down Ocean Avenue to the west campus. A special unit from the college's photography department will take moving pictures of the parade for presentation to television audiences over station KPIX.

The main difficulties facing the Parade committee at the present moment, aside from the search for trucks, are the possibilities of having streetcars stopped along Ocean Avenue during the parade, and obtaining the necessary police aid to stop private cars from interfering in the line of march.

The first open air Mardi Gras was held last May and also featured for the first time an opening parade as part of the carnival. With the experience gained from last year's parade this year's should surpass all expectations in size, organization and color, Reger said.

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—FRIDAY, APRIL 21, 1950 NUMBER 13

Frisky Faculty Lets Down Sober Hair

Instructors Show Talent On May 12

By Mary Lou Cooper

Frisky, Frolicking, Frivolous faculty members will caper capriciously across the west campus auditorium stage May 12 at 8:15 p.m. as they facetiously face the footlights in the second annual Faculty Variety Show.

Chairman and producer of this glittering review of pedagogical talent, William Culver, is an English instructor in his spare time. Other members of the college faculty and administration who form the Variety Show Committee are Mary Jane Learnard, Reg Porter, Michael Griffin, Gertrude Norgard, Henry D. Soule, Paul Ellison, Laurine Bergin, John French, Katherine Pedley, Lucile Meredith, and Gertrude Somerville.

MCing this glamorous, scintillating, all-star show will be the eminent Edwin Browne, the college's dean of men. Three of the specialty acts so popular with the "kiddies" who saw last season's show are being revamped and will be presented again this year.

They are the counselling scene from "College Daze" by Luther Lyon, which had 'em "rolling in the aisles"; Campus Colts, wherein four faculty members equal two horses, and the CCSF Faculty Quarter of crooning mentors.

Proceeds from the extravaganza will go into a college scholarship fund. Last year's show netted approximately $400.

Admission has been set at 75 cents, and Don Jensen, Alpha Gamma Sigma sponsor, will handle sales.

COLLEGE FACULTY MEMBERS made the "Campus Colts" antics a hit number of the 1948 College Daze. This year's version in terms of a variety show presents several repeats from the 1948 performance, including the "Campus Colts." Producers insist there is no satire involved, nor any significance to the loss of one horse.

Flower Shop In Oakland Exhibit

Floral arrangements by the college flower shop, and floriculture exhibits from instructor Harry Nelson's Nursery department, are offering a twin bill throughout the rest of this week in the 18th Annual Spring Garden and Flower Show now in progress at Oakland's Civic Auditorium.

The highlight of Flower Shop student entrants is a large and picturesquely designed tropical flower cluster, accentuated by a six-foot high basket woven background of bamboo.

Approximately 60 of the student retail florists are actively engaged in the showing of their displays. At present, teams of four are working in shifts of four men each, watching over the flowers and answering questions, for 14 hours a day.

The Floriculture department is showing its vases of hydrangeas, rhododendrons and carefully tended lawns on the adjacent grounds of the auditorium.

Both groups are in competition with gardeners and florists from the entire Pacific area, but are rated by both Nelson and John Lawrence of the Flower Shop as potential medal winners. The floriculturalists have taken first prizes in competition for the last three years.

Special College Program To Honor Public Schools Week

The college will be host to the public on Monday, April 24, at a special program marking the beginning of the 31st annual Public Schools Week, Lloyd Luckmann, dean of university parallel courses, announced recently.

A dinner and program of entertainment, under the direction of Harold Cunningham, member of the Physics department, will lead off the evening's activities. The dinner will be presented in the cafeteria at 6 p.m., and the cost will be one dollar.

Following the dinner a musical program, featuring selections from the operas Martha and Down In The Valley by the choir and Opera Workshop will take place in Building 2 at 7:30 p.m. Dr. F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, will speak at this program.

A tour to points of interest on the west campus will round out the program, Luckmann added.

"The Public School-Democracy In Action" has been chosen as the theme for this year's Public Schools Week which takes place April 24 through April 29, and special emphasis has been given to the week through programs presented by more than 50 San Francisco civic, fraternal, and business organizations to better acquaint their members with the work of the public schools.

Similar programs throughout the state have concentrated attention on the public schools and their value to the community, Claude E. Fountain, Public Schools Week chairman, announced recently.

The public is encouraged to attend the program, Luckmann declared.

High Freshman Speech Exams End April 28

Speech tests for second semester students started Monday and will continue through Friday, April 28. Anthony Paciotti, English instructor announced.

The passing of this oral communication test or the completion of Communication 19A is a graduation requirement, Paciotti warned.

The last day for the speech tests being given by Lucile Meredith and Paciotti will be Friday, April 28. The hours are from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. daily, in Building 19, Room 1 or 2.

PA System Open To Clubs For Use

Announcement time on the college's public address system is available to any campus organization finding need for this utility, it was disclosed yesterday by Henry Leff, instructor of radio announcing.

He advised all college groups, clubs, and organizations desiring use of these facilities to apply for PA time through any of the deans' offices.

A written copy of any proposed announcement should be submitted to the dean at the time application is made, Leff commented.

Most announcements are broadcast on a static schedule in which the message is concluded precisely ten minutes after the hour.

"Loud speakers are found in nearly every main building classroom," Leff aired to a small word expert who quizzed, "You mean?" "Yes," the radio instructor sparked, "Our PA's time is your PA's time."

Gala Spring Fever Dance Takes Over Campus Tonight

Gamma Phi Ypsilon fraternity will present its third annual "Spring Fever" dance tonight in the west campus auditorium from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight, Vito D'Acquisto, chairman for the dance, announced yesterday.

Admission will be $1.35 per couple, and tickets may be purchased from the fraternity members or bought at the door. Dancing will be done to the music of Bert Whiting, his clarinet, and his orchestra. Whiting has played at many of the fraternity dances at Stanford, including proms and Alumni dances.

The Spring Fever dance was a big success last year, and the fraternity is working to make this year's dance an even more notable event. The committee is planning gala decorations in green and gold for the entire auditorium including a huge backdrop for the bandstand.

The traditional gardenia corsage will be presented to each of the women as they enter. D'Acquisto said that Bert Whiting is one of the best bands that has ever played for a City College dance, and his smooth music should fit the mood and style of all the dancers.

Tickets are being sold all this week by fraternity members who may be recognized by the green jackets with gold letters. They will also be sold at the door the night of the dance.

Forum Pre-Sales Pronounced Success

Forum ticket pre-sales were pronounced successful and the final selection of manuscripts for the literary magazine has been sent to the printer, Editor Curtis May said here yesterday.

The tickets are redeemable beginning Friday, May 5, when the magazine is placed on sale.

May requests that contributors do not come to either the Forum sponsor or staff to collect manuscripts until notified.

All work not printed will be returned to the authors in several weeks, after the committee has announced which manuscripts will be used.

To make the selecting of material as fair as possible, May said, one staff member cut the name off each manuscript received. He then numbered each manuscript and filed the name and number, and turned the nameless manuscript over to the editorial committee for judging.

The editorial committee was advised in difficult decisions by faculty members Miriam Escher, Sam Duff, and Don Snepp, and consists of the following students: Bob Kaye, chairman; Mary Lou Cooper, Paul Koch, Bob Johnson, Richard Larrick, Henry Louie, Herb Marvin, Kit Sornborger, and Alma Zito. The committee was also assisted by Jane Howarth.

Fred Foultz of the English department is sponsor of Forum magazine, an undertaking of Forum Club.

Opera Productions Cancelled; President Releases AS Funds; Per Cent Law Legal Ruling Soon

By Bob Rezak

Three new developments arose on the 100 per cent ruling issue at last Tuesday's regular Student Council meeting.

1. The legal advice on the 100 per cent ruling which the council sought last week from the San Francisco Board of Education attorney, Irving Breyer, was postponed until May 2 when Breyer comes here to work with the council to prepare a legal statement of activities.

2. The two opera productions, Martha, and Down In The Valley, are definitely cancelled because the council refused to reach a decision as to whether or not they should be produced. Thirty-eight members of the casts are non AS card holders. (This was where the original controversy arose.)

The council maintained that their ruling whereby no organization may accept budget vouchers from the Associated Students until they have 100 per cent AS membership, should hold until May 2 when it will be legally defined.

3. All budgets, which were frozen late last week by President Louis G. Conlan, are unfrozen once more and will be released to all 100 per cent AS organizations by Controller Oscar Anderson.

Associated Student President Don Parker said he had conferred with President Conlan and that "the attorney for the Board of Education, Superintendent of Schools Herbert C. Clish, and President Conlan have defined our motion on the 100 per cent ruling. They are not saying it is legal," Parker explained, "and they are not saying that it is illegal."

Parker said that "it may be merely because of the wording that this motion is illegal."

He announced that the 100 per cent motion will remain in effect until May 2 when the attorney and the council will make the final decision as to its legality or illegality.

In a statement to Guardsman Editor Walt Heil, President Conlan said that "we are going to approach it (the problem and the ruling) from a position where we can write a statement of activities—an entire statement that will be legal and logical—equitable for all students."

President Conlan said that "once it is established, the type of policy we want is going to be legal in every respect."

He added that he has invited Attorney Breyer to come out and define what is legal and what isn't and also to get a fair background on the case that will aid in preparing the statement of activities President Conlan mentioned.

Music Guild President George Saunders announced that the opera productions forfeited their budgets.

"That means there will be no productions," Saunders said.

He added that there wasn't time, as committments must be met, to produce the operas.

(The original purpose in Tuesday's meeting was so that the council could reach a decision on whether or not the operas would be produced.

(Since a decision had not been reached, faculty production manager Robin Dunn cancelled the two shows.)

Earlier, Flossita Badger, opera workshop instructor, had agreed to call a special meeting with all five faculty members and students connected with the productions to discuss the possibility of going ahead with the shows.

The council maintained its original stand.

Peter Gentile was installed as Freshman council member to succeed Stan Seaman who left the college.

Frank Bayol was elected to attend the convention of state junior colleges at Bakersfield this week. He replaced Guardsman Editor Walt Heil who declined to attend.

Skarstedt Praises Work At College Meet

By Don Johnson

Dr. Marcus Skarstedt, coordinator of instruction, who recently returned from the National Junior College convention held in Roanoke, Va., expressed high praise yesterday for both the work of the convention and the hospitality of the southern people.

"The whole convention was, to me, outstanding in its value," Dr. Skarstedt said recently. "The people of the south have a reputation for hospitality, and they outdid themselves."

The convention was attended by representatives from more than 300 Junior Colleges throughout the United States, and 17 California Junior Colleges were represented.

Among topics under discussion at the convention was one of especial interest to all Junior College students—a proposal that the American Association of Junior Colleges affiliate with the National Junior College Athletic Association. The proposal was voted down, Dr. Skarstedt said.

The convention drew many notable speakers, among them John Stewart Battle, Governor of Virginia; Chancellor Robert B. House of the University of North Carolina; Dr. Douglas Freeman, editor, author, and authority on the life of Robert E. Lee; Robert Graney, executive of the Kaiser-Frazer Corporation, and Dr. Earl McGrath, U. S. Commissioner of Education.

An interesting sidelight on the convention occurred when Dr. Skarstedt met Dr. J. Anthony Humphreys, director of personnel service at Chicago Junior College. During the course of their conversation Dr. Humphreys mentioned that his son, Thomas, was attending college. Where? Why naturally at City College of San Francisco.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

TODAY, Friday, April 21, marks the half-way point in the Art department's exhibit of paintings at the Board of Education building. After opening last Monday, the show will continue through Friday, April 28, a week from today.

The exhibit consists of paintings by students in Art 4, 22a, 22b, 16a, and 16b. Some of the principal contributors are Diek Hickman, Richard Kohfeld, Dolores Cabeceira, Stan Sadler, Richard Myrick, Louise Chrisman, Weyman Wong, Laura Howard, Bertha Miles, Connie Young, and Robert Loberg.

With the intention of illustrating the development of various techniques in painting, the exhib has been titled "Approaches to Painting." And regardless of what any critical reception may be, the show certainly succeeds from a layman's point of view (this layman's point of view, that is).

DALI YET

Included in the exhibit are weird, Dalieque paintings, paintings of objects suspended in space, paintings of faces that can only be likened to an African witch doctor, paintings of every size, sort, and description

A new to us and particularly interesting type is pictures that are cut to outline shape. For instance, a picture of a battered, beaten door that looks so realistic you can hardly restrain yourself from reaching for the knob, or a rusty tin box that's just begging to be opened.

That's enough to whet your artistic appetite, then drop around to 93 Grove street, third floor. It's quite a show.

COMMUNION BREAKFAST

Any faculty members or students who are interested in attending the Newman Club's Communion Breakfast, this Sunday, April 23, at St. Emydius Cafeteria should see sponsors John Selig or Mary Perry, or club pres. Nell Fahy. The breakfast will be held after 10 a.m. Mass, the charge is $.75, and among the guests will be Dr. Clish, President Conlan, Deans Dougherty, Batmale, Brady, and Luckmann, and the Superintendent of Catholic Schools, Father James Brown. Sounds like quite a distinguished list. Why not be there yourself?

* * * * *

A helluva long time from now, May 21 to be exact, the traditional Tamalpais Mountain Play will be presented. The State Division of Highways has sunk $90,000 into the scenic drive leading to the theater. Now, let's not let all that dough go to waste.

Feminine Viewpoint

Silent Women Defended

By Bobbie Jackson

IN a recent letter published in the Ram's Horn, a masculine reader commented on the silent role that the women on the student council play during the council meetings.

Thus it would seem that the women are being overlooked in political affairs, or that they do not care to express an opinion during the sessions of student government.

There is another side to this issue, however, the one of the women and their point of view. From the opinions expressed in answer to this accusation of conspicuous silence, one can gather that the co-eds are indeed interested in what goes on about them, yet they have no chance to raise their voices on governmental issues.

Even before the aforementioned letter was written, one woman council member suggested that this space be devoted to an explanation of why the women never enter the discussions and debates that arise at each meeting.

Because they are so outnumbered, an argument is often completed before the fairer sex can contribute opinions, and often all points that have arisen in the women's minds have been discussed previously. Although they wish to take part, they do not wish to bring up the same question that was raised before they were finally called upon.

Although they are interested, it has often been stated that discretion is the better part of valor, and when a question pertaining to a subject about which they know nothing; or when they wish to reserve their opinion on a certain topic; they feel that it is wisest to listen to the good and bad features; and, if necessary, abstain from voting.

The women are not always silent, however, as there are a few feminine voices that speak on almost every topic that is raised.

Considering the number of males that abstain from voting and entering discussions at each meeting, the women do take part and help to a great extent.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, No. 13 FRIDAY, APRIL 21, 1950 Page 2

Administrative Censorship Rumor Completely Unfounded

RUMORS were whipping around the campus last Tuesday. Rumors that the administration had censored The Guardsman's story on the Student Council's special session last Friday, April 14.

We would like to clarify this situation. The story published was uncut. No paragraphs were deleted, nor were quotes dropped. We don't know where the rumor began nor do we care to know. It is unfortunate that such a situation arose. Our point is just this: there was no administrative cutting, or deletion of any copy on the special meeting of the Council.

Furthermore, until the Board of Education attorney makes a ruling on the Council's 100 per cent legislation on Tuesday, May 2, we will not comment editorially on the issue. We are doing this on our own accord.

We feel that if all persons connected were to drop the matter from their minds for two weeks, they would be able to get an objective picture of the entire problem. In other words we are reserving judgment until we get something concrete to go on.

ON Monday, in conjunction with Public Schools Week, the college will once again go on display before the people of San Francisco. For the first time in several years, the college will hold an open house show in observance of the week.

Lloyd Luckmann, dean of university parallel courses, declared that selections from Martha and Down In The Valley will be given. Further, a tour of the local points of interest on the west campus has been lined up so the citizens of our town can see for themselves how City College operates.

For the early comers, a dinner in the cafeteria will be given for the nominal sum of $1. Moreover, a program of entertainment is being planned and Dr. Grant Marsh, co-ordinator of student welfare, will address the assemblage.

This is just another step forward by the college to put itself in the public eye. We believe that public schools week should be supported by the students. Congratulations that come from The Guardsman to the persons staging the program are well earned.

Elsewhere in today's edition, the reader will find a story stating that Forum Magazine pre-sales were pronounced a success. As the only means for creative writers on the campus to express themselves, Forum deserves full support.

This semester, we understand, Forum has added a new campus life feature to its pages, and it is styled to a certain extent after The New Yorker. If the new feature helps gain more readers for Forum, we're for that.

Student Of Distinction: Top Place Honors Won By Debater Street

By Don Cunningham

Proving to be one of the best of the college's capable debaters, Randle Street, by virtue of the spoken word, is building for himself an enviable reputation in local forensic circles.

Street, an integral part of the college's debate team, recently took first place honors in the inter-collegian after dinner speaking contest, which was sponsored by the national Phi Rho Pi organization.

In winning top spot in the finals, held at Bakersfield, Street earned for himself a gold medal award and garnered for the college a handsome bronzed plaque.

Along with his debating abilities, Street is one of the most active students on the campus. His participation in the functions of a half dozen college organizations is valid proof of his leadership and service.

Most of Street's spare time is taken up by the demands of his office as President of the Forum Club. He is also an ex vice-president of Phi Rho Pi and present Vice-president of the Masonic Club.

Street's titles don't end there, however, for he is also the Alumni Liaison officer and Chairman of the Affiliated Students for Better Government. (Photo by Hilmer.)

Set Placing Aids Drama Rehearsals

By Georgia Watkins

Watching the rehearsal of a play is almost as interesting as watching the play itself. There is always something new and different to be looked for.

For example, strategic placing of sets causes the small stage of the Little Theater in Room 28 to look larger than it actually is.

The reason for building and placing sets so far in advance of the actual performance is to enable actors to gain ease and naturalness in their movements by working with the scenery instead of on a bare stage.

It was also learned that a handkerchief can play a very important role, as in the play Othello. Almost an entire afternoon was devoted to rehearsing the proper method of handling it. In the course of the play it is tossed, pulled, rolled up, and fought over by at least five people.

The handkerchief's importance comes from the fact that it plays an indirect part in Desdemona's death, because it is stolen from her and given to the man who arouses Othello's jealousy to cause him to think her unfaithful.

Another interesting note is that although Iago, the rival, is only a supporting role; of all Shakespeare's characters, only Hamlet and Richard III speak more lines.

Proof of the importance of blocking every move came when Eugene Carlson narrowly missed hitting his head on a block when thrown to the floor in a scene with Mervyn Murphy.

Take It From Kays

Chemicals Sweeten Kiss

THIS would come under the heading of the biggest disillusionment of the week. The proverbial sweetness of a kiss has been found to be caused not by the magic of romance, but by modern chemistry. Misogynists chuckled up their sleeves and chalked up a moral victory when the Monsanto Chemical Co. finally let the cat out of the bag and admitted that they put powdered saccharin in their lipsticks.

Although they add only about 1/200th of a gram of the powerful sweeting agent to each lipstick, it is more than enough to put a sugary sweetness in the operation osculation. Maybe the day will arrive when the fairer sex can order their lipstick in the degree of sweetness that their boyfriends prefer. (We will have two lumps, please.)

SPEAKING OF the latest things on the market, somebody has now come up with magnetic cuff links. When you put them on they snap closed by themselves and stay that way. They are made of an aluminum alloy that is permanently magnetized and will withstand a pull of 80 ounces.

These gadgets will no doubt be a big help in getting dressed in a hurry, but there is one angle of this brainstorm that struck us immediately. What happens when you are drinking beer in a tavern that has a metal bar top?

U. S. DEPARTMENT of Agriculture has developed a series of new insect poisons with names that sound like the lineup of the Notre Dame varsity. To mention a few we have Piperonyl Cyclohexenone, Toxaphene, Chlordane, Tetraethyl Pyrophosphate, Benzine Hexachloride, and at fullback Chekniloffsky.

The bugs, however, are blissfully ignorant of the fiendish devices man is planning for them. They buzz around as happy as ever. This ever holds true for Bikini Atoll where a scientific resurvey was conducted a while back which found the insect population of the islands as active as ever; proving that what you don't know won't hurt you.

If the atom bomb can't faze 'em we figure the only way these new poisons stand a chance would be to educate the bugs and then scare them to death with the names, although they would still have to go after the illiterate ones with flyswatters.

A WARNING has recently been issued by the American Veterinary Medical Association that we should beware of undercooked polar bear and walrus meat. (It causes Spiralis Trichinosis or something.) This frustrates the average American housewife no end in regard to planning meals. Most families are in the habit of having filet Polar Bear steaks and broiled Walrus chops at least twice a week.

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Sorority Pledge Week Over; Gamma Phis Hold Dance Tonight

With the sorority Hell Week ending today, club activities may return to planning social events instead of pledge penalties.

Climaxing Hell Week for the Delta Psi's will be a joint picnic with the Tau Chi Sigma's this Sunday at the Russian River. Plans are also being made for the traditional Pledge Presentation which will be held soon.

Here's a batch of "scoops" from the Kappa Phi's. A Chinese dinner was held at the home of Marlene Silva on Sunday, April 2. This was their second affair of the semester and proved to be a huge success. An open house for the introduction of pledges was also held at Florence Hourihan's "casa" last Sunday. Jeanne McKnew of the sorority was recently pinned to Harry Williams of Alpha Sigma Delta. That's all from the Kappa's for now.

From the "desk of the Deltas" comes this bit of news. A rush party, the first affair given by the Delta Sigma Tau Sorority, was a great success. The party was held on Thursday, March 23, at the Madame Walker Girls' Club.

A grand time was also had by all the Zeta Chi gals at a recent progressive dinner party (whatever that is). The girls also plan many "goodies" to come.

The Engineering Society will meet in Room 204 today during college hour and will be addressed by a speaker from Enterprise Diesels Company. The address is entitled "Your Future In Diesels." All interested are invited to attend. This semester's officers are as follows: David W. Walker, president; Miguel H. Squyer, vice-president; Richard W. Cummings, secretary-treasurer and David L. Mehr, CAB representative.

A joint meeting was held between the Beta Tau's and the Theta Tau's last Wednesday evening at which time the "perturbed pledges" entertained those who attended.

The men of Gamma Phi Ypsilon wish to remind everyone of their third annual shindig tonight, entitled "Spring Fever," in the west campus auditorium. A huge red heart (not dog food) will be centered in the middle of the dance floor with a gold arrow piercing it's middle. The entire auditorium will be decorated in green and gold crepe and the coke bar is to be fixed up to resemble a regular bar (bottles and all?). All of the goils will be presented with gardenia corsages at the dance. Dancing will be from 9 to 12 with Bert Whiting's band supplying the music.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rose Herdle
STAFF EDITORS ..... Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Avey, Larry Bales, David Brewer, Gracens Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, George Eberl, Barbara Egnian, Tex Gould, Ray Harvey, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kanaye, Richard Lavrick, Henry Louie, Herb Marvin, Warren Northwood, Bob Rezak, Elaine Stamos, Jack Vanderbilt, Georgia Watkins, Felton White, Ralph Wiester, Eura Williams, Bennie Davis, Don Brinse, Doug Hayward, Elsie Monroe.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcomb
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Kays, Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, assistant; Terry Ryan, Jack Spalding, Bob Valli, John Dierking.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandra Marks, Dolores Aguirre.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Steinheimer, Shirley Maritzen, Fred Matthes, Ken Hilmer, Herb Wanis, Dick Jarrett, Dick Lee, Kay Wood.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz, Mary Anne Quartarolli.
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normanly, Terry George, Harry Parotchan, Bob Easton.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Boxers Take Fourth Place In Nationals

By Frank Monte

Ogden, Utah, Feb. 13.—Len Gage, 125, and Jack Bettencourt, 145, after battling to the finals of the National Junior College Boxing Tournament, lost the championship fights to Darrel Fontenot and Phillip Perry, both from McNeese, here tonight, taking six points and fourth place among 12 colleges.

Compton College, with seven men entered in the tourney, walked off with 19 points and the team trophy, closely followed by McNeese College, from Lake Charles, Louisiana, with 18 points. Last year's champions, Pasadena City College, took 10 points and third place honors.

Considering the small amount of local entries in the meet, two men, Coach Roy Diederichsen's boxers made an excellent showing in grabbing two runner-up trophies and fourth place.

Bettencourt's final fight with Perry could have been a toss-up. Both boys, being counterpunchers, waited for the other to throw until Bettencourt forced the fight. Boxing evenly throughout the bout, Perry was awarded a split decision to the disapproval of the crowd.

In the 125 class, Gage met Fontenot, last season's national champ. Gage with his superior boxing, battered Fontenot in the first, buckling his knees once and almost sending him to the canvas.

Bettencourt's semi-final bout was the highlight of the evening. Facing Don Hirchi, Weber College, Bettencourt matched blow for blow with the home-town boy for two rounds.

Came the third, Bettencourt abandoned his counterpunching style and came out slugging, hammering Hirchi consistently with hard rights and lefts that had him hanging on the ropes at the final bell. Bettencourt took the decision.

Gage's quarter-final bout on Monday night matched him against Jerry Shup of Pasadena. Taking advantage of Shup's unusual southpaw style, Gage pounded right after right to Shup's body and head for two rounds.

Shup came back in the third, walloping tired Gage, but not enough to overcome the vast difference in points.

Golfers At Monterey

With one match play loss and two practice game defeats against them, the college golfers meet the Monterey Peninsula College linksmen today on the Del Monte course at 1 p.m.

Golf mentor Ralph Hillsman's outfit has so far dropped one conference match to San Mateo. Seven meets remain on the varsity calendar.

50 Million Frenchmen
Can't Be Wrong!
COLE'S Barber Shop
Is The Place To Go
ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

Phone JU 4-9251
1963 Ocean Ave.
MIKE'S SPUDNUTS
Evans J. Maionchi
TAKE HOME
ICE CREAM
MILK SHAKE
HAMBURGERS

Guardsman SPORTS

Volume XXX, No. 13 FRIDAY, APRIL 21, 1950 Page 3

Ram Trackmen Invade Stanford

Stanford University is the next stopping point on Co-Coaches Grover Klemmer's and Roy Burkhead's improving track team's schedule tomorrow as the locals travel to the Farm to run against the Indian Frosh at 10 a.m.

Last Saturday the Ram thinclads went to California for a four-way meet with the California Frosh, Santa Rosa and Marin College with the results being enough to give the mentors high hopes.

As for Stanford, City College will get in a workout, says Burkhead, but it is not expected that they will do too much as the competition is heavy.

Cecil Bledsoe is according to Klemmer, the most improved man on the squad, and he proved himself worthy by taking first in the pole vault with a leap of 11 feet 6 inches. The locals' only other first came in the high jump when John Revilla went 5 feet 9 inches.

In the sprints Irv Beltrame took second in the 100 and 220. John Greggans and Ed Reed took fourth and fifth in the 100 and Oscar Brown piloted his unique running form into a third in the 220.

Soloman Mason grabbed third in the 880 and Skip Carnegie took a like spot in the 440, while Sal Mascetelli ran fourth in the mile. The mile relay team took second.

Ram Golfer Comes Through On Links

A young City College golfer recently distinguished himself in the field of golf, and perseverance, by being promoted from ninth place junior varsity to eighth place on the varsity golf ladder.

This in itself is not exceptional. Several of the college's top linksmen have risen from the ranks to take top honors with the club team, but in Bob Tomlinson's case, the circumstances were different.

His drive can send the ball down the course with the best of them, as was demonstrated last Friday, March 31, when, in junior varsity match play with San Mateo, he shot an 87 for the par 72 Harding golf course.

Golf instructor Ralph Hillsman said, "Bob has done the most with what he's got . . . wonderful coordination . . . overcame his mental problem as well."

Tomlinson's right arm is gone, the result of an accident.

Rams Defeat Menlo, 8-4; Try For Sixth Straight Tomorrow

By Gene Kelly

Sporting sunburned arms and another scalp at their belts, the Ram baseball players are preparing for their return engagement with Menlo College tomorrow at Big Rec after chopping down the Oaks under a blazing sun at Palo Alto last Tuesday, 8-4. Game time is 2:30.

To date the team has defeated Stockton College twice, and Menlo once. Should they win over Menlo again tomorrow they will have reached the midway point of the season without a single loss in league play.

Ram pitcher of the place was no Jr. the eye-catching variety last Tuesday. Menlo finished with ten hits against the Rams' seven, but the locals came through in the clutch and the Oaks did not. Jack Cuddy's two-run homer in the sixth inning was the hardest hit blow, while a five-run spree in the fourth with only one base hit put the Rams in the win column.

The infield was especially alert, picking up two double plays during the game. Ed Boland was credited with the victory.

The squad concluded a three game series with San Francisco State yesterday, but results were unavailable at time of publication.

BUSINESS COURSES
Day School • Night School
Continuous Enrollment
Write to your nearest HEALD College for your Catalog, entitled "Choosing Your Career."
Phone ORdway 3-5500
HEALDS BUSINESS COLLEGE
Van Ness Ave. at Post San Francisco
Other Schools: Oakland, Sacramento, San Jose

See The New
POWELLS LIGHTWEIGHT MOTORCYCLE
2 MODELS — 8 and 10 H.P.
Selling For Less Than Most Motorcycles
ELECTRONIC DEVICES LAB. INC.
1507 OCEAN AVE. OPEN FRIDAY NIGHTS

Judo Team Wins In First Meet

The City College Judo team successfully met and defeated College of Marin and Oakland Technical High School last Friday night in the men's gymnasium, in their first exhibition bouts.

Members of the newly organized squad of judo men included Campus Police officers Herb Marks and Hershel Smith, who gave exhibitions in Police-Jawara and Ju-jitsu arts.

Excellent exhibitions in Kata (form throwing) were given by H. Nanjo and K. Koramoto, two more Ram performers.

Bouts of the night included men of each division — black belt, brown, green and white belt. Each different color denotes an advance in ability in the art.

Local participants in the evening matches were E. Augustine, B. Glanoll, J. Olsen, N. Wakabashi and J. Welch. Coach for this newly organized sport is judo instructor Duke Moore.

The City College Rams first football victory was against Salinas Junior College on September 20, 1935.

Make it a date . . .
• West Portal's
• Most Popular Fountain
DENNY DAIRIES
321 West Portal
Open Daily - - 8 a.m. to 1 a.m.
Delicious Ice Cream, Grilled Sandwiches and Waffles

Lyons, Tri E, Hilltoppers Tops In Intra

Still fighting to keep on top in their respective leagues of the intramural basketball schedule are the Lyons of the Nationals, Tri E of the Fraternity league, and the Hilltoppers of the American.

Battling out further so as not to land in the cellar is the Hotel and Restaurant plus the Pittsburgh Hot Shots of the National league.

In the fraternity division it's Alpha Lambda Sigma and Pi Delta Koppa fighting tooth and nail for supremacy of being in the bottom of their league.

The American League shows great possibilities of the Jokers or Blues landing on the bottom of the pile of their division.

The following is the list of standings received from Tom Wilson, director of Intramural Sports yesterday:

National League—with Lyons winning 5 losing 0; Washington 4-1; Tomales 3-1; Tsetse Flies 3-1; Cellar Dwellers 2-1; Pitt Hot Shots 2-0; Hotel and Restaurant 0-3.

Fraternity League—It's the Tri E with win 5, loss 1; Tau Chi Sigma 5-0; Beta Phi Beta 3-2; Beta Tau 3-3; Phi Beta Delta 2-1; Kappa Rho 2-3; Alpha sigma Delta 1-4; Gamma Phi 1-4; Pi Delta Koppa 1-3; and Alpha Lambda Sigma 0-3.

In American League standings the Hilltoppers lead with 4 wins, 0 losses; Tramps 3-1; Crusaders 3-0; Aces 3-1; Dark Horses 3-2; Sharps and Flats 2-4; Block SF Blues 2-1; Jokers 0-4; and Blues 0-2.

TRAVEL-MINDED?
We handle all student tours to Europe, Mexico and the Orient
We plan . . . independent travel, too!
If travel-minded, call
The Students Travel Club
Morse-Gleason Co.
Travel Agents
323 Geary at Powell
SUtter 1-4869

COMFORTABLE! GOOD LOOKING! ARROW
"Dude Ranch" Sports Shirts
Short Sleeves $4.50 Long Sleeves $5
For that next square dance, for picnics, for sitting in the bleachers, you'll be most comfortable, and look your casual best in one of Arrow's smart "Dude Ranch" shirts. Bold plaids and checks in sturdy, washable cotton. They're honeys!
ARROW SHIRTS & TIES
UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

Graduation Is Coming!!
ORDER NOW
The Official City College Ring
For Your Favorite Graduate
In Gold or Sterling Silver
Ladies' Miniature Or Men's Massive
On Display At The Basement Showcase — Main Building
$5.00 Deposit Required At The College Bank
Van Wormer & Rodrigues Inc.
126 Post Street EXbrook 2-5886

Straight Talk

By Bill Thomas

TIRED, listless, sleepless, from endless meetings and endless discussions. Unhappy and distrustful, angry and baffled, and seemingly getting nowhere. Compromise after compromise, ideal after ideal, dollar after dollar.

And then after exhaustion, mental and physical, has set in one finds one doesn't give a good damn. And things get settled.

That is more than half the story in the postponement of the Student Council hundred per cent dispute.

So now let's go off to sunny Southern California and a rest! Some of the lucky ones are heading for Bakersfield and the Two Year College Government Meet. Taking a few days of relaxation (they hope) are Don Parker, Sandy Mackay, Norm Reger, and Frank Bayol.

Ah, yes! Don Parker, his gavel loaded with lead, has cancelled the council meeting for Thursday. He doesn't want to worry about someone freezing his return trip money to San Francisco while he's away.

And of course Dean Louis Batmale will be going along to Bakersfield. The same Batmale who got himself so agitated that at one time he was taking his coat off and putting it back on again—perpetual motion?

And Frank Bayol who began to write out his speeches ahead of time on scraps of paper, which were seized by the press box—speeches that began, "You can quote me . . ."

And for those who can't go to Bakersfield and swimming pools there is some balmy weather here too.

And Jim Anderson who countered the President's legal arguments by reading Thoreau (apparently forgetting that Thoreau didn't pay his taxes either).

And of course Music Dept. Head Flossita Badger spoke at one time. Anyone could tell that she has stage presence for she leaned against an adjacent post, curled one hand around it, and waved the other in front of her in a graceful pose.

And we remember Jim Reed trying desperately to reach a compromise and failing; and beside him Patty Patterson whose finger pointed accusingly under the noses of her opponents who retreated quickly from its thrust.

And Joe Schwab, who stands up, turns around and looks at a certain reporter, and beginning to speak mutters indignantly "rubber stamp," which is always good for a laugh.

And there was Randy Street, whose common sense was exceeded only by his oratorical talent which left none in douht of why he is a champion debater. Yes, the same Street who resented President Conlan's compliment on mature outlook by saying, "I'm crowding thirty."

And one gets to know them. And long after the battles they fought are forgotten one will remember them, for battles like this are many but the people who fight them are few.

So we are going out to get a sun tan (burn) and worry only about our red nose peeling, which is no worry since it always does, and hope for a little peace.

College Mortals Never Look At Their Portals

By David Brewer

One of the first things a student at the college notices is the motto, The Truth Shall Make You Free, blocked above the portals of the main building front entrance (pictured at right).

However, a recent questioning of 206 students at the study halls of Building 2 and the basement of the main building, reveal that only 11 of them knew, or correctly guessed, the origin of that phrase.

Of the rest of the students, 24 thought that Abraham Lincoln first said it, five thought Benjamin Franklin, 116 had no opinion, and 28 said the phrase came from somewhere in the Bible. One man "just knew" that on American soil it.

The phrase did come from the Bible, from John 8:31, 32.

The remaining 21 opinions were given in favor of the following men: George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Plato, Daniel Webster, Francis Bacon, Patrick Henry, William Shakespeare, Simon Bolivar, Rudyard Kipling, Winston Churchill, Socrates, Aristotle, and Voltaire.

Music Group To Sing For Army

Campus musical groups, Treble Clef and Men's Glee, will perform for the army at the Presidio Y.M.C.A. lounge Sunday night, April 30, Gertrude Norgard, director of Treble Clef, said yesterday.

Aside from the usual compositions performed, Treble Clef will feature several soloists from their group, while Men's Glee will present a quartet singing special numbers.

Although the program is primarily for the personnel of the Presidio, the public is welcome, Mrs. Norgard said. Admission is free.

Men's Glee is under the direction of Harold Cunningham.

City College was granted $1,072,065 to cover the cost of the first unit constructed at Balboa Park, now the main campus or science building.

Faculty And College Leaders Begin Local High School Oration Program

A high school oration program, under the sponsorship of the Speech 20 classes and the college Counselling department, had a successful beginning at Lowell High last Wednesday, April 12, director of forensics Michael Griffin disclosed Thursday.

Speaking before some 336 graduating students, Alva McMillan of the college Counselling department, outlined in detail the offerings in terminal and university parallel courses here at the college.

Associated Student President Don Parker and council member Joe Schwab also explained the college's functional and extra-curricular activities to the graduates.

Other high schools where orations are to be presented include Commerce, Galileo and Mission.

Griffin said that he is pleased with the number of tournament speakers that the schools offer. Donald Barnes, well known Lowell High speaker, also showed interest in the speaking program.

Armand Magid In Annual Hearst Oratory Contest

Armand Magid will represent the college in the bay area division of the eighth annual Hearst Newspaper Tournament of Orators Thursday, April 27, Michael Griffin, director of forensics, disclosed.

James Madison, fourth President of the United States, will be the subject sponsored by Hearst newspapers in 13 cities across the country in this annual $25,000 speaking contest.

This year's tournament is under the auspices of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin and the Oakland Post-Enquirer and has received praise from Governor Warren and other political and educational leaders.

The list of savings bond prizes to be awarded locally to bay area college winners are $200, $100, $75, $50 and $25.

Local winners, in high school and college divisions, will vie for the opportunity to represent San Francisco and the bay area in the west coast finals planned for Seattle, Saturday, May 13.

If successful against the other west coast winners Magid will represent the west in the national competition at Baltimore, Maryland.

Joe Schwab, Marcella Lewis, Blanche Muerer, Don Wood, Don Watson, Jim Anderson, Richard Schambach, Dick Schnal, and Irwin Phillips were the other speakers who competed in the preliminary contest held last Monday in Building 19.

President Louis G. Conlan assumed office in July 1, 1949. He was a faculty member when City College opened in 1935.

Club Meetings Today; Films Series Continue

Club meetings are scheduled for college hour today from 10:40 to 11:20 a.m., Louis Batmale, dean of student activities, announced recently.

Latest of the college film series, The Eternal City, will be presented at 10 a.m. and during college hour in Room 136. The colored film will provide a bird's eye view of a flight to Rome.

Students Should See Counsellors

Counselling appointments may now be made for planning fall semester schedules, Dr. F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, said today.

An appointment must be made before the student will receive his registration number, Marsh warned.

In order to save time, students are urged to have their tentative program made out before seeing their counsellors.

Students who are expecting to qualify for their high school diplomas at the completion of this semester should file applications with Mary Perry, counsellor, in Building 3 before Friday, May 5, Dr. Marsh, coordinator of student welfare added.

Since those students getting early appointments will have low numbers in the registration, Marsh urged students to see their counsellors soon.

Let Us Patronize Them RAM BOOSTERS They Patronize Us

A Different ICE CREAM SPECIAL Each and Every Week Daily from 7 to 3:30 Avenue Coffee Shop 1612 Ocean Avenue

Paint & Decorate Figurines Lil Audrey's Dresden Craft • Free Instruction Daily Also Tues. & Thurs. eves. 1443 OCEAN AVE. DE 3-4574

EXCELSIOR SCHOOL of DRIVING LEARN TO DRIVE IN TRAFFIC! DUAL CONTROLLED CARS We prepare you for driver's examination SPECIAL RATES for students, payable in installments 4666 MISSION ST. AT OCEAN AVE. JUniper 4-3687

TYPEWRITERS RENTED GArfield 1-6633 3 MONTHS $7.50 Free Ribbon, Carbon Paper Free Delivery Tibbs Typewriter Co. 821 Market St., San Francisco

Mother's Day is coming! A Lovely Gift from Gems of Art will please her 1700 Ocean Ave. JU 4-0831

AUTO - TRUCK - FIRE Standard Form Policies at Low Costs Compare Our Rates Before You Buy C. E. PEARSON 1125 Ocean JU. 5-4478 Prompt Personal Claims Service

The Ladies' Shop is proud to announce that Carole King Dresses For Juniors ARE OURS ALONE IN THIS CITY! 1532 OCEAN AVENUE

JOE and BILL'S RICHFIELD STATION LUBRICATION Tires and Batteries • Washing & Polishing 1298 OCEAN AVE.

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP Your haircut as You want it 1334 Ocean Avenue 2 blocks from campus

WE AIR EXPRESS WE DELIVER WE TELEGRAPH Chain of Flowers Florists CORSAGES — FLORAL DESIGNS WEDDINGS JUniper 4-9038 1805 Ocean Avenue San Francisco 12

Spring slacks . . . and jackets to match at the EL REY MEN'S SHOP Opposite El Rey Theatre Ties - Shirts - Sweaters and a complete line of Colorful Haberdashery for your Spring Apparel • 10% Discount with Associated Student Card

Ted's Ocean Cleaners 50c SLACKS • SHIRTS SKIRTS DRY CLEANED Corner of Ocean & Plymouth

Ayoob's Sport Shop Men's and Boys' Clothing Featuring Team & Club Jackets Tailored To Order Also Athletic Equipment 2598 San Bruno Ave.

A. Wallace McMurray

Its a Strike! X Bowl . . . Johnny Swanson's MISSION BOWL Free Instruction Daily 3140 Mission Street

PRICES Hand Finished Shoes For Men Featuring Price's Patented Styles

One Price $9.95 718 Market St., S. F. 1304 Broadway, Oakland

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—TUESDAY, APRIL 25, 1950 NUMBER 14

Soph King, Queen Candidate Applications Due By April 29; Elections Scheduled For June

Applications for entrance in the semi-annual sophomore King and Queen contest must be presented to the sophomore class officers before Saturday, April 29, Bill Rosaia, sophomore class president, announced recently.

Campus organizations are asked to choose one member each to represent them in the contest, which is to be decided during sophomore week from Monday, June 5, to Saturday, June 10, by popular election.

A photo of the entrant must accompany the application and one must be sent to The Guardsman office, Rosaia declared. Elections will be held on Wednesday, June 7 and Thursday, June 8. Men students will vote for the Queen and women students for the King, following the traditional custom.

Application photographs will be done free of charge by A. McMurray Studio, 1401 Van Ness Ave. However, the applicant will be charged for additional campaign photos, Rosaia said.

Sophomore week will be climaxed by the sophomore dance. Aquatic Park has been selected as the scene for this semester's affair, and Jim Polos and his band have been chosen to supply the dancers with the necessary music. This year's dance will be a semi-formal affair, Rosaia said.

A dixie-land combo will supply jazz lovers with their favorite music in an additional room, making this year's affair a musical treat for all concerned.

The theme for the coming dance is "Summer Sentimental," Rosaia declared.

Class officers assisting Rosaia are Tom Thomas, vice-president; Rosemarie Glenn, secretary; Reggie Cummings, treasurer; and Francis Pearce, publicity director.

Mardi Gras Plans Near Completion; Booth List Near

Preparations for this year's Mardi Gras, to be held on Friday evening, May 19, have almost been completed, Norm Reger, Associated Men Student president, announced recently.

With all booth applications in, the committee has gone into full swing selecting the exact location of each organization's entertainment booth. The exact location of these booths will soon be made available to the public, Reger declared.

The Mardi Gras has been in the making stages since February 21 when the first Mardi Gras committee meeting was held. Since that day, the committee has lined up such entertainment as Ben Watkins for the dancing, a parade for the public, carnival booths for the campus, and public interest for the college through television station KPIX, which will televise the Mardi Gras.

Improvements have been made in the location of the entertainments in the west campus parking lot which, following last year's example, has been chosen by the committee as the best spot to hold the carnival.

The committee has overcome many snags such as lighting, parade problems and budget woes to make this year's festival very inviting, Reger added.

"The biggest threat to any successful outdoor carnival is the weather," Reger said, "and the Mardi Gras is no exception, but according to the weatherman's reports, everything will be dry and warm May 19."

Sorority Dance Set For Saturday Night

A semi-formal "Spring Illusion" dance, sponsored by the Inter-Sorority Council, will be held Saturday night, April 29, at the Century Club, with dancing from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight, Janet Cirimele, publicity chairman for Saturday night's affair, announced yesterday.

Formals for the women are the dress set for the evening, she said, and corsages are optional.

Bids are $2.00 per couple and dancing will be to the music of Bill Richards and his orchestra.

Dance details of entertainment, decorations and refreshments are currently being planned.

College Floral Entry Success

By Doug Hayward

Bird of Paradise flowers and a bamboo background have lent an air of the Hawaiian Islands during the past week to the college flower shop's feature entry in the 18th Annual Spring Flower Show at Oakland's Civic Auditorium.

Nearly all of instructor John Lawrence's 94 flower shop students helped arrange and construct the basket woven bamboo background in the six weeks preceding the show. The bamboo, which took three hours to set up in Oakland after leaving the college Thursday morning in a four-car caravan, was grown by Lawrence himself at his home in Pleasant Hill.

The tropical flowers, among them spike sugar, shell ginger, and tel leaves, were flown in from Hawaii and highlighted more than $1000 worth of floral arrangements entered by the student retail florists in the scientific and educational department displays.

Amateurs and professionals from the entire Pacific area entered in competition. The show, which adopted its theme, "Pacifica," from the 1939 World's Fair, concludes its eight-day run tonight at 10 p.m. Students who haven't attended the show are urged to do so, Lawrence said.

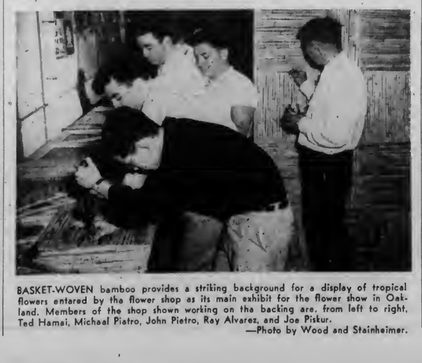
Oral Speech Exam Deadline Friday

With the deadline Friday, April 28, only four more days remain for second semester students to take the required oral speech tests, Anthony Paciotti, English instructor, announced.

Students whose speech performances fall below an acceptable standard will be required to enroll in Communications 19A, a remedial course designed for the correction of speech deficiencies, in order to qualify for graduation, he emphasized.

Examinations will be given in Building 19, Rooms 1 and 2 daily. Tests will be given by Lucile Meredith of the English department at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. in Room 2. Paciotti is giving tests in Room 1 at 10 and 11 a.m.

The tests consist of a short reading of selected material from which any marked defects in pronunciation can be determined.



Flower Exhibit Cost Was Small

Complete cost of the college's exhibit currently displayed at the Oakland Spring Garden Show is estimated at $170, Harry Nelson, floriculture instructor, announced recently.

The following students Nelson added, contributed heavily to the success of the exhibit:

Robert Franklin designed the 750 square foot layout. Dave Denny constructed the pool, while Bob Cordano and Bob Pearson built the pergola (a trellis) under the direction of John R. Herman, instructor.

Others who did the general work of laying the lawn and arranging the plants were Mickey Alberez, Louis Albereti, Frank Hilton, Tom Iyemura, Mike Mezu, Frank Watanabe, and Frances Lee Young. Nelson added

BASKET-WOVEN bamboo provides a striking background for a display of tropical flowers entered by the flower shop as its main exhibit for the flower show in Oakland. Members of the shop shown working on the backing are, from left to right, Ted Hamai, Michael Pietro, John Pietro, Ray Alvarez, and Joe Pirkur. —Photo by Wood and Steinheimer.

SINGERS, FEATURED LAST NIGHT at the college's program honoring Public Schools Week, are, left to right, Jean Bonaccorsi, Dan Segrove, Eileen Scott, with George Saunders, seated. In addition to selections by the quartet and the choir, solos were sung by Bob Sherratt, Cynthia Burke, Andrew Stathis, Mrs. Scott and Saunders.—Photo by Steinheimer.

Student Displays Featured In Downtown Stores This Week

Following the special program held here last night in observance of the 31st annual Public Schools Week, the public will have a further opportunity to view work of City College students through displays presented at the Board of Education building and four downtown stores.

An art exhibit, entitled Approaches to Painting, will be shown at the Board of Education building through April 28, and will feature work by Art department students.

Photographic art is displayed in windows of Livingston Brothers and Schwabacher-Frey Company, while designs from the architecture class will be on display at the Emporium, and posters from the merchandising class will be shown at Macy's.

On the campus a display of prints from the photography class will remain on exhibit in Building 9 throughout the week.

A dinner, followed by a musical program featuring selections from the operas Martha and Down In The Valley, by the choir and opera workshop singers, was presented here last night. Dr. F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, spoke.

Programs, similar to the one at the college, were conducted throughout California, emphasizing the importance of public schools in the modern community. More than 50 San Francisco civic, fraternal, and business organizations are participating in the events scheduled throughout the week.

Magid Ready For Hearst Contest

With his speech on James Madison completed, Armand Magid is set to represent the college on Thursday, April 27, in the bay area division of the seventeenth annual Hearst Oratorical contest.

"I believe that the greatest contribution of James Madison is his role, and the effect of that role, in the formation of the American government. There are so many of his ideas that have stood the acid test of time, that it is incredible that one man could conceive them," Magid stated. His speech is based on this theme.

The contest calls for a six-minute oration and one minute of grace. Magid said yesterday his speech is timed so he will not make the same mistake that he made when he was in the junior division of the contest in 1945, when he had the experience of having the judges wave him down for overtime.

Magid made the city finals that year anyway.

Besides being in the 1945 contest, Magid also competed in last year's match. He finished in the city finals again as well.

Deadline For Club Charters Today; CAB Head Resigns

Termed as a "final deadline," today was designated as the date when petitions, constitutions, rosters and student card numbers of the campus organizations must be submitted, Stan Fletcher, acting CAB president, announced at the CAB meeting held last week.

When the meeting opened, Fletcher announced that a letter would be sent to the Student Council recommending that twelve organizations be declared off campus.

However, following advice by Louis Batmale, dean of student activities, and because the Student Council does not meet until this afternoon to give final approval on the material already handed in, Fletcher agreed to stretch the time until just before the council meeting.

Harry Williams, president of the CAB, announced his resignation last week. A part-time job was given as his reason.

Until the CAB by-laws are amended as to officers' succession, or the CAB consents, Roberts Rules of Order will be in effect. Thus Fletcher assumed the president's job. Fletcher announced that he would be in the office in the student lounge on Fridays from 12 noon to 2 p.m.

The suggestion committee has been inactive because of no suggestions, Fletcher announced.

"The suggestion committee was set up to investigate and act upon any changes or improvements that might be requested by campus groups," Fletcher said.

"If any organization has suggestions of any kind, will they please give them to their CAB representative and have him turn them over to us," he added.

The clubs failing to answer roll call include Block S. F., Chinese Club, Hotel and Restaurant Society, Graduate Statesmen, Radio Club, Strikes and Spares, Phi Epsilon Rho, Phi Rho Pi, Mu Iota Psi, Omicron Phi Pi, Horticulture Society, Symphony Forum, Pi Mu Gamma, Spur and Saddle, and Phi Kappa Rho.

Auditorium Scene Of Music Guild Dance

Members of the college Music Guild will give an invitational dance for all Music department students this Friday evening, April 28, from 8:30 p.m. to 12 midnight, in the west campus auditorium, Patty Patterson, dance chairman, said yesterday.

The dance was originally planned for the members of both casts of the opera products of Martha and Down in the Valley before the opera budgets were withdrawn in the 100 per cent dispute.

Informal attire will be worn, and the auditorium decorated with red and white streamers gathered together to resemble a night club, Miss Patterson said.

Faculty Stars Rehearse In Private For Academic Award Show May 12

By Mary Lou Cooper

Tickets for the Faculty Variety Show will go on sale tomorrow at the student bank in the main building and at The Guardsman office on the west campus, Don Smith of the social science department announced yesterday. Admission is 75 cents to all.

Bill Culver of the English department and producer of the show, explains this "academic award winner" will be given in the west campus auditorium Friday, May 12, at 8:15 p.m.

Paul Ellison, dramatic coach, is keeping his monologue a "deep, dark secret," according to Culver. But knowing the thespian talents Ellison possesses, anything he has chosen will "wow 'em."

The Dean of Men, Edwin C. Browne, will preside over this "suspicious occasion", as master of ceremonies. But the good dean also has a spot in the show for a specialty number.

According to Culver, the only students in this giddy affair will be the CCSF band members, who, under the direction of Mike Cuhit, will play "pretty" for the show, and the only sensible performance will be Helene Mayer's fencing exhibition.

Rehearsals are now in full swing. Each individual act is rehearsed separately, and about a week before the actual production all acts will get together for a grand rehearsal and smoothing out of the continuity.

The idea of a Faculty Variety Show had its inception last year and was such a "howling" success that many were the requests for a repeat performance. It could easily grow into an annual affair. Proceeds from the play are contributed to a scholarship fund for the college.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

SURELY you know the old whodunit cliche where the wife feeds herself increasingly large portions of arsenic 'til her resistance to it is such that she can eat the same poisoned meal as her husband—then he dies and she doesn't. Well, that's the way we were with tobacco advertising; until yesterday, that is.

For years we sneered at athletes who swore they'd walk a mile for a tube of tissue stuffed with dead weed. We laughed aloud when famous doctors denied there was a cough in a carload. We even submitted our own system to the fumes of every type, from cornsilk to latakia. And with all this experience behind us we thought we were immune. Then came the fall that followeth pride.

Thumbing through the February 24 issue of Pacific Fish and Game News, we tripped over the "Editor's Comments" and fell headlong into this: ". . . here's where you guys and gals can get a hook on HOW TO SMOKE FISH. The Neterafi Company at 2144 Charleston Ave., Toledo 12, Ohio, puts out a fish smoking book for 50 cents that everyone says is very good."

Well, that ends it. Our lungs have faithfully stood up under tea leaves, coffee grounds, and various other emergency substitutions, but you gotta draw the line somewhere, and in our case the line starts with fish. And don't think you can change our mind, Neterafi Company. No, even if you distributed the book FREE would we change our mind. A man starts out in life breathing ordinary air, and, by Gad, he can always go back to it.

News, rumors, and what have you: When the college's Public Relations Group held its meeting yesterday, the speaker was Gene Whitworth of Pacific Gas & Electric. His topic was "Aladdin's Lamp." Since virtually every business and/or profession requires some sort of public relations work, it might be worth your while to attend future Thursday meetings. . . . If you notice a dangerous-looking wrist watch around campus, return it to Margaret Flournoy in Room 220. A reward is offered, but use caution in approaching this watch, it's reportedly armed. . . . What's this about instructor Lester Tarnopol receiving a tentative offer to make a lecture tour—through India! . . . And lastly, some congrats for John (not Tom) Mix, who was Phi Rho Pi president during his CCSF days. Mix got to the quarter-finals in the Pi Kappa Delta Provincial Invitational Debate tournament . . . and Eileen Scott n' Irene Sherman, off to L. A. for the Atwater Kent scholarship FINALS!

Feminine Viewpoint

Students Defend Manners

By Bobbie Jackson

RECENTLY there has been much discussion as to whether college students of today lack good manners.

Looking at this situation from the woman's viewpoint, which is supposedly the most sensitive one, the main opinion seems to be directed toward the good side.

Of course, one will always find those rowdies who drag down the majority by their crude actions and words, and thus cast suspicion on all students. Whether in college or in the business world, they lack the sensitivity to understand the shadow they cast on their friends and acquaintances.

These days, it seems that outsiders consider the whole of the younger generation as one, and do not stop to realize the differences between those who attend junior high school or junior college. By the time they reach college, most of them have grown up enough to realize the impression that loud actions cause, and to refrain from such mannerisms.

It is well known that co-eds are generally more polite and courteous than the men, from grammar school on; for women are generally trained more than the men.

College students cannot he wholly blamed for the rudeness on local car lines, for example; for students from other schools ride the cars at approximately the same hour each day.

It is to be hoped that these youngsters will grow out of this behavior in time and settle down; just as one can hope that the manners of those college students who give all a poor name will improve.

On the whole, the outlook is good—especially for the women—and with age will come the wisdom and ability to see the other person's point of view. One can usually find a few adults who act in an equally poor way.

So, when the time arrives when all adults act like adults and consider others first, then it will be time to criticize the young set as a whole.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, No. 14 TUESDAY, APRIL 25, 1950 Page 2

Student Store Plans Here Up To Decision By Clish, Conlan

WITH Associated Student President Donald Parker and several colleagues away—attending the California Junior College Student Government Conference at Bakersfield—last week, the Student Council did not hold its regular meeting on Thursday. Thus no new and dynamic issues were brought to the fore.

The general feeling prevailing among the stay-at-homes was one of relaxation and relief from the pressures of student government. The fact that San Francisco was blessed with balmy spring weather recently added to that feeling.

However, the period of rest comes to an end today when the council holds its regular meeting. Presumably there will be reports to the council on the outcome of the Bakersfield junket by the various persons who were in attendance. We will be deeply interested in the reports the colleges representatives will give.

One other meeting today also interests us. It is the meeting between college President Louis G. Conlan and Superintendent of Schools Dr. Herbert C. Clish.

ON Friday, April 14, President Conlan told the council of this meeting in which the college's student store will be discussed. The present tentative plans call for the new store to open for business next semester.

The student store is one of the main problems confronting this council as well as the council for next semester. The new venture picked up ground last semester when official administrative okay was received for its installation.

The plans call for the store to open on a small scale and expand as business and experience on the part of the operators grows. There are many problems that need attention in such a venture, many problems that will need to be ironed out as they may arise.

Through various surveys that have been conducted throughout California it has been proven that student stores add materially to any college's financial status.

However, we caution the council against thinking that the store will be a cure-all of all financial difficulties. It will solve many budget problems, but not all of them. Furthermore, the student store will need a great deal of attention and the operators cannot expect it to turn into a booming business overnight.

Student Of Distinction: Classmates Receive Twin Chemistry Awards

By Dick Larrick

There isn't A student of distinction this week, there are two! But after a look at their histories, accomplishments, and aspirations it can be said they are practically one.

For having the highest schoiastic record among students here in their first year of chemistry, Harry Goldsmith (pictured here left to right) and Erwin Blanz were awarded leather bound editions of the Handbook of Chemistry and Physics by the publisher, Chemical Ruhber Publishing Company, Thursday, March 23.

This annual award is given to the year's outstanding chemistry student. Usually only one book is given but, because of a tie, duplicates were awarded. Both Blanz and Goldsmith had straight A grades.

This is not a strange coincidence in itself but just look at their histories. Both attended Lowell high school, both were track men there—Blanz placed in two events in the all-city meet in 1948—both have photography for a hobby, both are going to the University of California from City College, and both will enter the field of organic chemistry upon completion of their education.

As if this were not enough, how about additional coincidence? Goldsmith is 38 years old; Blanz is 19. Two times 19 equals?

And the clincher—they didn't know each other from a test tube of thiosulphuric acid until they met to receive the duplicate awards. (Photo by Matthes.)

Architecture Students Put Work On Display During Public Schools Week

By Doug Hayward

Big "E" display space was granted the college Architecture department by the San Francisco Emporium this week for draughting exhibits to be placed in the downtown store's show windows during Public Schools Week.

The scaled building plans, designed by student architects, have been open to general view in the show cases at the south end of the main building here since Monday of this week. Instructor William Eckert's art classes arranged the first floor exhibits.

Since yesterday the works are being shown to the public: space is being prepared by John Rawley of the department store. Wilton Weidman, architect, expressed the opinion that when the plans are shown alongside those of commereial architects in the city, the college section will rate high.

On the Friday and Saturday following, college representatives will attend the Northern California Junior College architectural conference to be held at the University of California in Berkeley.

The conference was called as a result of the recent move among preparatory colleges and four-year colleges to solidify architectural teaching system in the state, and to program an outline for student instruction in the course.

A representative group of college instructors, to be labelled the Junior College State Committee, will be formed to discuss and investigate the proposed system.

PanoRAMa With Jones

Animals Plan Revolution

STATISTICS show that of the total student population at the college, 4000 have come to this institution directly from high school, 1100 are veterans, 24 are horses, 10 are moose, 4 are deer, 9 are foxes, 6 are African lions, and 3 are pole cats.

Don't get too excited and start demanding that your fellow students begin identifying themselves. The above statistics are only a possibility, but they could come true! No? You want proof?

Oklahoma's recent tussle with one small leopard touched off an uprising in the animal kingdom. Almost as if they had said, "If he can do it, we can too," animals all over the nation began to overthrow human rule.

* * * * *

MRS. A. C. OF Plainsfield, New Jersey, was rewarding her cat with a saucer of milk for the destruction of one pesky mouse, when the mouse walked in, said cat moved over, and the two conspirators shared their loot together.

In a bar on Seventh Ave., near 51st Street, in New York, a duck, indignant because he was refused service, left after telling the owner that he was nothing but a "quack."

A lion tamer in England, after forcing his flock of big kittens up in a row, turned his back on them to take his bow. That's all, brother.

* * * * *

SALAMANCA, NEW YORK, was terrorized by a buck deer who toured the town, pausing long enough to bang his head against the entrance to the hotel, the local restaurant, and a store.

Up in Oregon the people have discovered what they term a Jekyll-and-Hyde horse. The horse was responsible for the death of some 50 lambs.

In Francis Lake, B. C., the constable is searching for a hit-and-run moose who butted in the front of Mr. C. H.'s car, breaking the headlights, smashing the grill, denting the hood, and then ran off.

While residents of New York City discussed the red fox that took over the lobby of one of the better apartment houses and the fox that tried to attack the entire town of Oneota, New York, Farmer L. S. of Ursa, Illinois, found that a gray fox had moved into his living room.

AND HOW ABOUT the house-detective-cat at the College Book Shop? Every time we enter said establishment, said cat ogles us from under the steam table, as if we didn't pay for our coffee. Since his employment we never try to take that "extra" spoonful of sugar.

A few doors down the street, at the Ram Shack, music lovers are serenaded each morning by the Shack's poultry chorus.

So, in the future, don't be too surprised if the big fellow in the seat next to yours has a strong resemblance to the thing you hang your hat on at home.

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Theta Tau Lists Newcomers; Newman Club Plans Big Events

The campus club world has settled down somewhat from the hustle and bustle of this semester's two pledge weeks and is now, among other activities, busily preparing gay welcoming parties for the surviving pledgees.

A formal initiation party will be held by the Theta Tau's on Saturday, May 6, at the Lake Merritt Hotel in Oakland. The initiation will be followed by dinner dancing. Here are the new pledges: Sidney Mumford, Sandra Stull, Tania Schilling, and Kathleen Hinman.

The Delta Psi's held a pledge breakfast at the Cliff House Sunday, April 16, and their semi-formal pledge presentation was held at the Fox Hostess House yesterday as a climax to last week's feminine edition of Hell Week. President Jo Anne Knight was interviewed on the program "Breakfast At The Cliff House," at the time of the pledge morning repast. The gals also had fun at their joint picnic with the Tau Chi Sigmas at the Russian River last Sunday.

Although this bit of news is not in the realm of pledging, it is nevertheless worthy. The Merchandising Club has released the names of their new officers thusly: Alvin Johnson, president; Joan Brenan, vice-president; Jeannette Etchoverry,, secretary-treasurer, and Patsy Dukich was elected club representative. The planning committee is made up of Chairman George Zell, Ray Hutton, Ruth Ann Rosenberg, Beverly Hoberg, and Lorraine Sisich. The publicity committee includes: Chairman Trevor Hill, Virginia Griffin, John Conway, and Barbara Thompson. Whew! !

Le Cercle Francais, the French Club, held a meeting on the evening of Tuesday, April 11, at the home of Monsieur Cranston, at which time they discussed semester plans.

Here's a hot tip on a dance. Students of the college are invited to the Dedication Dance, a shindig dedicating the new Naval Reserve Training Program, at the Reserve Training Center at Treasure Island this Friday evening. Admission will be free of charge and music will be supplied by Lee Scott and his orchestra. Many active Reservists at the "Island" are currently attending the college.

Dancing and refreshments featured the meeting of the Newman Club on Monday, April 17, at St. Emydius Hall, Jules and Demontford Streets. Members wish to remind those interested of their coming affairs which are: May 1, roller skating; May 21, picnic, and June 3, a wiener roast.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rose Hardie
STAFF EDITORS ..... Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Ayer, Larry Bales, David Brewer, Graceme Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, George Eberl, Barbara Egolm, Ten Gould, Ray Harvey, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kanaya, Richard Larrick, Henry Louie, Herb Marvin, Warren Northward, Bob Read, Elaine Stamos, Jack Vanderbilt, Georgia Watkins, Felton White, Ralph Wiesner, Eura Williams, Bernita Davis, Don Briese, Doug Hayward, Rita Monroe.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jonas, Clarence Whitcomb.
FEATURE: Keith Gerdner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Kerr, Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, assistant; Terry Ryan, Jack Spalding, Bob Valli, John Dierking.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandra Marks, Dolores Aguirre, Assistants.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Steinheimer, Shirley Maritzen, Fred Matthes, Ken Hillmer, Herb Weiss, Dick Jarratt, Dick Lee, Kay Wood.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz, Mary Anna Quetarolli.
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normanly, Terry George, Harry Paratchan, Bob Easton.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
481 Market Street, San Francisco 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Rams Drub Menlo 15-4

Oaks Fall Before 13-Hit Barrage; SF State Loses Rubber Game, 6-1

By Gene Kelly

"Woodsmen, spare those trees," might well have been the anguished plea of Menlo Coach Chris Connor last Saturday at Big Rec when the Rams again axed the Oaks, this time by 15-4. Menlo had previously lost to the Rams 8-4.

The victory was the home clubbers' sixth against no losses in league play. They have garnered 51 runs against 22 for the opposition.

A marked improvement was noted in the locals' hitting. They battered three pitchers for 13 hits, including two doubles and a home run. Hook Arata drove in five runs with a single and double in four times at bat, while his brother Bob drove in two more with the double he collected his only time up.

Al Nicora added a one-run homer in a big seventh inning to make the victory more convincing. John Rubcic was the winning pitcher.

Last Thursday Coach Fischer's nine annexed the rubber game of a three-game series with San Francisco State, 6-1, at the Lake Merced diamond. City College had won the first game 9-6 and State the second, 11-3.

Pete Zasso struck out seven men and walked two while delivering some creditable relief pitching to rack up his first victory of the season. He relieved Rubcic in the fourth and allowed three hits during the remaining innings.

Zasso was aided by the ten hits his mates acquired, but they let him down with five errors which put him in a little hot water.

John Rudemetkin led the "hit parade" with three singles in four trips to the plate.

The Rams can expect some tough competition when they taekle the Stanford JV's today at Stanford.

Three Matches For Ram Linksmen

Ralph Hillsman's linksters spent a busy week since last Friday, traveling first for a match with Monterey Peninsula College at Del Monte, yesterday, to Crystal Springs and a three round session with San Mateo and Modesto, and hack again today to encounter University of San Francisco on the Harding golf course.

A rugged match awaits them this coming Friday, when, at 2 o'clock, they putt it out with Stockton, Sacramenton and the Modesto Pirates again on the Del Rio greens in Modesto.

If events progress as they did last year, when the Hillsmen clubbers swished through opponents left and right to cop the all-state junior college championship crown, the college greensmen will come through "up to par."

The final round of play takes place at Modesto, at which time golfers from the entire state will meet in medal play to decide individually who will receive top honors in a two-day medal tourney.

City College of San Francisco acquired its present name February 12, 1948, having been changed from San Francisco Junior College.

RAMblings . . .

By Terry Ryan

WITH about the nucleus of any team in the college returning this semester, swimming was taken off the offered sports for inter-college competition. It was also removed from the intramural schedule.

Reasons for the removal were various, but the main cause was the fact that Jefferson Union High School pool, where the team received two hours of coaching per week, doubled its rental price. Thus the group which did all but this two hours on their own, was left without even that practice facility.

The difficulties encountered last season were another factor in the cancellation. Practice was on the swimmers' own time; Coach Roy Burkhead had to double in brass with the weight men on the track team, thus giving the swimmers but two hours of scheduled coaching per week. Any swimmer must work, under coaching, eight days of the week to be in shape.

According to Burkhead, the team was held together by a spirit, a desire to win. Every man who finished the season wanted to swim, and that desire is credited by the mentor for the team's success in taking second place in the NCJCC over teams who had every advantage.

According to rumor, swimming may be revitalized if the college can obtain the use of Riordan High pool as soon as it is completed. This cannot take place until next season at the earliest.

Four WAA Members At Yosemite Meet

Four Women Athletic Association members are representing City College at an athletic conference being held this week at Yosemite National Park.

The representatives chosen at a recent WAA meeting were Lois Herting, Helen Simons, Betty Jones and Florence Loo.

Under the sponsorship of Nancy Sparks, physical education instructor, the women left Friday, so as to spend the week-end at Yosemite.

There will be a tennis playday this afternoon with Lincoln here. Dodi Fambrini, student tennis organizer, said. Any student who participates in WAA tennis is eligible to play.

Frats Battle Independents In Casaba Playoff

Tau Chi Sigma and the Lyons of the Fraternity and the National leagues respectively, with either the Hilltoppers and the Crusaders of the American division, who were thrown into a tie, will battle on the courts today and tomorrow in the men's gymnasium for possession of the trophy to be awarded the winning team of the intramural basketball league play-offs.

Yesterday was to be the playoff date for the Hilltoppers and the Crusaders of the American League.

Individuals, representing the winning team of the play-offs, will also be awarded belt buckles beside the team trophy.

Lyons of the National League came through the season without a defeat and seven wins, as well as Tau Chi Sigma of the Fraternity League, who bounced through their schedule with eight wins and no losses.

In the American League, the Bella Vista Hilltoppers and the Crusaders will battle for first place in their division.

Following are the league leaders:

National League: Lyons, 7-0; Washington, 4-2; Tsetse Flies, 5-1.

Fraternity League: Tau Chi Sigma, 8-0 and Tri-E, 5-3.

American League: Bella Vista Hilltoppers, 6-1; Crusaders, 5-1; Aces, 5-2; and Dark Horses, 5-2.

Tom Wilson, intramural director, also announced that there would be a football throwing contest open to persons who are interested this spring.

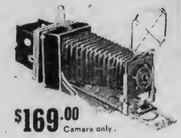
Sign-ups for this contest must be made before Friday, April 28, in the physical education department in the men's gymnasium.

The contest prescribes that there will be five throws for an overall average, plus accuracy within a prescribed course layed out, as well as distance.

The City College Rams closed their first season of football in 1935 with a score of two wins, one tie, and six losses.

ROBIN HOOD'S

Not From Sherwood Forest
But From Our Grill
It's Friar Tuck Sandwich
To Balance Your Meal



Featuring
Shakes
Sundaes
Sodas
Sandwiches

Next Door To The
El Rey Theatre
Free Parking At The Rear
1962 Ocean Ave.

COLE'S
CITY COLLEGE
BARBER SHOP
Be Well Groomed
IT'S THE
KEY TO SUCCESS
ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

EXCLUSIVE BAY AREA

LINHOF TECHNIKA III

$169.00 Camera only

A hand-held press camera with view camera features. Rising, sliding, tilting front. Triple extension bellows. Tilting, swinging back. With 135mm f/4.7 ctd. Wollensak Raptar, Rapax shutter..... 199.50
With 15cm f/4.5 Zeiss Tessar Compur shutter..... 235.00

WRITE FOR FREE 1950 CATALOG DEPT. "W"

Just Arrived! SCHNEIDER LENSES, All Factory Coated!
90mm f/6.8 Angulon in Compur Rapid ..... $ 58.15
240mm f/5.5 Tele-Xenar in Compur..... 107.25
270mm f/5.5 Tele-Xenar in Compur..... 134.17

BROOKS
The Photographic Dept. Store
Budget Terms Available
EXbrook 2-7348

The Guardsman SPORTS

Volume XXX, No. 14 TUESDAY, APRIL 25, 1950 Page 3

Trackmen Take Second Place, Head For Conference Sectional

By Terry Ryan

Santa Rosa, April 19.—Led by Cecil Bledsoe and Irv Beltrame, who each took two first places, the college track team garnered 52 points to take second place to Santa Rosa's 82½ and beat Yuba's 25½ here tonight.

Bledsoe took first in the broad jump with a 19 foot 11½ inch effort and a tie for first place in the pole vault at 11 feet. Beltrame provided the college with a hard-fought-for 10 points when he took first in the 220 and 2nd in the 440. Bledsoe followed closely by teammate Oscar Brown.

Easily the most thrilling race of the evening was the two mile run when Sal Mascetelli, in the event for the first time in his life, ran with the leaders until the last lap when he took and lengthened the lead, winning over his nearest rival by thirty years with a time of 10:52.4.

Soloman Mason lost in the last few yards, taking second in the 880 yard run in a race that gave the fans their money's worth.

Bill Rivilla and Sam Tully tied for second in the high jump at 5 feet 8½ inches. John Bologna threw the shot to third place, while Aldo Pardini ran to a second in the mile and a fourth in the two mile.

Beltrame and Brown were elected co-captains for the year after the meet in a special meeting.

Joe Greggans was completely lost due to a leg injury and Tom Hendrix did not run, but contented himself with a painful try in the discus ring. However, these are the only injuries as the team heads for the sectional playoffs Saturday at Modesto. The first four men in each event qualify themselves for the Conference meet the following week at Sacramento.

Key Duggan Wins All-American Award

Key Duggan, whose point-making ability was one of the highlights of last season's City College basketball squad, was recently awarded a first string berth on the National Junior College Tournament team.

This award, presented to Duggan at the Alumni dinner held at Fort Mason Officers' Club, makes Duggan a full-fledged All-American.

The trophy places him with two former Rain footballers, Burl Toler and Ollie Matson in the ranks of City College All-Americans.

Boulevard Market
667 Monterey Blvd.
Groceries - - Delicatessen
Fresh
Fruits and Vegetables
★
FREE DELIVERY
JUniper 5-3393

"We Operate Our Own Plant"
3 Day Service
THE MONTEREY CLEANERS
Look at your clothes . . . other people do
643 Monterey Blvd. DElaware 3-7644
ALTERATIONS . . . REPAIRS

ENJOY ON-THE-JOB ADVANTAGES
WHILE EARNING YOUR COLLEGE DEGREE!

To qualified Junior College graduates, Golden Gate College offers an unusual program which coordinates business education with paid employment. This program can be of benefit in two ways: it gives you the opportunity to earn money while working in a business closely related to your academic studies —and you get the benefit of a liberal college education closely integrated with practical business experience!

If you have graduated from Junior College, you will be awarded a baccalaureate degree in Business Administration by Golden Gate College after the successful completion of four full semesters of college studies and three alternating semesters of employment in business. (Three semesters a year.) Your employment, in a Bay Area business firm, will be procured by the College.

Your wages, while employed, will be paid to you by the firm for which you work. In addition to these earnings, your career is helped by the practical perspective you gain in business and by the business contacts which you establish.

Golden Gate College offers the broad-gauge education which businessmen recognize as vital to business success. Registrations for the summer semester which begins June 16 are now being accepted by Golden Gate College. A bulletin and catalog giving details of the program are on file in your college office. For further information, write or telephone Dr. C. J. Marsh, Director of Coordinated Business Education.

GOLDEN GATE COLLEGE
An Affiliate of the San Francisco YMCA
537 Market Street • San Francisco, California
Telephone PRospect 5-5774

Straight Talk

By Bill Thomas

AN aroma of peace having settled down upon this quiet campus, and the music of spring being in the trees, we decided to take a journey. When spring spreads its wings and the sun shines down and warms you, your mind wanders far to places where peace and quiet reign supreme, and the blue waters of a babbling brook sparkle the sunlight and rustle down into the Pacific.

There alone—how seldom are we alone—one feels the peace and the quiet of nature's music under the shade of a tree.

And there is no fear here. There is no struggle, no constant striving, one is content.

But outside there is the fear, and you know that you must return to the fear. There is much fear, but there is one fear that is felt by all. It is a fear that comes only at moments and it is a fear that men try to hide under many words and many promises and many statistics.

It is a fear of death.

At one time man knew of personal death. He knew that eventually he would die. And then later death came by armies that ravaged nations. But man still lived on, ever striving, gaining a little on the long road that we have finally recognized as progress.

But now it is not one man who may die, or one nation that may be destroyed, but mankinds which may go to the great unknown.

Every day there rages through the press the words "Cold War" and "Atomic War".

And like the farmer who cannot change the price of wheat, it seems to the man who wants to live that he cannot change the course of death. So he sits and he waits, and he convinces himself that his side will win the war.

The stream flows onward toward the falls and destruction. A stream of men and women and children who do not want to fall. And it seems that nothing mankind can do will stop the flow.

So the fear lives on.

And the cold will grow hot, and the bombs will fail, and the Spring will one year come unheralded by the living.

But if the stream wants to go backwards, it will go backwards; and if all the farmers want to change the price of wheat, the price will change; and if all the peoples do not want war there will be no war.

And the leaders live because the people let them. But the people live because they want to live.

If the people know the truth, there shall be no death. For it is truly spoken that "The Truth Shall Make You Free," even from war.

But the cause of death will not be changed unless the people tell the leaders.

One awakes to return as the sun sets, and one seems to see the Fourth Horseman riding his red horse on the wings of the blood red clouds. And his sword swings low, and down one's back there runs a chill of cold as darkness settles on the land and the sun disappears.

Othello Actors Are Experienced

City College's coming production of Othello will be staged by students on their way to professional careers in the theater.

This was revealed recently when members of the cast were questioned as to their past experience and future plans.

The first two questioned were Mervyn Murphy, who will appear as Othello, and Richard Vreeland, who will portray Roderigo.

Murphy is a graduate of Balboa High School where he participated in the Cothernus Players. He also has appeared in numerous productions presented by the San Francisco Municipal Theater and will be remembered here from his performances in Much Ado About Nothing and You Never Can Tell.

Murphy majors in speech and drama and plans to join a stock company upon graduation.

Vreeland was graduated from Lowell High School where he was prominent in high school productions. He is the only member of the present cast who appeared in Twelfth Night, the first Shakespearian play presented by the College Players.

Hotel Students Go On State Tour

Eight students of the college hotel and restaurant division will make their annual spring tour of California hotels next week, Hilda Watson, director, said yesterday.

The students were chosen on a basis of their work during the past two years at the college and for their ability to represent the local hotel sponsoring them.

The sponsoring hotels and students are as follows: Mark Hopkins, Patricia McGrath; Fairmont, Bill Gerlaek; St. Francis, Frank Belleeel; Palace, Joe Truneeek; Whitcomb, Horace Wilde; Sir Francis Drake, Milt Forman; Clarnmont, Bob James; Drake Wilshire, Pascal Mugge: Clift and Plaza, Ted Lossman.

The itinerary includes Yosemite; Hotel California, Fresno; Mission Inn, Riverside; Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles; Ysidro Ranch, Ojai Valley Inn, Santa Barbara; and hotels in Monterey and Carmel.

Curriculum Changes In Spanish Announced

Curriculum changes and additions to the Spanish courses were announced yesterday by Thomas Gabbert, head of the Foreign Language department.

Spanish 24, which is now a grammar and reading class, will be changed to a course in reading and composition.

The new addition to the department is Spanish 25a, which will be an advanced course patterned after one given at the University of California, and limited to Spanish majors. (If you are only a lieutenant you can't meet the prerequisite.)

Forum Magazine To Start Sale May 8

Forum Magazine will go on sale for one week beginning Monday, May 8, for 50 cents, Editor Curtis May announced last Tuesday.

May says he knows that "students will like the magazine," and expects that close to 1000 copies will be sold. Pre-sales were a better-than-average success this year, he said.

Forum will contain a few more articles than it did last year. Out of nearly 200 manuscripts which were submitted to Forum, about 50 will be printed.

Forum's contents will be widely varied, ranging from "the frankly literary to the frankly entertaining." The Talk of the Campus feature, patterned after New Yorker's Talk of the Town, will be in the magazine, May said.

Forum is published each spring semester, and is a project of Forum Club.

Four Departments Represent College On Television In Schools Week

Television appearances by students and members of the college faculty were arranged last week by Henry Leff as part of the college's observance of Public Schools Week.

Miss Helene Mayer and two students in her fencing class will appear on Marjorie Trumbull's Exclusively Yours program either today or Wednesday. The program is on KRON at 4 p.m.

Also on Wednesday, Michael Lo Presti and students from the fire college will put on a demonstration on Del Courtney's show, KPIX, at approximately 2:15 p.m.

At approximately 5:45 p.m. Wednesday on KGO-TV, Fred Fitzgerald and students from the police college will put on an exhibition of their work.

Miss Flossita Badger and four opera workshop students will appear on the Del Courtney show, 4 p.m. Friday. They will sing several selections and describe the opera workshop program.

All three stations have agreed to carry public service announcements on the schools' week observances, Leff said.

Retail Management Jobs, Credit Open

Thirty-one students in jobs under the Retail Management program are now getting from two to four units toward graduation plus the prevailing rate of pay, Samuel Ziegler, program instructor, said yesterday.

The range of jobs includes service station operation, clerking in shoe stores, men's furnishings, fruit and groceries, appliances, hardware, and butcher shops.

Any student interested in obtaining such work-credit as summer employment should apply to Ziegler in Room 249, at 10 o'clock daily to register, for this work is limited, he said.

You Can't Lose On This Quiz Program

Quiz-a-minute, a show sponsored by George Vellis of the radio work shop, will be held in Room 136 at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow, when some ten contestants will be chosen from the audience to answer questions, Henry Leff, radio instructor, announced yesterday.

Bob La Campagne and Diek Teske will emeee the show which will have questions on such topics as sports, music and politics, and award a prize to each contestant whether he answers any or all of the three questions on the topic which he has chosen.

The prizes awarded will range from tickets to the C. Y. O. Coronation Ball and milkshakes to a "lube job" and articles of apparel.

Doors open at 2:10 p.m., and close at 2:30, Leff said.

600 Grad Petitions Filed With Registrar

Approximately 600 graduation petitions have been filed with several yet to be approved, Mary Jane Learnard, registrar, reported yesterday.

Consequences for those who didn't get their petitions in on time are severe, Miss Learnard revealed, for students not filing their petitions on time will not be able to receive their diplomas until June, 1951.

FREE CALL AND DELIVERY
OCEAN MAR Cleaners Laundry
Buttons Sewed On
Clothes Mended
Socks Darned
1441 OCEAN AVE. JU 5-0822

Through the West Campus
Across the green
to the
RAM SHACK
For food supreme
1015 Ocean Avenue
Across From West Campus

PHIL LYNCH
Sporting Goods
623 Mission at New Montgomery
YUkon 6-6950
SPRING GOLF SPECIALS
Louisville Grand Slam Irons
Olin Dutra 1950 Models. Matched sets of 8 Irons—
Factory List Price $64.00
Phil Lynch Price SET $47.95
Olin Dutra Woods
To Match Above
True Temper Shafts, Spiral Grips. A deep faced model preferred by longer hitters. Matched set of 3.
Factory List Price $31.50
Phil Lynch Price SET $25.95
Just arrived—
Nylon Golf Bag
In the new bold colors, Royal Blue, Kelly Green, Scarlet Red, Natural. Individual compartments for each club. 14 club size, padded shoulder sling. VERY SPECIAL AT each $24.95
Other Bags from $4.95 to $75.00
Joe Kirkwood Champion Irons
By Kraftcraft—A very popular model spiral grips, matched sets of 8— Specially priced at, Set $44.95
Joe Kirkwood Woods
Deep Faced, Illuminated Inserts. Spiral Grips. Specially Priced at Set of 3 $19.95
A large assortment of golfers' rain jackets, trousers, slacks, golf carts, gloves, balls and accessories.
We will accept your present set of clubs in trade — get our liberal estimate.
Free Delivery Anywhere in California
Convenient Terms If Desired!

At Colleges and Universities throughout the country CHESTERFIELD is the largest-selling cigarette.*

Dodo Bites The Dust In Crystal Springs . . . All For Movie Art

By Keith Gardner

Without benefit of famous stars, elaborate equipment, or full-page ads, the college's Motion Picture Workshop class has calmly gone about the production and presentation of its first color film.

Dodo's Field Trip, as the picture is titled, was filmed in Kodachrome, directed by photography instructor Bev Pasqualetti, and features Dolores Courant in the title role.

The picture, a satire on a photography field trip, opens with a Dodo bursting through the screen credits—like an acrobat through a paper covered hoop—and failing flat on her face. A few "bit players" assist her to her feet and towards a car that is waiting to take them to Crystal Springs. The scene then shifts to Crystal Springs.

As the car arrives at its destination the doors swing open and enough equipment-laden students to fill a bus climb out. Last to appear is Dodo, who emerges from the trunk.

Then Dodo, with unashamed enthusiasm, begins setting up her tripod-mounted camera. The resultant tangle of tripod, girl, and camera is best left to the imagination, but, determined to get her pictures one way or another, Dodo produces a small dime-store camera.

From that point things seem to go from bad to worst for Dodo, and the film progresses to a don't-tell-your friends ending in which our heroine proves herself a woman of many talents by . . . but why spoil it.

Screen credits for the film include Herb Weiss, cameraman; Art Carl, scriptwriter; Joe Milburn, timer; Jerry Winfrey, property man; Bob Jacobs, color supervisor; and still photos (such as the one at right) by Ken Hilmer.

Dodo was designed as a training film to give Motion Picture Workshop students valuable experience in timing, camera operation, and actual movie production. The department is now working on a proposed series based on the college's semi-professional courses. These will be shown to high school students and other groups to foster a better understanding of the college.

First on the agenda is a photographic record of the classroom, laboratory, and practical activities of students in the college's law enforcement classes.

"SILENCE . . . QUIET I said . . . OK, roll 'em," dr words to that effect were spoken about the campus as the college's Motion Picture Workshop class filmed Dodo's Field Trip. The picture, under the direction of Bev Pasqualetti (far left) is described as a satire on a photography field trip. Standing next to Pasqualetti are (from left to right), Don Hanson, Roy Stone, Mary De Moss, Fred Stocks and Harry De Wolf. Dolores (Dodo) Courant sprawls in front of them, and Herb Weiss is the cameraman shooting from the roof.
—Photo by Hilmer.

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—FRIDAY, APRIL 28, 1950 NUMBER 15

College Flower Display Takes First Prize At Garden Exhibit

Months of planning, work and preparation paid off for instructor John Lawrence and his flower shop students when they were awarded first prize in the scientific and educational department of the 18th Annual Spring Flower Show at Oakland last Thursday, April 20.

Exhibits which attracted particular attention to the college entries were the tropical flower arrangement, blue and gold bird of paradises set in a copper container and surrounded by green tinted bamboo background, and a large bride and groom design of white carnations.

The first prize and an award of $50 represented the fourth blue ribbon in a row won by the flower shop since 1947. The $50 however, did not begin to cover costs, which totalled to approximately 20 times that amount.

William Schoon, engineering counsellor who viewed the show, said that ". . . This was probably the best show we've had. Our display, which received compliments from many professional florists, was the most unique of all."

The show, held in Oakland's Civic Auditorium for the past eight days, concludes its run tonight at 10 p.m.

The Horticulture Society, representing the floriculture department directed by Harry Nelson, also entered an exhibit which involved taking a complete lawn from the campus to Oakland.

Amateurs and professionals from the entire Pacific area entered in the competition, and most exhibits followed the theme of the show "Pacifica." Announcement of the college horticultural entry awards is pending.

Music Students Invited To Guild Dance Tonight

All Music department students are invited to attend the invitational dance given by the college Music Guild, tonight, in the west campus auditorium, Patty Patterson, dance chairman, announced yesterday.

The dance promises to be somewhat of a novelty, as there is to be a floor show, comprised of Music Guild talent, starting at 10 p.m., she added.

Entertainment chairman Bob Wilmer lists the following acts for the floor show:

The college dance band, introducing some special arrangements; the quartet from the Opera Workshop; a dance routine by Cynthia Burke; a vocal solo by Roberta King; a four-piece "combo" from the band, featuring Ed Turdiel, Dick Vartainian, Herb Dumont and Jerry Barnes.

The floor show is expected to be concluded by community singing.

The auditorium will be decorated from wall to wall with red and white streamers, while tables around the dance floor will add to the impression of a night club. A mobile coke bar will be available to provide refreshing drinks.

Informal dress will be the order of the evening, Miss Patterson said.

The Music Guild is made up of the following organizations: A Cappella Choir, Orchestra, Band Association, Opera Workshop, Men's Glee, Band, Lambda Alpha, Mu Iota Psi, Symphony Forum, and Music majors.

Guardsman Schedule Skips To May 5

Following the schedule made out at the beginning of this semester, no issue of The Guardsman will be published Tuesday, May 2, Editor Walt Heil announced yesterday.

The next issue of The Guardsman will be distributed Friday, May 5, he said.

Distribution points for the paper remain the same. Copies may be obtained in the main building—first floor, and in front of The Guardsman office in Building 12. Students are reminded that Associated Student membership is necessary in order to procure a copy.

Student Gives Right Answers, Wins Prizes

Randle Street, the man with winning ways and last week a Student of Distinction, made use of his knowledge recently, when, as a contestant on the Dairy Belle Treasure Tune quiz show, he collected some prizes.

Asked what a sawbones, a red-cap, and a grease monkey were, Street replied, "A doctor, porter, and auto mechanic."

Reward for this display of knowledge were a cigarette lighter, a paint sprayer, and an Hawaiian outfit.

Effort is now being made to persuade Street to wear his Hawaiian outfit during Mardi Gras.

Gentile Installed In Frosh Council Seat

Peter Gentile was officially sworn in by Associated Student President Don Parker as Freshman member to the Student Council at the council's regular meeting last Tuesday.

The council also held a brief discussion on the Bakersfield convention of state junior college student government groups, held last week.

Parker said that the college's delegates, Sandy MacKay, Norman Feiger, Tom Dill, Frank Bayol, and himself, were instrumental in defeating a ruling which would require compulsory student card sales on junior college campuses.

Parker said that a more complete disscusion on the three-day convention is forthcoming as soon as minutes of the sessions are received.

Faculty Antics Run Rampant Here On May 12

Special to The Guardsman, April 27.—From under a banyan tree in that playland of glamour, City Collegewood of San Francisco, master of ceremonies Edwin O. Browne, dean of men, reported today the latest "dope" on that colossus of variety shows, Faculty (Fr)Antics.

"The entire cast of Faculty (Fr)Antics is frantically rehearsing so they will be sure of a 'grade-A' show. The show will be 'presented to the most critical of audiences. Some have even lived through such experiences themselves," he said.

Whirling dervishes of the dance have put their heads together and discovered that there are more left feet than there are right.

The dean says: "Things just don't look right to me."

However, this will create an interesting portrayal of rhythm when Edna Denhard, May Pritehard, Marie Dyson and Mijdred Jensen put on their dance specialty.

Adding an "international incident," the Dance of All Nations will feature Gertrude Somerville, Edward and Helen Sandys, Carolyn and Bill Riedeman, Glenn and Alice Mercer, Edna Denhard and Jack Stafford.

"Anyone knows what a Hunkatin Jazz Band is? Ask the man who owns one. Ed Hare and Company will perform in the traditional hunkatin manner," the MC declared.

The ever-hilarious horse act, still as popular as at its first showing a year and a half ago, seems to have grown to large proportions.

Identities of the frolicking colts is shrouded in mystery. Goldilocks, la jolie femme, is reported to know the identity of the prancing, hoofed animals.

The blonde damsel has refused an interview with her public, and there is absolutely no admittance to rehearsals when she is on stage.

MC Browne, seen at the right displaying his usual grin, commented that the show is more than a show; it is an exposure. He went on to say that relatives of cast members will be literally rocked by the antics contemplated for the night.

"Duz might do everything, but it will never shrink the faculty program," Browne emphatically declared.

Some of the proceeds of the show will go to a scholarship fund for the benefit of City College students. Alpha Gamma Sigma members are assisting Don Jensen and Mary Lou Cooper with publicity. Jensen is sponsor of the AGS group.

Tickets are on sale in the main building, at the student bank, at the telephone operator's office and on the west campus in The Guardsman office. Price is 76 cents for all.

Deadline Tomorrow For Soph King And Queen Applications; Aquatic Park Is Dance Site

By Warren Northwood

Those aspiring to become sophomore class King and Queen must have their applications turned in to the sophomore class officers before tomorrow, April 29, Bill Rosaia, class president, announced last week.

The deadline gives the committee the proper time to complete plans for the forthcoming election to be held June 7 and 8, during sophomore week.

The election will be open to Associated Student members only; following the tradition of the past women will vote for the King, while men will vote for the Queen.

All campus organizations are invited to enter their most capable candidate in the contest, Rosaia said.

The applications are to be presented to the sophomore class officers along with a picture of the contestant, a duplicate of which should be turned in to The Guardsman office, Rosaia added, and photographs may be taken, free of charge, at the A. McMurray Studio, 1401 Van Ness Ave.

The winners of the election will be presented at the sophomore dance, to be given June 10 at Aquatic Park. Until the night of the dance the election returns will be kept a secret as has been done in the past.

Sophomore week is the last major event of the spring semester and the committee is doing everything within its power to make it the success it has been in the past, Rosaia declared.

Until the fall semester of 1941, the voters had only one selection to make, that of "Sophomore Sweetheart," then the male position of King was added to provide the women with increasing interest in the affair.

Since that time, the event brings out each semester those organization representatives who are prepared to compete for the titles of King and Queen.

Spring Illusion Dance Feature Of Tomorrow Night

"Spring Illusion," the semi-formal Inter-Sorority annual dance, will blossom out tomorrow night, Saturday, April 29, at the Century Club, Janet Cirimele, publicity chairman for the 9 p.m. to 12 midnight dancing event, announced yesterday.

Admission for tomorrow night's event is $2.00 per couple. Tickets may be purchased from any sorority representative, Dean Margaret Dougherty, or bought at the door.

Bill Richards and his orchestra will set the dancing mood and furnish the entertainment. Decorations will follow the spring mood with a little added attraction hovering over the bandstand in the form of sorority emblems and pins of the sorority groups in the council. Refreshments will be served.

Corsages are optional and dress for the evening is formal for the women and suits for the men, Angee Guerra, chairman for the affair, said.

Members of the dance committee assisting Miss Guerra of Phi Beta Rho are Lois Hofinan of Kappa Phi, Marilyn Jacobs of Theta Tau, Jo-Ann Eliefson of Alpha Lambda Chi, Helen Martin of Delta Sigma Tau, Joan Tallnat of Zeta Chi, and Miss Cirimele of Delta Psi. Felice Quast did the art work.

Clubs, Film In College Hour

Club meetings are scheduled for college hour today from 10:40 to 11:20 a.m., Louis Batmale, dean of student activities, announced recently.

Since midterm examinations are scheduled for next week, there will be no college hour next Friday, May 5, Batmale added.

Sportsmen may view some of California's finest recreational facilities by attending the next college film series presentation, Sierra Fish and Game, today at 10 a.m. and again during the college hour in Room 136, Madison Devlin, audio visual aids instructor, said Wednesday.

The film was produced in color by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, and shows the Hetch-Hetchy, Pitt River and Lake Almanore areas. While viewing these areas the narrator will indicate possibilities of camping, fishing and hunting, Devlin said.

The films are a weekly presentation by the audio-visual aids department.

Editorial
The Guardsman
Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco
Volume XXX, No. 15 FRIDAY, APRIL 28, 1950 Page 2

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

NO doubt everyone is aware by now that this is Public Schools Week. During the last few days the citizenry has been encouraged by radio, newspaper, et cetera, to visit the schools and learn first hand how Junior is using his time.

But, while many of our good taxpayers know about Public Schools Week, how many realize that the state of California has also opened to the public its institutions for the mentally afflicted this week (Mental Health Week). If this be coincidence, let's make the most of it.

It requires no vivid imagination to picture some proud papa, buzzing merrily along the highway toward Junior's school, taking the wrong turn somewhere, and . . .

NO DIFFERENCE

To anyone who made this mistake may we say it doesn't really matter too much. The place you stumbled across probably has better-landscaped grounds and more substantial buildings, but the inhabitants, essentially, are the same. There's really no need to make another trip; if you've seen one you've seen 'em all.

As a matter of fact, after considering the hazards of surprise quizzes and puzzling over the myriad factors of government we sometimes wonder if . . . but no, probably not.

The face on the television screen: TV was virtually turned over to the college this week. Instructor Helene Mayer and a couple of her fencing (en garde!) experts appeared on Marjorie Trumbull's "Exclusively Yours" show . . . then on Wednesday, Michael Lo Presti and five student firefighters did a demonstration on Del Courtney's KPIX program . . . and again on Wednesday—5:45 in the afternoon—Fred Fitzgerald and some of his future flatfoots (if that's decipherable) put on an exhibition of their work over KGO-TV . . . and today, at 4:00 in the afternoon, music instructor Flossita Badger and four of her Opera Workshop singers will sing and describe the OW program on Del Courtney's show.

Can't decide what to major in? Worried about how you're going to make a living after leaving these hallowed halls? Then get this: every student who has graduated from the college's paint technology course has found a job.

When May 21 comes around it'll bring the Tamalpais Mountain Play production of "Robin Hood." It'll also mark the appearance of George Saunders, president of the Music Guild and one of the stars of Down In The Valley, in the show. Needless to say, congrats.

Feminine Viewpoint

Coeds Plan Formal Dance

By Bobbie Jackson

ONE of the main social events of the spring season is the annual Inter-Sorority dance, to be held tomorrow night from 9 to midnight at the Century Club.

Here, the women of the various sororities are able to demonstrate their ability to put on a dance that equals those given by the fraternities and clubs.

Plans for the affair, which is entitled "Spring Illusion" this year, were formulated at the presidents' meetings, and the various duties were evenly distributed to the seven sororities represented.

Representatives who planned and carried out the preparations for the event are Ann McBride and Marilyn Jacobs, Theta Tau; Lois Hoffman, Kappa Phi; Angie Guerra, Phi Beta Rho; Helen Mirlin, Delta Sigma Tau; Karolee Kimberk, Alpha Lambda Chi; Joan Talbert, Zeta Chi; and Jo Ann Knight, Delta Psi.

According to this pre-arranged listing of the work, Delta Psi took charge of the publicity, Theta Tau obtained the orchestra, Kappa Phi became responsible for the bids, Zeta Chi furnished the tallies and will take charge of checking and provide a photographer, Alpha Lambda Chi and Phi Beta Rho worked on decorations, and Delta Sigma Tau will provide the refreshments.

In the past, the inter-sorority dance has been street attire, but this year the dress will be formals for the women and business suits for the men, with the optional rule applying to the wearing of corsages. If the dance is successful, formals may become the tradition.

Another of the unique features of the affair, is that it gives the women an opportunity of asking the men to the dance in turn-about fashion.

ISC dances in past years have proved successful, and if that is any indication of what is to come tomorrow, all those who attend should have a very enjoyable evening.

May Traditional Pivot Month When Local Tempo Speeds Up

FOLLOWING next week's midterm examinations, during which time the college will be dark, activities swing into high gear culturally and otherwise that deserve student support. In the spring semester, May is the traditional pivot month—between the second midterm and the finals. During the month of May social activities reach their height.

—On the cultural plane, Forum Magazine makes its bow on Monday, May 8, when students who have purchased pre-sale tickets may redeem them. The magazine will remain on sale for one week, with sales ending on Friday, May 12. From all indications, this semester's Forum should be a success. Editor Curtis May declared that the pre-sales were "better than average."

THE following Friday, May 19, the Associated Men Students present their annual Mardi Gras, which for the second successive year will be held out-of-doors. Preparations for the festival are almost finished.

Furthermore, campus organizations planning to have booths, have so notified President Norman Reger, allowing him plenty of time to work out the many necessary details that come into an operation such as this. To date Reger has secured the services of bandleader Ben Watkins, a parade up Ocean Avenue is scheduled, and television station KPIX has agreed to put the Mardi Gras on video.

In the week immediately following the Mardi Gras, the college players stage Othello in the Little Theater in the main building. From all indications at hand the local troupers should continue to uphold their reputation as one of the finest college theatre groups in the city.

AT this point we would like to extend our thanks to the faculty for turning in their recommendations for The Guardsman's student of distinction feature, which runs in every issue. Their support has helped us give outstanding students a chance for recognition.

A notice, appearing in the faculty bulletin, indicated that the only organizations not under the college's jurisdiction allowed to solicit funds on the campus were the Red Cross, March of Dimes, and the Community Chest. The ruling is for students' protection and had special meaning during the war when classes were interrupted by organizations seeking funds.

Student Of Distinction: Wally Wong Designs Program For Open House

By Don Cunningham

Taking an active part in San Francisco's 31st annual Public Schools Week, the college has put forth as one contribution the art work of student Wallace Wong.

Wong, in his fourth semester as an art major, laid out the cover design for the small program which was published by the committee of the public schools as a guide to the week's educational displays and open houses.

The design is printed in red and blue inks, depicting a simple architectural structure of a modern school house, under which is a bannered slogan, "Visit a Public School."

The pamphlet is printed each year in order to let the public know in advance of the forthcoming events planned by the elementary, junior, and high schools, along with the colleges that will participate in the week's demonstrations. The theme for the entire week is "Democracy in Action."

Wong, pictured at right, won recognition for his efforts in one of the local daily newspapers in an article concerning the college's work in promulgating public interest in the work of the city-wide committee on this special week. (Photo by Hilmer.)

'Co-ed' Cleans Up

Like many City College students, the machine pictured above is army surplus. Co-ed, as it has been named, is a mechanical member of the department headed by Raymond Milani, supervisor of grounds for the Board of Education.

In the early morning hush, before the quiet Balboa Park area is disturbed by 6000 odd students, Co-ed makes its way among the pall of cigaret stubs, lecture notes and lunch bags, restoring order out of chaos.

After its purchase, the machine was cleaned, generally refurbished, given a fresh coat of paint and christened Co-ed.

To the romanticists, Co-ed's appearance on campus may be welcome, since it suggests the disappearance of those hardy fellows who, armed with nail-tipped poles, wandered about the campus spearing waste paper, chewing gum wrappers, and an occasional student, with equal aplomb.

Though painted in the college's colors—red and white—Co-ed has yet to learn that the official name of this institution is City College of San Francisco. Painted across its nose is "S. F. City College."

—Photo by Lee and Hilmer

Take It From Kays

Platypuses Or Platypi?

OUR colleague (using the term loosely), Bob "Panorama" Jones, a short while back, inserted in his column an item about those rare creatures known as duck billed platypuses. He immediately received a barrage of protests on his use of plurals. When speaking of more than one platypus, he was told, one should refer to them as platypi.

According to this line of reasoning two mouses are mice, and two houses are nice (especially if one of them is in Florida).

Think of the hectic time foreigners must have trying to learn the English language with those wacky spellings like knife, knight, and know. Seems to us they would all go knuts.

ON THE SUBJECT of foreigners, we conducted another poll of public opinion recently in the suburbs of outer Mongolia. (That's why we were a little late for class Friday.)

We called ourselves the Walker Poll—same as the Gallop Poll but we weren't in such a big hurry.

After tabulating our findings we discovered that 90 per cent of all third generation Mongolians have a very meager nollitch of the United States. To mention a few of their more popular misconceptions, most of them are under the impression that the Golden Gate swings on hinges, the Mexican Border pays rent, and the Flood Building is full of water.

CURRENTLY FLOATING around the Hotel and Restaurant Division is the story about the wealthy customer who came into a famous New York bakery and ordered a cake to be baked in the shape of the letter "R." He gave very exacting orders on the decorations and icing and specified that it must be ready by noon of the following Wednesday.

On the preceding Tuesday he stopped in at the bakery to view their progress. The manager took him back into the shop where the bakers were putting the final touches on the decorations. As soon as he saw the cake the customer let out a violent scream and picked it up and dashed it to the floor. "You've baked a capital 'R,'" he yelled, "I wanted a small 'r.'"

To appease his influential customer, the manager promised to have the whole thing done over and still have it ready by noon on the following day.

At the appointed hour next day the customer returned and was shown the finished cake. "Wonderful," he exclaimed. "A masterpiece; this is exactly what I wanted."

The manager beamed broadly and asked him if he would like to take the cake with him or have it sent, to which the customer replied: "Oh, don't bother, I'll eat it here."

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Sororities Install Pledges; Alpha Phi's Hold Beach Party

Club activities continue to roll along as the semester progresses, so let's embark into the latest of the club capers.

A formal initiation dinner was held by the Phi Beta Rho's last Saturday evening at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley. A large gathering was on hand to welcome the new pledgies into the sorority. Former pledges, now members, are as follows: Clair Olson, Barbara Perry, Charlotte Bartelme, Mary Lawton, Reva Howe, Georgianne Cannon, Dolores de Victoria, Nancy Douglas, and Dona Barnes.

"Newies" of the Alpha Lambda Chi sorority include Jo Ann Perron, Marge Peterson, Gwen Pruskinowski, Phyllis Do Byne, Joyce Andrews, Jackie Wood and Jane Duffy. A joint meeting was held with the Tau Chi Sigmas on the eve of Wednesday, April 12 and another with their brother fraternity, the Tri E's, on Wednesday, April 19.

Now let us turn to the male members of the social sphere. The Beta Phi Beta's held their 30th semi-annual pledge dinner at the Chateau in Marin County last Saturday night. A joint meeting was also held with their sister sorority Phi Beta Rho at the home of Charlotte Bartelme on Wednesday, April 19. An effervescent"?? time was had by all who attended this affair.

A "whopper" of a beach party is on tap this evening at 7:30 for the college's chapter of the national fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega, at Baker's Beach. A wealth of refreshments are to be on hand, including eats, at the affair. Also planned for the near future is an interfraternity dance on the evening of Friday, May 12, a week after midterms. Many more "goodies" are being worked out by the men, including plans for the coming Mardi Gras.

From the "desk of the Deltas" comes this list of their newest members. Here they are: Jewell Amy, Terra Blanton, Ida Brooks, Maxine Brown, Mary Ruth Clark, Mahle Davis, Enola Dyers, Janet Grant, Silva Henderson, Dorothy Jackson, Doris McPherson, Clarice Morris, Mineola Ruff, Ethel Marie Smith, Wardine Williams and Delores Williams. Alean Coleman has been elected the new secretary of the club. The Delta Sigma Tau's also have a little romance in their midst as member Clara Jones treated the girls to some dee-licious chocolates to announce her engagement to John Monroe of Cal. The vows are to be taken in June.

More news from the club world next time. See you around 'n aboot.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ____ WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ____ Rose Hardie
STAFF EDITORS ____ Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Avey, Larry Bales, David Brewer, Gracene Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, George Ebel, Barbara Eppolan, Ten Gould, Ray Harvey, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kanava, Richard Larrick, Henry Louie, Herb Marvin, Warren Northwood, Bob Retak, Elaine Stamos, Jack Vandebilt, Georgia Watkins, Fulton White, Ralph Wiesner, Eura Williams, Bernita Davis, Don Briese, Doug Hayward, Elsie Monroe.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcomb.
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Keys, Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, assistant; Terry Ryan, Jack Spalding, Bob Valli, John Dierking.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandra Marks, Dolores Aquirre, Assistants.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Steinheimer, Shirley Maritzen, Fred Matthes, Ken Hilmar, Herb Weiss, Dick Jarrett, Dick Lee, Kay Wood.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz, Mary Anne Quarteroli, Henry Paratchan, Bob Easton.
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normanly, Terry George.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Adviser ____ Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ____ Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

IRV BELTRAME, right, top college sprinter, is counted on by Coaches Grover Klemmer and Roy Burkhead to culminate his share of places in future college meets. To date Beltrame has made a fine showing in both of the sprints. Seeing that he is a returning veteran from last season's club, valuable experience necessary for an added punch in the conference meet is at his command. Shown above Beltrame is placing second in the Cal Frosh meet.

Ram Trackmen Face Big Test In So. Conference Sectionals

By Terry Ryan

Light workouts are scheduled for today as the trackmen wind up a week of intensive training in preparation for the Southern Conference Sectionals tomorrow morning at 10 a.m. on the Modesto oval.

Tomorrow's meet will qualify the first four place winners in each event for the Conference Meet weekend at Sacramento and more or less determine who co-coaches Grover Klemmer and Roy Burkhead will take to the coming Modesto and Fresno Relays, and perhaps to the Nationals at Visalia May 26 and 27.

In their last meet, with Stanford University Frosh, the college thinclads annexed but one first place. Sal Mascetelli ran the two-mile in 10:49 flat to gain his second victory in as many tries in the event. He was followed closely by Aldo Pardini who ran third in this race after taking second in the mile.

In the mile relay, 440 yards per man, a thrilling duel was put on which the Rams lost in the final yards when a fine burst of speed by Oscar Brown failed to close the distance. Coach Klemmer moved Brown into the anchor lap and put Irv Beltrame in the starting lap with Soloman Mason and Skip Carnegie in between, in an experiment that paid off in the fastest time yet run by the group.

Mason also ran second in the 880, and Carnegie took third in the 440, while Beltrame took fourth in the 100.

According to Burkhead, Stanford is scheduled each season so that the squad can see theory in action. Most of the morning was spent by the coaches showing their charges the rights and wrongs of the other team and in practicing new theories.

Phone
JU 4-9251
1962 Ocean Ave.
MIKE'S SPUDNUTS
Evano J. Maionchi
TAKE HOME
ICE CREAM
MILK SHAKE
HAMBURGERS

COLE'S
CITY COLLEGE
BARBER SHOP
Be Well Groomed
IT'S THE
KEY TO SUCCESS
ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

See The New
POWELLS LIGHTWEIGHT MOTORCYCLE
2 MODELS — 8 and 10 H.P.
Selling For Less Than Most Motorcycles
ELECTRONIC DEVICES LAB. INC.
1507 OCEAN AVE. OPEN FRIDAY NIGHTS

The Graduation Gift
That Will Remember The Joys is the
Official City College Ring
In Gold or Sterling Silver
On Display Outside Basement Study Hall - Main Building
$5.00 Deposit Required At Student Bank
Van Wormer & Rodrigues Inc.
126 Post Street EXbrook 2-5886

Intra Volleyball Reorganized; Play Starts On Monday

New formation of this year's intramural volleyball league will get underway next Monday, May 1, in the men's gymnasium at 3:10 p.m.

Probability of three leagues is still in doubt because of the number of team signups which have been accepted to date, announced Tom Wilson, intramural director.

Plans for the football throwing contest are still tentative as far as the date and awards are concerned.

The contest will be held sometime during May and persons interested in signing up for this unique contest with the department of physical education in the men's gymnasium are expected to do so by next week.

Accuracy as well as distance will be stressed for the contest.

There will be five chances to toss the pigskin, with an average taken to determine the winner.

Applications for this football throwing contest are due today; everyone is eligible to participate.

Faney belt buckles will probably be given the winners for first, second and third places.

WAA Tennis Players In Two Playdays

The Women's Athletic Association tennis playdays are scheduled for the coming week, Dodi Famfrini, student manager, announced yesterday.

A meet with Lincoln High School will be held Tuesday afternoon on the City College Courts and a meet with San Francisco State on Friday, also on the college courts.

Any WAA tennis member may enter these meets, Miss Famfrini said.

Indian JV's Blast Rams, 14-0; McCarthy Slugs 583 In 6 Tilts

By Gene Kelly

Coach Bill Fischer must have kept every laundry in Palo Alto working at top speed to keep him supplied with crying towels last Tuesday when his baseball proteges dropped a 14-0 decision to the Stanford JV's.

The Redskins showed no mercy in dissecting pitchers Pete Zasso, Ed Boland and Sam Chicos to see what they could find. They found 13 hits, including a first inning home run by left-halfback Harry Hugasian, and three errors which helped put runners on the bases.

Hugasian's homer, after the first batter had doubled, took all the fire out of the Rams. They made a valiant effort to stem the floor of runs across home plate, but to no avail. The Farmers collected three hits off Zasso, nine off Boland, and one, only one, off Chicos.

Bob McCarthy and Ed Coulter were the stars. He who made any notice-able addition to the team's batting prestige. McCarthy connected for two singles and Coulter managed a double, but everyone else associated with the sad affair went hitless.

McCarthy, in six league games played to date, is leading the batters with a .583 percentage. Other leaders are: Bob Arata, .500; Bob McGovern, .444; Ed Coulter, .375; Cas Munoz, .348; and Johnny Pantoleon and Hook Arata, .333 apiece.

The locals have six league games to go, six games which Fischer terms "the hardest part of our schedule, because five are road games, and road games are always tough."

The three teams on the schedule are Salinas, San Mateo, and Modesto. The only home game is against San Mateo Saturday, May 13. Nothing is yet know of Salinas and Modesto as the league standings will not be known until next week, but San Matea is capable of knocking any team out of the championship dash despite their four losses in league play.

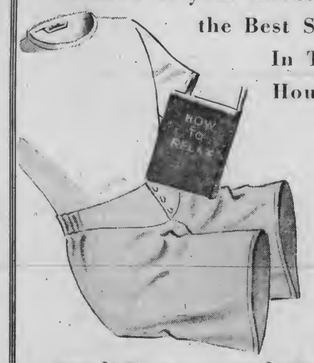
Secretarial
Day School • Night School
Continuous Enrollment
This Heald Secretarial Course leads to a Higher Earning Power with dignified position at the right hand of the Business Executives.
Write to your nearest HEALD College for your Catalog, entitled "Choosing Your Career."
Phone ORdway 3-5500
HEALDS BUSINESS COLLEGE
Van Ness Ave. at Post San Francisco
Other Schools: Oakland, Sacramento, San Jose

Hillsman Golfers Rout Monterey

In the second conference game of the season, Coach Ralph Hillsman's golfers stroked their way to victory, with a 13½-1½ win over Monterey Peninsula College, in a five-flight round of match play at the Del Monte fairways April 21.

Hillsman, briefly commenting on the victory, said that "... It was a beautiful course ... the boys came through."

Vince Hollan, second from the top on the varsity golf ladder, was the outstanding City College representative, shooting a one-under-par 71 for the par 72 course. Number five man Roger Artroux, halved a match, 1½-1½.



Bob Tomlinson, recently graduated from the junior varsity ranks, won his flight also.

The greensmen go out of town today to play Stockton, Saeramento and Modesto at the Del Rio green, Modesto.

Three more meets in all are slated for Hillsman's bunch, with the all-state medal tourney coming up May 19-20 at Modesto.

TRAVEL-MINDED?
We handle all student tours to Europe, Mexico and the Orient
We plan . . .
independent travel, too!
If travel-minded, call
The Students Travel Club
Morse-Gleason Co.
Travel Agents
323 Geary at Powell
SUtter 1-4869

ARROW is your ticket to the Best Seat In The House!

shorts $1.25 up t-shirts $1.00 up
One way to be sure of complete comfort below decks is to buy ARROW shorts! Made without creeping center seam, they're full cut—plenty roomy! Ideal teamed with Arrow T-shirts!
ARROW SHIRTS & TIES
UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

Straight Talk

By Bill Thomas

WITH interest awakened, the Sword Society alerted its members not too long ago. In case you have not heard of the Sword Society, it is a Benevolent Order, the plans for which were laid many semesters ago, with the intent of doing service to the college, yet retaining anonymity.

The idea for this society was originated several years ago by persons who thought the order of things could be changed very nicely if a group of campus leaders got together with the genuine intent of doing good deeds for the college without receiving any publicity.

Now this society is open to all men and women of good faith, and the members wear a pin upon their sweaters. This pin is a sword, sheathed, to prevent prevent use as a toothpick, and upon the scabbard are the words, "Faeere bona fide quam dicere."

Of course, being a democratic society, the Sword Society is open to both men and women of every creed.

Rather than hide itself behind a cloak of secrecy with the members whispering darkly how such and such an official attended their meeting, the members are proud of their society.

Doing nothing with an ulterior motive, the society charters itself under existing laws.

Exactly what things the society undertakes is left entirely to the discretion of the Swordsmen and Swordswomen. However, as there is no society devoting itself entirely to unnoticed and unrewarded tasks, the members undoubtedly direct their activities toward several thankless fields.

Rewards that the members receive are entirely in the glow of goodness that comes from doing good things.

The Sword Society doesn't concern itself with campus political activity, for it is composed of members belonging to every possible political faction.

Nor is it interested in trying to influence the newspaper or either president, and since membership is in itself the greatest honor afforded any student, they are not at the beck and call of one or the other political party.

Nor is it trying to influence the order of things except genuinely to strive for the betterment of the City College of San Francisco.

Fencing Students Unite Under WAA, Plan Open House

Fencing enthusiasts have banded themselves together into a club under the Women's Athletic Association, Helene Mayer, of the Social Science department and sponsor of the club, announced yesterday.

The club, according to Miss Mayer, is composed only of advanced fencers, those who have had previous experience with the foils, "so there will be no bloodshed."

The other requirement for membership, besides interest in this sport of the days of chivalry, is ten hours of practice per semester.

Charter members of the club are Jean Fischer, manager; Herb Griffin, who is an artist and designs the club posters; Pete Strong, Rudolph Fergoso, Kit Sornborger, David Denny, Frankie Bellman, Robert Osborne, Ed Mulvihill, Herb Marvin, Hank Leon, George Jackson, Dennis Edginton, and Ted Hamm.

Although a few of the members have their own foils and masks, the members are permitted to use WAA equipment.

Plans are being made for an open house to be held on Sunday, June 4, from 2 to 6 p.m., at which time the City College fencers will be hosts to about nine other fencing clubs in the Bay Area.

AS Get Rates For Michelangelo Film

Titan, a full length film presenting in detail the works of Michelangelo, is the current attraction at the Clay Theatre.

Special student rates are offered to Associated Student members. For the 1 p.m. matinee on Saturdays, tickets are 50 cents, and for Sunday and evening performances, tickets are 65 cents, on presentation of Associated Student cards.

There are no live actors as such in the film, since it presents Michelangelo's works, with a narration by Frederic March.

College Campus Proposed As Site For New Municipal Rose Garden

A municipal rose garden is now in the planning stage for the college, Harry Nelson, horticulture instructor, said yesterday.

Two such rose gardens are now in existence on the Pacific Coast —one in Portland (the city of roses) and one in Los Angeles.

Nelson, who is secretary of the Horticultural Council of the college, says that contrary to public opinion, San Francisco has an excellent climate for rose culture.

The San Francisco Rose Society, an amateur group which meets at the college Horticultural Center once a month, has joined with the Division of Landscape Architecture, University of California, in preparing and presenting plans for a proposed municipal rose garden on the campus, Nelson said.

This garden will not only have ordinary varieties of roses, but also "foreign" roses from all parts of the world. It will be an international rose trial garden in which new varieties will be tested. However, even if found to be successful producers in this climate, many of these varieties will not be offered to the public for from three to five years.

1950 Forum To Hit Sales Stands Soon

"Distribution of Forum, student literary magazine, will begin in one week, Monday, May 8, at campus stands, and this year's issue will "quite possibly be the best and most popular in Forum's history," according to Editor Curtis May.

One thousand copies of Forum will be printed, and May said he expects them to sell rapidly on a first come—first serve basis. To increase reader interest, humorous articles and cartoons on campus life are included in this issue.

Forum's aim this semester is not only to return the $400 publishing loan to the Associated Students, but also to give them a profit of approximately $100. When the money is appropriated to underwrite any production all proceeds go to the Associated Students.

Unused contributions will be returned at the student bank, but the authors should not try to get them until notified, May said.

Cost of the magazine is 50 cents, and the sales locations will be announced later.

Speech Test Deadline Today Warns Paciotti

Anthony Paciotti, speech tester, warned today that the deadline for all second semester students who have not yet taken their speech tests is today, Friday, April 28.

Tests have been given daily in Rooms 1 and 2 in Building 19 by Lucile Meredith, English instructor, and Paciotti for the past two weeks. The hours are 9, 10, and 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

About one in five are being enrolled in Communications 19A, a remedial course designed for the correction of speech deficiencies, Paciotti remarked.

Campus Singers Telecast Today

Music department talent highlighted Public Schools Week on a number of occasions during the past week with entertainment provided by the choir and opera workshop singers.

Yesterday at the Shrine Luncheon a program of choir singing was combined with solos by Andrew Stathis, Bob Sherratt and Eileen Scott, with Gertrude Norgard accompanying on the piano.

Flossita Badger, music director, and the "famous four" quartet consisting of Jean Bonaccorsi, Dan Segrove, Eileen Scott, George Saunders, and Cynthia Burke, will appear today at 4 o'clock on the Del Courtney television show over KPIX on a program of musical selections and interviews. John Malling is accompanist.

The program was arranged by Henry Leff of the radio department as part of the college's observance of the 31st annual celebration of Public Schools Week.

Student Speakers Address SF Clubs In Schools Week

Three college speakers addressed several San Francisco organizations on the topic, "Democracy in Action" last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 24, 25, and 26, Michael Griffin, director of forensics, disclosed Tuesday.

Leading off the program, Randy Street spoke before the 20-30 Club at the Hotel Richleau April 24.

Marcella Lewis followed April 25 with a declamation before the House Wives' League and the Western Woman's Club, at 111 O'Farrell Street.

April 26, Dick Schnal addressed the Portola Merchants' Association at 2470 San Bruno.

Closely tied in with the idea of Public Schools Week is the presentation that the counselling department and Griffin's speakers are presenting before Mission High School on Wednesday, May 10.

Street is to address the combined junior and senior classes on the extracurricular offerings of the college. A member of the counselling department will speak of City College's parallel and terminal courses.

Two Fraternities Plan Dance May 5

Alpha Lambda Sigma - Tau Chi Sigma joint sport dance, "Night in Hawaii," will be presented Friday night, May 5, in the west campus auditorium, from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight, Bill Davi of Alpha Lambda Sigma, and Jim Reed of Tau Chi Sigma, co-chairmen of the event, announced yesterday.

"Sport clothes—loud shirts for men and even grass skirts for the girls will be the dress order of the evening," Reed declared.

Admission is planned to be $1.25 per couple. Steve Sacco and his orchestra will supply the musical foot notes and entertainment.

Dance committee members are currently working on decoration, feature and refreshment details. Stephen Tomer of Alpha Lambda and Maurice Power of Tau Chi are the faculty members assisting the fraternities with the dance.

Students Compete For Atwater Kent Awards

Eileen Scott and Irene Sherman, two students presently enrolled in the college music department's opera workshop curriculum have climbed to the semi-finals in the Atwater Kent Foundation contest.

Two former students of the workshop, Elizabeth Pharris and Joan Welton, have also reached the semi-finals.

They will be among 120 semi-finalists who begin auditioning today in Los Angeles for the $15,000 Atwater Kent Foundation awards.

Finals will be held at Los Angeles May 20 and 21 at which time five men and five women will be selected to share the $15,000 foundation award.

Let Us Patronize Them — RAM BOOSTERS — They Patronize Us

TYPEWRITERS RENTED
GArfield 1-6633
3 MONTHS $7.50
Free Ribbon, Carbon Paper
Free Delivery
Tibbs Typewriter Co.
821 Market St., San Francisco

EXCELSIOR SCHOOL of DRIVING
LEARN TO DRIVE IN TRAFFIC!
DUAL CONTROLLED CARS
We procure you for driver's examination
SPECIAL RATES
for students, payable in installments
4666 MISSION ST. AT OCEAN AVE.
JUniper 4-3687

Paint & Decorate Figurines
Lil Audrey's
Dresden Craft
Free Instruction Daily
Also Tues. & Thurs. eves.
1443 OCEAN AVE. DE 3-4574

A Different ICE CREAM SPECIAL
Each and Every Week
Daily from 7 to 3:30
Avenue Coffee Shop
1612 Ocean Avenue

Make it a date . . .
• West Portal's
• Most Popular Fountain
DENNY DAIRIES
321 West Portal
Open Daily - - 8 a.m. to 1 a.m.
Delicious Ice Cream, Grilled Sandwiches and Waffles

JOE and BILL'S
RICHFIELD STATION
LUBRICATION
Tires and Batteries
Washing & Polishing
1298 OCEAN AVE.

The Ladies' Shop
is proud to announce that
Carole King
Dresses For Juniors
ARE OURS ALONE
IN THIS CITY!
1532 OCEAN AVENUE

AUTO - TRUCK - FIRE
Standard Form Policies
at Low Costs
Compare Our Rates
Before You Buy
C. E. PEARSON
1125 Ocean
JU. 5-4478
Prompt Personal Claims Service

Mother's Day is coming!
A Lovely Gift
from
Gems of Art
will please her
1700 Ocean Ave. JU 4-0831

PRICES
Hand Finished Shoes For Men
Featuring Price's Patented Styles

One Price
$9.95
718 Market St., S. F.
1304 Broadway, Oakland

Ted's Ocean Cleaners
50c
SLACKS • SHIRTS
SKIRTS
DRY CLEANED
Corner of Ocean & Plymouth

For Clothes With That College Look it's the
EL REY MEN'S SHOP
Opposite El Rey Theatre
"We specialize in your desire"
SHIRTS ◆ SWEATERS
SLACKS ◆ TIES
and a complete line of Colorful Haberdashery
10% Discount with Associated Student Card

WE AIR EXPRESS
WE DELIVER — WE TELEGRAPH
Choice Flowers
Florists
CORSAGES — FLORAL DESIGNS
WEDDINGS
JUniper 4-9038 1805 Ocean Avenue
San Francisco 12

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP
Your haircut as You want it
1334 Ocean Avenue
2 blocks from campus

Its a Strike! X
Bowl . . .
Johnny Swanson's
MISSION BOWL
Free Instruction Daily
3140 Mission Street

A. Walter McMurry

Ayoob's Sport Shop
Men's and Boys' Clothing
Featuring
Team & Club Jackets Tailored To Order
Also Athletic Equipment
2598 San Bruno Ave.

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX — SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1950 — NUMBER 16

College Hour Schedule
8 o'clock classes— 8:10 to 8:50
9 o'clock classes— 9:00 to 9:40
10 o'clock classes— 9:50 to 10:30
College Hour—10:40 to 11:20
11 o'clock classes—11:30 to 12:10
12 o'clock classes—12:20 to 1:00

Ball Pageant At Graham Field Honors Cloud

Plans for a colorful baseball pageant to honor Dr. A. J. Cloud, former president of the college, for his many contributions to San Francisco Public School athletics, are currently being developed by Bill Fischer, coach of the college baseball squad.

The ceremonies are scheduled for the afternoon of Saturday, May 13, at Big Rec field in Golden Gate Park, immediately preceding the game between San Mateo College and Coach Fischer's team.

Dr. Cloud, whose long career came to an official close with his retirement as president of the college in 1949, has taken an active part in developing the present extensive athletic program of the public schools.

He first had a hand in developing the Public School Athletic League while Deputy Superintendent of Schools. In later years, he encouraged the formation of the San Francisco Athletic League, now the Academic Athletic League.

This latter organization controls and schedules all Public High School athletic programs, including minor as well as major sports.

Tentative plans for the day include a speech by Dr. Cloud, a massing of the high school color guards, the City College band, representatives from the high school baseball teams, and a conference game between San Mateo and City College.

All who attend the admission-free program will receive souvenir programs and hear the game over a public address system, Fischer said. Big Rec is opposite 7th Avenue and Lincoln Way.

Traditional AWS Tea Held May 11

Associated Women Students will hold their traditional tea for high school senior women on Thursday, May 11, from 2:30 to 4 p.m. in the student lounge.

Purpose of the AWS tea is to acquaint high school senior women with City College. It has always been a highly successful affair, according to Dean Margaret Dougherty, faculty adviser of AWS.

Jeanne McKnew, AWS president, is in charge, and is assisted by members from all women's organizations on campus.

Included in the receiving line will be the following:

Dean Dougherty, AWS officers: Shirley Maritzen, vice-president; Sue Long, secretary; Tish Moyer, treasurer, and Miss McKnew. Other women in the line are Sandy McKay, Lois Hoffman, Joan Marenda, Ann McBride, Patty Patterson, Lois Herting, and Margaret Bergset.

Plans call for entertainment by the Treble Clef Society, directed by Gertrude Norgard, and with Eileen Scott featured as soloist in two numbers.

A short tour of the campus is scheduled, Miss McKnew declared.

'Ghost Towns' Feature Of Film Series Today

Midterm week has cancelled the regular Friday college hour this week, Louis Batmale, dean of student activities, announced recently.

Club meetings will be held at the regular college hour next Friday, May 12, in their assigned room, Batmale said.

Ghost Towns, a new film on the colorful towns of the Mother Lode region, and one of the College Film Series, will be shown today at 10 a.m. in Room 136, Madison Devlin, audio visual aids instructor, said yesterday.

Today will be the final day for instructors to see the new Scribe Visualizer on display in Room 155, Devlin added.

CAB Lists Seven Clubs Definitely As 'Off-Campus'

Plans for increasing the campus participation of the Club Activities Board in future semesters were discussed at the CAB meeting last week in Room 9K, at which one new club was established and seven organizations were declared definitely "off-campus."

To encourage more students to take an active part in college functions, a Club Day, suggested by Louis Batmale, dean of student activities, is being planned for the first of next semester.

Students interested in joining a club will have an opportunity to learn of the various groups open to them. As the situation now stands, each club will have a table in the student lounge from 8 in the morning until 4 p.m. and will answer any questions about the purpose and nature of the organization.

In line with making the CAB more active is the suggestion made last week to make all the clubs that are on-campus this semester on-campus from the start of next semester until they are declared otherwise for failure to comply with the regulations adopted for supervision.

This suggestion met with approval by the CAB representatives and Dean Batmale.

The Chinese Student Christian Club made its bid for an on-campus rating last week and was unanimously accepted by the 28 CAB representatives present.

The club will be officially accepted when it submits its local constitution to Stan Fletcher, CAB president.

Seven organizations were declared off-campus because they failed to meet the final deadline which had been scheduled for the Student Council meeting April 25. The seven include Horticultural Society, Radio and Engineering Club, Mu Iota Psi, Hotel and Restaurant, Spur and Saddle, Symphony Forum, and Graduate Statesmen.

PROVING THAT everybody reads Forum, Alma Zito, left, and Mary Lou Cooper, right, display their charms and a copy of the aforementioned for the approbation of The wooden Rem. Judging from the look on the Rem's schnozzle, he obviously approves wholeheartedly on both counts.—Photo by Hilmer.

Forum Out Next Monday At Stands In Bank And Ram Shack

By David Brewer

Forum magazine distribution will begin Monday at the college bank, and the Phelan Avenue Ramshack, Editor Curtis May said last Tuesday.

The magazine, costing 50 cents, will be on sale from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., and May advised students wishing a copy to buy it Monday, as one year ago the entire issue was sold out the first day of delivery. Pre-sale tickets also are redeemable at the stands.

This year for the first time cartoons are included in Forum. This year's issue will also feature more humor and satire than ever before, May said. One satire concerns the college student who goes to college just to be able to say he did so.

There are two outstanding articles on racial prejudice. One is an autobiographical essay by Emmerett Roland, and the other a narrative poem by Fred Antrol, May disclosed.

May expressed appreciation to all those who by submitting literary work, made Forum possible.

Forum's aim this semester is not only to return the $400 publishing loan to the Associated Students, but also to give them a profit of approximately $100. When the money is appropriated to underwrite any production, all proceeds go to the Associated Students.

One thousand copies of Forum will be printed, and May said he expects them to sell rapidly on a first come—first serve basis.

May announced that authors may pick up unused contributions at the bank beginning next Wednesday.

Autos Wanted For Mardi Gras Parade

College students who own automobiles are invited to join in the Mardi Gras parade on Friday evening, May 19, which will begin at Junipero Serra Boulevard and Ocean Avenue at 6:30 p.m., Associated Men Student President Norm Reger, announced this week.

Approximately 34 parade units are expected to participate, including several bands, a series of floats, and some marching units.

Under the direction of the college Law Enforcement Division, the parade will proceed along Ocean Avenue from its formation point to the west campus parking area which marks the scene of the festival.

Trucks of any size to serve as floats are still needed by the Mardi Gras committee. Students willing to donate a truck should inform Reger in Building 20.

Buttermilk Ruins Pa In Melodrama

By Mary Lou Cooper

Melodramas always bring to mind the poor but honest farmer, the pretty daughter, the villian (hiss!) and the brave, handsome hero who saves them all from a fate worse than death just in the nick of time.

This is the accepted melodramatic plot. What Bill Culver, English instructor and director of the faculty melodrama, has in mind for the Faculty (Fr)Antics show is something entirely different.

According to Culver, this new twist to an old story may revolutionize melodrama tradition throughout the theater world. It's a reverse treatment technique that will keep the audience guffawing.

The melodrama will be narrated by Sam Duff, head of the English department, while other members of the faculty cast to the pantomime.

There is only one scene in the whole play that might cause the citizens of City Collegewood of San Francisco to "wonder."

"There's a dramatic moment," says Culver, "when the father, faced with certain ruin, resorts to buttermilk to ease his mind."

But M. producer-director Culver hastens to assure the CCSFAL (City Collegewood of San Francisco Advisory League) that it is really buttermilk—not a substitute that just looks like buttermilk.

Choosing this as the most propitious moment, Culver announced that the following stars will compose the glittering cast for the melodrama: Narrator, Sam "Spade" Duff; Father, Louis "Councilman" Batmale; Mother, Mary Jane "Reggie" Learnard; Lawyer, Lloyd "Lucky" Luckmann; First Son, Bill "the Babe" Fischer; Wife, Lucille "Merry" Meredith; Second Son, Robin "Diplomat" Dunn.

Other features of the Faculty (Fr) Antics are the Belles of the Twenties with Evelyn Kerkhof, Nancy Sparks, Lucille McGovern, and Gloria Swiecgood; a puppet show by Lester Tarnopol; the Trampoline Act with Ralph Hillsman and company; an Accordion Specialty by Don Snepp; a Specialty with Flossita Badger and Henry Leff; and the Finale which includes the entire company.

Gertrude Norgard will be the accompanist for the show. Other music will be provided by the CCSF band under the direction of Mike Cahn. Maestro Cahn says the band has a special arrangement of Three Blind Mice that will delight music lovers. Other selections will be from Carousel.

Faculty (Fr)Antics will be presented in the west campus auditorium on Friday, May 12, at 8:15 p.m. Tickets are on sale at the student bank and at the telephone operator's office in the main building. Admission is 76 cents to all.

Student Store May Be Reality Next Semester

By Don Johnson

Plans for an on-campus student store received the green light on Tuesday, April 25, at a meeting between members of the college administration, Dr. Herbert C. Clish, superintendent of schools, and his staff.

At the close of the meeting, called for the purpose of discussing various problems concerning the store, Dr. Clish granted authority to proceed with plans for the store's establishment.

Various problems still remain to be solved, President Louis G. Conlan announced recently, before the plans and procedure for the operation of the store are submitted to Dr. Clish and the school board for final approval.

The location of the store has not been decided, but Buildings 6, 12, and 13 are being surveyed as possible sites, President Conlan added.

It is hoped that the store will be put into operation by the beginning of the Fall semester, President Conlan said. It will not be extensive at the start, but by the end of the first semester should have a complete stock of all items.

Among problems still to be solved are remodeling, facilities, and the setting up of a purchasing and accounting procedure, President Conlan declared.

Grass Skirts Are In Style Tonight At Island Fling

Aloha Capers, Alpha Lambda Sigma and Tau Chi Sigma joint sport dance, will be presented tonight in the west campus Waikiki Beach auditorium from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight, Bill Davi of Alpha Lambda Sigma and Jim Reed of Tau Chi Sigma, co-chairmen for the event, announced early this week.

An appropriate musical mood will be set by Steve Sacco and his orchestra, and admission for "this trip to the Hawaiian Islands" is only $1.25 per couple, Reed declared.

Chuck Taggart, chairman of the decoration committee and member of Tau Chi Sigma, revealed that "the dance committee is working hard to provide an authentic Hawaiian atmosphere. We plan to have nine floodlighted palm trees as a feature of our decorations."

Attire for the dance will be strictly informal. Loud shirts for the men and even grass skirts for the women will be the acceptable thing to wear.

Members of the decoration committee assisting Davi, Reed and Taggart, are Jess Doran, Jerry Slater, Don Smith, Victor Morales of Tau Chi Sigma, and Chuck Barger, Dave Johnson, Chuck Phillips, Bill Alkire, and Jack Cook of Alpha Lambda Sigma.

Local Quiz Kids Attend Coronation Ball Dance

Eight participants in the "Quiz-A-Minute" radio show, presented in Room 200 last Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. by the college radio workshop series, directed by Henry Leff, were given tickets to the Coronation Ball which was held in the Mural Room of the St. Francis Hotel last Saturday evening, April 28.

The eight students were picked from the audience to answer questions on subjects ranging from lakes to movies.

All except one of the contestants were eligible to submit answers for the final jackpot question which involved the correct identification of a recorded Mystery Voice.

Only two of the contestants finished in the final. The voice was identified as that of Dean Edward Sandys.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

SOMEWHERE in the back of every red-blooded, young American's mind lurks a dream of one day becoming rich—really filthy with the stuff—and, perhaps, owning a huge country home, complete with scores of servants. That's what they call The Great American Dream.

So, in our quaint old capitalistic manner, we go to college and study such things as economics (move over Rockefeller) and journalism (stand aside Hearst) so that, one day, we too can have yachts, and tailor-made suits, and so forth.

$1,000,000 MANSION

But now, after all these years, it seems we've been laboring under a delusion. Quote from a United Press delusion-dispeller: "The late J. P. Morgan's $1,000,000 mansion at Glen Cove, L.I. has been rented to a Soviet diplomat's family." This mansion has 47 rooms and 18 baths (no one has a right to be that clean) and was rented to one Leonid A. Morozov, first secretary in the Russian delegation to the U.N. Since the Commies have already displayed their contempt for the United Nations, it is reasonable to assume that this guy is a pretty small time character.

As a result, Leonid, would you mind explaining just what a first secretary does that makes him worth a million-buck mansion? And while you're at it, send along a subscription blank to the Communist party, will you? We might as well climb on the gravy train too.

Advance notice: When the college nine takes on San Mateo at the Big Rec a week from tomorrow, Saturday, May 13, the game itself will take second place to a celebration honoring Dr. A. J. Cloud, the college's former president. Dr. Cloud will throw out the ball and the celebration will include bands, marching, and, in short, the works. A tribute to a man who really has it coming.

Howard Schoon, engineering counsellor, and instructor John Lawrence started a floral arranging business about four years ago. They provide materials and instructions via mail or in person, and the enterprise, labeled "Florikraf," had a successful showing in the Spring Garden and Flower Show. Maybe there's still hope for capitalism.

Life's little mysteries: A student walked into George Mullany's 11 o'clock class last Monday and settled down in his customary seat. But, after a couple of minutes, a puzzled look spread across his face as he failed to recognize a single soul. Then he remembered something he'd read . . . something about daylight savings time.

Feminine Viewpoint

Stag Dances Open To All

By Bobbie Jackson

ALTHOUGH the colleges in the bay area sponsor numerous social activities for members of their own student bodies, there have been only limited opportunities for young people to meet students from neighboring colleges.

As an answer to this situation, a series of stag dances, entitled Collegiate Capers, opened Friday, April 21, in the Casino Room of the Hotel Richelieu.

Many bay area colleges were notified of these dances, including City College, University of San Francisco, University of California, Dominican College, St. Mary's College, State College, Lone Mountain (San Francisco College for Women), Marin, Santa Clara, Mills College and Holy Name College. The officers and administrations seemed to favor the idea.

There was no official backing of these dances, however, because they are a private enterprise started by three USF men, Jim Kenny, Roger Farrell, and Bernard Hagain, who felt that there should be a place in San Francisco where college people could go to a stag dance and meet other nice students.

Admission is one dollar per person; this being necessary to cover the expenses of the room and entertainment. There is a large dance floor surrounded by tables for resting during intermissions; and music is provided by different orchestras.

The first two dances were termed such a definite success that a Collegiate Capers Club has now been formed in order to limit membership to desirable college students. Cards are given out at the door to all who attend; and here are enough cards for every student.

Dances are held every Friday night from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m., and will continue on through the summer vacation.

The general concensus is that something on this order should have been started long ago, to give the co-eds and men a chance to get acquainted.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, No. 16 FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1950 Page 2

Fischer Initiates Rites For Man Who Fostered Sport League

THE college's grand old man, former President Dr. A. J. Cloud, will be honored a week from tomorrow on Saturday, May 13, at the baseball game between the local nine and the visiting San Mateo team at Graham Field in Golden Gate Park.

Having a keen interest in sports, Dr. Cloud was the driving force in the organization of the old Public Schools Athletic League for elementary schools. Further, Dr. Cloud showed great interest in the feats of ... college athletic teams while he was president here. He still does for that matter.

The plans, honoring Dr. Cloud, originated in the mind of baseball Coach Bill Fischer. Fischer's tentative plans for the ceremony provide for the college band, high school baseball teams in uniform in marching formations, and for Dr. Cloud to throw out the first ball of the game.

With the support of Dr. Cloud, the college athletic teams became famous throughout the Northern California area and the breadth of interest in activities has been continued by his successor, Louis G. Conlan.

Furthermore, in this event the college baseball team receives some deserved support. The Rams have been playing their home games before virtually empty stands all season. The team is currently leading the Northern California Junior College Conference baseball race with a record of six victories and no defeats.

An outstanding record such as this deserves some student support, and the players are to be commended for their performances which have brought about this record.

At any rate, both Dr. Cloud and the baseball team get recognition for performances and ability that are top-notch in any league, athletically and academically.

FORUM Magazine hits the streets on Monday when the magazine opens sales at the bank in the main building and the Ramshack on Phelan Avenue. As the college literary magazine, Forum gives students an idea of the type of work to come out of the college. Ample evidence has been shown in student interest when over 150 manuscripts were turned in. Two-thirds of the manuscripts had to be returned because of limited space.

Moreover, advance sales indicate that Forum has received more student support this semester than in the past several years. This is heartening in more ways than one.

Advertising Greats Litter College Bulletin Board

By Dick Larrick

So great is the affect of modern advertising on the college student that every technique used by big-time advertisers can be found on the main building bulletin board.

Actually there are two main types of ads; the startling statement, and the artistically inclined.

A good example of the first type was noticed two weeks ago and it caused a mass march to the advertiser's location. It read: "For Sale Cheap, a liver, a tongue, veins, a heart, arteries, and a brain. All are in very good condition."

The second type, and the most unique, is the artistically inclined advertiser. He spends hours designing a card that will be eye catching. Red, purple, blue, and green inks are used in the process of drawing row after row of lines, scrolls, and "do-hickies." The card is 5x4 when he starts; by the time he is through the white space is 2x2.

This type reads: "Six assorted glass eyes for sale. Belonged to my deceased, three-headed brother. If you don't have six eyes use them for practical jokes. They cause hilarious results when dropped in your friend's goat milk or in your mother-in-law's coffee after a large dinner. No credit please. Call Northside 777."

The B.F.P.O.S.A. (Bureau For Prevention Of Sneaky Advertisers) doubted the claims of the advertiser and tried the above suggestions. An executive of the bureau dropped a glass eye in his mother-in-law's coffee after a huge Sunday dinner and, he claims, she kept screaming "the eyes have it" for over 36 hours without stopping.

This tremendous effect on college students by modern advertising has been noted by faculty members who are now considering a study of the bulletin as part of the advertising course.

PanoRAMa With Jones

Jet Pilots Read Faster

IT used to be "Join the Navy and see the world." Now the phrase is "Join the Air Force and learn to read—faster." The Air Force has now undertaken the task to teach its officers to read at a faster rate.

It seems that the boys that zoom around in the wild-blue-yonder aren't satisfied with being able to fly faster than anyone else in the history of man; they have to read faster.

The average student reads at a speed of 293 words a minute, but these guys are clipping the words off at 493 a minute after only 30 hours of training.

In the future, the jet pilot of one of our ultra-high-speed aircraft will salute his commanding officers, receive his orders, read them, fly his mission half way around the world and back, and be ready with a verbal report before his C.O. can return the salute.

We're sure we came across one of these optic athletes the other day. A student was glancing over The Guardsman, when we inquired if he had read that hilarious column, panoRAMa with etc. "What's that?" he asked.

"Here it is," we pointed.

He glanced at our column for an instant and commented, "Oh," and began reading "With Us Today."

Let's see now, we average 400 words per column, there are 60 seconds per minute (aren't there?), so that means he could read 24,000 words per minute.

It's the truth; we saw it with our own eyes!

MAYBE YOU'VE BEEN wondering just what goes on the radio programs while you're straining noodles at the college. Here is a quick run-down:

Just Plain and Sloppy Aunt Gertrude set a new style at the barber shop with her off-the-shoulder head. Ma Poikerns has found a way to keep Pa Poikerns from spending their savings at Gus' Clammy Corner; she starched his shirts so stiff that he can't hoist an arm. Helen Bent it still trying to find out what Sally told Cecil; she is sooo mad because even her best friend won't tell her.

ONE OF TIE students has recently been enjoying himself despite his doctor's warning that he had only six months to live. The doctor said that whenever a patient of his had a knocking in his head and ringing in his ears, the result was always fatal.

Finally, after weeks of heel kicking and partying, the student went in to purchase a new shirt. Calling to an assistant, the shirt maker was giving measurements, "Sleeve 33 . . . chest 39 . . . neck 15 . . ."

After our friend stated that his neck size was fourteen, the shirt maker said, "Size 14 collar is too small; it will give you a knocking in the head and ringing in the ears."

Student Of Distinction: Herman Chow Constructs Model Of Exhibition

By Don Cunningham

During the past semester there has been an increasing tendency for City College students to display their respective talents for local appraisal. Herman Chow, through his recent work at the Oakland Flower Show, has received praise for himself and the college.

Chow, pictured at right, in connection with this annual floral display, constructed a scale model of the exhibit building, which is an open structure with a lattice-work top and shaped like a bent "L". In an open part adjoining the building, there is a small patio which is adorned by a fountain and pool.

Thirteen types of plants including rhododendrons, azaleas and five hawthorne trees are housed within or near the main structure, which is not enclosed but has upright beams with a lattice top, and many more plants are assembled in the open patio.

The exhibit, which ended April 28, was 735 square feet in area and is estimated to have cost $2000.

During the show the college's display was entered in competition under the classification of Trade Horticultural Societies in which it garnered a prize of $150.

The Flower Shop also was a prize-winner in the scientific and educational division.—(Photo by Wood.)

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Local College Activities, Past And Present, Pass In Review

With April over and May upon us, we had better delve into the realm of club activities, both past, present, and future, before the semester runs out on us.

Twelve new members of Beta Phi Beta were formally initiated at a cocktail party Saturday, April 22. Those initiated were Don Forsyth, George Fox, Jack Gerald, Dill Hiss, Emil King, Gene Madrienes, Bob Mageres, Andy Petros, Howie Ryan, Dick Sanders, Bob Small, Bob Smith, and Ross Wiener.

The Zeta Chi's have also listed their new members. They are Barbara Edwards, Carmen Savage, Olive Childs, Nadine Geomans, Barbara McCuley, Joan Wernham, Ruth Ducas and Patt Wilson.

A Chinatown tour is planned by the men of Alpha Phi Omega, whose beach party last Friday evening was a huge success, for Friday, May 26, and will wind up with a dance at the Chinese YMCA. The newly appointed social committee is as follows: Eric Malmbourg, Bugs Wilkenson, Dave Auyong, George Yukoi and Eugene Saper.

Now for the meeting medley. The Forum Club will hold its regular meeting tonight at the home of John Gerasing, 157 Kensington Way, at 8:15 o'clock. The topic for discussion will be, "The American Foreign Policy."

Omicron Phi Pi, the economics honor society, held a meeting Wednesday, April 12, and another last Wednesday. The topic discussed at the meeting on April 12 was "How to Prevent Wars." Refreshments were served following each meeting.

The Hillel Foundation held a joint meeting with the Foundation from San Francisco State on Monday, April 10, and also held a hay ride with the State group on Saturday, April 22. A meeting was also held last Monday evening at 295 Urbano Drive.

A "get acquainted party" was held during college hour on Friday, April 20, by the Merchandising Club. The advanced "merch" students entertained the new members with a skit and music after which refreshments were served.

The pledges of Theta Tau presented a magnificent feed for the old members last night at the home of Sidney Mumford. All members proclaimed the dinner to be truly "scrumptious".

A dance-reception was gayly presented by the Chinese Students Club last Friday evening at the American Legion Post at 384 Powell Street. The music served up by the Blue Notes was enjoyed by the throng present.

A barbecue will be held by the Cosmopolitan Society, Sunday, May 7, at Tilden Regional Park in Berkeley. Everyone is invited to attend and free refreshments will be served.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rose Hardis
STAFF EDITORS ..... Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Avey, Larry Bales, David Brewer, Gracena Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, George Eberl, Barbara Eggleh, Jen Gould, Ray Harvey, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kanaya, Richard Larrick, Henry Louie, Herb Marvin, Warren Northwood, Bob Rezek, Elaine Stamos, Jack Vanderbilt, Georgia Watkins, Felton White, Ralph Wiesner, Eura Williams, Bernita Davis, Don Briese, Doug Hayward, Ellie Monroe.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcomb
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Keys, Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, assistant; Terry Ryan, Jack Spalding, Bob Valli, John Dierking.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Robarta Jackson; Sandra Marks, Dolores Aguirre, Assistants.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Steinheimer, Shirley Maritzen, Fred Matthes, Ken Hilmer, Herb Weiss, Dick Jarrett, Dick Lee, Kay Wood.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diez, Mary Anne Quartarolli.
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normanly, Terry George Harry Paretchan, Bob Easton.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

GEORGE VRONIAN, THIRD BASEMAN, is seen at the plate connecting for one of two hits the college nine collected when the Stanford Junior Varsity dumped them 14-0 down on the Farm. Jim Castagnoli, All-Coast center for Stanford last football season, is behind the batter. Coach Bill Fischer's leading conference club now has six consecutive NCJC victories.

—Photo by Weiss.

Guardsman SPORTS

Intramural Touch Football Deadline Extended One Week

Intramural touch football signup deadline has been extended to Tuesday, May 9, in order to give everyone a chance to enter a team in the tournament, Director Tom Wilson announced yesterday.

The extra period of time was allotted to give the independents and fraternities an added opportunity to form their teams for this year's touch football league.

The possibility of having two leagues for this season is good, Wilson said, as the fraternities hope to capture another championship.

All persons who are interested in forming a team for competition will find an entry blank on today's sport page.

Last year's winners were the Balboa Bucs who defeated the Balboa Piratees, 6-0, in the final round of the playoffs.

If enough teams are entered again in this league, there will be a college championship playoffs with a team trophy and individual awards for the finalists.

Tau Chi Sigma came through the intramural basketball league without a setback to garner the title from the Lyons of the National League.

After annexing a win over the Bella Vista Hilltoppers in the American League playoffs, the Aces were dropped to third place in the standings by their loss to the Lyons.

Members of Tau Chi Sigma Fraternity team are sporting new championship belt buckles as part of their award for winning the intramural title.

Trackmen Leave For NCJC Finals

Eight college trackmen who qualified in the conference sectional meet last week fold their tents tomorrow and make their way to Sacramento's burning cinderpaths and the Northern California Junior College Conference games.

The eight who placed in the Modesto Sectionals last Saturday and who will represent the college are Sal Mascetelli, two miler; Cecil Bledsoe, pole vault; Sol Mason, half mile; Bill Rivilla, high jump; Irv Beltrame, Oscar Brown, Bill Patterson, Skip Carnegie, and Willie Fraziar, relay team.

All told, 14 teams from all colleges in the conference will clog Sacramento's Municipal Stadium for the games, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The Rams, who placed fourth in the sectionals behind Modesto, San Mateo and Stockton, while grabbing no first place spots, are expected to improve their showing tomorrow.

Coach Grover Klemmer declared that the locals will participate in the Fresno Relays on Friday and Saturday, May 12 and 13. A four man relay team will be chosen for the meet.

Klemmer further disclosed that the relay squad will be sent to the Modesto games the following weekend.

Hurley Village, City College project for World War II veterans, was named in memory of Major John J. Hurley, former faculty member who was killed in action in Italy, January 2, 1944.

Linksmen Triumph Over Three Clubs

Modesto's Del Rio fairways was the scene of an overwhelming victory for the Ram golf squad last Thursday, April 28, when Stockton, Modesto, and Sacramento bowed down to Coach Ralph Hillsman's linksters in five flights of varsity play.

Nineteen holes after the four teams teed off, with the number 1-5 men separated by rank in units of four, the total scores were produced. Stockton's Mustangs had been understroked by the college 12-3, Modesto's Pirates 10½-4½, and Sacramento 13-2.

Clubman Vince Holian, according to mentor Hillsman, was the spark-plug of his team and came through with the greatest number of points in his division. Holian, after doubles play with teammate Bill Fischer, has been promoted to the number one spot on the varsity golf ladder.

San Mateo, slated for a match with Modesto next week, will be the team to watch, says Hillsman. The Mateans, headed by top man Fred Streble, are following the winning pattern they set last year, and may come out on top for the finals.

Three more conference games are in store for the home-town greensmen. At the Harding golf course, they will meet Hartnell, May 5, and Menlo, May 8.

WAA Lists Schedule For Rest Of Semester

The Women's Athletic Association schedule for the remainder of the semester has been disclosed by Nancy Sparks, physical education director. The schedule for various sports is as follows:

Members of the WAA softball encounter Hartnell at Salinas tomorrow. The tennis team has scheduled matches with San Francisco State on Wednesday, May 10; San Mateo, at San Mateo, on Saturday, May 13; Balboa, at Balboa, on Wednesday, May 17, and then back to San Mateo.

WAA swimmers will engage Napa Junior College, in a meet to be held here on Saturday, May 27.

ADVERTISEMENT CORRECTION: The price for the Linhof Technika should have read $169.50 as advertised by Brooks Bros. Photographic Dept. Store instead of $169.00.

Rams Meet Hartnell Panthers Tomorrow In Double-Header

By Gene Kelly

Coach Bill Fischer's diamondmen, currently leading the southern division of the NCJC Conference with a 6-0 record, get a chance to extend their league winning streak to eight straight at the expense of Hartnell College when they tackle the Panthers in a double-header tomorrow at Salinas.

Hartnell is sporting a three win, five loss record. If they can make one or two entries on the debit side of the Rams' ledger, their own faint championship hopes will be considerably bolstered.

Should they lose twice to the locals, the southern division pennant will be virtually beyond reach. Needless to say, they will be playing with the desperation common to men with their backs against the wall.

Fischer's squad, on the other hand, has defeated Monterey, Stockton and Menlo Colleges on two occasions. Riding high on this unblemished record, they present an inviting and vulnerable target for every team they play during the balance of the season, which will probably be the toughest part of the schedule.

After Hartnell, the Rams play San Mateo and Modesto, which are ranked just behind them in the league standings.

The apples of Fischer's eye dropped a close decision to the USF Frosh last week on the windy Ocean View field. Final score: 4-3.

Strong gusts of wind from the sea swept through left field toward home plate at frequent intervals; each team garnered eight hits, but most were to center and right fields. John Rubcic, the starting pitcher, drove in two of the three runs with a second inning triple. Bob McGovern, who replaced him in the sixth, was charged with the loss.

During the war years, City College sponsored an extensive victory garden program with actual campus acreage being cultivated by local citizens.

Rams Top League With 6-0 Record

City College is leading the pack in the NCJC Conference, southern division scramble for top honors, according to baseball standings released recently by Paul Clymer of Marin College, commissioner of the conference. Modesto, San Mateo and Stockton colleges are close behind.

The Rams, boasting a six win, no loss record, have defeated Monterey Peninsula College 10-9 and 10-5, Stockton College by scores of 5-0 and 3-0, and Menlo College by 8-4 and 15-4.

Modesto's hot breath, a five win, one lost record, is warming the local's neck. The standing as of April 28:

Team	Won	Lost	Percent
CCSF	6	0	1.000
Modesto	5	1	.833
San Mateo	4	4	.500
Stockton	3	3	.500
Hartnell	3	5	.375
Menlo	2	6	.250
Monterey	1	5	.167

On October 13, 1937, the first rally was given on the present City College site—a bonfire rally and barbecue.

Simplified
Gregg Shorthand
Day School • Night School
Continuous Enrollment
Write to your nearest HEALD College for your Catalog, entitled "Choosing Your Career."
TELEPHONE ORdway 3-5500
HEALDS BUSINESS COLLEGE
Van Ness Ave. at Post San Francisco
Other Schools: Oakland, Sacramento, San Jose

COLE'S CITY COLLEGE BARBER SHOP
Be Well Groomed
IT'S THE KEY TO SUCCESS
ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

PRICES
Hand Finished Shoes For Men

Featuring Price's Patented Styles
One Price
$9.95
718 Market St., S. F.
1304 Broadway, Oakland

ROBIN HOOD'S
It's down Ocean Ave.
But not the last,
It's neat in its style
And noted for its class.
Featuring
Shakes
Sundaes
Sodas
Sandwiches
Next Door To The El Rey Theatre
Free Parking At The Rear
1962 Ocean Ave.

Make it a date . . .
• West Portal's
• Most Popular Fountain
DENNY DAIRIES
321 West Portal
Open Daily - - 8 a.m. to 1 a.m.
Delicious Ice Cream, Grilled Sandwiches and Waffles

TRAVEL-MINDED?
We handle all student tours to Europe, Mexico and the Orient
We plan . . .
independent travel, tool
If travel-minded, call
The Students Travel Club
Morse-Gleason Co.
Travel Agents
323 Geary at Powell
SUtter 1-4869

FROM BALI AND CAT CAY TO YOU!

Arrow's New
"Bali Cay" Sports Shirts
For sailing, golfing, or week-end parties — Arrow's new Bali Cay sports shirts are terrific! Colorful island patterns! Long and short sleeved models. See your Arrow dealer now!
$3.95 - $5.95
ARROW SHIRTS & TIES
UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

Straight Talk

By Bill Thomas

THE Associated Student elections are now less than a month off and perhaps now is the right time to review briefly the method of choosing the officers and other matters which will be coming before the public's eye.

There are two parties competing in the election. One, the Fraternity Party, is composed usually of fraternity and sorority candidates chosen by the Inter Fraternity Council.

The other, the Allied Students, is composed of many of the clubs on campus and chooses candidates largely from anywhere except the fraternities and sororities.

Randy Street is head of the Allied Students, and Jim Crow is president of the Inter Fraternity Council.

The elected executive officers of the Associated Students are a President, Vice-President, Associated Men Student President, Associated Women Student President, and a Yell Leader.

Fourteen members of the Student Council are also elected. The Sophomore members are for convenience called the "Soph Council" and the Freshmen members called the "Frosh Council."

Amendments to the Constitution are also placed upon the ballot for approval by the voters. These amendments must be passed by a two-thirds vote of the Associated Students to become effective.

The election committee, under the chairmanship of Jim Potter, superintends the elections and sees that all candidates have met the necessary qualifications.

Elections will be held May 31 and June 1. If past procedure is used the electors will vote in the student lounge by machine.

To Tom Dill should go a well deserved pat on the back for his efforts in running the CJCSGS Information Service.

This is an information service conducted by the college for all the two-year colleges in California. A letter from any college about any specific problem it is facing can be sent to the Information Service and a report on how other colleges have met the problem is returned.

Also the service has, under the directorship of Dill, conducted surveys throughout California on different subjects and problems which are of importance to the colleges.

When City College assumed the responsibility for the Information Service, and Dill took over, it was in a rather sad state. However, Dill has built it up considerably since he assumed the laborious duty.

COP Wins Hearst Tourney Awards; Magid Defeated

Bill Cunningham, College of Pacific contestant, took the top honors in the eighth annual Hearst Newspaper Tournament of Orators Thursday, April 27, Michael Griffin, director of forensics, disclosed Monday.

Cunningham took the first place $200 savings bond and will represent San Francisco and the bay area in the west coast finals planned for Seattle, Saturday, May 13.

If successful against the other west coast winners, Cunningham will speak for the west in the national competition at Baltimore, Maryland.

The University of San Francisco's Flattery came through with a second place $100 savings bond, and Mayer of Stockton College won the third place $75 savings bond.

Di Filpo of St. Mary's took the $50 fourth place bond. Shay of Santa Rosa Junior College won the $25 fifth prize.

Armand Magid, this college's representative, came in with a sixth place tie.

June 16 Set For Cap And Gown Ceremonies

Commencement ceremonies will be held at the Civic Opera House on Friday, June 16, Lloyd Luckmann, dean of university parallel courses, announced early this week. The formal ceremonies will take place at 8 p.m., with a rehearsal scheduled for the same afternoon.

Members of the graduation committee include Luckmann, chairman; Oscar Anderson, marshall; Edwin C. Browne, gowns; F. Grant Marsh, awards; Flosaita Badger, choir; Margaret Dougherty, ushers; Mary Jane Learnard, degrees; Meyer Cahn, orchestra, and John Lawrence, decorations.

A student speaker will be chosen from the honor students to act as valedictorian, Luckmann stated.

Caps, gowns, and invitations will be available to all holders of student cards without cost, Luckmann added.

GI's Warned Of Bill Deadline

All veterans attending City College under the G. I. Bill of Rights must initiate training in their chosen field prior to July 25, 1951, Dr. F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, announced yesterday.

Dr. Marsh emphasized the critical date of July 25, 1951, pointing out that all change of courses under the bill must be cleared by that day. Any vets contemplating a change of majors or any veterans who are not taking advantage of the G. I. bill, may get information at the veterans' office, upstairs in Building 3.

When the veteran completes his course of education or training as defined or discontinues his elected course of education or training, the law does not permit the initiation of another course of education or training.

Final Installments On AS Cards Due Now

Students who have purchased Associated Student cards on the installment plan must complete their payments by Monday, May 8, Wallace Levin, student card sales chairman, reported yesterday.

Payments may be made at the bank in the main building during the regular banking hours, he said.

Students who purchased cards on the installment plan and have failed to pay for them will face Student Council action, Levin added.

Projector Finds A Home In The Dome

LOOKING LIKE SOMETHING from the world of flying saucers and space ships, the above object was uncovered recently in the dome of the science building. At right is Dr. Louis Berman, astronomy instructor, pointing to the gadget which he describes as a 12-sided, polyhedron planeterium projector.—Photo by Wood.

Black Canopy Needed As Projection Screen

By Henry Loule

Hidden treasure under the college dome was revealed yesterday in the shape of a planetarium projector.

"Found" by Dr. Louis Berman, astronomy instructor, who said, though it was a very valuable object, the planetarium would not be of any use to the college without a black cloth canopy for use as a projection screen.

This planetarium, made by Spitz of Philadelphia, is a 12-sided polyhedron. Each facet is pin-holed to duplicate different constellations. The orbital movements are electrically controlled to trace the swing of the heavenly bodies at any latitude. American made, accessories are available to duplicate many solar systems and imaginary circles.

But the most important item needed is a black cloth canopy to fit under the silver observation dome of the Science Building.

This canopy, costing about $1000, Berman emphasized, will put the planetarium in operation.

Astronomy is a popular course, increasing its number of students in navigation astronomy, popular astronomy and in its night classes.

However, facilities include only two 4-inch telescopes, a refractor and a reflector that prohibit collective observation.

"Having a canopy to project the stars and other astral bodies would make astronomy, not only more interesting but more comprehensive," Berman concluded.

Veteran Cast Assembled For Othello Production

Othello, opening Saturday, May 20, will boast one of the most experienced casts the Campus Players has yet assembled.

Vivian Breslin, portraying Desdemona, is a graduate of Balboa, and formerly a prominent member of the Cothurnus Players as well as the Municipal Theater Players.

She has been seen here as "Hero" in Much Ado About Nothing, and "Gloria" in You Never Can Tell.

Barbara Andress, sharing the role of Emilia with Pat Wilson, is one of the most experienced of the group.

She graduated from Washington and has appeared with the McDonald Players, Stock Players of Santa Rosa and Tamalpais Mountain Players.

A few of the productions she has appeared in are: Twelfth Night, Blithe Spirit, and Much Ado About Nothing.

Eugene (Ted) Carlson, who will be seen as Iago, is carrying on a family tradition by choosing the theater as his career.

A few of the productions he has been seen in are: The Admirable Crichton, Male Animal, and Much Ado About Nothing.

Benefit For Crippled Children Due May 10

A benefit card party for the Lucinda Weeks Crippled Children's home will be held Wednesday night, May 10, under the sponsorship of Phi Beta Rho in the student lounge from 8:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m., Angee Guerra, president of Phi Beta Rho, announced yesterday.

Canasta, bridge, and whist will be a few of the many featured card games of the evening. Admission is free with a fifty cent charge for refreshments.

A door prize and a prize for every table is planned to be awarded throughout the evening. "The party is open to all," Sunny Hadley, the chairman, announced.

Hotelmen To Lunch Here On May 15

California Northern Hotel Association's annual luncheon held Monday, May 15, in the college cafeteria, will climax the year's events for members of the hotel and restaurant division, Hilda Watson, department head, said yesterday.

At this time prospective employers will interview fourth semester students of the division for employment. Up to the present time, a fully qualified, two-year student has never failed to gain employment, she declared.

Let Us Patronize Them RAM BOOSTERS They Patronize Us

Paint & Decorate Figurines
Lil Audrey's
Dresden Craft
Free Instruction Daily
Also Tues. & Thurs. eves.
1443 OCEAN AVE. DE 3-4574

A Different
ICE CREAM SPECIAL
Each and Every Week
Daily from 7 to 3:30
Avenue Coffee Shop
1612 Ocean Avenue

TYPEWRITERS RENTED
GArfield 1-6633
3 MONTHS $7.50
Free Ribbon, Carbon Paper
Free Delivery
Tibbs Typewriter Co.
821 Market St., San Francisco

EXCELSIOR SCHOOL of DRIVING
LEARN TO DRIVE IN TRAFFIC!
DUAL CONTROLLED CARS
We prepare you for driver's examination
SPECIAL RATES
for students, payable in installments
4666 MISSION ST. AT OCEAN AVE.
JUsiper 4-3687

AUTO - TRUCK - FIRE
Standard Form Policies
at Low Costs
Compare Our Rates
Before You Buy
C. E. PEARSON
1125 Ocean
JU. 5-4478
Prompt Personal Claims Service

Mother's Day is coming!
A Lovely Gift from
Gems of Art
will please her
1700 Ocean Ave. JU 4-0831

JOE and BILL'S
RICHFIELD STATION
LUBRICATION
Tires and Batteries
Washing & Polishing
1298 OCEAN AVE.

The Ladies' Shop
is proud to announce that
Carole King
Dresses For Juniors
ARE OURS ALONE
IN THIS CITY!
1532 OCEAN AVENUE

WE AIR EXPRESS WE DELIVER WE TELEGRAPH
Chain of Flowers
Florists
CORSAGES — FLORAL DESIGNS
WEDDINGS
JUniper 4-9038 1805 Ocean Avenue
San Francisco 12

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP
Your haircut as You want it
1334 Ocean Avenue
2 blocks from campus

Ted's Ocean Cleaners
50c
SLACKS • SHIRTS
SKIRTS
DRY CLEANED
Corner of Ocean & Plymouth

For Clothes With That College Look it's the
EL REY MEN'S SHOP
Opposite El Rey Theatre
"We specialize in your desire"
SHIRTS ◆ SWEATERS
SLACKS ◆ TIES
and a complete line of Colorful Haberdashery
10% Discount with Associated Student Card

A. Walter McMurry

Ayoob's Sport Shop
Men's and Boys' Clothing
Featuring
Team & Club Jackets Tailored To Order
Also Athletic Equipment
2598 San Bruno Ave.

Its a Strike! X
Bowl . . .
Johnny Swanson's
MISSION BOWL
Free Instruction Daily
3140 Mission Street

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

1949 Member Associated Collegiate Press 1950

Volume XXX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—TUESDAY, MAY 9, 1950 NUMBER 17

Mardi Gras King, Queen, To Reign Over Festivities

Following the true New Orleans tradition, this year's Mardi Gras will have a King and Queen to lead the festivities, Norm Reger, Associated Men Student president, declared recently.

This semester's royalty will receive gifts in the form of a cashmere sweater each; slacks for the King and a skirt for the Queen. Loving Cups will be presented to the royal couple on Friday evening, May 19, the night of the Mardi Gras.

Signs and posters advertising the Mardi Gras have been distributed to various stores and shops throughout the area surrounding the college, and advertisements have been installed in public buses, through space donated by Fielder, Sorensen, and Davis, an advertising service, focusing the public's attention on the forthcoming festival, Reger announced.

The Mardi Gras, a tradition here at the college, dates back to 1946 when it was the theme of a freshman dance. Since then the Mardi Gras has been adopted by the AMS and turned into a public festival.

Assisting Reger in making this year's Mardi Gras a success are Arnold Dunn, parade chairman; Jim Crough, chairman of the King and Queen committee; Bill Marsico, chairman of the booth committee; Ralph Vetterlein; Bob Luiz, arranging for the high school bands and advertisement, and John Allen, handling the electricity problems.

Cotton Ball First AS Dance Saturday

Cotton Ball, Associated Student dance, will be held Saturday evening, May 13, in the west campus auditorium from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight, Helen MacKay, Associated Student vice-president, announced at a recent social committee meeting.

Admission to the dance is open to Associated Student members only. "You must show your Associated Student card at the door to get in on this evening of fun," Miss MacKay further declared.

The musical mood will be set by Bob Greenwood and his orchestra. Decorations, now in the making, are scheduled to illustrate various signs of spring. Attire for the evening is definitely sport, cottons for the women and informal wear for the men.

Jeanne McKnew, Associated Women Student president, and Beverly Jank are helping Miss MacKay with this first official Associated Student dance of the semester. Dean Louis Batmale is faculty adviser.

THE SEMI-ANNUAL AWS tea will be held next Thursday in the west campus student lounge. Shown preparing for the event are, left to right, Sue Leong, AWS secretary; Tish Moyer, treasurer; Jeanne McKnew, president; and Shirley Maritzen, vice-president.—Photo by Matthes.

Senior High School Women Guests Of AWS Thursday

Some 350 senior class, high school women are expected to attend the Associated Women Students' tea in the student lounge next Thursday afternoon from 2:30 to 4 o'clock, Jeanne McKnew, AWS president, announced yesterday.

A brief tour, designed to familiarize the possible future women students with the campus, will be conducted in addition to entertainment furnished by the Treble Clef under the direction of Gertrude Norgard and featuring Eileen Scott.

Several selections will be presented, as follows: Lift Thine Eyes, by Mendeissohn; Tambourine, a French folk song; Heavenly Light, a Russian hymn; and I'm Going to Ride in the Chariot, a spiritual.

High schools will be represented by women from Balboa, Commerce, Galileo, Immaculate Conception Academy, Lincoln, Lowell, Miss Hamlin's, Mission, Notre Dame, Notre Dame des Victoires, Presentation, Polytechnic, Sacred Heart, Star of the Sea, St. Brigid's, St. Paul's, St. Peter's, St. Rose, St. Vincent's, and Washington.

The guests will also have an opportunity to view an exhibition on campus life through the medium of a display by the photography department, under the direction of Shirley Maritzen, photography major. Floral decorations will be the result of work by the Flower Shop.

The prospective students will be greeted by Dean Margaret Dougherty, Miss McKnew, and other AWS officers which include Miss Maritzen, vice-president; Sue Leong, secretary; and Tish Moyer, treasurer. Other student leaders will include Sandy McKay, Joan Marenda, Ann McBride, Patty Patterson, Lois Herting, Marjorie Bergset, and Lois Hofman. Miss McKnew added.

College Honors Past President On Baseball Day

Golden Gate Park's Graham Field will be the scene of a special occasion this coming Saturday, May 13, when the annual rivalry game between the baseball nines of San Mateo and the City College of San Francisco will be held in honor of Dr. A. J. Cloud, former president of the college.

Dr. Cloud, who was instrumental in forming the Academic Athletic Association and in stimulating organized sports in the San Francisco Unified School District, will be called upon for a short talk prior to the game, baseball Coach Bill Fischer revealed.

Fischer, guiding hand behind the affair, commented that " . . . the celebration will be mostly from an athletic standpoint. We are hopeful of . . . unified action on the part of the fraternities and sororities to back this event. He (Dr. Cloud) has been a grand gentleman, and has done all he can to promote athletics in San Francisco."

The college band will play and the Block SF men will serve both as ushers and distributors of a special program dedicated to Dr. Cloud.

Dr. Tarnopol's "Tarnop Tarmites" Off And Running At Faculty Frantics

By Mary Lou Cooper

Puppets, puppets, puppets! Ooooh, goodie! A puppet show!

Puppet shows have been a favorite part of the show and entertainment world for years and years and years.

And Bill Culver, Faculty (Fr)Antic chairman and producer has not over-looked that fact.

"The fifth act in this 'merry-mix-up' will be a puppet show by the noted puppeteer, Dr. Lester Tarnopol, of the radio engineering department," said Culver.

Dr. Tarnopol admitted that his "tarnop tarmites" would perform on the night of May 12, at 8:15 p.m. in the west campus auditorium on the illustrious occasion of the faculty variety show.

Said Dr. Tarnopol: "Pepito, the clown who does a song and dance routine along with other 'monkey shines' is an old show business trouper."

Pepito was made 20 years ago by Tarnopol when he was the leading puppeteer of the Jack-in-the-Box marionette company of Boston, Mass.

Another of his puppets, a charming young lady named Carmen, will do a Spanish dance to an entrancing tune, Carmen Carmela.

Another act which requires swift and deft finger manipulation is the one listed as "Accordion Specialty—Don Snepp."

Snepp, of the English department, long ago mastered the technique of "squeezing the box" and is sure to dazzle the audience with his renditions.

The poster and art work for Faculty (Fr)Antics is under the direction of William Eckert, art department, and members of his art classes.

Members of Alpha Gamma Sigma honor society are assisting with the sale of tickets. Tickets are on sale in the main building at the bank and the telephone operator's office and in The Guardsman office on the west campus. Admission to all is 75 cents.

Choir Sings At Luncheon Today

Members of the A Cappella Choir will entertain at a luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club, today at the Fairmont Hotel, according to Jerry Barnes, student manager of the choir.

"This engagement is the third and will probably be the last one of the season for the choir," Barnes said. The first and second outside performances were the Shrine Luncheon during Public Schools Week and the Northern California Junior College Choir music festival, which was held May 1.

The music festival was held at Stockton, California, at the College of the Pacific which was the host for the occasion. "This festival is somewhat similar to the music festival sponsored annually by the City College music department and the Music Guild for the high school choirs," Barnes added.

Board Of Education Attorney Says New 100 Per Cent Law Ruling Proposal 'Reasonable'

By Bob Rezak

A supplementary statement to the controversial 100 per cent ruling, which requires 100 per cent membership in all campus organizations, was submitted to the Student Council last Thursday and was pronounced in the opinion of San Francisco Board of Education Attorney Irving H. Breyer, to be within legal bounds.

Breyer said he favored a Finance Committee proposal, which was submitted to the council for consideration April 27, as a suggestion of what the council might do to clarify the situation.

The proposal would be in conformity with the law, and Breyer indicated that in his opinion the proposal is legal.

"It certainly looks reasonable," he said. "It has lots of advantages over the March 2 ruling."

Breyer pointed out that "the March 2 ruling wasn't very specific and no exceptions were made. The new proposal seems to be very reasonable and would undoubtedly remove any possible questions."

He added that "it is far better to develop this action among yourselves in a reasonable way. If this new proposal gives you substantially what you want and does not provoke the dissension that the March 2 ruling does . . . the practical thing in my mind would be to go ahead on the proposal—if it gives you substantially what you want."

Associated Student President Don Parker said that in view of Breyer's opinion, the 100 per cent ruling would not be rescinded, but that a clarification of the ruling would be made.

"Now that we have the idea down," Parker said, "we are going to implement it with a method of enforcing it, and present it to the council for approval."

Clarification of the ruling would follow an outline of suggestions listed in the Finance Committee report.

The proposal specifies that an Associated Student is any student who is duly registered in the college and who so desires to become an active citizen in the college community by purchasing membership in the Associated Students.

The report further emphasizes that students who choose not to buy an AS card, and still desire to participate in extra-curricular activities that are sponsored by the Associated Students, must forfeit to the AS the pro-rated share of the cost of the activity.

These persons, under the proposal, must also pay for the cost of any organization pins, awards, or dues that are normally underwritten by the Associated Students.

Students who, because of financial difficulties, are unable to buy AS cards, may sign a pledge to earn their membership by doing constructive work for the college at a wage of 75 cents an hour until the pledge is fulfilled.

Parker reported that the 100 per cent ruling will remain in effect until it is supplemented with the clarification that the Finance Committee proposal suggests.

Limited Supply Of Forum Available

Forum Magazine distribution, which began here yesterday, will continue through this week if the magazine supply lasts, Editor Curtis May declared yesterday.

May advised students who want a Forum to "get it promptly, because we expect to sell all of the 1000 copies this week. Past issues sold rapidly, and this issue is superior to them in content and in appearance."

Selling locations for the 50 cent student writing journal are the silver pole, bank, and Phelan Avenue Ramshack. "Traveling salesmen" are also carrying Forums about the campus, and pre-sales tickets are redeemable wherever Forum is selling, he added.

Contents of this 1950 "best ever" Forum include a short essay, poems, burlesques, one-act plays, and short stories.

May again thanked all who contributed their literary works to Forum, and reminded authors that they can pick up their unused manuscripts at the bank next Monday, May 15.

Potter Announces Election Dates For AS Officers

Dates for Associated Student elections and for submission of petitions to run for AS offices were released yesterday by James L. Potter, election commissioner.

Elections take place May 31 and June 1 in the Student Lounge, Building 2, at an hour to be announced later.

Petitions for AS offices may be obtained from Potter or Dean of Student Activities Louis Batmale, and must be returned to them by 12 noon May 18. A three inch by five inch glossy photograph must accompany the petitions, Potter declared.

An election rally to introduce candidates will be staged in the campus auditorium during college hour Friday, May 26, Potter added.

He said that active election campaigns will be permitted to start Tuesday, May 23.

The election committee, composed of Randle Street, assistant election commissioner, and committeemen Louis Testaguyya, Charles Toggart, and Henry Hall, announced the rules and regulations for the election. They will become effective as soon as they receive routine approval by the Student Council.

The committee emphasized that failure to comply with the rules once they are approved will automatically disqualify sponsored candidates.

Publicity stunts will be allowed in the form of handbills, minor rallies, and speeches, and are subject to approval by Batmale or the committee.

All posters, of which the candidate is allowed ten, five for off-campus display and five for on-campus use, must be approved also on Monday, May 22. They must not be posted prior to this date, the committee warned.

The committee also reported that individual campaign expenditures cannot exceed $15, and that proposed expenditures must be presented to the election committee at or before 12 noon, May 29.

Election Commissioner Jim Potter

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

HOLLYWOOD, in the midst of a financial crisis that threatens to bring wages down to a logical—or starvation—level, is currently acting like a Borgia house guest, desperately reassuring himself that the arsenic isn't in HIS cup.

As a result, we get such things as the "Movies are better than ever" campaign, and more recently, a sort of hysterical babbling of all those "trade secrets" that have long been hidden under movieland's pin-sized purple hat.

BUBBLE, BUBBLE . . .

In the midst of all this comes a report on what they've done to the grand old custom of bathing. After early experiments with mud baths, milk baths, champagne baths, et cetera, the boys have settled down with the bubble style, and by way of adding to trivia, have developed seven—count 'em—seven sizes of bubbles, graded from modestly small on up to revealingly large.

On the basis of this we have formulated a simple plan for the ailing movie industry. It goes like this, Hollywood: You throw out all the bubbles, sarongs, movies-based-on-novels-that-should-never-have-been-written, producers, directors and so on. Finally, you convert the entire industry to the manufacture of popcorn. Then, maybe people can go to a theater, eat popcorn, and talk to their friends about Ivory soap, which doesn't bubble but is good for removing dirt.

And it only costs a buck: Forensic department head Mike Griffin, and student-orator Randle Street have temporarily left the debate platform to "tread the boards" for the Marine Players production of "Petticoat Fever," a three-act comedy farce that is being presented at the Arena Theater (609 Sutter Street, 4th floor). The show opened last Thursday and will be repeated on the 11th, 12th, 13th, then the 18th, 19th, 20th, and finally the 25th, 26th, and 27th of his month. Tickets are available from either Griffin or Street, and cost one dollar for any seat in the house. Both will also appear in the Tamalpais Mountain Play on Sunday, the 21st.

Personal opinion dept: With certain students in the midst of a valiant attempt to disinter that nebulous thing called "school spirit," may we remind them that said spirit was buried behind the college fountain in Spring '48. A tombstone still marks the lonely grave. We'd also like to suggest May 30, that's Memorial Day, as an appropriate date for the digging up. A couple of guys we know—named Burke and Hare—will be glad to assist.

Feminine Viewpoint

Card Party Aids Charity

By Bobbie Jackson

MOST of the sororities on campus are organized, not only to help promote friendship and social activities, but also to render service to the college and worthy benefits.

An excellent example of these philanthropic activities, is the annual Phi Beta Rho card party, scheduled for tomorrow night from 7:30 to 10:30 in the evening in the student lounge; all proceeds from this event are donated to the Lucinda Weeks Home for spastic children.

The admission price is 50 cents per person, and prizes will be given for each individual table.

Any type of card game can be played, Bridge, Canasta, Pinochle, Pedro, Hearts, etc., and the winners of the contests will obtain the prizes. Cards will be furnished by the sorority, and refreshments will be served.

Chairman for the affair is Sunny Hadley, who, assisted by Margaret Barnes, planned the prizes, decorations and refreshments. Other behind-the-scenes activities were handled by the officers, who are Angee Guerra, president; Pat Edwards, vice-president; Doris Pappas, treasurer; Pat Sperry, corresponding secretary; Nancy Frietzeche, recording secretary; Joyce Boaughton, historian, and Reggie Cummings, sergeant-at-arms.

Other benefit activities sponsored by sororities on campus have become traditional events in past years.

Each year, Theta Tau holds a Christmas party for orphans or under privileged children at one of the members' homes, while Kappa Phi has donated proceeds from various activities to Care and the San Francisco Center for the Blind.

Alpha Lambda Chi women have held orphans' parties and have made scrapbooks for the Children's Hospital.

Thus, in their efforts to foster good relations among members, and promote lasting friendships, the sororities also attempt to bring a little cheer to those who are not so fortunate.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, No. 17 TUESDAY, MAY 9, 1950 Page 2

Council Should Study Methods For Enforcing Proposed Law

THE key point of Associated Student President Donald Parker's administration was finally clarified last Thursday after two turbulent months of haggling between the Student Council and various student organizations.

The key point was of course the highly controversial 100 per cent law which the council enacted on March 2, whereby "all members of organizations which get money from the Associated Students must have 100 per cent membership before they may accept their voucher from the AS."

The crux of the new ruling, though not yet in effect, is contained in the following: "Whereas a member of the ASCCSF may be any student who is duly registered in this institution and who so desires to become an active student in this community (the City College of San Francisco) by purchasing membership in the Associated Students, membership fees to be decided by the Student Council of the ASCCSF or who, because of financial difficulties, signs a pledge to earn said membership by doing such constructive work for the CCSF or A. S. as may be decided by the Dean of Student Activities, the President of the Associated Students, the Student Council, or by those delegated by any one of the preceding, at a wage of .75 cents per hour, until the pledge is fulfilled."

Then the proposed law goes on to state that members of the various budgeted organizations must be members of the Associated Students to realize the benefits of that organization.

PARKER stated that "the 100 per cent law won't be rescinded and now that we have the idea (the new ruling) we are going to implement it with a method for enforcing it and present it to the council for approval."

The new ruling, though only a rough draft, is reasonable and it is evident that a clear and understandable ruling has been made. However, the important factor remains: how is the council going to enforce it?

This factor will take a lot of thought on the part of the council and the committee to make the law fair and equitable for all the students on the campus.

Furthermore, the council is going to have to give considerable thought to anticipate any questions that may arise concerning the law, answer the questions before they come up, so to speak.

The new ruling, with its clearer detail, seems to us a fair proposal, provided the council is ready and willing to take action and give thought to making the rule stand up and be fair to all students.

Ah, peace, it's wonderful!

Student Of Distinction: Art Major Cabeceira Sells Oil Painting

By Don Cunningham

Dolores Cabeceira, an attractive and talented co-ed of the college, recently made her bid for local recognition in art circles by selling her first oil painting.

The unassuming Miss Cabeceira made her professional debut by locating a buyer for her 18 by 20 inch oil painting called "Engulfed Cathedral," which was named for and inspired by the musical composition written by Claude Debussy. The canvas is a beautiful work produced with a predominance of green in a surrealistic mood.

The work is now adorning the wall of a San Francisco dentist's anteroom.

Miss Cabeceira, by virtue of the nice touch displayed on her first oil, has been commissioned to create two more for the same buyer.

An active part of the college's art department, Miss Cabeceira also participated in the production of a campus movie entitled "Form Evolution," which was made under the direction of the Fine Arts department. For the film, which has national distribution, she constructed some plaster sculptures.

Miss Cabeceira is hoping to obtain, through her work, a scholarship to carry on her studies at some higher institute of art. (Photo by Lee.)

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Cosmos Toss Barbecue At Tilden; Name Two New 'Wheels'

Campus club-ites, temporarily slowed down by last week's midterms, are now busily preparing this month's social calendar and many are looking forward to the coming Mardi Gras festival on Friday evening, May 19.

The Cosmopolitan Society, starting the new month off right, tossed a barbecue at Tilden Regional Park in Berkeley last Sunday. All those who attended thoroughly enjoyed themselves in the beautiful park. At their last meeting on Friday, April 28, the Society's Mardi Gras Queen was elected. Her name is to be announced later. All persons interested in understanding and thereby bettering inter-racial and religious relationships are urged by the Society to participate in its functions.

Plans for the Mardi Gras are also being formulated by the men of Alpha Phi Omega. They plan to have as their form of entertainment a balloon game, that is, they will sell darts to those who wish to bust the balloons for prizes. A design is also completed for their planned float in the Mardi Gras parade.

Here's the latest "doit" on Gamma Phi Ypsilon doings. The men have a social scheduled with the Delta Psi's for Wednesday, May 17 and also plan a picnic with the sorority in the near future. "Woid" has it that the pledges are planning a "warm" reception for pledgemaster Boris Orloff at their outing. The next business meeting of the frat will be held at the Iron Pot on Montgomery Street.

Last Saturday evening marked the formal initiation of the Theta Tau pledges at the home of Mrs. Joseph Cullen, and was followed by dinner dancing at the Lake Merrit Hotel in Oakland. Those who received their pins were Mary Lou Graham, Marilyn Jacobs, Sidney Mumford, Sandra Stull and Kathleen Hinman. Bobbie Jackson was recently elevated to the illustrious position of corresponding secretary which was vacated by Pam Hall who took out a leave of absence.

Another rise to prominence is noted in the ranks of the Zeta Chi's. Felice Quast, formerly vice-president, has replaced Joan Talbot, who recently left school, as president of that "bevy of beauteous babes" known as the Sisters of Zeta Chi.

Shutter-click members of the Ram Cam went on a field trip to Pinecrest on Sunday, April 24. All of the camera bugs had a very enjoyable time and busied themselves by taking photos of the beautiful surrounding country. A print competition of the pictures will be held soon.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF — WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR — Rose Hardie
STAFF EDITORS — Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Avey, Larry Bales, David Brewer, Gracena Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, George Ebarl, Barbara Eppian, Ten Gould, Ray Harvey, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kanaya, Richard Larrick, Henry Loula, Herb Marvin, Warren Northwood, Bob Read, Elaina Stamos, Jack Vanderbilt, Georgia Watkins, Felton White, Ralph Wiesner, Eura Williams, Bernita Davis, Don Briese, Doug Hayward, Elsie Monroe.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jonas, Clarence Whitcomb.
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Kerr, Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, assistant; Jack Spalding, Bob Valli, John Dierking.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberte Jackson; Sandra Marks, Dolores Aguirre, Assistants.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Stalnhaimer, Shirley Maritzen, Fred Matthes, Ken Hilmer, Mack Weiss, Dick Jarrett, Dick Lee, Kay Wood.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz, Mary Anna Quarteroli.
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normanly, Tarry George, Harry Parachan, Bob Easton.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Advisor — Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser — Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
481 Market Street, San Francisco 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Take It From Kays

Three Men On A Zither

"MUSIC do I hear? Ha, Ha! Keep time. How sour sweet music is when time is broke, and no proportion kept!"

This is an excerpt from Willy Shakespeare's King Richard II, written some 300-odd years ago. The Elizabethans may not have seen the verity of the quip, but we believe that is because Willy aimed it directly at that far distant day when the human race would be bombarded on all sides by that missing link between music and noise known as the juke box.

THE FARSIGHTEDNESS of his statement has never before been borne out so clearly as in the last few months since tin pan alley has hit a new high in plugging worn out, off key ditties that beat a migraine staccato on the eardrums.

No sooner does the Ghost Rider In The Sky run out of gas, than Muscles Monroe comes clippety cloppin along trying to get a plug of tobacco to a miner in Corona with a bunch of stubborn mules.

Then just about the time the mules "got along" (hyah! hyah!), somebody opened the cage and let the Wild Goose fly. Fortunately there weren't many who wanted to "go where the wild goose goes" so he flapped around for only a short while before finding himself a roost, then we had peace and quiet.

Hah—but not for long. Birds of a fither flock together and up comes the Third Man on a zither. That's the gadget that makes a noise comparable to the sound one would expect to hear emanating from the handiwork of a catfight on the keys of a badly tuned piano in the basement of a boiler factory.

FOR THE BENEFIT of those unfortunate few who registered late this semester and were unable to enroll in Zither Playing 21A, we will give a brief run down on what the gimmick is.

In the first place, the thing isn't exactly what you would call new. The Greeks developed it first under the name of cithara. It consists of a resonance box with a round hole in the middle, over which are stretched 32 catgut strings.

In our own experience with the monstrosity we have found that if you replace the catgut strings with knitted ones you can play a more closely woven melody.

IF YOU ARE still not satisfied with the performance of your zither you can stuff the hole in the resonance box with moldy garbage. This makes it more melodious and gives it a certain air that it otherwise lacks.

To quote the noble bard one again, this time in a line from Julius Caesar: "The evil men do lives after them." (The zither was invented centuries ago.)

Panthers Lose Two To Rams; Bulldogs Next

By Gene Kelly

Hartnell's Panthers and the City College Rams combined their talents last Saturday at Salinas to concoct a witches-brew double-header in which just about everything that could happen, did happen.

The scores of 10-5 and 6-5, both in the Rams' favor, were merely incidental to the weird plays that took place.

Wild pitches, passed balls, errors, stolen bases, hit batters, strikeouts, walk, hit and run, not to mention one player thrown out of the first game by the umpire, characterized the two contests.

In the first game, Pete Zasso replaced John Rubcic on the mound in the third inning when the latter clipped a Hartnell batter on the leg after loading the bases with walks, giving Hartnell a 3-1 lead.

The fifth inning saw the Rams come back with 5 runs off 2 walks and 4 singles. Hartnell retaliated with 2 runs off a triple and 3 singles. The locals put the game on ice in the ninth with 3 runs off 2 singles, a double, and 2 walks.

The Panthers stole 6 bases and committed 4 errors, 3 wild pitches, and 3 passed balls while presenting Rubcic and Zasso with 14 strikeouts. Al Nicora was tossed out of the game in the ninth inning for protesting a decision at first base.

Bob McGovern was staked to a four-run lead by his mates in the first inning of the second game, but promptly blew it when Hartnell garnered 4 runs in its half of the first. He pitched steady ball in the remaining six innings, though, giving up only one more run.

The Rams will discover this afternoon if the bark of the San Mateo Bulldog is worse than its bite when the two squads meet down the peninsula.

WAA Sets Plan For Semi-Annual Barbecue

Women's Athletic Association will hold their semi-annual barbecue at Sigmund Stern Grove either at the end of this month or the beginning of June. Any WAA member or interested women may attend the affair.

Ten women are, needed for the playday to be held at San Mateo with San Mateo Saturday afternoon. Four archers, four tennis players and two badminton players are to be selected. Women interested should sign up with Nancy Sparks, physical education instructor, in the women's gymnasium. Any woman student from the college is eligible.

The other playday this week is the tennis meet with San Francisco State at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Applications Due Now For Novice Boxing Tourney

City College's bi-annual Novice Boxing Tournament will be held in the men's gymnasium on Wednesday and Thursday, May 24 and 25, varsity boxing Coach Roy Diederichsen—and director of the tournament, declared.

Enrollment for the tournament should be made within the coming week, Diederichsen said, so that boxers can get in top fighting condition.

Aspirants will benefit from the able coaching by members of this year's varsity boxing team under all the weight classes that are offered for the tournament.

Signups for all of the classes have been pretty heavy to date, with 40 saying that they will meet their fellow classmates in the ring this month.

Weight classes offered for this year's boxing tournament are 120, 125, 130, 135, 140, 145, 155, 165, 175 and Heavyweight.

There will be plenty of scrapping on both tournament nights when the "juniors" will put everything they have into those swinging gloves hoping to make the grade toward higher education in the world of fisticuffs.

Many a fine contender has come up from the novice ranks to receive laurels in the boxing world while under the able direction of Coach Diederichsen.

Spring Basketball Practice Starts

Prospective basketball players have been invited by varsity mentor Ralph Hillsman to sign up immediately for the coming spring basketball practice. Practice sessions will be held daily, with the exception of Friday, in the men's gymnasium, from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Monday, May 15, has been designated by Hillsman as the first day of practice, and Hillsman has stated that all varsity positions are "wide open" to anyone, regardless of previous experience.

Hillsman's effort to gain some knowledge of his next season's court squad has paid off in previous sesions. Last season the Rams gained the coveted Northern California crown and then went on to the Nationals held at Hutchinson, Kansas.

RAMS!

Ramble to the

RAM SHACK

For those Delicious Lunches

1051 Ocean

Across From West Campus

"We Operate Our Own Plant"

3 Day Service

THE MONTEREY CLEANERS

Look at your clothes . . . other people do

643 Monterey Blvd. DElaware 3-7644

ALTERATIONS . . . REPAIRS

LARKSPUR ROSE BOWL

Dancing Under The Stars

Every Saturday Night

Fireworks Every Dance Night * Balmy Evenings

Sponsored By

LARKSPUR FIRE DEPARTMENT

Greyhound Bus Direct Free Parking

Holian First On Golf Squad Ladder

Top position on the varsity golf ladder switched last week, for the first time this season, when former-number-two-man Vince Holian, in an intra-team flight of match play, understroked Merl Fischer to cop the number one berth.

Holian proved himself capable of hoiding down the spot by an outstanding display of skill in the April 28 game at Modesto, with Stockton, Sacramento, and Modesto.

Close on Holian's heels was Fischer, who understroked San Francisco Police clubman, and National Publinx champ Ken Townes, in a previous match last season.

According to teammate and number three man Frank Hanlon, Holian's advancement is another example of competitive team spirit underlying the winning abilities of mentor Ralph Hillsman's linksters. The squad has dropped only one conference game, that to San Mateo this season.

Hanlon, in commenting further on the team, feels that the $80 appropriated from student funds for the sport, ". . . an-up-and-coming game . . . is not proportionate to the importance of golf in college athletics."

The greensmen are assertedly saving the money for the Modesto Medal Tourney, slated for Friday and Saturday, May 19-20, at the Del Rio greens in Modesto.

Rams Go To Fresno Saturday; Trackster Brown Outstanding Star Under Grover Klemmer

Oscar Brown, completely without athletic experience before attending the college, may never be a great athlete, but he is a point winner in any sport.

Described by head football Coach Grover Klemmer as "Just about the most rugged guard we had," the 5 foot 10 inch, 185 pound freshman was continuously chasing backs in their own backfield.

TRACKMAN OSCAR BROWN will be one of the Ram sprinters competing in the Fresno Relays, Saturday, May 13, at Fresno. The relays are an annual affair and draw entrants from the country's leading colleges. Brown and the college cindermen made their bid for the NCJC conference Southern Division title last Saturday at Sacramento.—Photo by Weiss.

According to Klemmer he would have played much more last season if he had any experience, but because of his lack of training he was held back. However, the mentor is looking ahead with high hopes for Brown's return next football season.

Now on the track squad, the athlete has proved himself good for paydirt in anything up to 440 yards. At the beginning of the season he was known for his speed from the gridiron, but Coaches Klemmer and Roy Burkhead did not think he would make one of the top 440 relay men on the squad, running around 51.3.

Brown's popularity with his teammates was proved when he was elected co-captain of the track team for the year.

Results of the NCJC Southern Division track meet held last Saturday at Sacramento will appear in The Guardsman Friday, May 12.

Top members of the track team will compete in the Fresno Relays, Saturday, May 13, at Fresno. The competition will be strong, as all the major two-year-colleges of California will be represented.

At ST. LAWRENCE and Colleges and Universities

throughout the country CHESTERFIELD is the largest-selling cigarette.*

KIRK DOUGLAS

Famous St. Lawrence Alumnus, says:

"Chesterfields are so MILD they leave a clean, fresh taste in my mouth."

Kirk Douglas

STARRING IN "YOUNG MAN WITH A HORN" A WARNER BROS. PRODUCTION

Always Buy CHESTERFIELD

They're MILDER! They're TOPS! — IN AMERICA'S COLLEGES WITH THE TOP MEN IN SPORTS WITH THE HOLLYWOOD STARS

Copyright 1950, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Straight Talk

By Bill Thomas

WITH praiseworthy calm and care the Student Council went over with the Board of Education attorney the legal potentialities of the hundred per cent law.

A new and carefully considered law was presented, one that went into much more detail than the original. The opinion of the attorney was that the law is legal.

That was how it should have been done in the first place.

Now what is needed is a careful consideration of the merits of the law outside of the legal angle.

The purpose of the law was to restrict the benefits of Associated Student membership to members only. A primary consideration was that of increasing Associated Student membership.

At first this writer was entirely in favor of the purpose of the law. But much water has flown over the dam since then and some of the results of the law have already become apparent.

We would like to list the following points for consideration:

1. It deprived approximately. 120 members of the opera cast from obtaining participation benefits of AS membership.

2. It has deprived the college of the publicity and goodwill brought by the operas.

3. It has deprived all AS members of the pleasure of seeing the operas.

4. It deprived the Associated Students of the profits of the operas.

5. It has created a conflict that has directly or indirectly, at one time or another, brought bad will between groups on campus and thus affected detrimentally some activities of the Associated Students. Some activities have been curtailed, thus depriving all members of benefits.

6. Some observers doubt that the 100 per cent law has collected very much money, mainly because it was directed toward groups that had reached the saturation point in AS membership.

On the legal angle what the attorney, Irving Breyer, emphasized was not so much possible conflict with state and local laws as much as that the Board of Education would frown upon any arbitrary laws passed by the Student Council.

Also pointed up were the conflicting and often vague laws that compose so much of the state eduecation code and the inevitable failure of a layman trying to work his way through the maze of law.

And it should be pointed out that the new, more detailed hundred per cent law merely clarifies and legalizes what has been and is being done.

U. S. Senate, President Truman To Decide Future Of Nancy Evangelista

By Sumiko Kanaya

Fulfillment of Nancy Evangelista's plans after her graduation this spring depend upon the outcome of a bill now before the U. S. Senate and President Truman.

The House of Representatives recently passed a bill to legalize permanent residence in this country for Mrs. Evangelista and her husband, Dr. Honario R. Evangelista, who entered the U. S. on a temporary permit in 1948. The bill is now before the Senate and the President.

The Department of Justice in reporting the bill tells of Dr. Evangelista's "extremely valuable contributions to our war effort in the Pacific." He was born in the Philippine Islands but attended San Francisco Veterinarian College, from which he received a degree. He lived for years in Shanghai and was there during the war.

The Agricultural Department by which he is now employed has also asked that he be allowed to remain permanently in this country.

Born in Shanghai, Mrs. Evangelista worked in the Chinese Customs House there for ten years as a secretary to an American Marine Commissioner.

In February, 1948, a month after her arrival in this country, she began her first semester here. When her permanent residence in this country becomes legalized, Mrs. Evangelista, now completing her fifth semester of business courses, hopes to go into secretarial or office work.

1658 Complete Pre-Registration

Students who have not yet made counselling appointments nor received a registration number on their next semester's yellow program slips are advised to do so immediately, Dr. F. Grant Marsh, Coordinator of Student Welfare, announced last Thursday.

According to Dr. Marsh, 1658 registration numbers have been issued during the past two weeks and that number is mounting as time goes by.

Simultaneously Dr. Marsh announced that returning students will register for the fall semester on Tuesday afternoon, September 5, and all day Wednesday, September 6.

Appointments for counselling interviews should be arranged with the receptionist of the counselling office in Building 3, he said.

Phi Beta Rho Sponsors Card Party Tomorrow

Phi Beta Rho eard party, given for the benefit of the Luella Weeks crippled children's home, will be held tomorrow night, Wednesday, May 10, starting at 8:30 p.m. in the Student Lounge, Sunny Handley, chairman for the evening, announced recently.

Admission is free. A 50-cent charge will be made on the refreshments used during the affair. Table prizes and a door prize will be awarded.

All types of card games will be in play throughout the night. Canasta, bridge, whist, pedro, pinochle, and hearts will be some of the featured ones.

Everyone is invited, announced Angee Aguerra, Phi Beta Rho president. Evelyn Kerkhof is the faculty adviser.

Sign-Up Underway For Talent Show

An all student concert, featuring original compositions as well as student talent, will be given in the auditorium Wednesday, May 24, at noon, Conrad Dorn, concert chairman, announced recently.

Presented under the auspices of the Music Guild, the concert comnittee expects to get a good representation of vocalists and instrumentalists, Dorn said. A sign-up sheet will appear on the auditorium bulletin board this week for those who wish to perform.

Applications can also be filed until Friday, May 12, with Meyer Cahn, music instructor. Auditions will be held Friday.

The program to date is as follows: A piano solo by Janet Masters, a clarinet solo by Jesse Mangle, an oboe solo by Patty Patterson, and a string quartet consisting of Carlos Carvajal, cello, Eugenia Psaltis, violin, Mario Sarcel, violin, and Alan Gower, bass. The quartet will perform an original composition by Dorn, the concert chairman.

The concert committee consists of music students, Miss Patterson, Bob Wilmer, Walter Gough, Bob Tyson, and Dorn as chairman.

Orators Speak In Alumni Contest

Michael Griffin, director of forensics, is extending an invitation to the college's students to compete in the Alumni Trophy Oratorical Contest on Thursday, May 25.

Randy Street, Irwin Phillips, Marcella Lewis, Armand Magid, and Joe Schwab are a few of Phi Rho Pi's entries in the contest which is open to all students.

Tentative plans as to where the meet is to be held are still under consideration pending audience expectation. At the present, Room 19a has been chosen, but Griffin hopes that attendance will necessitate the using of the west campus auditorium.

Forensic directors Stuart Bennett of the University of San Francisco, Ellinor Bushnell of San Francisco State, and John Callon of St. Mary's will help Griffin with the judging.

A perpetual gold trophy is being offered to the contestant taking top honors, as well as a gold medal. Second and third place winners will be awarded a silver and bronze medal respectively.

Students wishing to take part in this contest should apply to Griffin at his office in Building 19 sometime during the next week.

Othello Needs Little Editing

Othello, opening Saturday, May 20, has been edited the least of any play presented thus far by the college theatre group, drama director Paul Ellison said yesterday.

The reason for the limited editing, he explained, is that the poetry of the tragedy is such that scarcely any of it can be cut without harming the continuity of the play.

Having both acted in and directed professional productions, Ellison is well versed in the art of how to present a successful well acted play.

He came to City College from England January of 1947 and through Twelfth Night and Much Ado About Nothing has made Shakespeare a common name around the campus.

It was in answer to student demand that he decided to produce Othello.

Ellison added that it is a difficult play, seldom presented even by professional companies, but he feels confident from the excellence of the rehearsals "that the Campus Players will more than uphold the reputation they are fast establishing."

Hotel Students Hosts At Luncheon

Climaxing event of the year for the hotel and restaurant division will feature the California Northern Hotel Association luncheon, to be held Monday, May 15, in the college cafeteria.

Maitre d'Hotel for the affair will be Joe Trunecek. Other participants will be Arno Poggi, manager; Don Corliss, assistant manager in charge of catering; Edmond Soulie, Henry Meyer, Paul Xavier, captains; Patricia McGrath, Gertrude Azevedo, eashiers; Don DeBey, purchasing; Jack McKun, Pete Arroyo, stewards; James Ensign, cost accounting; Joseph Kelehuer, Charles Wolf, publicity chairmen; Ted Lossman, chef; Horace Wilde, pastry chef; and Bud Taylor, Frank Bellecci, Clarence Corpotassi, Lewis Mugge, and Bruce Locken, hosts and floor directors.

At this time prospective employers will interview fourth semester students of the division for employment, Hilda Watson, division head, said.

Guests will include Superintendent of Schools Herbert C. Clish, members of the Board of Education, and members of the General Advisory Committee which guides policies of the department.

COLE says . . .

"Be the man of the year with the haircut of the hour."

COLE'S BARBER SHOP

Across From West Campus

Friendly pause

5¢

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY

The Coca-Cola Bottling Co., San Francisco

ROBIN HOOD'S

The fountain of distinction
Known both near and far.
For quick, friendly service
And food that's way above par.

Featuring

Shakes
Sundaes
Sodas
Sandwiches

Next Door To The
El Rey Theatre
Free Parking At The Rear
1962 Ocean Ave.

Boulevard Market

667 Monterey Blvd.

Groceries -- Delicatessen
Fresh
Fruits and Vegetables

FREE DELIVERY
JUniper 5-3393

SENIORS!

Subscribe Now

TIME FORTUNE

Your Last Chance
For This Special Senior Offer

FORTUNE For Only $7.50 A Year
Regularly $1.25 A Copy—$12.50 A Year

And You Can Renew Every Year
For The Next 5 Years
At The Same $5 A Year Savings

TIME $4.75 A Year

C.C.S.F. Student Store

CAB Meet Set For Club Day Discussion

By-laws and a Club Day are the main features to be discussed at the Club Activities Board meeting tomorrow at 3 p.m. in Room 9K, Stan Fletcher, CAB president, announced last week.

The By-laws committee, set up at the last CAB meeting with Reggie Cummings at its head, will have the amended by-laws ready for reading at the meeting. If the amendments meet with approval from the CAB representatives, it will go before the Student Council for final approval.

A date will be set for club day next semester when the students interested in joining organizations are given an opportunity to receive information about the various clubs.

FREE CALL AND DELIVERY

OCEAN MAR Cleaners Laundry

Buttons Sewed On
Clothes Mended
Socks Darned

1441 OCEAN AVE. JU 5-0822

AFTER GRADUATION, WHAT?

When you graduate from Junior College, you may want to enter one of the business fields—accountancy, marketing and sales, production, finance, or personnel administration. If so, it's time now to start thinking about specialization.

Golden Gate College, in its day and evening schools, has maintained a distinguished record in preparing its graduates to assume important roles in all the major fields of business. Junior College graduates who have taken their degrees at Golden Gate College are successfully employed in Bay Area industries or in professional practice as attorneys or Certified Public Accountants.

If you plan to enter an occupation immediately upon graduation from junior college, summer term evening courses offer you practical training in Accountancy, Business Administration, Advertising, Insurance, Traffic or Law—training which will be invaluable in preparing you for advancement.

The opening date for the day schools of Accountancy and Business Administration in the Summer Semester is Friday, June 16. Some evening courses open in late May; others open June 13. Applications for admission are now being accepted.

Upon inquiry, you will receive a bulletin on the program of interest to you. Your college library also has reference copies of current college publications.

GOLDEN GATE COLLEGE

An Affiliate of the San Francisco YMCA

200 Golden Gate Avenue and 537 Market Street
Telephone PRospect 5-5774

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—FRIDAY, MAY 12, 1950 Number 18

College Hour Schedule

8 o'clock classes— 8:10 to 8:50
9 o'clock classes— 9:00 to 9:40
10 o'clock classes— 9:50 to 10:30
College Hour—10:40 to 11:20
11 o'clock classes—11:30 to 12:10
12 o'clock classes—12:20 to 1:00

DR. ARCHIBALD J. CLOUD, founder of City College in 1935, is the honored guest at baseball festivities at Big Rec field tomorrow afternoon.

Colorful Theme Set For First AS Dance Tomorrow

Associated Students will hold their first official dance tomorrow night in the west campus auditorium with the theme "Cotton Ball," Helen MacKay, Associated Student vice-president, announced early this week.

This dance will be held for Associated Student members only, with dancing between 9 p.m. and 12 midnight.

Bob Greenwood and his orchestra will be on hand to furnish the dancing mood, Miss MacKay said.

Cokes will be served for refreshments, and dress will be informal with cotton dresses for the women and informal dress for the men, she further announced.

Colorful decorations will illustrate various signs of spring for this once-postponed Associated Student dance.

Cotton Ball climaxes a big weekend for the college with the Faculty show scheduled for production tonight, and the Baseball day honoring Dr. A. J. Cloud, former president of City College, being held tomorrow afternoon, May 13, and then the Associated Student affair.

Members of the dance committee helping Miss MacKay are Jeanne McKnew, Associated Women Student president, and Beverly Jank. Dean Louis Batmale is faculty sponsor for tomorrow night's event.

Pre-Game Rally, Club Meet Share College Hour Today

College hour today will feature, besides regular club meetings, a pre-game rally for the baseball game between the college and San Mateo Junior College which will honor former President Archibald J. Cloud, Monroe Johnson, rally commissioner, announced yesterday.

Associated Students are eligible to attend the rally this morning, from 10:40 to 11:20 a.m. in the west campus auditorium. Entertainment will be furnished by student talent, and two acts from San Francisco State College, Johnson said.

The Heir, a takeoff on The Heiress, the movie which recently played in San Francisco theatres, is the featured entertainment of the college's student talent part of the rally.

The skit stars Mervin Murphy, Patricia Wilson, Kenneth Wilson, and Vivian Breslin, a group of students that recently toured San Francisco's high schools, lecturing on the educational opportunities offered at City College. Jo Ann Peron and Bill Richmond will sing.

Two faculty speakers will be heard during the rally, Coach Bill Fischer on the San Mateo baseball game and Don Jensen on the Faculty show scheduled for tonight at 8:30 p.m. in the west campus auditorium.

An historical review of the colorful Navajo Indian is the subject of the college film series presentation, El Navajo, shown during college hour today, in Room 136.

Sellout Of Forum Magazine Expected

Sales of Forum Magazine went well over the half-way mark of the 1000 copies printed, within the first two days, Editor Curtis May said last Tuesday.

The bank, silver pole, and Phelan Avenue Ramshack (guard shack) are the selling points for the remaining copies today.

On the basis of the 333 pre-sale tickets sold and the number of copies sold Monday and Tuesday, the Forum staff is greatly encouraged and expects a sellout.

If any of the 1000 copies remain unsold after today, they will be on sale at the student bank next week.

COACH BILL FISCHER is the man who put in motion special pageantry to honor Dr. A. J. Cloud and coach the Rams in their San Mateo game.

Work Completed For Mardi Gras Carnival May 19

After weeks of preparation, the final work has been completed for the second open-air Mardi Gras, to be held Friday evening, May 19, Norm Reger, Associated Men Student president, announced yesterday.

Most college organizations will participate in the event, sponsoring carnival booths either serving food such as popcorn, coke, hot dogs and Chinese meals, or featuring such entertainment as hoop-throwing, dart-throwing, and shooting galleries; also, most organizations will sponsor floats in the parade, which will be the opening feature of the 1950 Mardi Gras.

Chester MacPhee, along with President Louis G. Conlan, A. J. Cloud, ex-president, and the Mardi Gras King and Queen will lead the parade from Junipero Serra Boulevard down Ocean Avenue to the west campus.

Students in decorated private cars are invited to join in the parade, bringing up the rear. The parade will assemble at 6:30 p.m. at Junipero Serra Boulevard and Ocean Avenue, Reger said.

The campus police force will be on hand to help the regular officers direct the parade traffic and keep order in the line of march.

The middle of the west campus opposite Building 12 will be the location of the bandstand on which Ben Watkins will fill the air with music, Reger stated, and the dancing area will run from the bandstand to Building 12 and will be roped off to prevent interference to the dancers.

The public has been invited to the Mardi Gras through the posters distributed throughout San Francisco. The Mardi Gras has been open to the public only once before in the college's history—in 1949.

Petitions Now Available For Associated Student Offices

Petitions for Associated Student offices are available today at election headquarters in the student office, Building 2, James Potter, election commissioner, reported yesterday.

Petitions, accompanied by a three-inch by five-inch glossy photograph of the candidate, may be submitted to the election committee or Dean of Student Activities Louis Batmale beginning Monday, May 15, and no later than Thursday, May 18, Potter declared.

Official election headquarters hours are 11 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. daily, except Tuesday, when the office will be open from 11 a.m. until 12 noon only.

Candidates for AS offices, which include six elected officers and 14 council members, must meet with qualifications specified in the AS constitution.

All candidates must have passed at least 12 units with a 1.00 grade average by the end of the second mid-term period. The president and vice-president must enroll in or have completed political science 2a and/or 2b.

Failure to meet these requirements will result in disqualification from office, subject to the discretion of the dean of activities, the rules provide.

Elections are scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, May 31 and June 1, in the Student Lounge, Building 2.

Voting will be done by ballots instead of voting machines as previously announced, Potter explained. The State elections will require use of the automatic voting machines at that time.

Active campaigning on the campus begins May 23, the committee said, with an election rally in the west campus auditorium during college hour Friday, May 26.

Arrangements are also being made for candidates to speak over the inter-communication system in the main building and to English 5a classes, Potter said.

An itemized list of campaign expenditures must be submitted to the election committee not later than noon Monday, May 29.

Each candidate is allowed to spend $15, and if expenses are pooled, the committee pointed out, they should be noted on the statement in addition to the pro-rata amount of each expenditure which is subject to committee approval.

Guardsman Cops 16th All-American

For the twelfth consecutive semester the Associated Collegiate Press awarded The Guardsman an All-American rating for the Fall semester 1949 in the standings of college newspapers throughout the land.

The Guardsman received the ACP award for the 16th time in 18 semesters. Dick Brennan, now sports editor of the Redwood Journal-Press Dispatch in Ukiah, was editor-in-chief last semester, and Dick Briggs was managing editor.

The ACP rates the college newspapers in classifications according to type of college and student population. Professional newspapermen and women are the judges, evaluating all phases of newspaper publications.

Other staff members who aided in attaining the award were Assistant Managing Editors Rose Hardie and Walt Roessing, Sports Editor Bob Quinlan, Feature Editor Walt Heil, Keith Gardner, and Bill Thomas, assistants.

Big Weekend Ahead

Faculty Show In One-Night Stand Tonight; Game Saturday Honors Past President Cloud

Several Famous Acts Featured

By Mary Lou Cooper

Faculty (Fr)Antics will make its one-night stand tonight in the west campus auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

Admission to the show is 75 cents to all, and tickets may be purchased in the main building at the bank and the telephone operator's office, and on the west campus in The Guardsman office, and at the door before the performance.

The first faculty show was written by Luther Lyon in 1948 under the title College Daze.

This year the show, a variety show, will be directed and produced by William Culver, of the English department, and will feature several already "famus" acts from the old show, including the hilarious counselling scene.

Quite a few members of this wicky, wacky portrayal of the trials and tribulations of registration days are familiar with the one-act play. They played in it in 1948, too.

Narrator for this comedy skit is Douglas Soule. Other members of the cast are John French, admissions officer; Mary Jane Learnard, registrar; Harold Miller, first student; Evelyn Kerkhof, second student; Lucile Meredith, third student; Robert Utter, fourth student; quartet, Harold Cunningham, Howard Schoon, John French and Arthur Williams.

In The Roarin' Twenties, "the girls," Evelyn Kerkhof, Gloria Swicegood, Leah Levikow, Betty Heckman, Nancy Sparks, and the boys, John Hare, Michael Lo Presti, Maurice Power, Robin Crizer, Roy Edminson make the "welkin ring" to music by pianist George Gould.

The entire cast assembled last night for a dress rehearsal and according to Culver, producer-director, the 20 or more acts being presented are designed to keep the audience chuckling from the beginning to the end.

The CCSF band will not only provide scintillating music for the show but will themselves be scintillatin' in their colorful uniforms, said Mike Cahn, band director.

"And," added the maestro, "Ardelo Healy, famous 'twirler,' will be featured with the band, providing that entertainment which brought down the house last year."

Faculty wives ushering at tonight's show are Carol Booher, Christel Cranston, Betty Gerstung, Marietta Brown, Mildred Benninghoff, Alice Nesbitt, Gladys Dunn, and Rosemary French.

Big Rec Site For Pageant

Honoring former President Dr. A. J. Cloud, a baseball pageant takes over the Big Rec diamond at 7th Avenue and Lincoln Way tomorrow afternoon.

Dr. Herbert C. Clish, superintendent of schools, is slated to don a baseball uniform and do the opening lineup pitching honors in the first few minutes of the game scheduled between the Rams and San Mateo Junior College Bulldogs.

Sixteen marching units, including the R.O.T.C. color guards of most of San Francisco's high schools, and the college band, will line up in center field at 1:30 p.m., parade down the third base line, and pass in review before Dr. Cloud.

Baseball mentor Bill Fischer has been responsible for the organization of tomorrow's celebration, and has confided that he expects a large turnout for the event.

Dr. Cloud, who has been active in athletic circles since his high school days, first commanded notice when, as a young teacher at Lowell High School, he became president of the old Academic Athletic League. The league, which directed athletics of some 70 schools throughout central and northern California, later passed out of existence and became the Academic Athletic Association.

The opening lineup, including Dr. Clish as pitcher, will consist of John Brady, associate superintendent of schools, catcher; Charles S. Morris, President, San Mateo Junior College, batter, and Dr. Cloud, umpire.

A corsage will be presented to Mrs. Cloud by the Associated Women Students, following which Dr. Cloud will be called on for a short talk. Game time for the two teams is at 2:30 p.m., Fischer said.

Friday Last Day For Leaves Of Absence

A reminder was issued to all students yesterday by Registrar Mary Jane Learnard, that Friday, May 19, is the last day to take out a leave of absence.

Students who leave college between now and the end of the semester without taking out a formal leave will receive an "F" in all courses in which they are registered.

Any student planning on taking a leave should fill out the official form which may be obtained at the registrar's office in Building 3.

THE COUNSELLING SCENE, from the 1948 faculty show, College Daze, shows Admissions Director Waddington Blair, seated at left, Mervin Slossberg, the "hilariously stupid, entering freshman," standing, and Mary Jane "Reggie" Learnard and Lucille Meredith, second "freshman," at right.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

IN the face of all this communist talk about "world revolution" against the "decadent, bourgeois capitalists," it seems to us that our Soviet friends are forgetting the essential facts of the matter.

With England converted to socialism and the United States slipping into what they call "statism," the old-fashioned capitalist is rapidly following the dodo and auk down the road to extinction. As a result, the free-enterpriser is exposed to miles of red tape on one hand and communist vilification (anybody seen Westbrook Pegler around here) on the other.

CAPITALIST UNDERGROUND

In an attempt to remedy this, a few of us are starting a secret society. We plan to overthrow the government by force, assassinate the president, and establish our bourgeois party in power. First meeting tonight at our house where we're going to draft a manifesto. Remember to wear a beard and bring a bomb or two, and don't forget the password . . . capitalists of the world, UNITE!

Could this be coercion? If the Faculty (Fr)Antics aren't sold out tonight, it won't be because a certain instructor didn't try. Last week he arose before a class of 30 and said: "I have an announcement for those of you who aren't doing too well in here. I'm selling tickets to the faculty show. Now I don't want you to get the wrong idea, but I have 100 tickets reserved for this class." That's what we call real salesmanship. Dale Carnegie could take lessons from him.

A.S. DISCOUNT

When we mentioned the Marine Players' production of "Petticoat Fever" last Tuesday, we forgot to add that Associated Student card holders get a four-bit discount . . . good news. The stage, incidentally, is one of those affairs where the audience sits around—on all four sides—of it. No one is more than four rows away from the action. Sounds pretty good.

How about a word on Barbara Huffman of the college's Opera Workshop. Last we heard, she was in the Miss San Francisco contest semi-finals . . . and Cynthia Burke, also of the OW, who won second prize n' a wristwatch on a KPIX video show last Sunday.

Now comes the news that Joseph Amori, head of the college's placemen bureau, is a lieutenant commander in the Naval Reserve and personnel officer for Air Wing Staff 87. If he can't find you a summer job he may try to sell you a white cap and blue, bell-bottoms

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, No. 18 | FRIDAY, MAY 12, 1950 | Page 2

Guardsman Takes Top ACP Award For Sixteenth Time; AS Election Draws Near

EARLY last week the Associated Collegiate Press scorebook arrived in the mail, rating The Guardsman as an All-American publication for the twelfth consecutive semester. Needless to say we are proud of achieving this rating.

The Associated Collegiate Press is located at the University of Minnesota and the awards are given by professional newspapermen. These people judge the newspapers of almost all college publications [illegible] and grade accordingly.

The main purpose of the ACP is not to stimulate blind standardization of all college papers but to judge accurately the work of each staff. Furthermore, efforts are made to judge the publications fairly. The rating points out the weaknesses in newspapers so that the individual staffs may correct them.

The ACP this year drew special attention to Managing Editor Dick Briggs' column, Looking Up. "A very readable newspaper—well organized and well edited. An especial compliment to Dick Briggs for his column, Looking Up. Feature stories throughout the paper are, in general, very well written," was the judges' comment.

Former Editor, Dick Brennan, deserves much of the credit in the attainment of the All-American award.

ALL the makings of a fiery old fashioned American election campaign are in the offing for the Associated Students beginning next week. Election Commissioner James Potter has announced that petitions may be obtained from him and must be in by noon on Thursday, May 18. Active campaigning may start only on Tuesday, May 23, and go on through Thursday, June 1, final day for voting.

Throughout the campaign The Guardsman will maintain its impartial status, taking no sides, merely report the news as it happens.

There are roughly 3,000 Associated Student members on the campus who have a stake in the elections. If these students wish to continue having the present party in office or put another party in, it is their right, through the democratic process, to do so. The only method through which they can achieve their will is to vote.

Therefore we urge all thoughtful Associated Students to cast a ballot.

It may be hackneyed and trite but it holds true, "We don't care whom you vote for. But please vote."

PanoRAMa With Jones

African Wife Prices Inflated

WE spend two semesters learning the facts about import quotas, interstate commerce, international trade, and primary deposits in Economics 21A and 21B, and then we hear there's more. Just when we feel qualified enough to handle the financial transaction required in the purchase of coffee in the cafeteria, a bomb drops and shatters our world.

We even managed to survive the announcement made in an advertisement in last week's edition of Colliers that since 1935 construction prices had increased 130 per cent, that food cost 100 per cent more, and that clothing prices had jumped 93 per cent.

NOW, HOWEVER, information has reached us that gold isn't the only item necessary to participate in international trade. You have to have goats too.

In some of the native villages in Kenya, Africa, you have to have 85 to 150 goats, not loot, in order to buy yourself a wife. The price in Kenya is determined by the age, pedigree, and physical condition of the desired wife.

Native economists are worried over the rise of current prices. Some 20 years ago, they complain, a wife could be purchased for 30 goats, but now a man is lucky to have six or seven, wives, that is. Attempts at installment buying have not been too successful; miss one payment and the wife goes home to mother. (What are they griping about?)

One tribal chief complained that the wives are not only too high for the price paid in valuable goats, but they don't work as hard as the old-fashioned girls. Economically speaking, the chief advised against a price ceiling, since many business interests involved are too powerful. "There's only one thing for it," he sadly remarked, "and that is to devalue wives as Britain has done with the pound."

IT DOESN'T TAKE a course in economics for us to know that being a Hollywood star pays off in lettuce and cabbage. (If you aren't hungry, they'll give you money too.) But, we sometimes forget that a star has to work for his or her hunk of lucre.

We would think that a director would be pretty satisfied with a pretty gal like pretty Ruth Roman just hanging around looking pretty. No, he had to put her to work, making wry faces over a cup of coffee.

Because he didn't think her expression "wry" enough, the director ordered the scene done over. The second shooting satisfied him. Perfect, was Miss Roman's expression as she twisted her face into a tight pucker. In fact, her expression was so good that after the scene had been completed Miss Roman's face remained puckered.

It appears that while her back was turned, the director had filled the second cup with alum. (She didn't want to talk to him, anyway.)

Shakespearian Thespians Need Stamina, Vitality

By Georgia Watkins

Take an unusual amount of stamina, add extensive vitality, a lot of talent, patience, ingenuity and humor, and you have the main ingredients of a Shakespearian actor'

Watching the rehearsals of Othello brings the respect and admiration for these hardy individuals on the stage to all onlookers.

The last act, in particular, requires all the above mentioned characteristics. This act moves at a terrific rate of speed, and when there are nine people rushing about on the small stage of the Little Theater in Room 28, it requires real practice and concentration to have the scene move smoothly.

This is only one of the numerous times the need for patience is obvious. In fact, it is very easy to lose count of how many times entrances are made and positions changed to achieve the highest degree of naturalness.

In a rehearsal the mood is constantly fluctuating between humor and deep emotion.

For example, when an actor is dashing around with a pencil held high to represent a lantern, while another actor is fighting with one hand and holding the book he is reading from in the other, or when Director Paul Ellison tells two actors that they must struggle artistically, just at the crucial moment of the fight, it is difficult to refrain from at least smiling.

When, however, one big moment follows fast upon another, as exemplified when Amelia is dying, when Othello realizes his mistakes, and when the last words of the play are spoken, then modern dress and half-finished scenery seem to disappear; and it is very easy to imagine the play as it will be on opening night.

Student Of Distinction: Tau Chi's Take Intramural Championship

By Doug Hayward

Setting a precedent for his fraternity was the outstanding accomplishment of 22-year-old Stan Havorka, captain of the Tau Chi Sigma intramural basketball team this season, when he and his teammates potted their way to victory over ten other hoop quintets, remaining undefeated throughout the entire six-week session.

The closest game, Havorka relates, was with the independent-league Lyons, who narrowly missed upsetting Tau Chi's long string of victories by a one point margin in the last five seconds of play. Bob Frazier, who came through to make that last crucial bucket, was accredited with the victory.

Havorka, father of a seven-months-old baby boy; feels that success was due mostly to ". . . team's marvelous cooperation and the loyal support of the fraternity." His teammates include Frazier, Pete Gentile, Duane Ward, Bill Downes, Rod Lasherger, Len Stenger, and Bernie "Itch" Eichhorne.

The fast-moving captain laughingly relates the plight of 215-pound Pete Gentile, who, during the ten-game run, lost three pounds and yet wanted to lose ten.

Captain Havorka proudly admits that the team ". . . swamped 'em all by at least ten points each time." He has been described by a teammate as having "eyes bluer than a schoolboy's lips at 40" below (is no relation whatsoever to Jack Benny)."

Leading the field in his courses at the college is Business Advertising, which, if his press-agent releases of the teaming's crowning accomplishment are any indication, will bring out all his capabilities.

This is the first time in intramural history that the fraternity league has nosed out the independents, hence the Tau Chi's heaped honors on their fellow IFC mates as well as themselves.

For their efforts, the team received the Intramural trophy, and the team members each received belt buckles.

Feminine Viewpoint

WAA Provides Recreation

By Bobbie Jackson

FOR the women who enjoy participating in athletic competition, the Women's Athletic Association offers many opportunities to take part in tournaments and playdays.

Those activities offered to WAA members include tennis, basketball, softball, volleyball, badminton and archery. Along with these strictly feminine groups are the co-ed groups, including fencing, horseback riding and folk dancing.

The WAA groups offer the participants the opportunity to meet students from other colleges and local high schools in competitive sports, and it encourages group good will and sportsmanship.

For example, the tennis season is climaxed by playoffs, in which each member is given the chance to demonstrate her skill. Playdays with other schools are arranged by Dodi Fambrini, student tennis manager.

Basketball, softball, volleyball and badminton offer finals play-offs and tournaments also, while the archery groups usually winds up the season by holding a Columbia or Junior Columbia round, where archers shoot 24 arrows at 20, 30, and 40 yards respectively.

Recently, four WAA members, Lois Herting, Helen Simons, Betty Jones and Florence Loo, journeyed to Yosemite National Park to represent City College at an athletic conference.

The co-ed groups recently had their opportunity to travel, when the folk dancing group attended the Stanford Invitational Folk Dancing Festival, held at Stanford. Members of the Spur and Saddle Club participated in a recent bay area college horseback riding show also held at Stanford.

Speaking of athletics, the members of the Associated Women Students will take part in the ceremonies for the baseball game with San Mateo tomorrow, in honor of former president Archibald J. Cloud. The women will line up to the right of the college band, and will present a corsage to Mrs. Cloud.

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Pledges Once Again In Limelight As Clubs List New Members

Despite the fact that the rushing activities and Hell Weeks are long over, this semester's pledges still find themselves in the limelight for the recent pledge initiations once again cram this space.

The formal initiation of the Phi Beta Deltas was held on Tuesday evening, May 2, at the home of Dean Bender. Pledge Master Charley Robertson and members accepted and pinned the following nine pledges at the affair: Dick Silveria, Dick Miller, Bob Luiz, Bob Levy, Bill Stiener, Ralph Vetterlein, Bruce Ward, Duane McKibbin and Walt Gull. A small cocktail party followed the initiations.

Thirteen new pledges were recently initiated into the ranks of the Beta Phi Betas. The lucky 13, in this case, were as follows: Don Forsyth, George Fox, Jack Gerald, Dell Hess, Emil King, Jean Madrieres, Bob Mazeres, Andy Petros, Howie Ryon, Dick Danden, Bob Small, Bob Smith, and Ross Wienart.

On the evening of Thursday, April 27, two pledges, unable to make the regular initiation, were initiated into Tau Chi Sigma. The two men were Eric Marlowe and Sam Chicos. On the same evening a party was given in honor of the fraternity basketball team which went undefeated in intramural play this term. A picnic was held Sunday, April 30, at Adobe Creek Lodge. Everyone enjoyed the event under the balmy skies. Another picnic was held with the Zeta Chi's last Sunday and an equally enjoyable time was had by all the "guys and gals" who went on the excursion.

New pledges of Kappa Phi gave a dinner for all members last Tuesday at the home of Virginia Wyne. The new pledges who were recently initiated are as follows: Eleanor Cooper, Virginia Ely, Marilyn Forde, Helen Giesner, Alma Krzonich, Joan Leach, Jackie Lewis, June Odell, Betsy Stewart and Virginia Wyne.

Moving out of the "pledge parade" for a moment, we now turn to the Engineering Society who are to hold a meeting today during college hour in Room 204 at which time the movie "Building the Bay Bridge" will be shown. All members and visitors are urged to attend.

Now back to the pledges. The Alpha Sigma Deltas held their pledge dinner last Saturday evening at the Lake Merritt Hotel in Oakland. Eight new members received their pins at the affair. They were: Ernie Smith, Stan Fletcher, Raymond King, Lee Zilinzky, Larry Ross, Charlie Blincle, Bob Smirle and Don Mosley.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF — WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR — Rose Herdle
STAFF EDITORS — Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Avey, Larry Bales, David Brewer, Grecene Brown, Mary-Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, George Eberl, Barbara Egnion, Ira Gould, Ray Harvey, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kanaye, Richard Larrick, Henry Lau, Herb Marvin, Warren Northwood, Bob Rizek, Elaine Stamos, Jack Vanderbilt, Georgia Watkins, Felton White, Ralph Wiesner, Eura Williams, Barnita Davis, Doug Hayward, Elsie Monroe.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Wiltcomb
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Dan Cunningham, Bob Kaye, Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, assistant; Jack Spalding, Bob Valli, John Dierking.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberte Jackson; Sandra Merks, Dolores Aguirre, Assistants.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Steinheimer, Shirley Meritzen, Fred Matthes, Ken Hilmer, Herb Weiss, Dick Jarrett, Dick Lee, Kay Wood.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diez, Mary Anne Quarterall.
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normenly, Terry George, Harry Peratchen, Bob Beston.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Adviser — Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser — Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco | 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Modesto Looms As Crucial Meet For Ram Linksmen

By Doug Hayward

With last Friday's forfeit-victory over Hartnell tucked safely away beneath their belts, the Ram tee-men are awaiting the crucial Modesto Medal Tourney meet next Friday and Saturday, May 19-20, but without hope of holding onto the all-state golfing cup they won last year.

Modesto's defeat by San Mateo was good news to the college team, placing them in second place behind San Mateo. "The cycle," commented golf mentor Ralph Hillsman, "has switched."

It was the Mateans who almost upset the applecart for Hillsman's protege's last spring, when the college linksters clubbed the ball around fairways up and down the Pacific coast to cop the Northern California Junior College Conference championship.

One or two of the clubmen may be sent to the nationals on their own, it was revealed, since the college is assured of second place.

After the Modesto tourney is over, and just a memory of a season that could have been, one more game will await the college linksmen. San Jose Junior College has been slated for a match in a last-minue scheduling.

WAA Playday Tomorrow Afternoon At San Mateo

Women interested in the coming Women's Athletic Association playday, scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at San Mateo, should contact Nancy Spark, physical education director, immediately.

Archery, tennis and badminton tournaments are the events of the playday for this trip.

Next week's schedule includes badminton, with San Mateo, here, and a tennis playday with Balboa, here.

COLE'S CITY COLLEGE BARBER SHOP
Be Well Groomed
IT'S THE KEY TO SUCCESS ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

Make it a date . . .
• West Portal's
• Most Popular Fountain
DENNY DAIRIES
321 West Portal
Open Daily - - 8 a.m. to 1 a.m.
Delicious Ice Cream, Grilled Sandwiches and Waffles

Rams Beat Bulldogs 4-1, Play Again Tomorrow At Big Rec

By Gene Kelly

The San Mateo College and City College baseball squads tangle again tomorrow at Big Rec to wind up both the ceremonies honoring former President Archibald J. Cloud and the two-game series between the teams. Game time is set for 2:30 p.m., following the hour and a half pageant.

Ram Judo Squad Enters Third Meet

Bantam Duke Moore's college Judo team took another step toward the forth coming Ju-Jitsu Jamboree, which will feature competition between some 40 academy institutions and colleges later in the month, when they contested San Jose State, Santa Rosa JC and California, last night at Berkeley.

Thursday's meet marks the third outing for City College's Ju-Jitsu squad. To date, the team has accounted for a win, in a dual meet, over the College of Marin. Tuesday last, in a three way affair, the Rams garnered the number two position; the Navy judo team, representing Treasure Island, won the meet. The third position was won by the American Judo Academy, who were the evening's hosts.

The Ram team is deep in talent with Emilio Augustine (black belt) being the most consistent winner. In his last match, "The Cat" won three bouts in as many efforts. Jim Cherry, law enforcement student, Bruno Gianoli, Joe Welsh and Pat Ross have all done their part in building City College scores.

With the exception of Augustine, the aforementioned men comprise the lower divisions. The divisions, denoted by "belt color," fall into four principal categories: white, green, brown and black.

An apprentice judo man obtains a white belt.

Ram performers Henry Nanjo and Kanji Kuramoto have continued to bring ovations of praise from judo enthusiasts via the exhibitions they present during college meets.

Both men hold the coveted black belt, an honor recorded them while living in Japan.

The two clubs have met four common opponents this season. San Mateo split with Menlo, whom the Rams defeated twice. They also split with Monterey, one of the weaker teams in the loop, while City College blasted Monterey twice in two tries. The Bulldogs lost a pair to the Stockton Mustangs, an aggregation Bill Fischer's boys shut out twice. Finally, both teams swept double-headers from the Hartnell Panthers.

In addition, San Mateo divided a double-header with Modesto, second-ranked team in the southern division, by scores of 3-4 and 2-0. The Rams wind up the season a week from tomorrow with two games against Modesto.

The Rams took San Mateo College into camp last Tuesday at Redwood City, 4-1, in a neat tight game; that was a joy to watch. Both squads played alert, heads-up ball that was reflected in the box score.

John Rubele gave indications of a return to his early-season form when he struck out 8 while walking 4 and giving up 5 hits. The fielders backed him up for the first time this season with errorless play.

Bob McCarthy and Cas Munoz each hit safely twice in four times at bat to pace the 12-hit attack. Most of those 12 hits were well spread, however.

The double-header with Modesto, rained out at the beginning of the season and rescheduled for May 20, has again been changed. The Rams battle Modesto at Modesto next Tuesday, May 16.

The college water polo team had 15 members and played four games in 1941.

Auto Rates Too High
Observe Our Rates
Public Liability
5 to 10,000 Dollars
Property Damage
5,000 Dollars
ONLY $20.90 Each 6 Mo.*
*Plus $5 Non-Recurring Fee
No "Up-Charge"
For Age of Driver
C. E. PEARSON
1125 OCEAN AVE. JU 5-4478

In the MURAL ROOM
NICK STUART
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
HOTEL
ST. FRANCIS
DAN E. LONDON - GENERAL MANAGER
San Francisco

NCJCC Split In Three Divisions

Sacramento, May 5.—Members of the Northern California Junior College Conference voted to divide the league into three divisions today, adding a trio of junior colleges to the 15-team league.

The new additions are Contra Costa Junior College of Richmond, Mount Diablo, and Shasta Junior College of Redding. City College of San Francisco will be in Group One, along with San Mateo, Modesto, Sacramento, Stockton and Richmond.

This all-new system goes into effect for the 1950-51 basketball season.

The other 12 colleges will be split as follows: Group 2—Shasta, Yuba, Placer, Grant Tech, Vallejo and Napa. Group 3—Santa Rosa, Marin, Mt. Diablo, Monterey, Hartnell and Menlo.

Filing applications for a spot in the conference, but failing to receive the vote of the board were Fresno and the College of Sequoias of Visalia.

September 27, 1938, the citizens of San Francisco voted a bond issue which added the two gymnasiums to the college campus.

Mason Scores Locals Points In Track Meet

Bill Mason, Ram half-miler, placed third in the 880 of the Southern Conference track meet of the NCJCC, at Modesto, last Saturday, scoring two points, the only Ram tallies in the meet.

Modesto took the meet, followed by Stockton, San Mateo, and Santa Rosa. Time for the 880 was 2:02.

Turning to the Fresno Relays, to be held tomorrow at Fresno, Coach Grover Klemmer is uncertain as to whether any local men will enter. Klemmer and Coach Burkhead would like to enter members of their squad, but at present there is little hope.

HEALDS
IS A TIME-SAVER!
Healds Courses provide a sound foundation for quick advancement. The cost is low. You are assisted in securing a good position.
Write for Heald Catalog
TELEPHONE ORdway 3-5500
HEALDS BUSINESS COLLEGE
Van Ness Ave. at Post | San Francisco
Other Schools: Oakland, Sacramento, San Jose

Novice Tourney Deadline May 17; 46 Sign For Bouts

Signup deadline for this year's Novice Boxing Tournament on Wednesday night, May 24, has been set for Wednesday, May 17, with some 46 candidates on the roster to date, intramural director Tom Wilson said yesterday.

Persons who wish to be entered in this year's annual ring classic should sign up immediately so they will benefit from the training that will be given them by members of this year's varsity boxing team, announced Boxing Coach Roy Diederichsen.

Participants signing up have been heavy in all weight classes except the 135 and 145 pound class which, as yet, have no entrants.

Welgh-in for this tournament will be held Monday, May 22, with eliminations for the finals beginning Tuesday, May 23.

All applicants will be given a fair chance to display their abilities in the forthcoming tryouts, Coach Roy Diederichsen, director of the tournament, said.

Finalists in the tournament will be given miniature gold gloves, and silver gloves will be presented to the runnersup following the tournament.

Jack Bettencourt and Louis Gage came up from last year's novice ranks to go on to the semi-finals of the National Junior College Boxing Tournament at Ogden, Utah.

Both men reached the finals only to lose decisions, yet win runners-up awards. Compton College won the tournament.

TRAVEL-MINDED?
We handle all student tours to Europe, Mexico and the Orient
We plan . . . independent travel, tool
If travel-minded, call
The Students Travel Club
Morse-Gleason Co.
Travel Agents
323 Geary at Powell
SUtter 1-4869

Hurry! Hurry!
Graduation Is Coming!!
ORDER NOW
The Official City College Ring
Men's Massive or Ladies' Miniature
In Gold or Sterling Silver
On Display in Basement Showcase — Main Building
$5.00 Deposit Required at the College Bank
Van Wormer & Rodrigues Inc.
126 Post Street | EXbrook 2-5886

Arrow Basque Shirts
MADE TO FIT YOUR VACATION PLANS
—So before you leave, pick up a couple of these trim-fitting shirts at your favorite Arrow dealer's. They're smart looking. They're comfortable! Perfect with all your sports outfits, and ideal for your vacation wardrobe!
$1.25 to $3.95
ARROW SHIRTS & TIES
UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

Straight Talk

By Bill Thomas

Captain Kidd was a great pirate and his treasure is supposed to be buried all over the world.

That is one of the most common fallacies about pirates. Poor Captain Kidd went out to hunt pirates and to try and make as much money as he could by this method.

Briefly it was a wild goose chase that went all over the Indian Ocean and when Kidd finally found some pirates his crew mutinied and joined the pirates.

When Kidd's employers, the top men in the British government, learned of this fiasco they had Captain Kidd railroaded to the gallows for "piracy."

While on the subject of pirates it might be remarked that the Skull and Crossbones was not the universal pirate flag. Only one pirate used that flag during the history of piracy.

It seems that Robert Louis Stevenson made a mistake in his book, Treasure Island, on that subject and the Skull and Crossbones was adopted by many writers as the pirate flag.

The true pirate flag was plain black.

And by the beginning of the eighteenth century piracy was becoming extinct in the world.

As you can gather we recently went to see a sea story put out by Hollywood.

Benedict Arnold is well known as a traitor. It is perhaps a shame that it is not realized what a kicking around Arnold got by the Continental Congress.

Ben Arnold is often given the credit for being the real commander of the American militia who defeated Burgoyne at the crucial moment.

After being kicked around some more and seeing Congress botch up a few more plays, Arnold came to the conclusion that even King George might be a better master than the Continental Congress.

Thus, lacking the patience of George Washington, Arnold took off.

It was his only and fatal mistake.

History has nearly forgotten Sam Smith, yet Sam did more to win the war of 1812 than Andy Jackson, who won after the war was over.

After the British had burned Washington they retreated in haste, apparently scared by the lack of opposition.

The British fleet then turned on Baltimore. There are two approaches to Baltimore and to defend these two approaches Baltimore chose Sam Smith as its general.

Now Sam found that he only had enough time and men to defend one of the approaches along which the invasion force might come. Well Sam chose the right one and in a series of clever maneuvers stumped the British and they finally gave up.

And of course Dolly Madison never carried the Declaration of Independence away from the White House—the story we got is that some farmer took it away in his cart.

Hotel Majors Entertain Here Monday

Potential Employees Welcome Employers

The traditional spring luncheon of the California Northern Hotel Association will be presented in the college cafeteria by the Hotel and Restaurant Division on Monday, May 15.

The tenth annual affair demonstrates the relationship between hotel and restaurant industries and the educational departments and also offers prospective employers opportunities to interview graduating students.

Up to the present time no fully qualified two-year student has ever failed to gain employment, Hilda Watson, department head, declared.

Joe Trunecck will be Maitre d'Hotel with Edmund A. Rieder, Manager of the Palace Hotel, presiding. Arno J. Poggi, Jr., manager, will direct the presentation of the department's work. Others include Joe Kelchner, promotion chairman, and James Ensign, food cost accountant.

Guests will include Herbert C. Clish, Superintendent of Schools; President Louis G. Conlan, and Dean Edwin C. Browne. Members of the Board of Education and also of the General Advisory Committee will attend.

Dean Browne announced yesterday that the paved lot between Buildings 1 and 13 will be closed to all student parking until 2 p.m., for the area is reserved for guests of the luncheon.

DIRECTING THE TRADITIONAL spring luncheon of the California Northern Hotel Association are a quartet of Hotel and Restaurant Division personnel. Standing are instructor Nina Tucker and promotion chairman Joe Kelchner. Food Cost Accountant James Ensign and Manager Arno Poggi, Jr. tote up the figures on the adding machine. The tenth annual affair demonstrates the relationships between the hotel and restaurant industries and the educational departments.

—Photo by Steinheimer.

Student Council Releases Budgets

Finance Committee Chairman Tom Campanella reported that all campus organization budgets have been released as of Thursday, May 4, at the regular Student Council meeting Tuesday.

The 100 per cent ruling was clarified last week in a supplementary statement by the committee, and regarded by San Francisco Board of Education Attorney Irving H. Breyer to be within the legal bounds of the law.

The council passed a motion, suggested by the insurance committee, that $175 be appropriated to cover the cost of athletic injuries sustained earlier in the semester by John Brooks on the boxing team and Les Brilliant on the basketball team.

Business Ad. Awards Offered

Students interested in receiving Golden Gate Scholarships in business administration should consult Dr. F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, for full information on scholarships in business administration before next Monday night, May 15.

Students must have at least a "B" average in Junior College work. A committee on scholarships will be formed to judge the applicant's academic excellence, campus citizenship, personality and character traits, Marsh said.

Any student who qualifies for a Golden Gate scholarship should make arrangements to have his high school and college transcripts sent to the Chairman of the Committee on Scholarships, Golden Gate College, 537 Market Street, San Francisco 5, California.

Othello Tickets Go On Sale Next Monday At Bank

Tickets will go on sale Monday, May 15, at the college bank, for the forthcoming play Othello, Paul Ellison, drama instructor, announced yesterday.

Tickets for the play, which opens Saturday, May 20, will be priced at 25 cents with Associated Student card and 90 cents without.

The play has progressed from the rehearsing of one entrance, one line again and again, until it has now reached the stage where it is a smooth-running, fast-paced production, set off admirably by the sets designed by John Allen.

Typical of the serious attitude the students have toward their acting careers is the past experience and future plans of Edward [illegible] and George Jackson.

Mulvihill attended Oakland High and has been active in Little Theater groups in the bay area. He appeared as Don Pedro in Much Ado About Nothing, Phil in You Never Can Tell, and will be seen as Cassio in Othello.

Jackson is also from Oakland and is a graduate of Ventura High where he participated in high school productions and drama groups.

He has been seen here in Much Ado About Nothing. In the forcoming production he portrays Lodivico and in addition understudies Othello.

Naval Aviators Discuss Training Program Here

A pair of naval aviators visit the college on Thursday and Friday, May 18 and 18, in Building 2, to discuss the Naval Aviation Cadet program with men students interested in joining the service.

Lieutenant Commander G. B. Cattérton and F. E. Tonrey will be on the campus from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on each day. Second year college students between the ages of 18 and 27 who are unmarried and can pass the physical and aptitude tests are eligible.

Those selected for flight training will be sent to the Pensacola, Florida, training base.

Let Us Patronize Them — RAM BOOSTERS — They Patronize Us

EL REY AQUARIUM
Tropical Fish Goldfish
Aquariums - Accessories
EL REY PET SHOP
CANARIES - PARAKEETS
Pet Foods and Supplies
Fresh Horse Meat
1330 Ocean Ave., JU 5-6390

EXCELSIOR SCHOOL of DRIVING
LEARN TO DRIVE IN TRAFFIC!
DUAL CONTROLLED CARS
We prepare you for driver's examination
SPECIAL RATES
for students, payable in installments
4686 MISSION ST. AT OCEAN AVE.
JUniper 4-3487

Paint & Decorate Figurines
Lil Audrey's
Dresden Craft
Free Instruction Daily
Also Tues. & Thurs. eves.
1443 OCEAN AVE. —DE 3-4574

A Different
ICE CREAM SPECIAL
Each and Every Week
Daily from 7 to 3:30
Avenue Coffee Shop
1612 Ocean Avenue

TYPEWRITERS RENTED
GArfield 1-6633
3 MONTHS $7.50
Free Ribbon, Carbon Paper
Free Delivery
Tibbs Typewriter Co.
821 Market St., San Francisco

PRICES
Hand Finished Shoes For Men
Featuring Price's Patented Styles

ONE PRICE 9.95 ALL STYLES
Styles that are different
Wear Unexcelled
718 Market St., S. F.
1304 Broadway, Oakland

The Ladies' Shop
is proud to announce that
Carole King
Dresses For Juniors
ARE OURS ALONE
IN THIS CITY!
1532 OCEAN AVENUE

AUTO - TRUCK - FIRE
Standard Form Policies
at Low Costs
Compare Our Rates
Before You Buy
C. E. PEARSON
1125 Ocean
JU. 5-4478
Prompt Personal Claims Service

May 14th
Mother's Day
Select the Perfect Gift
at
Gems of Art
1700 OCEAN AVE. JU 4-0831

JOE and BILL'S
RICHFIELD STATION
LUBRICATION
Tires and Batteries
Washing & Polishing
1298 OCEAN AVE.

It'll be worth your while to browse a while; at the
EL REY MEN'S SHOP
A sharp & colorful line of young men's haberdashery
Ties
Shirts
Slacks
Sweaters
Remember . . . as always . . . a
10% Discount
with your
Associated Student Card
Opposite El Rey Theatre

WE AIR EXPRESS
WE DELIVER WE TELEGRAPH
Chain of Flowers
Florists
CORSAGES — FLORAL DESIGNS
WEDDINGS
JUniper 4-9038 1895 Ocean Avenue
San Francisco 12

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP
Your haircut
as
You want it
1334 Ocean Avenue
2 blocks from campus

Ted's
Ocean Cleaners
50c
SLACKS • SHIRTS
SKIRTS
DRY CLEANED
Corner of Ocean & Plymouth

A. Walter McMurray

Ayoob's Sport Shop
Men's and Boys' Clothing
Featuring
Team & Club Jackets
Tailored To Order
Also Athletic Equipment
2598 San Bruno Ave.

Its a Strike! X
Bowl . . .
Johnny Swanson's
MISSION BOWL
Free Instruction Daily
3140 Mission Street

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—TUESDAY, MAY 16, 1950 NUMBER 19

Conlan Authorizes June Production Of Opera

By Walt Heil, Editor

College President Louis G. Conlan decisively authorized yesterday the staging of the music department's production of Down In The Valley.

Conlan declared that the opera will be presented on Friday, June 2, in the Everett Junior High School auditorium by invitation only.

"I feel that since it is an instructional activity that should culminate in a performance, the opera should be put on," President Conlan declared. Costs for lighting, janitorial service, rights and rentals for Down In The Valley have been defrayed by school department funds, Conlan added.

Meanwhile, Robin Dunn, opera production manager, said that the invitations would be sent out to patrons, school officials, friends and relations of cast members, and students. A first come first serve basis will prevail for the students.

Word from Flossita Badger, opera director, indicated that the students involved in the productions were "eager to put on the show." Reaction from all students in the production was favorable, she reported.

Grand and light opera numbers in concert form, featuring members of the opera workshop and performers who would have appeared in Martha, will sing various selections, Miss Badger further disclosed.

The concert presentation, also featuring orchestral selections, constitutes the first half of the show. The late Kurt Weill's American folk opera, Down In The Valley, running only 40 minutes, will be staged in its entirety after the intermission.

Publicity stunts in the form of motor rallies, handbills, and speeches will be permitted after they are approved by the election committee or Dean of Student Activities Louis Batmale.

Posters must be approved no later than Monday, May 22, either by Batmale or the committee, and must not be posted prior to this date, the committee warned.

Any student interested in running for an AS office, which include that of the President, Vice-President, Associated Women President, Associated Men President, Sophomore President, Freshman President, Yell Leader, and 14 council offices, can obtain petitions from the election committee or Batmale.

Students must first meet with the requirements listed in the AS Constitution. Failure to meet these requirements as well as failure to abide with rules and regulations prescribed by the election committee will result in disqualification of sponsored candidates, Potter pointed out.

Potter also said that voting will be done by ballot instead of automatic voting machines, since the State elections will require use of the machines at the time of AS elections.

He indicated that the counting of ballots will probably be done by members of the election committee who are "definitely impartial."

The election committee includes Randie Street, assistant election commissioner, and committeemen Charles Toggart, Louis Testaguyya, and Henry Hall.

The election headquarters office is open from 11 to 12 and 1 to 3, Monday through Friday, except Tuesday when the hours are 11 to 12.

Petitions For AS Offices Accepted Until Noon May 18

Preparations for Associated Student elections, Wednesday, May 31, and Thursday, June 1, were actively underway this week, James Potter, election commissioner, disclosed yesterday.

A special college hour will be held Thursday, June 1, he added, to facilitate Associated Student voting on that day.

Petitions for AS offices were being accepted yesterday at election headquarters in the student office in Building 2, and the final date for submitting petitions has been set for Thursday, May 18, at 12 noon.

The three-inch by five-inch glossy photograph required with each petition is the responsibility of the candidate, he continued.

Active campaigning on the campus will start Tuesday, May 23, and will be climaxed with an election rally to be staged in the west campus auditorium during college hour Friday, May 26.

Publicity stunts in the form of motor rallies, handbills, and speeches will be permitted after they are approved by the election committee or Dean of Student Activities Louis Batmale.

Posters must be approved no later than Monday, May 22, either by Batmale or the committee, and must not be posted prior to this date, the committee warned.

Any student interested in running for an AS office, which include that of the President, Vice-President, Associated Women President, Associated Men President, Sophomore President, Freshman President, Yell Leader, and 14 council offices, can obtain petitions from the election committee or Batmale.

Students must first meet with the requirements listed in the AS Constitution. Failure to meet these requirements as well as failure to abide with rules and regulations prescribed by the election committee will result in disqualification of sponsored candidates, Potter pointed out.

Potter also said that voting will be done by ballot instead of automatic voting machines, since the State elections will require use of the machines at the time of AS elections.

He indicated that the counting of ballots will probably be done by members of the election committee who are "definitely impartial."

The election committee includes Randie Street, assistant election commissioner, and committeemen Charles Toggart, Louis Testaguyya, and Henry Hall.

The election headquarters office is open from 11 to 12 and 1 to 3, Monday through Friday, except Tuesday when the hours are 11 to 12.

Men Offered Navy Air Cadet Program

Representatives of the Naval Aviation Cadet program will visit the college Thursday and Friday, May 18 and 19, to discuss the NAVCAD program with interested male students.

Lieutenant Commanders G. B. Cattgrton and F. E. Tonrey will be on the campus in Building 2, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day.

Second year college students between 18 and 27 who are single and can meet the physical and mental standards are eligible.

Flight training is held at Pensacola, Florida, training base.

Election Rally To Introduce Candidates

All Associated Student Government candidates, in an election rally this Friday during college hour, will be introduced to Associated Students, Jim Potter, election commissioner, said yesterday.

Potter will speak on student government support at the polls and introduce candidates for the lower offices. Presidential candidates then will present their campaign speeches.

Eligible students (C grade average) desiring petitions, may consult Potter in the Associated Student office (Building 2) daily from 11 a.m. to 12 noon, and from 1 to 3 p.m., except Tuesday.

Admission to the rally is by Associated Student cards which will be punched at the auditorium doors, Potter also said.

College Hour (10:40 to 11:20 a.m.) also features club meetings.

Deadline Next Friday For Leave Of Absence

Friday, May 19, has been set aside as the last day for filing leaves of absence, Mary Jane Learnard, registrar, said today.

She also revealed that students who reside in a county other than San Francisco, will have to renew their residence permits before the Fall semester [illegible] is done before admittance is allowed.

Students who will be going to summer school and have had their transcripts forwarded to the school of their choice, must remember to have their transcripts returned to City College if they plan to return.

CAB Vote Places Restaurant Club Back On Campus

The Hotel and Restaurant Society was voted back on campus last week by the Student Council.

Stan Fletcher, Club Activities Board president, said that he was not aware of the society's class schedule before he suggested that it be placed off campus along with other clubs which failed to attend CAB meetings.

Fletcher pointed out that the Hotel and Restaurant Division has an entirely different program from other college classes, and its schedule does not allow for representation by members at CAB meetings.

The new CAB by-laws were presented at the regular CAB meeting last week. The laws, presented by Reggie Cummings, include sections of vital importance to new and established clubs on campus.

These sections deal with on and off campus regulations, and suspension for failing to attend CAB meetings.

Twenty-two organizations were absent from last week's meeting. They include Alpha Lambda Chi, Delta Psi, Kappa Phi, Beta Phi Beta, Tau Chi Sigma, Alpha Phi Omega, Block S. F., French Club, Drama Club, Hillel Society, Radio Club, Phi Rho Pi, Newman Club, Pi Mu Gamma, Omicron Phi Pi, Mu Iota Psi, Lambda Alpha, Latin American Club, Kappa Rho, and the Music Guild.

The CAB also set the date for Club Day, proposed by Dean Louis Batmale, for September 19, the second Tuesday of the new semester.

Science, Atomic Age Result In College's Nuclear Physics 35

By Henry Loule

In keeping with the advance of science and this atomic age within which we live, the college has introduced a new course called Nuclear Physics 35. As the most modern course on the campus, Nuclear Physics 35 pulls open the curtain and reveals the intricacies of the atom and all its component parts.

Taught by Louis Berman, astronomy instructor, the awe-inspiring terminologies are translated into understandable every-day language of the layman. Rather than to confuse the students with scientific descriptions, Berman uses simple illustrations for a better understanding of the atom.

The history of the atom is traced from the beginning of the early 20th century to the resultant nuclear fission of uranium in the atom bomb.

Nuclear Physics, without doubt, offers a very comprehensive study of import today. Existence itself is hinged on the atomic bomb.

Fear resulting from its potentialities are based on fear and not so much on know-how. Dr. Berman points out.

"The basis for fear and superstition is ignorance. This new course will help the understanding of the atom in relationship to our life. We will be able to discuss it intelligently and without fear. Nuclear Physics breaks down those barriers and considers the atomic age as an era of advancement."

DISPLAYING the colorful posters announcing the forthcoming Mardi Gras are, left to right, Florence Hourihan, Shirley Maritzen, and Betty Richards. The festival will start at 7 p.m. with a parade on Ocean Avenue followed by entertainment, games, and food on the west campus parking lot.—Photo by Matthes.

Building Of Mardi Gras Booths Closes Parking Areas May 19

The west campus parking lot will be closed to all automobiles this coming Friday, May 19, the day of the Mardi Gras, Norm Reger, Associated Men Student president, announced last week.

To permit the construction of booths and the hanging of decorations, the parking lot must be kept clear of all cars, Reger stated.

The Mardi Gras will open with a parade, consisting of college and high school bands, floats, and marching units, at 7 p.m. The parade will form at 6:30 p.m. at Junipero Serra Boulevard and Ocean Avenue and will proceed down Ocean Avenue to the campus.

The policemen directing the parade will have the assistance of the campus police.

Arnold Dunn, parade chairman, issued an order stating that all floats must disband off the campus. Floats are to enter the main gate on Ocean Avenue and proceed across the campus exiting through the Phelan Avenue gate.

The parade reviewing stand will be situated next to Building 2 facing the main building.

A movie of the parade and Mardi Gras will be taken by students from the Photography Department and will be shown over television station KPIX at 7 p.m. on May 27.

This year's Mardi Gras is open to the general public and the admission is free. Entertainment includes dancing to the music of Ben Watkins and his band, the Drama Club's variety show, "Rip Skits," and carnival-type booths serving food and featuring festival type games.

Governor Earl Warren

Governor Warren May Attend Mardi Gras

Governor Earl Warren, in the midst of his re-election campaign, declared yesterday that he may attend the Associated Men Students' Mardi Gras on Friday, The Guardsman learned.

Sources close to the governor indicated that barring any sudden difficulties on his gubernatorial statewide tour, the governor would be present. Warren's schedule calls for him to be in San Francisco on Mardi Gras night.

Soph King, Queen Elections June 7

A complete list of candidates for the Sophomore King-Queen contest will be released soon, Bill Rosaia, Sophomore Class president, announced last week.

Applications and photographs of contestants have not yet been returned from the A. MacMurray studios, Rosaia stated.

The contest is to be held on Wednesday and Thursday, June 7 and 8, and will be decided by general election. The winners shall reign over the Sophomore Formal on June 10.

Candidates whose applications and photographs have been received thus far include Cecil Best, French Club; Harry Jones, Beta Tau; Shirley Maritzen, Alpha Lambda Chi; Regina Cummings, Phi Beta Rho; Bob Huffman, Kappa Rho; Ethel Marie Smith, Delta Sigma Tau; Ann MacBride, Theta Tau; Florence Hauribhan, Kappa Phi; and June Welch, Delta Phi.

A dance ending Sophomore week will be held at Aquatic Park Saturday evening, June 10. Music will be supplied by Jim Polos and his orchestra; also a dixie-land combo will be featured in an additional room.

AGS To Host Honor Societies May 29

High school student members of the California Scholarship Federation will be entertained at a social given by Alpha Gamma Sigma honor society on Thursday, May 29, Virginia Cutler, society president, announced yesterday.

Included in the day's festivities will be a tour of the college. Visits will be made to photography department, ceramics, radio production, chemistry and biological sciences, design, hotel and restaurant division, and The Guardsman.

Dinner, prepared by the hotel and restaurant division, will be served to those desiring it for a charge of 75 cents. Following dinner a dance will be held in the student lounge for those who wish to attend.

The committee conducting the social and tour consists of Robert Kays, Claire DeBacker, Irene Loretto, Klaus Schaie, Pat Innes, Herbert McCall, Herbert Marvin, Richard Larrick, Shirley Smith, Rose Ranchero, and Virginia Cutler, president.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

AS if we didn't have enough to worry about, comes now the news that a fellow named Gérald Ehrlich, a hygiene instructor at our eastern counterpart, New York City College, throws EGGS at his students to keep them awake.

The egg-smeared students, displaying an intelligence evidently typical of New Yorkers, like the treatment so much they voted him "most popular professor."

WALKING OMELET

Frankly, folks, the prospect of looking like a walking omelet doesn't exactly appeal to us, and if Ehrlich would care to visit our fair city we can give him a welcome that should be to his taste.

How do you like your hygiene instructors? Sunny side up, or over easy?

Mutiny on the campus, or some people have all the luck: Down at Monterey, undergoing minor repairs and outfitting, is a 35-foot, sloop-rigged boat named "Guijo." She'll be shoving off about the time you're reading this. The Guijo's two-man crew (the lucky dogs) consists of CCSF students Ron Oaks and Terry Ryan (also a Guardsman scribe). They'll head for Catalina, then on down the coast to Méjico, through the Panama Canal, and finally, the Caribbean. The Guijo's captain, a former U. of Cal man, follows the tradition of all ship captains by handling all expenses. Could you ask for anything more?

Note for Culture-vultures: Orson Welles' version of Shakespeare's Macbeth is over at the Stage Door now. An Associated Student card can get you in for a mere 65 cents. Tickets are available at the bank or Dean Edward Sandys' office.

Wednesday after next, May 24, marks the all-student concert, presented under the auspices of the Music Guild. Although auditions aren't completed at this writing, the program to date is as follows: piano solo by Janet Masters; oboe solo by Patty Patterson; clarinet solo by Jesse Mangle; and an original composition by concert chairman Conrad Dorn will be played by a string quartet consisting of Carlos Carvajal, Eugenia Psaltis, Mario Surocei, and Alan Gower.

Yesterday, the college's Hotel and Restaurant division played host to the California Northern Hotel Association at its Tenth Annual Spring Luncheon. Our informant goes on to relate that the traditional affair "provides opportunity for students to demonstrate their training." You didn't have to go to all that to demonstrate your training, fellows. We're always available. Just take a thick T-bone and . . .

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, No. 19 | TUESDAY, MAY 16, 1950 | Page 2

New Athletic Conference Setup Intelligent Move By Directors

A DISPATCH from Sacramento last week indicated that the member colleges of the Northern California Junior College Conference had voted three new members into the circuit and divided it into three separate, distinct leagues.

The new additions are Contra Costa County's two campuses at Richmond and Mount Diablo, and Shasta of Redding. After voting the new colleges into the conference the directors split the growing circuit into three leagues with City College in the number one loop. Along with the college in Group One are San Mateo, Sacramento, Modesto, Richmond, and Stockton.

Group Two includes Shasta, Yuba, Grant Tech, Placer, Napa, and Vallejo, while Group Three brings in Menlo, Santa Rosa, Mt. Diablo, Marin, Hartnell, and Monterey.

The division was an intelligent one on the part of the directors who saw that the present situation was not the best. On the surface Group One includes the colleges with the highest enrollment. In sports the more material a coach has to work with the better the team.

THUS, the larger colleges are grouped together. Competition will be on a higher level and institutions with smaller enrollments won't be forced to play games in which they are often outnumbered by teams with a stronger "bench."

Although the new setup will not go into effect until the 1950-51 basketball season, many problems are yet to be ironed out. For example, with three leagues the directors will have to plan some sort of equitable play-off system to determine the champion of the overall conference.

One such plan we would like to suggest for thought on the part of the directors is to bring the top two basketball teams from each league into a post season elimination tournament and have the winner be the Northern California Junior College Conference champion. Other plans will have to be formulated for football and baseball.

Other than the sporting angle, the additions and divisions in the conference give ample evidence of the growing stature of two-year colleges in the state. The two-year college movement is gaining momentum in this area of California as well as in the southern and central sectors.

Take It From Kays

Scots Bulldoze Bonnie Banks

THOSE of Scottish descent who are a little on the sentimental side may all take off their hats and observe one minute of silence for the Bonnie Bonnie Banks of Loch Lomond.

Whether they take the high road or the low road, the Scotch engineers will probably get there "afore ye," and they are hauling in dynamite and bulldozers to set up a two hundred million dollar hydroelectric power plant on yon Bonnie.

Imagine the nostalgic refrains of the old world bagpipe played to the accompaniment of a humming 200,000 kilowatt turbine generator. Hoot mon!

WITHOUT A doubt the most shocking news item of the week comes from the Steinhart Aquarium in G. G. Park. Over the weekend a ship came in from Hawaii and "slipped" them a tank of 40 tropical eels. Inasmuch as they were already overcrowded with 30 eels, the new charge must have come as quite a jolt.

So the icythyological experts (what a handle!) are at the current moment very much electrified over their predicament, and are looking for suitable homes for their orphans. When they get too big for the goldfish bowl they say you can stick them in the fuse box and save on the light bill.

BROWSING THROUGH the dusty volumes the other night we learned that the Romans, about 2,000 years ago, used to throw an annual wing-ding known as the Feast of Lupercalia. The same date is observed today as St. Valentine's Day.

The historians, of course, describe the ritual in the usual dry, scholarly manner, but a little reading between the lines leaves no doubt that the old boys really went on a rootin' tootin' binge that must have caused no end of complaints from the neighbors.

They noted that the birds began playing house for keeps around February 14, so this date was quite naturally chosen for the feast honoring the goddess of love.

On the morning of the big blow-out an immense urn was set out in a public place and all the chicks with a yen to get hitched would write their names on stone tablets or some such gadgets and drop them in. (This no doubt originated the expression "Put something in the pot, boy.") The eligible bachelors would then all proceed to bash each other over the head in attempting to draw out the name of some particular femme.

The only difference between that set-up and the modern version of a blind date is about 2,000 years. All of which goes to prove that in the spring a young man's fancy, but a young woman's fancier.

Feminine Viewpoint

Mardi Gras In Retrospect

By Bobbie Jackson

STARTING as the theme of the Freshman Class Dance on May 24, 1946, the Mardi Gras has grown into a wide-publicized carnival, complete with booths, entertainment, and a parade of colorful floats.

Based on the traditional Pre-Lenten festival celebrated in New Orleans each year, the college's Mardi Gras has taken the limelight as the big event of the spring semester.

Following the initial event sponsored by the freshmen, the Associated Men Students took the reins, with the intent of making it a gala semi-annual affair. On November 22, 1947, the first AMS Mardi Gras was held in the men's gymnasium, with booths, dancing, and a ruling that all must appear in costume or be subjected to a "Kangaroo Court" as punishment.

On May 9, 1948, the Mardi Gras moved to the west campus auditorium, where it was also held on January 14, 1949.

Then came the final approval for the presentation of an outdoor affair, and a parade; and on May 27, 1949, the first outside Mardi Gras was held.

For the first time a Mardi Gras King and Queen were selected, the lucky winners being Pat Kelly, Theta Tau, for queen, and John Kristovich, Alpha Sigma Delta, for king.

The parade and the booths which were set up on the west campus were televised; and there was dancing in the center parking area.

This semester plans are even greater, and an even larger crowd is expected to be present. By means of car cards on the local lines, advertising has been carried to the general public, and since admission is free, many are expected to attend.

Many of the organizations on campus are donating much time and effort to their floats and booths with the hope of winning some of the awards offered. Next Friday there will probably be much activity, as the booths and floats receive their final decorations.

Barbara Huffman In Try For 'Miss San Francisco'

By Herb Marvin

One of the lucky eight finalists for the "Miss San Francisco" contest, Barbara Huffman, competed yesterday at the Paramount theater for the coveted title which leads to a chance at the "Miss California" title.

Sponsored by the Richard Bennett cloth shop in the St. Francis Hotel, Miss Huffman sang "Dear Mr. Sears and Roebuck" in her attempt at the title.

A member of the opera work shop and a sorority sister of Phi Beta Rho, Miss Huffman has studied voice for several years in connection with her career aspirations. Two years of classical training at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music led to her present popular singing under the training of Bill Stoaker.

She is not too enthusiastic over the contest, as she doesn't want to get her hopes up too high, but if Miss Huffman wins, she says, it will be wonderful. Her voice training comes first of all though.

Bennett's entry of her name was a complete surprise to Miss Huffman, but after the first shock wore off, she was very glad for this lift to the realization of her singing dream. Especially so when the news that several prominent judges from the music world were to hold sway in the finals.

Prior to last night's beauty parade, the eight contestants had come up through the ranks of 45 and have received valuable plugs from the Examiner, Chronicle, News, and Call Bulletin.

As well, Les Malloy on his KGO-TV show gave them a 15-minute personal interview. Dean Maddox's amateur show played host to Miss Huffman last Saturday, May 6, where she sang the hit tune, Diamonds Are a Girl's Best Friend, the theme song from the very popular production of the Broadway musical Gentlemen Prefer Blondes.

"A contest that every red-blooded American girl would be happy to compete in," Miss Huffman said and also added her thanks to the San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce for the part they played in the contest.

Student Of Distinction: Business Major Low Wins Finance Awards

By Don Cunningham

Excellence in the field of finance and investments has been transformed into tangible returns for student John Lee Low, who recently won one of the highest awards given to a college business major, when he received the coveted Wall Street Journal Award in Finance.

The Wall Street Journal, which annually sponsors this award, bestowed on Low an inscribed silver medal and a year's subscription to its publication for his outstanding scholastic work.

The prize, which is given in well over 200 two and four-year colleges, is awarded to a student according to his grade point average, which in Low's case is 2.33.

Low, pictured at right, will receive the attractively designed silver medal at the time of his commencement in June, when it will be presented to him by Dr. Herbert Clish, San Francisco's superintendent of schools.

Along with being a married man and a father, Low also claims membership in the selective Alpha Gamma Sigma Honor Society.

Edward Larson, who is one of Low's business instructors, said of him, "Low has a very brilliant future before him if he progresses with the same determination that has guided him in the past." (Photo by Matthes)

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Clubs Prepare For Mardi Gras, Plan Parade Floats, Booths

Just three days away and it's Mardi Gras day, or should we say night; anyway most of the social outfits are getting ready for this and other coming clambakes.

Brothers of Gamma Phi Ypsilon are busily preparing for their float planned for the Mardi Gras parade, and the men hope to make it positively "stupendious" (thank you, Jimmy Durante). A party, of the general get-together variety, was tossed for all the frat members and their girls last Sunday at brother Vito D'Acquisto's home and was termed a terrific success.

Also working on their planned Mardi Gras booth and float are the men of Tau Chi Sigma. They hope to make their two contributions to the Mardi Gras spirit as much of a sensation as their pie-throwing exhibit was during fraternity Hell Week.

Members of the frat and members of Alpha Lambda Sigma expressed their appreciation to all those who attended and made their Aloha Capers dance on Friday, May 5, a success. Members of both organizations were particularly pleased at the praise received for the decorations at the dance.

Alpha Phi Omega's plans for a float and a halloon game booth are rolling right along except the brothers have encountered a shortage of prizes for the balloon game. Contributions will be gratefully accepted by Madison Devlin, faculty sponsor, or members of the fraternity. Next semester's officers were elected last Friday during college hour, and names of the new officers are to be revealed soon.

This department never seems to run out of romance, for here are two romantical tidbits. Joan Talbot, former president of Zeta Chi, was married to Bliss Hill, Wednesday, April 5, in Reno. Doreen Mannion, Delta Psi, and Lloyd Baumann of Alpha Sigma Delta, will be married at 4 p.m., Sunday, August 20, at St. Francis Episcopal Church.

The Collegiate Christian Fellowship is to be the host to groups from four local colleges, U.C., San Francisco State, San Jose State, and Stanford, at an affair to be held at the college early in June.

All groups, including this college's group, are members of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship and plan to unite in various activities at the affair. Games and various indoor sports are to be featured along with a devotional meditation period. Sab Masada of the local group is chairman of the affair.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rose Herdla
STAFF EDITORS ..... Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Avey, Larry Boles, David Brewer, Graceno Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, George Eberl, Barbara Egolan, Tan Gould, Ray Harvey, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kanaya, Richard Larrick, Henry Louie, Herb Marvin, Warren Northwood, Bob Reznek, Elaine Stamos, Jack Vanderbilt, Georgia Watkins, Fatima White, Ralph Wiesner, Eura Williams, Bernite Davis—Doug Haywood, Vicki Monroe.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcomb
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Kaye; Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, assistant; Jack Spalding Bob Valli, John Dierking, Sid Russell.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandra Marks, Dolores Aguirre, Assistants.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Stalnhaimer, Shirley Maritzen, Fred Matthes, Ken Hilmer, Herb Weiss, Dick Jarrett, Dick Lee, Kay Wood.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz, Mary Anne Quartaroli, Harry Paraichan, Bob Easton.
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normanly, Terry George.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Advisor ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco — 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Surprise! Rams Upset, 11-5

Boxers Prepare For Novice Match; Deadline Tomorrow

By Frank Monte

As preparations for the Novice Boxing Tournament, scheduled for May 22, 23, and 24, entered the final lap, Roy Diederichsen, tournament director, issued a call for contestants for the 130, 135, and 140 pound classes.

With sign-ups slated to end tomorrow, the heavier divisions are overloaded with talent, but only four boxers are entered in weights under 145.

Although the lighter weights are lacking, the tourney promises to be a success with 60 participants entered thus far. Should the lower divisions fill up, this tournament may surpass the record meet of 1947, when 75 boxers battled for the coveted eight championship berths.

A battle of managers for the Managers Trophy, awarded to the backer with the most winners, looms between varsity members Ray Nelson, Jack Bettencourt, and Jerry Stern.

All three men have full teams entered, with Nelson and Bettencourt having two or three men in some divisions. Roxie Navarro lacks light-heavyweight and heavyweight scrappers to round out his team.

Members of the football and basketball teams have taken on a pugnacious attitude, with three gridders and one basketball player listed on the tournament roster.

Dick Carillo, second string quarterback last season; Bob McBride, line backer; Jim Young, and Frank Samson, stellar guard of the championship basketball team, have entered the 150, heavyweight, 175, and 145 pound classes respectively.

Title Hopes Remain Strong Despite Sloppy Game Against San Mateo

By Gene Kelly

City College's championship express made an unscheduled stop at the Big Rec diamond last Saturday when San Mateo College administered an 11-5 beating in the Ram's sloppiest game of the season.

The loss was the locals' first. They need only a split with Modesto College today to win top honors in the southern division.

The underdog Bulldogs, seeking revenge for a 4-1 setback by the college nine earlier last week, did not win the game solely on their own merit. Seven Ram errors helped them along. Nevertheless, their nine hits, of which three were triples, were well bunched. They were set down hitless and runless in five of the nine innings.

Bob McGovern started things off on the mound and kept them in the doghouse for the first two innings. One triple, two singles and two walks in the third, however, brought in three runs and John Rubcic.

Rubcic fared even worse. His bad inning was the fifth when two triples, two singles, a base on balls and two errors accounted for six runs.

Sam Chicos replaced Rubcic in the seventh and held the San Mateans hitless for the last three innings, although he did give up on run on a fielder's error.

The locals hit Ernie Bauhofer, San Mateo starter, consistently, although they were unable to bunch their hits. Bud Watkins came in from the Bulldog bullpen in the sixth inning and surrendered only one hit during the balance of the game.

Al Nicora had the best record at the plate, hitting two singles and one of the five Ram doubles in three trips as well as scoring one run.

Rams, Modesto Battle For Title

Final obstacle in City College's baseball championship drive will be encountered in Modesto today when Ram meets Pirate in a double-header which will determine the southern division champ of The NCJC Conference.

The locals must at least split with Modesto to take top honors. Two losses will knock their dream into a cocked hat.

Modesto, one of the best-balanced teams in the Southern Division, has an 8-2 record. If they win both games, each club will finish the season with 10-2 records and Modesto will take the title. A split will give the Rams a record of 11-2 and Modesto 9-3.

Coach Bill Fischer's club will have its work cut out for them as Modesto has the three ingredients of a good team—hitting, pitching and fielding.

The college gymnasium was begun on December 28, 1939, and completed on June 30, 1940.

Golf Team Easily Defeats Hartnell

Hartnell went out of the Northern California Junior College tournament picture to the tune of 11½ points last Monday, May 8, when the college linksters romped through the Salinas clubmen in five flights of varsity match play at the Harding greens.

Merle Fischer, who has been alternating with Vince Hollan for the number one spot on the varsity golf ladder, came through for 2½ points, followed closely by Hollan, Walt Stevens, Frank Hanlon, and Bob Tomlinson, recently graduated from the junior varsity ranks. Tomlinson was a bit over-anxious, Hillsman reported, and dropped all three points to his opponent.

The game was inconsequential, though, since the Hillsmen are already assured of the number two berth in the tournament league. San Mateo recently defeated Modesto, regaining the cup they had lost to the college clubbers last spring.

Fred James, number one man for the Hartnells, eked out a half point from Fischer, but succeeded only in adding it to the bottom-side total of 3½ points for his team. Hillsman had revealed earlier in the season, that Hartnell, along with Menlo, would prove no serious threat. Menlo's men failed to show up at Harding last Friday, May 5, thereby forfeiting the game to the Rams.

Only the Modesto Medalists Tourney, to be held this coming Friday and Saturday, May 19-20, at the Del Rio fairways in Modesto, awaits the home college greensmen.

WAA Barbecue Party June 5 At Beach

Date for the traditional Women's Athletic Association barbecue is definitely set for 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, June 5, and is to be held at the beach. Any WAA member or guest is invited to this semi-annual event, officers in charge said yesterday.

Women who would like to swim in the swimming playday at Napa on Saturday, May 27, should sign up with Nancy Sparks, women's physical education instructor, in the women's gymnasium.

Other remaining scheduled events include the badminton meet with San Mateo at San Mateo tomorrow, and the tennis playday with Balboa, here, also tomorrow.

The last major event of the semester will be the San Mateo Horse show to be held at San Mateo on Sunday, May 28. Women interested should see Laurine Bergin, riding instructor, to make application for participation in the show.

Ho Retains Intra Badminton Crown

For the third consecutive time in three years, Herbert Ho, Jr., took the crown as champ of the intramural badminton league, singles division.

Badminton, which concluded its run Tuesday of this week, saw Ho cop the first place in men's singles competition. Ho is a high sophomore.

FREE CALL AND DELIVERY
OCEAN MAR Cleaners Laundry
Buttons Sewed On
Clothes Mended
Socks Darned
1441 OCEAN AVE. JU 5-0822

ROBIN HOOD'S
From north and south
From east and west
Join the crowd
Our food's the best
Featuring
Thick Shakes
Refreshing Sodas
Tempting Sundaes
Delicious Sandwiches
Next Door to the
El Rey Theatre
Free Parking at Rear
1962 Ocean Ave.

LARKSPUR ROSE BOWL
Dancing Under The Stars
Every Saturday Night
Fireworks Every Dance Night * Balmy Evenings
Sponsored By
LARKSPUR FIRE DEPARTMENT
Greyhound Bus Direct — Free Parking

Tuesday, May 16, 1950 | Page 3

Wilson Gives Touch Football Opening Date

Intramural touch football gets off to a fast start this week at the college's football field with 13 teams entered in the league this year, Director Tom Wilson announced.

First game got underway yesterday at 3:15 p.m. Second games follow at 4:15 p.m. In the next two weeks, through the process of elimination, the top undefeated team, or one that incurs the fewest losses, will win the team trophy. Individual awards also will be awarded members of the winning team.

Signups are incomplete to date, but the following teams are entered in competition for this year's touch football league:

Kappa Rho, Gamma Phi Ypsilon; Tau Chi Sigma, Crusaders, Block SF No. 1, and Block SF No. 2.

Forfeits of games will be declared if any team is not ready to play by 15 minutes after the scheduled time, the rules provide.

Differing somewhat in regular American football rules, touch football teams will be composed of ten men to the squad with eight members engaged in regular competition during the game and five of the eight situated on the line of scrimmage.

Time for the game provides for 25-minute halves, five downs used to make 20 yards for a first down.

Instead of the regular tackling, two hands will be imposed on the person carrying the ball with all the innovations of blocking being qualified for play.

Straight Talk

By Bill Thomas

SHOWING that they have a humorous side as well as a serious side and that they could make fun of their troubles, AS President Don Parker and opera director Flossita Badger and Henry Leff cavorted in the Faculty FrAntics in an exhibition of good sportsmanship.

Miss Badger (billed as Flossitana Badgerina) and Leff (Enrico Leffigaro) began to perform on the stage in some humorous musical slapstick.

Then they started a song from the opera Martha, but they were stopped by the genial Dean Edwin C. Browne (master of ceremonies)—who told them they could not sing Martha.

Demanding "Why not?" they were told they didn't have an Associated Student card.

Then Badgerina and Leffigaro took up a bemoan to the tune of Nothing Like A Dame (SP).

After the song was over Don Parker came on stage and presented them with a giant Associated Student card.

Below is the song (author unknown) which the pair sang:

We have quartets on one hand,
We have choruses you hear,
We have royalties and rentals,
The best from far and near,
We have managers and helpers,
And suggestions by the yard.
What ain't we got?
A student card!

We get singers who can sing,
We get actors who can roar,
We get stage hands and directors
And assistants by the score,
We get orchestras and dancers,
Programs, tickets, help that's swell,
What don't we get?
You know darn well!

You will never hear the opera Martha,
Unless we get a release from General Douglas MacArthur.

There is nothing like a card . . .
Nothing in this world,
When your budget's frozen hard,
There's not anything like a card.

We're not restless, we're not blue,
We're not sorry, sad, or such,
And we really couldn't help it
If we got our Dutch in dutch,
It's a waste of time to worry,
Over things that we hate not,
Be thankful for the things we've got.

Lot's of things in life are beautiful,
but brother
There is one particular thing that is absolutely nothing whatsoever in any way shape or form like any other.

There is nothing like a card,
Nothing in this world,
When your budget's frozen hard
There's not anything like a card.

Can't dance without a card,
Nor romance without a card,
No games without a card,
No dames without a card,
Can't work without a card,
You're a jerk without a card,
There's not a thing that's
Wrong with a gal or guy
That can't be cured by making them buy
A CARD.
A CITY COLLEGE ASSOCIATED STUDENT CARD.

All in all, the three brought to the hottest political issue to hit the campus in a long time good humor, good nature, and friendliness.

Courses in radio production were first added to the college curriculum in 1939.

MEL'S DRIVE IN
Famous For
Bar-B-Q Hamburgers
Fried Chicken, Etc.
Open All Night
Mission and So. Van Ness

Boulevard Market
667 Monterey Blvd.
Groceries - - Delicatessen
Fresh
Fruits and Vegetables
★
FREE DELIVERY
JUniper 5-3393

COLE says . . .
"Be the man of the year with the haircut of the hour."
COLE'S BARBER SHOP
Across From West Campus

TRAINING COUNTS
Heald Business Courses lead to Higher Earning Power. The cost is low. Results high.
Write for Heald Catalog
TELEPHONE ORdway 3-5500
HEALDS BUSINESS COLLEGE
Van Ness Ave. at Post San Francisco
Other Schools: Oakland, Sacramento, San Jose

ATTIRED IN AUTHENTIC costumes are Vivian Breslin as Desdemona and Mervyn Murphy as Othello, who have the leading roles in the forthcoming campus players' presentation of Shakespeare's Othello, which opens Saturday, May 20, for a six-day run in the Little Theatre, Room 28, main building.

Campus Players Present Othello For Six Day Run At Little Theatre Here

Campus players under the direction of Paul Ellison, drama director, present Shakespeare's Othello, opening Saturday, May 20, for a six-day engagement.

No performances will be given Sunday, May 21, or Monday, May 22. The performances resume Tuesday, May 23 and will continue up to and including Saturday, May 27, Ellison announced.

Tickets are available at the college bank and are priced at 25 cents to holders of Associated Student cards and 90 cents to those without, he said.

Ellison added that every effort is being made to make this the most authentic production yet staged by the drama group.

To help with this aim, authentic costumes of the period are being made especially for this presentation by the Stage Craft Costuming Co., of Berkeley.

Music also plays an important part in the realistic feeling of a play and much time and effort have been spent in finding just the right music of the period, Ellison continued.

The compositions decided upon are by two 17th century composers, Grovanni Gabriele and Francois Couperin le Grand.

Gabriele's music is especially appropriate, Ellison said, as he wrote for civic and religious festivals of the Venetian Republic, the locale where the play supposedly takes place.

Annual Forum Magazine Sales Hit New High; Copies Still Available

Forum Magazine sales here totaled 651 through last Wednesday, Editor Curtis May said Thursday.

The staff expects to complete the 800 sales needed to return the Associated Students' $400 underwriting.

Any copies of Forum which were not sold last week are selling now at the student bank, and May advised students wishing to obtain a copy to get it promptly as "the supply is not expected to last long."

The magazine, now in its fourteenth year of publication, contains "a representation of the literary and art work of the college's students for the current year," and this issue is "better than ever, both in content and appearance," May added.

Sorority's Alumnae Offer Scholarship

Alumnae of Theta Tau sorority are offering a scholarship for the 1950 Fall semester to a City College woman student, Norma Moebes, alumnae member, declared yesterday.

The requirements are the completion of at least 30 units of work with an average grade of C or better, Miss Moebes added.

The scholarship consists of an Associated Student Card and $25 in cash for the purchase of books and incidentals.

Applications should be made in writing to Dean Margaret Dougherty before Monday, June 5.

Norma Moebes and Romie Morrison, Theta Tau alumnae members, constitute the committee in charge of the scholarship.

Naval Aviation Training Program Offers Employment, Recreation

Though summer jobs will be more difficult to obtain this year than ever, Joseph A. Amori, placement director, warned today, there is a summer "job" for any male student, 17 and over; he may join the summer Flying Camp, Naval Air Station, Oakland, California, from June 18 to August 18 and receive naval aviation training, room and board, free medical and dental service, uniforms, and $75.00 per month.

Only 125 men in Northern California will be selected to participate in the academic and athletic program which will include aviation technical instruction, a military organization and administration course, flights in a Mars, giant Navy plane, trips on submarines and aircraft carriers and such sports as swimming, tennis, basketball, football and softball. There are, at the camp, a gymnasium and a steam room.

The aviation program entails no promise to continue a training after the two months are over. However, if a young man desires, he may, upon completion of the course, join one of the 20 squadrons which meet one weekend per month.

Retail Floriculture Course Scheduled

Retail floriculture is a year-round business, reported flower shop instructor John Lawrenee, explaining in this manner that his course will just be beginning an on-eampus eight week summer session, starting July 10, when the college proper is dismissed for vaeation.

Lawrence, whose student exhibits recently took first prize in the scientific and educational department of the 18th Annual Spring Garden and Flower Show in Oakland, plans to enroll approximately 36 students in the summer elass, which is scheduled to end operations Friday, September 1.

Some adult students, he added, are moving into the San Francisco area from out-of-town locations especially for the course. One, in order to make the opening day deadline, has even arranged a flight to and from Chicago by plane instead of travelling by a slower means and possibly missing registration.

The class will be held Monday through Thursday, from 3:30 until 6 in the afternoon, 7 until 9 o'elock in the evening. This is the fourth course of its kind at the college since 1947.

Classes Close May 30

Classes will not meet Tuesday, May 30, in observanee of Memorial Day, President Louis G. Conlan announced yesterday. Instruction will be resumed on Wednesday, May 31.

Classes will be held as usual on Monday, May 29, President Conlan added.

Faculty FrAntics Wows SRO House

By Bob Rezak

Faculty FrAnties, the all-faculty variety show, bowed in full dress last Friday night, before some 1200 City College students, relatives, and friends, who turned out to see the show and help swell a college scholarship fund for students.

The audience, whieh occupied every seat in the eampus auditorium, so that there was standing room only, laughed and applauded the colorful and talent-studded production from start to finish.

They screamed with laughter at the antics of Evelyn Kerkhof, Gloria Swiecgood, Leah Levikow, Betty Hoe'ser, Nancy Sparks, John Hare, Michael Lo Presti, Maurice Power, Robin Crizer, Roy Edminson, and George Gould (accompanist), who danced the Charleston in the Roaring Twenties number.

They applauded the genius of Lester Tarnopol and his marionettes, and the "spirited" accordion solo of Donald Snepp, and they went completely wild with laughter when Flossita Badger and Henry Leff went through the lilting paces of their BeBopera number and satirized the much-discussed student card situation.

Paul Ellison's monologue of Life Upon The Wieked Stage was filled with sheer delight and was cause for several curtain ealls.

The fencing demonstration by Helene Mayer, the trampoline exhibition, directed by Ralph Hillsman, a "Mellerdrammer," narrated by Samuel Duff, and folk dances in costume added additional color to the all-faculty reviev.

The entire show was produced by Bill Culver, and was emceed by Dean Edwin C. Browne. Meyer Cahn led the college band in the Overture from Carousel and several specialty numbers.

FELIX SHOE STORE
Featuring
Nunn Bush Shoes
And U. S. Keds
SPECIAL
For City College
5% Off on
All Shoe Sales
On Presentation
Of This Ad
★
Excellent Shoe Repair Service
1611 Ocean Avenue

Don't Miss This . . .
Tasty HAMBURGERS
and
Delicious Home Made
SPAGHETTI
RAM SHACK
Across From West Campus

"We Operate Our Own Plant"
3 Day Service
THE MONTEREY CLEANERS
Look at your clothes . . . other people do
643 Monterey Blvd. DElaware 3-7644
ALTERATIONS . . . REPAIRS

Friendly pause

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
The Coca-Cola Bottling Co., San Francisco

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1950 NUMBER 20

College Hour Schedule
8 o'clock classes— 8:10 to 8:50
9 o'clock classes— 9:00 to 9:40
10 o'clock classes— 9:50 to 10:30
• College Hour—10:40 to 11:20 •
11 o'clock classes—11:30 to 12:10
12 o'clock classes—12:20 to 1:00

Mardi Gras Tonight; Othello Tomorrow

CAUGHT IN AN INTENSE MOMENT during dress rehearsals of Othello are Vivian Breslin as Desdemona and Eugene Carlson as Iago, two of the three main characters in the Shakespearian drama to be presented by the campus players. All photography work for Othello is by Guardsman staff photographers Dick Steinheimer, Fred Matthes, and Shirley Maristen.

Pre-Festival Parade Will Include 35 Units, Plus Decorated Automobiles

Mardi Gras Booths Cannot Accept Cash

Organizations sponsoring booths in the Mardi Gras festival will not be permitted to accept cash directly from customers this year. All money will be handled by a bank situated near Booths 3 and 4, which will sell tickets that are redeemable at the booths.

Any booth found accepting cash will be closed for the evening, Norm Reger, Associated Men Student President, stated.

Any damage incurred directly in front of a booth will be charged to the individual organization sponsoring the booth.

Murphy, Breslin, Carlson Open Othello Run Tomorrow Night

By Georgia Watkins

The curtain rises on the Campus Players' production of Othello at 8 p.m. tomorrow night in the college little theatre, under the direction of Paul Ellison.

This will be the first tragedy staged by the drama group. One of the largest casts yet assembled has been in daily rehearsal for two months, indicating that this production will equal the success of previous plays presented by the group.

Sets for the play, designed by John Allen, were unusually difficult to design as it was necessary to construct them so they could be used for five different changes of scenery.

Cast for Saturday's performance will be as follows: Othello, Mervyn Murphy; Desdemona, Vivian Breslin; Emilia, Barbara Andress; Iago, Eugene Carlson; Cassio, Edward Mulvihill; Roderigio, Don Powell; Brabantio, Jerry Pozzi; Lodovico, George Jackson; Montano, Robert O'Conner; Officer, William Holway; Bianco, Dawn Kidd.

Tickets are priced at 25 cents to Associated Student members and 90 cents to non-members. They may be purchased at the college box office or at the door the night of the performance.

Although Othello is a tragedy it is not without the humor that Shakespeare is so noted for, Ellison said. The play moves at a very fast pace with one big moment following fast upon another and has been edited the least of any play presented thus far, he added.

The large number of unusually talented people who originally tried out made it extremely difficult to choose and double casting has been used to allow the maximum amount of people to participate, Ellison disclosed.

Ellison added that every effort is being made to make this the most authentic production yet staged by the drama group.

To help with this him, authentic costumes of the period are being made especially for this presentation.

Fifteen members of the cast will be making their first appearance with the remainder being remembered from past performances.

The Little Theater is located in Room 28 of the main building.

Othello will not be presented on Sunday, May 21, or Monday, May 22, but resuming Tuesday, May 23 performances are scheduled up to and including, May 27.

Cable Car, Rally Featured During College Hour

The Associated Students and the Audio Visual Aids department yesterday announced plans to present students with separate entertainment during college hour today at 10:40 a.m.

Swinging back into the groove of college activities in an effort to revive college spirit, the Associated Students hold an impromptu rally at the grave where it was buried at the rear of the west campus fountain today.

The fanfare, which was planned under the auspices of the Student Council, will be presided over by AS President Don Parker.

Frank Bayol, Tom Dill, Patty Patterson, and Parker will break the ground around the red and white tombstone which marks the grave of the college spirit, buried there by the Spring, 1948 Student Council.

All students are urged to take part in this ceremony behind the fountain during college hour today. Some of the college band members will furnish the music, Parker said.

One of San Francisco's greatest tourist attractions will be the subject of the college film series' attraction to be presented today, "Cable Car."

Produced in color and with sound by Standard Oil Company, the film shows many things about the cable car that even native San Franciscans don't know. Shown in detail are such things as the mechanism of the cars, how the underground cables operate.

New Chemistry Course Given

Curriculum for the new two-year course to train laboratory operators in conjunction with specific needs of Bay Area food industries, will start next semester, Howard Benninghoff, chemistry instructor, said yesterday.

The new course was developed by the chemistry faculty of City College and top men of the Bay Area's food industries upon completion of a questionnaire sent to them to determine their specific needs, Benninghoff said.

Part of the course will present a study of chemical industries and employment opportunities in this area. The rest will cover biology and microbiology of foods with particular reference to the manufacturing processes and plant sanitation, he continued.

Members of the food industries committee are C. F. Pinney, Langendorf Baking Company; Thomas A. Bruce, Corn Products Refining Company; C. R. Habighorst, Pacific Coast Editor of Food Industries Magazine; E. C. Mitchell, Richmond Chase Canning Company; and Dr. A. P. Stuart, Golden State Products.

Oral Test Extended; 'Last Chance' June 2

Second semester students who have not taken their speech test will be given a last chance to meet this requirement from Monday to Friday, June 2, Samuel Duff, English department head, announced recently.

Tests will be given by Michael Griffin, English instructor, in Building 19, Room 17. The hours will be 9 and 10 a.m., Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, and daily at 2 and 3 p.m.

Today is the last day for students to file petitions for a leave of absence, Mary Jane Learnard warned recently.

Law Enforcement Students Patrol Route Of Marchers

By Warren Northwood

The Associated Men Students will present their traditional spring Mardi Gras this evening in the west campus parking lot under the direction of AMS President, Norm Reger.

After weeks of preparation, the construction of booths and parade floats will be completed and festivities will open tonight with a Mardi Gras parade featuring 35 units and followed by private, gayly decorated autos.

Booths will encircle the west campus parking lot and feature many entertainments. Included will be a Pee Wee golf course operated by the Women's Athletic Association and a cabaret show given by the Drama club in Building 2.

Open-air dancing will feature Ben Watkins and his orchestra, who will be situated on a bandstand facing Building 12. The immediate dancing area will be fenced off to prevent interference by onlookers, Reger stated.

The pre-Mardi Gras parade will begin at 7 p.m. and march down Ocean Avenue from Junipero Serra Boulevard to the west campus. The line of march will be patroled by the police force and students of the law enforcement division of the college.

The parade will pass the reviewing stand, situated next to Building 2, in the following order:

Three private autos carrying Chester McPhee, President Louis G. Conlan, former President A. J. Cloud, Dean Edwin C. Browne, Dean Margaret Dougherty, and Dean Edward Sandys.

Following will come the CCSF Band, Alpha Sigma Delta float, marching unit from the National Guard, an Army float, College of Marin float, Delta Sigma Tau float, Horse Trader Ed: Polytechnic High School band, Ram Cam float, and the Alpha Phi Omega float.

Others floats include Drama Society, Phi Beta Delta and Kappa Phi, Alpha Lambda Sigma, Hillel Club, Boy Scout marching unit, Beta Tau float, Delta Psi float, Alpha Lambda Chi and Tri E float, Motor Corps float, Army float, Beta Phi Beta and Phi Beta Rho float, French Club float, Lowell High School band, Theta Tau float, Pi Delta Koppa float, Motor Corps float, Army float, Gamma Phi Yaphan float, Engineer Club float, Alumni car, Army float, and Zeta Chi float.

Reger extended his thanks to his assistants in making the Mardi Gras possible. Those include Arnold Dunn, Jim Crouch, Bill Marsico, Ralph Vetterlein, Bob Lutz, John Allen and faculty advisers Thomas Nesbitt and Thomas Wilson.

(For booth locations, see page 3.)

Thirty Petition For Associated Student Offices

Over 30 petitions have been issued to potential candidates for Associated Student offices for the fall semester, James L. Potter, election commissioner, revealed yesterday.

He reported that interest in the forthcoming elections, to be held Thursday and Friday, May 31 and June 1, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m., has grown during the past week, and indications are that the race for various AS offices would be highly competitive.

A college hour schedule will be held Thursday, June 1, to facilitate voting on that day. Voting will be carried on in the student lounge, Building 2.

Names of candidates will be released next week, Potter added, when active election campaigning will begin on the campus.

Presidential candidates will speak at a special election rally in the campus auditorium during college hour, Friday, May 26.

Meanwhile the election committee is completing preparations for the counting of votes. Since the State primary elections fall at the same time as AS elections, automatic voting machines will not be used.

Potter said a ten-man committee composed of impartial students will do the actual ballot counting.

He stressed the need for all AS members to "get out and vote," and announced that all AS cardholders may participate in the elections.

AS card numbers will be checked when ballots are cast, Potter said.

The election headquarters office in Building 2 is open from 11 to 12 and 1 to 3, Monday through Friday, except Tuesday when the hours are 11 to 12.

Prep Teachers Have Special Othello Night

DRAMA DIRECTOR PAUL ELLISON smiles in anticipation of "curtain time."

English Department Plays Host Monday

Although the college drama production, Othello, starts tomorrow night, Monday night there will be a special performance for high school English teachers with admission by invitation only.

All of the one hundred and twenty seats in the Little Theatre are reserved for the night.

A committee of interested instructors under the direction of Lucile Meredith, English instructor and Faculty Association Public Relations Committee member, worked together to make this occasion a success.

For this showing, the curtain will go up at 7 p.m.

Preceding the show, the English instructors on campus will meet for dinner in the cafeteria.

MERVYN MURPHY being made up for his part of Othello.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

CHARLIE, MY BOY: We caught a press preview of Charlie Chaplin's "City Lights" a few days ago, and since it opens at the Larkin theater, today and some of you will no doubt want to see it, a brief run-down seems in order.

A sparse half-dozen people were already there when we wandered into the Larkin and slid into a back row seat. The place was spotlessly clean. Not a cigarette stub or empty popcorn bag in sight. You could even have heard a pin drop in the silence (that's a factual statement: we dropped one just to see).

SHOW STARTED

After a few minutes the house lights dimmed, a woman sitting a few rows down cleared her throat, and "City Lights" began.

Laughter started as soon as the screen credits appeared. Among them were such nifties as "An Eccentric Millionaire," "A Blind Girl," and "Her Grandmother." And the background music made you look apprehensively around for the Keystone Kops. We expected a pie in the face at any moment.

But there's no sense in our carping here about the ridiculous score and inane plot (both concected by Chaplin, by the way) because a Chaplin picture depends entirely on how good is Chaplin himself, and it must be admitted that he is very good indeed.

MANY MEMORABLE SCENES

Since the picture first appeared in 1931, much imitation has hackneyed some of the humor and changed a good deal of the pathos to bathos. Despite this, though, there are still many memorable scenes. Chaplin saving a drunk from drowning; swallowing a whistle during a hiccup fit and attracting dogs, cats, and cab drivers; using the referee as a shield during a boxing match; and so on.

An interesting little sidelight that caught our eye appeared in the night club scene. There is a momentary glimpse of a lady (that's pure speculation, of course) doing the "shimmy," a sort of double-time burlyque bump with a little hula thrown in. It's really quite a sight.

TEAR-JERKER

But the final scene, where the Blind Girl, now able to see, realizes that her benefactor is a little tramp with a funny mustache rather than the handsome millionaire he had led her to believe, is the highlight of the show and a real tear-jerker. There wasn't a dry eye in the theater.

All except yours truly, that is. He was suffering from an affliction peculiar to people who sit overlong in the same position. All he wanted to do was stand up.

Feminine Viewpoint

Scholarships Aid Needy

By Bobbie Jackson

IN an effort to aid those deserving students who have a hard time attending college because of financial difficulties, various scholarships and loan funds have been established.

One of the most recent scholarships is the 25 dollar fund to cover books and supplies, plus an additional five dollars for Associated Student membership, that is donated by the Theta Tau Sorority Alumni Association for a sophomore woman student who has completed 30 units of work at City College with at least a "C" average.

Officers of the Theta Tau Alumnae Association, who are responsible for the presentation of this fund are President Joan Hutto Tooley; Vice-president Margaret Hitchcock Hawkins; Treasurer Jeanne Marsh Abramson; Corresponding Secretary Maureen Carolla; and Recording Secretary Mary Reese.

Other funds have been set up on campus by individuals and groups for both loans and donations.

The Denman Scholarship is awarded annually to two women students who are graduates of San Francisco Public High Schools. It is given by the heirs of James Denman, who was Superintendent of S. F. Public Schools from 1860 to 1861 and from 1868 to 1873.

Loans to needy students are given through the Joseph Pomeroy Nourse Student Loan Fund, which was established by the faculty in honor of former Superintendent of Schools Joseph P. Nourse; the American Legion Loans for Veterans; the Lions Club; and the Optimist Club.

Other awards include the Alice Eastwood Scholarship, given by the San Francisco Garden Club to an outstanding floriculture student; the Harlan and the Nuodex awards in paint technology; and the Wall Street Journal Award in Finance to an honor graduate of the division of Business.

In addition, the job placement service, under the guidance of Joseph Amori, aids students in finding part-time employment.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, No. 20 FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1950 Page 2

Guardsman Maintains Editorial Policy—Impartial In Election

WHEN William Thomas of The Guardsman announced his candidacy for President of the Associated Students last week his column, Straight Talk, was killed by editorial decision for the usual obvious reasons.

Needless to say we will miss his sharp observations and astute knowledge of the campus political situation.

However, The Guardsman for 15 years, or since the college began operating, has maintained an impartial status in all Associated Student elections. Fifteen years is a long time and 15 years of impartiality is nothing to be taken lightly. Moreover, it has always been the editorial policy of this newspaper, as the official publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco, never to single out support for any candidate for any office in any election.

We are going to hold to this policy and merely report the news as it happens to the students.

On the other hand, Thomas set no precedent when he, as a Guardsman staffer, was nominated to run for the highest student office on the campus.

THE history of the local political scene is sprinkled with persons who held staff positions on The Guardsman. Don Mix, in 1937, was sports editor and president at the same time. More recently, 1947, Trev Burrow was The Guardsman managing editor and also President of the Associated Students.

In 1949 Gene Ellison and Dale Butterfield, both holding staff positions, were voted into Sophomore Council and Sophomore President offices, respectively. In all of these cases The Guardsman was partial to none. Further, in other instances, candidates who were journalism majors did not win.

The only stand we are going to make in the coming elections is directed towards the students who do not vote. We feel that both parties, the Allied Students and the Fraternity Party, desire a greater participation in the election.

TO SUM UP, THE GUARDSMAN WILL MAINTAIN ITS EDITORIAL POLICY, SET UP IN 1935, THROUGHOUT THE ELECTION—REMAIN IMPARTIAL!!

IT has been brought to our attention that in last Friday's Student of Distinction feature on page two that a good part of the information given was a pack of lies, to put it mildly.

OUR WRITER TOOK THE INFORMATION IN GOOD FAITH. WE ARE DISAPPOINTED THAT PERSONS ATTENDING A COLLEGE STILL CONSIDER IT "SMART" TO MISLEAD A RESPONSIBLE PUBLICATION FOR THE "JOKE" OF IT.

Student Of Distinction: Countess Role Brings Fame To Soprano

By Don Cunningham

Eileen Scott, who is one of the most important working members of the highly successful campus Opera Workshop, has been in long preparation for her musical career, for she started singing at the "tender age of four." In her four semesters at the college, Mrs. Scott has proved herself a worthy addition to any musical troup by the professional caliber she has displayed in her stage appearances.

Her musical excellence won for Mrs. Scott the memorable role of the Countess in the 1949 Opera Workshop production of The Marriage of Figaro, by Mozart. Mrs. Scott scored such an immediate success in her portrayal of the Countess that the music department has seen fit to schedule her as the feminine lead in its forthcoming presentation, Down In The Valley.

Last November marked the initial appearance of Mrs. Scott in a professional group. At that time, she was cast in the role of Micaela in the Pacific Opera Company's production of Carmen.

Mrs. Scott is presently engaged in competition for the highly regarded Atwater Kent awards. She has been one of the seven women chosen from San Francisco to compete in the semi-finals in Los Angeles, where she hopes to put in her claim for furtherance of her musical career. (Photo by Weiss)

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Campus Socialites Set For Tonight's Mardi Gras Festival

The night that the whole campus, including the club world, has been waiting for, is upon us, for tonight marks the appearance of the most gala of all City College affairs, the annual Mardi Gras festival.

Among the many floats and cars in the parade preceding the actual festival will be seen a flock of gayly decorated cars, trucks and the like originating from the Alpha Phi Omega fraternity. The men who have been working hard on both the floats and their balloon game booth are as follows: George Wilkenson, Al Marchesi, Bill Lowe, C. Aeger, George Del Rio, Lucian Douglas, Al Flores, T. Rossi and Gene Saper. All members of the frat received their new pins last Friday during college hour.

Also to be seen among the galaxy of vehicles in the Mardi Gras parade will be a sterling float designed and constructed by the men of Tau Chi Sigma.

Le Cercle Francais, the French Club, planned their contributions to tonight's spirit at a meeting held Tuesday, May 9, at the home of Phil Frank, at which 15 members and Doris Herried, club sponsor, attended. Plans were made not only for the Mardi Gras but for the club's campaign for its Soph King candidate and for a planned trip to Mt. Tamalpais on May 20 and 21, to see the Mountain Play. Further plans were discussed at a meeting held last Tuesday.

Those bearded characters who have been seen floating around the campus recently belong to Beta Tau. The "bearded Betas" have grown the facial brushes in keeping with the theme of their Mardi Gras float.

The feminine counterpart of the Beta's, the Theta Tau's, have based their Mardi Gras booth and float on the Cinderella theme and the girls who have worked very diligently preparing the "cindery, scintillating" contributions, are as follow:; float, Miriam Lagan and Jackie Lantheaume; booth, Bobbie Jackson and Peggy Rutter.

Edward Howden, director of the Council for Civic Unity, will speak in Room 5L today during college hour, on the Problems of Segregation. His appearance on the campus is sponsored by the Cosmopolitan Society.

We'll be seeing you all tonight, around 'n about the Mardi Gras.

PanoRAMa With Jones

Flapper Days Are Here Again

FOR a long time, now, we could see it coming. The first dose or two seemed to kill any love we might have had for it, but now that it's here, let's enjoy it.

What? We mean the age of the flapper, the age of the gal who wore a shapeless dress that resembled a quonset hut and a head of hair that looked like a rag mop.

Yes, before long, we feel, those great old days that we can only experience through the medium of a Hollywood production will return. The ladies, despite the anguished screams of millions of males, have started the cycle by their adoption of hurricane haircuts, and ankle length dresses.

The nation finally joined in with their acceptance by singing the barbershop melodies of that past era. We all applauded Ann Baxter as she revived the flapper, made so famous by Clara Bow.

San Franciscans fought to keep a touch of the past by voting to retain their beloved cable cars.

The spirit of this movement has reached City College. True, the female students had long ago adopted the current styles, but the males, now, have joined in. At present a woman is given a fifty-fifty chance to board a street car, and once aboard, she has a fairly good chance of being offered a seat! (If some younger woman is gracious enough to offer it to her.)

Last week in the Celerin we received final, and sound, proof that those "good ol' days" are returning. We heard a plunk-plunk coming from one of the tables, and by leaning in front of the person sitting next to us, placing our hand on his waffle for support, we could see a young lady strumming the strings of a ukelele. She was accompanied by a quartet of coffee slurpers (who were slightly off-key, incidentally).

After sitting back and wiping the syrup from our hand, we tried to visualize what this was leading up to. Possibly, any male without a raccoon coat and a flask of buttermilk would be barred from using the west campus gate. Students would be considered squares if they didn't use such daring expression as "Oh, you kid," or know the answer to "Why does a chicken cross the road?" (Anyone interested in knowing why, may receive this information by writing C. H Icken, c o The Guardsman.)

HEAR ABOUT THE fellow who returned to the college eight years after he had graduated. He walked about the campus hoping to meet some old friend.

Finally he gave up hope of seeing any familiar face and set his suitcase down to rest. At that moment, one of his old instructors spied him.

The instructor nodded, and said, "Hello, Frank Going away?"

'Othello' Proves Students Daily Quote Shakespeare

By Georgia Watkins

City College students daily quote Shakespeare but few of them realize it! This discovery was made while watching a rehearsal of Othello recently.

Some of the players were sitting in groups, some were standing apart going over lines, two or three were gazing thoughtfully out the window, but whatever their activity, it was obvious the play was the one topic of thought and discussion.

The women in skirts and gay summer dresses, the men in jeans or slacks were a far cry from the cast as it was when Shakespeare wrote Othello, but with Director Paul Ellison's call of "All right, everybody, on stage," almost magically they were transformed into people right out of the Elizabethan age.

As time went by, as lines were rehearsed again and again for just the right inflection, the right gesture, it became apparent just how much hard work goes into the successful presentation of a play.

The importance of even one line was noted when Jane Howarth stayed all afternoon to speak one line of approximately 10 words.

Occasionally something would happen to interrupt the scene rehearsed. One of these times came when Mervyn Murphy, as Othello, was in the midst of a big scene. He came to the part where he said, "To turn Turk," suddenly Ellison leaped up saying, "There's another one," and then as everyone gazed at him with puzzled expressions, he explained that there was another expression originated by Shakespeare that is now in daily use.

As the afternoon wore on, more and more expressions such as "I will wear my heart upon my sleeve," "Honey," and "The seamy side," were noted. As someone observed, a perfect answer to Europeans, who are inclined to joke about American expressions, would be to remind them that many of the most commonplace ones originated in Europe itself!

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Ross Hardie
STAFF EDITORS ..... Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Averbach, Jerry Bates, David Brewer, Graceme Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, George Eberl, Barbara Eggiser, Ten Gould, Ray Harvey, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kanava, Richard Lavrick, Henry Louie, Herb Marvin, Warren Northwood, Bob Rezek, Elaine Stamos, Jack Vanderbilt, Dave Doug Hayward, Elsie Monroe.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcomb
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Kew, Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, assistant; Jack Spalding, Bob Vail, John Dreyfoos, Sid Rosen.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandra Marks, Dolores Aguirre Assistants.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Steinheimer, Shirley Maritzen, Fred Matthes, Ken Milliman, Herb Weiss, Dick Jarrett, Dick Lee, Kay Wood.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz, Mary Anne Quarterolli, Harry Paretchan, Bob Easton.
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normenly, Terry George.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Volume XXX, No. 20 FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1950 Page 3

SF Law School Reopens Scholarship Offers To Two-Year College Grads

For the first time since the war San Francisco Law School is offering scholarship to young men and women who have completed two years of junior college, Lloyd Luckmann, dean of university parallel courses, announced.

The law school is a non-profit organization which gives special attention to individuals who might not otherwise have an opportunity to study law. "The main purpose of the scholarship is to educate an individual so long as he is able to prove that his interest in law is sincere, and that he is capable," Luckmann said.

To be eligible for these awards, a student should be ready to provide them with his transcript of credits. Top students who qualify are eligible for $200 toward tuition fees for one year; the regular tuition for two semesters is $300, plus books.

Street And Griffin To Give Speeches

Randy Street, student orator, and Michael Griffin, college director of forensics, were invited last week by San Francisco civic and religious organizations to take part in Memorial Day festivities.

Street will address a Lions Club luncheon Wednesday, May 24. His talk will be on "Education and the Good Life."

John Durand, former student of the college, invited Griffin to take part in the Community Baptist Church's Memorial Day Services, Sunday, May 28. "Memorial Day, Its Significance Today" is Griffin's topic.

The Hotel and Restaurant Division of City College is, next to Cornell University, the largest and most widely known school of its type in the country.

College Bulletin Gets "New Look"

Revision of the 1950-51 edition of the college bulletin of information and announcement of courses, now being made under the direction of Dr. Marcus Skarstedt, coordinator of instruction, will feature a "new look," Lloyd Luckmann, dean of university parallel courses, said yesterday.

The "new look" will involve changing course numbers here to correspond with University of California lower division courses when City College courses are exactly parallel, Luckmann stated.

Student Concert Next Wednesday

Plans are nearly complete for the all-student concert to be held next Wednesday, May 24, in the auditorium, Conrad Dorn, chairman of the concert committee, said yesterday.

To date the content of the program is as follows: A brass quintet composed of Herb Dumont and Duane McGibbens, trumpets, Walter Gough and Jim Turner, trombones, and Conrad Dorn, French horn; a clarinet solo by Jesse Mangle, accompanied by pianist Bob Wilmer; an oboe solo by Patty Patterson; vocal solos by Darlny Alvini and Cynthia Burke.

Forum Magazine Offered For Sale At Mardi Gras

Last chance to buy this year's Forum magazine, now on sale at the student bank, is tonight at the Mardi Gras, Editor Curtis May said yesterday.

Pre-sale tickets for the Forum must be redeemed by 1:15 p.m. today at the bank, May added, and he urged that ticket holders get their magazines early.

Nearly 700 of the 1000 magazines printed are now sold.

Fred Fouitz, faculty member and Forum sponsor, said he "was much impressed both with the quality and variety of material submitted and with the fair and intelligent selections made by the editorial committee."

He was "also impressed and grateful for the enthusiasm and energy displayed by members of the staff in publishing and selling the magazine on an altruistic basis."

Locations Listed Here For Mardi Gras Concession Booths

MUSIC GUILD (Pop Corn)	GAMMA PHI YPSILON (Hoop-O-Win)	THETA TAU (Cake, Orange, Grape)	CHINESE STUDENT'S CHRIS. ASSN. (Chow Mein)	PHI DELTA KOPPA (Darts & Balloons)	NEWMAN CLUB (Ball Throw or Baffles)	RAM CAM (Photo)	COSMOPOLITAN	MASONIC CLUB (Record & Yoko)	HILLEL (Cup Toss)	BLOCK S. F. (Basketball)	ZETA CHI (Snow Cones)	SKI RAM (Shooting Gal Cracker)	C.C.S.F. BAND	RESTAURANT (Hot Dogs, Coffee, Pastry)	BETA TAU (Dunking)	ALPHA LAMBDA SIGMA (Pinwheel)	BETA PHI BETA (Coke, Orange)	PHI BETA RHO (Tomato Toss)	FILIPINO CLUB (Hoop Game)	TAU CHI SIGMA	PHI BETA DELTA (French Fries)	ENGINEERING SOCIETY (Shoot Games)	TRI-E - LAMBDA CHI (Cotton Candy)	KAPPA PHI (Cig. Toss)	NATL. GUARD (Rec. Booth)	DELTA PSI (Pop Corn)	ALPHA PHI OMEGA (Darts & Balloons)	ALPHA SIGMA DELTA (Coke—Marrying Sam)	KAPPA RHO
29	28	27	26	25	24	23	22	21	20	19	18	17	16	15	14	13	12a	12	11	10	9	8	7	6	5	4	3	2	1

Make it a date . . .
- West Portal's
- Most Popular Fountain

DENNY DAIRIES
321 West Portal
Open Daily - - 8 a.m. to 1 a.m.
Delicious Ice Cream, Grilled Sandwiches and Waffles

TRAVEL-MINDED?
We handle all student tours to Europe, Mexico and the Orient
We plan . . . independent travel, too!
If travel-minded, call
The Students Travel Club
Morse-Gleason Co.
Travel Agents
323 Geary at Powell
SUtter 1-4869

COLE says . . .
"Be the man of the year with the haircut of the hour."
COLE'S BARBER SHOP
Across From West Campus

Visit World Famous . . .
"COFFEE DAN'S"
430 Mason Street
Where the celebrities meet in the wee hours.
Continuous Entertainment
11:00 p.m. to 6:00 a.m.
Ham 'n Eggs—Fried Chicken you'll never forget
Where everyone goes to top off a perfect evening of fun.
Write: COFFEE DAN'S, 430 Mason Street, for Coffee Danner's membership cards. Entitles you to a 20% professional discount.

Secretarial And Lab Jobs Are Best Bet For Summer Employment—Amori

Jobs in the industrial world will be virtually impossible to get this summer, according to Joseph Amori, placement director, but, he pointed out, there are several positions open in other fields.

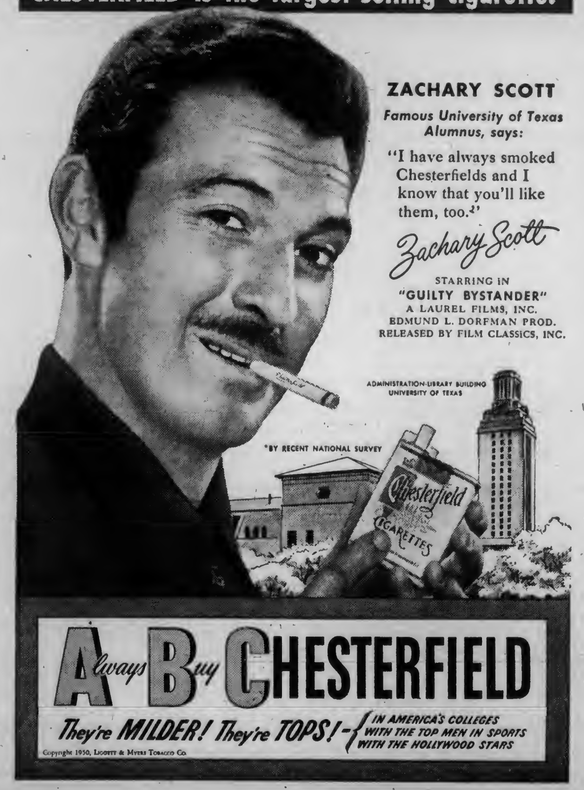
Women who have a background in chemistry may secure permanent jobs paying $250 to $335 per month. Three laboratory technicians and two lab assistants are needed; they must be 18, have had one semester in general chemistry and know the terminology, have mechanical aptitude, manual dexterity and analytical inclinations, and live in the East Bay. Good grades are essential, and applicants will be tested, Amori said.

Full time work is available for secretaries and clerk typists.

Summer jobs open to women include ushering. Attractive girls are wanted as usherettes for the Ice Follies. Starting June 5, usherettes will work from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. at 90 cents an hour.

Interested students may apply to Amori in Building 3.

Campus Police Visit Quentin



Through an invitation extended them by Warden Clinton P. Duffy, law enforecement students and instructor, Fred Fitzgerald, visited San Quentin Penitentiary yesterday morning from 9 to 11.

The trip, an impressive one in every respect, allowed the "rookies" to realize a true picture of prison life, Fitzgerald said.

Following the tour, the students discussed the day's events over barbecued steaks at the Marin Town and Country Club.

At the University of Texas and Colleges and Universities throughout the country

CHESTERFIELD is the largest-selling cigarette.*

ZACHARY SCOTT
Famous University of Texas Alumnus, says:
"I have always smoked Chesterfields and I know that you'll like them, too."
Zachary Scott
STARRING IN "GUILTY BYSTANDER"
A LAUREL FILMS, INC. PRODUCTION
EDMUND L. DORFMAN PROD.
RELEASED BY FILM CLASSICS, INC.

Always Buy CHESTERFIELD
They're MILDER! They're TOPS! IN AMERICA'S COLLEGES WITH THE TOP MEN IN SPORTS WITH THE HOLLYWOOD STARS
Copyright 1950, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

DUKE MOORE, college judo instructor leads his men in their first season of organized collegiate competition.

Ram Judo Team Takes Meet From San Jose Matmen

By Sid Russell

Duke Moore's diminutive Ju Jutsu devotees established themselves as one of, if not the finest, collegiate judo teams in the bay area on Thursday night May 11, when the college's artists sidestepped their way to victory over highly regarded San Jose State.

The meet, a four way affair, found the Rams on the desirable end of final tabulations with 5½ points San Jose State was second with 4½ markers, California, the evening's host was next with 3, while Santa Rosa Junior College collected 2 points.

Emilio Augustine (black belt), Joe Welsh and Bruno Gianoli (green belt), Pat Ross and Jim Cherry (white belt), proved to be the winning combination. The aforementioned men went through the evening's competition without defeat. Heretofore, the San Jose State Spartans were considered the "top dogs" in Northern California's collegiate circles.

Following the matches, coaches Duke Moore, Yosh Uchida (SJS), Hayes Stone (UC), Bill Buschnell (SJC) and Ernie Maramba representing the Berkeley YMCA met in a meeting to discuss the possibility of Ju Jitsu becoming a recognized college sport.

"Not only do we want to establish judo in the collegiate ranks, we are laying the groundwork for a program that will eventually find Ju Jitsu on the active rosters of the A.A.U. Should this end be attained, it is our belief that judo could, and probably would, be accepted for Olympic Game competition," Moore said.

In 14 seasons Ram grapplers have won two championships tied for third and won 60 games, lost 46 and tied 6 in scoring 1,271 points against 1,079 for their opponents.

Novice Boxing Weight Deadline Monday, May 22

Weigh-ins for the Novice Boxing Tourney, to be held Tuesday, May 23, at 3 p.m., and the finals Wednesday night at 8 p.m., will take place Monday, May 22, anytime before 3 o'clock.

As training reaches a climax today, 60 green scrappers have been working earnestly and vigorously with hopes of taking the crown in their respective divisions.

Commenting on the prospective boxers in the tourney, Roy Diederichsen, tournament director, stated, "We have the greatest crop of boxers of any tournament, all are capable of taking the championship spots, and it will be just a matter of the best condition."

The lighter weight brackets are still lacking participants and weights from 150 pounds on, are loaded with talent.

Some of the boxers entered in the tournament are as follows: 120. Bernard Regins. Don Campa; 125. Bob Sarria; Bob Addiego; 130. Carlos Alrade; 145. Gilman Jung; William Lowe, Al Larkin; 150. Dick Carillo. Dick Baker. Ray Bruner. Merril Beverence.

155. Ken Tiers, John Deasy, Frank Samsen, Don Brady 165. Harry Jones, John Spaulding, Jack McCourtney 175. Virgil Bogsen, Ron Douglass, Jim Wanger, Don Ravert, George Ives; Alan Billie, Jim Young. Heavyweight Harry Reynolds, David Henderson, Ron Jackson, Al Lindsay and Don Sherardson.

WAA Netters Split Decisions At SF State

Four Women's Athletic Association tennis players journeyed to San Francisco State last week where they met a similar group of Staters.

Results of the matches found Dodi Fambrini winning in a singles match 6-1, while Pat O'Neil lost the decision in her singles play 6-1. In doubles play Miss Fambrini and Miss O'Neil won 6-1, and Juanita Harvey and Bernita Davis lost 6-3.

The Guardsman SPORTS

Volume XXX, No. 20 FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1950 Page 4

Rams Win Championship; Face Santa Rosa In Playoffs Today

By Gene Kelty

The Ram baseball nine came from behind in the last inning of the second game in a double-header against the Modesto College Pirates at Modesto last Tuesday to win 8-6 and take the southern division championship of the NCJC Conference after losing the ten-inning opening, 16-15.

The Northern California Junior College Conference title is the stake in today's double-header with Santa Rosa College, northern division winner. Game time is 12:30 p.m. at Santa Rosa.

If a third game is necessary to determine the championship, it will be played at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow in San Francisco, diamond to be announced later, Coach Bill Fischer said.

Modesto more than lived up to its advance notices, scattering two home runs, one triple and two doubles among its twenty hits in the first game, which turned into a hitters' duel. Bill Fischer's squad spread a three-run homer by Al Nicora, a triple by Cas Munoz, and four doubles through its sixteen-hit attack.

Neither team would lie down and quit. The lead changed hands seven times before Modesto scored the winning run in the tenth when a runner stole home.

The locals almost lost the seven inning nightcap. One home run and two triples helped Modesto to a 6-5 lead going into the last inning. Then the roof caved in.

Bob Arata drew a walk. Bob Frazier, running for Arata, was sacrificed to second base. Hook Arata tripled, tying the score. Lou Williams singled, scoring Arata. Al Nicora then tripled, driving in his sixth RBI of the day. That ended the scoring, with the Rams on the long end of an 8-6 score.

Final Rounds Set For Intra Sports

Contestants of the intramural tennis, badminton and ping pong leagues are up for their fourth and championship round which will be played off within the next two weeks.

Heading the pack of the tennis singles are Bob Brown, Richard Davis and Lynn Knowles, who have competed in sizzling play for the past month.

Tennis doubles have Brown-Murphy McGuire-Larrampagne, and Merrick-Svensen up in front.

Herbert Hoo and Gus Ayers are expected to have quite a battle for the badminton singles championship next week.

Hoo is again doubled with Bill Smerle in an attempt to cop the badminton doubles championship from Bob Brown and Dick Murphy.

Ping pong singles championship will be one tough battle, with Brown, Gus Ayers, and Rene Enriquez going after top honors.

In the ping pong doubles there's Frazier - Williams, Brown - Waldlow and Stevenson-Merrick going after the championship.

All dates for the championship rounds in tennis, badminton and ping pong will be announced at a later date.

Linksmen Enter Modesto Tourney

Two days of grueling play begin today for Coach Ralph Hillsman's golfers, currently entered at Modesto's Del Rio fairways in the Northern California Medalist Tourney, and end tomorrow evening when the final scores for both the individuals and the teams will be tallied.

Last year, the Hillsmen, as individuals, clubbed their way to top position in medal scoring despite the fact that they had been understroked by San Mateo Junior College 263-264.

Prior to this, the team as a whole won the conference title, taking on all comers, including San Mateo, and finally the coveted golf cup. This season, however, sees the Mateans, headed by top greensman Fred Streble, in first place, with the cup theirs once more. City College is already assured of second-best honors.

One more game, slated in the last few days of conference play, will be run off against the San Jose Junior College linksmen.

Hillsman himself will not be present for the Modesto event, but feels confident that his team will do a retake on last year's score, banking heavily on top men Bill Fischer, Vince Hollan, Walt Stevens, Frank Hanlon, and Bob Tomlinson.

Hillsman Continues Spring Casaba Signup

Spring basketball practice stretched its feeble legs in the men's gymnasium yesterday when Coach Ralph Hillsman issued a call for candidates to fill the roster for next season's cage team.

Practice will continue for the next three weeks from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. daily, Hillsman declared.

"We are out to screen our prospective talent for next season," said Hillsman, who grabbed the Northern California Junior College Conference title in the last two years.

Yesterday's call sheet brought out [illegible] candidates.

Let Us Patronize Them

RAM BOOSTERS

I'll be worth your while to browse a while at the EL REY MEN'S SHOP A sharp & colorful line of young men's haberdashery Ties Shirts Slacks Sweaters Remember . . as always . . a 10% Discount with your Associated Student Card Opposite El Rey Theatre

Ayoob's Sport Shop Men's and Boys' Clothing Featuring Team & Club Jackets Tailored To Order Also Athletic Equipment 2598 San Bruno Ave.

Its [illegible] Boul... Johns... MISSIO... Free Instructio... 3140 Mission Stree...

Paint & Decorate Figurines Lil Audrey's Dresden Craft Free Instruction Daily Also Tues. & Thurs. eves. 1443 OCEAN AVE. DE 3-4574

A Different ICE CREAM SPECIAL Each and Every Week Daily from 7 to 3:30 Avenue Coffee Shop 1612 Ocean Avenue

TYPEWRITERS RENTED GArfield 1-6633 3 MONTHS $7.50 Free Ribbon, Carbon Paper Free Delivery Tibbs Typewriter Co. 821 Market St., San Francisco

PRICES Hand Finished Shoes For Men Featuring Arch Preserver Styles One Price 9.95 Styles that are different Wear Unexcelled 716 Market St., S. F. 1304 Broadway, Oakland

EXCELSIOR SCHOOL of DRIVING LEARN TO DRIVE IN TRAFFIC! DUAL CONTROLLED CARS Instruction not by private instructor SPECIAL RATES for classes, groups or individuals 4000 MISSION ST. AT OCEAN AVE. JUniper 4-3687

AUTO - TRUCK - FIRE Standard Form Policies at Low Costs Compare Our Rates Before You Buy C. E. PEARSON 1125 Ocean JU. 5-4478 Prompt Personal Claims Service

Gems of Art Colorful Vacation Clothes For Youngsters Playsuits - Swimming Suits Withstand hard wear and tear 1700 OCEAN AVE. JU 4-0831

JOE and BILL'S RICHFIELD STATION LUBRICATION Tires and Batteries Washing & Polishing 1298 OCEAN AVE.

The Ladies' Shop is proud to announce the Carole King Dresses For Juniors ARE OURS ALONE IN THIS CITY! 521 OCEAN AVENUE

WE DELIVER WE TELEGRAPH Cherry Flowers Florists CORSAGES — FLORAL DESIGNS WEDDINGS Juniper 4-1122 1285 Ocean Avenue San Francisco 12

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP Your haircut as You want it 1334 Ocean Avenue 2 blocks from campus

Ted's Ocean Cleaners 50c SLACKS • SHIRTS SKIRTS DRY CLEANED Corner of Ocean & Plymouth

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

1949 Member Associated Collegiate Press 1950

Volume XXX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—TUESDAY, MAY 23, 1950 NUMBER 21

Phi Rho Pi Dinner Tomorrow Honors Nine Members

A testimonial dinner honoring members of the Phi Rho Pi Forensic Society is scheduled for tomorrow evening at 6 p.m. in the college cafeteria, Michael Griffin, director of forensics, disclosed yesterday.

The dinner will be presented by the Associated Students in honor of the organization's accomplishments this semester.

During the program nine members, who have actively participated in forensics, will be awarded traditional Phi Rho Pi keys from the national chapter of the organization.

Starting off, Randy Street is to receive a diamond studded key for his showing in after dinner speaking. Highest in this field of forensics, the key is to be awarded for Street's victory at the Bakersfield meet of the organization last April.

As well as this award, Street is also receiving a turquoise or sapphire [illegible] honor in debate. Dick Schnal, [illegible]b, Irwin Phillips, Jim Ar[illegible]rmand Magid are also [illegible] keys.

[illegible] Dick Schambach [illegible] gold key for a [illegible] Marcella Lewis [illegible]ship award in [illegible] to everyone, [illegible]on sale for [illegible]

THE SAINT AND THE SINNER. Baseball Coach Bill Fischer, playing the role of an escaped convict in the faculty's extravaganza last week, wandered out between acts to catch the rest of the show. Meanwhile, Guardsman photographer Ken Hilmer, busily taking pictures of the cast on the stage, spotted Fischer standing beside student cop, Libert Meyers, and crept up within camera range of the unsuspecting pair. The result; this great human interest photo.

Honor Society To Host Scholarship Group Thursday

An annual social event, entertaining high school California Scholarship Federation members, is scheduled Thursday by Alpha Gamma Sigma honor society here, Virginia Cutler, AGS president, announced recently.

Included in the day's activities is a tour of the college. Visits will be made to the photography department, ceramics, radio production, chemistry and biological science laboratories, design, hotel and restaurant division and The Guardsman office.

A dinner will be served at 5:00 p.m. in the cafeteria. A fee of 75c is asked for the dinner.

A dance with music by dance band records will be given in the student lounge until 8:30 p.m.

Committee members in charge of the social and tour are Robert Knys, Claire DeBacker, Irene Loretto, Klaus Schaie, Pat Innes, Herbert McCall, Herbert Marvin, Richard Larrick, Shirley Smith, Rose Ranchero, and Miss Cutler.

[illegible] Hold Dance At Shalimar Club

Holiday Hula, an annual Beta Phi Beta dance, is scheduled from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday night, May 27, at the Shalimar Club "first beach on your right" 64th Avenue and Tarraval Street, Elmer Brousseau, chairman for the event, announced yesterday.

In keeping with the theme of the dance, loud Hawaiian shirts for the men, and informal sportswear for the women will be the attire of the evening, Brousseau added.

Dancing will be to the music of Charles Sterling and his orchestra; entertainment during the intermission is to be furnished by Sterling and his group.

Soft drinks will be served as refreshments. "Admission for this trip to the Islands is only $1.50 per couple," Dick Manseau, president of Beta Phi Beta, announced.

High Freshman Speech Exam Deadline Given

Second semester students who neglect to take the speech tests during the final two weeks of testing which began yesterday, May 22, will automatically be enrolled in Communication 19A, Michael Griffin, English instructor, warned yesterday.

These final weeks will be the last opportunity for high freshmen students to take the test, he added.

Tests will be given by Griffin in Room 17, Building 19, at 9 and 10 a.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and daily at 2 and 3 p.m.

Eugene Carlson Acclaimed Outstanding Actor In Othello Opening

By Georgia Watkins

Eugene Carlson, portraying the difficult role of Iago, proved to be the outstanding actor in Saturday night's opening performance of Othello.

Appearing to understand and capture the full meaning of the varied emotions the part calls for, he gave a performance that was of professional caliber.

However, the other principals gave Carlson experienced competition, particularly Mervyn Murphy in the taxing role of Othello. A slight tendency to over act was the only fault found with his interpretation and it is obvious, from the ability he showed throughout, that experience will overcome this. The scenes between Murphy and Carlson were the high spots of the play. They contrasted very well in every respect.

Vivian Breslin was a lovely Desdemona giving a capable performance despite the fact she seemed inclined to under play somewhat.

Barbara Andress's Emilia was well done. She ably ran the gamut of emotions from comedy to intense tragedy.

Ed Mulvihill was well cast in the role of Cassio but was somewhat inclined to "look" the role rather than "act" it.

Outstanding in a small role was Jack Hershon. His entrance as a slightly inebriated individual came just at the right moment and was done excellently. Hershon proved that even the smallest role if it is done correctly will be remembered and draw comment.

The complete cast, with the exception of two members, is one of the ablest yet assembled and interpreted Shakespeare's seldom done tragedy with surprising ease and confidence once they overcame opening-night nervousness.

The two exceptions mentioned are George Jackson who played Lodivico and Donald Powell who played Roderigio.

Jackson did not appear to understand or grasp the meaning of his part and in addition had a distracting habit of closing his eyes while speaking.

Powell, in an important role, was far from adequate. He parroted his lines without any apparent knowledge of the emotion called for.

Throughout the play the intensive time spent in rehearsal was obvious. This was especially noticeable in the many crowded scenes where a wrong move on the part of any one person would have completely disrupted the action and mood.

Excluding the minor criticisms mentioned, Othello without donht is the best production yet presented by the Campus Players and has proved the drama group of City College capable of portraying any play written.

The success of the play can be credited in large measure to the direction of Paul Ellison. His experience and knowledge of Shakespeare have been ably transmitted to the students.

Ellison Announces Alternating Cast For Production

Othello, which opened in the Little Theatre Saturday evening, will have some change of cast on alternate nights, Paul Ellison, drama director, announced yesterday.

The alternate casting goes as follows; Emilia—Pat Wilson on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, Barbara Andress on Tuesday and Friday; Bianco—Dawn Kidd on Tuesday, Friday and Saturday, Juanita Harvey on Wednesday and Geri Eliopolous on Thursday; Lodivico—George Jackson every day but Thursday when it will be played by Charles Price; Iago—Eugene Carlson Wednesday and Friday, Paul Ellison on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday; Roderigio—Donald Powell on Tuesday and Friday, Dick Vreeland on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday; Barbantio—Jerry Pozzi, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, William Holway on Tuesday and Friday; Officer—Kenneth Holway on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, Charles Price on Tuesday and Friday.

Ellison said that the remaining roles will be played by the same actors throughout the play's run unless otherwise announced.

College Hour Friday; Rally, Club Meets Set

An election rally is scheduled for this Friday's college hour to introduce candidates for Fall Associated Student government positions, James Potter, election commissioner, said yesterday.

Potter will preside, only presidential candidates are scheduled to present campaign speeches.

Club meetings are also scheduled for the college hour which is from 10:40 to 11:20 a.m., Louis Batmale, dean of student activities, said yesterday.

CAB Nominates New Officers At Meet Tomorrow

Nominations for Club Activities Board officers are scheduled at the CAB meeting tomorrow in Room 9K at 3 p.m., Stan Fletcher, CAB president, declared last week.

The manner of nominating will follow the generally accepted plan of nominations from the floor and a second. The officers must be members of the CAB and the Associated Students.

"The meeting is strictly for nominations and no voting will be done," Fletcher said. The elections will take place at the following CAB meeting so as to give the representatives a chance to acquaint themselves with the candidates.

Fletcher said that the CAB by-laws, accepted May 10 by the CAB, have been presented to the Student Council for final approval. The by-laws were referred to a committee in the Student Council. The laws, outlined recently by Reggie Cummings, include sections of importance to new and established clubs on campus, Fletcher added.

The last meeting of the CAB will be held on campus election day, May 31.

Student Concert Here Tomorrow

An all student concert, featuring original compositions as well as student talent, will be given in the auditorium tomorrow at 12 noon, the concert committee chairman, Conrad Dorn, announced recently.

Auditions already held brought out the following talent that will comprise the major part of the concert: A brass quintet composed of Herb Dumont, Duane McGibbens, Walter Gough, Jim Turner, and Conrad Dorn; a piano solo by Janet Masters; a clarinet solo by Jesse Mangle; an oboe solo by Patty Patterson; and a trio consisting of orchestra director Meyer Cahn at the piano, Carlos Carvajal on cello and Eugenia Psaltis at the violin.

The concert committee consists of music students, Miss Patterson, Bob Wilmer, Gough, Bob Tyson, and Dorn as chairman. Admission is free.

AS Government Campaigns Open Officially Today

BULLETIN!

With the extension of the deadline for submitting petitions to run for Associated Student offices, requested by the unanimous consent of the election committee, and officially approved by Dean of Student Activities Louis Batmale, the Affiliated Students Party announced the candidacy of Jerry Pozzi for Sophomore President, and Esther Lee Smith and Charles Price for Freshman council offices.

Batmale officially approved a college hour for Thursday, June 1 to give students a more adequate opportunity to cast their ballots.

Preparations for the election rally this Friday are being completed this week, James Potter, election commissioner said.

By Bob Rezak

The race for Associated Student offices was on today as the active election campaign officially got underway.

Election Commissioner James L. Potter released the list of candidates yesterday.

Petitions from various candidates poured into election headquarters in Building 2 late Thursday afternoon. Potter extended the deadline an additional 24 hours to give both parties extra time to complete their tickets.

Tom Dill is the presidential candidate for the Fraternity Party, and William Thomas will oppose him on the Affiliated Students ticket.

The following is the complete list of candidates running on the Fraternity Party ticket:

Vice-President, Beverley Jank; Associated Women Student President, Jackqueline Lahtheume; Sophomore President, Peter Larrieg; Freshman President, Douglas Smith; Yell Leader, Charles Barger.

Sophomore Council: Peter Chevrier (incumbent), Peter Gentile (incumbent), Edward Mulvihill, Joyce Nelson, Gene Richards, Marvin Sharpe, and Ernest B. Smith.

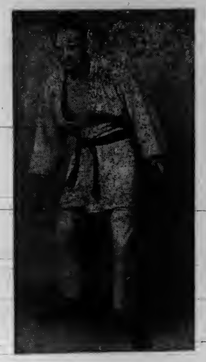
Freshman Council: Charles G. Liebscher, Robert Marzeres, Duane McKibbon, Sidney Mumford, Maurice J. O'Brien, Allan Sebanc, and Richard Schambach.

This is a total of 20 candidates.

The Affiliated Students narrowed their ticket by nominating 14 candidates. They are as follows:

Freshman President, Ronald Zimmerman; Sophomore Council, Joseph Azzolino, Rodney DeChristoforo, Edward Douglas, Alfred Marchesi, Virginia McCarthy, Charles Meyerson, and Gene Wilkinson.

Freshman Council: Robert Bailey, Claire DeBacker, Douglas Hayward, Leonard Rodney, and Richard Schnel.



Both parties are supporting Ralph Vetterlein as Associated Men Student President.

Two sophomore council candidates are running independent. They are Patricia Innes and Klaus W. Schaie.

Potter revealed that ten amendments to the AS Constitution have been proposed and will be placed on the ballot after they are approved by the Student Council today.

The Guardsman
SPORTS

Volume XXX, No. 20 — FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1950 — Page 4

DUKE MOORE, college judo instructor, leads his men in their first season of organized collegiate competition.

Ram Judo Team Takes Meet From San Jose Matmen

By Sid Russell

Duke Moore's diminutive Ju Jitsu devotees established themselves as one of, if not the finest, collegiate judo teams in the bay area on Thursday night, May 11, when the college's artists dabbled their way to victory over highly regarded San Jose State.

The meet, a four way affair, found the Rams on the desirable end of final tabulations with 5½ points. San Jose State was second with 4½ markers; California, the evening's host, was next with 3, while Santa Rosa Junior College collected 2 points.

Emilio Augustine (black belt), Joe Welsh and Bruno Gianoli (green belt), Pat Ross and Jim Cherry (white belt), proved to be the winning combination. The aforementioned men went through the evening's competition without defeat. Heretofore, the San Jose State Spartans were considered the "top dogs" in Northern California's collegiate circles.

Following the matches, coaches Duke Moore, Yosh Uchida (SJS), Henry Stone (UC), H. Busehnell (SRJC), and Ernie Mariano, representing the Berkeley Y.M.C.A., held a meeting to discuss the possibility of Ju Jitsu becoming a recognized college sport.

"Not only do we want to establish judo in the collegiate ranks, we are laying the groundwork for a program that will eventually find Ju Jitsu on the active rosters of the A.A.U. Should this end be attained, it is our belief that judo could, and probably would, be accepted for Olympic Game competition," Moore said.

In 14 seasons Ram gridders have won two championships, tied for third and won 60 games, lost 46, and tied 6 in scoring 1,271 points against 1,097 for their opponents.

Novice Boxing Weight Deadline Monday, May 22

Weigh-ins for the Novice Boxing Tourney, to be held Tuesday, May 23, at 3 p.m., and the finals Wednesday night at 8 p.m., will take place Monday, May 22, anytime before 3 o'clock.

As training reaches a climax today, 60 green scrappers have been working earnestly and vigorously with hopes of taking the crown in their respective divisions.

Commenting on the prospective boxers in the tourney, Roy Diederlehsen, tournament director, stated, "We have the greatest crop of boxers of any tournament. All are capable of taking the championship spots, and it will be just a matter of the best condition."

The lighter weight brackets are still lacking participants and weights from 150 pounds on, are loaded with talent.

Some of the boxers entered in the tournament are as follows: 120, Bernard Regins, Don Campa; 125, Bob Sarria, Bob Addiego; 130, Carlos Alzade; 145, Gilman Jung, William Lowe, Al Larkin; 150, Dick Carillo, Dick Baker, Ray Bruner, Merril Beverence.

155, Ken Tiers, John Deasy, Frank Samson, Don Brady; 165, Harry Jones, John Spaulding, Jack McCourtney; 175, Virgil Bogdon, Ron Douglas, Jim Winger, Don Ravetti, George Ives, Alan Billie, Jim Young; Heavyweight, Harry Reynolds, David Henderson, Ron Jaekson, Al Ludwig, and Don Sherardson.

WAA Netters Split Decisions At SF State

Four Women's Athletic Association tennis players journeyed to San Francisco State last week where they met a similar group of Staters.

Results of the matches found Dodi Fambrini winning in a singles match 6-1, while Pat O'Neil lost the decision in her singles play 6-1. In doubles play Miss Fambrini and Miss O'Neil won 6-1, and Juanita Harvey and Bernita Davis lost 6-3.

Rams Win Championship; Face Santa Rosa In Playoffs Today

By Gene Kelly

The Ram baseball nine came from behind in the last inning of the second game in a double-header against the Modesto College Pirates at Modesto last Tuesday to win 8-6 and take the southern division championship of the NCJC Conference after losing the ten-inning opening, 16-15.

The Northern California Junior College Conference title is the stake in today's double-header with Santa Rosa College, northern division winner. Game time is 12:30 p.m. at Santa Rosa.

If a third game is necessary to determine the championship, it will be played at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow in San Francisco, diamond to be announced later, Coach Bill Fischer said.

Modesto more than lived up to its advance notices, scattering two home runs, one triple and two doubles among its twenty hits in the first game, which turned into a hitters' duel. Bill Fischer's squad spread a three-run homer by Al Nieora, a triple by Cas Munoz, and four doubles through its sixteen-hit attack.

Neither team would lie down and quit. The lead changed hands seven times before Modesto scored the winning run in the tenth when a runner stole home.

The locals almost lost the seven inning nightcap. One home run and two triples helped Modesto to a 6-5 lead going into the last inning. Then the roof caved in.

Bob Arata drew a walk. Bob Frazier, running for Arata, was sacrificed to second base. Hook Arata tripled, tying the score. Lou Williams singled, scoring Arata. Al Nieora then tripled, driving in his sixth RBI of the day. That ended the scoring, with the Rams on the long end of an 8-6 score.

Final Rounds Set For Intra Sports

Contestants of the intramural tennis, badminton and ping pong leagues are up for their fourth and championship round which will be played off within the next two weeks.

Heading the pack of the tennis singles are Bob Brown, Richard Davis and Lynn Knowles, who have competed in sizzling play for the past month.

Tennis doubles have Brown-Murphy, McGuire-Largampagne, and Merrich-Stevenson up in front.

Herbert Hoo and Gus Ayers are expected to have quite a battle for the badminton singles championship next week.

Hoo is again doubled with Bill Smerle in an attempt to cop the badminton doubles championship from Bob Brown and Diek Murphy.

Ping pong singles championship will be one tough battle, with Brown, Gus Ayers, and Rene Enisquz going after top honors.

In the ping pong doubles there's Frazier - Williams, Brown - Waldlow and Stevenson-Merrich going after the championship.

All dates for the championship rounds in tennis, badminton and ping pong will be announced at a later date.

Linksmen Enter Modesto Tourney

Two days of grueling play begin today for Coach Ralph Hillsman's golfers, currently entered at Modesto's Del Rio fairways in the Northern California Medalist Tourney, and end tomorrow evening when the final scores for both the individuals and the teams will be tallied.

Last year, the Hillsmen, as individuals, clubbed their way to top position in medal scoring despite the fact that they had been understroked by San Mateo Junior College 263-264.

Prior to this, the team as a whole won the conference title, taking on all comers, including San Mateo, and finally the coveted golf cup. This season, however, sees the Mateans, headed by top greensman Fred Streble, in first place, with the cup theirs once more. City College is already assured of second-best honors.

One more game, slated in the last few days of conference play, will be run off against the San Jose Junior College linksmen.

Hillsman himself will not be present for the Modesto event, but feels confident that his team will do a retake on last year's score, banking heavily on top men Bill Fischer, Vince Holian, Walt Stevens, Frank Hanlon, and Bob Tomlinson.

Hillsman Continues Spring-Casaba Signup

Spring basketball practice stretched its feeble legs in the men's gymnasium yesterday when Coach Ralph Hillsman issued a call for candidates to fill the roster for next season's cage team.

Practice will continue for the next three weeks from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. daily, Hillsman declared.

"We are out to screen the field of our prospective talent for next season," said Hillsman, whose cagers grabbed the Northern California Junior College Conference title for the last two years.

Yesterday the hoopsters signed the roll sheet and indulged in light workouts. Berths for varsity and junior varsity players will be made during the three week period.

Hillsman, besides coneching a winning golf team this semester, has put a great deal of effort into preparing a schedule for the prospective eagers and the team for next season.

Let Us Patronize Them — RAM BOOSTERS — They Patronize Us

It'll be worth your while to browse a while; at the
EL REY MEN'S SHOP
A sharp & colorful line of young men's haberdashery
Ties
Shirts
Slacks
Sweaters
Remember . . . as always . . . a
10% Discount
with your
Associated Student Card
Opposite El Rey Theatre

A. Walton McMurray

Ayoob's Sport Shop
Men's and Boys' Clothing
Featuring
Team & Club Jackets Tailored To Order
Also Athletic Equipment
2598 San Bruno Ave.

Its a Strike! X
Bowl . . .
Johnny Swanson's
MISSION BOWL
Free Instruction Daily
3140 Mission Street

PRICES
Hand Finished Shoes For Men
Featuring Price's Patented Styles

ONE PRICE 9.95 ALL STYLES
Styles that are different
Wear Unexcelled
718 Market St., S. F.
1304 Broadway, Oakland

Paint & Decorate Figurines
Lil Audrey's
Dresden Craft
Free Instruction Daily
Also Tues. & Thurs. eves.
1443 OCEAN AVE. DE 3-4574

A Different
ICE CREAM SPECIAL
Each and Every Week
Daily from 7 to 3:30
Avenue Coffee Shop
1612 Ocean Avenue

TYPEWRITERS RENTED
GArfield 1-6633
3 MONTHS $7.50
Free Ribbon, Carbon Paper
Free Delivery
Tibbs Typewriter Co.
821 Market St., San Francisco

EXCELSIOR SCHOOL of DRIVING
LEARN TO DRIVE IN TRAFFIC!
— DUAL CONTROLLED CARS
We prepare you for driver's examination
SPECIAL RATES
for students, payable in installments
4666 MISSION ST. AT OCEAN AVE.
JUniper 4-3687

AUTO - TRUCK - FIRE
Standard Form Policies
at Low Costs
Compare Our Rates
Before You Buy
C. E. PEARSON
1125 Ocean
JU. 5-4478
Prompt Personal Claims Service

Gems of Art
Colorful Vacation Clothes For Youngsters
Playsuits - Swimming Suits
Withstand hard wear and tear
1700 OCEAN AVE. JU 4-0831

JOE and BILL'S
RICHFIELD STATION
LUBRICATION
Tires and Batteries
Washing & Polishing
1298 OCEAN AVE.

The Ladies' Shop
is proud to announce that
Carole King
Dresses For Juniors
ARE OURS ALONE
IN THIS CITY!
1532 OCEAN AVENUE

WE AIR EXPRESS
WE DELIVER — WE TELEGRAPH
Chain of Flowers
Florists
CORSAGES — FLORAL DESIGNS
WEDDINGS
JUniper 4-9038 — 1805 Ocean Avenue — San Francisco 12

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP
Your haircut
as
You want it
1334 Ocean Avenue
2 blocks from campus

Ted's
Ocean Cleaners
50c
SLACKS • SHIRTS
SKIRTS
DRY CLEANED
Corner of Ocean & Plymouth

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

1949 Member Associated Collegiate Press 1950

Volume XXX — SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—TUESDAY, MAY 23, 1950 — NUMBER 21

Phi Rho Pi Dinner Tomorrow Honors Nine Members

A testimonial dinner honoring members of the Phi Rho Pi Forensic Society is scheduled for tomorrow evening at 6 p.m. in the college cafeteria, Michael Griffin, director of forensics, disclosed yesterday.

The dinner will be presented by the Associated Students in honor of the organization's accomplishments this semester.

During the program nine members, who have actively participated in forensics, will be awarded traditional Phi Rho Pi keys from the national chapter of the organization.

Starting off, Randy Street is to receive a diamond studded key for his showing in after dinner speaking. Highest in this field of forensies, the key is to be awarded for Street's victory at the Bakersfield meet of the organization last April.

As well as this award, Street is also receiving a turquoise or sapphire key for honor in debate. Diek Sehnal, Joe Schwab, Irwin Phillips, Jim Anderson, and Armand Magid are also in line for debate keys.

Paul Peterson and Diek Schambach are being awarded a gold key for a fellowship in debate. Marecila Lewis won for herself a fellowship award in oratory.

The dinner is open to everyone, Griffin said. Tickets are on sale for $2.50.

THE SAINT AND THE SINNER. Baseball Coach Bill Fischer, playing the role of an escaped convict in the faculty's extravaganza last week, wandered out between acts to catch the rest of the show. Meanwhile, Guardsman photographer Ken Hilmer, busily taking pictures of the cast on the stage, spotted Fischer standing beside student cop, Libert Meyers, and crept up within camera range of the unsuspecting pair. The result: this great human interest photo.

Luckmann Asks Graduation Cards

Eligible candidates for graduation who have filed graduation petitions have been sent postal cards containing complete information concerning the commencement ceremonies, to be held at the Civie Opera House on Friday, June 16 at 8 p.m., Lloyd Luckmann, dean of university parallel courses, announced yesterday.

"It is urgent that all candidates return these cards as soon as possible, indicating whether or not they plan to be present at the commencement ceremonies," Luckmann added.

Betas Hold Dance At Shalimar Club

Holiday Hula, an annual Beta Phi Beta dance, is scheduled from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday night, May 27, at the Shalimar Club "first beach on your right" 64th Avenue and Tarraval Street. Elmer Brousseau, chairman for the event, announced yesterday.

In keeping with the theme of the dance, loud Hawaiian shirts for the men, and informal sportswear for the women will be the attire of the evening, Brousseau added.

Dancing will be to the music of Charles Sterling and his orchestra; entertainment during the intermission is to be furnished by Sterling and his group.

Soft drinks will be served as refreshments. "Admission for this trip to the Islands is only $1.50 per couple," Diek Manseau, president of Beta Phi Beta, announced.

High Freshman Speech Exam Deadline Given

Second semester students who neglect to take the speech tests during the final two weeks of testing which began yesterday, May 22, will automatically be enrolled in Communication 19A, Michael Griffin, English instructor, warned yesterday.

These final weeks will be the last opportunity for high freshmen students to take the test, he added.

Tests will be given by Griffin in Room 17, Building 19, at 9 and 10 a.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and daily at 2 and 3 p.m.

Honor Society To Host Scholarship Group Thursday

An annual social event, entertaining high school California Scholarship Federation members, is scheduled Thursday by Alpha Gamma Sigma honor society here, Virginia Cutler, AGS president, announced recently.

Included in the day's activities is a tour of the college. Visits will be made to the photography department, ceramics, radio production, chemistry and biological science laboratories, design, hotel and restaurant division and The Guardsman office.

A dinner will be served at 5:00 p.m. in the cafeteria. A fee of 75c is asked for the dinner.

A dance with music by dance band records will be given in the student lounge until 8:30 p.m.

Committee members in charge of the social and tour are Robert Kays, Claire DeBaeker, Irene Loretto, Klaus Schaie, Pat Innes, Herbert McCall, Herbert Marvin, Richard Larrick, Shirley Smith, Rose Ranehero, and Miss Cutler.

Ellison Announces Alternating Cast For Production

Othello, which opened in the Little Theatre Saturday evening, will have some change of cast on alternate nights, Paul Ellison, drama director, announced yesterday.

The alternate casting goes as follows: Emilia—Pat Wilson on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, Barbara Andress on Tuesday and Friday; Bianco—Dawn Kidd on Tuesday, Friday and Saturday, Juanita Harvey on Wednesday and Geri Eliopolous on Thursday; Lodivico—George Jackson every day but Thursday when it will be played by Charles Price; Iago—Eugene Carlson Wednesday and Friday, Paul Ellison on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday; Roderigio—Donald Powell on Tuesday and Friday, Diek Vreeland on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday; Barbantio—Jerry Pozzi, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, William Holway on Tuesday and Friday; Officer—Kenneth Holway on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, Charles Price on Tuesday and Friday.

Ellison said that the remaining roles will be played by the same actors throughout the play's run unless otherwise announced.

College Hour Friday; Rally, Club Meets Set

An election rally is scheduled for this Friday's college hour to introduce candidates for Fall Associated Student government positions, James Potter, election commissioner, said yesterday.

Potter will preside, only presidential candidates are scheduled to present campaign speeches.

Club meetings are also scheduled for the college hour which is from 10:40 to 11:20 a.m., Louis Batmale, dean of student activities, said yesterday.

CAB Nominates New Officers At Meet Tomorrow

Nominations for Club Activities Board officers are scheduled at the CAB meeting tomorrow in Room 9K at 3 p.m., Stan Fletcher, CAB president, declared last week.

The manner of nominating will follow the generally accepted plan of nominations from the floor and a second. The officers must be members of the CAB and the Associated Students.

"The meeting is strictly for nominations and no voting will be done," Fletcher said. The elections will take place at the following CAB meeting so as to give the representatives a chance to acquaint themselves with the candidates.

Fletcher said that the CAB by-laws, accepted May 10 by the CAB, have been presented to the Student Council for final approval. The by-laws were referred to a committee in the Student Council. The laws, outlined recently by Reggie Cummings, include sections of importance to new and established clubs on campus, Fletcher added.

The last meeting of the CAB will be held on campus election day, May 31.

Student Concert Here Tomorrow

An all student concert, featuring original compositions as well as student talent, will be given in the auditorium tomorrow at 12 noon, the concert committee chairman, Conrad Dorn, announced recently.

Auditions already held brought out the following talent that will comprise the major part of the concert: A brass quintet composed of Herb Dumont, Duane McGibbens, Walter Gough, Jim Turner, and Conrad Dorn; a piano solo by Janet Masters; a clarinet solo by Jesse Mangle; an oboe solo by Patty Patterson; and a trio consisting of orchestra director Meyer Cahn at the piano, Carlos Carvajal on cello, and Eugenia Psaltis at the violin.

The concert committee consists of music students, Miss Patterson, Bob Wilmer, Gough, Bob Tyson, and Dorn as chairman. Admission is free.

AS Government Campaigns Open Officially Today

BULLETIN!

With the extension of the deadline for submitting petitions to run for Associated Student offices, requested by the unanimous consent of the election committee, and officially approved by Dean of Student Activities Louis Batmale, the Affiliated Students Party announced the candidacy of Jerry Pozzi for Sophomore President, and Esther Lee Smith and Charles Price for Freshman council offices.

Batmale officially approved a college hour for Thursday, June 1 to give students a more adequate opportunity to cast their ballots.

Preparations for the election rally this Friday are being completed this week, James Potter, election commissioner said.

By Bob Rezak

The race for Associated Student offices was on today as the active election campaign officially got underway.

Election Commissioner James L. Potter released the list of candidates yesterday.

Petitions from various candidates poured into election headquarters in Building 2 late Thursday afternoon. Potter extended the deadline on additional 24 hours to give both parties extra time to complete their tickets.

Tom Dill is the presidential candidate for the Fraternity Party, and William Thomas will oppose him on the Affiliated Students ticket.

The following is the complete list of candidates running on the Fraternity Party ticket:

Vice-President, Beverley Jank; Associated Women Student President, Jaekqueline Lahtheune; Sophomore President, Peter Larrieg; Freshman President, Douglas Smith; Yell Leader, Charles Barger.

Sophomore Council: Peter Chevrier (incumbent), Peter Gentile (incumbent), Edward Mulvihill, Joyce Nelson, Gene Richards, Marvin Sharpe, and Ernest B. Smith.

Freshman Council: Charles G. Liebscher, Robert Marzeres, Duane McKibbon, Sidney Mumford, Maurice J. O'Brien, Allan Sebanc, and Richard Schambach.

This is a total of 20 candidates.

The Affiliated Students narrowed their ticket by nominating 14 candidates. They are as follows:

Freshman President, Ronald Zimmerman; Sophomore Council, Joseph Azzolino, Rodney DeChristoforo, Edward Douglas, Alfred Marchesi, Virginia McCarthy, Charles Meyerson, and Gene Wilkinson.

Freshman Council: Robert Bailey, Claire DeBacker, Douglas Hayward, Leonard Rodney, and Richard Schnel.

Both parties are supporting Ralph Vetterlein as Associated Men Student President.

Two sophomore council candidates are running independent. They are Patricia Innes and Klaus W. Schaje.

Potter revealed that ten amendments to the AS Constitution have been proposed and will be placed on the ballot after they are approved by the Student Council today.

Eugene Carlson Acclaimed Outstanding Actor In Othello Opening

By Georgia Watkins

Eugene Carlson, portraying the difficult role of Iago, proved to be the outstanding actor in Saturday night's opening performance of Othello.

Appearing to understand and capture the full meaning of the varied emotions the part calls for, he gave a performance that was of professional caliber.

However, the other principals gave Carlson experienced competition, particularly Mervyn Murphy in the taxing role of Othello. A slight tendency to over act was the only fault found with his interpretation and it is obvious, from the ability he showed throughout, that experience will overcome this. The scenes between Murphy and Carlson were the high spots of the play. They contrasted very well in every respect.

Vivian Breslin was a lovely Desdemona giving a capable performance despite the fact she seemed inclined to under play somewhat.

Barbara Andress's Emilia was well done. She ably ran the gamut of emotions from comedy to intense tragedy.

Ed Mulvihill was well cast in the role of Cassio but was somewhat inclined to "look" the role rather than "act" it.

Outstanding in a small role was Jack Hershon. His entrance as a slightly inebriated individual came just at the right moment and was done excellently. Hershon proved that even the smallest role if it is done correctly will be remembered and, draw comment.

The complete cast, with the exception of two members, is one of the ablest yet assembled and interpreted Shakespeare's seldom done tragedy with surprising ease and confidence once they overcame opening-night nervousness.

The two exceptions mentioned are George Jackson who played Lodivico and Donald Powell who played Roderigio.

Jackson did not appear to understand or grasp the meaning of his part and in addition had a distracting habit of closing his eyes while speaking.

Powell, in an important role, was far from adequate. He parroted his lines without any apparent knowledge of the emotion called for.

Throughout the play the intensive time spent in rehearsal was obvious. This was especially noticeable in the many crowded scenes where a wrong move on the part of any one person would have completely disrupted the action and mood.

Excluding the minor criticisms mentioned, Othello without doubt is the best production yet presented by the Campus Players and has proved the drama group of City College capable of portraying any play written.

The success of the play can be credited in large measure to the direction of Paul Ellison. His experience and knowledge of Shakespeare have been ably transmitted to the students.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

WE talked briefly, a few days ago, to Dr. Ikkaku Matsuzawa, member of the Tokyo Board of Education. Dr. Matsuzawa, who returned to his homeland the 15th of this month, came to the United States in mid-February accompanied by 25 Japanese educators.

After arriving in San Francisco, the group went immediately to Washington, D. C., where they split up, each with his own itinerary. Their purpose was to hit every major city in the country and make a comprehensive study of our educational techniques.

NEW YORK TO S. F.

Dr. Matsuzawa's own list led him from New York through most of the major eastern cities, westward to Chicago, Los Angeles, and back to San Francisco. The Tokyo Board of Education, he related, has jurisdiction over some 700 public schools and 450 private schools (population of Tokyo as of last Autumn was 6,050,000).

Incidentally, Dr. Matsuzawa was coach of the Japanese Olympic swimming teams in 1932 and '36, when they cleaned up in virtually every event they were entered in.

NOTES ON PEOPLE

Did you catch Norm Reger, AMS president and Mardi Gras committee chairman, on Don Pitts' Rumpus Room broadcast over KYA? He gave the Bay Area residents the low-down on the Mardi Gras. Then last Wednesday he popped up on Del Courtney's TV show . . . and how about a word or two on art instructor William Eckert, who has an exhibit of 18 oils at the Press Club. They range from abstractions to representational . . . and Don Briese, formerly of The Gadsman staff, is now advertising manager for Enterprise Engine & Foundry Company . . . and Jerry Flamm, another ex-Guardsman who's now a publicity man for Pan-American in Miami . . . and Lottie Jeane Smith (now Mrs. Don Woodward), who was news editor here in '44 (also Soph Queen and candidate for Associated Student President) . . . and lastly but not leastly, Jim Jensen, former track coach here who now holds down the same job at Cal Poly. He owns a hoss ranch too, regular country squire.

WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE

It was with great satisfaction that we learned that USF has finally granted women suffrage in their student elections. That's what we call moving forward with the times.

Did it ever occur to anyone that .0000433 per cent of the population of the United States attends City College of San Francisco? Of course, that's based on the last census. Heaven only knows what it'll be after this one.

Feminine Viewpoint

Play Supplements Work

By Bobbie Jackson

MOST women attend college with the aim of obtaining a higher education, either through the terminal courses or preparation for a university, yet social life plays a major role in the average co-ed's college days.

Whether the need for relaxation and fun comes during the breaks between classes, or on evening and weekends, on usually looks to the college for a portion of this recreation.

The three main sources for killing time between classes are the college fountain, the student store, or places where one can study.

Co-eds in the fountain usually sit around in groups and talk and drink coffee, while inhabitants of the bookstore pass the hours by engaging in various card games. Bridge pedro and pinochle are the current reigning games in the bookstore.

On the other hand, if one is a frequent patron of the above mentioned places, little studying is done, and there comes a time in every student's life when one has to hit the books.

Thus a retreat to the library or the student lounge is called for, where peace and quiet allow students to read and write without interruption.

Looking to the activities of the college and the Associated Students, one finds that dances head the list. Most women enjoy dances more than the men do, thus it is their wants that these activities satisfy. There are, on the average, about 10 to 12 dances per semester, including those sponsored by the Associated Students, those given by individual organizations, and, of course, the outdoor dance connected with the Mardi Gras.

With athletic events, club meetings, special interest courses, and other college activities, students can supplement work with play to round out college life to the fullest extent.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, No. 21 TUESDAY, MAY 23, 1950 Page 2

Candidates Must See Election Commissioner For Poster Okay

THIS being Tuesday, May 23, and the official day for the Associated Student election campaigns to get underway, we would like to point out a few pertinent factors that enter into the electioneering.

First, in order to facilitate the election system, all posters, handbills, and various other campaign stunts must be approved by the election commissioner.

In the past semesters the Chairman of the Publications Board handled and approved all of the election posters. Under the constitution of the Associated Students the chairman is the Editor of The Guardsman.

However, in order to expedite and centralize the election matters, the Publications Board, by a two-thirds vote, decided to delegate its powers to the election commissioner. This action was duly approved by the Student Council which saw the necessity of centralization.

Although election posters were allowed to be posted yesterday, they must be approved by the election commissioner or the dean of student activities. However, all other posters to be placed on the west campus other than election posters must still be approved by the Publications Board.

BY the same token, The Guardsman has absolutely nothing to do with any phony publications that may be passed around during the campaign period and bearing variations of this newspaper's nameplate.

It has happened twice in the history of the college, once during our stay here, that bogus and counterfeit sheets were distributed in the form and style of The Guardsman. These phonies bore only slight changes in typography and masthead. Yet they were distributed.

Any moves to this effect will have to be made by individuals and not by this publication.

Therefore we will remain impartial throughout it all. We maintain this status without hindering our freedom of the press ideals. The reasons for this are obvious.

Furthermore, the reports on the progress of the elections that will appear on the news pages will be without slanting, coloring, and neither pro nor con. Newswriters, when reporting, take no sides. They report the news as it happens to the population.

We cannot emphasize this point enough. And it is an important point.

Take It From Kays

The Bell Tolls For The Sophs

IT is getting close to that time of year again. Spring has sprung, the birds is sung, and soon the last class bell will have rung. It all adds up to commencement. The freshmen will fidget in their seats and crunch peanuts while the graduating sophs, some flippant, some somber, trudge down the aisle to the halting refrains of da dum de da da——

The freshmen in the audience may gaze forlornly at some of the black robed figures and ask themselves how in h--- they ever passed enough courses to claim a degree, but then freshmen have always said that . . . 'til it became their turn.

After the slow procession has reached the stage, and the restless freshmen are already on the verge of exasperation, they are held in their seats for another hour or two while the valedictorians fire away.

GOLDEN ADVICE

Did you ever entertain the idea of listening to a few dozen of these speeches, copying down the words of golden advice, and publishing them so that future generations of undergraduates could read the little book and so preview commencement speeches from then on?

If you had planned on making your claim to fame by this device, forget it. It has already been done (300 years ago in fact) by a Spanish Jesuit named Baltasar Gracian.

In looking over his little book we came across the familiar "Avoid victories over superiors." Don't you wish you had remembered that little gem when you showed up that English prof in front of the class, and his retaliatory knife in the back was in the form of a big red "F"?

Another familiar one is "Cultivate those who can teach you, do not waste time with those who know less than you." This sounds all right, but it makes for an awfully lonely existence. After all, a person has to have a few friends.

BLIND DATE BEAUTY?

"Never have a companion who casts you in the shade," he says. In this day and age, this is directed only to the male population. The women have abided by it for a long time. Did you ever see a cute chick bring along another cute chick on a blind date? Hah!

"Finish off well, attach more importance to a graceful exit than to applause on entrance." This one makes sense to us, in fact it was twisted around by George M. Cohan some years later into his famous "always leave them laughing."

Inasmuch as we are running out of space we will stop tossing around our little gems of wisdom now, and leave you with a word of parting advice: "Put a little water on the comb."

Student Of Distinction: "Othello" Latest Play For Actor Carlson

By Don Cunningham

The young gentleman, pictured at right, caught in the act of disposing of an adversary in the College Players' current production of Shakespeare's Othello, is the very talented campus thespian, Gene Carlson.

Carlson, a speech and drama major, has been entrusted with the important role of Iago in the presentation of the Shakespearean drama which began its run last Saturday night.

The characterization of Iago, although the second male lead in Othello, is the third longest part in Shakespeare's works. The part requires of the actor an abundance of experience and "stage know-how," of which Carlson, who has appeared before in the Bard of Avon's plays, can rightly boast.

In his four semesters of college drama participation, Carlson appeared in a number of well-established drama presentations. Among those in which Carlson was in evidence were the famous Male Animal, Admirable Chrichton, and the witty Bernard Shaw classic You Never Can Tell.

Carlson who also has proved his versatility in roles for the San Francisco Players Club, plans to carry on his acting career at Stanford.

Reading Course Boosts Slow Student To Act V.

DESIGNED IN part to help those students doing college level work who tarry too long in Act II while the rest of the class hastens on through Act V, a new reading course has been offered this semester.

Though this is its first appearance on the college curriculum, similar courses have been successful in colleges throughout the country, according to Grace Brown, college English instructor. The course is designed for students taking upper level courses who find themselves handicapped by inefficient reading.

Both students and counsellors have been requesting a course for special work in reading for some length of time, Mrs. Brown revealed.

She stressed that a deficiency in reading skill has little to do with native intelligence. Principal causes of poor reading are analyzed during the weekly meetings on Tuesdays at 12 o'clock.

Though the one-unit general college course is now limited to 20 students, it is hoped, Mrs. Brown said, that the classes will be expanded next semester with each class limited to 15 students and meeting twice a week.

* * *

APPROXIMATELY eleven hundred students from Contra Costa and Alameda counties cross the San Francisco Bay Bridge five days a week to attend this college, according to figures released today by the Registrar.

The students who are not lucky enough to journey by automobile must take a train, streetcar, transfer in the middle of a tunnel, take an elevator to the top of twin peaks and then a bus to the college.

Many students would be unable to have this "higher degree" if it were not made possible by state and county taxpayers. City College rates among the ten top junior colleges in the United States, of which six are in California.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ——— WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ——— Rose Hardie
STAFF EDITORS ——— Cy Donaldson, William Thomas

NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Ave, Larry Bales, David Brewer, Graceme Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, George Eberl, Barbara Egnan, Tee Gould, Ray Harvey, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kanaya, Richard Larrick, Henri Leule, Herb Manzik, Warren Northwood, Bob Regas, Elaine Stromp, Jack Vanderbilt, Georgia Watkins, Felton White, Ralph Wiesner, Eva Williams, Bernice Davis, Doug Haywood, Filia Monroe.

EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcomb
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Kaye, Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, assistant; Jack Goldberg, Bob Lee, John Dunlap, Sid Russell.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandra Marks, Dolores Aguirre Assistants.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Steinheimer, Shirley Markham, Fred Mathes, Lenita Hall, Hank Weeks, Dick Stewart, Dick Lee, Kay Wood.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz, Mary Anne Quattrocchi
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normanly, Terry George, Harry Parrelchen, Bob Breton.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Adviser ——— Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ——— Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
481 Market Street San Francisco 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . With Paul Cooper

Clubs Return To Normal After Mardi Gras Hustle-Bustle

Now that the hustle and bustle of the Mardi Gras is over and done with for another year, campus club life has settled down to normalcy, so let's get into the latest of the club capers.

A picnic was held between the Delta Psi's and the Tri E's last Sunday at Adobe Creek and all the members thoroughly enjoyed themselves at the beautiful spot along the peninsula. The Delta Psi's also have a joint meeting on tap tonight with the Beta Tau's at the home of Bobbie Bartlett.

Not to be outdone by the two aforementioned, fraternities, the Gamma Phi Ypsilon's held a social with the Delta Psi's last Wednesday, May 17. Members of the two social organizations enjoyed themselves at the shindig.

Alpha Sigma Delta has done it again. Brother Tom Campanella has finally given his pin away to Joan Collins of an independent society of the campus. Stan Fletcher and Larry Ross have also lost their pins to two unsuspecting lasses of our fair college.

Here's a big "scoop." The Beta Phi Betas are all set to toss a dance this Saturday evening on the campus. A "mellow" evening is to be expected for all those who attend.

The men of Alpha Phi Omega have released the names of the new officers for the Fall "50" semester. The new officers were elected during college hour Friday, May 12. Here they are: Ezie Malmberg, president; Gene Wilkenson, vice-president; William Lowe, recording secretary; Henry Grant, corresponding secretary; Gene Saper, treasurer, and "Whitey" Engeseth, CAB representative.

Members of the Newman Club enjoyed themselves on a picnic excursion to Adobe Creek Lodge last Sunday and plan a joint weiner roast with the Ama Deo Club at Thornton's Beach, in Daly City, on Saturday, June 3. The toll for this forthcoming clambake will be 25 cents for members and 50 cents for guests.

Speaking of dances, a few paragraphs back, the Latin-American Club has scheduled a dance on the campus this Friday evening. Congas, rumbas and sambas are to be featured.

Rams Lose NCJCC Title Tilts; Fischer Lauds Team For Spirit

By Gene Kelly

Santa Rosa College's Bear Cubs were just too speedy for the Rams to handle last Friday at Santa Rosa when the two squads met in double header for the Northern California Junior College Conference championship. Santa Rosa, northern division champ, took both games by 7-2 and 17-6 scores.

City College, top team of the southern division, was outclassed in almost all departments, particularly base running. The boys from Luther Burbank's home town stole a grand total of 20 bases from the Rams in the two games.

Shortstops had a good day at the plate up north. Ray Herrera, playing the number six position for Santa Rosa, hit a home run in each game, while Al Nicora of the Rams added another four-baser to his tally in the first game.

Steve Driscoll, first base, and Bob Frazier, center field, a pair of players who saw little action during the regular season, paced the Rams in batting with two hits apiece in as many tries.

Driscoll singled and tripled and scored a run, and Frazier, fastest runner on the club, singled twice and scored twice.

Coach Bill Fischer was pleased with his charges' play despite the scores. "The boys played heads up ball, and what more can a coach ask for?" he said.

Continuing along this line, he added, "They made the most of their potentialities during the entire season. With all but four veterans returning next season, we should do fairly well."

The four who will be missing from the lineup next year are Bob McGovern, pitcher, Bob Arata and Hook Arata, outfielders, and Lou Williams, second base.

said.

First game:

City College	010 000 100	2	5	3
Santa Rosa	101 030 20x	7	12	1

Second game:

City College	000 003 3	6	8	3
Santa Rosa	000 737 x	17	14	2

Bob McCarthy Top Hitter With .517

Batting averages for the 1950 season, which included two games apiece with Monterey, Stockton, Menlo, Hartnell, San Mateo and Modesto Colleges, are again topped by the .517 compiled by catcher Bob McCarthy.

McCarthy dropped 113 points from his mid-season .583 to .470 for the last six games, but his 12-game average of .517 was still good enough to lead all other batters.

Al Nicora, Cas Munoz, Bob Lacosta and Lou Williams were the most improved hitters in the second half of the season.

Nicora jumped from .250 to .421; Munoz from .348 to .434, Lacosta from .187 to .313, and Williams from .238 to .333.

Bob McGovern and John Rubeic, two top pitchers on the club, were both high on the list. McGovern collected 5 hits in 12 times at bat for a final mark of .416. Rubeic hit 5 for 15 and a .333 record.

Player, pos.	AB	H	Season Avg.
McCarthy, Bob, c	29	15	.517
Arata, Bob, rf	32	14	.438
McGovern, Bob, p	12	5	.416
Munoz, Cas, cf	46	18	.391
Nicora, Al ss	31	11	.355
Ruhele, John, p	15	5	.333
Arata, Hook, lf	38	11	.289
Williams, Lou, 2b	45	13	.288
Woll, Don, cf	14	4	.286
Voronin, George, 3b	7	2	.286
Cuddy, Jack, 1b	39	11	.282
Coulter, Ed, ss	11	3	.272
Lacosta, Bob, 3b	32	8	.250
Pantoleon, John, c	17	4	.235
Driscoll, Steve, 1b	8	1	.125

WAA Holds Barbecue June 4th At Beach

The Women's Athletic Association semi-annual barbecue takes place Monday, June 4, at 7:30 p.m. at the ocean beach. All WAA members and women students are invited.

In a four-way playday with San Mateo, Santa Rosa, and Napa Colleges, Dodi Fambrini lost 2 and won 1 set in the badminton singles. In the tennis doubles, Bernita Harvey and Juanita Davis teamed up to score a 6-4 victory.

MEL'S DRIVE IN Famous For
Bar-B-Q Hamburgers
Fried Chicken, Etc.
Open All Night
Mission and So. Van Ness

RAMS!
Ramble to the
RAM SHACK
For those Delicious Lunches
1051 Ocean
Across From West Campus

Boulevard Market
667 Monterey Blvd.
Groceries -- Delicatessen
Fresh
Fruits and Vegetables
★
FREE DELIVERY
JUniper 5-3393

Friendly pause

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
The Coca-Cola Bottling Co., San Francisco

"We Operate Our Own Plant"
3 Day Service
THE MONTEREY CLEANERS
Look at your clothes . . . other people do
643 Monterey Blvd. DElaware 3-7644
ALTERATIONS . . . REPAIRS

Boxers Start Novice Tourney Today

Linksmen Lose Only To Mateans

Golfing activities locally began making followers take notice last year when the squad won the Northern California Junior College tournament and continued attracting fans this season when in March the linksters began a drive to second-place berth.

Basketball, under the capable direction of the same man coaching the golfers, Ralph Hillsman, was still top news last March, but the report of the clubmen's success was encouraging to the many fans, in and out of the game, who follow it.

Hillsman's first year at golf was in 1949, and his team, headed by Bill King and Don Payne, both top clubbers, came out at the end of the season in the number one spot, snatching away the cup San Mateo had been clinging to. San Mateo was out to make a comeback.

So at the beginning of this spring season, the Mateans, led by Fred Streble, stroked around the college men with a three-point margin; the tally read: San Mateo, 9; City College, 6. Just three points that were later, to prove the undoing of the Hillsmen.

But the first upset didn't seem to disturb the college linksters, and they proceeded to swing by Stockton, Sacramento, Menlo, Hartnell, Modesto and University of San Francisco. San Mateo was doing the same thing. And with the report that they defeated Modesto two weeks ago, the cup and first place were theirs again. The college took second place.

Champion Finals Slated Tomorrow

Fifty novice boxers step into the ring this afternoon at 3 p.m. and tomorrow night at 8, in the men's gymnasium, with hopes of attaining one of the ten championship berths of the Novice Boxing tournament.

This afternoon's card, the semi-finals, featuring 11 bouts, will determine which boxers meet in the finals tomorrow night. The finals program will also have 11 bouts.

This tournament looms as one of the best ever staged on the campus. The boxers, most of them members of Roy Diederichsen's beginner and intermediate boxing classes, have developed fast and exceedingly well. Diederichsen, certain of a successful and exciting tourney, stated, "This is the most outstanding group of boxers that have ever participated in any novice tournament."

But all scrappers are not members of Diederichsen's classes. Dick Carillo and Stan Hahn, members of last semester's football team, possess excellent boxing ability, and both are strong contenders for titles in their divisions, 150 and 135 respectively.

Watching Hahn in a workout, Diederichsen commented, "He could have easily made the varsity last season."

Seeking the Manager's perpetual trophy, awarded to the manager with the most championship fighters, are Ray Nelson, John Brooks, Jack Bettencourt, Jerry Stern, and Roxie Navarro, all varsity boxers.

Softball Signup Terminates Today

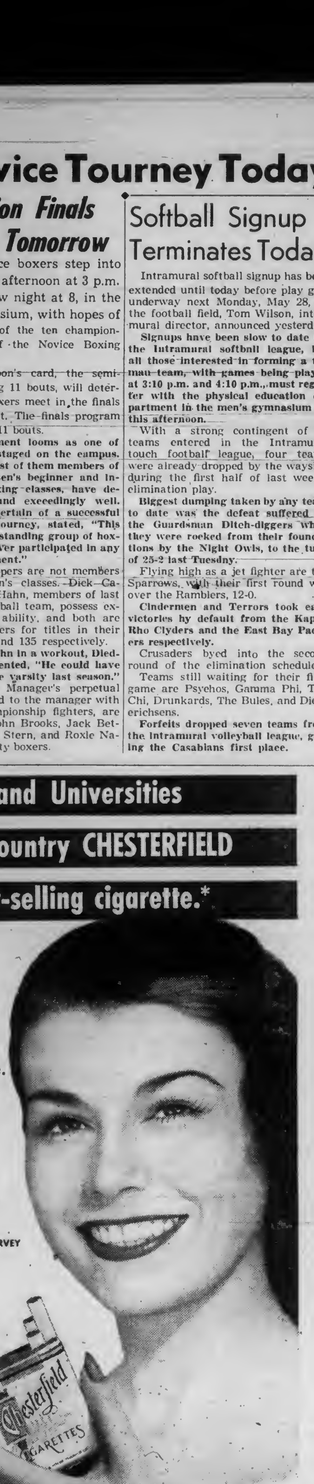
Intramural softball signup has been extended until today before play gets underway next Monday, May 28, on the football field, Tom Wilson, intramural director, announced yesterday.

Signups have been slow to date for the Intramural softball league, but all those interested in forming a ten man team, with games being played at 3:10 p.m. and 4:10 p.m., must register with the physical education department in the men's gymnasium by this afternoon.

With a strong contingent of 15 teams entered in the Intramural touch football league, four teams were already dropped by the wayside during the first half of last week's elimination play.

Biggest dumping taken by any team to date was the defeat suffered by the Guardsman Ditch-diggers when they were roeked from their foundations by the Night Owls, to the tune of 25-2 last Tuesday.

Flying high as a jet fighter are the Sparrows, with their first round win over the Ramblers, 12-0.



Cludermen and Terrors took easy victories by default from the Kappa Rho Clyders and the East Bay Packers respectively.

Crusaders byed into the second round of the elimination schedule.

Teams still waiting for their first game are Psychos, Gamma Phi, Tau Chi, Drunkards, The Bules, and Diederichsens.

Forfeits dropped seven teams from the intramural volleyball league, giving the Casabians first place.

At Colleges and Universities throughout the country CHESTERFIELD is the largest-selling cigarette.*

A-ways B-uy CHESTERFIELD
They're MILDER! They're TOPS! — IN AMERICA'S COLLEGES WITH THE TOP MEN IN SPORTS WITH THE HOLLYWOOD STARS
Copyright 1950, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Fall Semester Registration To Begin Sept. 5

Students returning for the Fall semester will be expected to register either Tuesday afternoon, September 5, or Wednesday September 6, Dr. F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, said yesterday.

The hours for registration, according to registration numbers, are as follows: Tuesday, 12:30 p.m.: numbers 0001-0499; 1:30: 0500-0999; 2:30: 1000-1499; and 3:30: 1500-1999. The Wednesday time schedule reads: 7:30 a.m.: 2000-2499; 8:30: 2500-2999; 9:30: 3000-3499; and 10:30: 3500-4000.

Dr. Marsh said that new students will register on Wednesday afternoon, September 6, and all day Thursday, September 7, and Friday, September 8.

Complete information is available in the main counselling office in building 3. The information and instructions for registration may be had in the form of a mimeographed sheet.

Soph Formal Plans Charleston Contest

A Charleston contest will be an additional feature to the sophomore formal, to be held on Saturday evening, June 10, Bill Rosaia, Sophomore class president, announced last week.

This year's affair will be held at Aquatic Park and will finish the spring semester's round of social events. Jim Polos and his orchestra are engaged for the dance, while an additional room will feature a Dixieland Combo, yet to be selected, for jazz lovers, Rosaia stated.

The Charleston contest will be judged by three students and three faculty members, to be chosen later by the committee handling the dance.

"The names and photographs of those competing for Sophomore King and Queen will soon be released," Rosaia declared, "and campaigns will then get under way."

The elections will be held during sophomore week which will start on Monday, June 5 and will end with the sophomore formal.

As is usually done, the names of the winning couple will be kept secret until the night of the dance adding an element of suspense to the outcome of the election for both the voter and candidate. This practice stems from the old method of choosing the sophomore sweetheart the night of the dance by casting ballots at the formal.

In February, 1946, only 400 veterans attended the college. Now, more than 1000 ex-GI's use the facilities of City College.

Dance Festival Held In Monterey May 26

Collegians from the entire state will meet for a three day annual folk dance festival Thursday at Monterey, Laurine Bergin, instructor here, announced recently.

Dormitory accommodations will be available at nearby Asilomar at a rate of $2.00 per person. Those interested in attending may make applications for reservations by applying to Mrs. Bergin in the women's gymnasium.

Floriculture Tries New Seeds For Show

Preparations for the Annual San Mateo Fall Garden Show started last week by the college floriculture department, Harry Nelson, instructor, announced yesterday.

Five hundred chrysanthemum root cuttings and hanging fuschias are being started early so that they will be in full bloom in time for the show. Hybrid snapdragon seeds have been donated for the show by the Chicago Ball Seed Company. The seeds are a new variety, not yet introduced to the public, Nelson said. These flowers when in full bloom are twice the usual size, and more colorful than the old varieties.

Latin American Club Holds Dance May 26

This semester's Latin - American dance has been scheduled for Friday, May 26, from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight at the Terrace Room of the Fairmont Hotel, Ed Penebad, club officer, announced yesterday.

Louis Polio and his orchestra will furnish the music of the evening and members of the Latin American Club will supply the entertainment. Admission is $1.50 per couple and the attire is semi-formal, he said.

Prominent San Franciscans To Act As Patrons For Opera Showcase

By Mary Lou Cooper

Invitations to Opera Showcase are available to students beginning today in Dean Edwin C. Browne's office, The Guardsman office, and the telephone operator's office in the main building.

This announcement was made by Robin Dunn, opera production manager, who said that invitations to patrons, school officials, and friends and relatives of the cast members were being sent out, and that a limited number is available to students on a first come first served basis.

Opera Showcase, as the production has been officially titled, will, according to Dunn, be composed of selections from grand and light operas in concert form, featuring members of the opera workshop, and the concert presentation of the 40-minute "Down in the Valley," by Kurt Weill.

Patrons of the Opera Showcase include: Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Adams; Dr. and Mrs. Kurt Herbert Adler; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Alioto; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Arata; Mrs. Portia Bradley; Mr. and Mrs. John F. Brady; Mr. and Mrs. Irving C. Breyer; Reverend James Brown; Mr. and Mrs. Arturo Casiglia; Mr. and Mrs. William E. Chamberlain; Mrs. Mary Denman Cheatham; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Choate.

Dr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Clish; Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Cloud; Mr. and Mrs. Louis G. Conlan; Miss Marie L. Conlan; Mr. and Mrs. Sam L. Conlan; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Conlan; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Coonan; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Cummings; Judge and Mrs. William Denman; Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Dennis; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Elkus; Dr. N. L. Engelhardt.

Mr. and Mrs. Adrien Falk; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Fulton; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hague; Mr. Tom Hounsley; Miss Jane Hohfeld; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carr Howe, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. George Johns; Mr. and Mrs. Mynard Jones; Dr. and Mrs. Richard Kelley; Mr. and Mrs. Easton Kent; Dr. and Mrs. William Knuth; Mr. and Mrs. Elton C. Lawless; Dr. and Mrs. Hans Leschke.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Levison; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Levit; Dr. and Mrs. Watt Long; Mme. Alma Michelini; Mrs. Ann Holden Minton; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nason, Jr.; Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Niecolls; Mr. and Mrs. Ward Nichols; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Nourse; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ralston; Mrs. Ione Pastori Rix; Dr. and Mrs. Edward H. Redford.

Cantor and Mrs. Reuben Rinder; Mayor and Mrs. Elmer E. Robinson; Dr. and Mrs. Karl Schaupp; Mr. Otto Schulmann; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Sessions; Mrs. M. C. Sloss; Mr. and Mrs. M. Lorne Stanley; Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Strauss; Mrs. Sigmund Stern; Dr. and Mrs. Harold Spears; Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Stoffer.

100 Percent Law To Be Clarified For Council Today

Clarification of the two and a half month old 100 per cent ruling comes before the Student Council today when the Finance Committee submits a final draft of its report on the new proposal for council consideration.

Parker pointed out that the clarification possibly would not include the means for enforcing the ruling.

Finance Committee Chairman Tom Campanella said that a full report on the music department's invitational concert program at Everett Junior High School Friday, June 2, is due today also.

He said that before the opera productions Martha and Down in the Valley were cancelled because the council did not reach a decision on whether or not they should be financed, the council appropriated $259.83 to cover cost of rental and royalties for the opera Martha rights.

Now that the administration is sponsoring the concert program, which includes Down in the Valley, Campanella expressed the opinion that the administration should reimburse the Associated Students the $259.83, or students involved in the productions must comply with the 100 per cent ruling.

ROBIN HOOD'S

The fountain of distinction
Known both near and far,
For quick, friendly service
And food that's way above par.

Featuring

Shakes
Sundaes
Sodas
Sandwiches

Next Door To The
El Rey Theatre
Free Parking At The Rear
1962 Ocean Ave.

COLE'S CITY COLLEGE BARBER SHOP

Be Well Groomed

IT'S THE KEY TO SUCCESS
ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

Student-Faculty Discount Coupon

CHARLIE CHAPLIN In "CITY LIGHTS"

Exchange this coupon at box office for one admission at special student-teacher rate. Good anytime. Matinee 50 cents, evening 65 cents (tax included).

AT BOTH THEATRES CLAY Fillmore At Clay FI 6-1123 LARKIN Larkin Near Geary PR 5-3811

PHIL LYNCH

Sporting Goods

623 Mission St. YU 6-6950

At New Montgomery

GENUINE SWIM FINS — For speed in swimming and underwater diving. They float, will not sink — 8.95

VOIT SWIM MASK — ea. 2.50

SWIM GOGGLES — pr. 1.00

HEALTH-O-SWIM NOSECLIP — ea. 75c

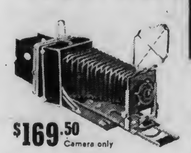
Very Special RUBBER LOCKER SANDALS — pr. 1.95

A FULL LINE OF MEN'S SWIM TRUNKS 2.95 to 4.95

An Aid Against Infection EAR DRUM PROTECTORS — pr. 25c

Go to Heller's....

...for the sensational new "HALF-CHUKKA BOOT"
...a Winthrop original in corvan with heavy leather sole and heel



$9.95

Heller's WINTHROP SHOES
722 MARKET STREET

Also
1210 Burlingame Ave.
Burlingame

EXCLUSIVE BAY AREA

LINHOF TECHNIKA III

$169.50 Camera only

A hand-held press camera with view camera features. Rising, sliding, tilting front. Triple extension bellows. Tilting, swinging back. With 135mm f/4.7 ctd. Wollensak Raptar, Rapax shutter.....199.50
With 15cm f/4.5 Zeiss Tessar Compur shutter.....235.00

WRITE FOR FREE 1950 CATALOG DEPT. "W"

Just Arrived! SCHNEIDER LENSES, All Factory Coated!
90mm f/6.8 Angulon in Compur Rapid.....$ 58.15
240mm f/5.5 Tele-Xenar in Compur.....107.25
270mm f/5.5 Tele-Xenar in Compur.....134.17

BROOKS

The Photographic Dept. Store
Budget Terms Availeble'

EXbrook 2-7348

ENJOY ON-THE-JOB ADVANTAGES WHILE EARNING YOUR COLLEGE DEGREE!

To qualified Junior College graduates, Golden Gate College offers an unusual program which coordinates business education with paid employment. This program can be of benefit in two ways: it gives you the opportunity to earn money while working in a business closely related to your academic studies —and you get the benefit of a liberal college education closely integrated with practical business experience!

If you have graduated from Junior College, you will be awarded a baccalaureate degree in Business Administration by Golden Gate College after the successful completion of four full semesters of college studies and three alternating semesters of employment in business. (Three semesters a year.) Your employment, in a Bay Area business firm, will be procured by the College.

Your wages, while employed, will be paid to you by the firm for which you work. In addition to these earnings, your career is helped by the practical perspective you gain in business and by the business contacts which you establish.

Golden Gate College offers the broad-gauge education which businessmen recognize as vital to business success. Registrations for the summer semester which begins June 16 are now being accepted by Golden Gate College. A bulletin and catalog giving details of the program are on file in your college office. For further information, write or telephone Dr. C. J. Marsh, Director of Coordinated Business Education.

GOLDEN GATE COLLEGE

An Affiliate of the San Francisco YMCA

537 Market Street • San Francisco, California
Telephone PRospect 5-5774

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—FRIDAY MAY 26, 1950 NUMBER 22

Island Setting For Beta Dance Tomorrow Night

A tropical setting is the scheduled atmosphere for "Holiday Hula," Beta Phi Beta dance, tomorrow night at the Shalimar Club, from 9 to 12 midnight, Elmer Brousseau, chairman for the affair, announced yesterday.

Hawaiian shirts, loud, informal clothes for the men, and summer sport wear for the women is the attire for the evening.

Decorations will be fashioned after an Hawaiian Island setting, Al Riordon, dance committee member, stated.

Admission for the evening's fun is $1.50 per couple. Charles Steeling's orchestra and vocalists will furnish the musical footnotes and entertainment. Soft drinks are to be served as refreshments.

Fraternity brothers have been wearing leis draped around their necks this past week advertising the event, and tickets may be purchased from any of them today.

Dance committee members working with Brousseau and Gordon are Charles Fanning, Bob Mazeras, Dave Utter, Pete Larieg, and Dave Mansea, president of the fraternity.

Latin American Dance Tonight

Latin American Club members will hold their annual dance tonight from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight, at the Terrace Room of the Fairmont Hotel, Ed Penebad, club officer, announced recently.

Highlight of the evening will be a program of entertainment by members of the club, featuring native South American dances, Penebad said.

Music for the semi-formal will be furnished by Louis Polio and his orchestra. Bids are $1.50 per person.

Calendar Lists 35 Days Of Vacation

Students here will receive a total of 35 days away from the classroom, according to the calendar for fall, 1950, and spring, 1951, released yesterday by Mary Jane Learnard, registrar.

The fall holidays are as follows: Thursday, October 12, Columbus Day; Friday, October 13, institute day; Thursday and Friday, November 23 and 24 respectively, Thanksgiving vacation; and Monday, December 11, through Monday, January 1, Christmas vacation.

Christmas vacation has been lengthened to three full weeks, Miss Learnard said.

Mid-term recess between the fall and spring semesters will be Monday, February 5, Tuesday, February 6, has been set aside as institute day.

The remainder of the holidays for the spring semester are Monday, February 12, Lincoln's birthday; Thursday, February 22, Washington's birthday; Friday, February 23, institute day; Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, March 21, 22, and 23 respectively, Easter vacation; and Wednesday, May 30, Memorial Day.

Job Opportunities Still Available For Summer Work

Numerous job opportunities are now available to the student who desires work during the summer months, Joseph Amori, placement, director, announced yesterday.

Summer work is still available at Yosemite Park for waitresses, at a flat rate of $5.00 a day, plus room and board.

Two men who have had experience working with children at summer or Scout camps, who know trout fishing, and who are between 19 and 21, may receive a free bus trip to Canada. Food and lodging will be provided to those accepted. Return transportation will be by plane, Amori said.

A position is available to any male student who can fill the following qualifications: he should be interested in wholesale clothing, which includes sportswear; he must be mature, preferably between 20 and 26; experienced in public relations; a local resident; and know the Bay Area and its stores.

Othello Ends Run Here Tomorrow

The Campus Players' version of Othello, ends an eight-day presentation with two more performances tonight and tomorrow night.

Cast for these performances are Emilia, Barbara Andress, Friday; Pat Wilson, Saturday. Bianeo, Dawn Kidd, Friday and Saturday. Lodovico, George Jackson, Friday and Saturday.

Iago, Eugene Carlson, Friday; Paul Ellison, Saturday. Roderigio, Donald Powell, Friday; Dick Vreeland, Saturday. Barbantio, William Holway, Friday; Jerry Possi, Saturday. Officer, William Holway, Friday; Charles Price, Saturday.

Opera Selections Open Showcase Program June 2

By Mary Lou Cooper

Down In The Valley, an American folk opera, written by the late Kurt Weill, will compose the second half of the Opera Showcase program being presented Friday, June 2, at 8:15 p.m., at Everett Junior High School, Church and 16th streets. This presentation of Down In The Valley marks the San Francisco premiere of the opera.

The story of the play is told by The Leader and the chorus who unfold the sweet-sad love tale of Brack Weaver and Jennie Parsons.

Both Thomas Bouche and Brack Weaver were in love with Jennie, but Jennie's father favored Thomas Bouche. At a Saturday night dance at Shadow Creek, Thomas Bouche and Brack Weaver had fought and Thomas Bouche was killed.

The story is carried back to detailed scenes of Jenie and Brack in church, of the Shadow Creek dance, and of Brack Weaver in jail, breaking out to see Jennie once more.

Especially suited to college productions, the "Valley" theme is based on American folk songs, Down In The Valley, The Lonesome Dove, The Little Black Train, Hop Up, My Ladies, and Sourwood Mountain.

Members of the cast include The Leader, Andrew Stathis; Jennie, Laleen Scott. Brack Weaver, Bob Sherratt. Jennie's Father, Joseph Henry; Thomas Bouche, Alfred Hernandez; A Guard, Elmer Delaney; Peters, Daniel Alvini; Two Women, Barbara Andress and Roberta King; Man, Charles Pryce.

In addition to members of the cast above, 52 members of the A Cappella Choir and members of the folk dancing class will take part in this opera. Meyer M. Cahn will direct the orchestra, and Aileen Fealy will be the accompanist.

The first half of the Opera Showcase will feature concert selections from grand and light opera, Flossita Badger, opera workshop and music director, announced.

Participating in the first half of the Showcase are Eileen Scott, Kathleen Kerrigan, Irene Sherman, Irene Boullet, Cynthia Burke, Roberta King, Ruth Paxson, Betty Tompkinson, sopranos; Jean Bonaccorsi, Patricia Fitzgerald, Shirley Smith, contraltos; Dean Peters, Daniel Segrove, Daniel Alvini, tenors; and James Bogue, baritone.

Invitations to the Opera Showcase may be obtained at the student bank, telephone operator's office in the main building, The Guardsman office, and in the office of Dean Edwin C. Browne on the west campus.

New Constitutional Amendments Removed From Ballot; Rally Features Candidates Today

Dill And Thomas To Address Voters In Auditorium Rally

Candidates for Associated Student offices prepared to make an all-out appeal for student votes at a college hour in the auditorium today.

Election Commissioner James L. Potter said yesterday that presidential candidates Tom Dill, running on the Fraternity Party ticket, and William Thomas, opposing him on the Affiliated Student Party ticket, were scheduled to deliver campaign addresses at the rally, which also calls for an appearance of the college band.

Potter said he would preside at today's rally where he will explain election procedures.

At the same time he said he would urge all Associated Students to vote.

Other candidates will be introduced also, according to Potter.

Official campaigning ends next Monday when the political scene will shift to elections next Wednesday and Thursday, May 31 and June 1, in the student lounge, Building 2.

Voting will be done by ballots, which will be counted by electric IBM machines to assure impartiality and fairness to all candidates. A college hour June 1 will give voters additional time to cast their ballots.

Potter warned all candidates that an itemized list of all campaign expenditures is due Monday, May 29, at 12 M in election headquarters.

He also declared that all campaign posters and literature must be removed from the student lounge by election time. No campaigning of any sort will be permitted within 100 feet of the lounge during the two election days, he added.

Potter commented that although interest in the elections was not overwhelming, there were indications that it was mounting.

"Some candidates are putting on campaigns creating interest," he pointed out.

Candidates were scheduled to speak before students in communications 5a classes yesterday, and political science 36 classes next Monday, as approved by Dean of Student Activities Louis Batmale.

Arrangements to have recorded speeches by candidates played through the inter-communication system in the main building were being completed this week.

Potter said he will appoint several additional assistants to aid students in voting. The regular election committee includes Randle Street, assistant election commissioner; Louis Testaguzza, Henry Hall, and Charles B. Toggart.

Election Commission And Parker Agree To Ballot Changes Here

By Bob Rezak

Seven proposed amendments to the Associated Student Constitution were removed from the May 31 and June 1 election ballot late last Tuesday by Associated Student President Don Parker and Election Commissioner James Potter, with approval of Dean of Student Activities Louis Batmale.

The proposed amendments had been passed by the Student Council earlier Tuesday during its regular meeting. The council, however, failed to note a provision in the constitution which states that proposed amendments shall be published in The Guardsman at least one week before voting occurs.

Publication of the amendments in today's issue of The Guardsman would have made the public announcement of proposed amendments short of the week's notice which the constitution requires before amendments can be placed on the ballot.

Patty Patterson, sophomore council member, vigorously protested the action and said she could not personally condone any attempt to put the amendments on the ballot unless laws in the constitution were upheld.

"In my opinion," Miss Patterson said, "the proposal to put the amendments on the ballot is in direct contradiction to Article 7, Section 2 of the Associated Student Constitution and therefore is illegal."

Both Batmale and Parker agreed the proposals should be removed from the ballot.

"The amendments are very important," Parker said, "but since we have to comply with the rulings, we'll just have to forget about them."

Proposed amendments, which would have come up for AS vote next week, included the adding of AS card sales chairman, information service chairman, corresponding secretary, and election commissioner as members of the AS president's cabinet.

Another amendment proposed that requirements for vice-president be changed from 30 units of work to 45 units of work completed prior to term in office.

Proposals to change the name of the Club Advisory Board, listed in Article 2, Section 13 of the constitution, to Club Activities Board, and to place the work of approving posters and printed matter pertaining to elections in the hands of the election committee instead of the publications board chairman, were also listed on the ballot.

The deletion of Article 4, Section 1, which lists the Welfare Committee as a standing committee, was likewise proposed as an amendment.

Affiliated Platform

Dear Fellow Students:

The Affiliated Students believe in providing greater benefits for all Associated Student members and thus in the encouragement of all groups to participate in Associated Student affairs. In voting Affiliated at the next election you will be guaranteeing the Associated Students a progressive and vigorous program.

1. Music Guild—Support the opera production for the fall semester as a paying business proposition.
2. Clubs—Club dances should be promoted and the Associated Students should share the burden by paying for the bank, employee, police, and janitors required for all dances.
3. Rallies—Combination club hours and rallies. More night rally dances.
4. Sports—Put into effect a plan for athletic injury insurance.
5. Freshmen—Hold a big freshman dance in a downtown hotel.
6. 100% Law—Cut requirements for service organizations to 75%.
7. Student Store—Complete present plans for student store with large discounts for Associated Student members.
8. Discounts—Appoint a standing committee to promote discounts for Associated Student members.
9. Picnic—A get-together picnic at the beginning of the semester conducted by the Freshman class.
10. Dances—Have more free Associated Student dances with the fine student band providing the music. Have post-game dances with Muni Railway providing direct transportation from game to dance.
11. Football—Have direct transportation to football stadium in chartered busses and increase attendance at games.

William Thomas and Affiliated Party.

Fraternity Platform

Dear Fellow Students:

The following five-point program has been approved by the Inter-fraternity Council and myself. I feel that these are a few of the immediate needs of the Associated Students. I would like to call to your attention the fact that the social activities have been omitted from the platform. This is because we want to present to you a clear, concise program that is not inflated with social commitments. However, by backing our program, you will be assured of a very eventful social calendar.

1. Student Body Cards—Proportionate distribution of funds as based upon the percentage of Associated Student membership in organizations requesting funds.
2. The Student Store—Obtaining maximum profits for the Associated Students and offering merchandise at a discounted price to the Associated Student's only.
3. Athletic Insurance—Procuring an overall, low cost insurance policy to protect the athletes of our college.
4. Publicity—Striving to make San Francisco aware of City College through an intensified publicity program and winning more cooperation from a greater alumni.
5. Club Day—Setting aside a specific day to facilitate the joining of clubs by interested students.

Tom Dill and Fraternity Party.

Independent Platform

Dear Fellow Student:

Perhaps you belong to one of the groups well represented in student government—then this doesn't concern you! BUT, if you are just one of the 2500 student body card holders who wonder what is going on, then this may interest you.

We are running as independent candidates for sophomore council because we feel that there should be a voice that doesn't have any axe to grind, but just wants to plead for the good of the school and all the students. If elected we would like to be a sort of grievance committee. We want to be YOUR representatives and not members of a select group.

Our aims are to achieve a reasonable budget, to make every one of your dollars count, making it really worthwhile for every student to purchase a card. We feel that we should buy cards not as a prerequisite to certain activities and privileges but because its benefits are so great that we cannot afford not to have one.

In the opinion of the undersigned, debacles like the cancelling of this season's opera production must not happen again and we shall raise our voices whenever the vanity of the council becomes more important than the prestige and welfare of the school. We will support greater spread of the budget to give emphasis to women's athletics and to scholastic activities so long neglected. Pressing for speedy establishment and efficient management of the student store, additional parking space and any other vital matters that may arise will be our policy.

Good government means participation by all members of a community. We therefore urge you to go to the polls and vote. Vote intelligently and independently.

Pat Innes, Klaus Schale, Independent Candidates.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

ABOUT forty-five minutes before the curtain was due to go up on the College Players' production of "Othello," we entered the main building and strolled down the hall toward Room 28.

A Venetian nobleman in 16th century doublet and hose walked past, simultaneously smoking a cigarette and blowing bubble gum. Considering what followed it was a prophetic sight.

BACKSTAGE AT "OTHELLO"

While the audience trickled in by twos and threes we found Director Paul Ellison and got his okay to watch the show from backstage, assured an actor that his beard was on straight, and finally, just as the house lights went down, slipped through a side door backstage.

Behind the scenes of the Little Theater is a little difficult to describe. Perhaps it can best be suggested by saying that there's plenty of room for two people to pass . . . if one climbs over the other's shoulder.

We took up station between Georgia Watkins, who handled the score, and prompter Pat Wilson. A scant seven feet away "Othello" was in full swing.

LANTERN TROUBLE

George Jackson, doubling up on his role as Lodovico, came on stage carrying a lantern, paused, then made his exit. He stopped behind some scenery and looked at the lantern; it wouldn't go out. He huffed and puffed and he nearly blew the house down before the light finally flickered and died.

Later in the play the lantern caused trouble again. Roderigo lay dead and Edward Mulvihill, as Cassio, was bleeding all over the place and crying "Help murder . . . oooh! . . . murder."

The script called for Eugene Carlson, as Iago, to enter with the lantern, but the lantern was nowhere to be found.

Cassio's groans took on an intensity that no actor could have feigned and he glanced apprehensively off stage. Finally, at the last possible instant, the lantern appeared. The day was saved.

BUSY STAGEHANDS

John Trail and Wally Beaver, the two stagehands on "our" side of the stage, worked busily between shifting scenery and props. Once they, too, had one that was too close for comfort.

With the actors poised, the musical score reaching a climax, and the curtain ready to be drawn, a drapery-wire suddenly proved itself too short. With two moments to spare, Beaver grabbed a chair, mounted it and stood there throughout the scene holding the drapery up.

(By this time we had reached the conclusion that backstage emergencies are generally much more exciting than those in the play proper.)

Time passed, the Drinking scene was in progress and Cassio was reeling drunkenly around the stage under the influence of too much kool-aid. In the backstage heat, Trail poured iced tea from a thermos jug and we joined in the orgy.

FORGETFUL ACTORS

Occasionally an actor would exit, watch the stage business, then mutter, "What's my cue? . . . what's my next line . . . ohmigawd, I can't remember a thing." (Actors, we found, are constitutionally incapable of remembering a thing till the right moment, then they go on without a falter.)

From then on the play built smoothly up to the climax, and Lodovico voiced the final words: "... the heavy act with heavy heart relate." The audience applauded appreciatively, the cast took its curtain call, then gave a general sigh of relief.

Tomorrow night they could do it all over again.

With us occasionally: Did you hear Barbara Andrews and Georgia Watkins over KSMO last Saturday? They gave the local listeners the lowdown on Othello (that name sounds familiar). But when queried about the college's phone number neither could answer. For that matter, can you? . . . and a few words of thanks to the boys with the red trucks who supplied spots and floodlights at the Mardi Gras. Namely: Ed Williams of the 3rd and Howard station, and Neal Swanson, who brought one light developing [illegible] candlepower (whew!). Thanks for helping us out, gentlemen (figuratively speaking, that is).

Sometimes we make mistakes. Fr'instance, a story awhile back told how The Guardsman had won the coveted ACP All-American award for last semester, and it listed names of those who would receive pins as a result of their help in winning the award. But the story didn't include—and it should have—Business Manager Barbara Low and Advertising Manager Dick Hart (also of "Othello"). For which oversight our apologies.

Well, since our deadline is dying, that'll be about all for now.

Around And About The Campus Clubs

Beta Tau, Filipino Club Cop Fr[illegible]

Mardi Gras reminiscing seems to be the topic of the day because appearances lead us to believe that the campus social whirl has been temporarily slowed down.

The bearded mountaineers of Beta Tau are pleased that their float, entitled "Springtime In The Rockies," won first prize in the Mardi Gras parade. The float consisted of a mountain scene, complete with (blush) outhouse, out of which approximately 30 men emerged. Another sensation was Harry Jones made up to resemble Daisy Mae. He was said to have been positively stunning.

First prize in the booth department was awarded to the Filipino Club, whose booth was so decorated as to very vividly typify the beautiful Philippine Islands.

Hours of intense and brain-wracking

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX | SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, MAY 26, 1950 | NUMBER 22

New Constitutional Amendments Removed From Ballot; Rally Features Candidates Today

Dill And Thomas To Address Voters In Auditorium Rally

By Bob Rezak

Candidates for Associated Student offices prepared to make an all-out appeal for student votes at a college hour in the auditorium today.

Election Commissioner James L. Potter said yesterday that presidential candidates Tom Dill, running on the Fraternity Party ticket, and William Thomas, opposing him on the Affiliated Student Party ticket, were scheduled to deliver campaign addresses at the rally, which also calls for the appearance of the college band.

Potter said he would preside at the rally where he will explain election procedures.

At the same time he said he would urge all Associated Students to vote.

Other candidates will be introduced also according to Potter.

Official campaigning ends next Monday when the political scene will shift to elections next Wednesday and Thursday, May 31 and June 1, in the student lounge, Building 2.

Voting will be done by ballots, which will be counted by electric IBM machines to assure impartiality and fairness to all candidates. A college hour June 1 will give voters additional time to cast their ballots.

Potter warned all candidates that [illegible] of all campaign ex-[illegible] is this Monday, May 29 at [illegible] election headquarters.

He declared that all campaign [illegible] and literature must be removed from the student lounge by [illegible]. No campaigning of any [illegible] be permitted within 100 feet [illegible] of the polls during the two election days, he added.

Potter commented that although [illegible] on the elections was not overwhelming, there were indications that it was mounting.

"Some candidates are putting on campaigns creating interest," he pointed out.

Candidates were scheduled to speak before students in communications 5a classes yesterday, and political science 36 classes next Monday, as approved by Dean of Student Activities Louis Batmale.

Arrangements to have recorded speeches by candidates played through the inter-communication system in the main building were being completed this week.

Potter said he will appoint several additional assistants to aid students in voting. The regular election committee includes Randle Street, assistant election commissioner; Louis Testaruzza, Henry Hall, and Charles B. Toggart.

Election Commission And Parker Agree To Ballot Changes Here

Seven proposed amendments to the Associated Student Constitution were removed from the May 31 and June 1 election ballot late last Tuesday by Associated Student President Don Parker and Election Commissioner James Potter, with approval of Dean of Student Activities Louis Batmale.

The proposed amendments had been passed by the Student Council earlier Tuesday during its regular meeting. The council, however, failed to [illegible] section in the [illegible] which states that proposed amendments shall be published in The Guardsman at least one week before voting occurs.

Publication of the amendments in today's issue of The Guardsman would have made the public announcement of proposed amendments short of the week's notice which the constitution requires before amendments can be placed on the ballot.

Patty Patterson, sophomore council member, vigorously protested the action and said she could not personally condone any attempt to put the amendments on the ballot unless laws in the constitution were upheld.

"In my opinion," Miss Patterson said, "the proposal to put the amendments on the ballot is in direct contradiction to Article 7, Section 2 of the Associated Student Constitution and therefore is illegal."

Both Batmale and Parker agreed the proposals should be removed from the ballot.

"The amendments are very important," Parker said, "but since we have to comply with the rulings, we'll just have to forget about them."

Proposed amendments, which would have come up for AS vote next week, included the adding of AS card sales chairman, information service chairman, corresponding secretary, and election commissioner as members of the AS president's cabinet.

Another amendment proposed that requirements for vice-president be changed from 30 units of work to 45 units of work completed prior to term in office.

Proposals to change the name of the Club Advisory Board, listed in Article 2, Section 13 of the constitution, to Club Activities Board, and to place the work of approving posters and printed matter pertaining to elections in the hands of the election committee instead of the publications board chairman, were also listed on the ballot.

The deletion of Article 4, Section 1, which lists the Welfare Committee as a standing committee, was likewise proposed as an amendment.

Island Setting For Beta Dance Tomorrow Night

A tropical setting is the scheduled atmosphere for "Holiday Hula," Beta Phi Beta dance, tomorrow night at the Shalimar Club, from [illegible] to 12 midnight, Elmer Brousseau, chairman for the affair, announced yesterday.

Hawaiian shirts, [illegible] and informal clothes [illegible] for men and sunback sport wear [illegible] the women is the attire for the [illegible].

Decorations will be [illegible] an Hawaiian island setting. Al Gordon dance [illegible] the members [illegible] the evening's dance [illegible] Grace Street.

Novelists will [illegible] the music [illegible] and entertainment. Soft drinks are to be served as refreshments.

Fraternity brothers [illegible] wearing [illegible] draped around their necks [illegible] week advertising the event [illegible] from attending.

Dance committee members working with [illegible] and Gordon [illegible] Charles [illegible] Bob Mazzias, Peter Utter, Ed [illegible] and Dave Macsea, president of the fraternity.

Job Opportunities Still Available For Summer Work

[illegible]

Opera Selections Open Showcase Program June 2

By Mary Lou Cooper

Down In The Valley, an American folk opera written by the [illegible] Kurt Weill will compose the [illegible] first half of the Opera Showcase [illegible] presented [illegible] at 8:15 p.m. at Everett Junior High School Auditorium.

The presentation of [illegible] marks the 50th [illegible] of the opera [illegible] by [illegible] also under the [illegible] of Black [illegible] and Black [illegible] Thomas [illegible] night dance, [illegible] Thomas Bouche [illegible] and [illegible] and Black in [illegible] dance, [illegible] Down In The [illegible] The [illegible] Op. 50.

Opera Showcase selections [illegible] Rossini's Cenerentola [illegible] workshop and music [illegible] the first half of [illegible] are Eileen Scott, Kathleen Sherman, Irene [illegible] Burke, Roberta [illegible] Templeton, [illegible] Lorenzo, Patricia [illegible] Zeta Sigma Sigma Sigma South, [illegible] Peters, Daniel Segrove [illegible] and James [illegible].

The Opera Showcase [illegible] of the student body [illegible] office in [illegible] The Guardsman office [illegible] of Dean Edwin C. [illegible] Workshop [illegible].

Othello Ends Run Here Tomorrow

[illegible]

Latin American Dance Tonight

[illegible] Club [illegible] hold the [illegible] dance [illegible] at 8 p.m. [illegible] at the [illegible] Room [illegible] Fairmont Hotel. [illegible] Penelad [illegible] there announced recently.

High [illegible] The evening will [illegible] program [illegible] entertainment by members [illegible] club featuring native South [illegible] dances, Penelad said.

Music [illegible] furnished [illegible] Louis Polio and [illegible] orchestra. Bids are $1.50 per person.

Calendar Lists 35 Days Of Vacation

Students here will receive a total [illegible] of 35 days away from the classroom, [illegible] according to the calendar for the [illegible] 1950, and spring 1951 released yesterday by Miss Jane Learnard, [illegible] registrar.

The [illegible] holidays are as follows: Thursday, October 12, Columbus Day; Friday, October 13, institute day; Thursday and Friday, November 23 and 24 respectively, Thanksgiving vacation; and Monday, December 11 through Monday, January 1, Christmas vacation.

Christmas vacation has been lengthened [illegible]

Affiliated Platform

Dear Fellow Students:

The Affiliated Students believe in progressive [illegible] benefits for all Associated Students members. [illegible] the encouragement of all groups to participate in Associated Student affairs. In voting Affiliated [illegible] ticket you will be guaranteeing the Associated Students a progressive and vigorous program.

1. Music Guild. Support the opera production [illegible] fall semester as a paying business proposition.

2. Clubs. Club dances should be promoted [illegible] Associated Students should share the burden [illegible] for the bank employees, police, and janitors [illegible] all dances.

3. Rallies. Combination club [illegible] and rallies. Make night rally dances.

4. Sports. Put into effect a plan for athletic injury insurance.

5. Freshmen. Hold a big freshman dance [illegible] downtown hotel.

6. Book Law. Cut requirements for service organizations to 75%.

7. Student Store. Complete present plans for student store with large discounts for Associated Student members.

8. Discounts. Appoint a standing committee to promote discounts for Associated Student members.

9. Picnic. A get-together picnic at the beginning of the semester conducted by the Freshman class.

10. Dances. Have more free Associated Student dances with the fine student band providing the music. Have post-game dances with Muni Railway providing direct transportation from game to dance.

11. Football. Have direct transportation to football stadium in chartered busses and increase attendance at games.

William Thomas and Affiliated Party.

Fraternity Platform

Dear Fellow Students:

[illegible] platform has been approved by [illegible] Tom Dill and myself. I feel that these [illegible] of the immediate needs of the Associated Students should be called to your attention the fact that [illegible] activities have been omitted from the platform. [illegible] we want to present to you a clear, concise [illegible] that is not inflated with social commitments. [illegible] by backing our program you will be assured of [illegible] successful social calendar.

Student Body Cards. Propose the distribution of cards based upon the percentage of Associated Student [illegible] organizations requesting funds.

The Student Store. Obtain the maximum profits for the Associated Students and obtain merchandise at a discounted price to the Associated Students only.

Athletic Insurance. Procuring an overall low cost insurance policy to protect the athletes of our college.

Publicity. Striving to make San Francisco aware of [illegible] College through an intensified publicity program and [illegible] more cooperation from a greater alumni.

Club Day. Setting aside a specific day to facilitate the joining of clubs by interested students.

Tom Dill and Fraternity Party.

Independent Platform

Dear Fellow Student:

Perhaps you belong to one of the groups well represented in student government—then this doesn't concern you! BUT, if you are just one of the 2500 student body card holders who wonder what is going on, then this may interest you.

We are running as independent candidates for sophomore council because we feel that there should be a voice that doesn't have any axe to grind, but just wants to plead for the good of the school and all the students. If elected we would like to be a sort of grievance committee. We want to be YOUR representatives and not members of a select group.

Our aims are to achieve a reasonable budget, to make every one of your dollars count, making it really worthwhile for every student to purchase a card. We feel that we should buy cards not as a prerequisite to certain activities and privileges but because its benefits are so great that we cannot afford not to have one.

In the opinion of the undersigned, debacles like the cancelling of this season's opera production must not happen again and we shall raise our voices whenever the vanity of the council becomes more important than the prestige and welfare of the school. We will support greater spread of the budget to give emphasis to women's athletics and to scholastic activities so long neglected. Pressing for speedy establishment and efficient management of the student store, additional parking space and any other vital matters that may arise will be our policy.

Good government means participation by all members of a community. We therefore urge you to go to the polls and vote. Vote intelligently and independently.

Pat Innes, Klaus Schale, Independent Candidates.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

ABOUT forty-five minutes before the curtain was due to go up on the College Players' production of "Othello," we entered the main building and strolled down the hall toward Room 28.

A Venetian nobleman in 16th century doublet and hose walked past, simultaneously smoking a cigarette and blowing bubble gum. Considering what followed, it was a prophetic sight.

BACKSTAGE AT "OTHELLO"

While the audience trickled in in twos and threes, we found Director Paul Ellison and got his okay to watch the show from backstage. Assured an actor that his beard was on straight, and finally, just as the house lights went dawn, slipped through a side door backstage.

Behind the scenes of the Little Theater is a little difficult to describe. Perhaps it can best be suggested by saying that there's plenty of room for two people to pass . . . if one climbs over the other's shoulders.

We took up station between Georgia Watkins, who handled the sound and prompter Pat Wilson. A scant seven feet away, "Othello" was in full swing.

LANTERN TROUBLE

George Jackson, doubling up on his role as Lodovico, came on stage carrying a lantern paused, then made his exit. He stepped behind some scenery and blew at the lantern. It wouldn't go out. He huffed and he puffed and he nearly blew the house down before the light finally flickered and died.

Later in the play the lantern caused trouble again. Roderigo lay dead and Edward Mulvihill, as Cassio, was bleeding all over the place and crying, "Help . . . murder . . . oooh! . . . murder."

The script called for Eugene Carlson, as Iago, to enter with the lantern, but the lantern was nowhere to be found.

Cassio's groans took on an intensity that no actor could have feigned and he glanced apprehensively offstage. Finally, at the last possible instant, the lantern appeared. The day was saved.

BUSY STAGEHANDS

John Trail and Wally Beaver, the two stagehands on our side of the stage, worked busily between acts, shifting scenery and props. Once they, too, had one that was too close for comfort.

With the actors poised the musical score reaching a climax and the curtain ready to be drawn, a drapery-wire suddenly proved itself too short. With only moments to spare Beaver grabbed a chair, mounted it, and stood there throughout the scene holding the drapery up.

(By this time we had reached the conclusion that backstage emergencies are generally much more exciting than those in the play proper.)

Time passed, the Drinking scene was in progress, and Cassio was reeling drunkenly around the stage under the influence of too much kool-aid. In the backstage heat, Trail poured iced tea from a vacuum jug and we joined in the orgy.

FORGETFUL ACTORS

Occasionally an actor would exit, watch the stage business, then mutter, "What's my cue? . . . what's my next line? . . . ohmigawd, I can't remember a thing." Actors, we found, are constitutionally incapable of remembering a thing till the right moment—then they go on without a falter.

From then on the play built smoothly up to its climax and Lodovico uttered the final words, ". . . this heavy act with heavy heart relate." The audience applauded appreciatively, the cast took its curtain calls, then gave a general sigh of relief.

Tomorrow night they could do it all over again.

With us occasionally: Did you hear Barbara Andress and Georgia Watkins over KSMO last Saturday? They gave the local listeners the lowdown on "Othello" (that name sounds familiar). But when queried about the college's phone number neither could answer. For that matter, can you? . . . and a few words of thanks to the boys with the red trucks who supplied search and floodlights at the Mardi Gras. Namely, Ed Williams of the 3rd and Howard station, and Noel Sorensen, who brought one light developing 800,000,000 candlepower (which?). Thanks for helping us get lit up gentlemen (figuratively speaking, that is).

Sometimes we make mistakes. For instance, a news story awhile back told how The Guardsman had won the coveted ACP All-American award for last semester, and it listed names of those who would receive pins as a result of their help in winning the award. But the story didn't include and it should have . . . Business Manager Barbara Low and Advertising Manager Dick Hart (also of "Othello"). For which neglect, our apologies.

Well, since our deadline is dying, that'll be about all for now.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, Number 22 FRIDAY, MAY 26, 1950 Page 2

To Put Proposed Amendments On AS Ballot Would Have Been Breach Of Constitution

NEXT Wednesday and Thursday, May 31 and June 1, the Associated Students go to the polls to cast their votes in the A. S. elections. Other than the names of the candidates running for the various offices nothing else will appear on the ballots. In other words no new amendments to the Associated Student constitution will be put up for the voters to decide on.

We have no argument over the content of the proposed amendments but the point remains, if the college has a constitution then the thing to do is abide by it.

ARTICLE VII, Section 2 of the constitution plainly states that, "Such proposed amendments shall be published in The Guardsman AND posted in a public place at least one week before the voting takes place." The reason for the article was both to inform the students of the proposed amendments and to give them time to decide how they were going to vote on any proposed constitutional legislation.

Now, in Article VII the word "and" is a crucial word. In 1936 when the constitution was ratified the section read, "Amendments shall be published in The Guardsman OR posted in a public place..." Last spring the Student Council and the voters passed an amendment changing the word "or" to "and." The motive behind this was to carry the proposed amendments to the student population. The voters specifically wanted the proposed amendments published in this newspaper at least one full week before the elections.

Last Tuesday the council got around to discussing the new amendments. The amendments, were railroaded through, to use a journalistic term, and approved to be put on the ballot. During the course of the meeting the chairman of the Publications Board pointed out to the council that though he didn't want to "throw a monkey wrench into the proceedings" the earliest possible time the proposed amendments could have been published in The Guardsman was today. That would have been six days prior to the election, or one full day less than what the constitution calls for. In short, such a move would have been outside the letter of the law.

Furthermore, to place the amendments on the ballot after knowing the particulars of Article VII, Section 2, could have set a bad precedent leading to future irregularities within the constitution. If such action were taken, the constitution would not have any meaning. Moreover, the entire election would have been illegal and time would not have permitted a new one to be held.

Later, the publications chairman was told that he should have stressed the point more strongly to the council. Perhaps this would have been the intelligent thing to do. However, he would have been branded as a trouble-maker and one who "holds up the wheels of progress" for quibbling over a mere 24 hours. It was not the mere 24 hours that he objected to, but it was the principle of upholding the constitution. That is why he opposed putting the new amendments on the ballot. The publications chairman is quite humble when it comes to legal matters and has a firm belief that the law should be adhered to.

At this juncture Associated Student President Donald Parker, when made fully aware of the implications of the matter, readily agreed to strike the amendments from the ballot. Several other council members felt the same about the matter, and with the approval of the dean of student activities the amendments were removed.

For this the council and the president deserve the plaudits that will be forthcoming for their well made decision.

One method may still be taken by the council to get the amendments on a ballot and before the students. That method is to have a special election for the proposed amendments only. The election machinery will have to be set up soon, however, for the semester is rapidly drawing to a close.

It is unfortunate that such a situation arose and the council made a wise decision when it struck off the amendments from the ballot. However, we feel that the council should be aware of these matters and be prepared to act on them well in advance of any possible deadlines that may arise from time to time on legislative problems.

PanoRAMa With Jones

Man Bites Dog No Longer News

THEY glibly tell us (those who go about being glib), that if a dog bites a man, that isn't news, but they add, raising one index finger and smiling, if a man bites a dog, ah, that is news.

So, since we fancy ourselves news collectors, we search and search for that one big story. MAN BITES DOG. A wild-eyed student may rush into The Guardsman's office and scream that a pack of wild dogs has attacked another student crossing the west campus parking lot. When we inquire if the student bit the dogs back, and he says, "No," we tell him to go he has wasted our time.

WHEN A BADLY INJURED cocker spaniel is discovered limping past the main building, we rush to the scene shouting to those about, "Go bite him." You can imagine our disappointment to learn that the poor animal has not been bitten by a man at all. It seems hardly worth mentioning that he had been attacked by a herd of wild elephants touring the zoo.

It appeared to us that we would never experience the thrill of learning that a man had actually bitten a dog. We became desperate. We even stooped to spreading rumors about the campus in hopes of creating the news. We whispered to fellow students that a certain terrier had spoken of them unkindly, but this also failed.

Finally, the big break came. A man bites dog story has been discovered recently in his kitchen biting his dog. Reporters flocked to the scene, but police had already removed the 23-year-old man to a local hospital for observation. Finally, the press was allowed to interview him, but alas and alack, failure again. The man informed the eager scribes that it was his dog and he could bite it if he wanted to.

IT HAS BEEN REVEALED by Dr. Pauline Berry Mack, that candy is good for growing children. Dr. Mack explained that if a child has a well-balanced diet in all essentials except calories, and it eats a certain amount of candy, his weight and height will improve.

This must have been welcome news to 13-year-old R. B. He had become what could be described as the phantom of the cinema. R. B. had left home to spend a day at one of our neighborhood theaters, but by apparently liked the movie so well that he stayed for a second showing, and then a third. He finally decided, or the theatre's employees decided that he had seen enough of the picture. 11 days later.

R. B. had been in the theatre audience from 2 to 11:30 p.m. each day, and eating the candy bars he obtained from the dispenser.

R. B. is back with his weary parent's now, after making the startling announcement to the police, "I like movies and candy too!"

Feminine Viewpoint

Play Supplements Work

By Bobbie Jackson

ALTHOUGH the Mardi Gras is an event of the past it should be noted that the effort put forth by campus organizations on floats and booths will long be remembered.

The co-eds did their bit, and did it well, and the results were excellent, even though the first honors went to Beta Tau for their mountaineers' float and to the Filipino Club for their hoop-toss booth.

Most of the women constructed and designed their own booths and floats, without depending too much on the men for aid. Last Friday was a scene of women taking their fling at carpentry complete with hammers and nails.

Proof of this work emerged in the Kappa Phi Hawaiian float, the Delta Psi's Roaring Twenties float and green and white booth, and the Theta Tau's Cinderella float and Pumpkin booth, and all the others.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the king and queen. The queen was Jo Ann Perrin, Alpha Lambda Chi; and the king was Robin Rosefield, Phi Beta Delta.

Television cameras picked up this event as well as the parade and the booths. Station KPIX will show these pictures at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

It is interesting to note that college spirit hits its peak at the time preceding the Mardi Gras, when the co-eds and men give their best efforts to the affair.

Speaking of college spirit, the work on booths last Friday ceased long enough for students to witness a ghost-raising ceremony, behind the student fountain.

Following a solemn march by the loyal and loyal followers to this site, the stone, under which College Spirit was rested since his burial in April 1948, was lifted, and in flash of white and smoke the spirit was seen heading toward the sky.

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Beta Tau, Filipino Club Cop First Prizes At Mardi Gras

Mardi Gras reminiscing seems to be the topic of the day because appearances lead us to believe that the campus social whirl has been temporarily slowed down.

The bearded mountaineers of Beta Tau are pleased that their float, entitled "Springtime In The Rockies," won first prize in the Mardi Gras parade. The float consisted of a mountain scene, complete with Ohlush outhouse, out of which approximately 30 men emerged. Another sensation was Harry Jones made up to resemble Daisy Mae. He was said to have been positively stunning.

First prize in the booth department was awarded to the Filipino Club, whose booth was so decorated as to very vividly typify the beautiful Philippine Islands.

Hours of intense and brain-wracking thought by some unknown thinker, have brought about the decision that your chances of winning at the Gamma Phi Ypsilon booth were non-existent. This decision was arrived at when it was discovered that the rings supposed to encircle the blocks of wood in the ring toss game were one-fourth of an inch smaller than the blocks. However, at three tosses for a dime you couldn't go far wrong. Noble friends Bob Kays, Joe Litcofsky, Bruce Tombaugh, and barker Bill Lanam were there to offer unflinching aid to get rid of that metallic jingle in your pocket.

Moving out of the Mardi Gras meanderings we find the Tau Chi Sigmas have set tonight as the date for their formal initiation. All pledges and alumni members are to attend the affair.

The Engineering Society will show a movie entitled "USS Cor-ten" today during college hour. The movie is based on the development of a new steel. All members and guests are urged to attend.

A committee meeting is to be held soon to plan next semester's social calendar and all clubs wishing to arrange dates for next semester are urged to turn in date requests to Sandy MacKay in the Associated Student office in Building 2 before next Wednesday. If the requests are turned in before the date mentioned it will greatly simplify the planning of the social calendar.

Members of the Collegiate Christian Fellowship are planning to attend the Northern California Spring Conference at the Beulah Park Conference grounds this weekend.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rose Hardy
STAFF EDITORS ..... Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Ave, Larry Bales, David Brewer, Gracane Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, George Eberl, Barbara Egnian, Tee Gould, Ray Hamm, Dick Johnson, Sumiko Kanaye, Richard Larris, Henry Leale, Herb Marvin, Warren Northwood, Bob Rezek, Elaine Skinner, Jack Vanderbilt, Georgia Watkins, Felton White, Ralph Wiesner, Eune Williams, Bennie Davis, Doug Heywood, Elsie Monroe.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcomb
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Kays, Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, assistant; Jack Spalding, Bob Vail, John Dunning, Sid Russell.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandra Marks, Delores Aguirre, Assistants.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Steinheimer, Shirley Manitzen, Fred Mathes, Ken Hilmer, Herb Weiss, Dick Jarrett, Dick Lee, Kay Wood.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz, Mary Anne Quadrelli.
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normanly, Terry George, Harry Paretchan, Bob Easton.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Moore
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Guardsman SPORTS

Volume XXX, Number 22 FRIDAY, MAY 26, 1950 Page 3

Ram Traditional Grid Game At Kezar

Klemmer Calls For Gridders

Coach Grover Klemmer made his initial call for football players today with the announcement that a sign-up meeting for all students planning to turn out for the college grid team in the fall will be held in Room 107 in the men's gymnasium during college hour on Friday, June 2.

The meeting will be of the informative type, Klemmer said. Eligibility requirements, experience, prospective positions, weight, height, and a brief explanatory speech by Klemmer are on the agenda.

Any students desiring to serve as managers for the squad should be in attendance too, he added.

Among the veterans expected to return are Dick Carrillo, Stan Hahn, Bob McBride, Oscar Brown, Jim Fales, Rod DeCristofaro, Bill Conell, Cletus Washington, Jim McCauley, and Bob Hart.

Klemmer urged freshmen who hope to play this autumn to be sure to sign up and take advantage of the early meeting.

The complete schedule:

September 30—Vallejo.
October 6—Menlo.
October 13—Monterey at Cox Stadium.
October 20—Los Angeles City College.
October 27—San Mateo at Kezar.
November 3—ELACC at Cox Stadium.
November 11—Hartnell at Cox Stadium.
November 16—Stockton.
November 22—Modesto.

San Mateo Tilt Under Arcs

By Bob Valli

Release of the 1950 football schedule today revealed that the college's traditional game with San Mateo will take place in Kezar Stadium on Friday evening, October 27.

The contest will mark the first time the Rams have ever played in the vast Golden Gate Park oval at night, and it is only fitting that archrival San Mateo be the foe.

This tilt will give the college its first real opportunity to show before the people of San Francisco the spacious Kezar will offer ample seating facilities. In previous years two of Cox Stadium and the San Mateo league grounds, both of which have small and inadequate stands, limited the size of the crowd. However, all this should be remedied this Fall.

Many football fans who otherwise wouldn't have attended the fray may make an additional effort to be present inasmuch as the Ram-Bulldog feud always manages to produce thrilling and hard-fought games. Besides, night football in this area, though in existence for only a year, has proved to be popular with gridgoers.

Another highlight of the next pigskin season is a weekend trip to Southern California for a game with the Los Angeles City College eleven. This is a yearly non-conference duel which has gained momentum with each match. The San Francisco-Los Angeles geographical rivalry has added incentive to the players to win.

BOB McCARTHY catcher and leading Ram batter with a season ave age of .517, was noted for his ability to get hits with runners on base during the 1950 season.

Errors Plague College Batsmen

Season totals for the 1950 baseball schedule give the Rams a fair margin over their opponents in runs scored, strikeouts and pitching records, but the college clubbers committed many more errors than their diamond adversaries.

Coach Bill Fischer's team scored 99 runs in 12 games to 66 for league opponents. A mere 8 runs against Santa Rosa's 24 in the NCIC championship playoffs, however, cut the margin to 167-90.

Ram pitchers struck out 64 enemy batters while 39 of their mates were fanning. Those pitchers gave up 52 bases on balls while City College squad members were the beneficiaries of 41 walks.

Careless play ran college errors up to 34 for the season. League opponents committed only 23. The Rams' greatest game was a 1-1 win over San Mateo when their fielding was faultless.

Bob Mettevern, number one hurler, ended his City College mound career with a 3-1 record. John Rubicic had a 3-0 record, Ed Boland 2-0, and Pete Zasso 1-0.

Ram Golfer Takes Second In Tourney

Modesto played host to most of Northern California's junior college golfers last Friday and Saturday, May 19-20, in a two-day round of medal-score competition at the Del Rio course.

Myrle Fisher, top man for the college Hillsmen, proved his worth by climbing the second best medal, but surprise of the day came when Dick Taylor, a member of Menlo Junior College's previously colorless team, walked away with first place. His was the lowest score for the double-day session.

Golf mentor Ralph Hillsman himself, however, was unable to attend the meet, but reports that his anxiety was not worth the trouble. He revealed earlier in the season that San Mateo, winner of the conference title, might take the medalist tourney also.

Following closely behind Fisher were Walt Stevens, medal winner, and Frank Hanlon, who also placed low.

Vince Holian, second place holder on the varsity golf ladder, did not match up to his previous record. Holian, recently entered in a bay area amateur golf contest in which he was beaten by Bob Stovel, 2 and 1.

WAA Hold Swimming Playday At Santa Rosa

Several Women's Athletic Association swimmers will compete against Santa Rosa tomorrow morning at Santa Rosa. Under the coaching of Gloria Sulcegood, physical education instructor, the swimming team has been practicing their strokes during swimming class.

WAA elections will be Wednesday, May 31, and Thursday, June 1 in the women's gymnasium. Members can vote at any time during either of these days. Results of the election will be announced at the Barbecue Monday, June 4.

LET'S FACE FACTS

Today's pay is not so attractive, choice of work is narrower. A Heald Business Training gives you the tools to break through the barriers and win your goal.

TELEPHONE ORdway 3-8500
HEALDS BUSINESS COLLEGE
Van Ness Ave. at Post San Francisco
Other Schools: Oakland, Sacramento, San Jose

COLE says . . .
"Be the man of the year with the haircut of the hour."
COLE'S BARBER SHOP
Across From West Campus

June Graduates!
YOUR COLLEGE DAYS ARE ALMOST ENDED
Remember Them With An
OFFICIAL CITY COLLEGE RING
In Gold Or Sterling Silver
Ladies' Miniature Or Men's Massive
On Display At The Basement Showcase — Main Building
$5.00 Deposit Required At The College Bank
Van Wormer & Rodrigues Inc.
126 Post Street EXbrook 2-5886

Shepardson Tko's Reynolds In Intra-Novice Boxing Tourney

By Frank Monte

Heavyweight Don Shepardson, appealing to the zest of 700 spectators, tko'd Harry Reynolds in the second round of the final bout of the Intramural Novice Boxing tournament held last Wednesday night in the men's gymnasium.

The card, 12 bouts in all, featured three technical knockouts and nine decisions.

Jack Bettencourt, varsity boxer and runner-up in the welterweight division of the National Junior College Boxing Tournament at Ogden, Utah, walked off with the Manager's Perpetual Trophy, managing seven winners and three second-place boxers for a total of 44 points.

John Brooks was second with 30 points and three winners, followed by Ray Nelson, 24 points and two titles.

Shepardson, strictly a slugger, found the going tough in the first round, taking and giving punches. Came the second, he poured it on until referee Dean Bender stepped in and stopped the fight.

The 140 pound bout proved to be the most exciting. Dick Ashley, dropping his opponent, Bob Sherwood, in the first round, dashed from his corner at the second bell, and before 17 seconds of the second round had passed, chalked up a tko to his credit.

One of the most aggressive and hard-hitting fighters of the tourney was George Karadanis, 155. Although greatly outsized, Karadanis, lighting inside, battered Jack McCartney to the canvas in the first, then took a unanimous decision.

The results were: Don Cappa dec. Al Beloy, 120; David Johnson tko Bob Sarlia, 125; Stan Haan dec. Bernhard Regino, 130; Ed Lewis dec. Jim Fallen, 135; Charles Allum dec. Ray Armada, 145; Ray Brunner dec. Frank Davis, 150; Harry Jones dec. Dick McElroy, 165; Ron Douglas dec. Dan Ravetti, 170; Jim Winger dec. George Ives, 175.

Intra Football Enters Final Week

A 20-0 victory over the Cindermen placed the Sparrows in first place of the intramural football tournament, as the tourney moved into the fourth round of eliminations last week.

Still in the third round of play are the Psychos, who gained a forfeit over Gamma Phi, and the Drunkards, who dropped Tau Chi Sigma 21-12.

Also in the race for the championship finals, are the Owls, by virtue of their 42-0 dumping of the Guardsman Ditchdiggers. Forfeiting has played the prominent role thus far, with the Terrors gaining the nod over the East-Bay Packers.

Bules and Diederichsens continued with the forfeiting manner, allowing the Crusaders to go into the fourth round of eliminations without facing a team.

Winner of the Psychos-Drunkard match conducted last Tuesday met the Sparrows in a semi-final game Wednesday. Also the Terro-Nite Owl victor met the Crusaders in the other semi-final contest. The teams taking the semi-final games will play for the championship.

Make it a date . . .
• West Portal's
• Most Popular Fountain
DENNY DAIRIES
321 West Portal
Open Daily - 8 a.m. to 1 a.m.
Delicious Ice Cream, Grilled Sandwiches and Waffles

TRAVEL-MINDED?
We handle all student tours to Europe, Mexico and the Orient
We plan . . .
independent travel, too!
If travel-minded, call
The Students Travel Club
Morse-Gleason Co.
Travel Agents
323 Geary at Powell
SUtter 1-4869

TAKE THE SIMMER OUT OF SUMMER WITH Lightweight Shirts and Sports Shirts by Arrow

$3.65 up
You'll stay more comfortable on the hottest days in our new "air conditioned" Arrow shirts! Besides coolness, these shirts have Arrow's smart collar styling and fine tailoring! In whites and colors—long and short sleeves. See your Arrow dealer today!
ARROW SHIRTS & TIES
UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SH...

DAMAGED DOCUMENT

Opera House Commencement

943 Don Caps And Gowns On June 16

A class of 913 Fall and Spring graduates is scheduled to receive degrees at the 15th annual commencement ceremony, to be held at the Civic Opera House on Friday, June 16, at 8 p.m., Lloyd Luckmann, dean of university parallel courses—and commencement chairman, announced early this week.

The commencement program is being arranged by the graduation committee and caps, gowns, and invitations will be furnished to all Associated Student members without cost, while the cost to non-members will be approximately $5.00.

The list of Spring semester graduates is as follows:

Benny Abdilt, Virginia Abernathy, Charles Adams, Ila Adams, Stephen Agnady, Alan Akire, Raymond Alvarez, Jerome Amperman, Pauline Andersen, Barbara Andress, Frederick Antrell, Vincent Arellotti, Peter Arrozo, Jr., Peter Aslock, William Ashton, Joseph Azzolino.

George Bacis, Francisco Baltodano, Montague Bandar, Ronald Barclay, Margaret Barnes, David Barnett, Wesley Barnum, Ronald Barr[illegible], Ellen Bautoann, Lloyd Baumann, Donald Becker, Henry Becker, Irene Begovra, John Belforte, Frank Bellocci, Dean Bender, Charles Benson, Jackson Benson, Carletta Bergman, Orton Bergren, Clayton Berling, Leo Bernicchi, Cecil Best, Marian Beyllacqua, Martha Bickham, Derwood Bird, Walter Blauch, Joseph Blank, Margaret Blount, Rex Bolithu, Gloria Bonitz, Norman Booth, Douglas Bosshart, Franklin Botts, James Bradley, Mary Bradley, Herbert Brannon, Rodolfo Brenes, William Briare, Tony Brill, Sandy Brousseau, Richard Brougham, Marjorie Brownwood, Gerald Beunette, John Burands, Norwood Burdon, Merle Bush

Dolores Cabeceira, Kenneth Cacy, Roderick Caldwell, Dolores Callaghan, Eugene Carlson, James Carlson, Frank Carrie, Fernando Carrillo, Elaine Carstens, Nathan Carter Jr., Marina Casals, Luciano Casanoa, Alfonso Casns, Thomas Castenera, Agripino Cerbatos, Jean Chalmers, Kin Chan, James Chan, Lawrence Chan, Alvin Chase, Mounir Chaya, James C. Chew, James Jr. Chew, Mong Chew, Frank Chin, Gail Chin, Harvey Chin, Herbert Chin, Hoover Chin, Rideko Chisaki, Carlos Chong, Juan Chong, Charles Chrisman Jr., Michael Church Jr., Arthur Clayton, Thomas Coke, Harold Cole, Joan Collins, Edward Conmy, William Conner, Ruby Connally, Angelo Conter, Bonnie Cooper, Paul Cooper, John Corcoran, John Corley, Donald Cortisse, Stephen Cornaglia, Carlos Corneco, Ernest Cortez, Clarence Cortopassi, Susan Court, Catherine Covington, Richard Cowden, John Craig, Ros Cronin, Leon Crosby, Urban Cummings, Percy Cutler, Virginia Cutler, Marjorie Czelkowitz.

Vito D'Acquisto, Miriam Darvas, George Davis, John Davis, Richard Davis, Doris Dawson, Donald Delcy, Joseph Delaney, Ronald Delucchi, Walter DeMartini, Edward DeMello, Lee Devol Jr., Jefferson Dewberry, Alicia Diaz, Willard Doble, Cyros Donaldson, Michael Dooley, Conrad Dorn, Lucian Douglass, Donald Dozier, Boris Draikiu, John Dracopoulos, John Drury, Manour Dudum, Kevin Duggan, Charles Dubuque, Kenneth Duncan, David Dung, Arnold Dunn, Dimitri Dutoff, Glenn Dyer.

Robert Easton, John Erkenrode, Henry Eidler, Robert Ellis, Anita English, John Erickson, Rasim Es saleh, Frederick Esser, Nancy Evangelista, Sylvester Evans.

Theodore Faron, James Ferguson, Born Ferraris, Joan Fewlins, Carolyn Fink, Clement Finney Jr., Jean Fischer, Konrad Fischer, Gilbert Fischer, Albert Flores, Charles Foge, Wai Fok, Eugene Foley, Fay Wong, Henry Fong, Ralph Fong, Milton Forman, Arthur Foss, Lewis Fox Jr., Mervyn Frandy, Gloria Franco, Philip Frank Jr., Ruth Fressinger, Nancy Frietzche, Virginia Froding, Moss Fuchlenbach, Akiko Furita

Gordon Gahagan, Richard Ganzert, Mario Garcia, Joseph Garrett, Abdel Gasparich, William Gedeon, William Gee, Wilfred Geerdts, Winifred Gegan, William Gerlach, Paul Gilbert Jr., Raymond Gilmartin Jr., Warren Ginn, Jeanette Giovannelli, Kenneth Giveus, Rose Glenn, Francis Glynn Jr., Patricia Goldman, Jack Goldsworthy, Boris Golookoff, Barbara Goodwin, Victor Gorin, Lloyd Grable, Henry Grant Jr., Lewis Grasberger, Charles Gregory, Robert Grewer, Sarah Grunigan, Barbara Guedel, Edward Guenveur Jr., Angelina Guerra, Frank Gutierrez.

Warren Halle, John Hall, Jenneth Hall, Edward Hanlon, Natalie Hansen, Gordon Hanson, Rose Hardie, Richard Harrington, Eloise Harrison, Dona Harrison, Richard Hart, Nelda Hartzell, Vernon Harvey, Richard Hastings, Otto Hatcher, Arthur Hayashi, Donald Heffelfinger, Helene Helde, Dolores Henninger, Ersie Henry, Leonard Herbst, Raymond Hertz, John Henshaw, Robert Hickman, Kazunobu Higaki, Elaine Ho, Wanda Hodges, James Hoffman, Daniel Holeman, Robert Hom, Avier Hopps, Robert Horn, George Horowitz, Sharon Hoskins, Patrick Howe, Cynthia Howarth, Helene Howell, Patricia Huber, Robert Hughes, Thomas Humphreys, Harry Ihn, Bruce Ingmire, Chiyoji Iwao.

Ian Jackson, Lee Jackson, Peter Jackson, Roberta Jackson, Milton Jacobs, Robert Jacobs, Phyllis Jakson, Robert James, Lois Janelsky, Beverly Jank, Thomas Jenkin, Lads Jester, Alvin Johnson, Bruce Johnson, Laurence Johnson, Mary Ann Johnston, Leland Johnstone, Donald Jones, George Jones, Harriett Jones, Richard Jones, Walter Jourdan, Patrick Joyce.

Walter Kalanta, Vance Kaminski, Theresa Kano, Robert Kass, Joseph Kelghner, George Kelly, Lois Kelly, Jack Kennedy, Karalee Kimbeck, Calvert Kitazumi, Herbert Kung, Argyle Knapp, Robert Krueger, Frank Kuhn, Gee-On Kwok.

Harold Lai, Norman Lai, Odine Lalanne, Elva Lambert, Arthur Lang, Charles Lane Jr., Jack Lang, Bernard Langan Jr., Betty Langston, Jacqueline Lanthearne, Dorothy Lapierre, Jacqueline Lascola, Marlyce Lauman, Jean Laurence, Alfred Lawson, Raymond Leader, James Leaskou, Adele Lee, Betty Lee, Carmel Lee, Irving Lee, Lois Lee, Hal Leech, James Lehman, Henry Leon, Robert Leong, Sue Leong, Wallace Levin, Robert Levine, Robert Levy, Marcella Lewis, Ellie Lim, Franklin Lim, Orma Lindsey, Therese Lippert, Andriana [illegible], Robert Loberg, Bruce Locken, Petros Lolonis, Florence Loo, Harry Loo, Pauline Loo, Irene Lorello, Robert Loriano, Rodney Lostberger, Theodore Lossman, John Low, William Lowe, Jose A. Lozada, Jose L. Lozada, Constance Lum.

Albert Maass, Gene MacDonahl, Helen MacKay, Armand Magid, Ronald Mullen, Francis Mandel, Richard Manseau, Bill Marcus, Joan Marenda, Helen Martin, Reginald Martin, Mary Martinez, David Marshall, Sahuro Masada, Ernest Matsuoka, Frank Matsuno, Frank May, Ann McBride, John McBride, John McCallister, Patricia McGrath, Jack McKeen, John McKenna, Richard McKevitt, Margaret McKinney, Jeanne McKnew, Thomas McLaughlin, Robert McLaughlin, Dorothy McMillian, John McNally, David McNeill, William Meagher, Gerald Melbo, Vivian Meyer, Evelyn Mezzetta, Sloan Miedema, Robert Miller, Robert Milo, Hugh Missner, Walter Mitchell, Louis Millielman, Kiyono Mizuno, Paul Moffatt, Frank Monie, Daniel Montrose, George Moore, Donald Morettini, Francis Morimoto, Janet Morris, John Morrison, Pascal Mugge, Edmund Murphy, Jesse Murphy, John Murphy, Thomas Murphy, George Murray Jr., Alice Myers, Libert Myers, Vannie Myers.

Marie Narita, Patrick Nash, Pedro Navarro, Alpheus Nelson Jr., Robert Neumeister, Howard Newsom, Arthur Ng, Sun Ng, Raymond Niksarian, Mary Nichi, Arnold O'Connor, Toni Obel, Merritt Olds, Charles Oliver, Erie Olsen, Darwin Olson, Richard Olson, Robert Ott, Paul Ovos.

James Palabay, Peter Papageorge, Donald Parker, Kenneth Parker, Frank Patterson, Robert Pearson, Edmund Penahad, Carin Penington, Joseph Personeni, Martin Peterson, Irwin Phillips, Arno Poggi Jr., John Porter, Leland Pritchard Jr., Eugenia Psaltis, Catherine Puller, Felice Quasi, John Quinles.

Donald Raab, Melvin Rognsa, Donald Raisner, Gerald Ransdell, James Reed, Norman Reger, Karl Rennay, Betty Richards, George Rick, Allan Rillera, Clifford Robinson, Delores Rocha, Charles Rogers, William Rosbia Jr., Peter Rose Jr., Katherine Ross, Glenn Rotida bush.

[illegible], Agnes Sakamaki, Thomas Sakata, Gerald Salmon, Ray Sandstrom, Toshio Sano, M. Stanley Sasso, George Savage, John Saylor, Alfred Scarcalosi, John Schellhas, Jessie Schermerhorn, George Schoen Jr., David Schoenfeld, Marjorie Schroll, Joseph Schultz, Elizabeth Scott, Dorice Scott, William [illegible], George Sergeoff, John Shafer Jr., Marilyn Shaves, Sylvia Shiman, Dwight Shockley, Luba Shubin, John Shull, Raymond Simmons, Esther Simon, Dario Simonetti, Edith Smith, Hershel Smith, James Smith, Michi Soda, Edmond Soliff, Merwan Spencer, John Stack, Leo Stark, Walter Stentath, John Stern, Earle Stek, Barry Stehr Jr., George Stocktleth, Helen Stoker, Walter Stomm, Robert Stortz, Joyce Study, Bernard Stuebler, Beverly Sullivan, Chyoko Suzuk, Gloria Swift.

Arsenio Tahmar, Lois Taft, Jun Tajra, Shiyoku Takatsugi, Jeanne Tanaka, Elmo Taylor, William Taylor, Samuel Tchabalian, Patricia Teiche, Ray Tekawa, Beverly Thal, Cleveland Thomas Jr., Donald Thomas, Howard Thomas, Ralph Thomas, William Thomas, Donald Thompson, Richard Thompson, Walter Thompson, Frank Thornberg Jr., William Toledo, Earl Tomlinson, Mary Tompkinson, Helen Tong, Pauline Tong, Annie Tox, Joseph Trunecek, Alfred Tshe, Harold Tudor, Robert Tyson, Beulah Ing, Wilfred Ussery.

Nancy Vande Luister, Gene Van Dyke, Jeanne Vasilatos, Frank Vidmar, Alex Vigna, Richard Vreeland, Ira Waldron, David Walker, Troy Wallrip Jr., Gladys Ward, Donald Warden, Milton Wasserman, Martha Waters, John Wee, June Welch, Robert Weller, Margaret Wells, Barbara Werner, James West, Richard West, Howard Whitman, Horace Wilde, Richard Williamson, Robert Williamson, Charles Wolfe, Allen Wong, Donald Wong, Paul Wong, Peter Wong, Wallace Wong, William Wong, Wilbur Woo, Catherine Wood, Charles Wood, Dewith Woods, Francis Woomer, Dolores Wright, Edward Wright Jr.

Kazuo Yanase, Svlatoslav Yasinitsky, Merlin Yasle, Joe Yee, Russell Yee, Warren Yen, Fannie Yep, Lourdes Ynegio, Yoneo Yoshimura, Alfred Zaft, Labech Zelbak, Albert Zinkand.

LLOYD LUCKMANN director of college commencement ceremonies.

Six Scholarship Awards Listed

Six awards will be granted to students during commencement, Dr. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, said yesterday.

The awards are as follows:

The Scholastic Cup, on which the name of the graduating student with highest scholarship is inscribed; the President's Award Plaque, consisting of loving cups with their names inscribed for the graduating man and woman student who were most outstanding in service to the college.

The Alice Eastwood award of $100 is for achievement in floriculture; Harlan and the Nuodex awards, each consisting of a five-volume set of "Protective and Decorative Coatings," are given to a student of the day and night paint technology classes; Wall Street Journal award in Finance consists of a silver medal and a year's subscription to the Wall Street Journal.

Award recipients already chosen are Patricia Hauck for the Alice Eastwood award; James Ven[illegible] ian award; Frank Johnson, Nuodex award; John Low, Finance award.

By November, 1941, eight City College faculty members had already enlisted in the Army and Navy.

Forum Manuscripts Available At Bank

Unused contributions to the current Forum Magazine are available now at the student bank, Editor Curtis May said yesterday. The authors must pick them up now, and May expressed thanks to the authors for submitting them.

Prizes Awarded Festival Winners

Mardi Gras winners claimed their cups and prizes last week after the termination of what Associated Men Student President Norm Reger called a very successful event.

A trophy was awarded to each of the following: Jo Ann Ferron, Queen of the carnival; Robin Rosefield, selected King; Beta Tau Fraternity for the best float; and the Filipino Club for the best booth.

Besides a loving cup, the King and Queen received gifts from the Ocean Avenue merchants. The gifts included a cashmere sweater, a skirt, a sport shirt and a sport coat.

Tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. television station KPIX will feature the Mardi Gras event, filmed by student photographer Herb W[illegible]

Associated Student President Don Parker wrote the script which will accompany the film.

Alaskan Film Shown During College Hour

Spotlight on Alaska is the film scheduled to be shown today at 10 a.m. and again during college hour in Room 136, Madison Devlin, audio visual aids instructor, announced.

The audience will be taken on a tour of the fabulous fishing industry, Devlin said. Other shots show Mt. McKinley, the Matanuska Valley, the city of Sitka, and the Inside Passage with its overhanging glaciers and virgin forests.

WHY NOT STUDY THIS SUMMER IN EUROPE?
NUCLEUS STUDY TOURS

UNIVERSITY OF BORDEAUX	$485	OXFORD SUMMER INSTITUTE	$495
UNIVERSITY OF PARIS	545	UNIVERSITY OF COPENHAGEN	575
UNIVERSITY OF ZURICH	625	UNIVERSITY OF HEIDELBERG	590

ALL EXPENSE PRICES INCLUDE:
ROUND TRIP AIR TRANSPORTATION TO EUROPE
TUITION, ROOM, AND BOARD AT UNIVERSITY
RAIL TRANSPORTATION TO UNIVERSITY, WITH RETURN TO PARIS
STUDENT TOURS—24 TO 70 DAYS—$645 TO $1195—ALL EXPENSES
STUDENT TRAVEL SERVICE LTD.
1540 E. 57TH ST. CHICAGO 37, ILL.

Let Us Patronize Them — RAM BOOSTERS — They Patronize Us

EXCELSIOR SCHOOL of DRIVING
LEARN TO DRIVE IN TRAFFIC!
DUAL CONTROLLED CARS
We prepare you for driver's examination
SPECIAL RATES
for students, payable in installments
4666 MISSION ST. AT OCEAN AVE.
JUniper 4-3687

AUTO - TRUCK - FIRE
Standard Form Policies
at Low Costs
Compare Our Rates
Before You Buy
C. E. PEARSON
1125 Ocean
JU. 5-4478
Prompt Personal Claims Service

Gems of Art
Colorful Vacation Clothes
For Youngsters
Playsuits - Swimming Suits
Withstand hard wear and tear
1700 OCEAN AVE. JU 4-0831

JOE and BILL'S
RICHFIELD STATION
LUBRICATION
Tires and Batteries
Washing & Polishing
1298 OCEAN AVE.

The Ladies' Shop
is proud to announce that
Carole King
Dresses For Juniors
ARE OURS ALONE
IN THIS CITY!
1532 OCEAN AVENUE

WE AIR EXPRESS
WE DELIVER WE TELEGRAPH
Chain of Flowers
Florists
CORSAGES — FLORAL DESIGNS
WEDDINGS
JUniper 4-9038 1805 Ocean Avenue
San Francisco 12

MAX'S DE LUXE
BARBER SHOP
Your haircut
as
You want it
1334 Ocean Avenue
2 blocks from campus

Ted's
Ocean Cleaners
50c
SLACKS • SHIRTS
SKIRTS
DRY CLEANED
Corner of Ocean & Plymouth

PRICES
Hand Finished Shoes
For Men
Featuring
Price's
Patented Styles

ONE PRICE 9.95 ALL STYLES
Styles that are different
Wear Unexcelled
Market St., S. F.
Oakland

It'll be worth your while to browse a while; at the
EL REY MEN'S SHOP
A sharp & colorful line of young men's haberdashery
Ties
Shirts
Slacks
Sweaters
Remember . . . as always . . . a
10% Discount
with your
Associated Student Card
Opposite El Rey Theatre

A. Walter McMurray

Ayoob's Sport Shop
Men's and Boys' Clothing
Featuring
Team & Club Jackets
Tailored To Order
Also Athletic Equipment
2598 San Bruno Ave.

Its a Strike! X
Bowl . . .
Johnny Swanson's
MISSION BOWL
Free Instruction Daily
3140 Mission Street

Paint & Decorate Figurines
Lil Audrey's
Dresden Craft
Free Instruction Daily
Also Tues. & Thurs. eves.
1443 OCEAN AVE. DE 3-4574

A Different
ICE CREAM SPECIAL
Each and Every Week
Daily from 7 to 3:30
Avenue
Coffee Shop
1612 Ocean Avenue

TYPEWRITERS RENTED
GArfield 1-6633
3 MONTHS
$7.50
Free Ribbon, Carbon Paper
Free Delivery
Tibbs Typewriter Co.
821 Market St., San Francisco

DAMAGED DOCUMENT

; Reynolds In ing Tourney

tra Football
ters Final Week

RAVEL - MINDED?

Students Travel Club
Morse Gleeson Co
Travel Agents

IRTS & TIES

Opera House Commencement

943 Don Caps And Gowns On June 16

A class of 943 Fall and Spring graduates is scheduled to receive degrees at the 15th annual commencement ceremony, to be held at the Civic Opera House on Friday, June 16, at 8 p.m., Lloyd Luckmann, dean of university parallel courses and commencement chairman, announced early this week.

The commencement program is being arranged by the graduation committee and caps, gowns, and invitations will be furnished to all Associated Student members without cost, while the cost to non-members will be approximately $5.00.

The list of Spring semester graduates is as follows:

Benay Abernathy, Charles Adams, Ila Adams, Stephen Agusdo, Alan Aikire, Raymond Alvarez, Jerome Ammerman, Pauline Anderson, Barbara Andreas, Frederick Antroll, Vincent Anzilotti, Peter Arroyo Jr., Peter Aslock, Wilburn Ashton Jr., Joseph Azzolino.

Dorothy Bagle, Francisco Baltodano, Monica Bandar, Ronald Barclay, Margaret Barnes, David Barnett, Wesley Barnum, Donald Barrau, Richard Barry Jr., Mariano Battaglia, Ellen Baumann, Lloyd Baumann, Donald Beeker, Henry Beeler, Irene Beeferd, John Beiforte, Frank Belleceil, Dean Bender, Charles Benson, Jackson Benson, Cordelia Bergman, Orton Bergren, Clayton Berling, Leo Bernhardi, Cecil Best, Marian Bevilacqua, Martha Biekham, Derwood Bird, Walter Blalock, Joseph Blank, Margaret Blount, Rex Bolitho, Gloria Bonitz, Norman Booth, Douglas Bosshart, Franklyn Botts, James Bradley, Mary Bradley, Herbert Brannon, Rodolfo Breen, William Briare, Tony Brill, Sandy Brousseau, Richard Brougham, Marjorie Brownwood, Gerald Brunette, John Buranis, Norwood Burdon, Merle Bush.

Dolores Cabeceiro, Kenneth Cacy, Roderick Caldwell, Dolores Callaghan, Eugene Carlson, James Carlson, Frank Carriz, Fernando Carrillo, Elaing Carslens, Nathan Carter Jr., Marina Casali, Luciano Casanoa, Alfonso Casas, Thomas Casinaren, Aripino Cerbalos, Jean Chalmers, Kin Chan, James Chan, Lawrence Chan, Alvin Chase, Mounir Chaya, James C. Chew, James G. Chew, Mong Chew, Frank Chin, Gail Chin, Harvey Chin, Herbert Chin, Hoover Chin, Hideko Chisaki, Carlos Chong, Juan Chong, Charles Christman Jr., Michael Churieb Jr., Arthur Clayton, Thomas Coke, Harold Cole, Joan Collins, Edward Conroy, William Conner, Raby Connolly, Angelo Contler, Jimmie Cooper, Paul Cooper, John Corcoran, John Corley, Donald Corliss, Stephen Cornaglia, Carlos Cornejo, Ernest Cortez, Clarence Corrapaul, Susan Court, Catherine Covington, Richard Cowden, John Craig, Ray Cronin, Leon Crosby, Ethan Cummings, Perry Cutler, Virginia Cutler, Marjorie Czelkowitz.

Vito D'Acquisto, Miriam Darvas, George Davis, John Davis, Richard Davis, Doris Dawson, Donald Debey, Joseph Delaney, Ronald Delucchi, Walter DeMartini, Edward DeMello, Lee Devol Jr., Jefferson Dewberry, Alicia Diaz, Willard Doble, Cyrus Donaldson, Michael Dooley, Conrad Dorn, Lucian Douglass, Donald Dozier, Boris Drabkin, John Dracopoulos, John Drury, Mansur Dadum, Kevin Duggan, Charles Dulmage, Kenneth Duncan, David Dunz, Arnold Dunn, Dimitri Datoff, Glenn Dyer.

Robert Easton, John Eckenrode, Henry Elder, Robert Ellis, Anita English, John Erickson, Rasim Es-saleh, Frederick Esser, Nancy Evangelista, Sylvester Evans.

Theodore Farm, James Ferguson, Dora Ferraris, Jean Fewins, Carolyn Flink, Clement Finney Jr., Jean Fischer, Konrad Fischer, Gilbert Fischer, Albert Flores, Charles Fong, Wai Fok, Eugene Foley, Fay Wong, Henry Fong, Ralph Fong, Milton Forman, Arthur Foss, Lewis Fox Jr., Mervyn Frandy, Gloria Franco, Philip Frank Jr., Ruth Freysinger, Nancy Frietzche, Virginia Fruling, Moss Fuerstenbach, Akiko Furilla.

Gordon Gahagan, Richard Ganzert, Mario Garcia, Joseph Garrett, Violet Gasparich, William Gedeon, William Gee, Wilfred Gerrdts, Winifred Gegan, William Gerlach, Paul Gilbert Jr., Raymond Gilmartin Jr., Warren Ginn, Jeanette Giovannelli, Kenneth Givens, Rose Glenn, Francis Glynn Jr., Patricia Goldman, Jack Goldsworthy, Boris Golochkoff, Barbara Goodwin, Victor Goria, Lloyd Grable, Henry Grant Jr., Lewis Graeberger, Charles Gregory, Robert Grewer, Sarah Grunigan, Barbara Gaedet, Edward Guenvear Jr., Aurelina Guerra, Frank Gutierrez.

Warren Hale, John Hall, Jennelh Hall, Edward Hanlon, Natalie Hansen, Gordon Hanson, Rose Harffe, Richard Harrington, Eloise Harrison, Dona Harrison, Richard Hart, Velda Hartzell, Vernon Harvey, Richard Hastings, Otto Hatcher, Arthur Hayashi, Donald Heffelfinger, Heber Heide, Dolores Heninger, Ersie Henry, Leonard Herbst, Raymond Hertz, John Henshaw, Robert Hiekman, Kazunobu Iligaki, Elaine Ho, Wanda Hodges, James Hoffman, Daniel Holeman, Robert Hom, Avice Hopps, Robert Horn, George Horowitz, Sharon Hoskins, Patrick How, Cynthia Howarth, Helene Howell, Patricia Huber, Robert Hughes, Thomas Humphress, Harry Ian, Bruce Ingmire, Chiyoll Iwao.

Ian Jackson, Lee Jackson, Peter Jackson, Roberta Jackson, Milton Jacobs, Robert Jacobs, Phyllis Jakson, Robert Jamews, Lois Janetsky, Beverly Jank, Thomas Jenkin, Lois Jester, Alvin Johnson, Bruce Johnson, Laurence Johnson, Mary Ann Johnston, Leland Johnstone, Donald Jones, George Jones, Harriett Jones, Richard Jones, Walter Jourdan, Patrick Joyce.

Walter Kalanta, Vance Kaminski, Theresa Kann, Robert Kaye, Joseph Kelchner, George Kelly, Lois Kelly, Jack Kennedy, Karalee Kimbeck, Calvert Kitasumi, Herbert Kosz, Argyle Knapp, Robert Krueger, Frank Kuhn, Gee-On Kwok.

Harold Lai, Norman [illegible], Eddine Laianne, Elva Lambert, Arthur Lang, Charles Lane Jr., Jack Lang, Bernard Langan Jr., Betty Langston, Genevieve Lantheaume, Dorothy Larocca, Jacqueline Lassers, Morfea Laves, Herman Lawler, Alfred Lawson, Raymond Leader, James Leaskou, Adele Lee, Betty Lee, Carmel Lee, Keong Lee, Lois Lee, Hal Leech, James Lehman, Henry Leon, Robert Leong, Sue Leong, Wallace Levin, Robert Levine, Robert Levy, Marcella Lewis, Effie Lim, Franklin Lim, Orma Lindsey, Therese Lippert, Andriana Litras, Hugh Llewlyn, Marianne Lloyd, Robert Loberg, Bruce Locken, Petros Lolonis, Florence Lee, Hilry Loo, Pauline Loo, Irene Loretto, Robert Loriano, Rodney Losberger, Theodore Lossman, John Low, William Lowe, Jose A. Lozada, Jose L. Lozada, Constance Lum.

Albert Maass, Gene MacDonald, Helen Mackay, Armand Magid, Donald Mailen, Francis Mandel, Richard Manseau, Bill Marcus, Jean Marenda, Helen Martin, Reginald Martin, Mary Martinez, David Marshall, Sabaro Masuda, Ernest Matsuoka, Frank Matsuno, Frank May, Ann McBride, John McBride, John McCallister, Patricia McGrath, Jack McKeen, John McKenna, Richard McKevitt, Margaret McKinney, Jeanne McKnew, Thomas McLaneellin, Robert McLaughlin, Dorothy McMillian, John McNally, David McNeill, William Meagher, Gerald Meibo, Vivian Meyer, Evelyn Mezzetta, Simon Miedema, Robert Miller, Robert Mills, Hugh Missner, Walter Mitchell, Louis Mittelman, Kiyono Mitsuiye, Paul Moffait, Frank Monte, Daniel Montrose, George Moore, Ronald Morettini, Francis Morimoto, Jack Morris, John Morrison, Pascal Magee, Edmund Murphy, Jesse Murphy, John Murphy, Thomas Murphy, George Murray Jr., Alice Myers, Liberi Myers, Vannie Myers.

Marie Nartia, Patricio Nash, Pedro Navarro, Alphens Nelson Jr., Robert Nemmeister, Howard Newson, Arthur Ng, Sau Ng, Raymond Nikarakian, Mary Oehl, Arnold O'Connor, Tom Ohgi, Merrill Olds, Charles Oliver, Erie Olsen, Darwin Olson, Richard Olson, Robert Ott, Paul Olyos.

James Palahay, Peter Pappageorge, Donald Parker, Kenneth Parker, Frank Patterson, Robert Pearson, Edmund Penabad, Curtis Pennington, Joseph Personeni, Martin Peterson, Irwin Phillips, Arno Poggi Jr., John Porter, Leland Pritchard Jr., Eugenia Psaltis, Catherine Puller, Feller Quust, John Quinley.

Donald Raab, Melvin Rogusa, Donald Rainer, Gerald Ramsdell, James Reed, Norman Reger, Karl Remmy, Betty Richards, George Rick, Allan Rillera, Clifford Robinson, Delores Rocha, Charles Rogers, Wm. J. Rosaia Jr., Peter Rose Jr., Katherine Ross, Glenn Roudabush.

Thomas Sadaia, Joseph Sakamaki, Fund Sakaia, Gerald Salmon, Roy Sandstrom, Toshio Sano, M. Stanley Sasso, George Savage, John Saylor, Alfred Scaralasi, John Schelling, Jessie Schermerhorn, George Schorn Jr., David Schoenfeld, Marjorie Schroff, Joseph Schultz, Elizabeth Scott, George Scoll, William Sea, George Sergeoff, John Shafer Jr., Martha Shaves, Sylvia Shiman, Dwight Shockley, Lupa Shuhin, John Shull, Raymond Simmons, Esther Simon, Darlo Simonetti, Ardath Smith, Herbel Smith, James Smith, Mirbi Soda, Edmond Soulle, Mervan Spencer, John Stack, Lee Stark, Walter Stenfath, John Stern, Earle Sleek, Harry Stehr Jr., George Stockfeth, Helen Stoker, Walter Stonum, Robert Storiz, Joyce Study, Bernard Stuebler, Beverly Sullivan, Chyoko Suzuk, Gloria Swift.

Arsenio Tabunar, Lois Taft, Jun Taira, Shioko Takatsuki, Jeanne Tanaka, Elmo Taylor, William Taylor, Samuel Tehakalian, Patricia Teiche, Ray Tekawa, Beverly Thal, Cleveland Thomas Jr., Donald Thomas, Howard Thomas, Ralph Thomas, William Thomas, Donald Thompson, Richard Thompson, Walter Thompson, Frank Thunberg Jr., William Toledo, Earl Tomlinson, Mary Tompkinson, Helen Tour, Pauline Tong, Annie Toy, Joseph Trunceek, Alfred Tsin, Harold Tudor, Robert Tyson, Beulah Ung, Wilfred Usserv.

Nancy Vande Luyster, Gene Van Dyke, Jeanne Vasilatos, Frank Vidmar, Alex Vlzek, Richard Vreeland, Ira Waldron, David Walker, Troy Wallitz Jr., Gladys Ward, Donald Warden, Milton Wasserman, Martha Waters, John Wee, June Welch, Robert Weller, Margaret Wells, Barbara Werner, James West, Richard West, Howard Whitman, Horace Wilde, Richard Williamson, Robert Williamson, Charles Wolfe, Allen Wong, Donald Wond, Paul Wong, Peter Wong, Wallace Wong, William Wong, Wilbur Woo, Catherine Wood, Charles Wood, Dewlih Woods, Francis Woomer, Dolores Wright, Edward Wright Jr.

Kazuo Yanase, Svintoslav Vasinitsky, Meylin Taste, Joe Yee, Russell Yee, Warren Yee, Fannie Yep, Lourdes Yangco, Yoneo Yoshiro, Alfred Zaft, Labeeb Zebiak, Albert Zinkand.

Six Scholarship Awards Listed

Six awards will be granted to students during commencement, Dr. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, said yesterday.

The awards are as follows:

The Scholastic Cup, on which the name of the graduating student with highest scholarship is inscribed; the President's Award Plaque, consisting of loving cups with their names inscribed for the graduating man and woman student who were most outstanding in service to the college.

The Alice Eastwood award of $100 is for achievement in floriculture; Harlan and the Nuodex awards, each consisting of a five-volume set of "Protective and Decorative Coatings," are given to a student of the day and night paint technology classes; Wall Street Journal award in Finance consists of a silver medal and a year's subscription to the Wall Street Journal.

Award recipients already chosen are Patricia Hauck for the Alice Eastwood award; James Venes, Harlan award; Frank Johnson, Nuodex award; John Low, Finance award.

By November, 1941, eight City College faculty members had already enlisted in the Army and Navy.

Forum Manuscripts Available At Bank

Unused contributions to the current Forum Magazine are available now at the student bank, Editor Curtis May said yesterday. The authors must pick them up now, and May expressed thanks to the authors for submitting them.

Prizes Awarded Festival Winners

Mardi Gras winners claimed their cups and prizes last week after the termination of what Associated Men Student President Norm Reger called a very successful evening.

A trophy was awarded to each of the following: Jo Ann Perron, Queen of the carnival; Robin Rosefield, selected King; Beta Tau fraternity for the best float; and the Filipino Club for the best booth.

Besides a loving cup, the King and Queen received gifts from the Ocean Avenue merchants. The gifts included a cashmere sweater, a skirt, a sport shirt and a sport coat.

Tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. television station KPIX will feature the Mardi Gras event, filmed by student photographer Herb Weiss.

Associated Student President Don Parker wrote the script which will accompany the film.

Alaskan Film Shown During College Hour

Spotlight on Alaska is the film scheduled to be shown today at 10 a.m. and again during college hour in Room 136, Madison Devlin, audio visual aids instructor, announced.

The audience will be taken on a tour of the fabulous fishing industry, Devlin said. Other shots show Mt. McKinley, the Matanuska Valley, the city of Sitka, and the Inside Passage with its overhanging glaciers and virgin forests.

WHY NOT STUDY THIS SUMMER IN EUROPE?
NUCLEUS STUDY TOURS

UNIVERSITY OF BORDEAUX	$485	OXFORD SUMMER INSTITUTE	$495
UNIVERSITY OF PARIS	545	UNIVERSITY OF COPENHAGEN	575
UNIVERSITY OF ZURICH	625	UNIVERSITY OF HEIDELBERG	590

ALL EXPENSE PRICES INCLUDE
ROUND TRIP AIR TRANSPORTATION TO EUROPE
TUITION, ROOM AND BOARD AT UNIVERSITY
RAIL TRANSPORTATION TO UNIVERSITY WITH RETURN TO PARIS
STUDENT TOURS—24 TO 70 DAYS—$645 TO $1195—ALL EXPENSES
STUDENT TRAVEL SERVICE LTD.
1540 E. 57TH ST. CHICAGO 37, ILL.

Let Us Patronize Them — RAM BOOSTERS — They Patronize Us

EXCELSIOR SCHOOL of DRIVING
LEARN TO DRIVE IN TRAFFIC!
DUAL CONTROLLED CARS
We prepare you for driver's examination
SPECIAL RATES
for students, payable in installments
4666 MISSION ST. AT OCEAN AVE.
JUalper 4-2687

AUTO - TRUCK - FIRE
Standard Form Policies
at Low Costs
Compare Our Rates Before You Buy
C. E. PEARSON
1125 Ocean
JU. 5-4478
Prompt Personal Claims Service

Gems of Art
Colorful Vacation Clothes For Youngsters
Playsuits - Swimming Suits
Withstand hard wear and tear
1700 OCEAN AVE. JU 4-0831

JOE and BILL'S RICHFIELD STATION
LUBRICATION
Tires and Batteries
•
Washing & Polishing
1298 OCEAN AVE.

The Ladies' Shop
is proud to announce that
Carole King
Dresses For Juniors
ARE OURS ALONE IN THIS CITY!
1532 OCEAN AVENUE

WE AIR EXPRESS WE TELEGRAPH
Chant Flowers
Florists
CORSAGES — FLORAL DESIGNS
WEDDINGS
JUniper 4-9038 1805 Ocean Avenue
San Francisco 12

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP
Your haircut as You want it
1334 Ocean Avenue
2 blocks from campus

Ted's Ocean Cleaners
50c
SLACKS • SHIRTS
SKIRTS
DRY CLEANED
Corner of Ocean & Plymouth

PRICES
Hand Finished Shoes For Men
Featuring Price's Patented Styles

ONE PRICE 9.95 ALL STYLES
Styles that are different
Wear Unexcelled
S. F.

It'll be worth your while to browse a while, at the
EL REY MEN'S SHOP
A sharp & colorful line of young men's haberdashery
Ties
Shirts
Slacks
Sweaters
Remember . . . as always . . . a
10% Discount
with your Associated Student Card
Opposite El Rey Theatre

A. Walter McMurray

Ayoob's Sport Shop
Men's and Boys' Clothing
Featuring
Team & Club Jackets Tailored To Order
Also Athletic Equipment
2598 San Bruno Ave.

Its a Strike! X
Bowl . . .
Johnny Swanson's
MISSION BOWL
Free Instruction Daily
3140 Mission Street

Paint & Decorate Figurines
Lil Audrey's
Dresden Craft
•
Free Instruction Daily
Also Tues. & Thurs. eves.
1443 OCEAN AVE. DE 3-4574

A Different
ICE CREAM SPECIAL
Each and Every Week
Daily from 7 to 3:30
Avenue Coffee Shop
1612 Ocean Avenue

TYPEWRITERS RENTED
GArfield 1-6633
3 MONTHS $7.50
Free Ribbon, Carbon Paper
Free Delivery
Tibbs Typewriter Co.
821 Market St., San Francisco

Cast Your Vote!

WILLIAM THOMAS, the Affiliated Students For Better Government Presidential candidate.

Candidates Address Voters Here

Affiliated . . .

The Affiliated Students propose to enlarge the social calendar by promoting all types of social activities.

They would repeal or modify the 100 per cent law.

They would do more than pay lip service to athletic insurance; they would put into effect a comprehensive insurance program.

They would underwrite, as money making propositions, opera and theatre productions.

They would promote a student store as a money making proposition and support the fine work begun by the college administration.

And we would give every group that wished it a voice in the conduct of Associated Student activities.

For a Square Deal in the Fall, I sincerely urge you to "VOTE AFFILIATED."

—William G. Thomas.

Fraternity . . .

One of the things the students want of the forthcoming government is the assurance that their funds will be disbursed in a manner that is satisfactory to the majority.

On March 2, the Student Council passed a ruling that required all organizations to have 100 per cent membership in the Associated Students before they could receive their funds. Because they found this ruling would curtail interest of some Associated Students the ruling was modified as you may see it now elsewhere in this paper.

I would like to assure you that I am solidly in favor of the ruling that protects your funds from seeping out into interests other than the Associated Students.

We do not have enough funds to meet our own needs. Let's not give any free rides.

—Tom Dill.

Cast Your Vote!

TOM DILL, the Fraternity Party's Presidential candidate.

Show Goes On June 2

SF Premiere Of Down In The Valley
Climax Of Opera Showcase Production

BOB SHERRATT AND PATRICIA FITZGERALD.
Featured in Opera Showcase Friday.

Culmination of college training for performance hits its peak Friday night when the opera workshop and music department stage the San Francisco premiere of Kurt Weill's American folk opera, Down In The Valley, in the Everett Junior High School auditorium.

Opera Showcase, as the presentation has been titled by the directors, opens at 8:15 p.m. with admission by invitation only. Some invitations are still available for students in The Guardsman office, at the bank, Dean Edwin Browne's office in Building two, and at the telephone operator's booth in the main building.

Opera Showcase consists of two parts. The first half features concert selections of grand and light opera from Samson and Delilah, Martha, Marriage of Figaro, The Medium, Il Trovatore, Madame Butterfly, Kiss Me Kate, and The Mikado.

Weill's opera, Down In The Valley, climaxes the show and is based on American folk songs, The Lonesome Dove; The Little Black Train; Hop Up, My Ladies; Sourwood Mountain; and Down In The Valley.

Opera Showcase is produced by Flossita Badger, opera workshop and musical director; Henry Leff, stage director; Meyer M. Cahn, orchestra conductor; Robert Morton, stage technical director.

The production staff is headed by Robin Dunn, manager; stage crew by Robert Segrin and Howard Newson. The sets were designed by Jean Cornish, while Michael Griffin, Rita Fabri, Dick Vreeland, Mervyn Murphy, Ed Mulvihill, Ken Wilson, and Vivian Breslin did the makeup.

Associated Women Students, directed by Jeanne McKnew, president, will usher Friday night.

Members from the Opera Workshop, A Cappella Choir, Band and Orchestra, and Folk Dancing groups are included in the entire program.

The folk dance group is under the direction of women's physical education director, Laurine Bergin. Members include, Gay Glickman, Jerry Herfield, Robert Kaar, Gene Kelly, Lillian Lawson, Mary Lee, Esther Mork, John Wilkins and Leroy Linn. Choreography for the dance is by Barbara White.

Everett Junior High School is located at 16th and Church Street.

The Guardsman Election Edition

Official Twice Weekly Publication of Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—WEDNESDAY, MAY 31, 1950 NUMBER 23

Members Flock To Polls!

Booths Open 9-3 Through Tomorrow; College Hour Facilitates Voting

By Bob Rezuk

Associated Student card holders flock to the polls today to vote for the kind of student government they want next semester.

Polls at the student lounge in Building 2 opened at 9 a.m. today and will close at 3 p.m. Voting will continue throughout these same hours tomorrow, with a college hour scheduled to give voters additional time to cast their ballots.

Voters face a fairly simple ballot, Election Commissioner James L. Potter said Monday. There are 21 candidates on the Fraternity Party ticket, 14 candidates on the Affiliated Students' Party ticket, and three candidates for sophomore council seats running independently.

Potter said the mimeographed ballots would list all candidates regardless of the offices they seek.

"I suggest that voters be decided on whom they are going to elect before they go to the polls," Potter said.

He suggested that voters take sample ballots with them when they cast their votes to facilitate voting.

Results of the election will be made public as soon as all votes are counted by electric IBM machines Thursday afternoon after the polls close.

Announcement of winning candidates will be made over the public address system on the west campus, and by a banner which will be displayed outside of Building 2.

In a final statement, the weary election commissioner said he thought the election had been run "fair and square," and added that he urged everybody to "get out and cast their vote."

He reminded all candidates that campaign posters and literature must be removed from the lounge before election time, and that campaigning

(Continued on page 4, column 2)

All Organization Representatives Must Meet June 2

All campus organizations wanting dates on the social calendar next semester must send representatives to the social committee meeting Friday, June 2, in Building 2, Room 2-at 2 p.m., Helen MacKay Associated Student vice-president, announced Monday of this week.

Rearranging bids for dates and solving other social activity problems are two important factors on the agenda for Friday's meeting, Beverly Janks, unopposed candidate for Associated Student vice-president, will officiate for the afternoon.

Dates will be issued on the basis of first come, first served, Miss MacKay further announced. Deadline for dates to be submitted for consideration Friday is today, she continued.

Club meetings are the only events scheduled for Friday's college hour which is from 10:40 to 11:20 a. m., Louis Batmale, dean of student activities, said yesterday.

Student Bank Wants Mardi Gras Tickets

Mardi Gras tickets still outstanding must be turned in to the bank by today, Oscar Anderson, controller, announced yesterday.

Any tickets not turned in to the bank by the deadline will not be redeemable, Anderson declared. The reason for this action is that the books must be cleared before campus organizations may being using their credit.

Council Approves 100 Per Cent Law Clarification

Final approval of a clarification of the March 2 100 per cent law ruling, including a method for enforcing the law, was reached by the Student Council last week.

The council passed a motion, made by Frank Boyd, to include the enforcement method in the Finance Committee's general clarification report submitted to the council Thursday, April 27.

The enforcement method reads as follows:

"Any activity or organization that is underwritten or sponsored by the AS or CCSF, and for which the school district is not financially reimbursed under the State Law ADA (attendance), is to be considered an AS activity and these organizations will be directly responsible to, and must obey, the rules and regulations of the Student Council of the AS of CCSF.

"Units are given students for certain AS activities; at such times these activities are financed by the AS and are produced, the activities or organi-

(Continued on page 4, column 2)

THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT'S Opera Showcase goes on stage Friday night in the Everett Junior High School Auditorium. Here, a few of the principals in Kurt Weill's American folk opera, Down In The Valley, rehearse their parts. In panel one, Mary Lee, Esther Mork, Gene Kelly, John Wilkins, Lillian Lawson, Gay Glick, and Jerry Herfield, folk dancers, run through their number. The camera catches Eileen Scott, as Jennie, insert, in a happy moment. Leader Andrew Stathis, panel three, with his arms outstretched, "pleads" Brack Weaver's case, while the chorus stands by. —Photos by Hilmer and Matthes.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

THROUGH these portals pass the world's most harassed mortals," would make an appropriate sign to be hung over the election booths today and tomorrow.

If you can read a ballot and mark an "X" (if not, they'll spell it for you and guide your hand), then you're fair game for the vote hunters.

FISH IN A BARREL

Did someone say "fair" game? Well, let's examine the facts. The voter (or fish) moves about the campus (or barrel) and is subjected to the candidates' advertising (which defies comparison).

This campaign advertising generally starts with posters that feature nice glossy photographs of the candidates. And if every man isn't a veritable Apollo, at least he's a Greek.

Then comes the problem of the long ballot. The "fish" is presented with no less than 21 positions to be filled. All too often this leads to a hopelessly confused voter, sitting on the main building steps, and mumbling over and over to himself, "... frosh council, soph council, flosh croupil ... I mean srosh cloun ..."

YE CAMPAIGN SPEECH

And if that wasn't enough, the be-set, be-labored, bewildered, and bewitched student is then presented with The Campaign Speech. They invariably begin, "Mahh friennds ..." and end with the most blatant lie in the history of mankind, "Remember, Ah don' care who you vote for just as long as you VOTE!"

And as soon as those words are spoken, we run like mad for the exit. You can stay and defy the lightning if you want to, but we've got too much to live for ... next semester's election, for instance.

NEW FRENCH COURSE

Can you pronounce "pouf!" correctly, or "sacre bloo"? Do you say "Charles Boy-er" instead of "Sharl Boy-yeah"? Are you ashamed to order in a French restaurant? Then sign up for French 11 next semester. No textbooks, individual instruction. Better check prerequisites first, though. Now you can attend French movies and understand the double entendres.

After the news story that appeared in The Guardsman, many expected Governor Earl Warren at the Mardi Gras. Explanation came in a telegram from the Governor to AMS President Norm Reger: "Sincerely regret that appearances scheduled in Southern California make it impossible for me to attend Mardi Gras celebration. Please extend my best wishes to all the students of City College for a highly successful affair. Earl Warren, Governor." Okay, Earl.

Feminine Viewpoint

Soph Royalty Reviewed

By Bobbie Jackson

ONE of the outstanding events on the semester's social calendar is the Sophomore Formal, presented by and for members of the Sophomore Class.

Past Sophomore Formals have been held at the Scottish Rite Auditorium in Oakland, but this time the affair comes home to San Francisco at Aquatic Park on Saturday, June 10.

The highlight of each Soph Formal is the midnight crowning of the king and queen. Candidates for this honor are put up by various organizations and groups on campus and voted for by members of the Associated Students.

According to tradition names of the winners are kept secret until the night of the formal, when they are revealed.

In recent years, the kings have included Bill Rosaia, George Capanis, Bill Konig, Frank Grant, Dave Huenergardt, and Lou Neilson.

Among the lucky queens who have been crowned at coronation balls are Norina Moches, Trudee Wolf, Phyliss Ryan, Margie Swanman, Beverly Huddleston, and Jean Wu.

Prior to elections, posters adorn the campus, as each candidate strives to attain this coveted honor.

Voting will take place on Wednesday and Thursday, June 7 and 8, when the women will choose a king and the men will elect a queen.

Candidates who have turned in their applications and photographs at this date include Harry Jones, Beta Tau; Bob Huffman, Kappa Rho; Cecil Best, French Club; George Rhebole, Phi Beta Delta; Jim Cooper, Alpha Sigma Delta; Kevin Duggan, Block S.F.; Bob Sorensen, Tri E; Jess Doran, Tau Chi Sigma; Mary Campau, WAA; Lynn Pedersen, Zeta Chi; Shirley Mariizen, Alpha Lambda Chi; Reggie Cummings, Phi Beta Rho; Ethel Smith, Delta Sigma Tau; Florence Haurihan, Kappa Phi; Ann McBride, Theta Tau; and June Welch, Delta Psi.

Each of these hopefuls eagerly awaits the evening when they will learn who the winner is.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, Number 23 WEDNESDAY, MAY 31, 1950 Page 2

Successful Participation In Government Offered; Voting In Elections Up To The Students

ON page four of this publication readers will find an open letter to the students of the college. It is a detailed, precise letter by Associated Student President Donald Parker urging responsible students to cast their ballot in the elections.

President Parker is apparently dejected by the lack of interest on the part of the students in the elections over the past semesters. In his letter he points out just why the responsible student on this campus should cast his ballot.

Although space limitations kept us from printing all of Parker's letter, one sentence stood out from the others. This sentence was reluctantly killed by us. But since the sentence could not be printed along with the remainder of the letter we would like to place it before the students here, as a sort of food-for-thought message. And also because we feel that it is the only remedy for greater participation in the elections; this election as well as future elections.

This is President Parker's statement:

"Effective democracy can only succeed through participation and self-expression."

Parker then went on to say that members of the Associated Students have the privilege to participate and that they as the electorate have the right to self expression. Both factors are closely united and it is to the students' advantage to vote.

We could go into a trite, hackneyed treatise on why Associated Student members should vote, but it is our belief that such an editorial would not draw very many more voters to the polls.

WE will say this, however. On page one are the statements of the two presidential candidates. Associated Student members should weigh them closely in their minds. On page four are the tickets of the two parties and the candidates running independently for seats in the Sophomore Council.

Associated Students should weigh these candidates in their minds too. After a decision has been made, the thinking student should go to the polls, as his privilege and right, and vote for the party or candidates of his choice.

There can be no justified complaints on the part of the students toward the manner in which student government is run on this campus unless said students cast their votes. Through the elections the students have the only method through which their wishes can be attained. We urge you to vote today or tomorrow in the Associated Student Elections.

Student Of Distinction: Moundsman McGovern Winner Of Four Games

By Gene Kelly

Bob McGovern, pictured at right, number one pitcher on Coach Bill Fischer's 1950 championship team, recently concluded his seventh year of active baseball by accounting for four of the Rams' ten wins during the recently ended season while losing only one game.

McGovern's career began back in 1943 when he helped pitch the Portola Junior High School Tigers to the city championship. Since then he has played semi-pro ball for many teams, among which are the San Bruno Market, Daly City Merchants and Bear Photo Service. At present his spare time mound duty has given him a winning record for Geisi's Liquors.

Three years of service with the United States Coast Guard interrupted the 21-year-old hurler's education, which he intends to finish at San Francisco State College. After obtaining his physical education degree from State he hopes to coach, as professional baseball does not tempt him.

Quite possibly McGovern will pitch against his former teammates next year if the Rams and Golden Gators again clash on the diamond. (Photo by Matthes.)

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Phi Beta Deltas, Alpha Sigma Deltas Elect New Officers

Whilst rambling around and about the club world we have come up with a few newsworthy items pertaining to recent happenings of the local social set and other campus organizations. So let's be on with it.

Yes, elections certainly seem to be in the air, for the Phi Beta Deltas elected their officers for next semester at the home of Bill Stevens on Tuesday evening, May 23. Next semester's hierarchy will be James Crough, president; Charles Robinson, vice-president; Ed Botsford, treasurer, and John Sarver, secretary.

The Alpha Sigma Deltas have also completed their elections of next semester's officers. Those who were recently elected are as follows: Al Kane, president; Bill Rosnia, vice-president; Jerry Burnette, recording secretary; Larry Ross, corresponding secretary; Bob Smirle, treasurer; Lee Zelinsky, historian; Charlie Blincole, "sarge" at arms; Dick MacFarland, parliamentarian; Ernie Smith, pledge master; and Frank Myer, CAB representative. The frat has set the date for their annual party for the evening of Saturday, June 17.

Elections are also on tap for the Tau Chi Sigmas at their meeting tonight. The names of the new officers will be released soon. A picnic, sponsored by the fraternity, is scheduled for Sunday, June 4, at which time several members of many sororities and fraternities will be invited to attend. The frat's formal dinner will be held Friday evening, June 9, at an as yet undetermined place, possibly the Claremont Hotel, in Berkeley, where it was held last semester, or at one of the clubs here in San Francisco.

The Beta Taus and the Theta Taus adjourned to the Russian River over yesterday's Memorial Day holiday to take advantage of the break in the grind of daily classes.

A meeting is scheduled for the Forum Club this Friday evening at the home of Adviser John Gerstung at 8 p.m. "California State Politics" is to be discussed with particular emphasis on the coming state elections. All members and guests are invited to attend.

A college competition contest in speaking was held last Thursday by the Phi Rho Pi Forensic Society in Building 19. The first, second and third place winners, whose names will be announced soon, received small trophies for their accomplishments. The winners' names will also be inscribed on the perpetual trophy. The contest is patterned after a like contest at USF.

Take It From Kays

Bees Prefer Honey Two to One

THEY say that farmers who have been stung at everything they try to raise eventually turn to beekeeping.

There are more than a million beekeepers in this country and they market 200,000,000 pounds of honey annually. California leads the nation both in production and consumption of honey.

EGYPTIAN HONEY

Honey is supposed to be the purest of all foods because its concentration of sugar is so high that bacteria cannot live in it more than a few hours. An Egyptian tomb recently yielded honey 3300 years old that was slightly darkened and thickened but still pure.

The custom of carrying the bride across the threshold dates back to the days when the Romans used to place drops of honey on the newlyweds' threshold and the bride had to be carried over it.

It has been calculated that a bee makes 37,000 trips to the flowers and back to his hive to produce a pound of honey, often traveling 8 or 10 miles per trip. When two bees from the same hive pass each other in flight we wonder if they holler, "What's buzzin, cuzzin?" (couldn't resist that one.)

ONE TRACK MINDS

Bees, we also found, work on only one variety of flower at a time. The produce from a certain hive, therefore, is labeled and sold as alfalfa honey, raspberry honey, goldenrod honey, and clover honey.

Bees have no ears but can see ultraviolet hues that are far beyond human perception and have 2,000 olfactory plates on their antennae that make for one of the most accurate senses of smell of any living organism.

During late spring and early summer, when the nectar flow is at its height, the bees work so hard that a large percentage of them drop dead from exhaustion. Another young bee is always ready to take the dead one's place and work continues. The bees must bring home 3 pounds of nectar for every pound of honey they make, and it takes about 480 pounds of honey to keep one hive alive.

DROP THAT HONEY!

After the labor of transporting the nectar back to the hive is completed, the fuzzy little buzzers still have to go through the long process of making wax and forming it into cells and evaporating the water from the nectar to convert it into honey. And after the task is completed somebody swipes it on them.

Anyhow it's something to think about the next time you pour what represents the life work of a few thousand bees over your pancakes.

Elmer Dickey To Appear On Opera Showcase Bill

By Mary Lou Cooper

Elmer Dickey will return again to City College briefly Friday, June 2, at 8:15 p.m., when he appears as guest soloist on the Opera Showcase program at Everett Junior High School.

This will perhaps be his last public appearance before he leaves for the east and Boston University. For Dickey has been chosen one of three in the country to receive a scholarship to this university.

The scholarship provides, in addition to regular studies, an opportunity for further voice study with the well-known Roland Hayes.

Dickey, a former student at the college and a music major, has put behind him many years of study and many years of hard work to acquire adroitness and perfection in his chosen career.

He demonstrated that while he was attending City College by participating in almost every activity that had a musical note attached to it.

Besides appearing in the Opera Workshop's production of Vagabond King, Dickey devoted a major part of his time to being a capable and business-like manager of the A Cappella Choir.

Dickey can also point with pride to his outside accomplishments in the musical realm. He has appeared on the Standard Oil concerts, which are beamed to all western states; twice he has been chosen as soloist for the famed Bach Festival held at Carmel, and he is leading tenor soloist at the First Congregational Church, to mention but a few.

Once, when asked about his singing, Dickey said: "I want to use my gift to comfort and lead the people, whether their circumstances are happy or chaotic, along 'The Street of Composers.' I won't rest until I can put over what the composers were trying to say, and until I can prove to them the comfort that music can bring to them. I am happy when I'm singing—it is my home."

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Rose Hardie
STAFF EDITORS ..... Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Avey, Larry Bales, David Brewer, Gracena Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, George Eberl, Barbara Egolan, Tee Gould, Ray Harvey, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kanava, Richard Larrick, Henry Loula, Herb Marvin, Warren Northwood, Bob Read, Elaine Stamos, Jack Vanderbilt, Georgia Watkins, Felton White, Ralph Wiesner, Eura Williams, Bernita Davis, Doug Maywood, Elsie Monroe.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcomb
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Kaye, Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, assistant; Jack Spalding, Bob Valli, John Dierking, Sid Russell.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandra Marks, Dolores Aguirre Assistants.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Steinheimer, Shirley Maritzen, Fred Matthes, Ken Hilmer, Herb Weiss, Dick Jarrett, Dick Lee, Kay Wood.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz, Mary Anne Quarteroli.
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normandy, Terry George, Harry Paretchan, Bob Easton.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Faculty Rule Favorites Over Sophs In Traditional Game On June 9

By Jack Spalding

With a power-laden lineup, somewhat resembling the now famous 1927 world champion New York Yankees (Ruth, Gehrig, etc., etc.), it looks like the faculty squad will run away with this year's Faculty-Sophomore classic.

The probable starting lineup will no doubt include such stalwarts as Roy Diederichsen, whose brilliant pitching has in the past held the Sophs in check, Joltin' Jack Brady (pictured elsewhere on this page), a power hitter of some note, and many others, such as Roy Burkhead, "Easy Ed" Sandys, "Laruppin' Lou" Batmale, Tom "Slider" Nesbett, Maurice "Hi" Power, Mike Monaco and Tom Dutcher, who may remind many fans of the great third sackers of Major League history.

In recent contests there has been much discussion about some decisions rendered by local umpiring material. The Sophs have come out on the short end of the deal and will probably demand eye tests for the umps and saliva tests for the profs.

This season's game is slated to get underway on Friday, June 9, at the local "Stadium," more commonly known to local baseball filberts as the football practice field.

This year's edition of the Soph squad has not yet been announced, but it has been rumored that they will be gaily attired in shorts, a la the Hollywood Stars.

The Sophs also are out to avenge last Spring's 15-13 overtime defeat on the basketball court.

Prof. Dutcher announced that there are still positions open in the faculty lineup and any faculty member interested in playing should drop a note in his (Dutcher's, that is) mail box.

An exciting game is in store for the fans, and both teams will definitely be out to add another victory to their record.

A double college hour, practically an added tradition of the game, is anticipated that day.

JOLTIN' JACK BRADY, a member of this year's faculty squad, may be one of the deciding factors in the annual Soph-Faculty tilt.

Guardsman SPORTS

Terrors Trounce Nite Owls 27-0 In Grid Tourney

The Nite Owls couldn't quite get their eyes open in time during last Tuesday afternoon's intramural football tournament, when the Terrors trounced them 27-0.

Automatically, like a mechanical man, the Terrors were moved up the ladder to the fourth round of eliminations of the tourney.

Drunkards were also advanced to the fourth round because of a forfeit given them by the Psychos.

Last Wednesday, May 24, was the big test for the Sparrows, Drunkards, Terrors, and Crusaders, determining what two teams would advance to the fifth and final round of the championship playoffs, which was slated too late for press coverage.

Pacing the Terrors to their first win of the league, and showing they had the stuff with a drug-down, knock-out affair with the sleepy Nite Owls, were Fred Magunarus, Joe Rudemetkin, Clipper Oliver, Terry Sweet, Dick Paoli and Nick Touelleotis.

As compared to last year's signup for intramural touch football, when only nine teams entered, this year's contingent for gridiron laurels has been pretty outstanding, with 15 teams entered for competition.

Last year's teams that entered the football league, were the C. C. Giants, Balboa Privateers, Guardsman, Trojans, Bears, Balboa Blues, Tipsters, Cavaliers, and the Rossi Mohawks.

The Balboa Blues won the championship finals by knocking off another brother team, the Balboa Privateers, 6-0.

With only four teams entered in the intramural softball league, which should have gotten underway last Monday, May 29, it looks like it will only take a couple of days to polish off the schedule set before them for intramural awards.

Because mostly of the formation of a new individual league, under their own auspices, the fraternities will not enter their respective teams in the college's intramural softball program.

Teams entered for the intramural softball tournament are East Bay DeMolay, Alpha Sigma Delta, Loungers, and Casablans.

Klemmer To Explain Football Situation To Local Prospects

By Bob Valli

A sign-up meeting, for students who plan to turn out for the college football team in the fall, will be held this Friday, June 2, in Room 207 of the men's gymnasium during college hour.

Coach Grover Klemmer will give an explanatory speech. Main purpose of the meeting, he said, is to acquaint the players with the coaches and the athletic situation here.

All students are invited to attend the sign-up meeting. Freshmen are especially urged to be present, since they will have an opportunity to meet fellow players and the coaches.

The grid schedule calls for nine games to be played in 1950. Five tilts will have bearing on the conference standings. Three home games are slated for Cox Stadium and one at Kezar. The latter contest will be against San Mateo in a night duel on October 27.

Several of last year's star performers are planning to graduate this semester. Among the stars of yesteryear who will leave the campus are Al Nethercutt to San Jose State; John Brown to University of San Francisco; Frank Puckett to University of San Francisco; Walt Jourdan to San Francisco State; Don Morettini and Bob Williamson are undecided between Nevada or Fresno State; Bill and Jack Marcus both to Nevada.

Reason that Morettini and Williamson, two of the college's top linemen of last season, are not decided as yet on their future university, is because of the complications that have arisen on the Nevada campus. A decision is expected to be reached within the immediate future.

Equestrians Take Part In San Mateo Show

Last Sunday the City College co-ed riding group took part in the San Mateo horse show, along with other bay area colleges. Our riders competed with riders from San Mateo, San Jose State, Stanford, San Francisco State, and University of California.

Divided into beginning and intermediate classes, the following composed the beginning group: Bill Edmondson, Marion Gan, Reva Howe, Doon Wong and Philip Frank. The intermediates competing were Lucille Bucher, Wanda Hodges, Victoria Carfagni, Charles Dutmage, Merritt Olds, Bob Olds, Bob Ott, Bob Parr, Pat Simmons, Elizabeth Stohbe, and Virginia Wayne.

NCJCC Abandoned In Favor Of Three Independent Loops

In a special meeting of all NCJCC directors of athletics in the student lounge here last week, the conference set-up was reorganized to include three independent conferences.

Because of the many colleges now enrolled in the NCJCC it was necessary to divide the colleges into three divisions, Commissioner Paul Clymer announced.

The new plan calls for three separate conferences. They are: BIG SIX—City College of San Francisco, San Mateo, Modesto, Stoekton, Sacramento, and Contra Costa West; GOLDEN VALLEY — Vallejo, Napa, Grant, Yuba, Placer, and Shasta; COAST CONFERENCE—Monterey, Hartnell, Menlo, Contra Costa East, Santa Rosa, and Marin.

The three conferences will operate under the control of Commissioner Paul Clymer of the College of Marin. Clymer will also be at the helm of the Coast Conference. "Tag" Taggart of San Mateo was chosen to head the Big Six. Wyman Olson of Grant Tech will be commissioner of the Golden Valley league.

Ram Golfers Grab Medalist Tourney

Modesto was the setting for another Ram golf victory last Friday and Saturday, May 19-20, at the Modesto Medalist Tournament, when Coach Ralph Hillsman's linksters stroked their way to victory over a field of opponents representing the Northern California junior college golf crop.

The Hillsmen clubbed through 180 holes, 36 apiece, in the two-day affair, and came out topside with Myrle Fisher the number two low scorer in the entire assemblage. Fisher was leading the field up to the thirty-second hole when he lost out to Menlo's Dick Taylor, who unexpectedly took the lead and held it until the end of the meet.

Close behind Fisher were Walt Stevens and Frank Hanlon, who also won medals in their respective divisions. Hanlon, in a close race for the number five medal, sank a 45-foot putt during the final rounds of his flight. Stevens tied for the number three medal.

The team tallied up a gross score of 795 points, which automatically awarded them first place, a repeat on last year's meet which they won also. But in contrast to last year, the college clubbers lost out in conference play to San Mateo.

During the entire Modesto session, four medals are awarded for the four lowest over-all scores, then medals for the lowest flight division scores.

Ram gridders in 14 seasons of play have racked up an 11-point average per game, compared to a 9-point average for their opponents.

MEL'S DRIVE IN
Famous For
Bar-B-Q Hamburgers
Fried Chicken, Etc.
Open All Night
Mission and So. Van Ness

"We Operate Our Own Plant"
3 Day Service
THE MONTEREY CLEANERS
Look at your clothes . . . other people do
643 Monterey Blvd. DElaware 3-7644
ALTERATIONS . . . REPAIRS

COLE'S
CITY COLLEGE
BARBER SHOP
Be Well Groomed
IT'S THE
KEY TO SUCCESS
ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

Make it a date . . .
• West Portal's
• Most Popular Fountain
DENNY DAIRIES
321 West Portal
Open Daily - - 8 a.m. to 1 a.m.
Delicious Ice Cream, Grilled Sandwiches and Waffles

Boulevard Market
667 Monterey Blvd.
Groceries - - Delicatessen
Fresh
Fruits and Vegetables
★
FREE DELIVERY
JUniper 5-3393

Visit World Famous . . .
"COFFEE DAN'S"
430 Mason Street
Where the celebrities meet in the wee hours.
Continuous Entertainment
11:00 p.m. to 6:00 a.m.
Ham 'n Eggs — Fried Chicken
you'll never forget
Where everyone goes to top off a perfect evening of fun.
Write: COFFEE DAN'S, 430 Mason Street, for Coffee Danner's membership cards. Entitles you to a 20% professional discount.

AFTER GRADUATION, WHAT?

When you graduate from Junior College, you may want to enter one of the business fields—accountancy, marketing and sales, production, finance, or personnel administration. If so, it's time now to start thinking about specialization.

Golden Gate College, in its day and evening schools, has maintained a distinguished record in preparing its graduates to assume important roles in all the major fields of business. Junior College graduates who have taken their degrees at Golden Gate College are successfully employed in Bay Area industries or in professional practice as attorneys or Certified Public Accountants.

If you plan to enter an occupation immediately upon graduation from junior college, summer term evening courses offer you practical training in Accountancy, Business Administration, Advertising, Insurance, Traffic or Law—training which will be invaluable in preparing you for advancement.

The opening date for the day schools of Accountancy and Business Administration in the Summer Semester is Friday, June 16. Some evening courses open in late May; others open June 13. Applications for admission are now being accepted.

Upon inquiry, you will receive a bulletin on the program of interest to you. Your college library also has reference copies of current college publications.

GOLDEN GATE COLLEGE
An Affiliate of the San Francisco YMCA
200 Golden Gate Avenue and 537 Market Street
Telephone PRospect 5-5774

Affiliated

President: William G. Thomas.
Sophomore President: Jerry Pozzi.
Freshman President: Ronald S. Zimmerman.
Sophomore Council: Joseph Azzolino, Rodney DeCristofaro, Edward Douglas, Jr., Alfred Marchesi, Virginia McCarthy, Charles M. Meyersson, Gene Wilkinson.
Freshman Council: Robert W. Bailey, Claire M. DeBacker, Douglas Hayward, Richard Schnel.

Parker Urges Students To Vote In AS Elections

An Open Letter To The Students Of The City College:

The mandate of student government implies that through government, students will develop an awareness of the social, economic, and political responsibilities of a community at large.

With this in mind, the educational community, consisting of the administration, faculty, and students must, through cooperative planning, create a program of academic and extra-curricular activities aimed at the achievement of this long-term objective.

One of the extremely unfortunate misconceptions of student government in existence today is that too often it is considered a separate and isolated part of the educational community. This misconception in effect, threatens the fulfillment of achievements obtainable through wholehearted association with others.

Student government must, therefore, be recognized as a cooperative venture if it is to be an integral part of the educational community.

This glaring deficiency evident in the structure of student life and student government on our campus is disheartening indeed. The solution to these problems lies not with the officers of your student government but rather with you who make up the students of this college.

The officers of this association and I are fully cognizant of the fact that each of you has certain defined and demanding obligations that you must fulfill. But, you do or should have certain defined and demanding obligations to your college, also.

Among these obligations association, tolerance, cooperation and participation should come before all others. To associate is to be tolerant; to be tolerant is to cooperate; and to cooperate is to participate.

As members of this association you have the privilege of participation; as the electorate of this association you have the democratic right of self-expression. Take advantage of what is yours and utilize it to its fullest advantage . . . vote in the coming student elections.

Constructively submitted,
(Signed) DON PARKER,
president, ASCCSF.

Independent

Sophomore Council: Patricia Innes, Leonard Rodney, Klaus W. Schaie.

Council

More About The Clarification

(Continued from page 1)

zations must conform to that section of the clarification which applies to said activity or organization.

"At the beginning of each semester when organizations apply for budgets, they must submit membership lists. These lists will be checked against the AS files. These members of the organization in question who are not members of the AS, may not realize any of the benefits of the AS unless they meet the conditions set forth in the clarification.

"As members are added to an AS sponsored organization, the names of these persons are to be submitted immediately to the AS Finance Committee."

The clarification itself ruled that students who do not desire to become members of the AS by purchasing an AS membership card for $5, and who still desire to participate in extra-curricular activities sponsored by the AS, must forfeit to the AS the prorated share of the cost of the activity.

Under the 100 per cent law, as it has now been clarified, students, who, because of financial difficulties, are unable to buy AS cards, may sign a pledge to earn their membership by doing constructive work for the college at a wage of 75 cents an hour until the pledge is fulfilled.

Certain sections of the clarification deal specifically with Alpha Gamma Sigma, campus police, Phi Rho Pi, publications and intra-mural sports.

More About The Voting In Lounge

(Continued from page 1)

of any sort is prohibited within 100 feet of the student lounge.

Randle Street, assistant election commissioner, said he believed the election was run in "an orderly, decent fashion," and that Potter had done a "fair job" in handling the whole procedure.

Newly elected student officers will be inaugurated in office Thursday, June 8.

Fraternity

President: Tom Dill.
Vice-President: Beverly Jank.
AMS President: Ralph Vetterlein.
AWS President: Jacqueline Lantheaume.
Sophomore President: Pete Larricq.
Freshman President: Douglas Smith.
Yell Leader: Charlie Barger.
Sophomore Council: Pete Chevrier, Pete Gentile, Edward P. Mulvihill, Joyce Ann Nelson, Gene Richards, Marvin Sharpe, Ernie B. Smith.
Freshman Council: Charles G. Leibscher, Duane McKibben, Robert Mazeres, Sydney Mumford, Maurice J. O'Brien, Richard M. Schambach, Allan Sebanc.

Petitions For Theta Tau Scholarships Due

Applications for the Theta Tau alumnae scholarship for City College women must be made in writing to Dean Margaret Dougherty before tomorrow.

Any college woman having 30 units and a grade average not less than C is eligible to qualify. The scholarship consists of 25 dollars for books and incidentals and also an Associated Student card, all of which will be available at registration.

Norma Moehes and Ronnie Morrison, Theta Tau alumnae, are the committee in charge of selecting the qualifying woman.

New CAB Officer Elections Today

New Club Activities Board officers will be elected today in Room 9K from the candidates nominated last week. Today is also the deadline for placing dates on next semester's social calendar, Stan Fletcher, CAB president, announced recently.

Either Frank Meyn, Alpha Sigma Delta, or John Allen, Beta Tau, will replace Stan Fletcher as CAB president. One of his responsibilities is to organize the proposed "Club Day" the first of next semester.

The vice-president's job, to be vacated by Reggie Cummings, will fall to either Fran Pearce, Phi Beta Rho, or Charley Robertson, CCSF Band.

Kitt Sornborger of the Forum Club, and Carmel Lee of the Chinese Christian Student Association, are running for secretary.

Fletcher urged CAB representatives to acquaint themselves with each of the candidates and find out as much as possible about them so as to select the best officers.

Final Examination Schedule

Spring Semester, 1950

Classes		Day	Hour
8	Daily	Tuesday, June 13	8:00-12:00
8	MWF	Tuesday, June 13	8:00-10:00
8	TTh	Tuesday, June 13	10:30-12:30
9	Daily	Monday, June 12	8:00-12:00
9	MWF	Monday, June 12	8:00-10:00
9	TTh	Monday, June 12	10:30-12:30
10	Daily	Thursday, June 15	8:00-12:00
10	MWF	Thursday, June 15	8:00-10:00
10	TTh	Thursday, June 15	10:30-12:30
11	Daily	Wednesday, June 14	8:00-12:00
11	MWF	Wednesday, June 14	8:00-10:00
11	TTh	Wednesday, June 14	10:30-12:30
12	Daily	Thursday, June 15	1:00-5:00
12	MWF	Thursday, June 15	1:00-3:00
12	TTh	Thursday, June 15	3:30-5:30
1	Daily	Tuesday, June 13	1:00-5:00
1	MWF	Tuesday, June 13	1:00-3:00
1	TTh	Tuesday, June 13	3:30-5:30
2	Daily	Wednesday, June 14	1:00-5:00
2	MWF	Wednesday, June 14	1:00-3:00
2	TTh	Wednesday, June 14	3:30-5:30
3	Daily	Friday, June 16	8:00-12:00
3	MWF	Friday, June 16	8:00-10:00
3	TTh	Friday, June 16	10:00-12:00
4	MWF	Monday, June 12	3:30-5:30

SPECIAL EXAMINATIONS: Hygiene 21—Monday, June 12 (Given in Rooms 100, 136, 200, 204, and 205) 1:00-3:00 p.m., and 3:30-5:30 p.m.; Hygiene 22—Monday, June 12 (Given in Rooms 209, 5K) 1:00-3:00 p.m.; Hygiene 12—Monday, June 12 (Given in Rooms 211, 9K, 5L) 1:00-3:00 p.m.; Pre-Nursing courses: Examinations will be announced by instructors involved.

Fencers In Open House Sunday

Bay area fencing enthusiasts will be entertained at an open house to be sponsored by the City College fencers, Sunday afternoon, June 4, in the women's gymnasium from 2 to 5 p.m., Helene Mayer, of the social sciences department, announced today.

There will be between 50 and 75 participants at the affair.

Foil fencing will be the most popular type, but the sabre and epee (duelling sword) may also be used for the informal program which calls for no specific matches.

Refreshments will be served.

Let Us Patronize Them — RAM BOOSTERS — They Patronize Us

It'll be worth your while to browse a while at the EL REY MEN'S SHOP A sharp & colorful line of young men's haberdashery
Ties
Shirts
Slacks
Sweaters
Remember . . . as always . . . a 10% Discount with your Associated Student Card
Opposite El Rey Theatre

A. Walter McMurray

Ayoob's Sport Shop
Men's and Boys' Clothing
Featuring Team & Club Jackets Tailored To Order
Also Athletic Equipment
2598 San Bruno Ave.

Its a Strike! X
Bowl . . .
Johnny Swanson's MISSION BOWL
Free Instruction Daily
3140 Mission Street

PRICES
Hand Finished Shoes For Men
Featuring Price's Patented Styles

ONE PRICE 9.95 ALL STYLES
Styles that are different
Wear Unexcelled
718 Market St., S. F.
1304 Broadway, Oakland

Paint & Decorate Figurines
Lil Audrey's
Dresden Craft
Free Instruction Daily
Also Tues. & Thurs. eves.
1443 OCEAN AVE. DE 3-4574

A Different
ICE CREAM SPECIAL
Each and Every Week
Daily from 7 to 3:30
Avenue Coffee Shop
1612 Ocean Avenue

TYPEWRITERS RENTED
GArfield 1-6633
3 MONTHS $7.50
Free Ribbon, Carbon Paper
Free Delivery
Tibbs Typewriter Co.
821 Market St., San Francisco

EXCELSIOR SCHOOL of DRIVING
LEARN TO DRIVE IN TRAFFIC!
DUAL CONTROLLED CARS
We prepare you for driver's examination
SPECIAL RATES
for students, payable in installments
4666 MISSION ST. AT OCEAN AVE.
JUniper 4-3687

AUTO - TRUCK - FIRE
Standard Form Policies
at Low Costs
Compare Our Rates Before You Buy
C. E. PEARSON
1125 Ocean
JU. 5-4478
Prompt Personal Claims Service

Gems of Art
Colorful Vacation Clothes For Youngsters
Playsuits - Swimming Suits
Withstand hard wear and tear
1700 OCEAN AVE. JU 4-0831

JOE and BILL'S
RICHFIELD STATION
LUBRICATION
Tires and Batteries
Washing & Polishing
1298 OCEAN AVE.

The Ladies' Shop
is proud to announce that
Carole King
Dresses For Juniors
ARE OURS ALONE IN THIS CITY!
1532 OCEAN AVENUE

WE DELIVER — WE AIR EXPRESS — WE TELEGRAPH
Chant Flowers
Florists
CORSAGES — FLORAL DESIGNS — WEDDINGS
JUniper 4-9038 1805 Ocean Avenue San Francisco 12

MAX'S DE LUXE BARBER SHOP
Your haircut as You want it
1334 Ocean Avenue
2 blocks from campus

Ted's
Ocean Cleaners
50c
SLACKS • SHIRTS
SKIRTS
DRY CLEANED
Corner of Ocean & Plymouth

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

1949 Member Associated Collegiate Press 1950

VOLUME XXX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—TUESDAY, JUNE 6, 1950 NUMBER 24

Tom Dill Wins In Presidential Race

Reporter Writes Home

'Foreign Correspondent' Observes Maneuvers In Campus Political Race

Among the interested spectators observing last week's Associated Student elections may have been an exchange student from Europe or South America who, suddenly, projected into the midst of the campaign.

He may have been a student reporter from the Universite de Lorraine Journal, or the Universität in Heidelberg Zeitung, or Universidad de Buenos La Prensa whose managing editor assigned him to cover the college's election campaign.

No matter where his homeland may be the reporter found himself in the center of an election filled with all of the electric excitement and excessive hoopla of a ward election in Chicago's Southside and then reported the story to his people. This may have been the story:

San Francisco, Calif.—City College is located in the southern section of this city and sprawls over roughly 80 acres of good earth. It once had scattered classrooms all over the city. In 1940 one building, the science building, was erected and all the students moved there. It stands there now, atop a windy hill, its silver dome glistening in the late afternoon sunlight, as the main building overlooking the two campuses.

To the east are the two gymnasiums, one for women, the other for men and to the west, toward the Pacific Ocean, lies the west campus composed of temporary structures. These are necessary because the college's enrollment has swelled considerably since the war in which our nation also took part.

Serene Campus Late in April

It is the last Thursday in April and the campus is serene. Yet, underneath it seethes with excitement, like a volcano about to erupt. In Building 2 on the west campus, where the women sailors were stationed during the war, the Student Council, which is the students' governing body, meets for its session. During the course of the meeting one James L. Potter, a chunky young man with thinning hair, reports that he, as election commissioner, is setting up the machinery for the election.

On Thursday, May 11, the commissioner announces the rules and regulations governing the election. (News is generally forthcoming on Tuesdays and Thursdays when the council holds its sessions.)

The next day, William Thomas, who wrote a political column for the college newspaper (the American Constitution provides for Freedom of the press and Thomas expressed his convictions often), is made presidential candidate for the Affiliated Party. The Fraternity Party candidate is Tom Dill. Neither have been officially announced as such, but it is obvious by the many congratulators who shake their hands that they are running.

During the next week the prospective candidates get their petitions from the commissioner. The petitions must be signed by at least 10 students and the counsellors of each candidate! This is necessary because the candidates must have their grades in order.

Fountain Gathering Place for Students

In the fountain on the west campus speculation runs rampant. This is where the students gather before, after, between, and during class time for refreshments. Over a cup of scalding, tasteless coffee, persons close to each party can be seen, heads together, talking earnestly. A chubby man in a rumpled fawn colored suit named Randle Street directs the campaign for the Affiliated Party. He can be seen talking to many people all over the campus.

Thursday the 19th is the deadline for the petitions to be in. Inside the office of the commissioner in Building 2 there is much confusion. People dash about, there is much shouting and loud talk, the telephone keeps ringing, photographers and reporters are there, candidates swarm into the office, and at last the harassed commissioner clears the room.

Then the Affiliated Party asks for and gets extension of the deadline for 24 hours. This done, three more candidates receive petitions but there is more confusion and only one gets put on the ballot.

Monday, May 22, the race is officially opened. The campus blooms out into many profuse colors from the posters put up by the candidates. The Fraternity Party immediately has many nailed up, while the Affiliated Party has some trouble. This is because their posters were being printed by the same organization that prints the posters for Earl Warren, who is running for re-election for Governor of the State of California where City College and Hollywood are located.

Matters get straightened out and soon both parties and the independents have posters covering all blank space on the walls.

Main Building Huge and Modern

Towards the end of the week the candidates make speeches in classrooms and make a recording of a 30-second speech, which will be piped over the public address system in the main building, which is huge and modern and has such facilities.

On Friday there is a rally in the morning in the auditorium where the candidates address the voters. Young men of both parties pass out handbills to those entering the auditorium, a dank, gloomy building, urging the people to vote for their party.

Inside, a few hundred scattered people are present which indicates to observers that interest in the election is low. The college band is playing selections from Oklahoma, a musical show and also the name of a state in the southwestern sector of this nation.

Election Commissioner Potter introduces the candidates running for the various student offices and urges everyone to vote. Then Thomas gives his speech. There is much hand-clapping by one side and much laughter and jeering by the other. At one point he mentions something about lower tariffs for Association cards. (All voters belong to the association.) This is received with mixed emotions. One side cheers while the other is positively overcome with laughter.

Now Dill makes his speech and the opening minutes are given to a rebuttal towards Thomas' speech. He gets back to the point after much

(Continued on page 2 column 4)

"IT MAKES A NICE PICTURE"

AFFILIATED PARTY presidential candidate William Thomas (right) and Fraternity Party presidential candidate Tom Dill engaged in a three-way handshake with pretty Beverly Jank, the Fraternity Party's veep choice, who swept into office unopposed last week, and then went right on campaigning for office. Dill and Thomas had just concluded their speeches in the auditorium when this picture was taken. Both put on a spirited campaign with Dill emerging the victor.—Photo by Steinheimer.

Four Speakers Scheduled In College Commencement

By Don Johnson

Four speakers are scheduled to participate in the commencement ceremonies, to be held at the San Francisco Civic Opera House on Friday, June 16, Lloyd Luckmann, dean of university parallel courses, announced yesterday.

Bert W. Levit, president of the San Francisco Board of Education, will deliver the greetings to the graduating class, and Dr. Herbert C. Clish, superintendent of San Francisco Public Schools, will make the presentation of awards.

Student speakers will be Associated Student President Don Parker, who will deliver the salute, and Randle Street, who will deliver an address to the graduates.

A commencement rehearsal is scheduled for Friday, June 16, at 2:30 p.m., Luckmann, commencement chairman, said. Invitations will be available in Room 185 of the Main building commencing Monday, June 5.

All eligible candidates for commencement who have not returned the cards indicating whether they will attend the commencement ceremonies should do so at the earliest opportunity, Luckmann said. No degrees will be issued at the exercises unless this order is complied with.

Law Enforcement Majors Offered Numerous Jobs

Placement opportunities for law enforcement majors are unusually high at the present time, Fred Fitzgerald, director of law enforcement, disclosed yesterday.

Fitzgerald named the following men as recently appointed to the San Francisco Police Department: Lloyd Carlson, Irving Marks, Kenneth Murray, all of whom were graduated in February, 1950, and Anthony Trochi, Francis Woomer, Robert Pope, S. G. Yashinitshy, James Augustine, who will graduate in June 1950. In addition, Lee Bottorff and Bryce Thompson have received appointments, although they did not complete the course.

Other students have been appointed as follows: Richard Lovell—Medford, Oregon Police Department, Willard Hutchins and Robert Patterson—San Quentin as correctional officers, Gordon Hall—San Mateo Police Department.

Of approximately 3,000 participants in the state-wide civil service test for Boys' Supervisor, Robert Lorinas achieved the third highest score and Glenn Dyer the ninth. Fitzgerald declared that men who have taken the college law enforcement course have also averaged a high rate of promotion.

Fitzgerald added that a large variety of fields are open to those who have majored in law enforcement.

Two Ad Students Win In National Contest

Robert Shepherdson and Don Briese were named winners yesterday in a nation-wide ad writing competition sponsored by the Gem Razor Blade Co. and promoted by the Federal Advertising Agency of New York.

Shepherdson and Briese, both students of journalism, enrolled in advertising courses at City College, won $25 Savings Bonds for their efforts. Shepherdson is a student of Fred Kelly in Fundamentals of Advertising and at the time he submitted his entry, Briese was enrolled in the copy writing course taught by George Mullany.

Fraternity Party Sweeps Council Seats

Fraternity Party candidate Tom Dill was elected Associated Student President for the Fall semester when he garnered 390 of the 696 votes cast to [illegible] opponent on the Affiliated ticket, William Thomas, in AS elections held last week.

Thomas received 281 votes. Voting was considered as light, but topped last semester's election by 55 votes.

The Fraternity Party captured all top positions and ten of the 14 council seats. Winning candidates and the votes they received are as follows:

Offices uncontested: Vice-President, Beverly Jank (F) 586; AMS President, Ralph Vetterlein (F) 586; AWS President, Jacqueline Lantheaume (F) 536; Yell Leader, Charles Barger (F) 528.

Contested offices: Sophomore President, Pete Larricq (F) 344; Jerry Pozzi (A) 297; Freshman President, Douglas Smith (F) 361; Ronald Zimmerman (A) 304.

Sophomore Council (seven are elected): Ernie Smith (F) 396, Joyce Ann Nelson (F) 378; Pete Gentile (F) 377, Pete Chevrier (F) 354; Rod De Christofaro (A) 346; Virginia McCarthy (A) 337; Edward Mulvihill (F) 327, Marvin Sharpe (F) 327 (tie).

(A recount of votes late last Friday was to determine the seventh soph council member which was a tie as indicated above.)

Runners-up Sophomore Council: Leonard Rodney (F) 304; Edward Douglas Jr. (A) 286; Joseph Azzolino (A) 253; Charles Meyerson (A) 231; Alfred Marchesi (A) 218; Gene Wilkinson (A) 191; Patricia Innes (F) 188; Klaus Schaie (F) 149.

Freshman council (seven are elected): Charles Liebscher (F) 389; Robert Bailey (A) 386; Duane McKibben (F) 378; Doug Hayward (A) 377; Maurice O'Brien (F) 368; Richard Schambach (F) 363; Allen Sebanc (F) 357.

Runners-up Freshman Council: Sydney Mumford (F) 356; Robert Mazeres (F) 327; Richard Schnel (A) 324; Claire DeBacker (A) 299.

Weary Dill Hopes For Semester Of Progress

Both AS presidential candidates, showing strains of campaign fatigue, received the results of AS elections calmly when they were announced by Election Commissioner James Potter late last Thursday.

President-elect Tom Dill said he "sincerely hopes that next semester will prove to be an outstanding period in the advancement of the college." He said he appreciated the criticisms voiced during the campaign and that he would always encourage constructive criticism.

William Thomas, who opposed Dill, expressed thanks to students who supported his campaign and Dill for his "good sportsmanship and fairness" during the campaign.

Double College Hour Scheduled Friday

To facilitate student activities, a double college hour has been scheduled next Friday, June 9, Louis Batmale, dean of student activities, announced yesterday.

The annual faculty-sophomore softball game, to start during the first college hour at 10:40 a.m., and open to all students, will be played on the football practice field. There is no admission charge.

Next Friday's college hour also provides for club meetings, Batmale said.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

WITH vacation just around the next few corners, it seems logical at this time to discuss the plight of the poor (literally speaking, that is) student.

Released from his natural environment, the student is turned loose in the world with scarcely anything to occupy his time. A job, a few weeks up the river, a scant month or two at the beach or up in the mountains, it's a dog's life.

VACATION PLAN

And so, with the students' best interests at heart, we herewith present A Plan For A Happy Vacation, or How To Get In The Main Vault Of The Bank Of America Without Setting Off The Alarm.

The main thing to remember when job-hunting is to take great care in choosing an employer. Rich widows (preferably between the ages of 18 and 24) and absent-minded millionaires should be given first consideration.

If none of these are available, why not go into business for yourself? There's always room for newcomers in such lucrative fields as pocket-picking, forgery, and purse-snatching.

Inquire at your local police station for more information concerning these trades.

RECIPE FOR SUN-WORSHIPPERS

As for the beach, river, or mountains, their prime purpose is for sun-bathing. For best results, follow this schedule: first skewer the student on a spit, then rotate every half hour and baste well with "Skol." After a few hours the skin will turn bright red and the student will emit a piercing scream when touched. This means that he is medium rare, and ready to be served.

Success story number one: Photo major and Guardsman staff photographer Shirley Maritzen took first place in the Retlaw Camera Club's monthly contest for May. Then, not satisfied, she won second place too. . . . Success stories numbers two and three: Merchandising majors Jack Conway and Bob Sherwood, respectively of Hales and Sears, both won prizes recently. Conway got third place in an employee contest at Hales. Sherwood received three awards for three suggestions he handed in.

Why not drop around Building 4 (upstairs) sometime between now and June 16 and see the art exhib put on by students of instructor Wilton Weidman. Includes water, pen and ink, and architectural design drawings.

During last week's election we loudly boasted, "If ..... doesn't win I'll eat my hat!" Does anybody know how to cook a grey fedora?

Feminine Viewpoint

Women's Work Reviewed

By Bobbie Jackson

ALONG about this time each semester, one begins to look back on the accomplishments performed in the past months, and the people who played an outstanding role in aiding the college to achieve recognition.

First on the list of those who gave service are the women who took an active part in the student government. Vice-President Sand MacKay and Associated Women Student President Jeanne McKnew, along with council members Ann McBride, Patty Patterson, Joan Meranda and Margie Bergset deserve credit for their work; even if they did not raise their voices too often in the council meeting discussions.

Along with her council duties, Miss Patterson has also done much to bring the college band into the public eye with her work as student band leader.

Others who have given much service in student government include Associated Student Secretary Lois Hoffmen, Publicity Chairman Mary Lou Cooper, Club Activities Board Vice-President Reggie Cummings, and AWS officers Shirley Maritzen and Tish Moyer.

Miss Maritzen has also been a successful staff photographer for The Guardsman and has taken many pictures of campus events and of candidates for student offices and contests.

Turning to the entertainment side of college life, it should be noted that many women have brought honors to the college through their talents.

Eileen Scott, who starred in the recent production of Down In The Valley and last year's Marriage of Figaro; Irene Sherman, Roberta King and Irene Boulet and Pat Fitzgerald have been a major part of the Opera Workshop; while such favorite actresses as Vivian Breslin, Barbara Andress, Cam Justinson, and Pat Wilson have been outstanding in Little Theater productions.

Another woman who has contributed to publicity by means of her talent, is Felice Quast whose ideas and art work have been instrumental in many advertisements of college activities.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, Number 24 | TUESDAY, JUNE 6, 1950 | Page 2

Turnout Of Voters In Election Disappointing To Both Parties

LATE last week, while bands were blaring and candidates were appealing for votes, the Associated Student elections were run off. The turnout of voters was disappointing and unsatisfactory to both parties—the Fraternity Party and the Affiliated Party.

Only 696 votes were cast in the elections. This total represented little more than one-fifth of the total Associated Student membership which numbers roughly 3000. Last semester's total vote numbered 641.

Thus only 55 more votes were cast in this election. Not a great improvement, this.

The lack of student interest in their government is quite apparent. We overheard a typical comment by one student last week. The remark was passed to another student just as a man with a loudspeaker in his hand strode by urging everyone to vote.

"I'm not voting because I don't know any one of the candidates," was the remark and this just at the height of the campaigning on Thursday. That seems to sum up the reaction on the part of the students at this college toward their right to vote.

If that particular student and the other four-fifths of his indifferent fellows had summoned up a little interest in his environment then perhaps he would have "known someone."

THE spring semester 1950 is rapidly drawing toward a climax—Finals, which will be held June 12 to 16. Likewise The Guardsman makes its final Volume 30 appearance next Friday.

One last big social event is still to be held when the Sophomore Class holds its annual dance at Aquatic Park Saturday, June 10. Plans for this affair have been formulated by Sophomore President Bill Rosaia and his committee. Several elaborate steps have been taken to insure the success of the dance. A well-deserved pat on the back goes to Rosaia and the committee for the work they have put into the dance.

On the lighter side of things, the Sophomores and the Faculty clash in a game of softball next Friday on the Ram football field. Once again this semi-annual mismatch—the sophs look great on paper but lose on the field—should provide fun and the usual comedy of errors, baseball variety.

Dispatches from the front indicate that the faculty has lined up a heavy hitting club with which to compete against the youthful sophomores. It'll be the old test of youth versus age Friday.

Student Of Distinction: Norm Reger Lauded As Mardi Gras Promoter

By Don Cunningham

Arriving at a time when the summer months are just beginning to work their way into student functions, the Mardi Gras lands on the campus in a burst of carnival color and gaiety.

And each year the task of planning this most eagerly awaited event falls into the hands of some student capable of professional promotion. In this case such a student was Associated Men Student President Norman Reger.

Reger's efforts on behalf of this year's Mardi Gras celebration made it one of the most carefully planned events in the college's social history.

Along with being chairman of the Mardi Gras, Reger has played a huge part in student affairs and has crusaded for improved conditions on the campus. He is an active member of the Student Council and also has been chairman of Associated Student card sales. His list of student activities also includes membership in the Omicron Phi Pi economics club.

A graphic arts major, Reger, in his position as head of the Mardi Gras appeared on many local radio and television shows as advance advertising for the affair.

Reger plans to carry on printing management at San Jose State after graduation. (Photo by Hilmer.)

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Clubs Strive To Cram Many Activities Into Dying Semester

This semester is fast drawing to an end, and those of the club world are currently trying to cram as many activities into the dying term as possible.

Moving right along are the Gamma Phi Ypsilons who have recently elected their officers for the Fall '50 semester. They line up thusly: Joe Litcofsky, president; Bruce Tomlaugh, vice-president; Dave Maher, treasurer; George Zaits, secretary; Boris Orloff, brother-at-large; George Korbay, historian; Joe Novello, custodian; Jack Redman, pledge master; Walt Winters, IFC representative; George Goodyear, CAB representative; and Con Davidenko, the sarge-at-arms. The following pledges were initiated at the frat's formal initiation last Friday evening at the Riviera Restaurant: Zaits, Korbay, Goodyear, Novello, Redman, Winters, Davidenko, Warren Thomas, Gene Kelly, and Henry Drenth. The initiation was followed by dinner dancing.

The Tau Chi Sigma pledges also received their pins at Jerry Slater's 'casa' on Saturday, May 27. The formal initiation was followed by a party at the same residence.

A formal initiation was also held by Theta Zeta Chis last Wednesday at the home of Felice Quast, the sorority's president. The following received their pins at the affair: Olive Childs, Ruth Ducas, Barbara Edwards, Barbara McAuley, Pat Wilson, Joan Wernham, Carmen Savage, and Nadine Yoeman.

The Alpha Phi Omegas held a Chinatown tour Friday, May 26. The men toured San Francisco's famous landmark and wound up the evening's activities with a dinner at the Far East Restaurant. The date has also been set for their semester banquet, Thursday, June 15, as an as yet undecided place. The recently elected officers for the Fall semester are to be installed at the dinner.

Adobe Creek was the site for the Engineering Society's picnic on Sunday, May 28. An enjoyable time was had under the warm skies by all the members and guests who attended.

Here's a romantical tidbit. On Monday morning, May 29, Ernie Smith of Alpha Sigma Delta gave his pin to Betty Susman of Delta Psi.

That's all from here for now.

PanoRAMa With Jones

Library Stickup Victim Hushed

POSSIBLY you have cast frantic glances about a library when you have been 'shushed' by one of the librarians. You were inquisitive about whom it was they didn't want you to wake up. But, more than likely, you know that silence is not only golden in any library, it's more precious than a ticket to South Pacific.

If you're one of those who takes a deep breath, enters the library, goes to the card file, locates his hook, then searches for it in the maze of book shelves, waits the required ten minutes in line to get it checked out to you, and then rush out of the library to exhale, you'll sympathize with G. S. of Baltimore.

BOOK LOVER

G. S. was doing his best, recently, to tiptoe out of the Baltimore Public Library when a fellow book lover walked up to him and said, in a normal voice, "Give me your money or I'll blow your brains out."

While librarians frowned and 'shushed,' G. S. handed over his wallet as quietly as possible, and he whispered the question, "Could I have my wallet back? I have some valuable papers in it."

The fellow book lover, who apparently loved the green stuff more than books (the fool!), nodded and whispered instructions for the money to be extracted first. Then he quietly slipped out of the building.

Makes a fellow want to turn his library card in on a bass drum.

More Campaign News

The IBM Takes Over

(Continued from page 1)

cheering and jeering and concludes his speech. Then Potter, with stop-watch in hand, gives each another minute to speak. Thomas refutes Dill's statements and Dill does likewise. The band strikes up and everyone leaves.

After the rally Dill and Thomas shake hands for a photographer and pose with the vice-presidential candidate, a pretty girl, Beverly Jank, who is running Fraternity. It makes a nice picture.

Monday, the campaign moves faster. The candidates make hurried speeches, and rush off to the next place. Loudspeakers proclaim the abilities of the candidates and urge everyone to vote a straight party ticket. (Party workers do this work.) Tuesday, a holiday commemorating American war dead, there is no session of the college.

Polls Open at Nine in the Morning

Wednesday the elections begin at nine and all posters and campaigning ceases within 100 feet of the polls. The voters file into Building 2 and mark their ballots. The polls close at three and on Thursday a college hour is held to get more people to the polls

At three in the afternoon the polls are closed and the ballots are counted on an electric machine, used for grading examination papers.

The commission wearily trudges to the room in Building 3, where the persons handling the registration of the students into the college do their work, and begins the huge task of counting the votes.

After the counting has been done the election commissioner announces to the reporters present (they are waiting to print the news in the college paper) the results. Then he returns to Building 2 and puts out a banner with the victor's name on it. Finishing that the commissioner announces the results over the loud and coarse public address system amplifier.

There are many cheers and jeers when the winner, Dill, is announced to the waiting and eager student populace. Those who backed the loser walk away crestfallen with their chins on their chests. Grins and much cheering is seen and heard from the people who supported the victor. The crowd is well behaved on the whole, and no rioting breaks out as it does so often in our nation after a crucial election.

Friday the News is Known

On Friday, the news is out to almost all of the students. The janitor, who gets paid as much as the mayor of our town, cleans up the debris slowly and mechanically.

That is how an exchange student reporter might have observed the college's election campaign. He might have seen that the will of the majority of those who voted was carried out through the democratic process of an election. He might also have seen, after the votes were counted, that few students had any real interest in the election. That only 696 out of 5000 cared enough to vote.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Réa Hardie
STAFF EDITORS ..... Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Avey, Leroy Bales, David Brewer, Grecene Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, George Eberl, Barbara Eggan, Tan Gould, Ray Harvey, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kaneya, Richard Larrick, Henry Louie, Herb Marvin, Warren Northwood, Bob Reizel, Elaine Stamos, Jack Vanderbilt, Georgia Watkins Felton White, Ralph Wiesner, Eura Williams, Barnits Davis, Doug Hayward, Elsie Monroe.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcomb
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Kaye, Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, assistant; Jack Spalding, Bob Vath, John Diersing, Sid Bedell.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandra Marks, Dolores Aguirre, Assistants.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Steinheimer, Shirley Maritzen, Fred Matthes, Ken Hilmer, Herb Weiss, Dick Jarrett, Dick Lee, Kay Wood.
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz, Mary Anne Quartarolo.
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normanly, Terry George, Harry Fereichan, Bob Easton.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ..... Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
481 Market Street, San Francisco | 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

DIMINUTIVE Skip Carnegie takes over the chores of utility infielder in this year's traditional Sophomore-Faculty softball contest.

Known to many followers of this season's Ram basketball squad as a smooth player on the court, Carnegie's ability afield has been rumored to be a great asset to this year's Sophomore squad.

Sophs Seek To Upset Faculty In Annual Tilt

By Jack Spalding

Tension is mounting rapidly in Sophomore and Faculty training quarters as the day approaches for this season's classic of the diamond, the annual Sophomore-Faculty softball game.

This season's contest is slated to start at 10 a.m. this coming Friday on the football practice field. A thriller can be expected by all who attend.

Soph field captain "Hustling" Harry Williams announced a lineup with which he hopes to down the "villains" of the day, commonly referred to as "those people—the faculty."

Supporters of the faculty squad gaze with awe at the power-laden lineup which will include Frank Suega at first base, Wall Stevens at the hot corner, and the keystone combination of Williams and Frank Meyn.

Patrolling the outer gardens for the Sophs will be Kev Duggan, George Reibholtz, Dean Bender, and Lou Williams. Hook Arata has consented to handle the famous fireballing right-hander, Babe Samson.

Utility members of this club, which hopes to avenge last season's bitter defeat by the profs, will in all likelihood be Skip Carnegie, Randy Street and Walt Heil.

In an attempt to lessen the amount of "arguing" which has in the past marred these games, this season's tilt will find the umpiring duties split between the sophs and the profs. From the faculty group will come Ed Browne, a credit to the "blind Tom" profession. Don Parker will be the arbiter from the ranks of the sophs.

Field positions for the profs have as yet been unannounced by leader Tom Dutcher, but these faculty members will make an appearance in the coming contest: Roy Diedrichsen, Roy Burkhead, "Easy" Ed Sandys, Maurice "Hi" Power, "Larrupin' Lou" Batmale, Tom "Slider" Nesbitt, Dutcher and Mike Monaco.

Everything considered, this year's edition of the Soph-Faculty game appears to have great possibilities as a thrilling, loosely-played contest. Both teams feel that their chances of emerging victorious from the game are good and they both want the win on their record.

No Playoffs Scheduled In New Conference

Now that the new "three conference system" will definitely go into effect next Fall, the Northern California Junior College Conference will boast three champions per sport instead of the conventional one.

As reported last week, the NCJCC split their present Northern and Southern Division loop into three separate and independent conferences. Athletic Directors, who passed this new three-circuit set-up, have decided that each league will have its own overall champion.

Only in the case of track and swimming, in which individuals, rather than teams are points winners, will a single title be awarded. Invitational meets both in track and swimming will continue to be held in order to acknowledge the conference champion.

No playoffs will be scheduled in other sports. The winner of each conference will be the official champion of its division and, Commissioner Paul Clymer added, no tournaments are proposed to prove the best squads.

It is expected that in basketball the Sacramento Regional finals will once again disclose who will represent the NCJCC in the National Two-year tourney.

In football, the board of directors of the Gold Dust Bowl, a privately-handled enterprise, will choose any two colleges they desire for their annual post-season grid classic.

In most sports, a round-robin schedule will be maintained.

COLE says . . .
"Be the man of the year with the haircut of the hour."
COLE'S BARBER SHOP
Across From West Campus

RIGHT FOR SODAS
RIGHT FOR SHAKES
RIGHT FOR SUNDAES
and
OUR HEARTY, TASTY HAMBURGERS
●
ROBIN HOOD'S
Next Door To The El Rey Theatre
Free Parking At The Rear
1962 Ocean Ave.

LOCAL FANS who have in the past watched Kev Duggan on the basketball court may be shocked next week to see him in another role, this time that of a right fielder.

Duggan is scheduled to open in the louter garden spot for the Sophomore squad which meets the Faculty this Friday.

WAA Feted At Beach Dinner

The Woman's Athletic Association will hold its semi-annual barbecue at Fleishhacker Beach this afternoon at 4 p.m. Dinner and entertainment will be provided for all members and their guests.

The co-ed fencing society held a round robin demonstration yesterday afternoon behind the men's gymnasium. The various skills associated with fencing were included in the demonstration.

WAA swimmers who competed against Napa, San Mateo, and Santa Rosa at Napa, placed third. Races included the 25-yard free-style, 25-yard backstroke, free-style relay, medley relay, and stunt relay. Phyllis Bigham took first in the 25-yard backstroke. Final tally placed Napa first with San Mateo a close second.

For Shakes that are Swell and Hamburgers as well visit the
RAM SHACK
1051 Ocean Avenue
Across from West Campus

"We Operate Our Own Plant"
3 Day Service
THE MONTEREY CLEANERS
Look at your clothes . . . other people do
643 Monterey Blvd. | DElaware 3-7644
ALTERATIONS . . . REPAIRS

BROOKS
West Coast Rollei Headquarters presents
ROLLEIFLEX AUTOMAT
The name Rolleiflex has long been famous for superior reflex cameras, and this, the ROLLEIFLEX AUTOMAT for 1950, is one of the top models—at a new, low price. With 8mm f2.8 T-coated Tessar, Compur Rapid shutter and f2.8 viewing lens, built-in synchronization, self timer, new-type eveready leather case $325
ROLLEICORD with f3.5 coated Triotar, built-in synchronization . . . 119.50
Complete line of ROLLEI ACCESSORIES
BROOKS
The Photographic Dept. Store
Budget Terms Available
EXbrook 2-7348

Augustine Finishes Unbeaten As College Judo Season Closes

By Syd Russell

Judo artist Amelio Augustine literally pressed, choked, and threw his way into the ranks of the coveted black belt on Sunday, May 28, when 200 followers staged their annual Jamboree on the Berkeley YMCA mats.

Winning three out of a possible four matches, and drawing in the fourth, Augustine culminated his 1950 season without a defeat.

Three years a follower of the art, Augustine's performance on the 28th was not only a fitting climax to the work he has devoted to the sport, but is also a tribute to Duke Moore, college coach, the man who initiated Augustine to judo. Moore was present in the stands.

Not only was Moore pleased with Augustine's excellence, but an overflow crowd of 500 gave the City College boy a thunderous ovation as he was awarded his black belt.

Five other men competed with Augustine for judo's top honor; however, when the judges made the final recapitulation, Augustine was the only contestant awarded a black belt.

The judo jamboree catered to approximately 40 schools and academies, with participants coming from as far as San Diego.

Augustine, the only Ram entry, competed as a black belt throughout the college season. At that time he was a "knowledge" artist. "Knowledge" in judo terminology means that "a man has the savvy," but before he can become a full fledged black belt holder, he must exhibit that knowledge in natural competition.

Terrors Win Over Drunkards 13-0

The Terrors were not threatened once in the intramural play-off of the touch football tournament, when they knocked off the Drunkards 13-0, Wednesday, May 24.

Outclassed all the way, the Drunkards didn't know what hit them when the Terrors outcharged, outblocked, outran, and outpassed them during that hectic championship battle.

In the previous fourth round of eliminations, the Drunkards squeezed by the Sparrows 7-6, and the Terrors tied the Crusaders 6-6, yet won the contest when it went into overtime, with the team gaining the most yardage in six downs as specified by the rule book, declared the victor.

Pacing the Terrors to their tournament win were George Magnaras, Bill Rudometkin, George Voronin, Bob Frazier, John Rubele, Leo Puoll, Jack Bettencourt, George McLaughlin, Terry Sweet, Nick Touellcotis, and Manager Clipper Oliveru.

Softball league got under way last Wednesday, May 31, on the football field.

Go to HELLER'S

for crepe-soled Brushed Leathers! Sensational suedes in blue or brown.
$9.95
Open Monday nights till 9:00
Heller's WINTHROP SHOES
722 MARKET STREET

Here Is Wishing You All
A Happy Summer Vacation.
It Has Been My Pleasure
To Serve The Students And Faculty Of City College of San Francisco
For The Past Four Years
And It Will Be My Pleasure
To Serve You In The Years To Come.
Meanwhile . . .
My Truck And I Will Be On Hand
At China Beach
To Serve You During The Summer Months
KAHN (Pop) MIHAN

TOP ROW left to right: Cecil Best, Mary Campau, Jim Cooper, Regina Cummings, Jess, Doran, Florence Hourihan, Kev Duggan, Shirley Maritzen. Second panel: Ann McBride, Bob Hoffman, Lynn Pederson, George Rhebole, Ethel Smith, Bob Sorenson, and June (Pat) Welch.

CAB Elects Fall Semester Officers; Student Council Accepts By-Laws

Frank Meyn, Alpha Sigma Delta, was elected President of the Club Activities Board for next semester at last week's meeting of the CAB. The new CAB by-laws were accepted by the Student Council also last week.

Serving with Meyn next semester will be Charley Robertson, CCSF Band, as vice-president, and Kitt Sornborger, Forum Club, as secretary.

Miss Sornborger and Robertson were both unopposed for their respective positions. Phyl Dyer chose not to run for the vice-presidency because she has just been elected as president of her sorority and felt she couldn't do justice to both jobs.

Carmel Lee was unable to run for the secretary's position because she is graduating this June.

The CAB by-laws, submitted to the Student Council two weeks ago, were given a blanket approval with a word of praise to Reggie Cummings and her committee for an excellent job.

Civil Service Jobs For Three Graduates

Three of the college's graduates have been chosen for the newly created positions of laboratory assistants for the San Francisco Civil Service Commission, Lloyd Luckmann, dean of university parallel courses, announced recently.

Luckmann added that there were 13 persons who made the list but the first five got jobs. The three graduates who were chosen are Donald L. Fughum of the life science department, James J. Chan, and Harry T. Nahabe. Nahabe will be appointed at a later date, Luckmann concluded.

SF Law School Award Offered To Students

San Francisco Law School is still offering scholarships to students who are interested in law, Lloyd Luckmann, dean of university parallel courses, announced yesterday.

To be eligible for these awards, he said, students must have completed 60 units of junior college and be ready to provide the law school with a transcript of credits.

Students who qualify are eligible for the $200 toward their tuition of one year. Regular tuition for two semesters is $300, plus books. Summer session begins June 12, he added.

Boulevard Market
667 Monterey Blvd.
Groceries - - Delicatessen
Fresh
Fruits and Vegetables
★
FREE DELIVERY
JUniper 5-3393

Alumni Group Seeks Members

Members of the graduating class this year are urged to join the Alumni Association.

As a springboard to a career, the association offers many benefits to those who are leaving the college, Alumni Liaison Officer Randle Street said.

Selective placement service, assistance and counsel, contacts, and activities are among the many benefits that are offered by the association.

As defined by the Alumni Association, any person who has attended City College for one or more semesters and left the college in good standing is an alumnus and eligible to join the Alumni Association.

Charter membership for life is $10. Available for a limited time, the executive board will increase the fee for life membership when the charter quota is filled.

Other memberships in the Association are Active, $3 dues, and Subscriber, $5 dues.

Information and application blanks may be obtained from Joseph A. Amori, placement director, or at the Alumni office in Building 2.

MORE SECURITY

By taking a sound business course at HEALDS. Your services are made valuable, your future is secure. Healds gives you the "knock" to get ahead.

TELEPHONE ORdway 3-5500
HEALDS BUSINESS COLLEGE
Van Ness Ave. at Post San Francisco
Other Schools: Oakland, Sacramento, San Jose

Summer Sentimental Theme For Soph Dance

Summer Sentimental is the theme for the sophomore semi-formal to be held at Aquatic Park Saturday, June 10, Bill Rosaia, sophomore class president, announced recently.

Music will be styled by Jim Polos and his orchestra with a Dixieland combo will entertain in a room off the main dance floor for those who like their accompaniment with a southern tempo.

Bids for the affair are $2.00 and may be purchased in the lobby of the main building or from sophomore class officers Tom Thomas, Bill Rosaia, Rosemary Glenn, Reggie Cummings, and Frances Pierce.

A novel attraction will be a Charleston contest during the intermission to be judged by three faculty members and three students, Rosaia said.

King-Queen Race Highlights Spring Sophomore Week

Sophomore week, which started yesterday under the direction of Chairman Harry Williams, will be concluded this Saturday evening, June 10, with the Sophomore semi-formal, Bill Rosaia, class president, announced last week.

Among other events this week is the Sophomore King-Queen elections. Voting starts tomorrow and will run through Thursday. Ballots may be cast in Building 2. Men students only are permitted to vote for the Queen, and women for the selection of the King.

The candidates have been campaigning since last Thursday, and the winners will reign over the semi-formal dance. Following tradition, the election returns must be kept secret until the night of the dance, when the royal couple chosen by student votes will lead the evening's entertainment.

Students campaigning for King are Jim Cooper, Alpha Sigma Delta; Jess Doran, Tau Chi Sigma; George Rhebole, Phi Beta Delta; Bob Hoffman, Kappa Rho; Bob Sorensen, Tri-E; Cecil Best, French Club; and Kev Duggan, Block SF Society.

Those aspiring for the position of Queen include Shirley Maritzen, Alpha Lambda Chi; Regina Cummings, Phi Beta Rho; Ethel Marie Smith, Delta Sigma Tau; Ann McBride, Theta Tau; Florence Hourihan, Kappa Phi; June Welch, Delta Psi; Lynn Pedersen, Zeta Chi; and Mary Campau, W.A.A.

Everybody's playing the UKULELE

YOU CAN DO IT TOO!

Get a Genuine Mahogany UKE at No Cost

The Call-Bulletin will give you a standard size, top quality ukulele for just two new three months subscriptions.

Get ahead of your friends. Get a ukulele. Get two new three months subscribers to The Call-Bulletin right now!

USE THESE ORDER BLANKS!

HOW TO GET YOUR UKE (READ CAREFULLY)

These are your order forms. Be sure to get both orders completed before you mail them in. DON'T send one in at a time. Send your completed forms to The San Francisco Call-Bulletin, UKULELE EDITOR, 860 Howard Street, San Francisco 19, Calif. You will receive your super ukulele as soon as your orders are verified.

Please enter my subscription to The San Francisco Call-Bulletin for a period of three months and thereafter until ordered discontinued. I agree to pay the regular Carrier Delivery rate. I have not been a subscriber for the past 30 days. I understand and agree this three months order is non-cancellable.

$1.50 per month.

Name of Subscriber_____
Street Address_____
City_____ Apt. No.____ Phone____
Subscription Secured By_____
Address_____
City or Town_____

PAY NO MONEY WITH THIS ORDER

Please enter my subscription to The San Francisco Call-Bulletin for a period of three months and thereafter until ordered discontinued. I agree to pay the regular Carrier Delivery rate. I have not been a subscriber for the past 30 days. I understand and agree this three months order is non-cancellable.

$1.50 per month.

Name of Subscriber_____
Street Address_____
City_____ Apt. No.____ Phone____
Subscription Secured By_____
Address_____
City or Town_____

PAY NO MONEY WITH THIS ORDER

GRADUATING SOPHOMORES

Best Wishes and Lots of Luck
In the Years to Come

Join the Alumni Association Today

This is your last opportunity to get one or more of the following periodicals at the low Student Rate

TIME — LIFE — FORTUNE

CITY COLLEGE STUDENT STORE

965 Ocean Avenue

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

VOLUME XXX SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 1950 NUMBER 25

College Hour Schedule

8 o'clock classes— 8:10 to 8:50
9 o'clock classes— 9:00 to 9:40
10 o'clock classes— 9:50 to 10:30
• College Hour—10:40 to 11:20 •
11 o'clock classes—11:30 to 12:10
12 o'clock classes—12:20 to 1:00

Conlan Begins 2nd Year . . . Sees Further Gains

By Don Johnson

The end of the Spring 1950 semester brings with it two anniversaries, the fifteenth year of the existence of City College of San Francisco, and the end of the first year of the college's direction under President Louis G. Conlan.

Since the founding of the college on August 26, 1935, there has been a continued development. This development may be witnessed in enrollment, programs, building programs, and the directing of students toward a life objective.

(See page 4 for pictorial review.)

The building of the present college, which was completed on August 27, 1940, is further evidence of the development of building plans, which will be still further evidenced as plans for a new classroom building, auditorium, fine arts unit, and administration and student union building are completed, President Conlan said.

In summing up his first year as president of the college, President Conlan said:

"It was my privilege to take part in the original development of City College from 1935 until 1943. My entire association with the college was most enjoyable, and when appointed president, I looked forward to a renewal of that association with a great deal of anticipation and pleasure.

"The spirit of the students and faculty of the college during the past year has exceeded my fondest expectations. Through continued cooperation we can look forward to even greater accomplishments in both academic pursuits and student activities in the coming year."

In looking ahead to the coming years, President Conlan stated that, figures developed from a study of the increased enrollment within the high schools and developments in two-year colleges in other areas indicate that enrollment at City College will remain at about 5,000 students until 1960.

By 1960 enrollment should reach 6,400 and by 1965 an all-time high of between 8,500 and 10,000 students is expected.

As the first 15 years of City College's existence has seen a growth from 1500 students meeting in 25 locations throughout San Francisco, to the present enrollment of approximately 5500 students meeting in one location, the next 15 years may well see even greater changes occur, both in enrollment and facilities, President Conlan said.

943 Grads Get Diplomas

15th Annual Ceremony At Opera House

City College's graduating class of 943 Fall and Spring semester students is expected to receive diplomas at the 15th annual commencement ceremony, at the Civic Opera House on Friday, June 16, at 8 p.m.

The college orchestra, under the direction of Meyer Cahn, will open the ceremony, and will be followed by the salute delivered by Associated Student President Don Parker.

Bert W. Levit, president of the San Francisco Board of Education, will deliver the greetings to the graduating class. Randle Street will also make an address to the graduates.

The A Cappella Choir, directed by Flossita Badger, will present three selections as part of the ceremony. These will include Kyrie Eleison, by Durante; Sing a Song of Sixpence, by Dyack; and Battle Hymn of the Republic, arranged by Ringwald. Eileen Scott, soprano, is scheduled to sing a solo, with Gertrude Norgard as accompanist.

Dr. Herbert C. Clish, superintendent of San Francisco public schools, will make the presentation of awards which include the Scholastic Cup, the President's Award Plaque, the Alice Eastwood award for achievement in floriculture, the Harian and the Nuodex awards in paint technology, and the Wall Street Journal award in finance.

President Louis G. Conlan will award degrees to the graduating students.

RANDLE STREET will make one of the major addresses at the fifteenth commencement ceremony next Friday night at the War Memorial Opera House. Street has been a member of the debating team and active in student affairs. Nine hundred and forty-three students are expected to participate in the ceremony.

ASSOCIATED Student President Don Parker will give the salute to the graduating class of Fall and Spring semester students.

Soph Semi-Formal Tomorrow Winds Up Semester Activities

By Warren Northwood

The Sophomore semi-formal tomorrow night at 9 p.m. at Aquatic Park ends the Spring semester's round of social events.

The dancers will have the use of two rooms, one featuring Jim Polos and his orchestra; the other featuring a dixie-land combo, Bill Rosaia, class president, announced. Bids for the affair have been on sale since June 1 and may be purchased in the main building lobby or from any of the Sophomore class officers. They are priced at $2.00 per bid.

The theme for the affair, as announced by Rosaia, is Summer Sentimental.

The highlight of the evening, the introduction of the King and Queen to the participants, is, following tradition, filled with expectations as the winning candidates for the royal titles are never named until the night of the dance, Rosaia said.

The returns from the elections, held last Wednesday and Thursday, will be tabulated by a special committee, and the winning names kept secret until Saturday evening.

As per tradition the King and Queen will be crowned in front of the bandstand, during intermission and will be presented with individual loving cups.

The King's cup is donated by the Beta Tau fraternity and the Queen's is donated by the Theta Tau sorority. In addition to the individual cups, the winners will have their names engraved on the perpetual trophy.

Spring Semester Budget Balances

Controller Oscar E. Anderson reported to the Student Council Tuesday that "incoming revenue from spring activities just happened to balance" the semester's budget for the Associated Students.

Revenue amounted to $16,000, the total of the Associated Student spring budget. The original budget added $1000 for anticipated opera income until both opera and income were cancelled.

Anderson anticipated that approximately $18,000 or possibly $19,000 would be taken in next semester from sales of AS cards, athletic events, Guardsman advertising, and any musical or dramatic productions.

He congratulated this semester's financial committee, headed by Tom Campanella, on the excellent work they did on selling AS cards.

"Sales were quite good for a spring semester," he said.

The honor of adjourning the last council meeting under AS President Don Parker's administration was accorded to Marjorie Bergset and Ann McBride, two of the council's more active members.

Final Grades Ready Starting June 26

Final grades will be available in the registrar's office beginning Monday, June 26, Mary Jane Learnard, registrar, announced yesterday.

Students unable to be on the campus then, may have grades mailed to them by leaving a stamped, self-addressed envelope with the registrar.

College In Big Time, Check Brittanica

Nationwide fame for City College is currently resting on thousands of bookshelves throughout the United States.

The medium of fame is the Encyclopedia Brittanica Yearbook of 1950. The college has taken its place as part of a list of accepted universities and junior colleges.

Data compiled in the yearbook for college academic year (1949-50) shows a total enrollment during this period of 7,081, with an additional 1,163 veterans under the veteran educational program, and the statistics reveal that students here have over 38,000 bound volumes at their disposal in the main building and west campus libraries.

Double College Hour Slated Today

Double college hour is scheduled today from 10:40 a.m. to 12 noon, with the annual faculty-soph softball game starting during the first college hour, Louis Batmale, dean of student activities, announced recently.

The college film series will present "El Navajo," a historical film of the Navajo indian tribe, at 10 a.m. today again during college hour in Room 136.

Students interested in applying for movie projector operator for next semester should apply to Madison Devlin, visual aids instructor, now.

Seven Honor Awards Too

Scholarship, Service, Course Achievement Win Recognition

Seven graduates will receive specific awards at commencement exercises here Friday, June 16, at the War Memorial Opera House, Dean Lloyd Luckmann announced.

Award winners include Marian Steineke, a Fall semester graduate now attending the University of California; Scholastic Cup; Patricia Haucke, Alice Eastwood award; James Venes, Harian award; Frank Johnson, Nuodex award, and John Low, Finance award.

The recipients of the President's Award Plaque, which consists of loving cups with the names of the graduating man and woman student who contributed the most in service to the college inscribed, have not yet been chosen.

Nineteen members of Alpha Gamma Sigma, the college honor society, are expected to receive scholastic honors at the ceremony. These include Richard Crouce, Pearl Fong, Joan Moore, Don Peters, Miss Steineke, Renna Varelias, Ben Wang, and Masahiro Yamashita, all Fall semester students.

Possible honor graduates for the Spring semester, depending on the outcome of final grades, include Joseph Azzolino, Marjorie Brownwood, Susan Court, Virginia Cutler, Marjorie Czeikowitz, George Horowitz, Patrick Joyce, Robert Kays, Frank Thunberg, Martha Waters, and Low.

Fall Semester Dorm Housing For Veterans Only

In compliance with the latest policy ruling regarding living accommodations for unmarried men students, housing in the campus dormitories will be limited to veterans only during the coming Fall semester, Edwin Browne, dean of men, revealed yesterday.

Brown further disclosed that the only exceptions will be for those non-veterans who are at present living in the dormitories and plan to return next year. Forms have been distributed to secure this information.

Browne added that those who plan to return may write him stating this fact but positively no deposits should be sent. The rooms will be allotted on a basis of first come first served and application may not be made until the college reopens. Students will be assigned not in excess of two to a room.

"The gradual recession of GI occupants makes it quite possible that dormitory housing accommodations will adjust themselves to fewer occupants and since the dormitories were originally scheduled for the use of veterans they probably will not be used after the GI demand ceases," Browne said.

Alumni Association Honors AS President

A resolution honoring Donald Parker, Associated Student President, was passed at a recent meeting of the Alumni Association Executive Board, Randle Street, alumni liaison officer, said yesterday.

Because of Parker's outstanding service to the college, Street explained, a lifetime membership will be presented to him at Commencement.

MEMBERS OF ALPHA GAMMA SIGMA honor society look on as Adviser Donald Jensen holds up for inspection the annual award cups which will be presented to Marian Steineke, Fall graduate, who is now attending the University of California. Watching are, from left to right, Ginny Cutler, Joe Azzolino, Masahiro Yamashita, John Low, Bill Thunberg and Marjorie Czeikowitz.—Photo by Steinheimer.

Gardner

With Us Today . . .

LO, the former columnist: At the end of each semester it is customary in a column of this type to list the people whose assistance has proven valuable. And being a person who believes in maintaining the customs, we started to do just that.

It was a hopeless task from the beginning. There's just too doggone many of them. Deans, instructors, coaches, department heads, Guardsman staffers, Council members, and above all, students.

They've given us items and jokes, encouragement and criticism. And though the column is signed "Gardner," it might well be by-lined "City College of San Francisco."

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

Frequently we've thrown in some personal opinion on one topic or another, but the main interest has always been the news. Or rather, the news behind the news.

Our only yardstick for determining what to print has been the—is the rule—is it interesting, or entertaining? If the answer was no—and it seldom was—then the offending item went into the open top filing cabinet.

On this basis, the only conclusion we've been able to draw from our vantage point at the end of the semester is that this is a pretty interesting place, populated by pretty interesting people.

TV AND MARRIAGE

They appear on radio and TV, paint pictures, act in plays, sing in operas, win debates, get married, produce Mardi Gras', and heaven only knows what all.

But above all, they're an awful lot of fun to watch. And if you've enjoyed reading this column half as much as we've enjoyed writing it, then it's been a very successful semester, indeed.

Last notes from the bottom of the basket: Architecture major Bob Young is creating a minor sensation among the faculty with his watercolors of Bay Area marine scenes. Sold three already, and has orders for two more. . . . Carolyn Glasgow handled the makeup for more than one production when a student here. Now, after a stay at Cal, she's down at Santa Barbara College doing the same thing.

GRADUATION GIFT

Worried about a graduation gift for a student who's leaving the college? Then how about getting him (or her) a $10 LIFE membership in the City College Alumni Association.

Well, that winds the whole thing up. Au revoir, auf wiedersehen, hasta luego, and so forth.

Feminine Viewpoint

Four Women Win Office

By Bobbie Jackson

WITH this issue, Feminine Viewpoint bids farewell to its readers and steps out of the picture, at least for the summer.

Before we leave, however, we would like to wish luck to the new officers who will take the wheel of student government and guide it through the fall semester.

FOUR WOMEN OFFICERS

Especially to the women, all four of them, who will endeavor to make this next year a successful one, we bestow our hopes for better activities and social events.

Vice-president Bev Jank will assume the responsibility of preparing the social calendar and seeing that each activity is carried out at the proper time.

Associated Women Student President Jackie Lantheaume will take charge of the two semi-annual teas and will conduct the affairs of the women in council meetings and attempt to induce more spirit for the college among the fairer sex.

UNOPPOSED OFFICES

A clear example of this lack of spirit lies in the fact that both these women ran for these important offices unopposed, showing a definite lag in interest in the woman's angle of student government.

The women, however, weren't alone in this, as the two important offices of Associated Men Students and Yell Leader were taken by unopposed candidates Ralph Vetterlein and Chuck Barger, respectively.

Two seats in the sophomore council were won by Joyce Nelson and Virginia McCarthy, while the freshman council remained a man's realm.

Although these women constitute a minority, they promise to let their presence be known and to voice opinions whenever they feel that they are needed.

Correction department: Sue Leong, AWS secretary this semester, was inadvertently omitted from the list here last Tuesday. Joan Collins replaced Lisle Moyer as treasurer.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Twice Weekly Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXX, No. 25 FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 1950 Page 2

Kezar Stadium Grid Games Insure Interest In College

SEEMS that every time we pick up a newspaper we read where the college is making more progress in the field of athletic endeavor in its drive to bring its teams before the San Francisco public. Just recently football Coach Grover Klemmer disclosed that the team will play one game in Kezar Stadium next season—against San Mateo.

Events moved faster, and the college procured the use of the Golden Gate Park stadium for another date, this one against East Los Angeles Junior College. The two games will be played on successive Fridays, October 27 and November 3.

Both games will be played under the recently installed Kezar lights. The fact that both games will be played at night insures a better than average crowd and more interest on the part of the sport followers in the city. To the college a greater attendance means greater revenue, and greater revenue means that more Associated Student activities will receive financial support.

This is a step in the right direction and a good one. Not only from the financial point of view, but now the fans will be able to watch the college's games in comfort, away from Cox Stadium.

Furthermore, if the games are a success there is the possibility that in the future all football games will be played in Kezar.

WITH this edition the editor tucks his battered Underwood back into the closet and along with the rest of the college prepares for summer vacation. It goes without saying that the editor learned many things this semester. And now the editor retires for the semester and awaits the next semester when he can put his experience to greater use.

The editor in his two years of attendance at the college has seen many forward strides taken, strides that were beneficial to the college. However, in two years time the editor has seen unhealthy and backsliding situations arise.

To err is human, someone once said, and in a learning process many mistakes are made. However, deliberate backsliding sabotages forward strides. Such action destroys the good will and progress that was made.

Progress always wins sooner or later and things get straightened out.

The editor sticks with progress next semester, believing, naively perhaps, that there is good in all men and that further steps on the road of progress will be made next semester.

Student Of Distinction: Opera Dance Scenes Done By Barbara White

By Don Cunningham

Because of the highly diversified instruction offered by the college, students of special talent in somewhat rare professions crop up not too infrequently on the campus scene.

Such a student is Barbara White, who lays claim to being one of the few if not the only choreographer ever to attend the college. As any patron of the arts knows, a choreographer designs dance patterns to any given piece of music.

The difficulty facing choreographers in their work is that they must construct their dancing sequences to complement the mood, tempo, and the general feel of musical composition.

Miss White had her initial chance to exhibit her talents in the recently concluded music department presentation of Kurt Weill's Down In The Valley. The colorful square dance scene, danced by Laurine Bergin's folk dancers, was the product of her ingenuity.

A very good basis in early American folk dancing was needed to plan the Down in the Valley section, and Miss White had the experience to qualify. She has been folk dancing for over ten years and is a member of two folk dancing groups.

After her graduation from the college, Miss White plans to carry on her education with a recreation major at Mills College. — (Photo by Matthes.)

Take It From Kays

Service South Of The Border

OF interest to the tourists (those are people with a heavy tan on their left arms) among us who plan on vacationing in Mexico this year is a series of articles currently being written for the S. F. Chronicle by Stanton Delaplane.

In one of his recent articles he went into detail on the service ladled out by Mexican gas stations. Before you can open your mouth, he says, they fill the gas tank, check the tires, wash the car, shine your shoes, and wind your watch.

1919 ROLLS ROYCE

By way of contrast we might give a brief run-down on what happens when we chug our 1919 Rolls Royce into a Yanked petrol station.

The usual lines of conversation goes something like: How much is gasoline? Don't ask silly questions, do you want some or don't you? Okay, we'll take 25 cents worth of Ethyl please. Hah, for two bits you get regular, bub. All right, regular then—will you check the tires, please? Aw they're okay, I can tell by looking. Well, if you say so—can you fill the radiator? The water hose is broken. Oh, I see. Well I'd like to have the windshield washed. There's the rag over there. Will you check the oil? Check it yourself. Do you know what time it is? Nah. Well, thanks for everything. Sure buh, glad to do it.

Inasmuch as Delaplane is presenting his tourist cavalcade from south of the border, it is only fair that someone write of the wonders to be found in the U. S. for the benefit of the Mexican tourists who may be venturing up no'th this summer.

BUCKET OF BOLTS

We don't have the capital to jaunt several hundred miles a day as Delaplane does, but we might ramble our four-wheeled bucket of bolts as far as Oakland for the first stop. We could pound our tripewriter and elucidate on the invigorating and bracing quality of the billows of fog that swamp the Bay Bridge like a wet horsehilanket. We might even find words colorful enough to describe the distinktive fragrance of the east bay tidewaters.

By the time we got that far, we would probably discover that we have no talent for literature, but we will still hold the distinction of having gotten a dollar a word once—we talked back to the judge.

PanoRAMa With Jones

Service North Of The Border

SOMETIME between Monday and Friday of next week a lot of faces will swoop from a droop into miles of smiles. Next week final exams will be concluded and the vacation bug will start chompin' on many a collegian's arm.

Many students will be heading for that little spot they gazed at on a service station road map for the last few months. But, before they get to that little spot they will have quite a number of obstacles to overcome.

ROAD HOG

First there is the guy in the other car. He is either trying to get to Kansas City on time, and feels that he hasn't time to go around you, so he has to go through you. He may also be the fellow who polished his car all winter, so that he could leave a little wax on your fenders as he went past. There is also the character who was a brain in Latin classes, but all road signs are Greek to him.

But, after the hard day of driving, you at least have the comfort of a nice auto court to look forward to. Of course, it may take you a few hours to locate a vacancy, but then that's okay when you finally get the nod from the sleepy owner. After killing off the other tenants of the cabin with D.D.T., you are all set for wonderful, wonderful slumber.

BREAKFAST TROUBLES

In the morning, when the car finally starts, you roll happily along in search of a nice breakfast. The "cute" little place you choose is very nice, and the waitress really doesn't look like that all the time.

You watched another frustrated traveler sloshing about in his watery eggs, and so you order yours "over easy." You couldn't be expected to know that "over easy" meant that you would be handed ham and synthetic rubber. At least the coffee was good, and it would have been even tastier if it had been warm.

BOTTOMLESS TANK

Next, you have to locate a service station and fill up that tank that never seems to have a bottom. You idly watch the attendant rearrange the dirt on your windshield and once again start on your pilgrimage to that little bit o' heaven.

Heaven, of course, turns out to be having its first rain in 40 years, and it lasts all the time you're there.

Around And About The Campus Clubs . . . . . With Paul Cooper

Columnist Bids Adieu; Clubs Wind Up Semester's Affairs

We are bidding farewell to the gay and fascinating world of social life at old CC and are about to begin our search for new worlds to conquer. So, before you bust out and cry all over our last issue of The Guardsman let's see how the clubs are winding up the semester.

Here's the results of the latest elections. The Kappa Rhos elected the following members to office next semester: Bob Hoffman, president; Ned Kendall, "veep"; Bill Holway, secretary; Don Degnan, treasurer, and Bob Goldstein, "sarge" at arms.

Election time for the Tri Es was Wednesday, May 31, and they elected the following men: Al Lawson, president; Bob Sorsenson, vice-president; Ed Woodhouse, secretary; Herb Bernauer, treasurer; Andy Gamhardella, custodian, and Steve Hirsch, historian.

Here's some more Phi Beta Deltas who were elected recently: Bill Steiner, corresponding secretary; Tom Jenkins, "sarge" at arms; Dick Silveria, pledge master; Jack Stowe, historian; Dick Miller, parliamentarian, and Wally Gull, CAB.

The Alpha Lambda Chis also did their share of electing and here they are: Shirley Marltzen, president; Pat Miller, vice-president; Jacque Woods, corresponding secretary; Gwen Pruskinovski, recording secretary; Phyllis Do Byne, treasurer; Joann Perron, historian, and Jane Duffey, sergeant-at-arms.

Here's the Band Association's new officers who were elected Friday, June 2: Charley Robertson, president; Duane McKibbon, "veep"; Zeto Goldenberg, secretary; Roy Allenger, treasurer, and Paul Costa, CAB.

New Zeta Chi officers are as follows: Joyce Nelson, president; Ruth Ducas, vice-president; Maggie Carl, treasurer; Nadine Yeoman, corresponding secretary; Barbara McAuley, recording secretary; Mary Lee, pledge mistress, and Marie McPartland, "sarge" at arms.

General stuff and things dept. Jim Cooper of Alpha Sigma Delta, and Jo Ann Knighl of Delta Psi, eloped to Reno Sunday, June 4.

Carmen Savage, Zeta Chi, and Bob Hoffman, Kappa Rho president, are pinned, as are Rosemary Seaman and Rick Richards of the same two organizations. Margot Shaw of Zeta Chi is also pinned by Fred Jackson of Pi Kappa Tau at Cal.

Bill Lanam, Gamma Phi Ypsilon, announced his engagement to Natalie Borillies at the frat's pledge dinner. Adieu, farewell and goodbye.

Guardsman Staff . . . Spring, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ____ WALTER NEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ____ Ross Hardie
STAFF EDITORS ____ Cy Donaldson, William Thomas
NEWS: Dick Williamson, editor; Gene Kelly, assistant; Jackie Ave, Larry Bales, David Brewer, Grecene Brown, Mary Lou Cooper, Howard Cumming, George Eberl, Barbara Eppler, Ten Gould, Ray Hayes, Don Johnson, Sumiko Kanaya, Richard Larrick, Henry Louie, Herb Marvin, Warren Northwood, Bob Regal, Elaine Stamos, Jack Vanderpool, Georgia Watkins Felton White, Ralph Wiesner, Eura Williams, Bernice Davis, Doug Hayward, Elsie Monroe.
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Bob Johnson, Bob Jones, Clarence Whitcomb
FEATURE: Keith Gardner, editor; Paul Cooper, Don Cunningham, Bob Keys, Staff Writers.
SPORTS: Gene Van Dyke, editor; Frank Monte, assistant; Jack Spalding, Bob Vall, John Dierking, Sid Russell.
WOMAN'S EDITOR: Roberta Jackson; Sandra Marks, Dolores Aguirre Assistants.
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Dick Steinheimer, Shirley Maritzen, Fred Matthes Ken Hillmer, Herb Weiss, Dick Jarratt, Dick Lee, Kay Wood
BUSINESS: George Kelly, manager; Alicia Diaz, Mary Anne Quartarolli
ADVERTISING: Dick Hart, manager; James Normanly, Terry George Hayes, Pareichan, Bob Easton.
CIRCULATION: Bob Billings.
Faculty Adviser ____ Joan Nourse
Faculty Business Adviser ____ Fred Kelly

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1949-1950
Represented for National Advertising by
NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
681 Market Street, San Francisco 420 Madison Avenue, New York City

Volume XXX, No. 25 FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 1950 Page 3

Soph Vow Boys Expect Easy Victory In Today's Faculty, Student Clash On Grid Field

By Jack Spalding

In the days of Ancient Rome, all roads led to the city of Rome, while here at the college today all roads will lead to the football field where the Sophs tangle with the Faculty at 10 a.m. in a double college hour softball game.

The two squads have shown well in recent practice sessions (each team is reported to have conditioned itself by jaunts around the hills of the campus) and confidence reigns in both camps today.

As usual, this traditional has again been scheduled for the final day of the semester. A capacity crowd of standing room only (there aren't any seats, anyway) is expected, for most students jump at the chance openly to vent their emotions on the poor downtrodden profs.

Umpires for the game will be kept in a safe place, for the protection of everyone concerned, until game time. Arbiters for the contest will be Don Parker from the seph ranks, and "Blind Tom" Gudder, who will call the decisions for the faculty.

The pressure will be on Samson this year, for the burden of stopping the powerful faculty lineup will fall on his broad shoulders. Included in the faculty lineup will be such fearsome clouters as "Easy Ed" Sandys, "Thumping" Tom Dutcher, Tom "Slider" Nesbitt, "Larrupin' Lou" Batmale and Mike Monaco.

The faculty battery for the day's tilt will be Roy "The Big Train" Diederichsen on the mound and Roy Burkhead behind the mask.

Attempting to derail "The Big Train" will be some of these sophs who comprise a portion of the younger set's squad, Frank Suegua, Lou Williams, Skip Carnegie, Randy Street, Walt Heil, Kev Duggan, Hook Arata and Samson.

This season's soph aggregation is intent on defeating the prof nine. Last year's game ended in a faculty victory, and the soph "Vow Boys" claim the decision will be in their favor come 12 noon today.

The game should be even in all respects, especially the umpiring, for while the sophs rate a definite edge in speed, ability, power, know-how, a flashy infield and outfield and a powerful battery, the profs have one great thing in their favor—spirit. This spirit may be the deciding factor of the contest outside of Bender's umpiring.

Madge Brewer Heads WAA

Madge Brewer and Pat Kay were elected Monday, President and Vice-president, respectively, of the Women's Athletic Association for the Fall semester.

The election was held at the semi-annual WAA banquet. Previously scheduled to be held at the Fleishhacker Beach, the poor weather forced the event to be transferred to the women's gymnasium. This was the final meeting of WAA members for this semester.

Women who earned their athletic awards this semester were presented, at the banquet, with these awards. Receiving the first award, which is a City College shield, were Frenchy Foster, Pat Innis, and Pat Kay. Winners of the block award were Betty Knighten, Sylvia Davidson, Dorothy Jackson and Madge Brewer.

Other events of the final week of activity included the Riding Show held at San Mateo last Sunday, and the fencing contest, sponsored by Helen Mayer, fencing instructor, also held Sunday.

Two Ski Rams Awarded Meet Medals

Ted Hamm and Dick Brown, members of the local Ski Rams, were awarded two medals last week for participating at the Junior Conference Ski meet on March 4-5, at Cisco Pines, Donner Summit, by Placer Junior College of Auburn.

Hamm won his medal for placing second in the downhill racing, and Brown received his medal for taking fourth place in the jumping and cross country racing.

With more than 60 participants at the meet, representing junior colleges from all over Northern California, and 60 enthusiastic skiers representing the City College of San Francisco, the Ski Rams should be doubly commended for having such an aggressive group of young people.

Skiing in the past ten years has been a complete turmoil, as evidence of junior colleges participating in the sport on competition basis.

Klemmer Greets 100 In Spring Football Signup In Men's Gym

By Bob Vall

Looking forward to the 1950 football season, Coach Grover Klemmer welcomed more than a hundred grid hopefuls who turned out for the initial grid signup meeting in the men's gymnasium last week.

The main topic discussed at the meeting was an explanation of the athletic situation here at the college by Klemmer.

Of the group of 100 or more who were present, 74 filled out the required data about eligibility, experience, position, weight, and height.

Among the veterans in attendance were Jim Fales, Bill Coneff, Oscar Brown, Dick Carrillo, Jack Bettencourt, Cledus Washington, Bob McBride, Bill Marcus, Stan Haan, Rod DeCristofaro, Frank Samson, and William Rudometkin.

It can be expected that the Red & White will have more than 150 men out for Fall practice, which starts on September 4. Next semester's new enrollees will up the ante of men trying out. Add to this the names of others who undoubtedly failed to attend the meeting but intend to work out in the Fall practice.

Though the quantity may be high, Coach Klemmer and his assistants will be more interested in the quality. At the moment no one can be sure how good the team will be.

Contact work, it was revealed, will be employed early during practice, since the opening fray is against Vallejo on September 29, less than 20 days after workouts begin.

Meanwhile, it was announced that the grid schedule has had one change. The game with East Los Angeles which was slated for Cox Field has been shifted to Kezar Stadium.

The Rams, thus, will play two Friday night tilts at spacious Kezar. On October 27 they will vie with San Mateo in the annual traditional. The following week, November 3, they will tangle with the Panthers from Los Angeles. The other two home games will be played at Cox Field.

Athletes Receive Block SF Awards

The college's championship teams of the last six months swelled the ranks of the Block S. F. Society today when 60 athletes were awarded monograms.

Coach Hillsman's champion squad was given 13 sweaters to be spread among the following players: Pat Boyle, Skip Carnegie, Kevin Duggan, Richard Farley, Robert Hunter, Richard Mulready, Albert Munn, George McLaughlin, Frank Sampson, Martin Schneider, Robert Wilson, Dick Weddington, and Al Litvinov, manager.

Five lettermen paced the college golf team, which lost only to San Mateo: Vince Holian, Frank Hanlon, Walt Stevens, Roger Artoux, and Meryle Fischer. Managers on the squad were Robert Brown and Edward Hebreb.

Bill Fischer's champion baseball team had the following men eligible for Block S. F. awards: Jack Cuddy, Cas Munoz, Bob "Hook" Arata, Robert Arata, John Ruhcic, Peter Zasso, Robert McGovern, Robert McCarthy, Jack Panteleon, George Varonin, Robert La Costa, Albert Nicora, Louis Williams, Steve Driscoll, William Rudometkin, Edward Conlter, Edward Boland, and D. Woil. Richard Hall received a manager's award.

Boxing letters for Coach Roy Diederichsen's ringmen were awarded to Leonard Gage, Tom Stern, Jerry Stern, John Brooks, Dick Fiore, Ken Won, Dick Ramsey, Ralph De La Torre, and Jack Bettencourt.

Trackmen who won the right to their letters were: Irv Beltrame, Cecil Biedsoe, John Bologna, Oscar Brown, Skip Carnegie, Joe Greggins, William Mason, William Revilla, Sal Mascitelli, William Frazier, Robert Patterson, and Manager, Robert Bland.

Loungers Grab First Place In Intra Softball

Winning the only two games played last week in the intramural softball tourney, the Loungers dropped the Alpha Sigma Deltas 13-12, and the Crusaders, 13-9.

The Casabians are also in first place standing, having won two games by default from Tau Chi Sigma and East Bay Packers.

Intramural awards will be given to the winning members and teams of their respective tournaments in boxing, basketball, football, softball, and volleyball before the start of the Sophomore-Faculty softball game today, Tom Wilson, intramural director, announced.

Wilson urged that all persons eligible for awards should be on hand before the game, so presentation can be made to all deserving individuals.

Wilson received commendation from observers for having a well-rounded intramural sports program for the past college year.

Under Wilson's supervision, some 730 individuals have participated in intramural sports for the past year, including boxing, football, volleyball, basketball, tennis, badminton, and ping pong.

Of this group, there were more than 80 teams entered in intramural activities as previously listed.

The buckles and trophies to be presented, will bring the total to 80 for the past year.

The redwood Ram weighs 3,000 pounds and was carved from a Redwood tree stump. It was placed in the present location on March 12, 1947, after Trev Burrow, then Associated Student president, shoveled the first spade of cement.

Make it a date . . .
• West Portal's
• Most Popular Fountain
DENNY DAIRIES
321 West Portal
Open Daily - - 8 a.m. to 1 a.m.
Delicious Ice Cream, Grilled Sandwiches and Waffles

PRICES
Hand Finished Shoes For Men
Featuring Price's Patented Styles

ONE PRICE 9.95 ALL STYLES
Styles that are different
Wear Unexcelled
718 Market St., S. F.
1304 Broadway, Oakland

San Franciscans are talking ABOUT*

NOW! COLLAR SIZES AND SLEEVE LENGTHS!
Eagleson's Custom SPORT SHIRTS
They're colorful . . . they're comfortable . . . they're tailored to fit the same as a suit of clothes. Guaranteed washable, rayon gabardine in Beige, Grey, Maroon and Lt. Green. Yes . . . NOW you can get a real sport shirt with neck sizes from 14½ to 17½ and sleeve lengths from 32 to 36 . . . and only $5.00
MARKET STREET • BETWEEN KEARNY AND GRANT
OPEN MONDAY NITES 'TIL NINE

COLE says . . .
"Be the man of the year with the haircut of the hour."
COLE'S BARBER SHOP
Across From West Campus

San Franciscans are talking ABOUT*

$11.95
100% All Wool GABARDINE
Eagleson's SLACK SPECIAL!
All the important features you would expect to find in much higher priced slacks . . . California weight, 100% all wool Gabardine . . . continuous waistband with harmony trim lining . . . saddle-stitched seams and extra fine tailoring!
MARKET STREET • BETWEEN KEARNY AND GRANT
OPEN MONDAY NITES 'TIL NINE

Photo Highlights Of Fifteenth Year

THE SCORING ACE—Sharp-shooting Kevin Duggan who smashed all Ram cage scoring records last season when he bagged 494 points, goes up for a rebound here, surround by a trio of Hartnell College cagers in a tilt last January. Duggan led the locals to the Northern California Junior College Conference crown, the regional title, and the National Tourney.

HERE YOU ARE, DUTCH—Dr. Richard Kelley presented President Louis G. Conlan with a life membership charter in the Alumni Association last October and a ticket to the Homecoming Week dinner. The dinner was given in honor of President Conlan, and Superintendent of Schools Herbert C. Clish was the guest speaker.

Randy Street, Alumni liaison officer, this semester urged all of the graduating class to join the association. Membership dues in the association are $3 Active, and Subscribers $5. Information and application blanks are available from Joseph Amori, placement director, in Building 2.

EVERYBODY READS FORUM—The posters advertising Forum Magazine this semester proclaimed that everyone on the campus reads the literary publication. With this point in mind, Alma Zito, left, and Mary Lou Cooper posed with the redwood Ram got the idea over well.

Between the stolid Red and White Ram dominating the entrance to the west campus and Sammie cavorting about the campus, few can remain unaware that City College has had a symbol of spirit and a mascot through its 15-year existence.

SAMMY AND KATHLEEN—Sammy the Ram officially welcomed pretty Kathleen Kerrigan, the 1000th student to cross the registration line, into the Associated Students last February.

SMASH HIT—Eugene Carlson provided college theatre goers with a fine performance last month in Othello.

ADVERTISEMENT

Joins H. Liebes Bridal Salon

Graduating straight into a career, Miss Karalee Kimberk, City College merchandising major, is ready now to advise on wedding plans, from gowns to invitations, in the Bridal Salon, second floor.

"We Operate Our Own Plant"
3 Day Service
THE MONTEREY CLEANERS
Look at your clothes . . . other people do
643 Monterey Blvd. DElaware 3-7644
ALTERATIONS . . . REPAIRS

MEL'S DRIVE IN
Famous For
Bar-B-Q Hamburgers
Fried Chicken, Etc.
Open All Night
Mission and So. Van Ness

Boulevard Market
667 Monterey Blvd.
Groceries - - Delicatessen
Fresh
Fruits and Vegetables
★
FREE DELIVERY
JUniper 5-3393

Congratulations Graduates
Thank Your For Your Patronage
During Your Stay At C. C. S. F.
Sell Your Books For Cash
(50% on books to be used again)
The City College Book Shop
1039 Ocean Avenue
ACROSS FROM WEST CAMPUS

Graduation Is Here At Last!
Let City College Be Remembered
With An Official College Ring
ORDER NOW
With a $5.00 Deposit at the College Bank
Van Wormer & Rodrigues Inc.
126 Post Street EXbrook 2-5886

Visit World Famous . . .
"COFFEE DAN'S"
430 Mason Street
Where the celebrities meet in the wee hours.
Continuous Entertainment
11:00 p.m. to 6:00 a.m.
Ham 'n Eggs — Fried Chicken
you'll never forget
Where everyone goes to top off a perfect evening of fun.
Write: COFFEE DAN'S, 430 Mason Street, for Coffee Danner's membership cards. Entitles you to a 20% professional discount.

SCHOOL YEAR

1950 — 1951

CITY COLLEGE OF SAN FRANCISCO LIBRARY
OCEAN AND PHELAN AVENUES
SAN FRANCISCO 12, CALIFORNIA

The Guardsman

VOLUME XXXI | SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1950 | NUMBER 1

VA Ruling Cuts Expected Associated Student Fund

Doors Open, Business Booms

SMILES AND CONCENTRATION — The Associated Student bookstore opened for business two weeks ago and Manager Dick Main, right inset, smiled as sales boomed. Meanwhile, Controller Oscar E. Anderson is the picture of complete concentration as he rings up a sale on the cash register. Bill Coffey, student employee, checks the stock of brushes for a customer.—Photo by Matthes.

Student Store Becomes Reality After 2 Year Planning Period; Richard Main Named Manager

By Don Johnson

Plans for an on-campus student store were realized Tuesday, September 5, when the newest addition to the campus, the City College Student Store, officially opened its doors for business.

Under the managership of Richard Main, the 15 students comprising the store's staff have been constantly busy supplying the book, supply, and novelty needs of the students during the store's operating hours, 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. each college day.

"Reception by the students has been good," Main said yesterday, "although the store was, at first, handicapped by a lack of used books. There are a limited number of used texts available now, however, and the supply will grow larger as the semester commences."

Textbooks In Demand

The largest demand so far has been for textbooks, Main said. As this demand lessens during the semester the sale of supplies and novelties will be greater.

The opening of the student store was the climax of two years of study and planning which began in 1948 when Jack Brady, then assistant dean of men, issued a questionnaire to Junior College Convention delegates in Pasadena, on what operating procedures were followed in other colleges.

Numerous problems concerning the establishment of the store and its operation had to be solved. Many meetings between members of the college administration and Dr. Herbert C. Clish, superintendent of schools, and his staff were necessary before final plans could be made.

Difficulties Solved

Problems concerning the location of the store, necessary remodeling, facilities, setting up of a purchasing and accounting procedure, and extent of operation were discussed and solved at these meetings, and the final plans for the store's establishment were made.

With the hiring of a manager and student staff, ordering of books and supplies, arrangement of Building 12 as a site, setting up of displays, and making the other arrangements necessary in such a venture, the plans which began in 1948 became a reality, and the student store was ready to serve the students.

The cost of setting up of the student store has been estimated at approximately $35,000, Dr. Oscar E. Anderson, controller, said last week. This includes cost of books purchased on a consignment basis, the actual construction of the store, the salaries of Main and his student employees, and comprehensive insurance on the store.

Included in the staff of the student store are:

Richard Dean, manager; Virginia Bader, Edward Botsford, Bob Camp, William Coffey, Bob Frazier, Dean Haferman, Geraldine Hayes, Walt Heil, Monroe Johnson, Shirley Maritzen, Dolores Merri, Jim McCarthy, Bob Michalske, Ted Rossi, Edwin Coleman, and Emmet Thompson.

Kickoff Rally In Auditorium Starts Ram Grid Season

A pre-kickoff rally Friday in the auditorium during college hour highlights the City College-Vallejo football game the same evening, Bill Steiner, rally committee chairman, said.

Music by a name band, name unavailable at press time, features the second Associated Student rally of the semester. Steiner also disclosed that football Coach Grover Klemmer will introduce members of the squad. Chuck Barger, yell leader, will lead the cheers.

Members of the rally committee are Pat Silverna, Dan Foley, Terry Conroy, Monroe Johnson, Bruce West, Emmett Thompson, Charley Bonn, Bob Lankapanna, Jim Lyons, Wally Gull, and Ralph Griggm.

Louis Eatmale, dean of student activities, announced the following schedule for college hours throughout the semester:

October 6, club meetings; October 27, club meetings; November 3, rally; November 10, club meetings; November 17, club meetings; November 24, club meetings; January 5, election rally; January 12, club meetings; January 19 awards rally; January 26, faculty-sophomore basketball game.

Friday college hour schedule follow:

8 o'clock classes	8:10 to 8:50
9 o'clock classes	9:00 to 9:40
10 o'clock classes	9:50 to 10:30
COLLEGE HOUR	10:40 to 11:20
11 o'clock classes	11:30 to 12:10
12 o'clock classes	12:20 to 1:00

Lucky Card Holders Get Campus Parking Permits

Students having Associated Student card ending in 4, 5, 7, 8 or 9 may apply for parking permits in Room 6, Building 2 from 2 to 4 o'clock, Dean Edward L. Browne said.

Students added that all who apply must show their automobile registration card in addition to their Associated Student card.

Drawing for the permits was held Thursday noon at a ceremony conducted by the Rally Commission.

Clubs Bid For New Members In Building Two

The college's first group club day will be held tomorrow in the west campus student lounge located in Building 2, Frank Meyn, president of the Club Activities Board, announced yesterday.

Meyn said that all campus clubs have been asked to participate, welcoming new students to their organizations. Plans call for each club to be assigned a table at which representatives will be on duty from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. with information about their organization.

Meyn added the main purpose of club day is to provide students the opportunity to speak to representatives of the clubs and decide which would be best suited to their interests.

Meyn said that students have a wide variety from which to choose as the many clubs cover such diversified subjects as social activities, education, religion, foreign language, and dramatics.

Examples of the various projects sponsored by clubs are Forum magazine, published by the Forum Club, Alpha Gamma Sigma coaching service, and concert tickets at reduced rates to members of the Symphony Forum, Meyn indicated.

Tom Dill, president of the Associated Students, urged students to take advantage of this opportunity to join one of the groups.

"College life is not made up of scholastic achievement alone. To have a complete and satisfying college career the student should participate in social as well as educational activities," Dill declared.

CAB, which coordinates all club activities and is sponsoring club day, is composed of one representative from each chartered organization. Meetings are held Wednesdays before the Friday college hours scheduled for club meetings.

Freedom Crusade Ceremonies Today

America's token Liberty Bell in Berlin, Germany, will stand sentinel over the names of City College students at veteran-student Bart Dempster's plans for dedicating the college to the Crusade for Freedom movement today, tomorrow and Friday are successful.

Both President Louis G. Conlan and Superintendent of Schools Dr. Herbert C. Clish have given their support to the program.

Purpose of the crusade is to obtain signatures and donations from individuals in order to back a network of private enterprise "Voice of America" broadcasting stations in Germany. The action is necessary, crusade leaders say, because Russian-sponsored "jamming" stations are offering too much resistance to present output of power.

Dempster, who was responsible for the organization of today's loud speaker announcements and dedication ceremonies, spoke in behalf of his plans before the Student Council last Thursday. His opening words were "I am here because Bart Dempster doesn't want to go back to war." The motion was passed to approve Dempster's resolution.

Signatures will be accepted in the cafeteria, the main building, Building 2, and the student store.

AGS Handles Guardsman Distribution In Store

The student store was selected as the west campus distribution point of The Guardsman last week with the Alpha Gamma Sigma honor society handling the circulation work.

The distribution work is volunteered for by the honor society and The Guardsman will be available in the store for Associated Students by 10 a.m. Wednesdays.

Meanwhile, Guardsman Editor Walt Heil declared that the papers will also be distributed in the main building. Klaus Schaic, AGS member, said distribution of The Guardsman is part of the honor society's service to the college.

Klemmermen Clash With Redskins In Season Opener

Football opens officially for the City College Rams at 8 p.m. Friday evening, when Coach Grover Klemmer's squads meet the Vallejo College Redskins in a non-conference tilt at Corbus Field, in Vallejo.

The last appearance of a Ram team at Corbus Field was on December 23, 1918, when Ollie Matson paced the Rams to a victory over Chaffey Junior College in the Gold Dust Bowl.

Friday, as in that December game, another Red and White victory seems imminent for the Rams, despite the fact that the Redskins already have two games under their belts. On paper the Rams have improved 100 per cent over their 1949 team when their record was 4 wins, 4 losses, and 1 tie.

The Rams, using the T formation, face a Redskin team operating from variations of the single wing type of attack.

The Vallejo club, under the eye of Coach Ted Gebhardt, has shown little in games to date. The team has been weakened considerably by the loss of five starting linemen to the Armed Forces. With only nine men returning from last year's squad, Gebhardt had a terrific job of rebuilding to do.

Meanwhile, reports from Edwin Coleman, college band manager, indicate that the band will play at the opening game Friday night. Forty uniformed bandsmen will present a program of marches and drills during the half time intermission under the direction of student director Jerry Barnes. Meyer M. Cahn is the faculty member in charge of the band.

GREEN LINE meets green line at Vallejo Friday night but the college's grid team boasts two veteran centers. Above Jim McAuley prepares for the opening setto. McAuley vies for the center spot with the other vet, Jim Feles. (See sports for details.)—Photo by Weiss.

Controller Sets Budget Prospects At $15,000 Top

Controller Oscar E. Anderson, in the first of his twice-yearly budget reports Thursday, told the Student Council to "figure on a budget of not more than $15,000" for the semester.

Anderson further said "it was out of order to figure on more than $5,000 in anticipated revenue." He also said 2,000 Associated Student cards sold would give the association $10,000 with $5,000 anticipated from football, the majority to come from the two Kezar Stadium night games.

"No money will come out of the store this year," Anderson said. "You must stay within the $15,000 budget, and we can't be too optimistic."

Earlier Anderson told the council that $2,000 was available in the general reserve fund and an additional $1,400 was set aside for the book store reserve at the end of the Spring semester. With the Veterans Administration halting payment for veterans' cards $1,800 was lost from the general reserve. Only $200 was remaining in the general reserve following the Federal decision concerning veterans' card payment.

However, through payment of Guardsman advertising and from other sources the general reserve totalled $200 at the beginning of the Fall semester.

The controller also said he hopes to get $1,800 which the VA owes the Associated Students for cards given veterans in the Spring semester.

The college, however, owes the Federal Government $46,000 for veteran payments into the association from 1946 through 1950.

For the new student store close to $20,000 in books was ordered and $15,000 in supplies—"All on the cuff," Anderson declared.

"Some of the publishers gave us 20 per cent return privileges on books. And we have taken out fire insurance to cover our stock, as well as burglary insurance," Anderson said.

Four hundred dollars is set aside for the athletic insurance fund inaugurated last semester.

Meanwhile, Joe Azzolino, card sales chairman, declared that close to 1,800 cards were sold the first three weeks of the semester.

"However, the recent decision of the VA to stop payment for vet's cards, which revenue amounted to $5,000 last year, means that many more cards must be sold this semester to make up this loss and enable our extensive program of activities to continue uncurtailed," Azzolino said.

Applications Accepted Now For Holiday Jobs

Students interested in Christmas sales work in department stores should apply now, Joseph Amori, placement director, said last week.

Amori said applications are being compiled now as the stores begin hiring the first week in October. Positions are open for both men and women.

Students who have clerical skills are also urged to apply, since there is a great demand for this type of worker, Amori added. Applications for clerical work should be able to type 45 words a minute and take shorthand at 90 words per minute. Salaries for clerical positions are good, he stated.

Although the trend appears to show more of a demand for women workers than men, he has openings for service station attendants and some full time swing shift work, Amori said.

Amori's office is in Building 2, west campus. Hours are from 8:15 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Editorial
The Guardsman
Official Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXXI, No. 1 | WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1950 | Page 2

Foresight Of Faculty, Students Makes Book Store A Reality

DISCUSSED for two years or more, planned for a comparable period, the student store became a reality this semester.

And its inception on the campus was barely in time to solve the critical financial situation prevalent now. Although the Associated Students will not realize any profits from the enterprising venture until next year the thought of revenue at hand then is comforting indeed.

The college social and athletic activities will feel the pinch of short budgets for at least another semester, but once the debt is wiped off the store's books skimpy budgets, such as we have today on the campus, will be a thing of the past.

The store went into debt to the tune or close to $35,000 as reported by Controller Oscar E. Anderson. Twenty thousand dollars worth of books and $15,000 worth of supplies were purchased—nearly all on consignment. This staggering debt will have to be paid first before the Associated Students can expect a return on the store.

Indication of student support was given the store earlier in the semester when the students flocked to the store to purchase books and supplies. The faculty also showed their support of the project by advising students to purchase their books in the store.

FURTHERMORE, it was indicated by members of the faculty and student leaders that the store did as much business in the first two weeks as anything they had hoped for. There was, after the first two weeks of the semester, a natural and no doubt expected drop in the volume of business. The majority of students had already purchased their books by the end of the first week and so the demand eased off.

Some problems remain, however. If the store grows, and it has given every indication that it will, attention will have to be focused to provide facilities for its expansion.

Much of the credit for getting the store underway goes to Dean Jack Brady, who two years ago made a survey of other college stores and who got the germ of the idea rolling. Further credit goes to President Louis G. Conlan and members of his administrative staff who approached the idea from a business standpoint and set it up as such. The students who backed and worked for the store also deserve credit.

Larrick 44852

Spectator — Same Old Story: Children, Students Ask The Most Embarrassing Questions

As a child might ask its parents where babies come from, so might the students of every profession ask the so-called successes of these professions where they came from? For after all students are, in a sense, the children of the professional world.

Were these learned people born with the ability to build, write, make an atom bomb, and cure cancer, or did they go through the same process as students do today?

The question is as asinine as the remarks the so-called big shots make about the schools, instructors and students of today.

With the look of one who is surprised at the success he has made, they slant their noses condescendingly in the direction of the younger generation and with a sigh, murmur, "What will ever become of them?"

STUDENTS KNOW

The students of today know what will become of them. A certain per cent will land on the top of the ladder of success. The rest will be dumped on the lower rungs.

They will make mistakes, and they will make advances equal to or surpassing those made by the successes of today. And more than likely they will look back at the aspiring students of their time, twitch their noses and murmur with a sigh, "What will ever become of them?"

INSTRUCTORS HELP

Many of the instructors have worked in the field of their profession successfully for years; some still do. They lend a helping hand to professional infants because they realize that the road to success can be a lot easier when given the know how gained by experience.

The cry of "lazy, laeadaisical, unfit-for-the-job" is usually the cry made be one who is getting on in years and fears new ideas, changes in methods, and young, active persons.

These fears are realities, but they should not be feared. It should be a comfort to know that a better way of doing things has been found, and that active and competent people are being trained to carry on.

As each succeeding generation has gone into the world to earn a living it has looked around and found the world in pretty sad shape, but the generation that is taking over today has really hit the jackpot.

Well might a student ask the criticizing successes of today where they came from. Better still they might ask them how they got the world in such a hell of a mess.

Be hearing from you,

Ram's Horn

Tower To Hill

Instructor Treks To Campus From Paris In 2 Days

A scant four days before registration started here at the college, George Baffico, geology instructor, was snapping photos of Paris from the Eiffel Tower.

The "descent" from the 984.25 foot elevation of the Tower to the somewhat lower height of City College's Hill took Baffico two days by plane. He left Paris Friday evening, September 1, spent a 12-hour layover in New York and arrived home Sunday, two days before registration began.

One of several faculty members who spent their summer vacations in Europe, Baffico spent 56 days touring Italy, Switzerland, England and France.

While hiking on the icy trails of the Jungfrau, the second highest peak in Switzerland, Baffico reported a "thrilling" experience. Courteously, he had stepped off the path to let another party pass by and then noticed a few feet away, a crevasse at least 200 feet deep.

Ram's Horn . . . Pulse of the Campus

• My Voice Is Your Voice

Students, City College:

For fifteen years I have resided on your campus. During that time I have been used as a bearer of orchids, a tosser of brickbats, a soother of aroused tempers, an arouser of tempers, a voice for trivial matters, and a voice for matters of great import.

Through all this time I have remained entirely neutral and impartial, and have given to one and all a voice with which to make themselves heard on the campus.

I am your servant, students. If there is something you wish to praise, I am ready to bear your praise; if there is something you wish to attack, I am ready to carry the attack to your foe. All I ask is that you furnish the ammunition, and I shall gladly act as your messenger.

My voice is your voice; your problem is my problem; my shoulder is ever available to bear your tales of woe or glow.

Your words will issue forth exactly as they are told to me, and although I may not always have time to tell all of your story, you may be certain that I shall never insert my own views, nor change the meaning of your story by deleting any information.

To make full use of me all you have to do is leave your letter with the telephone operator in the main building, or drop it in The Guardsman office. If you wish to remain unknown, simply state that fact in your letter, but in all cases please sign your name.

—Be hearing from you,

Ram's Horn

Northwood Shots At RAMdom

Korea Hills Cinch For Ram Students; Which Store Made The Error On The Cover

THOSE hills in Korea are sure to be a cinch for G.I.'s from City College as any student with one class in 9L and the next in the gymnasium will testify.

If exercise develops muscle and all reports from hygiene classes indicate this to be true, students plagued with four semesters of physical education should end up with legs resembling tree trunks.

NO MARRIAGE, GIRLS!

Pity the poor girls. Under these circumstances, statistics showing that girls completing college have a lesser chance for marriage than non-college graduates would seem more reasonable. After all, who wants a pair of tree trunks to clothe and feed.

An embarrassing mistake was brought to the attention of City College inhabitants late Tuesday afternoon when instructor Robert Utter noticed the fact that that Latin phrase on the official college seal was misspelled on those red and white book covers. The motto, in Latin, "Ut Adolescentes Vitae Educantur," means "that youth may be educated to life." To Caesar's horror, adolescentes was spelled "Addlescentes."

WHICH STORE?

Well, anyway, immediately a question arose in the minds of the educated, quote: Which bookstore is peddling this uneducated book-cover? Certainly not our own student store!

Upon investigation it was discovered that the offending cover came from one of those stores situated off the campus. This was obvious, thought those in the know. After all, the student store was placed smack in the middle of the college grounds and is thereby exposed to all sorts of knowledge.

Wait, thoughts ran, has anyone checked the covers in the student store? With a rush, this was done. The student store was out of covers; none 'til Monday. Will the covers contain the misspelling? What will the taxpayers say? Who is responsible, the printer? Perhaps! Could even be "a Latin from Manhattan."

Incidentally, Utter is with the English department.

Landmark

Redwood Ram Stands Guard At Campus Gate

By Ted Gould

In reality it's simply a large block of carved redwood, dressed in a coat of red and white paint. A purely inanimate object is this odd looking statue that stands year in and year out, guarding the Ocean Avenue entrance to the west campus.

Now everything, we are told, was placed in this world for a purpose, and the Ram is no exception. It has the distinction of symbolizing City College of San Francisco.

World's Fair Figure

The friend in discussion came into being when Sculptor Dudley C. Carter carved a redwood stump into the form of a Ram. Then came the first public appearance, at the San Francisco's World's Fair in 1939-40, where it appeared in one of the California handicraft exhibits.

Toward the end of the Fair, in 1940, it became apparent that the Ram would be in need of a new home. So the late Timothy Pflueger, architect who planned the college, presented the Ram to the college's former president, Dr. A. J. Cloud.

However, fate still had not decided on the Ram's final homesite. At that time the west campus didn't exist; and consequently, no place to put a 3,000 pound redwood Ram. So to an obscure spot in the men's gymnasium the Ram was sent.

Addition To West Campus

For five long years it lay there, until the west campus was created. Then, at 10:45 a.m., on Tuesday, March 12, 1946, the symbol of City College assumed its rightful place, guarding the gateway to the west campus. The Ram also has the distinction of having a living counterpart, a very animated rascal known as Sammy the Ram.

Sammy consists of a paper-mache head with a member of Phi Beta Delta fraternity underneath. Sammy will no doubt make his first appearance of the semester in the very near future between the halves of a football game. Reports have been received that Sammy will make his debut Friday in Vallejo.

Surveyor Clocks Hill 29 Route . . . Time: 9 Minutes

Ascent, Descent Prove Breath-Taking, Tiring, Chilly

By Clarence Whitcomb

City College stretches over 90 acres of wind and fog-swept reaches. Over these vast acres thousands of students struggle up and down the sloping walks, hurrying to reach the scattered classrooms on time.

Recently, an exhaustive survey was undertaken to determine the time and energy spent by local hill climbers to reach building 8 on the west campus from the men's gymnasium.

The findings of this great experiment proved what every student knows: the hike is long, tiring, and cold. It is also interesting.

Old friends and new faces greet the walker as he ascends and descends the hill.

First, a stop watch was needed for the experiment. The men's gymnasium seemed the logical place to obtain this valuable instrument. But no, the physical education department of City College had no stop watch.

The great hand of defeat had dealt a blow to the energetic researcher. Let's face it, no stop watch in the physical education department is a stain on the shield of every sports minded student.

The testing department came to the rescue by donating a stop watch from its vast collection.

From the steaming shower room of the gymnasium to the streaming fog of the west campus, it took the hiker 9:52.1 minutes going around the main building. That includes several interruptions from students who were totally unaware of the momentous event.

One fellow wanted a match. Trying to light a match in the gale-like winds was an experiment in itself.

The next stop occurred on the downgrade, near Pop's Wagon; the surveyor was waylaid as he tried to make up the time lost by the match experiment. The conversation was short, because of the ticking stop watch, but a 10 o'clock coffee date was set.

On and on he tottered, honest sweat clouding his eyes, but finally building 8 loomed dead ahead, and the first part of the mission was completed.

The second part of this scientifically-conducted survey was to determine the time lost or gained by passing through the main building.

It was found a saving of only 24.7 seconds was made by this route. No other survey has ever been so disheartening.

Unofficial, but usually reliable sources have informed the surveyor that students are more apt to meet friends, or stop at the fountain before making the ascent, so the 24.7 seconds are usually a complete loss.

The conclusions reached by this time and energy saving experiment were few. It was found, for example, that students consume approximately the same amount of energy on either route and that a vehicle should be employed to transport the students over the hill.

Further research found that an abandoned cable car could be installed for the convenience of the students with a five-cent fare to pay for expenses.

This would add local color and give City College an honorable place as the only college with a cable car, complete with a gripman, clanging the college song as it descends the Hill.

As the sun slowly sinks behind a fog bank we shall bid a fond goodbye to the researcher, his stop watch, and his cable car scheme, as he ascends and descends.

A poll taken in 1946 among state school superintendents and other prominent educators across the country showed that City College was rated among the first ten of the 100 best educational institutions in the country.

Guardsman Staff Fall, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Clarence Whitcomb
STAFF EDITOR ..... Bob Rezak
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Howard Cumming, Ted Gould, Richard Larrick, Warren Northedd
NEWS: Doug Hand, editor; Georgia Watkins assistant; Dolores Aguirre, Joan Bayerle, Gus cane Brown, Victoria Carrigan, Barbara Egnor, Alvin Gutherrz, Sandra Marks, James Moran
CLUBS: Roberta Jackson, editor
FEATURE: Don Johnson, editor; Mary Lou Cooper, Sumi Kanaya, Henry Louie
SPORTS: Gene Kelly, editor; John Dierking, John Nihill, Carl Sahm, John Spalding
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Ken Hilmer, Fred Matthes, Herb Weiss, Shirley Maritzen, Kay Woods, Norwood Bordon, Betty Jones, John Deasy
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Member Associated Collegiate Press
1950 - 1951

Ram Grid Machine Meets Vallejo Redskins

RAMblings . .

By Gene Kelly

ALL of the fundamental requirements of a good football player, according to college Coach Grover Klemmer, may be reduced to a set of six canons—the six "esses" of football—as Klemmer calls them: Speed, Stamina, Skill, Size, Savvy, and what, for lack of a better term, is referred to as "Stuff."

They are not listed above in the order of their importance because none really take precedence over the others. Says Klemmer: "Size is the least important; the others are too close together to separate."

STUFF CANT BE TAUGHT

Of the remaining five, "stuff" is virtually impossible to teach. It is just a convenient synonym for "guts," "intestinal fortitude," or "whatever you prefer to call it. Klemmer calls it "stuff" to complete the cycle of "esses."

"Stuff is essential to play good football," he says, "because without it a smart, powerful player doesn't have the nerve to do his assigned job the way it should be done. That in turn helps the enemy's offense and ruins your defense, or vice versa.

SIZE NOT ESSENTIAL

"Size isn't important—pardon me, I mean essential—because a small boy with generous helpings of the other five is more effective than a stupid, shrinking 260-pounder."

Klemmer grows a little optimistic when he tries to apply the six "esses" to his 1950 squad. "They've got Speed, Stamina, Skill, Size, and Savvy all to some degree. I've never had a harder working bunch of boys, and that may be an indication of how much 'Stuff' they've got. But I'm still keeping my fingers crossed."

Intra Basketball Signups Today

All teams and players who hope to take part in intramural basketball must file their applications in the coaches' office by 4 o'clock today, according to Tom Wilson, intramural sports director.

Ping pong and tennis players must also sign up for the singles and doubles matches by 4 o'clock Friday, with the times for these matches scheduled according to the player's convenience.

The basketball tournament will be a round-robin type lasting from four to five weeks, depending upon the number of entries. Any fraternity, club or group of individuals may form a team.

Each member of the 8-man team which captures first place in the tourney will receive a gold belt buckle, and have his name inscribed on a perpetual trophy. Members of the second place team will receive silver belt buckles.

Winners in the tennis and ping pong tournaments will be determined by elimination. Gold belt buckles are the first place prizes and silver buckles the second place prizes.

Managers and players alike should watch the bulletin boards in the gym. (See page 4 for Application.)

Despite Lack Of Veterans Soccer Outlook Bright

The crying towel may be out for most of the local football coaches, but Ram soccer Coach Roy Diedrichsen doesn't wear a sad face this season.

Despite the small number of returning veterans on the season's squad, Diedrichsen says that, "This season's defense will be as strong as we've had in the past." With a two season record of eight wins, three defeats and five ties, it is quite possible that the Ram defense will pass inspection.

A few of the returnees are listed as Bob Sherwood, who will run from a halfback spot, Bill Mancuso and Nate Kusminsky, both fullbacks, Dave Miller, veterans left wing, and Joe Martinez, goalie.

The opening contest of the 10 game slate will be held on Wednesday night, October 11, at the San Francisco State field. The Ram opposition will be by the University of California. The Bear lads will in all probability furnish strong opposition in the league opener.

This season marks the first double-header in local soccer history and Diedrichsen hopes that the twin bills will draw larger crowds to Ram games.

The soccer league is comprised of teams representing U.S.F., last year's champion, California, Stanford, San Francisco State and City College.

Diedrichsen has said that "There is good team spirit. All positions are wide open and if I can find a Center Forward who can score goals, we will manage to win a few ball games."

Workouts are held daily at 3 o'clock and anyone with previous experience should contact Diedrichsen for a tryout.

Travel Plans Scheduled For WAA Athletic Meets

Travelling plans for women athletes are part of the activities scheduled this semester for the Women's Athletic Association by officers Madge Brewer, president, and Pat Kay, secretary, with the help of Nancy Sparks, adviser to the organization, it was revealed yesterday.

Other elective posts for the association have not yet been filled, but plans for a play day, sports clinics and co-educational clubs have already been formulated.

Miss Sparks reported that "all women belonging to the Associated Women Students are automatically entitled to membership in the Women's Athletic Association and to participation in its events.

Green Lines Clash Friday

Speed, Power In Klemmer's Backs Fires Optimism

By Gene Kelly, Sports Editor

Green line meets green line on Vallejo's Corbus Field Friday night at 8 p.m., when Coach Grover Klemmer's grid machine opens 1950 hostilities with the Vallejo College Redskins in a non-league set-to that should give the first true indication of how well the Rams will fare in the conference season yet to start.

From end to end, with the exception of center and right guard, every position will probably have a newcomer to NCJCC football bumping shoulders with opposing linemen.

The center post will have not one but two veterans, Jim Fales, probable starter, and Jim McAuley both played good ball for the Rams last season, and so far both have managed to beat out all challengers for a position on the first two teams.

Dick Saccani, first string guard on the 1949 varsity, unexpectedly returned to the fold to holster the right side of the line and Klemmer's drooping spirits. Jim Kotler, a 205 guard from Oakland, seems to be the logical choice for the other guard position.

Their neighbors at tackles will be Alex Groswird and Paul Zgraggen, a pair of six footers from Sacred Heart. The end candidates are so closely bunched that Klemmer is reserving his decision. He is quick to emphasize that some of the starters might be replaced by current second and third-stringers, the competition is that keen.

In contrast to the line situation, the backfield is pretty well set, with one important exception: the quarterback spot.

The problem here is not so much quality as it is quantity. Ralph de la Torre, former All-City QB for Balboa High School, has displayed the steadiness, passing and ball-handling needed to make Klemmer's T-formation move.

Unfortunately, Dick Carillo, another All-City back, probably will not be around to spell de la Torre very often. Carullo aggravated a finger injury on his passing hand in practice, with the result that his appearances on the turf this season will be few and short unless his finger improves.

Klemmer has counteracted this lack of depth by making Red de Cristofaro a part-time QB. De Cristofaro, a 160 pound veteran scatback, is a good field general and a better than average passer. Despite his 5' 9" height, he has proven himself in the past to be an outstanding safety also, and will see duty on defense as well as offense.

Left half is a toss-up between Al

(Continued on page 4, column 4)

RALPH DE LA TORRE, pictured above, is querterback aspirent on this year's Ram versity. De la Torre, two year All-City from Balboa, has shown well in recent workouts.

ONE OF THE FEW returning veterans this season, Guard Dick Saccani may carry a large part of the Rams' load up front. Saccani is a defensive standout of proven ability.

Rams vs. Redskins

Kickoff, 8 P. M., Corbus Field

CITY COLLEGE		VALLEJO COLLEGE
Belvin Gage	LER	Bill Baptiste
Paul Zraggen	LTR	Bud Wallace
Jim Kotler	LGR	Jack Renfro
Jim Fales	C	Don Thurin
Dick Saccani	RGL	Pat Carter
Alex Groswird	RTL	Jud Darling
Don O'Brien	REL	Morgan "Porky" Wood
Ralph de la Torre	Q	Fran Ortez
Al Endress	LHR	Chuck Hewitt
Cletus Washington	RHR	Bert Acton
Bob McBride	F	Henry Cooper

Hillsman Looks For Basketball Talent As Only Five Vets Return

With basketball practice still in the preliminary stages, Coach Ralph Hillsman is endeavoring to find material today to replenish his exhausted squad which has only five returning lettermen in Babe Samson, Bob Wilson, Dave Weddington, Bob Hunter, and Dick Mulready from last year's NCJCC champions.

"All is not hopeless, for I think that the returning men from last year's jayvee team will really help our chances in the forthcoming '50-'51 season," Hillsman said yesterday.

Hillsman has a prepsters in Tom Glafkides and Brillion from Lowell, Lombardi from Galileo, Jim Midyett and Jim McNeil from Mission, Nieman from Piedmont, and Al Endress from St. Elizabeth in Oakland, who should bolster the Ram cagers' chances of another successful year.

The College's cagers will encounter Marin, Santa Rosa, California Frosh and Blues, Stanford Braves, USF Frosh, plus leading teams from the city and bay area when they take to the floor during the month of December.

The schedule calls for the Ram casabans to travel to the annual Modesto Tournament on January 3, 1951.

"I would like to stress that all positions on the team are open for ranking individuals to take over," Hillsman said yesterday.

Practice is being held every Monday and Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the men's gymnasium as a regularly scheduled class until regular practice sessions get underway around November 1, Hillsman added.

'T' Versus Single Wing Friday Night In Vallejo

"T" formation goes against single wing Friday night when Coach Grover Klemmer sends his Rams against Coach Ted Gebhardt's Vallejo College Redskins in Vallejo.

Patrons of the sport may be able to decide for themselves whether the modern "T" with a man in motion can pit its speed against the single wing's power and come out on the long end of the score.

Previous uses of the west campus area were a golf driving range and, as rumor has it, that many years before it was also a greyhound race track.

Local Gridders, Stanford, Cal Favorites In Guardsman Poll

This football season The Guardsman branches out and gives readers a complete survey of the top weekly grid attractions. City College lends the parade by playing Friday night. They are rated by "the experts" as three touchdown favorites.

California, Stanford, Santa Clara and Georgia are also polled to win.

Editor Louis G. Conlan, Student President Tom Dill, Guardsman Editor Walt Heil and members of The Guardsman sport staff comprise "The Jury."

As an added incentive, the man with the highest percentage at the end of the grid season will receive two tickets to a game as yet undecided upon.

NAME	CCSF vs. Vallejo	S.M. vs. Georgia	Cal vs. Oregon	U.S.F. vs. Stanford	S. C. vs. Rice
Conlan	CCSF 33-6	Geo. 20-7	...	Stan. 26-13	S.C. 13-7
Dill	CCSF 28-7	Geo. 18-7	Cal 28-7	Stan. 21-21	S.C. 18-12
Heil	CCSF 26-7	Geo. 33-13	Cal 28-7	Stan. 28-14	Rice 28-14
Kelly	CCSF 33-13	Geo. 20-6	Cal 20-0	Stan. 28-13	Rice 20-13
Dierking	CCSF 21-0	Geo. 27-12	Cal 14-12	U.S.F. 19-14	Rice 14-13
Spalding	CCSF 26-6	Geo. 27-7	Cal 21-6	Stan. 33-20	Rice 20-13
Sahm	CCSF 14-6	Geo. 30-7	Cal 38-6	Stan. 24-20	S.C. 12-7
Nihill	CCSF 13-0	Geo. 32-7	Cal ...	Stan. 21-14	S.C. 14-7
Consensus	CCSF 28-6	Geo. 30-10	Cal 23-9	Stan. 28-19	S.C. 16-15

Clish Approves Marcus As Ram Grid Publicist

Appointment of Bob Marcus as college football publicist was approved by Superintendent of Schools Dr. Herbert C. Clish last week.

Marcus will handle all football news from the college for the duration of the season. Present plans call for the former Guardsman sports editor to send releases to all metropolitan newspapers and to papers in towns on the Rams' schedule.

Marcus was sports editor of The Guardsman in Fall '41 before leaving for service in the Coast Guard. After his hitch in the Coast Guard Marcus was employed on the sports staff of the San Francisco Chronicle.

Coaches Inspire Ram Teamwork

HEAD COACH Grover Klemmer and Line Coach Bill Fischer combine experience with knowledge in their roles as guiding lights of the college football squad. Working together in such a manner builds up the morale of the team and helps both mentors decide important factors pertaining to its improvement. Their teamwork is an example to team members themselves is what can be accomplished by working together. Both coaches are shown as they keep watchful eyes on the veterans and newcomers to the ranks as the Rams went through a practice scrimmage on the college gridiron.

FINAL DRAFT of the college's two-and-one-half-million dollar expansion program was mapped out last week by members of President Louis G. Conlan's administrative staff. Here Conlan, Deans Jack Brady, Edwin Sandys, Controller Oscar E. Anderson, Lloyd Luckmann, and Marcus Skarstedt appraise the final draft. The buildings will be erected behind the main building when funds allocated to the college from school bonds become available.—Photo by Hilmer and Jones.

Summer News Roundup

Board Backs Building Plans

Final drafts of the college's building program were mapped out last week by President Louis G. Conlan and members of the administrative staff following approval of the plans by the Board of Education.

In a special mid-August session the board approved the plans and allocated $1,700,000 for a three-story combination library and classroom building. The plans call for the building to be constructed at the foot of Hill 29, behind the present main building.

Preliminary plans for a fine arts building were also approved by the board. About $500,000 is available for the fine arts building. It was estimated that the fine arts building, which will be constructed in stages, will reach the $1,300,000 mark in appraisals.

President Conlan and members of his staff outlined the project before the board. They told the board that the college anticipates an enrollment of 11,000 students by 1965 and that an additional $2,200,000 would be needed to complete the program.

In a school bonds proposition in the 1948 elections San Francisco voters approved a $2,500,000 fund for the new buildings.

* * *

Meanwhile, also in mid-August, the Federal Government, through the Veterans Administration, ordered Associated Student card fees in colleges where payment is voluntary halted.

The Veterans Administration policy of paying associated membership for veterans in public colleges was ruled illegal by the government's Central Accounting Office, auditors of the books of all Federal agencies.

The auditors informed the administration that payment of association membership was illegal and to cease payment. The accounting office also told the VA to collect all payments made since 1947.

The VA discontinued payment of Associated Student card fees in February 1947, but reversed itself in October, 1947 and continued payments until this semester.

Last Thursday, Oscar E. Anderson, college controller, told the Student Council that the college owed the VA $46,000. (See story on page one for details.)

Reports from the VA indicated that over 50 public colleges throughout the state are affected by the ruling. Total back payments may total more than $1,000,000 it was also reported.

* * *

Governor Earl Warren in late August named college President Louis G. Conlan to the board of directors of the San Francisco Cow Palace.

President Conlan was named to succeed the late Nion Tucker on the board of directors. The appointment was made in Sacramento.

* * *

For the convention of the International Association of Fire Chiefs, held early this month, Michael Lo Presti, of the fire college, collaborated with Captain Louis Hage on a brief history of the San Francisco fire department.

Regina Cummings, Phi Beta Rho, and Jim Cooper, Alpha Sigma Delta, won the titles of king and queen of the Sophomore Class at the ball June 10.

Korea, Far Cry From Campus Life; Many Here Make Change

Korea and an M-1 rifle are a far cry from campus life, but this change of environment is something that many young men from the college have been brought to face, F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, reported yesterday.

Meyer Cahn's band group is probably the hardest hit organization on the campus. He has lost, among a group of eight, Ed Turduci, last year's band manager; Nick Antonis and Herb Dumont, originally this year's student band leader.

Student Council activities took a sudden set-back with the withdrawal of Ron Zimmerman, Ernie Smith, Pete Larieq, Jim Potter, and Jim Anderson, while The Guardsman staff lost to the Marine Corps Jack Vanderbilt and Herb Marvin.

Cahn revealed that all of the eight men withdrawn from his course were members of the Marine Reserves as musicians for the Corps' band. Their unit was dismissed from active preparation some time ago, however. Now they have been called to the front as regular soldiers.

Draft Regulations Issued By Marsh

Draft regulations governing men students attending the college were issued recently by F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare.

These regulations, while not decisive, are the latest word received by the college on the 1-A men attending this college, Marsh said. These regulations are as follows:

Draft boards may postpone induction of men students who have not completed one academic year until that year is completed.

Those who have completed one academic year and are in the upper half of their class may have their case considered as an occupational deferment.

The status of men students in reserve units is still unsettled, Marsh announced.

Students who have received their notice should inform Marsh so they can receive a letter stating the facts of their case.

Since the beginning of the semester, more than 150 students have requested letters from the college, Marsh added.

For the intermission period during one of the college drama group's daytime presentations on January 16, 1946, students were urged to bring their lunches.

Two Women Granted College Scholarships

Two scholarships, consisting of 25 dollars and an Associated Student card, were awarded this semester to students Gloria Naccarini and Margaret Taylor by recommendation of administrators F. Grant Marsh and Margaret Dougherty.

Miss Naccarini, a business major, was awarded the Theta Tau scholarship.

Miss Taylor was selected for a scholarship donated this semester by a college woman student, name withheld by request.

School Head OK's Vending Machines, Football Publicist

An appearance before school department officials by Tom Dill, Associated Student president, last week, resulted in approval of placing vending machines on campus, hiring a publicity agent for the football team and a request from Superintendent Herbert C. Clish for students to man Crusade for Freedom booths.

Final approval was granted for the placing of vending machines around the college to boost student treasury funds, Dill reported.

Exact location for the machines, Dill said, will be discussed at a meeting this week to be attended by President Louis G. Conlan, Dr. O. E. Anderson, Dean Lou Batmale, Dill, and Tom Campanella, finance chairman.

An urgent request for cooperation from students was received by President Conlan in the letter form from Dr. Clish for women to staff the Crusade for Freedom booths.

Fingerprinter Joins Law Enforcement Staff

Bert Bridges, fingerprint expert recently retired from the Alameda County Police Department, joined the law enforcement department this semester, Instructor Fred Fitzgerald reported recently.

Of approximately 250 students enrolled in the law enforcement course, about 14 members comprise the campus police force, Fitzgerald said.

Appointments for the force are as follows: Supervisor, Fred Fitzgerald; Police Chief, John McKenny; Lieutenant, Rodney Gardner; and Sergeants Libert Meyers and Herbert Billan.

Registrar Lists Two Changes In Graduation Requirements

Changes in graduation requirements go into effect this semester for students desiring a degree from City College, Mary Jane Learnard, registrar, announced last week.

The two changes are in the methematics requirement and the grade point average, Miss Learnard said.

Students who do not pass the entrance examination in arithmetic must take and complete mathematics 51 or one of the substitutes. Those who entered college prior to the academic year 1950-1951 may be exempt from this requirement, Miss Learnard said.

The grade point average has been raised to 1.0 or a "C" average in all work completed at the college. Candidates who complete all requirements prior to the Spring, 1952 semester will be required to have a .5, "C-minus," Miss Learnard continued.

Students who are in doubt of their standing under these new rules should check with their counsellor, Miss Learnard added.

Last day for filing petitions for graduation for the Fall semester will be Friday, October 6, Miss Learnard warned.

More About Ram Team Personnel

(Continued from page 3)

Endress and Stan Haan. The latter, a 135-pounder, is exceptionally fast on his feet, while Endress has more power. Cletus Washington, another back with speed, will share right half duties with de Cristofaro.

Fourth man in the Ram backfield now looks like Bob McBride, A product of Mission, McBride will be relieved at fullback by Oscar Brown, a track man. Both have speed, both have power.

In a nutshell, the college squad should have a well-balanced attack of speed, power, and passing. All that's needed to make it a winning squad is good line play, teamwork and timing. Whether these all-important factors are present or not should be apparent at Vallejo Friday night.

Schedule for this season follows:

Home Games—
Sat., Oct. 14—Monterey, State Stadium
Fri., Oct. 27—San Mateo, Kezar.
Fri., Nov. 3—East Los Angeles, Kezar
Sat., Nov. 11—Hartnell, State Stadium

Road Games—
Frl., Sept. 29—Vallejo, Vallejo Stadium
Fri., Oct. 20—Los Angeles, College Stadium
Thurs., Nov. 16—Stockton, College Stadium
Wed., Nov. 22—Modesto.

Council Seats Filled; Soph Head Sworn In

Four new Council members were elected and Lee Janover was sworn in as Sophomore president last week to fill vacancies left by those called to active service or not returning to the college.

The Council elected Pat Wilson and Sydney Mumford to the Freshman vacancies; Al Kane and Victor Morales to the Sophomore vacancies.

Positions left vacant were those of Virginia McCarthy, Ernie Smith, Duane McGibbon, Charles Liebscher and Pete Larriq.

Jackson

Round 'n About

The Clubs—What They Do, What They Offer To New Members

SINCE tomorrow has been set aside as an official Club Day, "Round 'n About" takes this opportunity to welcome all new students and to invite them to participate in the college clubs and their activities.

Regardless of what a student's particular interest may be, he is almost certain to find an organization to suit his needs. Among the special interest groups are the Amateur Radio Club, Band Association, Drama Society, Engineering Society, Forum Club, Horticulture Society, Hotel and Restaurant Society, Le Circle Francais (French Club), Men's Club, Merchandising Club.

Mu Iota Psi (Music), Music Guild, Phi Epsilon Rho (women's athletics), Pi Mu Gamma (science), Phi Rho Pi (debate), Pick and Hammer, Ram Cam, Spur and Saddle, Strikes and Spares, Ski Rams, Symphony Forum, and Women's Athletic Association.

Others include the Chinese Club, Cosmopolitan Club, Filipino Students Club, Collegiate Christian Fellowship, Hillel Society, Masonic Club, and the Newman Club.

Honor societies include Alpha Gamma Sigma (scholastic), Block SF (athletic), Lambda Alpha (music), Omicron Phi Pi (economics), and Phi Rho Pi (debate).

Fraternal organizations are Alpha Lambda Sigma, Alpha Sigma Delta, Alpha Phi Omega, Beta Tau, Tri Epsilon, Gamma Phi Ypsilon, Kappa Rho, Phi Beta Delta, Phi Delta Koppa, and Tau Chi Sigma. For women, the sororities include Alpha Lambda Chi, Delta Psi, Delta Sigma Tau, Kappa Phi, Phi Beta Rho, Theta Tau, and Zeta Chi.

Turning to recent announcements from the club world, it is found that the new semester's activities are well under way. The Newman Club will hold an organizational meeting for elections Wednesday, October 4, at 7:30 p.m., at St. Emydius Hall, Jules and De Montford Streets. They invite everyone who is interested to attend.

Kappa Phi announces that Virginia Ely was recently chosen sweetheart of Tri Epsilon. Congratulations, Virginia.

For all who are interested in art and literature, the Forum Club schedules its first meeting at 8 p.m., Friday, September 29, at 157 Kensington Way, to welcome back co-sponsor Dorothy Mercer.

The men of Phi Beta Delta are very pleased with the turnout at their Shipwreck dance last Friday night; in fact they are quite happy about the whole thing and wish to thank all those who helped to make it successful.

Summer weddings were much in prominence, as several couples took their vows. Among these newlyweds are Shirley O'Hara, Theta Tau, to Sandy Brousseau; June Mohr, Alpha Lambda Chi, to Tom Dill, Tri E; and Rose Marie Glenn, Kappa Phi, to Tom Thomas, Alpha Sigma Delta.

This column prints anything (almost) about clubs and their activities. Items of interest should be left in the basket marked "club notices" in The Guardsman office. If no news is turned in, naturally it cannot be printed, so it is important that copy is turned in here. So until next week, be seeing everyone "round 'n about."

Intramural Basketball Entries Due Today

Those interested in intramural basketball must have their entries in by this afternoon, according to Intramural Director Tom Wilson. Entries will be accepted by Wilson in the office of the men's gymnasium through today. Managers of club or independent teams should fill out the application below.

Name of college organization represented.....

.....

If independent team, name of team.....

Manager of Team: Name.....

Address.....Phone.....

Captain of team: Name.....

Address.....Phone.....

Name of Players: 1.....

2.....

3.....

4.....

5.....

6.....

7.....

8.....

Signed.....

(Team Manager)

College Tribute—1940 Salutatorian Praises Undergraduate Work

By Don Johnson

Jade Snow Wong, salutatorian of City College's graduating class of 1940, and one of America's leading artist-ceramists, added the role of author to her many laurels last month as literary critics throughout the United States started praising her newly published book, Fifth Chinese Daughter.

Miss Wong's books, in which she pays tribute to City College, tells the story of her life in San Francisco's Chinatown, and her growth from a girl held tightly by Old World ties to a highly individual creative artist.

The book is completely written in the third person, Miss Wong explains, because, "Even written in English, an 'I' book by a Chinese would seem outrageously immodest to anyone raised in the spirit of Chinese propriety."

In relating her entry (1938) into City College (then known as San Francisco Junior College) Miss Wong says, "Junior college was at first disappointing in more ways than one. There was none of the glamour usually associated with college because the institution was so young that it had not yet acquired buildings of its own. Classes were held all over the city wherever accommodations were available."

Of her college courses Miss Wong found Latin in Henry Soule's class the easiest, because of its almost mathematical exactness, and chemistry, with Milton Pollisar, a course taken merely because it had fascinated her in high school, the most difficult.

In discussing her sociology course Miss Wong says, "Jade Snow had chosen it without thought, simply to meet a requirement; but that casual decision completely revolutionized her thinking, shattering her 'Wong-constructed' conception of the order of things."

This occurred when her instructor, John Ross, stated in a lecture that, "Parents can no longer demand unquestioning obedience from their children. They should do their best to understand. Children also have their rights."

Miss Wong translated this idea into terms of her own experience, and used it as an argument with which to meet her parents' objections to her search for individualism.

During the two years spent at City College Miss Wong was elected to Alpha Gamma Sigma, given an award for being the most outstanding woman student of the California Junior Colleges, and chosen as salutatorian of her graduating class.

She began a ceramics business in 1945, thereby becoming the only Chinese-American woman to operate such a firm in the United States. In 1947 she was awarded second prize in a California earthenware exhibit, and in 1948 was awarded third prize in enamels at the Los Angeles County Fair.

In December, 1948 Miss Wong was named as one of the ten young-women-of-the-year by Mademoiselle Magazine, and received one of the magazine's Awards for Signal Achievement.

In the author's note of Fifth Chinese Daughter, Miss Wong pays special tribute to Dr. Alice C. Cooper, City College English instructor, now retired, for her "patient technical guidance" in the preparation of the book.

Speaking of the assistance of Dr. Cooper and Miss Elizabeth Lawrence, Miss Wong says, "Without them, I should not have had the audacity to complete an autobiography at an age when I am, as some amazed persons have pronounced, 'not even dry behind the ears.'"

JADE SNOW WONG, salutatorian of the 1940 graduating class, is now receiving fame as an author for her new book, Fifth Chinese Daughter.

College Hour Schedule
8 o'clock classes—8:10 to 8:50
9 o'clock classes—9:00 to 9:40
10 o'clock classes—9:50 to 10:30
College Hour—10:40 to 11:20
11 o'clock classes—11:30 to 12:10
12 o'clock classes—12:20 to 1:00

The Guardsman

Official Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

VOLUME XXXI SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1950 NUMBER 2

A THREE DAY Crusade for Freedom drive was launched on the campus last week with broadcast announcements, bell-ringing, and speeches. The drive is part of a program urging all Americans to help promote the cause of Freedom throughout the world. Shown above (left to right), are Maureen Prosser, Peter Ledee, and Mitzi Mizufune, signing their names to the Declaration of Freedom scroll as the drive gets under way.—S. F. Chronicle photo.

General Clay's Crusade For Freedom Petition Receives Student Approval

General Lucius D. Clay's Crusade for Freedom drive received the approval of more than 900 city college students as a result of veteran-student Bart Dempster's organization of a three-day on-campus Crusade program last week.

Dempster, who volunteered his services for the campaign two weeks ago, received permission from Superintendent of Schools Herbert C. Clish and President Louis G. Conlan before proceeding with his plans, which included broadcast announcements, bell-ringing, and dedication speeches. President Conlan, opening the activities, urged that the college dedicate itself to freedom for all the peoples of the world.

Dean Lou Batmale, Controller Oscar E. Anderson, and Henry Leff, radio instructor, also aided Dempster in the preparation of ceremonies. Said Dempster: "My thanks to the volunteer workers; it is a mark of a good citizen to be a volunteer." Leff arranged for various sound effects, and the broadcasts.

The young veteran set up displays, tacked posters, and distributed the thousands of handbills advocating the drive. He was given an official vote of approval by the Student Council.

City-wide interest in the college Crusade for Freedom sign-up was promoted by the student Publicity Committee.

College Faculty Increased By 11

Eleven Instructors joined the college faculty this semester, President Louis G. Conlan's office reported yesterday.

The college's instructional staff now numbers 258, with an administrative staff of 12.

The following are new instructors: Barbara Brakett and Anka Perisich, English; Stuart Hyde, English and dramatics; Gladys Brower and Raymond Moore, physical education; Ermenest Michelsen and Irving Witt, social science; Paul Freeman, biology; Jesse Veal, mathematics; Valerie Phillips and Ned Reed, chemistry.

Graduation Petitions Must Be Filed Friday

Last day for filing petitions for graduation will be Friday, October 6, Mary Jane Learnard, registrar, warned recently.

Students wishing to apply for their Associate in Arts degree, should file petitions with the registrar in Building 3, Miss Learnard said.

Friday is also the last day to remove incompletes from the previous semester.

Miss Learnard said that students who neglect to correct incompletes now, will receive a "D" or "F" grade for the course.

Wednesday, November 1, will be the last day for filing petitions for dropping courses, Miss Learnard added.

Local Players Present Five Sketches Today

Vigorous classroom activity culminates today for drama students when they present scenes from five plays to the public here this afternoon, Stuart Hyde, drama instructor, said last week.

Students have been rehearsing 15 scenes from many plays preparatory for college productions later in the semester, Hyde declared.

Results of the group's work can be viewed at 3 o'clock when dramatic scenes from Hamlet, Volpone, Dr. Faustus, The Father, and Cyrano De Bergerac are presented in Room 28, located in the basement of the main building.

There is no charge for today's performance; however, because of a lack of space, only 100 students will be admitted. Admission is by ticket only, and these may be obtained at the door, Hyde said.

Tryouts for the first college production, scheduled for the week of November 13 through November 18, are to be held tomorrow and Friday in Room 28. Aspiring actors should report to this room between 1 and 4 p.m. for tryouts, Hyde said.

He urged anyone interested in dramatics and acting to try out for a part.

Tentatively, the three plays scheduled are Frankie and Johnnie, a comedy by Elizabeth Wilson Hughes; The Hungerer, by William Saroyan; and Ada da Fe, by Tennessee Williams.

Hyde came to the college with a background of undergraduate work at UCLA and graduate work at Stanford.

He founded a Little Theater group in Los Angeles in 1946 and ran a creative workshop at UCLA for a year. In the last war he wrote, directed, and produced three plays while serving in the navy.

CAB Calls For Club Charter Applications

New membership in the Club Activities Board is at the status quo of last semester, CAB President Frank Meyn reported yesterday, but any new clubs desiring official on-campus recognition must submit their petitions for approval by today.

Meyn, who re-introduced the Club Day with the aid of CAB vice-president Charles Bovison and Secretary Kit Schonsberger, revealed that the student lounge gathering will be held each semester hereafter. The Student Council officially acknowledged this plan.

There are, at present, some 51 clubs at the college with an active status. Most of these were represented at the Club Day meet last Thursday, and were engaged from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in organizing, soliciting membership, answering questions about themselves, and collecting back dues, Meyn said that he is happy with the results, considering that this has been the first Club Day in several years.

Oscar Anderson, controller, stressed the rules governing the financial actions of the clubs. The purchase of any article worth more than two dollars by a club receiving a budget from the Associated Students must have previous authorization, he warned.

Non-budget organizations will be reimbursed for any purchase less than ten dollars, it was granted, but only if the expenditure has been approved by the club adviser.

Furthermore, he added, tickets for dances or other affairs to be sponsored by a club must be ordered in a definite quantity and numbered serially before sales begin.

Blue Lights Dance Scheduled Friday

House of Blue Lights, Tau Chi Sigma's annual dance, is scheduled from 9 p.m. to midnight Friday in the west campus auditorium, George Jackson, chairman, announced early this week.

Music and entertainment for the evening will be furnished by Howard Frederick and his orchestra with Mary Madalich, vocalist. Bids for the sport dance, to which everyone is invited, are a dollar per couple and 50 cents single. Purchase of bids can be made from any fraternity member or bought at the door, Jackson said.

"A large turnout of women as well as men is expected so that new students can become better acquainted," Jackson added. The dance promises unique and unusual decorations.

Fraternity members assisting Jackson include Jack Crighton, Ed Mulvihill, Sam Chicos, Jess Doran, and Ken Abernethy. Faculty adviser is Maurice Power.

Editorial

The Guardsman

Official Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXXI, No. 2 — WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1950 — Page 2

Two Year Colleges Rated Highly Despite Low Estimates Of Them

RECENTLY we were given opportunity to thumb through Fifth Chinese Daughter, an informal autobiography by Jade Snow Wong, salutatorian of the Class of 1940. Miss Wong devotes a chapter in the book to her experiences in this college.

It is significant to note that Miss Wong's pre-registration opinions of the college were limited to a reluctance to attend. Later, when she was graduated from the college, her opinions were revised.

Miss Wong's early efforts to enter the University of California through a scholarship were blocked when the university Alumni Association scholarship committee received too many applications for scholarships.

From the beginning Miss Wong did not wish to attend this college, but a friend persuaded her to attend, contending that, "What makes you so sure that a junior college can't teach you anything? Isn't it education you're after?"

That swung Miss Wong to attendance here. However, this same attitude prevails with many young high school graduates who want to further their education.

FURTHERMORE, two-year colleges are instrumental in training persons for practical life after graduation. The university parallel courses, offered here and elsewhere, prepare students for work in a regular four-year college.

"Other curricula provide either specialized training for jobs in semi-professional fields or general background study valuable to future responsible citizens in the community.

All told this college combines in its curriculum a triple foundation—an introduction to learning in the field of a student's choice, an introduction to a profession, an introduction to and development of the individual's cultural life.

The two-year college movement is growing. And with this growth ample prestige and stature is coming to so-called "junior colleges." No longer is it fashionable to sneer at two-year colleges as little above the notch of a high school.

As a matter of fact, it has been pointed out in educational circles that two-year colleges offer the students as much during the first two years as any four-year institution, in matters of education. This college is rated by the University of California as having the second highest educational standard of any two-year college in the State.

AT the end of her two year stay at the college, Miss Wong told the graduating class of 1940 that. "The junior college has developed our initiative, fair play, and self expression, and has given us tools for thinking and analyzing . . ."

We think so too. A "junior college" is far more than a glorified high school, despite the prevailing thoughts on the matter.

Larrick

The Spectator

new ways of doing things found in every field except education

NEW ways of doing things have been discovered in almost every field except getting an education, but at last science has promised that in the near future even this may be given new trimmings.

In the past sleeping and dreaming have been considered a time to rebuild energy and a nuisance, respectively. Now science is prepared to show you how you can do your best work while asleep and make your dreams your best friends.

According to psychiatrists, the subconscious is always working even while you are asleep. If you have a dream it is not just playing tricks but is trying to tell you something you should know.

TEN MINUTE EXAM

For example: if you study for an exam ten minutes and convince yourself you know the whole book and that night you dream the book is chasing you with a knife, you are being told by your subconscious that you should have studied more.

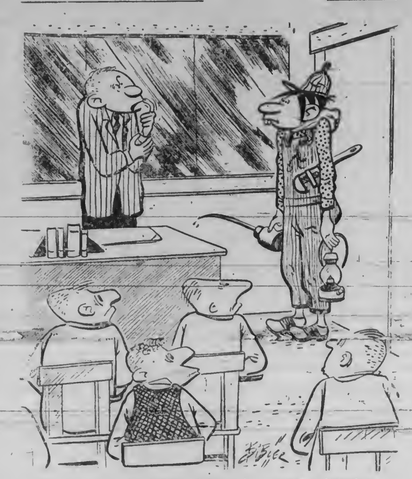
As for getting the most out of your sleeping hours, the latest is to record the material you wish to learn and have it played back to you through an earphone under your pillow after you have gone to sleep.

According to experiments conducted, you will soak up 40 per cent of the material by the time you awaken. Along with the 30 or 40 per cent you learn by reading while awake, you are a cinch for an A.

The only conclusion that can be made to all this is that the subconscious mind is a handy little devil to have around, if you can learn to use it.

DREAM SCHEMES

It would be a fine idea if they got the ball rolling by recording lectures on dream analysis. After this course had been mastered, the subconscious could be given a free hand to work up a few good dreams to see if the student had learned his lessons.



This new system would seem a little strange at first. Imagine coming home late from a dance or ball game and having your mother say: "Goodnight, son, sleep well and study hard." Or having a friend of yours who has lost one of your books say: "I'll run out to the car and go to sleep, the old 'subcon' knows where I left it."

Guardsman Staff Fall, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Clarence Whitcomb
STAFF EDITOR ..... Bob Rasak
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Howard Cummins, Ted Dix, Richard Lanzie, Warren Normandin
NEWS: Doug Hayward, editor; Georgia Wanless, assistant; Dolores Aguirre, Joan Sylvia, Gabriele Brown, Veronica Castiglia, Barbara Eggan, Alice Gutierrez, Sandra Morris, James Moran
CLUBS: Roberta Jackson, editor
FEATURE: Don Johnson, editor; Mary Lou Cooper, Sumi Kanaya, Henry Louie
SPORTS: Gene Kelly, editor; John Dierking, John Nichols, Carl Cohen, John Spalding
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Ken Hilmer, Fred Matthes, Herb Weiss, Shirley Martinez, Kay Wood, Norwood Bolton, Betty Jones, John Deasy
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse

Member Associated Collegiate Press
1950 - 1951

Little Man On Campus — By Bibler

"At just what bookstore did you buy your engineering supplies?"

East Meets West

Phelan Avenue Is Dividing Line Of College Campus

By Henry Louie

Here is Phelan Avenue, the 38th parallel of City College. Though a narrow road, nevertheless it is an important one. For it is the line of demarcation dividing the college, not only in area but also in viewpoints.

Dr. Marcus Skarstedt, coordinator of instruction, said recently, "There are only a few curricula that may be considered west campus or main building types.

"English; social science, music, hotel management, and journalism are found on the west campus, while foreign languages, natural science and most of the business administration courses are located in the main building."

Tower Is Symbol

To those who inhabit the west campus exclusively, the ivory tower on the hill is a symbol. There, authority and dignity reign together benevolently within its halls and rooms. There are the laboratories, business machines, and scientific apparatus.

The west campus is the center of continuous activity. Here, the narrow restricted corridors have expanded into a huge macadam plain. The student is free to wander, to congregate, to sneak snacks, or to choose a more individualistic pattern of studies. The student relationship with his instructor, too, is more informal.

But what of those students who must gravitate between these two points?

Skarstedt Has Remedy

For their dilemma, Dr. Marcus Skarstedt has a remedy. He ventured to say that the grounds for two new buildings are expected to be broken early next year. These buildings will contain the library and fine arts department with facilities for classrooms.

Until that day of reckoning, east is east and west is west and they WILL meet on Phelan Avenue.

RAM'S HORN . . .

Pulse of the Campus

● what! no complaints?

Students, City College:

A new era has arrived at City College, evidently an era in which students have no need for using the crying towel, brickbat tossing, and orchid delivering concessions which have been operated successfully and impartially by the Ram's Horn for 15 years.

It can't be that the price is too high, for the cost of using these concessions is merely a letter left with either the telephone operator or The Guardsman office.

It can't be that the amount of service received is not enough, for your letter reaches the hands of all Guardsman readers. It can't be that students using these concessions are not well treated, for the Ram's Horn has a record of complete impartiality and fairness in all of his dealings.

Never before can the Ram's Horn recall a time when things were going so smoothly that no one had a complaint, while at the same time not going smoothly enough to rate some praise.

If you have something to praise or raze why not take advantage of the Ram's Horn.

Be hearing from you.

Ram's Horn

Architects Require Talking Pencils

By Sumi Kanaya

Being able to "talk" with a pencil is one of the prerequisites of a successful architect, according to Merle Weidman of the engineering department. He offers proof of this "speaking" ability of the students in the exhibits now on display on the second floor of Building 4.

The abstract messages of a few of the exhibits may not be altogether clear to the casual observer, but the realistic water colors and conte crayon sketches are easily understandable to the most unimaginative critic.

Weidman explained that in order to discover how well students can transfer what is in the imaginations onto paper, the student is given crayons of several colors and is instructed to draw the "squeak of the door," the "chiming of a bell" or perhaps something "sweet and lovely." The "squeak" is a rather interesting object of bright hues and the "sweet" is expressed in soft pastels. All interpretations are extremely original.

He added that now and then the work of students from the University of California is also displayed. Exhibits are changed every month or so.

Jaunt To England

Dorothy Mercer Returns From Study At Oxford

By Mary Lou Cooper

City College and the English Department are far from England and Oxford University, and Dorothy Mercer said, as she gazed out of her office window to the top of Pneumonia Hill, "It's nice to be back in San Francisco with its wonderful climate."

This was not her first trip to England or the university; she was in residence there in 1938-39 and again in 1940. From the way she described the "dreaming spires of Oxford," the surrounding plains and countryside with the slowly flowing streams and The High—the main street of the University, you know she enjoyed her time spent in "merrie olde England."

Queen Mother

One experience she will always remember was that Sunday at Westminster Abbey when at the completion of the service, a lovely lady, beautifully dressed in that special blue, with foxes dyed to match, ivory silvery hair in place, hat at the proper angle, swept with regal dignity down the aisle followed by her lady in waiting.

Addressing the young man next to her, Dr. Mercer said: "Is that Queen Mary?"

"Yes," said he, "Isn't she marvelously preserved."

Citing England as the birthplace of the Magna Charta and the country of the inception of liberty, Dr. Mercer also points out that there, in England, are the true masters of the art of free speech.

Hyde Park is the soap-box orator's paradise. Here anyone is allowed to talk about anything (except to blaspheme God or criticize the royal family) at any time of the day or night. However, the most popular time is on weekday evening from 8 to 10. And although there is a great deal of heckling from the gathered crowds, as one would imagine, they never become rough or rowdy.

Irish Folk-lore

While in Ireland, she visited the estate of some friends. This is no common, ordinary Irish estate, but one one which their is a fairy ring.

The fairy being folk neither small nor large, either friendly or unfriendly, but definitely tricky, may or may not be dressed in "green jacket, red cap, white owl's feather." Nonetheless, they are not to be played with or angered.

She gave one rule of thumb concerning the fairy: Never, never take anything out of the fairy ring.

But her friend's groom did once and the fairy hounds took after him and he hasn't been heard of since.

Northwood

Shots At RAMdom

lockers help women pick swains; tyro reporters learn to dial in sleep

AN instructor recently drew his class to attention and in a solemn voice announced, "I have an Imperial Rescript from the High Command." He went on to read the startling news so important to the more educated: "Students should pick partners and appear in pairs at the bank window;" "approach a friend who has one and ask him to share it with you," and so on.

If this sounds strange, maybe one word will clear the mind — lockers. Those all important containers in the main building lighten the load students have to bear.

Why is this so important? Well, the ratio of men to women on the campus has always favored the women and this choice bit of information may help the women decide just whom. After all, if John is sweet, but George has a locker . . .

A new addition to the college scene is Tinka, the seeing-eye dog belonging to social science major Lloyd Henderson. Tinka, a German shepherd, was school at Guide Dogs' School near San Rafael. She was presented to Henderson several weeks ago, after they spent a training period together.

IT'S A BOY

Speaking of new additions, photography student Herb Weiss was presented with a baby boy by his spouse last September 19. Remarking the next day that he was tired, Weiss evidently a cool cushomer, appeared calm and collected. So calm and collected he forgot the cigars.

Radio, long a source of entertainment, is put to educational use by journalism instructor George Mullany.

He and his class listen faithfully to the Big Story every Wednesday evening, and his future reporters write leads which are read aloud in class the following Friday. Whether or not all students enjoy the program is hard to say, but be assured that they can all dial KNBC in their sleep.

Rams Whip Redskins, 53-7; Menlo Next

Guardsman SPORTS

Volume XXXI, No. 2 — WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1950 — Page 3

OUT TO TAKE the measure of the Menlo Oaks, last season's conference champs, are the above members of this season's Ram squad. The Rams upset Menlo 20-14 in the 1949 encounter played at Cox Stadium, thus inicting one of the two defeats handed the Oaks.

Pictured here are linemen Don O'Brien, right end; Paul Zraggen, right tackle; Dick Saccani, right guard; Jim McAuley, center; Jim Young, left guard; Bill McClandish, left tackle; Belvin Gage, left end.

In the backfield are Cletus Washington, right half; Ralph de la Torre, quarterback; Bob McBride, fullback, and Al Endriss, left half.—Photo by Matthes.

Vallejo Falls Before Blazing Ground Attack

SEPTEMBER 29.—City College of San Francisco opened its 1950 football season in an impressive fashion here tonight by crushing an outmanned Vallejo College team, 53-7.

The Rams lost the ball four times on fumbles and had a total of 80 yards assessed against them in penalties during the first half, but led at the half-time, 13-7.

City College led, 7-0, after the first quarter although they ran only nine plays to Vallejo's 27. Al Wycoff took the first of nine Vallejo punts on the Vallejo 47, reversed his field twice, and went into the end zone for the first of eight TDs. The DeCristofaro brothers converted, Rod kicking, and Joe holding.

Vallejo's only touchdown came early in the second quarter when Ham Ellis squirted around left end into the end zone from the 35-yard line.

For the balance of the half the Rams fumbled and fouled. Vallejo was caught interfering on an attempted pass from Dick Carrillo and the Rams were allowed one play after the gun had sounded. Carrillo sneaked over from the one.

Two touchdowns on two consecutive plays. That's what happened when Cletus Washington opened the flood gates with his second half kickoff runback of 78 yards. The extra point was good, the score 20-7.

Six plays later, after Vallejo had punted, Al Endriss dashed around right end for 56 yards and another touchdown. The kick was good and the score was 27-7.

The fifth TD was the result of heads-up line play. Bob Morton, Ram tackle, blocked a Vallejo punt on the Vallejo 23 and the Rams recovered. Six plays later Al Endriss rammed over from the one, making the score 33-7.

The sixth touchdown was scored when Oscar Brown and Stan Haan carried the ball 67 yards in nine plays, Haan scoring from 11 yards out.

Al Wycoff set up the seventh touchdown when he returned a Vallejo punt 23 yards to the Vallejo 32. Ralph de la Torre passed to Oscar Brown for the score from 25 yards out. Rod DeCristofaro tried a new wrinkle successfully, passing to end Dick Galliani for the extra point.

The combination of DeCristofaro to Galliani clicked again in the last second of play, the pass going 14 yards for a TD.

Coach Grover Klemmer was satisfied with his proteges' play: "Their blocking, tackling and teamwork were very good, particularly in the last half. We've got a good team."

Score by quarters:

Vallejo	0	7	0	0	— 7
CCSF	7	6	26	14	— 53

Touchdowns: Endriss (2), Washington, Wycoff, Haan, Brown, Carrillo, Galliani.

Extra points: R. DeCristofaro (4), Galliani.

Local Gridders Tackle Champion Oaks Saturday

Southern division conference play opens next Saturday afternoon when Coach Grover Klemmer's gridders tackle the 1949 southern division champions in the form of the Oaks from Menlo College.

The Oaks will be out for revenge in this game. They lost their one conference defeat to the Rams in the second game of the 1949 season by a count of 20-14. They went undefeated through the balance of the season, with the exception of a 21-21 tie with non-conference San Diego College.

Menlo Coach Bo Molenda has less to shoot with in his attempt to reciprocate last year's defeat. Most important loss is Fullback Chuck Esseglian, who has departed for the greener pastures of Stanford University. Esseglian, who scored a touchdown against the University of San Francisco last Saturday, was one of the leading ground gainers of the southern division last year.

The rest of the Menlo backfield is experienced. Hank Duggins at quarterback, Frank McGovern at left half, Dewey Falcone, a quarter converted to right half, and Bill McMahon at fullback all saw action during the 1949 season and will carry the brunt of the Menlo offense.

Menlo's line is solid beef. The average weight is 200 pounds, and that average is pulled down by Phil Dietz and Jim Giesinger, the starting ends, who each weigh a puny 180 pounds. Bob Lane, veteran center, weighs in at 222 pounds, and there are two reserve linemen who outweigh him.

Toughest nut to crack in this heavy line, besides Lane, is Gail Sterling, unbeaten 210-pound starting left tackle. Gail, a veteran of last year's championship team, is the older brother of Vern Sterling, All-American from Santa Clara. Vern, incidentally, is now the Menlo line coach, and will be telling his brother how to push Rams around.

Another young man who has been coming fast and will see plenty of action is 210-pound Fred Martin, a reserve tackle. If you're curious about his ability, just ask his father, Fred Senior. Freddy Senior is currently leading his band in the Mural Room of the St. Francis Hotel.

Against these rugged individuals Klemmer will be pitting his offense-minded team which beat Vallejo College in its opening game last Friday night, 53-7.

The Rams chalked up 339 yards in total offense while holding Vallejo to 60 yards. Their blocking and tackling were very sharp, which is unusual for such a green team. The broken field running of the backs was exceptionally good. It should prove intensely interesting to see how their speed and power will fare against Menlo's brute strength.

HOW TO GET THERE

Palo Alto High School Stadium, site of Friday's game between the Rams and Menlo Oaks, may be reached by turning off El Camino Real opposite the second, smaller entrance to Stanford University. The stadium is visible from the road.

Intra Cage Play Starts Today

The first game of what should prove to be an interesting intramural basketball league will be played in the men's gymnasium this afternoon.

All players and interested spectators are asked to consult the bulletin board in the men's gymnasium for the complete schedule of all other game dates and times.

Last year's winners of the league, which was marred by the failure of many teams not showing up for their games at the appointed times, were the Washington 130's.

Intramural director Tom Wilson hopes that more interest will be shown in this year's league so that it will be more appealing to both the players and the spectators.

Tomorrow, October 5, has been set as the deadline for badminton, tennis, and ping-pong entrants to sign up with Wilson. These individual sports are to be played at whatever times are convenient for the opponents.

Independent basketball teams comprising the intramural basketball league this semester are The Commuters, Ram-Its, Sei-Muas, Menehunes, Blue and Golds, Lyons, Titans, and the Balboa Alumni A. C.

The only fraternity team in the league this semester is sponsored by the Alpha Phi Epsilon fraternity.

Five Lettermen Bolster Local Basketball Team

Who's to say whether or not basketball Coach Ralph Hillsman will field another northern California championship team for the forthcoming 1950-51 season?

Basketball hopefuls were running all over the men's gymnasium on Monday and Tuesday.

Of course, Hillsman isn't exactly filled with optimism, but has reason to hope that harmony will prevail.

From the potential hardwood greats, with 55 to date showing up, and more to show their ball handling ability sometime after November 1, it was indicated that Hillsman's club has great potentialities even with a green team this year.

To bolster this year's basketball team to maybe unsurprising heights, will be returning veterans Dick Mulready, Bob Hunter, Dave Weddington, Bob Wilson and Babe Samson. All of these are lettermen.

Three outstanding prepsters who look as if they will give veterans and brother newcomers a bad time for starting berths are Al Endriss from St. Elizabeth in Oakland, Tom Glafkides from Lowell, and little Al Nicora from Berkeley.

Rams Blaze By Mission High In Practice Session

One word describes this season's edition of Roy Diederichsen's soccer squad—"improving."

The Rams proved this last Monday when they defeated Mission High School, 5-0, in the opening practice contest of the year. The Bears were no match for the more experienced college squad, who not only won the game but also uncovered a new wheel for the Ram machine.

The lad's name is Ron Schumaker, and he claims England as his home. His play against Mission was exceptional, as he scored a goal and set his teammates up time after time.

Hopes for a good season soared to a new high last week when it was announced by Diedrichsen that Nick Vasileff was returned to the fold. Vasileff was an all-conference selection last season, and he will again run from the fullback slot.

The outlook is brighter, but the Rams will have to look out for two clubs in the league. U.S.F. is out after its third straight title with a flock of first team veterans returning from last season.

The University of California will also be strong. Cal, it seems, is always strong in soccer and was the third place club last year.

The Rams continue their practice schedule with four other high school teams slated.

RAMblings . .

Television Boosts Sports Interest

By Gene Kelly

"TELEVISION helps boost actual attendance at football games."

That's the surprising conclusion reached by Jerry Jordan, a post-graduate psychology student at the University of Pennsylvania, in his recent exhaustive thesis on "The Long Range Effect of Television and Other Factors on Sports Attendance."

Jordan, whose study is chock full of statistics, charts and graphs, bases his conclusions on figures obtained from 787 colleges, secondary schools, baseball clubs, arenas and other sports organizations.

TV INFLUENCES ATTENDANCE

Five general conclusions of Jordan's are:

1. Length of time a person owns a TV set directly influences his attendance.

2. When he first buys a set, attendance goes down. After about one season, attendance returns to normal and even improves.

3. TV owners attend more games than non-owners.

4. TV owners take other members of their families to games more frequently than non-owners.

5. The long-range effect of television will not harm attendance at games; rather, it will help increase it.

Apparently, the novelty of TV is responsible for the preliminary attendance drop. When the novelty wears off, the TV owner attends more sports events personally because his interest has been stimulated.

WEATHER BIG DRAWBACK

Certain specific conclusions are just as interesting. For instance, football is hurt more than baseball during the first season of ownership because it has a much shorter season and far fewer games.

The Big Ten Conference banned "live"-telecasts of its 1950 games because, among other things, TV supposedly hurt the attendance at small-college games. Yet Jordan found that this was not true since the small-college games drew the bulk of their crowds from students, alumni, and neighbors.

Economic conditions, weather, management, publicity, and particularly performance affect attendance much more than television.

FAR WEST ATTENDANCE

In the Far West, 54 per cent of all colleges increased attendance per game despite television and a 3.7 per cent drop in enrollment. Therefore, TV could not be said to harm attendance.

If Jordan's conclusions, which are verified by solid facts, become well enough known in the near future, it is possible we may see the end of a controversy which has raged ever since television sets first came into widespread use. Telecasts of football games and other sports would certainly benefit both the promoters and the general public.

St. Mary's Unexpected 7-7 Tie With Georgia U. Upsets Experts

Walt Heil, Gene Kelly and Jack Spalding of The Guardsman staff topped the roster of experts last weekend in picking four winners out of five picks, losing only when St. Mary's put up a game fight to tie the University of Georgia, 7-7.

City College and California were unanimous choices of the "jury" and both teams came through with winning efforts, City College trouncing Vallejo College, 53-7, and Cal beating Oregon, 28-7. President Louis G. Conlan officiated at the Cal-Oregon game, so he did not choose either one.

NAME	CCSF vs. Menlo	USF vs. Nevada	S. C. vs. San Jose	Loyola vs. St. Mary's	Cal vs. Penn	Stanford vs. OSC
Conlan	CCSF	USF	S. C.	Loyola	Cal	Stanford
	20-7	33-7	20-13	27-14	34-13	27-7
Dill	CCSF	USF	S. C.	Loyola	Cal	Stanford
	14-7	27-13	20-7	27-13	20-13	21-14
Heil	Menlo	USF	S. C.	Loyola	Cal	Stanford
	20-13	27-7	20-14	34-6	27-14	27-7
Spalding	Menlo	USF	San Jose	Loyola	Cal	Stanford
	14-12	34-6	21-13	34-7	20-6	34-14
Kelly	CCSF	USF	S. C.	Loyola	Penn	Stanford
	26-7	40-14	34-13	21-13	27-13	27-14
Dierking	CCSF	USF	S. C.	Loyola	Cal	Stanford
	20-13	34-6	19-13	27-7	28-7	36-12
Sahm	CCSF	USF	S. C.	St. Mary's	Cal	Stanford
	20-6	30-0	26-19	14-16	26-14	25-13
Nihill	CCSF	USF	S. C.	Loyola	Cal	Stanford
	14-7	27-7	21-14	28-7	20-6	42-6
Consensus	CCSF	USF	S. C.	Loyola	Cal	Stanford
	19-10	31-7	22-13	26-10	23-12	30-11

BOB McBRIDE, 195 pound, All-City selection from Mission High, has shown great possibilities in his role of fullback on this year's Ram team.—Photo by Matthes.

Club Meeting Rooms Assigned For College Hour Activities

Lists of club rooms assigned to campus organizations effective this Friday for college hour meetings were released by Dean of Student Activities Louis Batmale early this week.

Rooms to be used are as follows: Faculty Association, 100; Tri Epsilon, 111; Cosmopolitan Club, 113; Alpha Lamkda Sigma, 133; Alpha Phi Omega, 140; Band Association, 190; Theta Tau, 193; Phi Beta Rho, 194; Collegiate Christian Fellowship, 200; Engineering, 204; Kappa Phi, 205; Delta Psi, 208; Nurses, 209; Pi Mu Gamma, 211; and Ski Rams, 212.

Young Progressives, 215; Phi Beta Delta, 214; Strikes and Spares, 215; Tau Chi Sigma, 254; Latin American Club, 255; Women's Athletic Association, 257; Alpha Lambda Chi, 303; Pi Delta Koppa, 304; Filipino Students Club, 309; Iota Phi Lambda, 310; French Club, 311; Hillel Foundation, 312; Paint Technology, 341; Pick and Hammer, 345; and Club Activities Board, 9K.

Chinese Students, 4H; Alpha Gamma Sigma, 5K; Masonic Club, 1A; Rally Committee, 4K; Radio Club, 405; Dramatic Society, 28; Gamma Phi Ypsilon, 242; Forum Club, 19A; Alpha Sigma Delta, 5A; Phi Beta Rho, 4R; and Alpha Phi Epsilon, 6J.

Clubs will meet in these newly assigned rooms during college hour Friday.

Club meetings scheduled for Friday, November 24, were cancelled because of a holiday, according to an official announcement made by Batmale.

Opportunities for further schooling at Annapolis and Naval Reserve commissions will be discussed at a Naval Reserve program this Friday during college hour, in Room 100, Dean Lloyd Luckmann announced.

The first movie in the college film series, California and Its Resources, will be shown in Room 136 at 10 a.m., and also during the college hour Friday, October 6, Madison Devlin, of the visual-aid department, announced yesterday.

The film is a technicolor production and shows California in all of its scenic wonder and beauty. All students wishing to attend are invited, Devlin said. Room 136 is located in the south wing of the main building.

Air Navigation Class Added To Curriculum

Astronomy G12B was the title given to a new class in air navigation at the college, Lloyd D. Luckmann, dean of college parallel courses, said last week.

The course is under the general college area and is designed for students interested in that field with the armed forces in mind, Luckmann, declared.

Arlin Timberlake, a former navy navigator, is in charge of the class which meets on Monday, Wednesday, and Fridays, in Room 113 at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Other classes in a similar main are being planned for the future, Luckmann said.

Parking Permits Still Available

Parking permits are still available to those students holding Associated Student card numbers ending in 4, 5, 7, 8, or 9, and if there is any parking space left over on the west campus the alternative numbers of 2 and 3 are next in line for permits, Dean Edwin C. Browne said last week.

This year there is enough room on the west campus to accommodate between three and four hundred student and faculty cars.

Browne also said that the speed limit on the campus is 15 miles per hour and anyone exceeding this mileage can be given a ticket for speeding.

Browne further emphasized the fact that an Associated Student card does not entitle a student to park his car on the west campus. Parking permits are absolutely necessary.

Denman Scholarship Applications Due

Two scholarships of $125 each from the James Denman fund will be awarded to two college women students during the Fall semester 1950, Dean Margaret Dougherty announced yesterday.

Applicants must be graduates of San Francisco public high schools and must plan to be in attendance during the Fall '50 and Spring '51 semesters.

After consulting their counsellors, students should apply in writing to Dean Dougherty, Building 2, before Wednesday, October 20.

Guardsman Wins 17th All-American Rating

For the thirteenth consecutive semester, The Guardsman was awarded an All-American honor rating by the Associated Collegiate Press Association for papers published during the Spring semester, 1950.

This marks the 17th All-American rating awarded The Guardsman in 19 semesters of ACP membership.

Walt Heil, present editor-in-chief, was also editor last semester, and Rose Hardie was managing editor.

Other editorial staff members were Cy Donaldson and Bill Thomas, staff editors; Dick Williamson and Gene Kelly, news editors; Keith Gardner, feature editor; Gene Van Dyke, sports editor; and Roberta Jackson, woman's editor.

ICHIRO INUMARU of Tokyo, Rene Ramor of Zurich, Switzerland, and Kenneth Yoda from Hawaii, three Hotel and Restaurant Division students, view San Francisco from the Top of the Mark. The three students enrolled this semester after hearing of the popular course offered by the college.

Hotel-Restaurant Division Fame Lures Students From Foreign Lands

The fame of the Hotel and Restaurant Division of the college has reached far and wide, according to Mozelle Milliken, department instructor. Among new students enrolled this semester are one from Switzerland, one from Japan, and another from Hawaii.

Rene Remor, of Zurich, Switzerland, Ichiro Inumaru of Tokyo, and Kenneth Yoda of Hawaii are new students of the division. Remor is a former student of the Hotel School, Lausanne, Switzerland, while Inumaru is the son of the President of the Imperial Hotel in Tokyo. Yoda is the son of a prominent restaurant owner of Hawaii.

The Hotel and Restaurant Division has been recognized as a popular course on the campus because of its unique method of teaching students under the same conditions they will encounter upon completion of their training.

As the operators of the cafeteria and fountain, students receive practical training in food preparation and serving. Members of the division serve approximately 3000 meals per day in the cafeteria, which is open from 7:45 to 10 a.m. for breakfast, 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. for luncheon, and from 5 to 6:15 p.m. for dinner.

Renor, Inumaru, and Yoda were recently guests of George D. Smith, operator of the Mark Hopkins Hotel and chairman of the advisory committee of the college Hotel and Restaurant Division. Smith makes it a point to take special interest in students from distant places.

AGS Will Host Dinner

Alpha Gamma Sigma honor society plans an initiation dinner for new members on Wednesday, October 11, Klaus Schaie, acting president, revealed last week.

Dr. Louis G. Conlan, president of the college, will address the honor students, Schaie said.

He added that California Scholastic Federation students may become members of the society during their first semester at the college.

High Schools Hold Conference Here

Officers from public high schools throughout the city will hold a conference at the college Friday, November 3, Ralph Vetterlein, Associated Men Student president, said last week.

The topic of the conference will be the various problems facing school officers, Vetterlein said. The conference will be addressed by President Louis G. Conlan. High school principals, members of the Board of Education, and Dr. Herbert C. Clish, superintendent of schools, have also been invited to attend.

Specific problems expected to be discussed include social activities, disputes among schools, and ways to encourage additional students to participate in competitive sports.

Following the conference delegates will dine together and attend a night football game.

The following evening, November 4, the delegates will be entertained at the AMS barn dance which will be held in the college auditorium.

Other AMS officers sponsoring the conference are Dick Silveria, Al Kane, Dick MacFarland, Don Malcomb, Bob Lacampagne, Jerry Slater, Joe Assalino and Charlie Robertson.

Council Approves New AWS Officers

Student Council approved the following women as officers for Associated Women Students this semester, Jackie Lantheaume, AWS president, announced last week.

Vice-President, Shirley Maritzen. Corresponding Secretary, Karen Wolseth; Recording Secretary, Dolores Mirri; Treasurer, Marilyn Marr.

AWS will participate in the High School Conference scheduled for November 3 and will sponsor a tea for high school seniors November 16, Miss Lantheaume revealed.

Bill Richmond Heads A Cappella Choir

Election of A Cappella Choir officers for the fall semester 1950 were completed last week, Flossita Badger, choir director, declared recently.

New officers are Manager, Bill Richmond; Assistant Manager, Carol Canuto; Secretary, Magnolia Smith; Properties Manager, Andy Stathis.

Members of the Music Guild plan to attend the opera Madame Butterfly Thursday, October 19, Miss Badger said.

The Music Guild was organized last fall to promote closer cooperation between various musical organizations on the campus and is composed of two members from each of the ten college music organizations, Miss Badger stated.

The annual Christmas Concert presented each year by the music department, is scheduled for Thursday, December 7.

Student Council Approves Budgets

The Student Council last week voted on and approved as recommended by the finance committee the budget for 1950. The total reached $15,536.00, $2,453.00 less than the budget for the Spring semester 1950.

Co-educational activities:
A Cappella Choir	$100.00
Alpha Gamma Sigma	115.00
Band and Orchestra	285.00
Dramatics	130.00
Rally Committee	240.00
Social Committee	345.00
Sophomore Class	40.00
Freshman Class	245.00
Campus Police	80.00
Debate Team	200.00
Miscellaneous
Administration	$100.00
Controller	970.00
Dean of Men's Fund	11.00
Dean of Women's Fund	40.00
Executive Council	880.00
Publicity	760.00
Varieties	75.00
Publications
Guardsman	$2,850.00
Men's Activities
Associated Men Students	$210.00
Boxing	200.00
Basketball	850.00
Football	5,500.00
Intramural	300.00
Soccer	350.00
Women's Activities
Associated Women Students	$150.00
Women's Athletic Association	150.00
Grand Total	$15,536.00

Dorms House 90 Men Students

Necessity for a reduction in overhead is the reason for the reorganization of on-campus living accommodations for men students, Controller Oscar E. Anderson said.

Anderson said the present number of men living in the dormitories reached 90, half of last year's amount. He added that although 90 men could be housed comfortably on three floors, four are now in use, one each in Buildings 8 and 13, and two in Building 7.

The lower floor of Building 8 has been converted into four small and two large classrooms, Anderson said. This gives the college the advantage of 225 extra class seats. Classes are already being held in these rooms, he declared.

When the buildings are no longer used as dormitories they will not be destroyed but will be kept in a state of readiness so that in the event of a national emergency they will be available to be used in any way deemed necessary, Anderson declared.

Dormitories are now limited to veterans and non-veterans who have previously lived there, he added.

The largest number of men housed by the dormitories was in the first year of operation when 240 students took advantage of the facilities.

Christmas Hiring Underway For Vets

Men students who are veterans and wish to get into Christmas post office work should apply immediately, Joseph A. Amori, placement director, declared yesterday.

Applications will be accepted for both East Bay and San Francisco post offices, Amori continued. He stressed that students should not apply directly to the post offices. Hiring of students here will be done through the placement office only.

Men are also wanted for Christmas work with express companies, confectionary stores, and as wrappers and stock men in department stores, Amori added.

Because of the world situation, the need for women workers is still on the upswing, with a ratio of approximately 5 to 1, Amori revealed. He added that job openings for clerical workers continue to show a steady increase.

Amori revealed that the placement office frequently finds positions for students from other countries who have special skills or qualifications.

As an example he named Julet Hernandz of El Salvador. Miss Hernandz, who has been attending the college for two semesters, was recently placed in a job requiring a girl who could speak Spanish fluently.

Jackson

Round 'n About

Elections head club news; Groups plan many activities

ANNOUNCEMENTS of new officers holds the spotlight in club world news, as these busy groups lay plans for many activities for the coming weeks.

Officers for Delta Psi are Janet Cirimele, president; Gloria Finnocchio, vice-president; Florence Madigan, pledge mistress; Esther Ossin, recording secretary; Joan Cosgrave, corresponding secretary; Pauline Bertalino, treasurer; Barbara Lucas, historian; and Joanne Lipcomb, Sergeant at arms. The Deltes will hold their first rush tea October 8, at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel.

Phi Rho Pi, the debating group, announces that its officers are Dick Schnal, president; Dick Schambach, vice-president; and Mrs. Noel Anderson, secretary.

Tau Chi Sigma's officers include Pete Gentile, president; Jess Doran, vice-president; Jerry Slater, treasurer; Ken Abernethy, corresponding secretary; Vic Morales, recording secretary; and George Jackson, pledge master.

Incidentally, the Tau Chi's "House of Blue Lights" dance last Friday night was termed excellent, by all who attended and by those who worked on the committee.

Now, on with more officers. Kappa Phi's new officers are Anne Brady, president; Leslie Coley, vice-president; Jeanne Gammill, corresponding secretary; Barbara Ribault, recording secretary; Betsy Steward, treasurer; and Gracine Brown, historian.

Alpha Lambda Chi's officers are Shirley Maritzen, president; Pat Miller, vice-president; Jackie Wood, corresponding secretary; Gwen Prusenowski, recording secretary; Phillis DoByne, treasurer; and Joan Roberts, historian. As one of their semester's projects, the Lambda Chis are collecting magazines, books (including funny books), etc., for men in service hospitals. They would appreciate any contributions that students could make.

Theta Tau's new leaders are Jana Neill, president; Margie Bergset, vice-president; Sidney Mumford, treasurer; Sandi Stull, corresponding secretary; Joan Brady, recording secretary; and Helen Smirnoff, custodian.

Their first affair, a coffee, was held last Sunday at the home of Marjorie Cullen.

The Beta Taus also came through with a list of new officers, including Pete Chevrier, president; Tom Killilea, vice-president; John Allen, treasurer; Phil Brown, corresponding secretary; and Doug Smith, recording secretary. They also held their first rush event last Sunday.

Last, but not least, the Phi Beta Rhos announce that the following women are officers: Doris Pappas, president; Pat Sperry, vice-president; Sunny Hadley, treasurer; Barbara Perry, corresponding secretary; Charlotte Bartelome, recording secretary; and Vicki George, pledge mistress.

Anyone who is interested in the Cosmopolitan Society is invited to attend their college hour meeting Friday in Room 113. All are welcome.

Tentative plans are now being formed by the Drama Society for a variety show, to be held later in the semester. According to member Jeanne Zumwalt, it will be on the order of their past "Rip-Skits," which was so popular at the Mardi Gras.

The Guardsman

Official Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

1950 Member Associated Collegiate Press 1951

VOLUME XXXI SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1950 NUMBER 3

AGS Honors New Members At Initiation Dinner Here Tonight

Alpha Gamma Sigma, college scholastic honor society, honors new members at an initiation dinner tonight in the faculty dining room, Don Jensen, AGS sponsor, said yesterday.

The dinner, being prepared by students of the Hotel and Restaurant division, will take place at 5:45 p.m. All members of AGS, and former high school honor students who are in their first semester at the college, have been invited to attend, Jensen added.

Expected to attend as guests of AGS are President Louis G. Conlan; Tom Dill, Associated Student president; Jade Snow Wong, salutatorian of the 1940 graduating class, artist-ceramist, and author of the recently published book, Fifth Chinese Daughter; Richard Kelly, president of the college Alumni Association; Edwin Cranston, former president of the state organization of Alpha Gamma Sigma; Sarah Brown, sponsor of the AGS chapter at Lux College; and Sally Sano, president of the Lux College chapter.

Price of the dinner has been set at $2.00, Jensen said. This includes admission to the dinner and one semester's dues in AGS.

An invitation to join Alpha Gamma Sigma has been extended to all students meeting the AGS requirements, Jensen stated. These include a "B" average with a minimum of 30 grade points and 12 units. Members of AGS who graduate with honors receive a gold seal on their diploma, an honor certificate, and a gold pin from the society.

Although membership in Alpha Gamma Sigma is based on scholarship, service to the college is stressed through active participation of its members in events on the campus, Jensen declared. Among these is a coaching service for those students in need of academic help.

All students interested in joining AGS, and who believe they meet the requirements of the society, are invited to apply to Jensen at his office in Building 3.

Flying Course Set For Spring Semester

Link training, as used for teaching blind flying to pilots in World War II, will be introduced in the spring semester, Lloyd D. Luckmann, dean of university parallel courses, said yesterday.

Two Link Trainers are already on hand for the instruction of students who enroll in the course, he said.

The introduction of new courses depends largely on the demand for new specialized skills or training as called for by the government or by employers. The world situation might act as an added incentive to the addition of new courses, Luckmann added.

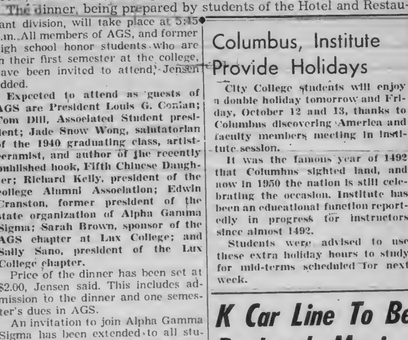
Columbus, Institute Provide Holidays

City College students will enjoy a double holiday tomorrow and Friday, October 12 and 13, thanks to Columbus discovering America and faculty members meeting in institute session.

It was the famous year of 1492 that Columbus sighted land, and now in 1950 the nation is still celebrating the occasion. Institute has been an educational function reportedly in progress for instructors since almost 1492.

Students were advised to use these extra holiday hours to study for mid-terms scheduled for next week.

K Car Line To Be Replaced, Muni Railway Declares



Appearing before the Student Council meeting last week George Hutchinson, mechanical drawing instructor here, announced that Public Utilities Manager James H. Turner will immediately limit the K car line to West Portal and Sloat Boulevards because of insufficient monetary returns.

The discontinued portion of the line will be serviced by a bus which will increase the overcrowded conditions that now prevail, Hutchinson pointed out.

Turner points to the hooks of the Municipal Railway for August, when none of the eight grammar, high school, or college institutions that the K line services, were in session, as the reason for the discontinuance.

In the final words of his address, Hutchinson urged the Student Council to tell the Associated Students of the situation. If concentrated action by the students and their parents can be obtained he feels the plan can be amended.

Late yesterday afternoon members of the college faculty and students appeared before a public utilities committee meeting in protest of plans calling for the substitution of buses on the line. Residents of the West of Twin Peaks area also protested the planned switch.

JOE AZZOLINO, Klaus Schaie, and Chuck Meyerson, officers of Alpha Gamma Sigma, check the list of members expected to attend the college honor society's membership dinner tonight in the faculty dining room.—Photo by Wood.

AL ENDRISS, flashy halfback on the college grid team, tears off a blistering run for the photographer here, while other squad members also primped and posed for the cameras last week. Endriss and teammates are currently prepping for their clash with Monterey Peninsula College Saturday. See sports for details.—Photo by Matthes.

Rally Committee Plans Dance To Follow Saturday's Football Game

Following the City College-Monterey football game on Saturday, October 14, the Associated Students' Rally Committee plans a record dance in the student lounge, Bill Steiner, rally commissioner, said yesterday.

A rally and dance is also scheduled to take place the day of the college-San Mateo game Friday, October 27, at Kezar Stadium, with further details to be released later.

Steiner announced that all members of the Rally Committee must be members of the Associated Students. The duties of the commission are to obtain talent for college hour activities, usher at games, handle the public address system on the campus, and to stimulate spirit throughout the college.

Other members of the Rally Committee aiding Steiner are Bruce Ward, Paul Costa, Tom Purcell, Terry Conroy, Charlie Robertson, Ralph Grillo, Emmett Thompson, Ted McHale, Jim Lyons, and Jerry Barnes.

Appointed for the fall semester as head yell leader was Ralph Marinelli. His assistants are Jim Stowers and Bob Brown. Holding the positions of cheer leaders are Rayna Feist and Nancy Beebe.

Film Series Stars Pinza At Work

The next presentation of the college film series, Rehearsal, will be shown Friday, October 20, at 10 a.m. during college hour in Room 136, Madison Devlin, audio visual aids instructor, said yesterday.

The film will show behind-the-scenes shots of The Telephone Hour program, featuring its singing star Ezio Pinza.

Devlin requested that anyone interested in running movie equipment during morning hours, and who has had previous experience in running such equipment, should apply to him in Room 155 between 9 a.m. and 12 noon. The pay is the same as that of lab assistants, 75 cents per hour.

First show of the series, last Friday, California and Its Natural Resources, was in technicolor.

Draft Rules Governing 1-A Men Clarified

Definite selective service regulations governing men students were received by the college last week, E. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, said yesterday.

The new laws are mandatory for all draft boards and affect all non-veterans, 18 to 26 years old, attending college, Marsh said.

The regulations fall into two categories, postponement and deferment. These regulations are:

Men students who have not completed one academic year will receive a postponement until that year is completed, if their work meets satisfactory college standards.

Those who have completed one academic year and are in the upper half of their class will be deferred and have their classification changed from 1-A to 2-A.

Men who have received their draft notice must report to Marsh in Building 3 for a letter stating the facts of their case.

If at any time their work fails to meet the requirements stated under the regulations, the draft board will be notified of the change, Marsh continued.

A large number of reserves has been called to duty during the summer and since the beginning of the semester, Marsh added.

Total Full Time Enrollment 4526

Recently released full-time registration figures for the fall semester shows only a 772 decrease over the regular attendance last semester, Mary Jane Leonard, registrar, announced last week.

The 4,526 students counted do not include the special day and evening classes. About 500 special students are in attendance at the present time, Miss Leonard said.

Veterans attending the college under the G. I. bill have shown a slight decrease from the 700 figure estimated; 624 are registered under veteran benefits, with 362 veterans not taking advantage of the benefits. Thus a total of 883 veterans registered for the semester.

As usual, men outnumber the women this semester, 3237 men registered to 1289 women, Miss Leonard said.

Miss Leonard believes the largest single factor in the decreased enrollment is the current employment conditions.

Many of the men students in the reserves have also been called for duty, but the current draft regulations are permitting most of the men students to continue their college work.

Information Please!

PBX Operator Has Busy Day In Glass Cage

By Clarence Whitcomb

Sixty times an hour the number JUniper 7-7272 is dialed, and 60 times an hour Marie Dyson, head telephone operator, greets the caller with "City College."

The glass enclosed cage near the silver pole houses Mrs. Dyson during her working hours. But it is more than a switchboard to the students who attend the college. It is a place to receive information with a friendly smile, for Mrs. Dyson has a warm personality.

The duties of the telephone operator are many and varied. Besides the busy switchboard, she distributes the faculty mail and requisition requests. She also handles the Leave of Absence forms.

During the summer, when the students and faculty have deserted the campus, she stays at the still busy switchboard. She also forwards the large volume of mail that comes to the college for the absent faculty.

When the semester gets underway again, Mrs. Dyson's duties are greatly increased by the large number of new freshmen. They come to her for directions or ask to locate an instructor.

Many students climb the hill to find out where the registrar's office is located—and the irate student is instructed to return to the west campus.

As honorary post mistress, she spends much of her time at the various slots holding the faculty mail. Instructors who forget their mail box key come to the glass cage for help.

Close at hand, Mrs. Dyson keeps a list of telephone numbers for the calls she receives every day from persons wanting information not connected with the college. San Francisco State College information is one of the largest requests received.

She also is asked information about off-campus stores, particularly the book stores and fountains on Ocean Avenue. The telephone numbers of the various places requested is quickly given to the caller.

Mrs. Dyson is also a tracer of missing persons, who are usually located through the maze of telephones which dot the campus.

Students find the glass cage a convenient place to leave lost and found articles. These are forwarded to Building 2 for safe keeping until the student claims the article.

During the six years Mrs. Dyson has been connected with the college, she has found the faculty and students friendly. And friendly people make a job interesting, she believes.

Editorial
The Guardsman
Official Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco 125
Volume XXXI, No. 3 WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1950 Page 2

Card Sales—Britons Would Say 'It Will Take A Bit Of Doing'

IN the Student Council meeting Thursday, card sales chairman Joe Azzolino outlined the final drive for Associated Student membership, a drive which culminates today. Chairman Azzolino told the council that 200 additional cards must be sold between Monday and today in order for funds on hand to reach the $10,000 mark.

The council, meanwhile, passed two weeks ago, a budget totalling $15,000. Five thousand dollars of this is from anticipated revenue, mainly to be derived from the two Kezar Stadium night football games. The remaining $10,000 was to come from Associated Student card sales.

This was a conservative estimate, close to the west, in a manner of speaking. However, Chairman Azzolino, for all his industry, fell short of the $10,000 sales quota. This is by no means his fault, and in the past three days Azzolino and his committee have been working to boost the total sales.

The fact remains, however, that, as Azzolino put it, "almost 1,800 cards have been sold, and it is necessary that an additional 200 be sold or else the budgets will have to be re-appropriated."

In other words, if the sales remain static the Associated Students will be shy $1,000 give or take a few dollars, of their cash on hand from what was expected in the way of funds from card sales. Without the additional 200 cards sold the Associated Students will not be able to proceed on the budget passed two weeks ago—hence the reapportionment of the budget.

THIS is indeed a lamentable situation for the Associated Students to be in. By 5 p.m. this evening Chairman Azzolino will know for sure the story of his last ditch, last grasp drive to reach the quota.

We hope the "story" has a "good" ending. We hope enough cards will have been sold by 5 p.m. this evening to be close enough to the $10,000 figure so that the budgets will not have to be shuffled.

However, we feel that the saturation point in card sales has been reached and as the British say, "It will take a bit of doing" to reach the $10,000 mark.

It will indeed take a bit of doing on the part of Chairman Azzolino and his committee and the non-Associated Student members.

Larrick
The Spectator
If Alaska becomes forty-ninth, Texas may do the great divide

WHEN Congress convenes in November something may be done, at last, to put a crimp in one of Texas's greatest claims to fame. "Yuall" must have known that TEXAS is the biggest state in this "heah" Union.

Whether it is known or not doesn't make too much difference now, because if all goes well in November, Congress will make it the second largest state by admitting Alaska to the Union.

The possibility must have been a great shock to Texas, because it immediately came forward with a threat that is bound to terrorize every right-cous, upstanding non-Texan.

FIVE STATES?

When Texas was admitted to statehood on December 29, 1845, Congress adopted a resolution empowering Texas to divide itself into five states if it wanted to.

If Alaska is admitted to the Union, Texans declare they will divide and henceforth will be known as North Texas, South Texas, East Texas, West Texas and, of course, Texas. This supposedly will make up for the loss to Alaska.

It is true on the face of it that the threat is spine-chilling, but take a closer look. Actually it's the biggest break the rest of the United States has had in its verbal battle with the Texas longhorn in many a year.

A house divided against itself is bound to fall. After Texas is divided they will undoubtedly forget the rest of the world in an effort to decide which is the greatest state—North Texas, South Texas, East Texas, West Texas, or Texas. Good luck, Alaska.

City College undoubtedly has some of the finest comedians and funny makers to be found. Why they have not been discovered by radio or television is still a mystery.

A sample of this ready wit was heard in an English class only last week. The instructor asked a student what nationality he thought Adam and Eve were. Without a moment's hesitation he replied "Russian." The instructor, with a quizzical look asked him why he said that. "Well," the student replied, "they had no clothes to wear, nothing to eat but an apple, and yet it was supposed to be paradise." He was given a rousing ovation.

WITTY INSTRUCTOR

By this sample it can be seen that the college does have some fast thinking students but the instructors are never outdone. Two days after the above was immortalized an economics instructor evened the score.

He was explaining to the class the way in which money is taken by the government in taxes and given back to the consumer through government spending. Ending his lecture with a look of satisfaction he said, "It is easy to see by this that the consumer will get it in the end anyway."

Guardsman Staff Fall, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR Clarence Whitcomb
STAFF EDITOR Bob Yezek
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Helen Cumming, Ted Wilson, Bruce Lee, Wayne Newton
NEWS: Doug Hayward, editor; Georgia Watkins, assistant; Charles Ang, Jo Ann Bryant, Dick Lee, Eileen Watkins Cartano, Barbara Egelton, Alan Kennedy, Sandra Mann, Lorraine Mann, Evelyn Van Dyke, Sue Yee
CLUBS: Roberta Jackson, editor
FEATURE: Don Johnson, editor; Marilou Cooper, Jim Kennedy, Marie Lyon
SPORTS: Gene Kelly, editor; John Downing, Carl Sanders, Dick Stanley
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Ken Hill, Fred Mathes, Hilmer Wilson, Stanley Martinez, Ray Weeks, Nan Wilson, Eleanor Berry, Jones A. Carreras
Faculty Adviser Joan Nourse
Member Associated Collegiate Press 1950-1951

Faculty Long Hairs Discuss Styles

Braidin', Brushin' Important Technique In Twistin' Tresses

By Mary Lou Cooper

Hair styles and hair do's have been one of the chief concerns of womankind since Cleopatra's day and maybe even before. All through history, in stories and in poems, woman's "crowning glory" has had a prominent place.

Around the campus today, the current style has taken a strong hold, and co-eds with shorn locks harken back to the "roarin' twenty" days. Hair was shorter then, as were skirts.

Among the feminine contingent of the teaching and administrative staff of the college are a few devotees of the long hair style and the gentle art of brushing and braiding — Laurine Bergin, Helene Mayer and until recently, Mary Jane Learnard, to name three.

Long, Cool, Convenient

Mrs. Bergin, chairman of the women's physical education department, [illegible] wearing hers very short when she first came to the college. After a while, however, she discovered that long was cool, comfortable, and convenient.

The first brushing and braiding in the morning is the last. "It takes about 15 minutes and I'm set for the day, even through horseback riding and tennis," said Mrs. Bergin.

Behind the registrar's desk, Miss Learnard smiled as she told the story of her braids and her now very short hair. Seems she really likes the shorter hair best, and in fact, for years wore hers in the wind-blown style that was such a sensation.

The last year that she wore her hair long seems to have come about like Topsy—"It just growed." Before she knew it, she was wearing full-fledged braids, parted in the center back, braided on each side and crossed on top.

Hats vs. Long Hair

"Hats are one of the greatest obstacles of long hair—or vice versa," commented Miss Learnard. She had her hair cut shortly after the Faculty Show last summer and has been keeping it "in trim" ever since.

The golden tresses of Miss Mayer, of the social science department, are almost long enough to sit on, as she demonstrated in one sure swish of un-pinning her braid.

She certainly must hold the record for dressing her hair. "It takes about four minutes to brush and braid it and put in the 'haar nadels,'" she said: (Translation: haar nadels—hair needles, or, as we know them, hair pins.)

Miss Mayer's hair has not been cut since she was 12, when she wore it in two little braids on each side. This [illegible] the Helene Mayer Coiffure when she won the Olympic fencing title while in high school.

For evening wear she dispenses with the tailored braids and twists her hair into a shining coil over one ear. She, like the others who wear long hair, feels that no hat is required—long hair in itself is appropriate and formal enough.

Fashion note: It is rumored by fashion experts that hair will be worn longer this fall.

CURLS VERSUS SWIRLS is evident on the faculty staff as well as on the campus as hair styles prove to be of paramount interest to the feminine members of the college. Typical of those preferring curls is left above, Mary Jane Learnard, who likes hers short. Center is Helene Mayer, famous for her fencing and equally famous for her braided "snail." Laurine Bergin (right) finds her twist cool, convenient, and comfortable. —Photos 1 and 3 by Weiss.

Parking Space

Red Stickers Mark Lucky Cars With Permits

Ever present at the college is the problem of compressing space. In this case it is parking.

Though no statistics have been taken of the number of cars on the campus, Richard Medlin, west campus gatekeeper, estimates that there are nearly 2000 cars jamming the areas within and about the college. In effect, nearly one car for every three students. This number excludes the automobiles belonging to members of the faculty and other workers of the college.

Medlin said, "There has been no undue confusion this year concerning west campus parking because of the excellent policing of the campus police under the direction of Fred Fitzgerald, law enforcement instructor."

Trouble with students has been almost nil. As a rule, students obey all regulations, offering no trouble, although there are always a few who think they are exclusive of such regulations.

As yet there has been no case of counterfeiting parking stickers. While the red stickers can be duplicated, the maintenance of rigid inspection has discouraged it.

Medlin considered that students tend to forget that rules and regulations are the price one pays for civilization. Likewise the observance of parking regulations is part of the price that must be paid for education.

Northwood
Shots At RAMdom
Columbus day tomorrow
And Institute Friday
Forecast first midterms

THE first two holidays of the semester make their appearance this Thursday and Friday. The reasons? Well, as any grammar school student knows, Thursday, October 12, is the day that man Columbus discovered this patch of terra firma that we live on.

The name Columbus still rates a holiday although those naming the continent labeled it after one Amerigo Vespucci, hence, America. This is fine, since the United States of America seems much more euphonious than United States of Columbus.

The second holiday is given us by our instructors, who with all attend a teachers' institute. So, for once at least, the students can relax, go fishing, or do whatever they please while their instructors worry about classes.

GRANITE UNDENTED

Speaking of instructors and students, an interesting article appeared recently in one of the downtown dailies. The article told of recent results of tests given to army recruits in a southern state.

The highest grade went to a man with a three-year grammar school education, while the lowest score was claimed by a junior from an unnamed college attending classes on a football scholarship. How embarrassed his instructors must be. After all those years of trying to drill the three R's into a block of granite they apparently failed to even dent the surface.

RETURN TO 20's

Overheard last week on the campus was the discussion about the possibility of purchasing a car dating back to the 20's, which, along with raccoon coats, would put in an appearance at City College's football games bringing back the glamour of those good old days. With the return of the flapper styles, it has its attractive features for those with enough nerve to carry the thought through to reality and maybe give the football games more attention from the downtown newspapers.

From John Selig of the political science department comes this unusual tale of woe. A golfer, obviously inexperienced at the game, teed up and swung at the ball; completely missed the target and hit an ant hill. Again swinging and again missing, the golfer hit the same ant hill where upon one ant said to the other ant, "If we are to survive we had better get on the ball." Which brings to mind the startling fact that the first midterm week of the semester is just around the corner.

Ram's Horn . . .
Pulse of the Campus

• Rip Van Winkles live here? Students, City College:

For the past two weeks the Ram's Horn has been inviting YOU, the students of the college, to make use of the Ram's Horn to express your views, whether pro or con, on any event you care to talk about.

Since no one has shown a desire to do so, the Ram's Horn has a few words to get off his chest, and will make use of YOUR space to do it.

YOU, the students of City College, are either going around the campus with your eyes closed to all that is taking place, or are just plain lazy.

It's not possible that, with the new semester over a month old, not one student has found something on the campus which he wishes to praise or condemn. I have dozens of things that please or displease me greatly, but this is YOUR space and it is YOUR views that should be expressed herein.

That's all the Ram's Horn has to say. If the first month of the semester has been any indication, no response will be made to these views. Nothing, however, would please the Ram's Horn more than to have a few students take advantage of the offer to express their views, if only to prove that the college has not become the home of a group of Rip Van Winkles.

Good night now,

Ram's Horn

City College Joe Sounds Off, Picks Bone, Offers 'Solutions'

Mr. City College, known to most as Joe, is quite a remarkable fellow. Like most students, though, he is somewhat inclined to complain. But Joe usually manages to come through with a solution to the situation.

Take, for example, the parking situation. Now Joe's Associated Student card didn't end in a lucky number. Don't get the wrong impression; he harbors no ill feeling for the distributors of the prized cheats. It's just that his system of giving to only those who really deserve them is a more democratic way, and who deserves them more than those who camp in the fountain all day?

Or how about that daily trek up Pneumonia Hill to the main building? If it isn't fog or wind, torrents or rain make the struggle to the summit a regular mountaineer's accomplishment. Of course, Joe thinks the problem could be alleviated by construction of escalators; an enterprise worth looking into.

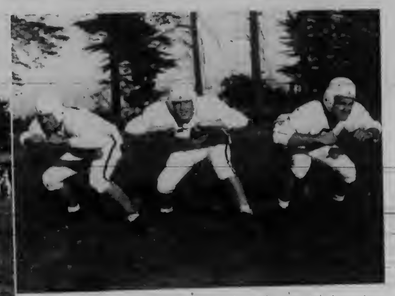
Concerning the football team Joe says: "Sure thing, a pretty fair club, but why don't they think up some new plays? Sure, they defeated Vallejo 55 to 7 without any new ones, but if I were running that team . . ."

Joe doesn't claim to be a quiz kid, but still he can't see any reason for taking bonehead English. In this modern world of television, radio, and comic books, why should he have to suffer through the literary gems of Chaucer and Shakespeare?

This next little item really gets Joe perturbed. "Gee whiz! high school had more spirit than this place! What's the use of rooting at games if no one else does? Now if I were running things . . ."

But after all of Joe's complaining, one must agree that he's a pretty nice chap. Actually, he is quite a bit like you and me!

Lobos vs. Rams Saturday At Cox Stadium



THE 1950 college football team has been blessed with a number of fine backfield men. Some of the outstanding men are pictured above. Left to right are Oscar Brown, fullback; Bob [illegible], fullback; Al Endris, halfback; and Quarterback Ralph de la Torre. The center is Jim McAuley.

Shown in the center photo is the Ram brother combination of Joe DeCristofaro (holding) and Rod DeCristofaro (kicking). Both are backfield men.

Photos by Matthes, Hilmer, and Weiss.

AN IMPORTANT PART of this season's line can be shown in the strength of the tackle position. Three of the outstanding men at that position are, left to right, Bill McCandlish, Paul Zraggen and Alex Groswird.

All three made a fine showing [illegible] opener against Vallejo and their presence in the lineup should help the locals in their quest for the championship.

RAMblings . .

By Jack Spalding

THE Most Valuable Award is annually presented to the player who contributes the most to his team's success during the course of the major league season.

Billy Goodman, "Mr. Everything" for the Boston Red Sox, could become the first utility man to win this coveted award.

GOODMAN BATTING CHAMP

To start with, Goodman, who played outfield as well as first base, second, third and shortstop, was a ball of fire at the plate. Goodman led the junior circuit in batting with a .354 average and drove over 65 runs across the plate for the Sox.

True, Boston didn't walk off with the pennant as expected, in fact they had to scramble for third place money, but it was Goodman who kept the Sox in contention.

Whenever a man was hurt Goodman was there to take over. After his own injury was healed he sat on the bench watching Walt Dropo lace the ball. He returned to the lineup in left field, as a fill-in for Ted Williams, where he did a fine job.

REPLACES DOERR

When Bob Doerr was hurt, Goodman took over at second and later moved to third for John Pesky. When it was evident that Goodman had a chance for the batting crown, Manager Steve O'Neill left Goody at third.

Take away Goodman and the Red Sox might possibly have dropped from contention entirely. Goodman was the difference between a winner and a loser in Fenway Park.

The MVP Award may belong to Goodman come opening day 1951—he certainly deserves something for this season's work.

Two Intramural Leagues Formed With Frat Entry

The late entry of nine fraternity teams into the intramural basketball league necessitated the formation of two leagues, Tom Wilson, intramural director, said yesterday.

There is now an Independent League and a Fraternity League. The winner of each league will participate in a game at the end of the season to determine the intra-league championship. The winner of this championship game receives the intramural awards.

The newly formed Fraternity League has teams representing Beta Tau, Kappa Rho, Gamma Phi Ypsilon, Pi Delta Koppa, Tri Epsilon, Tau Chi Sigma, Alpha Sigma Epsilon, Alpha Sigma Delta, and Phi Beta Delta.

Because of the odd number of teams in each league, one team in each league shall receive a bye each week. All games must be played according to the schedule posted on the gymnasium bulletin board.

Bauer Plans Spring Enrollment For Track

Ron Bauer, former all-city track star at Washington High School, will enroll at the college for the Spring semester 1951—in time for the track season—it was announced early this week.

Bauer was set to enroll at the University of Southern California but was forced out when he registered too late for the Fall semester. He plans to work for three months before enrolling here.

Soccer Squad Faces Cal In Opener Tonight

Coach Roy Diederichsen's soccer squad takes the field tonight in its league opener with the University of California, with Cox Stadium slated as the place of battle and the time at 6:30 o'clock.

The Rams will play the Bears in the first half of a doubleheader, while in the nightcap San Francisco State takes on the national champion University of San Francisco Dons.

The Bears are expected to field their usual strong team, the same type of club which downed the locals in last season's encounter, 2-1. Cal finished last season in second place, while the Rams were third.

Diederichsen's team continues to improve with each game and after a 1-0 loss at the hands of Poly High they went on to win four in a row. After the Parrot encounter, the Rams defeated Mission 14-0, Commerce 3-1, Washington 3-1 and Lincoln 5-0.

The Rams are out to improve upon last year's won-last record of two wins, two losses and a tie. This season the Rams will play home and home series with California, Stanford, Santa Clara, San Francisco State and U. S. F.

Diederichsen has announced a tentative starting lineup for the Cal game and it's a group which includes six returnees from last year.

Starting lineup:

Goal	J. Martinez
Right Full	A. Escobar
Left Full	N. Vasileff
Center Half	D. Vargez
Left Half	A. Filloy
Right Half	B. Stromberg
Left Wing	D. Millkier
Inside Left	J. Escobar
Inside Right	E. Echeverry
Center Full	F. Zelaya
Right Wing	J. Couture

Spalding Leads Jury Of Experts As Spartans, Menlo Upset Predictions

Jack Spalding, of The Guardsman sports staff, copped top honors in this week's poll by turning in a perfect score of six for six. Spalding beat the consensus by picking such upsets as Menlo over City College and San Jose over Santa Clara. Also high on the list was Walt Heil, with a five and one count. Heil was thrown only when an inspired Spartan eleven downed the hapless Santa Clara Broncos, 14 to 10. Spalding now heads the "jury of experts" with a ten and one win-loss record.

Other games ran more or less true to form. USF annihilated Nevada to the tune of 66 to 6, the Loyola Lions humbled the "Galloping" Gaels, 48 to 0, Cal squeaked by a strong Penn team 14 to 7, and Stanford downed OSC 21-0.

Name	CCSF vs. Monterey	California vs. U.S.C.	Stanford vs. Santa Clara	U.S.F. vs. St. Mary's
Dill	CCSF, 14-7	Cal., 14-13	Stan., 28-13	U.S.F., 27-14
Heil	CCSF, 27-7	Cal., 20-14	Stan., 35-7	U.S.F., 27-13
Kelly	CCSF, 34-6	Cal., 21-19	Stan., 14-6	U.S.F., 27-20
Dierking	CCSF, 32-6	Cal., 21-18	Stan., 36-7	U.S.F., 20-12
Spalding	CCSF, 21-0	Cal., 20-7	Stan., 27-7	U.S.F., 34-13
Sahm	CCSF, 27-20	Cal., 21-13	Stan., 34-13	U.S.F., 27-14
Consensus	CCSF, 26-8	Cal., 20-14	Stan., 29-9	U.S.F., 27-14

ROY DIEDERICHSEN, who says his squad is "improving constantly," leads his soccer team into their league opener with the University of California.

Fast Monterey Squad Tackles Local Gridders In Home Debut

By Gene Kelly, Sports Editor

Monterey Peninsula College invades Cox Stadium next Saturday night in the first home game for the Rams in the 1950 season, and the Lobos have both the desire and talent to smother the local gridders beneath an avalanche of touchdowns.

Coach Jim Tidwell has a light but last aggregation with which to run the Rams out of the stadium. To date the Lobos have played three games and won them all. Fresno bowed, 27-13, Visalia went down, 25-19, and Modesto, always a tough team, fell 20-14.

FREE ADMISSION

Admission is free to Saturday's game between the college and Monterey Peninsula College—free, that is, to members of Associated Students. High school students and servicemen in uniform will be charged 50 cents and all others will pay $1.00.

Cox Stadium, site of the game, is located on the Lake Merced campus of San Francisco State College, six blocks south of Sloat Boulevard on Nineteenth Avenue. The "M" streetcar route passes the campus. Kickoff time is 8 p.m.

Monterey's line averages only 175 pounds, and the backfield 163. Yet despite this disadvantage, they have quality. Stan Alberts, starting quarterback in the straight "T" formation, is a slick ball handler. Jim Hare, his understudy, is a bull's-eye passer.

For variety, Al Matthews at fullback is one of the outstanding backs in the southern division. In three games the 157-pound speedster has amassed 500 yards. Last year he gained 1400 yards and scored 13 touchdowns. This year, he has averaged more than nine yards per carry. Leading the way for Matthews will be Joe Grammatico, easily the best blocking back in the league.

Against this rugged outfit Coach Grover Klemmer is sending a potentially great, but so far butter-fingered team. If they learn to hang onto the ball, the game should be an exciting one.

Menlo Cashes In On Fumbles, Crack Ram Gridders, 24-0

Palo Alto, Saturday, October 7.— Menlo College's Oaks took full advantage of Ram fumbles this afternoon to upset the visiting favorites 24-0 before a sparse crowd of 400 at Palo Alto high school stadium.

Bill McMahon, Oak fullback and a constant threat all afternoon, made the first entry on the scoreboard early in the second quarter when he galloped 19 yards around left end for the score. During his jaunt, three different would-be tacklers had clean shots at him. They all missed easy tackles, setting the theme for the rest of the game.

Jim McAuley and Belvin Gage gave the Rams a second chance in the second quarter. McAuley blocked Dick Montieth's punt and Gage fell on the ball on Menlo's 17-yard line. The opportunity to score promptly vanished, like the first one, when Dick Carrillo's pass was deflected right into the huge arms of Bob Lane, 223-pound center.

During halftime in the dressing room, Coach Grover Klemmer explained what the boys were doing wrong, made suggestions, and wound up with: "You fellows can be a championship ball club if you want to be, and you can certainly beat this team today. You're better than they are."

Unlike his halftime remarks during the 53-7 rout of Vallejo College, these words of wisdom failed to take effect, possibly due to the 93 degree heat. The second half was even worse.

In the fourth quarter, after each team had run some very ineffective plays, halfback Ed Gera slipped through left guard and went 15 yards into the end zone standing up. The extra point was no good, and the score remained 12-0.

Six plays later, after recovering a fumble, Menlo scored again, with Gera taking a 25-yard pass from Ron Clark in the end zone.

Final scoring saw Clark sneaking over from his quarterback spot on the one after Gera, McMahon, and Dewey Falcone had marched the ball 56 yards downfield.

Score by quarters:
Menlo	0	6	0	18	—24
CCSF	0	0	0	0	— 0

WAA Schedules Six Play Days For Fall Semester

The Women's Athletic Association will participate in approximately six play days in 1950-51, according to Nancy Sparks, WAA adviser.

Tentative dates are volley ball at the college, Saturday, October 21; Co-ed badminton, tennis and archery with recreational swimming at San Mateo, Saturday, November 4; basketball at Santa Rosa March 10; badminton at the college, April 14; Co-ed golf at San Mateo April 18; swimming meet at Napa May 19.

Arrangements for the play days were completed at a recent tea given by the WAA for representatives of the various junior colleges.

Miss Sparks also revealed the WAA will take part in the NCAAA badminton tournament to be held in Santa Rosa in January.

Volume XXXI, No. 3 WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1950 Page 4

McHale Wins Hat Naming Contest With 'Goofus'

Goofus was the name bestowed upon the City College version of the new style hat for California junior colleges in a state-wide hat-naming contest, Beverly Jank, Associated Student vice-president, said yesterday.

The hat was named by Ted McHale, City College student, who took first place honors in the hat-naming contest carried on under the sponsorship of the campus store.

The winning name was chosen from among those listed by students and dropped in a box located in the store.

McHale was given a Goofus for his efforts.

Remaining four names of the top five of the many submitted were Mad Cap, Box Top, Dizzy Topper, and Square Head.

Members of the judging committee were Tom Dill, Associated Student president; Beverly Jank, Associated Student vice-president; Monroe Johnson, Alumni Liaison officer; Joe Azzolino, Associated Student card sales chairman; Tom Campanella, finance chairman; Louis Batmale, dean of student activities; Edwin C Browne, dean of men; and Margaret Dougherty, dean of women.

Goofus, in his colors of red and white, sells for 85 cents, and is on sale in the student store.

FROSH CLASS OFFICERS Sydney Mumford, vice-president, Doug Smith, president, and Bob Crosby, dance committee chairman, map out plans for the Freshman Frolics tonight in the Terrace Room of the Fairmont Hotel. Music is by Paul Laws and his orchestra.—Photo by Mattzen.

Ticker-Tapes, Bells And Telephones Keep On-Campus Fire-House Alert

By Doug Hayward

Not a fire burns in the city without being noticed by the fire college, Building 4. Ten hours a day, 365 days a year, ticker-tapes, bells, and telephones keep this on-campus fire house in constant communication with the pulsebeat of San Francisco's fire-alarm system.

"My name is Potter, Alex Potter," He is a lieutenant, third in command at the fire college. He turns in his seat to glance at a small, glass encased mechanism which has begun to tick-tick-tick in irregular spurts. From an opening in the machine, dotted ticker-tape curls down into a waste basket.

"That'll be engine 36 reporting home," "More ticks. "And there's the chief." The desk, at which this scholarly looking fireman in white shirt and blue pants sits, is cluttered with paperwork.

"How can I tell exactly what those dots on the tape mean?" Potter replies. A semi-involved explanation follows, dealing in prefix, engine and code numbers.

The fog outside has turned into a droplet-forming mist, and the lieutenant comments that "This is a bad time of year. Wiring goes out, and people are fooling around with fireplaces. A lot of calls come in."

Muted clackings come from another room. In there, Mike LoPresti, coordinator of this unit, instructs veteran firemen on handling the latest equipment. He is probably chalking chemistry formulae on the blackboard, for many calls and fires are of a chemical nature.

Most of the students belong to regular firehouses, and are sometimes called from college for an especially large blaze. Otherwise, they study in an environment of electrical circuits, hand apparatus, blinking lights and dummy firehoses.

George Kelley, another lieutenant, calls and says lunch is ready. "Just like any other firehouse," says Potter, "we don't 'go out' for lunch." He says goodbye and goes in another room, where LoPresti and Kelley sit beside a small hotplate. Coffee boils in a pot

Card Sales Down; Drive Ends Today

The Student Council meeting ended last week with a report from Joe Azzolino, chairman for Associated Student card sales. Azzolino's final word was a warning that if 200 more cards were not sold within a few days the budgets already approved by the Student Council would have to be revised.

The drive to sell Associated Student cards culminates today.

At a meeting earlier in the week, Charles Barger, head yell leader, submitted his resignation, necessitating an immediate election

From the three candidates who ran, Ralph Marinelli was elected.

Sites for the new vending machines were also chosen as follows: men's gymnasium men's dormitory, and the student lounge.

The type to be installed will include cigarette, candy, and coke machines. If these sites do not produce the expected revenue, other locations will be selected, the council decided.

Alumnus Receives National Art Prize

Former City College student Robert Kovacic won an award in a national contest for wallpaper and textile design, William Eckert, art instructor here, said yesterday.

Straight-A student Kovacic, a versatile artist, excels in oil painting and ceramics as well as wallpaper and textile design. Much of his work has been exhibited.

After receiving his teaching credentials at San Diego State College he joined the faculty at Los Angeles State College where he has been since September of 1949.

Photo Department Exhibits Work

Members of the photography department of the college displayed their works and photographic procedures in the Marine Art and Garden Show last month.

Emmitt Smith, instructor of photographic composition, won first prize for his Art in Action print.

Katherine Wood and Lillian Desmond were among the college students who aided Smith with the displays.

A dark room equipped with red windows was set up so that the spectators might view the developmental processes.

Replica of the first camera in history—the Obscura—was also exhibited by the photographic club.

Best prints taken by the students were also displayed.

Neophyte Actors In College Show

Three students, new to college dramatics, were included in the cast of actors, who presented scenes from four plays before a meager audience in Room 28 last week.

The nine-student cast presented scenes from the plays Doctor Faustus, by Christopher Marlowe; Hamlet, by William Shakespeare; The Father, by August Strindberg; and The Women, by Claire Booth Luce.

The students seen for the first time were Dolores Lampert, Mary Hadlich, and Lloyd Spitalny. The veterans to the stage included Ed Mulvihill, George Jackson, Mervyn Murphy, Donald Powell, Anne Maxwell, and Dawn Kidd.

"Last week's production will be the first of several planned by the drama department," Stuart Hyde, drama instructor, said after the show.

"Drama classes don't do the students any good if their work isn't viewed by the public," he declared.

Opera Workshop Singer On Convention Program

Jean Bonaccorsi, opera workshop contralto, will be featured in a musical program at a conference of the Bay Area Music Educators' Association, to be held at Mission high school October 28, Flossita Badger, music department instructor, said last week.

Miss Bonaccorsi will sing the aria, My Heart At Thy Sweet Voice, from the opera Sampson and Delilah.

Currently in her second year at the college, Miss Bonaccorsi was a featured soloist in the Opera Showease, staged last June.

Two Students Win Advancements

Barbara Thompson and John Vincent Hurtado, both merchandising students, were recently spotlighted by advancements in their respective fields.

Miss Thompson attended the governor's Mid-Century Conference on Children and Youth in California in Sacramento, September 18 and 19. She spoke about the cooperative program, a school-work program relating specifically to a student's vocational choice.

The conference was called to plan California's participation in the 1950 White House Conference on Children and Youth.

Miss Thompson was invited to the conference on the recommendation of the Emporium because she is a student in the cooperative merchandising department and also working part time at the Emporium.

Hurtado recently became the manager in charge of the basement floor at Merrill's Drug Center in San Francisco. This is specially notable in that he is 19 years old.

He is in business administration major with retail management as his goal. He is at present taking 13 units of college courses in retail management, merchandising, and marketing besides working part time at Merrill's.

For the last year and a half, Hurtado has been interested in flying as a hobby. At present he has over 40 hours of flying time.

Frosh Class Hosts Traditional Fairmont Hotel Dance Tonight

To welcome the new freshman students at the college, the traditional freshman class dance, Freshman Frolics, is scheduled tonight in the Terrace Room of the Fairmont Hotel, Douglas Smith, class president, announced last week.

Music for the Freshman Frolics will be provided by Paul Laws and his orchestra from 9 to 12 p.m. Refreshments will be served during the intermission periods, Smith said.

Attire for this affair will be semi-formal, business suits for the men and street dresses for the women, Smith added.

Admission for the dance will be one Associated Student card per couple, Smith continued, and there will be no other charge. All Associated Student members are welcome.

Smith said that "while the theme, Freshman Frolics, is anything but original, it best describes the occasion itself."

He added that he hoped that the turnout would be large, because the members of the freshman dance committee had worked very hard to make the dance one of the most memorable events of the semester.

Members of his committee include Bob King, Bob Crosby, Stan Seaman, Helen Dubacher, Al Weed, and Ann Chevrier.

According to the committee, the Terrace Room has been newly painted and decorated, and a new ventilating system was recently installed.

The Fairmont Hotel is reached from the college by boarding the K street car line and transferring to the Powell Street cable to California Street.

As the first big Associated Student hotel dance of the semester Smith indicated that a large turnout was expected. He added that non-members still had time to purchase their cards and gain admittance to the dance. The current drive to sell 200 additional cards ends today at 5 p.m.

WAA Schedules New Swim Clinic

The Women's Athletic Association will conduct a swimming clinic as one of their fall semester activities, Nancy Sparks, WAA adviser, said yesterday.

Miss Sparks declared that invitations will be sent to all San Francisco high schools. She added that the clinic will be modeled after last year's successful dance clinic and those attending will be assured of excellent instruction as special instructors are being invited for the occasion.

Tentative plans also call for exhibitions by City College swimmers and the serving of refreshments, Miss Sparks continued.

The clinic will take place in the YWCA but a definite date has not been set as yet, she stated.

Among other activities, scheduled by the WAA is participation of the Co-ed evening badminton class in informal competition with San Mateo and Marin. Tentative dates for the competitions are set for November 16 and either January 11 or 18, Miss Sparks said.

The WAA will also take part in the annual horse show in January.

College Library Accommodates 80 Students An Hour

Approximately 80 students per hour—or one and a quarter students per minute—are accommodated by the staff of the college library.

"We have more than 37,000 volumes available to the students during the library visiting hours of 8 to 5," Clement Skrabak, head of the library department, declared.

"About how many students take advantage of that many books?" he was asked.

"Last semester we accommodated over 700 students daily," came the reply. Then Skrabak added, "Of course many students use the library as a place to study and do research. Because quiet is the watch-word, the library is an excellent retreat for this type of work."

"Do you subscribe to many magazines or periodicals?" the librarian was asked.

He smiled. "Well over 300-monthlies," came the proud answer, "ranging from the Kansas City health report to the Atlantic Monthly."

"For the convenience of the students we also have a branch library on the west campus in Building 2," he said, "and the visiting hours are from 8 to 4, one hour shorter than those for the main library."

Club Petitions Due October 16

Extension of the deadline for club petitions was set for Monday, October 16, Frank Meyn, Club Activities Board president, said last week.

Any organization not complying with the regulations will be put off campus, Meyn said.

CAB membership committee for the 1950 semester is as follows: Charlie Robertson, vice-president; Louis Testatuzza, of Tau Chi Sigma; Joyce Nelsen, affiliated with Zeta Chi; David Brewer, member of the Collegiate Christian Association; and Pat Kelly of the Women's Athletic Association.

Late petitions can be filed at the Associated Student office, Meyn added.

In accordance with the constitution, all groups must submit, each semester, a copy of the organization's constitution, any new by-laws or amendments, and a list of all active on-campus members and their Associated Student card numbers.

This ruling applies not only to new clubs but to existing organizations as well, Meyn explained.

The CAB then reviews all organization constitutions and if it approves them, recommends that the Student Council vote recognition.

Jackson

Round 'n About

Clubs Start Fall Activities, New Officers Elected, Band Plans Stunts

One of the big events for Pi Delta Koppa this summer was its national conclave, held here in San Francisco in August. The 14 chapters of this national fraternity were represented.

Members of Zeta Chi played hostesses to the Koppa's conclave, and Felice Quast was elected sweetheart of the group.

Also from the Pi Delta Koppas comes a list of new officers— Bill Brass, acting president; Eloy Escareida, corresponding secretary; Don Stillman, recording secretary; Russell Smith, treasurer; Ed Barton, master of ceremonies; Milt Melzian, guard; and Roy Kaderli, historian.

The men of Beta Tau welcomed three transferring members from the Beta chapter at Cal Poly; Murry Hart, Richard Sakowski, and George Chappino. A joint meeting with the Phi Beta Rhos was enjoyed by the Betas last Wednesday.

Speaking of joint meetings, the Kappa Rhos held one with the Zeta Chis on September 27, while Alpha Sigma Delta and Alpha Lambda Chi also met on that day.

More news from Zeta Chi includes the announcement that Carla do Pennington was married to Peter Grimes of University of California during the summer; and Pat Pappas and Tom Deltz, Tri Epsilon, took their nuptial vows in August.

New officers for Alpha Sigma Delta are Al Kane, president; Bill Rosin, vice-president; Ray King, recording secretary; Frank Mein, corresponding secretary; Bob Smirle, treasurer; and Al Sebanc, historian. Their first smoker was held on September 27, and their second affair was on October 4.

Joe Lteofsky was recently elected president of Gamma Phi Ypsilon, along with Bruce Tomhaugh, vice-president; George Zalts, secretary; Gene Kelly, treasurer; and Jack Redman, pledge master.

Omicron Phi Pi, the economics honor society, holds a meeting tonight at the home of sponsor Michael Zarchin for initiation of new members.

Last Friday, during college hour, the Collegiate Christian Fellowship held a discussion on Psychology and Religion. All students are invited to attend their forthcoming lectures.

Something new has been added to the Band Association, according to Paul Costa, secretary. Plans for the biggest season in the history of the band are under way. Not only will it play at football games, but there will be detailed marching and stunts performed before the games and at half time. Charlie Robinson was elected president of the association.

At the first meeting of the Forum Club, Kit Sornborger was elected president and Victor Morales was elected secretary-treasurer. The club's next meeting is on October 27 at the home of co-sponsor Dorothy Mercer, 2251 Jackson Street. All are invited to attend.

The Guardsman

Official Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

1950 Member Associated Collegiate Press 1951

VOLUME XXXI SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1950 NUMBER 4

Protests Stall K Carline Plans For Abandonment

Revised plans, calling for abandonment of the K car line, were being studied last week by Municipal Railway officials after the original plans aroused a storm of protest by students of the college and residents of the area.

In a statement released by James H. Turner, public utilities manager, last week, the utilities head said streetcar service would terminate at Ocean and Phelan Avenues. The plan further calls for trackless trolleys to be substituted on the route to Mission and Onondaga Streets.

The unused reservoir property, city owned and currently filled with rails, at the Ocean and Phelan intersection would be established as the terminal point.

Residents of the West of Twin Peaks area and college students protested the move, with a hearing on abandonment pending now before the utilities commission.

Associated Student President Tom Dill last week attended a meeting where protests were aired.

Earlier plans called for shuttle busses to replace the cars between Mission Street and St. Francis Circle. Dill reported that two busses will be put into service for every streetcar making the run between the two points.

This should speed up service between the two points, Dill stated, as busses move more freely in traffic although their capacity is less.

George Hutchinson, mechanical drawing instructor here, brought the proposed plan to the attention of the Student Council on Thursday, October 5. The council agreed to look into the plan after more information was obtained. The original plans call for the busses to replace the streetcars in January.

Public Invited To CCF Social Friday

Jerry Latal, president of the Collegiate Christian Fellowship, announced recently that the organization will sponsor a social Friday, October 20, from 8 to 11 p.m., in the student lounge, to which everyone will be welcomed.

W. Howard Schoon, sponsor, said that the object of the affair is simply to have a good time in a friendly social manner. Refreshments will be served with entertainment provided by other bay area colleges.

A movie entitled Dust or Destiny, a scientific film dealing with the position of mankind in relation to the atom bomb will be shown soon during a college hour, Schoon added.

"Are College Students Fatalists?" will be the topic for discussion at the next meeting of the CCF during college hour on Friday, October 27.

Ten Instructors Granted Leaves

Ten faculty members are now on leaves of absence, President Louis G. Conlan's office announced recently.

Thomas Porter, biology; Franklin Sewell, social science; Charles McKiernan, speech; and Milton Polissar, chemistry, are taking their sabbaticals, a year's leave of absence usually granted instructors every seven years for further study.

Paul Ellison, English; Betty Heckman, hygiene and physical education; and Norma Bihr, foreign languages, are on leaves of absences.

Thomas Dutcher, social science; Thomas Bass, mathematics; and Harold Weeks, in charge of testing and research, are now in the armed services.

Harold Luenberger, formerly in charge of testing and research, has been serving in the Army since 1940.

Midterms Cancel Friday College Hour

College hour was dropped from the activities calendar for Friday, October 20—final day for midterm examinations—Louis Batmale, dean of student activities, said yesterday.

Batmale added that a college hour will be held Friday, October 27, for club meetings only. On Friday, November 3, a rally for the Ram-East Los Angeles Junior College football game will be held.

Midterm grades will be distributed to each class by the instructor, F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, said.

Vandals Mark Ram, Campus With Paint

By Doug Hayward

Night-vandals struck at the college Wednesday, slinging and swabbing paint on the west campus Ram, the City College sign at Ocean and Phelan Avenues and the front steps of the main building itself in what appeared to be a pregame raid.

Smeared down the front of the Ram, located at the main entrance to the west campus, was red and white paint, mixed, and almost one-quarter of an inch thick. The paint had dried hard by the time it was discovered Thursday morning. The word, 'Lobos,' nickname for Monterey Peninsula College, was discernible on the Ram's back.

On the Ocean-Phelan sign, red paint appeared to have been slung up at it directly from a bucket, criss-crossing over the face of the college's name in bright, dripping streaks. It, also, had dried hard.

Drops of red-white trailed around from the south face of the main building, where Louie Lobos was scrawled over a large crate, to the front steps.

There, lettered across the topmost brick steps of the main entrance, in ragged brush marks, were the words: Louie's Lobos MPC. By Friday morning painters had been hired to remove this example of football vandalism.

Hurley Village Vacancies Open

Vacancies are available at Hurley Village, Art James, village manager, announced recently.

The village, college housing facility for married students, has a few two-bedroom units and several one-bedroom units available for immediate occupancy, James said.

The one-bedroom, unfurnished units rent for $32 per month with a slight additional charge for furnished units. This price include utilities.

There are over 200 families housed in the village at the present time. The 150 children in the project are provided with recreational facilities which include an arts and crafts shop.

Any married student desiring information may phone Mrs. Art James at JUniper 5-2583 or call in person at the village business office at 350 Marston Avenue in the village. Office hours are from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily except Sundays and holidays.

College New Home Of City's First School

The replica of the city's first school will be moved to the college campus, the San Francisco Board of Education voted last week.

The building has been occupying a site at Portsmouth Plaza opposite the Hall of Justice on Kearny Street. It was used recently in the State's 100-year centennial celebrations.

The board said cost of the moving operation would be $800.

Later, the building will be moved to Sunset Community Center, when the latter is built.

Instrumentalists, Vocalists Audition For TV Tomorrow

Tryouts Slated For Auditorium

Instrumentalists and vocalists on campus get a chance to crash into professional music ranks tomorrow and Friday when Leon d'Usseau, talent scout for Freddy Martin and Admiral television, holds auditions in the auditorium.

The auditions will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. on both days, d'Usseau said yesterday. Winners will be graded by d'Usseau, although Martin has final word on appearances on the telecast.

According to a statement released by Admiral last week, Martin is seeking young musical talent to make up a new band he is forming. The band is being assembled by having four musicians on a telecast over KGO-TV Friday nights.

One of the four performers will be awarded a seat on "The Band of Tomorrow." Each succeeding week another winner will be added, with a complete band and vocalist present at the end of the 13-week run.

d'Usseau last week contacted Flosita Badger and Meyer Cahn of the music department and both indicated approval of the auditions. They encouraged all students to try out, pointing out that it was an opportunity to enter a highly competitive field.

"We are particularly interested in getting instrumentalists, however," d'Usseau said. "About 85 per cent of persons trying out are vocalists."

Meanwhile, three former music department students have already tried out. They are Adelle Lee and Jim Bogue, who appeared on the first and third shows, respectively, and Gloria Craig, who won a seat on the band. All are former students of Miss Badger.

Union or non-union musicians are eligible as well as professional and non-professional players. All participants will be paid for their appearance on the show, d'Usseau declared.

Participants who won a place on the band will go on the Martin-Admiral payroll immediately.

An accompanist will be provided for the auditions, although applicants may bring their own if desired, d'Usseau said. Candidates for the show should bring their own music.

Following completion of the band, the St. Francis Hotel will contract the group for a two weeks run at the hotel.

GLORIA CRAIG, former student here, is the first college representative to win a seat on the "Band of Tomorrow."

Conlan Reviews AS Financial Picture

In reviewing the Associated Student financial picture last week, President Louis G. Conlan said he thought the situation could be improved if more cards were sold and if student support of the student store was emphasized.

President Conlan said suggestions on the operation of the store would be welcomed by Richard Main, store manager.

"If the store isn't stocking certain items, we would like to know about it so those items can be stocked," he said.

He added that suggestions for improving store service would also be welcomed and taken into consideration.

President Conlan returned last week from a four-day meeting of state school administrators, held in San Diego, October 3 through 6, where, he said, questions pertaining to financing junior colleges throughout the state were discussed.

President Conlan and four members of his administrative staff will attend the conference of California junior college presidents in Yosemite early next month.

The two-day conference will deal primarily with matters concerning state junior colleges, Conlan declared.

Saturday Review Cites College's Community Role

By Nini Aigeltinger

City College was cited as one of the finest examples of a community college in the United States by Dwayne Orton, director of Education of the International Business Machines Corporation, last month.

In his article "New Colleges for a New America" in the Saturday Review of Literature for September 9, Orton said that the community college is an important trend in higher education.

"As evidence of two year colleges growing significance is their spectacular development in California where 80 community colleges enrolled 162,059 students in 1948-49.

California is one of the most advanced in the country in this movement, raising large state subsidies for these new colleges. In recognition of their outstanding educational achievements, the University of California urges students to take their first two years at these colleges, Orton stated.

That the community college is designed to meet human needs for educational services, wherever they are found, regardless of age and previous education, "is evident at City College."

Here, Orton declared, the student body includes recent high school graduates who are aiming for either higher institutions or the business world, men and women of the professional and semi-professional fields pursuing post-graduate work, veterans studying under the GI Bill of Rights, and retired persons renewing their education and beginning new vocations.

General, rather than specialized, knowledge is the goal of the community college. It treats the man as a whole and attempts to help him cope with the problems of a complex world by giving him knowledge of all subjects. In this way it serves to mold more alert, community-minded citizens, Orton believes.

City College is playing its part in raising the level of general education, the article emphasized, and the quality of occupational skills in San Francisco; for many students who are unable to go on to universities are receiving an all-round education here.

"Here is an educational institution that has come down from Mt. Olympus to the marketplace bringing the wisdom of scholarship and practical experience to the felt needs of the local community," Orton said.

"IF YOU DON'T SEE WHAT YOU WANT—ask her; maybe she's not busy tonight." President Louis G. Conlan and student store manager Richard Main are giving students an opportunity to suggest what else they would like to be able to purchase at the store. All you have to do is "suggest" and if it's practicable, your wish could come true.—Photo by Matthes.

Editorial
The Guardsman
Official Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

Volume XXXI, No. 4 | WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1950 | Page 2

To Splotch Paint On Main Building Is Next To Criminal

LATE Wednesday night, while students from this college took off on a four-day holiday, three parts of the campus were splotched with paint, presumably by "raiders" from Monterey Peninsula College, the Rams' Saturday night football foes.

The Redwood Ram at the entrance to the west campus was daubed. Likewise the outdoor advertising sign at Ocean and Phelan Avenues. The steps in the main building also received the paint treatment.

The painting was discovered Thursday morning, Columbus Day, and on Friday the college had men, who could have been doing other, more important work, cleaning the mess off the steps.

For sheer brilliance the eternal sophomores who plastered the main building with paint could not have picked a better spot, for the main building is constructed of limestone—very hard to clean. Such action indicates high intelligence and good sportsmanship.

In 1942 a contingent of Santa Rosa College students smeared paint on the countenances of the DaVinci and Edison statues behind the main building. It wasn't until 1946 that the paint was removed. And today a slight shadow remains.

Then to top off the heretofore cordial relations the college has enjoyed with Monterey Peninsula College a small scale riot broke out after the football game Saturday night.

TO quote one downtown newspaper, "Following a paint-daubing raid on the City College campus earlier in the week, the fistic foray left relations between the two schools in a precarious state."

For certain the students attending City College are to be commended for not indulging in the technique of paint smearing on other colleges.

To smear paint on the Redwood Ram is no crime—that's its purpose, if it can be done.

To smear paint on the main building, however, is bordering on the criminal. It is city property and the employment of men to clean up the paint runs into many work hours. As a reminder to future painters, a police station is located nearby.

Larrick
The Spectator
muni finds K line hot potato, new transit terminal proposed

THE Public Utilities Commission is "at it again." What is meant by "at it again" is that the commission opened its mouth and someone stuck the K car line in it.

The first plan to keep the dodder-ers out from Market on its financial feet was to junk the K carline to West Portal and Sloat. Reinvestments and subsidized two shuttle busses for every streetcar taken off to make connection with Mission Street.

To back up the service cut Utilities Manager James H. Turner pointed out that for the month of August the line was in the red that it would cost $180 a day to put Ocean Avenue back in service. Service cuts and rises in fares would be considered and made if costs $4 a day per bust to run busses.

REASONS TORN APART

As fast as Turner thought of reasons it should be done residents and student's who use the line tore them apart.

First, the months in August is not a true indication of possible revenue coming from the line especially for that part of the line below 3rd Ave. Many use the line of the eight schools along the route were closed.

Second, the desirable conditions of Ocean Avenue is the responsibility of the utilities commission all the way through when they want to change it from the street railroad they've needed it modified into a street. A stitch in time saves nine, Mr. Turner.

Third, although a bus may cost less than a streetcar it doesn't have the capacity to handle the crowds that the streetcar can. Busses are also more vulnerable to traffic tie-ups and accidents than streetcars. Members of the K line would prefer a streetcar to a bus as the latter would have to fight traffic jams on the Mission Street System would result from the change over.

FROM FRYING PAN TO FIRE

Turner has come from the frying pan into the fire. If this plan is carried out it will necessitate the relocation of Ocean Avenue at $160,000, an underestimate no doubt, plus about a mile of trackless trolley wire and also the cost of the terminal.

Not only must the cost be figured but also the inconvenience to passengers coming from Mission Street. Forcing them to transfer at the new terminal to go perhaps only a few blocks or go all the way down town, catch a car and go back through the same.

For years now the taxpayers money has been spent at an enormous rate for new traffic surveys after another for sending city officials to other cities to study traffic systems, and for the importation of traffic experts. Results: take a ride around San Francisco by streetcar, negative.

Perhaps the only true transportation problem can be solved is by a subway or by elevated trains.

If the money spent on experiments with busses, high priced traffic experts, surveys and official joy-rides were given to the Municipal Railway it would be so many hundreds of thousands of dollars richer and we'd be getting more than one bus for every nickel we pay.

It should be said that we aren't a radical, but something must be done to stop the waste of the taxpayers money.

Guardsman Staff Fall, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Dorothy Anderson
STAFF REPORTERS ..... Bill Bleier, Bill Bonnell, Bill Cornell, Jack Spalding, Mel Turner
NEWS EDITOR ..... Georgia Wyman
SPORTS EDITOR ..... Gene Kelly
SPORTS REPORTERS ..... Bill Bonnell, Jack Spalding, Mel Turner
FEATURE EDITOR ..... Dorothy Anderson
FEATURE REPORTERS ..... Bill Bleier, Bill Cornell, Jack Spalding, Mel Turner
PHOTOGRAPHY EDITOR ..... Vipiane
PHOTOGRAPHERS ..... Bill Bleier, Bill Bonnell, Bill Cornell, Jack Spalding, Mel Turner
BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Walter Heil
ADVERTISING MANAGER ..... Dorothy Anderson
CIRCULATION MANAGER ..... Georgia Wyman
FACULTY ADVISOR ..... Paul Deutschmann

Talented Twins Appear On Television And Stage

TO ALL BUT themselves Tani (laft) and Dranne (right) Saitz provide a difficult problem in identification. The identical twins (Tani, left—Dranne, right) have appeared on radio, television, the stage, and have appeared as models. Photo (Tani, left—Dranne, right) by Krattner and Weber.

Beauty Mark Is Identification

By Mary Lou Cooper

Maybe you were seeing double! And in truth you were, for double or nothing seems to be Mother Nature's cue where Tani and Dranne Seitz, identical twins, are concerned.

In appearance, both girls are as alike as peas in a pod, ducks on a pond, or ripples in a brook. But they both chimed in with: "We don't think we look alike."

They like most of all to be treated as individuals, not like twins. Of course, there's no escaping the fact that they are doubles for each other and they do dress alike. Dressing alike they attribute to habit more than a conscious desire on their part to be identical.

However, Tan and Dran [illegible] spelling of their Nordic names are identical, and only their family and closest friends can tell them apart, that is without knowing the secret.

The secret of identification: Tanya Seitz has a tiny brown beauty mark near the corner of her mouth.

Dranne Seitz confuses the issue very nicely, though, by painting on her very own "tiny brown beauty mark." Now who can tell which is which?

Besides their twin-ability, the girls have a dramatic background that shows talent and ambition. They recently came to San Francisco from Los Angeles where they produced, directed and acted in their own summer stock ground, "The Village Theatre" Television, radio, stage acting and modeling are not new words to them.

Make-up in its myriad forms and phases is certainly not a stranger to the twins. Nevertheless, they prefer that "scrubbed look" during the day time. That's why no lipstick or rouge or powder on campus. Somehow they manage to prove that gilding the lily is not necessary for them.

Northwood Shots At RAMdom

original, army publicity interests males; dean is seen with bottled bug

OUT of an envelope addressed to The Guardsman, and bearing a Presidio return address, popped the Army's latest enticer.

Good pay, travel, and adventure have been a standby of Army publicity since heaven knows when; now something new and startlingly fresh and startlingly clad has been added.

This something new is a photograph of Carol Carroll, a voluptuous (to say the least) lass, dressed in a two-piece ensemble that would make Venus de Milo envious. Carol smiles enchantingly, and carries a large card stating the merits of the Army.

Now of course, the Army doesn't guarantee a Carroll in every duffle bag issued still they claim enlistments in the ROTC have jumped considerably since she made her appearance.

CHEM EXPERIMENT BACKFIRES

The main building shook with the sound of an explosion a couple of Thursdays ago between the hours of eight and nine. Not an atomic bomb but a chemistry experiment backfired scaring all students present into a state of realization that instructors can be wrong.

This chemistry instructor evidently had other things on his mind as he mixed a potion comparable to a witches' brew on the ill fated day. Some students are still shaking but most of them are again the fearless test-tube jockies they were in pre-Explosion days.

A certain instructor is very busy trying to develop his hit-miss formula with visions of an obsolete atomic bomb and fat government contracts.

EEK! A SPIDER!

Last week a bespectacled, graying man in a brown suit hurried across the west campus carrying a coke bottle in one hand. This is a natural sight ordinarily. But this time in place of the cool coke was a healthy looking spider. Woman students, looked, turned ghastly white. Men students just looked and shook their heads in disbelief.

Listeners to this tale, as some students related it to others, were left wondering who the instructor was that was cracking up, so to speak. Word got around that Dean Edwin Browne was given an unusual present by one of the gardeners.

The present, of course, was the spider which was destined to join his son's collection.

Those noises coming from Building 4 during Friday teacher's institute were made by the members of The Guardsman staff who so willingly (under the eye of editor Walt Heil) gave up a day off to publish this paper.

Pioneer Spirit

Brave Men Enroll In Dance Class

Two as brave men who first enrolled in the folk dancing classes have gradually been joined by more of their comes until the number of men students is now equal to that of the opposite sex.

Lajuene Bergan instructor commented that a number of men often join the coeducational classes once a week for enjoyment only not for credit.

Everyone is welcome to join the classes for both beginners and advanced every Tuesday and Thursday at 1 and 2 p.m. She added that excellent records of folk dancing music are available.

The folk dancing classes also put on demonstrations with the modern dance classes.

The fine arm in Gladys Brewer's good, modern dance class may also produce a larger enrollment of men in this class.

Mrs. Brewer explained that students are taught the fundamentals of body movement and also to explore the possibilities of movement in the body for themselves. Any stereotyped form of dance is not necessarily copied.

Robert Specchi pianist, who teaches music, though not at the college composes to accompaniment for the dancers as they go along not following a conventional score.

Ram's Horn . . .
Pulse of the Campus

• Student Spirit

Editor The Guardsman:

What gives with the school spirit on the campus this semester? During my first semester at City College Spring 150 school spirit could be found at any event the college sponsored. Now, it appears, this same school spirit has disintegrated until there is nothing left but a hollow, empty shell.

Look at the City College-Menlo football game, for instance. Even though the game was played away from the home field it would seem to me that it should have drawn more than the handful of Ram faithful who did attend.

The cheer leaders did their best to pump a little enthusiasm into the rooters, with little success. Of course the Rams' sloppy game did not add to the enthusiasm, but did those who attended the game step to wonder what their lack of vocal support might have been a factor in that sloppy playing?

It's about time the students of this college dragged the old oven-skin out and showed a little of that college Ram Rah! spirit. Until they do the high school teams in the city will continue to get more attention both from the people and the newspapers.

Question's yours.

Disgusted.

Stargazing Students

Astronomy Class Meets Weekly Under The Stars

"And God set the stars in the firmament of the heavens to give light upon the earth."

It is night and high above the [illegible] of students on the roof of the Science building is the vast universe starting beyond imagination.

Monday nights are reserved for stargazers of Observational Astronomy 2A-2B only. Louis Berman astronomy instructor, lectures under the stars on the mechanics of the universe, plotting the swing of the planets, recognizing constellations and other special implications with a touch of philosophy.

Astronomy on the roof involves more than just pure science Berman pointed out that atmospheric conditions and mechanical obstacles often make proper observation difficult.

He noted that observation since the war was much better. Because of increased building and expansion about the college reflected glare from neon signs, homes and stores now have played hob with star gazing.

The college incinerator also proved a problem. Smoke from the nearby chimney had a Machiavellian persistence in blowing wherever the 1 power telescope was pointed.

As a subject of recreation and interest, students of Observational Astronomy finds [illegible] in everyday life, whether in [illegible]

Gridders Employed As Baby Sitters

Baby sitting may be the answer to the college man's financial needs if reports drifting over the country from Nola Valley's pensive true Love Lottie Columbia University's football coach has opened a baby sitting service staffed by his football squad. By all reports business is booming.

Perhaps Coach Grover Klemmer of this college could inaugurate a similar job placement service for the Rams. The field is wide open in the West.

The work is easy and relaxing with an occasional raid on the ice box. Television homes are the favored baby sitting jobs eastern reports note. However, the sitter can be paid for doing his homework if he wishes. And who could ask for more.

Favorable reports have poured in from Columbia on the baby sitters fee. It is felt that the Rams would like to carry out the tradition and enter the profession.

The Rams would provide a [illegible] western part-time employment for men. Fame, money and work would be theirs for the asking with linemen and backs fighting for the choice assignments.

Over the portals of the gymnasium a sign by Foster and Kleiser will be erected:

Baby Sitting—Reasonable and Reliable
JU 7-7777
Men's Gymnasium

ALBERTO RANGEL, sterling left wing on this season's Ram soccer squad, is expected to be one of the team's chief scoring threats. Already Rangel has shown definite ability in the passing and scoring departments.—Photo by Vipiane

Soccermen Score 4-3 Win Over California In Opener

By Jack Spalding

The college soccer team opened conference play last Wednesday night at Cox Stadium with a 4-3 upset victory over the favorite University of California Bears.

Although the Rams trailed the Bears by two goals late in the second period, they looked good from start to finish, and dominated play by controlling the ball throughout the game.

Bears Take Lead

The Bears posted a 3-1 lead late in the first half, when Robin Tiesler connected for his second goal with two minutes to go, but Ram center-forward Carlos Chavez cut the lead when he scored as the half ended.

The second half was all City College, as Ron Shoemaker made good a penalty kick to tie the score in the third quarter, and then in the final quarter Alberto Rangel scored the clincher on a corner kick.

Standout play for the Rams was furnished by Shoemaker, Nick Vatileff, Rangel and the goal keeper, Jose Martinez.

Disappointing Crowd

Coach Roy Diederichsen thought the team "played a fine game!" but was disappointed that there were so few people in attendance at the game. When USF took the field for the second game, the crowd had at least tripled in size.

The Rams avenged last season's defeat at the hands of Cal, and if they continue to play as they did last Wednesday, Diederichsen feels that the team will give USF a battle for the conference title.

The Dons got off a good effort in their opener against S. F. State, dropping the Gaters 3-0 in the second game of the twin bill.

Intra Hoop League Opens With High Scoring Contests

The Balboa Bucs, Lyons, and the Balboa Blues took an early lead in the intramural basketball league by virtue of winning both of their opening games.

The Pirates defeated the Menehunes, 43-34, and the Ramites, 27-25, in a see-saw battle which was not decided until the closing minutes.

After trouncing the Ramites, 51-25, in their initial contest, the Lyons continued on their winning way by defeating the Blue and Golds by a score of 55-42. The high-scoring Balboa Blues' twin wins were over the Titans, 56-20, and the Clenner A. C., 57-24.

Other winning teams were the Commuters, who topped the Menehunes, 31-20; the Blue and Golds, 48-30 victors over the Seis Mnas, and the Balboa Blues, who won by default over the Clenner A. C.

Any group or fraternity wishing to enter a team in the intramural football league may file its entry with Tom Wilson, director, in the gymnasium office. The deadline for these entries has been set for November 1.

Anyone who desires information about intramural hoxing should see either Roy Diederichsen or Wilson.

Lobos Beat Rams 27-19 In First Home Game; Players, Spectators In Riot

Al Matthews Leads Victors With Three Touchdowns; Rams Catch Fumblitis Bug In First Quarter

By Gene Kelly

A young man named Al Matthews put on an overwhelming one-man display of hard, fast running Saturday night to lead his team, the Monterey Peninsula College Lobos, to a 27-19 southern division win over the City College of San Francisco Rams.

Hard, fast swinging of fists characterized the post game emotions of both fans and players. A brawl between Bob McBride, Ram fullback, and an unidentified Lobo started a free-for-all which saw spectators and football players swing up bloody noses for their trouble.

It all started when McBride, after the game was over, went up to a Monterey grider to shake his hand and congratulate him for playing a good game. They shook, and then the Monterey man, remembering that McBride had accidentally broken a teammate's nose during a thrust through the center of the line, swung his free hand, bloodying McBride's mouth. Oscar Brown and Pat Patterson of the Rams, several Lobos and spectators then joined in, and from then on all was confusion.

After the fracas was over and the half dozen or so bloody noses had been stopped, a Monterey rooter was heard to remark: "We'll never be invited to play here again."

Matthews started the legitimate rough stuff in the first quarter when he scored from five yards out after a teammate had recovered a Ram fumble on the 38-yard line.

Booster Translated, this means that it was first down for the Rams, ten yards to go, on the LA 40 yard line. Haan lost three yards off tackle, and was tackled by Weinmaster.

All this in 20 seconds.

And the layman thinks it's a lark, a snap. As one fledgling reporter said, "Hell, mister, you can't even enjoy the game."—W. H.

Recent history repeated itself when Matthews scored again from the five after a second Ram fumble set up the touchdown on the locals' 40-yard line.

Cledus Washington scored for the Rams, still in the first quarter, from the five after a pass from Dick Cerrillo to George Voronin and a ten-yard slant by Stan Haan had carried downfield.

Dick Narvaez, Lobo end, made a beautiful leaping catch of Jim Hare's pass in the second quarter, shook off a would-be tackler and galloped 56 yards for the third tally. His long run was mated by Ram Al Endriss a few plays later. Endriss took a pitch-out from Ralph de la Torre and went 40 yards down the sidelines for six points. The score at halftime was 20-12.

Matthews got off on the prettiest run of the evening early in the third quarter when he went 61 yard around right end and behind beautiful blocking for the last Lobo TD, his third of the game. The extra point was good, the score 27-12.

Stan Haan, one of the Rams' most effective ball carriers, concluded the scoring in the last quarter with a ten-yard dash around right end. The little (5' 5", 135 pounder) was a consistent ground gainer.

Score by quarters:
Monterey	14	6	7	0—27
CCSF	6	6	0	7—19

Guardsman SPORTS
Wednesday, October 18, 1950 . Page 3

RAMblings . .

NEXT Saturday night colleague Gene Kelly will sit in the press coop atop of Los Angeles' Gilmore Stadium covering the locals-Los Angeles City College clash.

Colleague Kelly will sit there presumably to cover the game for The Guardsman, but at the same time he will sit there in his tight little world to marvel at, wonder at, flout, and admired. The general public thinks his job is a lark, a snap, to put it in the vernacular.

However, while the fan jumps and cheers over the efforts of his favorite halfback the football writer develops writing cramps while scribbling down the play on paper. He writes fast, too, because if he doesn't the next play will be underway and the writer will be lost.

Football reporters follow the progress of games with two methods. One type draws the plays on a chart, laid out to the scale of a field. He uses a dash for a pass, solid line for runs, and wavy lines for kicks. In addition he must get the names, numbers, yards gained or lost on the chart.

The play-by-play form is also popular. This type of writer uses a stenographer's notebook, same as Montgomery Street secretaries, dividing the play down the middle, depending on the club possessing the ball.

His notes look like this about the time the fans leave the stadium: 1/10/40 LA Haan—3 off tackle Weinmeister. Translated, this means that it was first down for the Rams, ten yards to go, on the LA 40 yard line. Haan lost three yards off tackle, and was tackled by Weinmaster.

All this in 20 seconds.

And the layman thinks it's a lark, a snap. As one fledgling reporter said, "Hell, mister, you can't even enjoy the game."—W. H.

WAA Hosts First Playday Saturday

City College's Women's Athletic Association will be host to the first volleyball play day of the year at the women's gymnasium Saturday, October 21, at 9:30 a.m., Nancy Sparks, WAA adviser, announced at a recent tea held on the college campus.

It was also announced at the college tea, for some 30 representatives of various northern California junior colleges, that the play day tentative schedule may include tennis or archery this coming Saturday at the college.

The forthcoming play days will include Co-ed badminton, tennis, and archery with recreational swimming at San Mateo, Saturday, November 4; basketball at Santa Rosa, March 10; badminton at the college, April 14; Co-ed golf at San Mateo, April 18.

SF vs. LA Rivalry Gets New Test In Southland Friday

San Francisco vs. Los Angeles, northern California vs. southern California—that's the basis for the rivalry between the college and Los Angeles City College when the two teams renew their gridiron rivalry Friday night on the turf of Los Angeles' Gilmore Stadium.

The struggle for supremacy between the two institutions has been going on continuously ever since the college was founded in 1935, except for the war years when travel conditions made it impossible for the two teams to meet.

Coach Grover Klemmer's Rams have another reason for wanting a victory, and a convincing one, next Friday. Last year the Cubs administered the worst beating the Rams have ever received in the history of the series. The final score saw Los Angeles winning 31-7.

This year's battle is shaping up as a close battle. Klemmer's squad came a long way towards realizing its potential last Saturday against Monterey Peninsula College. Monterey won, 27-19, but the Rams played their finest game of the year after the first quarter. The Lobos scored twice in that period when Klemmer's Knights of the Silver Platter gave them two TDs with fumbles deep in their own territory.

Coach Red Hand of Los Angeles has several veterans returning to attempt a pasting similar to that of last year. Tom Novikoff and Bill Clark, both instrumental in last year's winning game, are back in the Cub lineup. The forward wall is spearheaded by Bud Apperson and Jim Cellino, an end and center, respectively.

The Rams felt that they were a much smoother moving team after Saturday's loss to Monterey, and are correspondingly optimistic.

CCSF	vs.	LACC
0	1935	7
12	1936	0
20	1937	7
6	1938	13
6	1939	0
7	1940	6
0	1941	14
21	1948	6
7	1949	31
—		—
79	Total	84

Experts And CCSF Upset By Monterey But Cal, Stanford And USF Triumph

This 1950 grid season is seemingly one of many upsets, and this week's upset was Monterey over the Rams to the tune of 27 to 19. Otherwise this weekend's contests came off much as predicted, with Cal making the most of breaks in downing USC by a 13 to 7 count; Stanford finally overpowering an unexpectedly strong Santa Clara Bronco 23 to 13; and USF winning in style over a sadly dragging Gael eleven.

Jack Spalding remained on the top of the list of "experts" with a 13 and 2 record. Hot on his heels is Walt Heil, Guardsman editor-in-chief, with 12 wins against 3 losses.

NAME	CCSF vs. LACC	Cal vs. OSC	Stanford vs. UCLA	S.M. vs. Oregon	USF vs. San Jose	S.C. vs. Nevada
Conlan	CCSF	Cal	Stan	Oregon	USF	S.C.
	13-7	35-7	27-20	26-6	20-14	33-7
Dill	CCSF	Cal	Stan	Oregon	USF	S.C.
	21-12	20-14	20-14	21-13	27-14	21-20
Heil	LACC	Cal	Stan	Oregon	USF	S.C.
	27-7	32-7	14-13	21-19	14-7	27-14
Kelly	CCSF	Cal	Stan	Oregon	USF	S.C.
	21-19	35-7	27-26	21-13	20-14	34-6
Spalding	LACC	Cal	Stan	Oregon	USF	S.C.
	20-7	28-14	28-21	20-7	14-7	34-7
Dierking	LACC	Cal	Stan	Oregon	San Jose	S.C.
	42-7	32-6	27-20	19-7	21-14	49-6
Sahm	LACC	Cal	Stan	Oregon	USF	S.C.
	26-14	21-6	27-0	25-7	20-14	27-7
Grass	LACC	Cal	Stan	Oregon	USF	S.C.
	19-14	28-13	21-20	24-14	28-19	27-6
Consensus	LACC	Cal	Stan	Oregon	USF	S.C.
	22-13	29-9	25-17	22-10	18-15	32-12

MENLO FULLBACK BILL McMAHON cracked the City College line for four yards on this play, during the Rem conference opener at Palo Alto. Belvin Gage is shown bringing McMahon down, while Al Wycoff (45) and Bob McBride (76) come up to give assistance. McMahon was a constant threat, scoring one touchdown on a 19-yard run as the Oaks scored a 24-0 victory. The Menlo win avenged last season's 20-14 upset by the Rams. Menlo's only conference loss.—Photo by Matthes.

44 Per Cent Increase In Job Training

Half Of College's Students Enrolled

By Bob Rezak

When the college first opened its doors in 1935, no more than six per cent of the 1500 students attending the college were enrolled in semi-professional courses. From this small but significant beginning 15 years ago, the semi-professional course training program has molded itself into a vast occupational training unit comprising 50 per cent of the present student enrollment.

In a small, neat office in the main building, behind a desk littered with pamphlets and books dealing with technical training and occupational opportunities, sits John J. Brady, dean of semi-professional courses, who guides and directs the 37 terminal curricula associated with the semi-professional program.

Dean John Brady

Competent Technicians

"The purpose of semi-professional type instruction and training," relates Brady, "is to train a person so he will become a competently equipped technician in a field which is above the vocationally trained student.

"For those students who desire two years of training to acquire specific skills leading to employment in semi-professional fields, the college offers more training than any trade school would give."

Of the 37 courses offered, many afford on the job training, besides courses which give the student a better understanding of the world he lives in, and of his relationship with the economic world and his own community.

Various phases of training in the following departments constitute the types of semi-professional courses given at the college: business, art, photography, engineering, floriculture, hotel and restaurant, law enforcement, journalism, music, radio, home economics, and recreational leadership.

The work and preparation that goes into the adoption of a new semi-professional course was explained in detail by Brady. He cited as an example of the steps which must be taken in creating a new course, that of the dental nursing assistant, currently in the process of being added to the semi-professional program.

Dental Nursing Careers

"First of all," Brady said, "we must consider whether there are enough students interested in dental nursing as a career; and secondly, whether there are sufficient employment facilities available in this field in this area.

"This is difficult to determine, but there are many ways which give an indication of interest in this field.

"Last semester, for example, we polled high school graduates before they enrolled in the college and found out their interests ahead of time. We also tabulated inquiries and requests for types of specialized training made to the registrar's office and from telephone calls seeking this information."

Occasionally, an employer will suggest the addition of a new course.

By pooling and carefully scanning this information, there proved to be an interest in dental nursing big enough to warrant its addition to the curricula.

Contacts Society

"Our next step," continued Brady, "was to contact the dental society in San Francisco to find out if there are requests for people who have proper training as dental nurses and also to find out if there are employment opportunities in this field."

Brady indicated that when a new course is set up, the industry or occupation concerned is contacted for specific information and requirements for obtaining employment.

The San Francisco Dental Society revealed that there was not enough properly trained or qualified people to meet the demand for dental nurses.

"We then had to find out if students in the junior college level were qualified for the type of training desired by the dental society, and their answer was 'yes,'" Brady smiled confidently.

Setting up a suggested curriculum for dental nurses was the next job to accomplish. An advisory committee comprised of three dentists from the dental society was organized to determine courses to be given and particular aspects of the courses which should be emphasized.

For example, chemistry was one phase of training suggested, but still to be worked out in detail was exactly what phase of chemistry should be emphasized to prospective nurses as it is related to their field.

After about ten or 12 meetings with Brady, the advisory committee on dental nursing is ready to consider the hiring of personnel to teach the courses in dental nursing.

Special Instructor Needed

Teaching a course like this, Brady pointed out, requires a specialized instructor. Many meetings, hours, and days later, the new course is ready to be inaugurated.

"So you see," Brady sighed, "there is a great deal of time and planning which goes into the preparation of a semi-terminal course."

Brady Explains Course Adoption

as he thumbed through a catalog, "was to contact the dental society in San Francisco to find out if there are requests for people who have proper training as dental nurses and also to find out if there are employment opportunities in this field."

Brady indicated that when a new course is set up, the industry or occupation concerned is contacted for specific information and requirements for obtaining employment.

The San Francisco Dental Society revealed that there was not enough properly trained or qualified people to meet the demand for dental nurses.

"We then had to find out if students in the junior college level were qualified for the type of training desired by the dental society, and their answer was 'yes,'" Brady smiled confidently.

Setting up a suggested curriculum for dental nurses was the next job to accomplish. An advisory committee comprised of three dentists from the dental society was organized to determine courses to be given and particular aspects of the courses which should be emphasized.

For example, chemistry was one phase of training suggested, but still to be worked out in detail was exactly what phase of chemistry should be emphasized to prospective nurses as it is related to their field.

After about ten or 12 meetings with Brady, the advisory committee on dental nursing is ready to consider the hiring of personnel to teach the courses in dental nursing.

Special Instructor Needed

Teaching a course like this, Brady pointed out, requires a specialized instructor. Many meetings, hours, and days later, the new course is ready to be inaugurated.

"So you see," Brady sighed, "there is a great deal of time and planning which goes into the preparation of a semi-terminal course."

Four-Fifths Of Students Applying For Admission Complete Entrance Exams

Out of 2200 applications for freshman admission to the college this semester, 1800 took the entrance examinations, F. Grant Marsh, coordinator of student welfare, announced recently.

Most of the 1800 new students are high school graduates. Many non-high school graduates have applied, but it is the policy of the college to accept non-high school graduates only if they are 18 years old or over and have the proper recommendations from responsible citizens, Marsh said.

A surprising number of high school students apply for admission to the college, he pointed out, hoping to be admitted before high school graduation.

There are 850 veterans enrolled this semester, with 650 of these under the Federal or State G.I. Bill. This was, approximately, the number anticipated.

There are 14 counsellors on the staff of the college to insure proper counselling and program planning for the students.

Music Guild To See 'Butterfly' Tomorrow

Members of the college Music Guild will attend the Pacific Opera Company's production of Madame Butterfly tomorrow afternoon at the Opera House, Flossita Badger, faculty sponsor for the group, said recently.

Music students of most central California high schools and colleges are invited to purchase tickets to two performances each year, under the auspices of the San Francisco Opera Guild.

For the first time, the college was included on the list of schools invited, and was given an allotment of 16 tickets.

Fingerprint Man Noted Author

Bert Bridges, member of the law enforcement department and, internationally famous fingerprint expert, has gained world wide recognition through many books written about his practical experience in the field of criminology.

Over a 40 year period Bridges has written many books on police work along with short stories, fiction, and verse. Many of his books have been published and translated into foreign languages.

In Bridges' book, Practical Fingerprinting, there is a forword written by August Vollmer, a distinguished criminologist, stating: "The work in this book is authoritative, and is written by an experienced identification man, who for a number of years has served as an an instructor in this branch of service."

"GOOFUS," the new hat style, is tried on Gwen Prusinouski by Bill Steiner, rally commissioner, to show the latest in junior college wear. Goofus was the name recently selected in the hat naming contest, and sells for 85 cents at the student store.—Photo by Maritze

Jackson

Round 'n About

Midterms Put Clamp On Club Activities

Because this is midterm week, club activities have slowed down to some extent, although many groups still find time for both social activities and studies.

At a recent meeting, the Newman Club elected the following officers: Rod Lorenzo, president; John LaCoco, vice president; Joan Morgan, corresponding secretary; Harry Amsler, recording secretary; Dom Mancuso, treasurer; Ed Healy, sergeant at arms; and Bill Gray, CAB representative. The Newman Club's next meeting is slated for tonight at St. Emydius.

Delta Psi and Tau Chi Sigma held a joint meeting Wednesday, October 10, at the home of Jess Doran. From all reports an enjoyable time was had. The Deltas' first rush event was held Sunday, October 8, at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel. Their second affair is scheduled for November 1. As per tradition, it will be a spaghetti dinner.

Block SF men recently attended a joint meeting with the Zeta Chis at the home of Al Endriss. They plan a similar event with the Phi Beta Rho on October 24.

The first rehearsal for the variety show to be presented November 9 by the Drama Club got under way Tuesday, October 10. Some of the members participating in the production are Mervin Murphy, Ed Mulvihill, Pat Wilson, Jean Zumwalt, Bob O'Connor, Kenny Wilson, Don Powell, Howard Cumming, and Al Hernandez.

Alpha Lambda Sigma reports that of 30 active members last semester, ten have been called into the armed forces. Word was received that former Lambda Sigma secretary, John Tarry, was wounded in action while serving with the Marines in Korea, and that past treasurer Dick Landry was reported missing. The remaining members are all veterans, and do not expect to be called immediately.

The California Club was the setting for the Alpha Lambda Chis' first rush tea, while Kappa Phi had their first affair at the home of Helen Glesner.

The Kappas' second rush event, a Chinese dinner, will be held on Sunday, October 28, while the Theta Taus will have their Hawaiian Luau on Wednesday, October 25.

Theta Tau members and alumnae also plan to sponsor an evening for the San Francisco Repertory Theatre sometime in December.

Election of new officers will be the purpose of a meeting of the Music Guild Council scheduled tonight. Representatives are Janet Ciriminie and William Richmond, A Cappella Choir; Marvin Kurtz and Zado Goldenberg, Orchestra.

Jerry Barnes and Edward Coleman, Band; Frances Gattusa, Treble Clef; Cynthia Burke and Janet Armitage, Opera Workshop; Marron Hills, Men's Glee; Odine LaLanne and Louise Hood, Lambda Alpha; Christine Cheek, music majors.

Fire College Has Third Birthday

The fire college will celebrate its third year on the City College campus, Friday, October 20, Michael Lo Presti recently stated.

The first class of firemen was held on Monday, October 20, 1947, although the Director of Training, William Gilmore, and the Coordinator of the course, Michael Lo Presti, had been on the campus since July 30, 1947, planning the curriculum and writing the courses for the fire training program.

All firemen participating in the fire college courses are subject to call for duty at any time during the day when the fire reported is a three alarm or over, Michael Lo Presti announced.

The course offered lasts for two days and consists of lectures and experiments. The lectures feature explanations and discussions of new techniques and modern methods.

Lo Presti also said that the San Francisco Fire Department has acquired many new pieces of fire apparatus. All new fire fighting apparatus consists of the latest and most modern equipment.

Student Store Features Regulation Gym Suits

Complete regulation physical education clothes for men are currently being featured at the campus student store, Richard Main, student store manager, said earlier this week.

White T shirts for gym classes in small, medium and large sizes are the newest addition to the present supply. Regulation Blue and Gold shirts are being used this semester to help the men keep their physical education clothes clean, Main further explained. Red and white would get soiled much easier, he added, therefore, the darker colors are being used.

Regulation gym shoes in various weights are carried in the campus store also.

Holiday Mail Jobs Still Uncertain

Post office employment for men students during the holidays is still an uncertainty, Joseph Amori, placement director, said yesterday.

The postmaster reports that nothing will be done in the matter of employment until directives are issued from Washington, D. C., Amori declared, and Friday, November 10, has been tentatively set for the processing of job applications.

At present, only veterans are being considered for jobs, but Amori advised all those who wish to be considered to file applications in the placement office immediately.

Women who wish to sell on Monday nights and Saturdays should also report to the placement office as soon as possible. Although experience is preferred, Amori said, if a college woman has the other job qualifications, she will be given consideration. These jobs will become full time as the holiday season approaches.

Veteran students residing in the East Bay, who desire to work in the various post offices in that area, should report to the placement office immediately, Amori said.

Former Photo Major In Glendale Studio

Richard Steinheimer, former Guardsman photographer and photography major, is now employed in a portrait studio in Glendale, Bev Pasquaietti, instructor, said yesterday.

Steinheimer is also awaiting an opening in the photography department of the Glendale newspaper.

Pasqualetti added that about the upper ten per cent of the photography students, as a rule, acquire positions in this field.

IBM Works Overtime For Midterms

I.B.M. test scoring is on the increase, Juanita O'Brien, testing clerk here, discovered during the current midterm period.

Each day this week, more than 800 mid-terms are passing through the department to be scored. The tests are corrected and returned to the instructor the same day.

The essay tests are losing ground to the newer true-false and multi-choice type examination, Mrs. O'Brien believes, because instructors find the I.B.M. scoring faster, easier, and more accurate.

Most instructors are using a combination of both in the current mid-term period.

The machine is extremely accurate, because any errors are quickly noted, and the repairman is called in for checking the highly complex machinery.

The department has not received any complaints from the instructors on the accuracy of the scoring, but occasionally an irate student will complain when he believes his test score is low. However, the student learns that the score is accurate.

Instructors who take advantage of the service must submit the answers to the department. They then receive special pencils and answer sheets. After the examination has been taken, the sheets are returned to the testing service for scoring.

JUANITA O'BRIEN demonstrates the I.B.M. scoring machine which is working overtime during the current mid-term week. She feeds the machine approximately 29 mid-terms per minute.—Photo by Jones and Wood.

The Guardsman

Official Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco

VOLUME XXXI SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA—WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1950 NUMBER 5

College Hour Schedule

8 o'clock classes— 8:10 to 8:50
9 o'clock classes— 9:00 to 9:40
10 o'clock classes— 9:50 to 10:30
College Hour—10:40 to 11:20
11 o'clock classes—11:30 to 12:10
12 o'clock classes—12:20 to 1:00

Locals, Mateo Meet In Kezar!

DRUM MAJORETTE Violet Zimmer leads the college band for their Friday night half time activities in Kezar Stadium for the Ram-Bulldog traditional.—Photo by Matthes.

Band, Rally Stars Students At Dance Tomorrow Night

To arouse student spirit for the San Mateo football game Friday, October 27, a rally dance will be held tomorrow night, Thursday, from 8 to 12, at the west campus auditorium, Bill Steiner, rally commissioner, announced early this week.

The rally, scheduled for part of the evening's entertainment, has been set for the second hour of festivities (9-10) and will feature student talent, Steiner stated, after which, dancing will be resumed.

The three hours of dance music, featuring many of the popular hits, will be provided by a 12-piece student band headed by Don Farley and Ron Louis, Steiner said.

Sport clothes has been designated as the proper attire for the evening, he added, and admission will be by Associated Student card.

Steiner's co-chairman in charge of this dance is Beverly Jank, Associated Student vice-president.

BEVERLY JANK, co-chairman in charge of the rally dance scheduled for tomorrow night in the west campus auditorium. The dance is a prelude to the San Mateo football game Friday. A 12-piece student band will play for the affair.

AGS List 64 as Members, Plans Officer Election

Enrollment in Alpha Gamma Sigma, the college honor society, now numbers 64, Don Jensen, AGS adviser, announced this week.

The next meeting of the society will be held Friday, Oct. 27, Jensen said. The purpose of the meeting will be the election of officers, and the planning of a program of activities for the semester.

This program will be designed to increase the incentive for AGS members, and add to the society's role of service to the college.

Members of the society are as follows:

George Aleck, Napoleon Argueta, Joseph Azzolino, Karmand Barbano, Elizabeth Berger, Elizabeth Bertram, Arthur Bronner, Anthony Braugna, Pete Chevesich, Yuan Chong, Edward Conmy, John Conway, Mary Lou Cooper, Lillian Desmond, H. Elsworth, Ruth Erickson, Elizabeth Floyd, Marilyn Graves, Constantine Georgakas, Ronald Hassett, Beverly Hoberg, Ralph Houels, Walter Hueston.

Pat Inges, Ton Iyemuro, Ray Kaderic, Shmiko Kanaya, Ruth Karnofsky, Kathleen Kerrigan, Richard Larrick, Eric Malmberg, Herb McCall, Charles Meyerson, Walt Moran, Esther Mark, Charles Moss, Edward Mulvihill, Mervyn Murphy, Gloria Naccarini, Takaheko Oda, James O'Shaugnessy, Bob O'Conner, Esther Ossin.

John Pietro, Gaetano Pompose, Lea Rasmussen, Josephine Roberts, Leonard Radney, Ara Sasagren, Bob Sandro, Klaus Schaie, Dick Schnal, Paul Shumacker, May Shoji, Doug Smith, Sandra Stull, Art Suguitan.

Toshi Tanaka, Helen Treinen, Versa Washington, Georgia Watkins, Vic Warden, Nahel Wakabayashi, and Catherine Wood.

Angelina Azzolino and Jim Irvamato were named as associate members, Jensen added.

Students Attend Hotel Convention

Tom Angelly, Wilbur Martin, Alexander Voigt and Russell Smith, fourth semester students majoring in hotel and restaurant, are currently concluding a four-day California State Hotel Association convention at Yosemite National Park as guests of the Hotel Employer group, Hilda Watson, chairman of the division, announced yesterday.

The students were chosen on the basis of leadership in the group, contribution to society, scholastic standing, and as representatives of the group.

During the convention the students will become acquainted with the activities of the California Hotel Association, tell members of the City College program, and bring news back to the campus.

Gridders Push Weight Around Friday Night; Renew Ivy Covered Series

Seeking their first Northern California Junior College Conference southern division victory, City College's in-and-out Rams attempt to throw their weight around Friday night in Kezar Stadium against San Mateo.

The Rams, holders of a one won, three lost record, are out to grab their eighth game in the 12th renewal of the ivy-covered series. Last season the local squad was edged by the Bulldogs, 13-0, San Mateo's first victory since 1941. The previous year the Mateans were soundly convinced that to tangle with Ollie Matson is poor business, losing in a Kezar Stadium day game, 26-0.

Both teams will meet Friday on more even terms. In 1948 the locals boasted a championship and last season the Bulldogs were flag contenders. This season, however, neither club is going anywhere in conference play.

This factor should provide football fans with a closer game.

While the 22 gridders are pushing around on the turf upwards of 5,000 fans are expected to file through Kezar's portals for the locals' first home appearance on a centrally located field.

Along the rim of the stadium, wounded veterans from local Army hospitals will view the game. Other servicemen have been invited to attend, the clash at student prices.

The game itself will be dedicated to college students who were called into the service.

San Mateo will handle the half time activities.

The winner of the tilt takes home the tom-tom, trophy of the series, for its trophy room.

New Store Meets Student Needs

New supplies to satisfy student needs, are coming in regularly at the campus students' store, according to recent announcements made by Richard Main, student store manager.

The most unique novelty item currently being featured, Main further stated, is a midget sized stapler that comes in a very compact case complete with staples. It is reportedly so small that it can be carried in either purse or pocket.

Sales of "Goofus," the official college rooter's hat, are going strong; however, Monroe Johnson, student store worker, declared that more people should buy Goofus and show their spirit.

Main advised all students leaving college to sell their textbooks to the campus book store in order to receive the best available prices.

Four Women Join Law Enforcement

Four women students are currently taking the course in Criminology 51A, Fred Fitzgerald, law enforcement instructor, announced recently.

The young women have many reasons for taking the various courses. Edwina Hayes plans to become a woman policeman upon graduating. Margaret Maye would like to work in detention homes. Jean Wallace and Joan Bayerle are taking the offered courses because they feel it will aid them in their future occupations.

Fitzgerald explained that the law enforcement course ranges from study of how the criminal mind works to a complete background on the art of finger-printing. He added that there are women students in almost all the law enforcement courses.

Medical Excuses Valid With Note From Doctor

Student absences for medical purposes will be recognized only if the application for an excuse slip is accompanied by a written excuse from the doctor or dentist, Edwin C. Browne, dean of men, announced recently.

A medical appointment card will suffice as an excuse, he said.

Absolutely no official excuse slip will be granted to the petitioner unless this requirement is met, Browne added.

Monterey To Pay Cost Of Pre-Game Paint Vandalism

By Bob Rezak

Monterey Peninsula College has agreed to pay the cost of damages resulting from a pre-game raid on the college campus which left several areas daubed with paint over the Columbus Day holidays, October 12, 13.

This was disclosed last week by President Louis G. Conlan, who said the cost of repairs might be several hundred dollars.

"There is no question about the fact that Monterey students painted our campus," President Conlan declared after he had indicated he spoke with Monterey officials.

"There was no justification for their defacing our property," President Conlan continued. "They are not our traditional rivals . . . they are a new school . . ."

Meanwhile, Monterey informed Dean of Student Activities Louis G. Batmale that Monterey students are being deprived of orchestras at college dances and will use juke boxes instead.

Money saved by not having orchestras will be used to pay for damages to this college's campus.

Batmale said Monterey would not be on the Ram football schedule next year, leaving further relations with the college doubtful.

Since colleges throughout the state have been divided into three separate conferences — Big Six, Valley, and Coast Conference — a Ram-Lobos game would be only in the event of a playoff.

Monterey is in the Coast Conference loop, while the college is in the Big Six conference.

Santa Rosa Junior College has been added to the Big Six conference rather than the Coast conference schedule for next year, Batmale said.

The Guardsman contacted Monterey last week and learned that Monterey students have offered to pay the full amount of the cost of damages.

"This is a voluntary agreement on the part of our students," Monterey said. "We regret the whole incident . . . it was very unfortunate."

Monterey said there were only five students participating in the raid and that the student body "regrets the action of a few irresponsible students."

Monterey said they had been informed that the total cost would be about $160-$200, and that the entire payment would be taken out of student funds.

By the end of last week, workmen had removed paint from all areas of the campus which were raided, except for the redwood Ram at the main entrance to the west campus.

Postponement Announced For Kappa Rho Dance

Postponement of the Kappa Rho fraternity dance, originally scheduled for Saturday night, October 28, was announced by Bob Hoff, fraternity president.

According to fraternity plans, the dance will definitely be held sometime in early January, Hoff said.

"There was no justification for their defacing our property," President Conlan continued. "They are not our traditional rivals . . . they are a new school . . ."

Meanwhile, Monterey informed Dean of Student Activities Louis G. Batmale that Monterey students are being deprived of orchestras at college dances and will use juke boxes instead.

Money saved by not having orchestras will be used to pay for damages to this college's campus.

Batmale said Monterey would not be on the Ram football schedule next year, leaving further relations with the college doubtful.

Since colleges throughout the state have been divided into three separate conferences — Big Six, Valley, and Coast Conference — a Ram-Lobos game would be only in the event of a playoff.

Monterey is in the Coast Conference loop, while the college is in the Big Six conference.

Santa Rosa Junior College has been added to the Big Six conference rather than the Coast conference schedule for next year, Batmale said.

The Guardsman contacted Monterey last week and learned that Monterey students have offered to pay the full amount of the cost of damages.

"This is a voluntary agreement on the part of our students," Monterey said. "We regret the whole incident . . . it was very unfortunate."

Monterey said there were only five students participating in the raid and that the student body "regrets the action of a few irresponsible students."

Monterey said they had been informed that the total cost would be about $160-$200, and that the entire payment would be taken out of student funds.

By the end of last week, workmen had removed paint from all areas of the campus which were raided, except for the redwood Ram at the main entrance to the west campus.

Time Runs Out On Club Petitions

Clubs that did not submit a petition for official approval as on-campus organizations are considered from now on as off-campus activities, Frank Meyn, Club Activities Board president, said last week.

The list of on-campus and off-campus clubs was not available immediately.

Extension for receiving applications for on-campus will not be made, Meyn added.

CAB meeting is scheduled for 3 o'clock this afternoon in Room 9K. Absence from meetings must not be in excess of three times, Meyn added.

Club meetings will be held during college hour, Friday, October 27, in the rooms assigned, Dean Louis Batmale said, and appointed rooms will remain the same throughout the semester.

Last Day To Drop Courses November 1

The last day to file petitions for dropping courses is Wednesday, November 1, Mary Jane Learnard, registrar, announced.

Petitions should be filed in the registrar's office in Building 3, second floor, before 5 p.m.

Petitions for graduation are also due November 1, after students have had them approved by their counselors, Miss Learnard said.

Graduation exercises will be held in June, 1951.

Rival Coaches Match Strategy Friday

San Mateo Coach Herb Hudson.

Klemmer, Hudson Pit Talent On Sidelines

A pair of young coaches will match brains and strategy Friday night in Kezar Stadium when City College renews its traditional rivalry with San Mateo.

San Mateo Coach Herb Hudson took over the head coaching reins this season when Murius McFadden, who mentored the Bulldogs for 26 years, was elevated to the director of athletics position. Hudson was the former Bulldog backfield coach before becoming head coach.

Hudson's rival is college grid coach Grover Klemmer, who enters his fourth season as Ram headman. Klemmer's record against San Mateo stands at two wins, one loss in three seasons.

Klemmer was graduated from the University of California where he held the world's record for the 440 yard dash.

City College Coach Grover Klemmer.

Editorial
The Guardsman
Official Publication of the Associated Students of City College of San Francisco 125
Volume XXXI, No. 5 · WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1950 · Page 2

Two Kezar Stadium Night Games Vital—Put College Before Public

THE Associated Students and the college have much at stake the following two Friday nights. Athletics, finances, and a certain intangible substance called "getting before the public" are the items concerned. All three are of vital importance. We are speaking, of course, of the two Kezar Stadium night football games.

It has been two years since the college team has been booked into Kezar in the day, let alone under the lights, when a bigger gate becomes available.

All three items are so closely related it is difficult to make a separation. The team stands to win the first game after three consecutive defeats. Despite the losses the gridders deserve student support.

Kezar is easy to reach from most points in the city, unlike fog bound Cox Stadium. Further, it is centrally located and provides adequate facilities for fans. This should lure more students to the game.

Secondly, the above reasons hold true for the paying customer too. Thus the team and the college goes before the public, and thus does public interest in the college grow.

This intangible substance is even of more importance to the college than the outcome of the game itself.

Thirdly, with the interest and support of San Francisco football followers the next two Friday nights will tremendously aid the desperate financial status of the Associated Students. The A. S. is not broke, but a good gate this Friday and next would certainly ease the pressure.

ANOTHER football fest is also in the offing for fans. The student Council, or President Tom Dill specifically, is considering a renewal of the famed Budget Bowl between The Guardsman and the council.

If our memory serves us correctly, The Guardsman inflicted a terrible beating upon the council last year, winning with ease, 6 to 0. It was a breeze according to staff members who participated. They further reported that the Orators were out of shape sitting still too long. However they proved long winded while the Scribes were short breathed.

In line with this President Dill requested The Guardsman to challenge the Orators. Tut, tut, and whoever heard a prizefight champion challenge the challenger.

All that is needed now is a challenge; for staff members have indicated a willingness to extend their winning streak.

Larrick
The Spectator
rebel plan to take california nipped in bud by alert yanks

ACCORDING to most of the history books one reads in a college history course, California was practically non-existent, as far as the Yankies and the Rebels were concerned, during the war between the States. If a search were made, many tales of adventure and intrigue could be dug up.

One of the most daring plans to acquire California for the Rebels was designed by one Asbury Harpending in the spring of 1862. Harpending was one of those lucky people who made a private fortune from the gold fields of California but still felt an allegiance to his birthplace, the South.

HISTORIC FORT POINT

He left San Francisco and went to Virginia by way of Mexico to put his plan before Jeff Davis, Confederate president.

The plan was to organize an underground army among the southern sympathizers in California and capture the arsenal at Benicia and the forts on Alcatraz and Fort Point (now under the approach of the Golden Gate Bridge on the San Francisco side). At the same time other men would be sent to take possession of Mare Island, even then an important military base.

If the South were in command of California, not only would it give the Rebels control of the Pacific but it would also add an approximate 70 million dollars annually in gold and silver to their dwindling treasury.

The plan was submitted to the top figures of the Confederate staff and approved.

When Harpending returned to San Francisco to organize his army, he found that practically all of the red-hot southerners had cooled off when it came to a question of risking their personal fortunes and lives for the Cause.

PIRACY ATTEMPTED

All he could gather together were three men including himself, but so great was their determination, they decided to go ahead on their own by buying a ship, outfitting it for piracy, and taking to the sea in hopes it would rouse the southerners to overthrow the rule of the Yankee government.

As everyone conceded later, the plan was not as hairbrained as it seemed and could have been a real threat to the safety of the State. But as it usually happens in a plan of this sort, word leaked out.

The authorities of San Francisco learned of the plan and took action to catch Harpending and his crew redhanded. On the very night they were to take to the sea, the police and a contingent of the U. S. Navy boarded Harpending's ship and captured him and his crew.

When they came up for trial, each got a sentence of ten years and a fine which put to an end one of the most daring schemes ever devised in the history of California.

Guardsman Staff Fall, 1950

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ..... WALTER HEIL
MANAGING EDITOR ..... Clarence Whitcomb
STAFF EDITOR ..... Bob Rezak
EDITORIAL ASSISTANTS: Howard Cumming, Ted Gould, Richard Larrick, Warren Northwood
NEWS: Doug Hayward, editor; Georgia Watkins, assistant; Dolores Aguirre, Joan Bayerle, Graeme Brown, Victoria Carfagni, Barbara Egolan, Alvin Gutherts, Sandra Marks, James Moran, John Baird, Ken Frost, Bob Reilly, Nina Algeltinger, Barbara McElroy, Katherine Sheehan
CLUBS: Roberta Jackson, editor
FEATURE: Don Johnson, editor; Mary Lou Cooner, Sumi Kanua, Henry Louie
SPORTS: Gene Kelly, editor; John Dierking, Carl Sohn, John Spalding
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Ken Hillner, Fred Matthes, Herb Weiss, Shirley Mishner, Kay Wood, Norwood Burdon, Betty Jones, Al Viplana
Faculty Adviser ..... Joan Nourse
Member Associated Collegiate Press 1950-1951

Work Here Praised
Survey Indicates GeneralEducation A College 'Must'

The college played host last week to Dr. Lamarr Johnson, Director of Instruction at Stephens College, Missouri, who is making a survey of general education courses being presented in two year colleges throughout the state of California.

"The purpose of my visit," Dr. Johnson declared, "is to study the type of general education courses being taught within the colleges, and to encourage the importance of general education courses within the colleges.

"By general education courses," Dr. Johnson continued, "I mean that type of education which prepares students for effective living, regardless of vocation."

Dr. Johnson stated that he was highly impressed with the work of the City College faculty in both the University Parallel courses, and the field of general education.

"I was particularly impressed with the interest of the staff in working with individual students for solutions to their problems," Dr. Johnson said. "I feel that many of the two year colleges of this state will be looking to City College for leadership in the field of general education."

In citing the need for general education courses within the colleges, Dr. Johnson stated that it has become apparent that most job failures come from an inability to work with other people rather than from any lack of vocational skill. General education courses would help to alleviate this situation, he added.

Dr. Johnson cited the small percentage of voters who went to the polls in the 1948 Presidential election, and the increasing divorce rate as further examples of the need for general education courses. "At no other time in history has there been such a need for all persons to take an active part in citizenship," he concluded.

Northwood
Shots At RAMdom
coed twirls with singer; glass menagerie a "must"; hope entertains in korea

THE college's football team lost another heartbreaker to Monterey a couple of weeks ago.

The stands weren't exactly filled with rooting throngs, but those that were there can be proud, reports Fred Agosti, physics instructor, who said to his class, as he urged them to get out and back the team, "It's easy to back a winner but the real test is in backing a loser. No team can win them all and remember it's only a game, so it isn't so bad to lose. Now let's give the boys on the field support."

With those words it should be noted that if spirit reaches a new low on the campus, it won't be the fault of instructors; they, too, realize the need for college pep.

GLASS MENAGERIE GOOD

Students who enjoy a good movie and who are tired of the usual worn-out plots that circulate the co-town shows will be given a treat with the release of The Glass Menagerie.

This film, in our estimation, is sure to compete for Academy award honors. The Glass Menagerie ends happily and leaves the audience with a feeling of completeness.

Deviating from the usual run-of-the-mill black and whites, it concerns the release from obscurity of a young crippled girl and her brother by an energetic young man who visits their home for only one evening. This one's really worth the 85 cents.

A boy meeting a girl is nothing new and hardly worth mentioning, but when the boy is Merv Griffin, who sings with Freddy Martin, and the girl is a student from City College then it belongs to news.

As the story goes, Victoria Carfagni was standing in the lobby of the St. Francis Hotel awaiting the return of several friends from the dressing room when Griffin approached her and introduced himself.

Now most girls would be apt to swoon under the circumstances, but Miss Carfagni graciously accepted when he asked her to dance.

Her friends had by now returned and were left in a state of bewilderment as Miss Carfagni traversed the floor in the arms of Griffin, who is hailed as the next Sinatra. When questioned on the thoughts that ran through her mind while dancing, she could only smile.

About this time of the year the Christmas advertising begins to appear. Here are a few facts on the coming of Christmas that should be appreciated by all calendar watchers: There are 56 days, 51 shopping days, and 32 school days until Christmas. CHUCKLES IN KOREA

An interesting note comes from the entertainment world. Bob Hope is off again to the battlefront with his show. There was a saying among the paratroopers that on each jump over enemy territory they expected to find Hope and crew awaiting them.

This time many of the students from the college who were pulled into the service during the summer will probably be entertained by Hope; it's nice to think that our former classmates will get a chance to laugh, even in Korea.

Future College Coed Watches Dance Class

Though little Shirley Blatch enjoys dance music, it would have been rather difficult for her to participate in the coed social dancing class which she attended for the first time last week.

Shirley's parents, Delores and Harold Blatch are enrolled in Gladys Brower's dancing class and six-month-old Shirley's presence was due to the unavailability of a baby sitter. From the corridor Shirley observed her parents learning to trip a light foxtrot on the gymnasium floor.

The class of 50 beginning students includes a number of foreign students who find it both "interesting and entertaining."

Currently popular records provide the music for these "socials" which meet twice weekly on Tuesday and Thursday at noon. Students sometimes bring their own "discs" to class.

Leisure — You Spend It Your Way!

By Don Johnson

The task of spending leisure time between classes seems to pose no problem for the imaginative students of the college. They have approached the job scientifically, and have come up with several solutions. These may be divided into three classifications: Leisure Lovers, Lappers, and Learners.

The domain of the Leisure Lovers extends throughout the entire area of the campus, wherever a patch of grass large enough to lie on may be found. The average loafer is fond of sun, fresh air, and conversation.

He is the person you encounter on bright, sunlit days spread full length on the grass, discussing women, the Korean war, women, mid-terms, women, and women. During rainy days he may be forced into a car or building, but his love of talk and relaxation remains undaunted by wet weather.

The Lappers' area of activity is limited to one of two places, the cafeteria or the fountain. The average Lapper has two things in common with the Leisure Lover—relaxation and talk. But, to the Lapper, these items are of a secondary nature, for coffee and music are his first loves.

The Lapper does not worry about adverse weather, for the only three problems facing him are a seat in the fountain or cafeteria, his capacity for the endless cups of coffee he drinks, and his ability to pay for same.

Lack of money, adverse weather, blaring jukeboxes, and coffee present no interest for the Learners. Their domains are the libraries (both main and west campus), and their interest revolves around books and studies.

Though smaller in number than either of the other groups, the Learners rarely have to worry about space in which to carry on their activities, except, of course, during mid-term periods, when a few of the Leisure Lovers and Lappers are forced to join the Learners in their quest for knowledge.

One group which falls into neither the Learner nor the Leisure Lover category, but is a mixture of both of these groups, may be found in the student lounge. Here, Leisure Lovers, forced inside because of rain, intermingle with that breed of Learners who find it impossible to study in the awesome silence of the libraries.

The sounds by which the presence of this group may be known are a mixture of voices engrossed in conversation, the rustling of sports pages, the clicking of typewriter keys, and the occasional blare of a portable radio.

Still another group which defies classification is made up of those individuals who don't like talk, music, study, coffee, or any of the other diversions of the other groups.

This group scoffs at the people who spend time in the library, thinks lying in the sun or drinking coffee a waste of time, and isn't interested in finding ways to spend leisure time between classes—they are too busy trying to finds ways of spending time during the hours their classes ARE in session.

A DEMONSTRATION in how to spend leisure time between classes is illustrated here by City College students busily engrossed in conversation, last minute cramming, and relaxation in the sun.—Photos by Matthes and Weiss.

Rams Try To Regain Trophy Friday

Bulldogs, Local Club Class In Kezar Night Tilt

By Gene Kelly, Sports Editor

The traditional Tom-Tom trophy will be the prize again next Friday night at 8 p.m. when the Bulldogs from San Mateo College invade Kezar Stadium in search of their second consecutive win over Coach Grover Klemmer's hot-and-cold Rams, who are just as determined to take back the victory symbol as the Mateans are to retain it.

Last year San Mateo took the tom-tom, which has a Bulldog's head and a Ram's head painted on either end, home to the tune of a 32-8 score. This year the job promises to be far harder.

For one thing, the college squad will be playing in a home stadium before a home crowd that will be anxious to see them turn their spirit and hustle into touchdowns. The locals have both the talent and fire to become a winning ball team, but so far they have been handicapped by a regular epidemic of penalties, fumbles, and intercepted passes which have turned touchdown-bound drives into nightmares.

Kezar night games are a novelty to the Bulldogs as well as the Rams, but the Rams are anxious to make their first game under lights at the Stanyan Street field a winning one.

San Mateo made its first win over weak Marin College an impressive one. The Bulldogs racked up 463 yards on offense and garnered 22 first downs in sinking the Tars 33-13. In other games the proteges of Coach Herb Hudson have looked no better than average.

Both Rams and Bulldogs have one trait in common: they are second-half teams. After trailing Marin 13-6 in the third quarter, the Bulldogs scored 27 points in the last 19 minutes of the game. The college did likewise to Vallejo College and Monterey Peninsula College. Leading only 13-7 at half time, the Rams scored 40 points during the last two periods to emerge on top 53-7. Against Monterey two of their three TDs were scored in the latter part of the game.

Coach Hudson has a good backfield in the quartet of John Leal, quarter, Jack Harper and Johnny Bettencourt, halfbacks, and Bill Botieff, full. Leal's passing to John Mirande, Bud Wickert and Dick Yaeger gives the Bulldog attack variety.

The Mateo line looks adequate but not outstanding. Tom Rusario, only veteran in the line, has had his tackle talents complemented by Frank Vallejo at guard and Stan Pence at center.

Klemmer's squad has been steadily improving. In each of their successive games with Vallejo, Menlo, and Los Angeles City College the performance of the squad as a whole has brought happy smiles to Klemmer's face even though the team failed to win all of them. Late last week the team trounced Santa Rosa College in an unscheduled practice game, 27-7.

Novikoff, Cubs Rack 'Waiting' Rams, 21-6

Volume XXXI, No. 5 · WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1950 · Page 3

AL ENDRISS, college backfield star, is brought down by an unidentified Monterey College player after picking up four yards around end. Joe Grammatico, 36, moves up to assist in the stop. Endriss later scored on a similar dash good for 40 yards around right end, but to no avail. The Lobos won, 27-19, in the Rams' first home game, and also the first conference game.—Photo by Matthes.

Rams vs. Bulldogs
Kickoff 8 P. M. Kezar Stadium

41	D. O'Brien	LER	B. Wickert	87
56	P. Zgraggen	LTR	B. Ettan	81
52	J. Kotler	LGR	B. Nills	75
60	J. Fales	C	S. Pange	86
53	D. Saccani	RGL	M. Vallejo	77
54	A. Groswird	RTL	T. Rusario	98
72	D. Galliani	REL	D. Yaeger	89
36	R. De La Torre	Q	J. Leal	76
62	A. Endriss	LHR	J. Bettencourt	46
43	C. Washington	RHL	J. Harper	65
76	B. McBride	F	B. Botieff	74

CITY COLLEGE

11 S. Haan, h	40 T. Cropper, h	63 G. Voronin, e
14 F. Samson, h	49 D. Carrillo, q	68 B. Grottlau, e
17 J. DeCristofaro, h	51 J. Jacobs, e	41 D. O'Brien, e
19 L. Paoli, h	52 J. Kotler, g	43 C. Washington, h
20 E. Kirtmann, h	53 D. Saccani, g	45 A. Wycoff, h
22 B. Gage, e	54 A. Groswird, t	46 H. Marshall, h
24 B. Patterson, h	55 J. Young, g	47 O. Brown, f
25 R. DeCristofaro, h	56 P. Zgraggen, t	72 D. Galliani, e
27 R. Blumental, h	57 J. Donahue, g	73 S. Amaur, t
60 J. Fales, c	60 J. Fales, c	76 B. McBride, f
31 B. Marcus, f	59 J. McAuley, c	78 B. McCandlish
33 S. Jett, c	61 R. Morton, g	79 J. Bosque, c
36 R. De La Torre, q	62 A. Endriss, h
39 B. Coneff, g

SAN MATEO

43 Hensley, t	72 R. Whitener, t	86 S. Pence, c
44 R. Redig, h	73 B. Walsh, h	87 B. Wickert, e
46 J. Bettencourt, h	74 B. Botieff, f	88 N. Birondi, e
50 P. Hatzenliller, h	75 B. Nills, g	89 D. Yaeger, e
53 T. Laramie, h	76 J. Leal, q	90 J. Mori, g
56 H. Musco, c	77 F. Vallejo, g	91 S. Fine, f
64 J. Harrison, h	78 B. Lizardo, t	92 J. Ruffulo, t
65 J. Harper, h	79 L. Kious, c	93 R. Mattos, e
67 B. Dodiford, t	80 B. Cameron, g	94 K. Ramos, t
66 K. Gibson, e	81 B. Etter, t	95 L. Boyd, c
68 J. Borden, t	82 G. Hill, t	96 D. Abel, c
69 R. Settrini, f	83 R. Perasso, q	97 B. Hollis, f
70 D. Ouelette, q	84 G. Ritter, h	98 T. Rusario, t
71 J. Linnell, e	85 J. Mirande, h

Locals Squirm 3 Hours-Manage To Outrush Enemy

PATTERSON FIELD, Los Angeles, October 20.—Apparently none the worse after a forced three-hour wait at Mills Field this morning, the City College gridders took to the turf here tonight and proceeded to push Los Angeles City College all over the field—only to lose another game, 21-6.

Effects of the tedius wait, coupled with the Cubs' "bench," began to show in the second half when the locals were unable to regain the impetus that marked their first-half drives. To further distruct the Rams, LACC Coach Milt Hand cleared his bench, throwing fresh men into the fray.

The locals' only touchdown came midway in the opening period. Taking the ball on their own 27 yard line, the Rams marched 73 yards in 15 plays. Fullback Bob McBride plunged into paydirt from the one, Rod de Cristofaro's conversion attempt being blocked by Don Butcher. Stan Haan reeled off the biggest gain in the drive when he took a pitchout on the Cubs' 45 and skirted right end to the 25.

Following the kickoff and runback, Charles Younger fumbled on the Rams' 37. In seven plays the locals moved to the LA seven when Haan, on a thrust over tackle, fumbled, Frank Barbarick recovering for Los Angeles.

During the second half the ball changed hands frequently and the 3,100 fans in attendance here in Occidental College's stadium were mulling. Only when Tom Novikoff swept around end for 34 yards and a TD did interest awaken. Novikoff's touchdown run, his shortest of the season, led the game for LA. Despite Novikoff the Rams outrushed the Cubs.

On the Cubs' fourth offensive play of the evening Novikoff faked, and bootlegged 42 yards and the score. In the fourth period Quarterback Jim Williams flipped a 14 yard pass to End LeRoy Campbell in the end zone.

Conference Causes WAA Playday Cancellation

The play day scheduled by the Women's Athletic Association for last Saturday was postponed because of conflicting activities, Nancy Sparks, sponsor of WAA, has announced.

The conflicting activities were a conference being given by the Western Society for Physical Education for College Women which many of the various college sponsors attended, and a young peoples conference given for students.

Locals Hold Bulge In Mateo Series

Holding a seven to four game bulge in their traditional series with San Mateo, the local gridders take to Kezar Stadium's turf Friday night to boost the total win record to eight victories.

San Mateo eked out a 13 to 0 triumph last season and word received here indicated that the Rams are out to avenge the loss. The last time the Rams won over the Bulldogs was in 1948 when Ollie Matson and Company walloped the peninsula club, 26-0.

Scores of the 14 year old series:

In 1936 San Mateo squeezed out a 7 to 0 win on a fluke fumble.

The Rams retaliated with a one-point triumph in 1937, 13 to 12.

Following their initial series win, the Rams racked up a 6 to 0 clincher in 1938.

The Bulldogs wrecked the locals' title hopes in 1939 when they scored one touchdown and converted, 7-0, for the game.

In 1940, following the pattern of close games, the Rams reversed the score, getting by the Mateans, 7-0.

The see-saw battle continued in 1941 when the Bulldogs took honors, 12-7.

War halted the series 1942-1945 and the Rams grabbed two games in 1946, 38-18 and 20-13.

In 1947 the locals won, 7-0, and in 1948 San Mateo was churned, 26-0. Last season the Bulldogs edged by, 13-0.

PREPARING FOR their initial appearance of the year at Kezar Stadium next Saturday night against the San Mateo Bulldogs are Quarterback Dick Carrillo, Guard Dick Saccani, and Guard Jim Kotler.—Photo by Matthes.

Loss, Tie Wreck Ram Soccer Hopes

By Jack Spalding

Ram title hopes dropped considerably last week when the local soccer team was defeated by USF, 3-1, and tied by California, 1-1. In both contests their opponents were forced to come from behind in the final quarter, after the Rams had played fine defensive ball.

City College played the Dons even for three periods, but their lack of ball control and scoring opportunities cost them the game. It was just a matter of time until the Dons could crack the good defense of Coach Roy Diederichsen's squad.

Saturday morning at Edwards Field in Berkeley, the Rams could only gain a 1-1 tie with the California Bears. The Rams again failed on numerous goal attempts and only their exceptional defense saved them.

Schumaker scored early in the opening quarter and the Rams held a one-point margin until Robin Tiesler tallied for the Bears with four minutes remaining in the game.

Experts Prefer Rams Over Mataens In Kezar; Cal Top-Heavy Favorite

The feature game of the week will be found in Kezar Stadium, Friday night when City College meets San Mateo in their annual grid battle. A large homecoming crowd will be in for a treat if the picks of the jury of experts are correct. The jury expects a close, exciting contest with the Rams racking up a victory over the Peninsula squad.

Six prognosticators see a win for the Rams, five picking them by a single touchdown. Only two San Mateo votes were cast and so the homecomers present at Kezar this weekend will be looking for a Ram victory.

	CCSF vs. San Mateo	UC vs. St. Mary's	Stan. vs. Washington	S.C. vs. Marquette	USF vs. Fordham
Conlan	CCSF	Cal	Stan.	S.C.	USF
	20-13	47-7	27-20	21-13	27-13
Dill	CCSF	Cal	Stan.	S.C.	USF
	26-21	36-13	27-21	27-13	28-13
Hell	CCSF	Cal	Stan.	S.C.	USF
	20-13	41-7	21-14	20-13	28-13
Kelly	CCSF	Cal	Stan.	S.C.	USF
	21-13	34-6	27-11	28-26	34-33
Spalding	CCSF	Cal	Stan.	Marq.	USF
	14-0	33-6	21-14	14-6	20-13
Dierking	S. Mto.	Cal	Wash.	Marq.	Ford.
	19-12	38-0	7-6	26-6	14-7
Sahm	CCSF	Cal	Stan.	S.C.	USF
	27-14	33-7	26-13	20-7	27-25
Gruss	S. Mto.	Cal	Wash.	S.C.	USF
	21-14	32-13	14-13	20-7	21-14
Consensus	CCSF	Cal	Stan.	S.C.	USF
	19-8	37-7	21-8	18-14	24-17

MEMBERS OF ALPHA GAMMA SIGMA honor society held their annual installation banquet recently to award members cards and pins. Left to right are Don Jansen, sponsor, and guests of honor Jade Snow Wong, author, former member, and 1940 college salutatorian, who was presented with a life membership in the Alumni Association, and President Louis Conlan, who praised members for service to the college and welcomed new members on behalf of the society.—Photo by Wood.

Intramural Basketball Continues Despite Loss Of Fraternity League

By Carl Sahm

Intramural basketball suffered a severe setback last week when the fraternity league was dropped because of their failure to appear for scheduled games. However, the independent teams continued on their merry way with the Pirates and the Bucs leading the pack with four victories and no defeats.

Two of the Pirates' latest wins, over the Sel-Muas and the Blues, were by default. Other teams losing by default last week were the Blue and Golds, the Ramites, and the Blues.

The games played were very close contests. The Lyons, who played in three of the four contests, were overcome by the Titans, 29-22, but managed to eke out a win over the Blues, 46-42, and then lose, 36-35, in a see-saw battle with the Bucs, in which the Lyons were leading throughout most of the game. With less than a minute to go in the game, Fraser of the Bucs swished in a two-pointer for the winning bucket.

In one of the tightest games of the tournament, the Blue and Golds managed to maintain a one-point margin over the Commuters down to the final whistle, winning 21-20.

Coach Diederichsen has announced that the novice boxing tournament is scheduled for December 4, 5, 6. The weight divisions range from 110 pounds to the heavyweight, or unlimited division. Any novice boxer is eligible to participate in the trials on December 4, 5. The finals are to be held on Wednesday night, December 6. The winners of the finals will be presented with intra awards of gold and silver belt buckles.

INTRAMURAL STANDINGS
(Including games of Oct. 17)

Team	Won	Lost	Percent
Pirates	4	0	1.000
Bucs	4	0	1.000
Commuters	3	1	.750
Titans	2	1	.666
Lyons	2	2	.600
Blues	2	2	.500
Blue & Golds	2	3	.400
Menehunes	1	2	.333
Clenner A. C.	0	3	.000
Sel-Muas	0	3	.000
Ramites	0	4	.000

High School Meet Set By AMS, AWS

Under joint sponsorship of the Associated Men Students and Associated Women Students, a conference of San Francisco high school representatives will be held at the college Friday, November 3, according to Ralph Vetterlein, AMS president.

The purpose of the conference, Vetterlein explained, is to promote better understanding of the college's scholastic, athletic, and social life among the city's high schools.

